SO, WHAT!
by
THE INQUISITOR

A plow, an axe, and a gun, were cited by Will Rogers Sunday night as the cause of the dust storms. But where's the human element? That goes without being mentioned. Judge R. Walker Hall says other states are trying to move their real estate down on us. It must have been a part of South Dakota that came down to form the latest layer Sunday evening. So now I feel like singing Fish's "South Plains Love Song."

In all fairness to those people concerned, the other side of the question of assemblies should be presented. A large percent of the total number of assemblies this year was under the direction of students. Many times when an organization was scheduled to appear it failed to do so. Not a lot of confidence can be placed in a few people who leave as many as 800 others "standing on the church house steps." Another factor to be considered before condemning those who have to provide chapel entertainments is that, although many other entertaining organizations have a sum of money at their disposal, not a cent is at the disposal of those who plan chapel programs.

Did you buy a tag the other day? Don't you think that a recreation hall would be mighty fine? Some sort of competition between organizations to sell the most tickets might have resulted in a larger sale. Those little peppers are doing their part in putting over the new center. Help them along a little.

All year students have been wanting a column where they could air out their new ideas or their old ones, as the case may be. About three weeks ago they were given a chance in the Student Opinion column. In case you don't know, that little opportunity is still knocking at your door. You have to conform to the regulations of the column, though. How about waking up and telling us what you think about a thing or so?

Yimmy Yanks or (where's that exchange) pardon us, Yim Yindsey, or whoever puts out that "At Other Jalls" in El Cuspidor, really believes in giving us the publicity. Reference: El Cuspidor, April Fool Edition. But what keeps us wondering is that first paragraph. He must have a correspondent up here.

Colleagues throughout the United States are raising their voices in protest against war. Brisbane says that in spite of that students would fight because they were born in America and don't have white livers. What we wonder is if students won't use those red livers in keeping out of war. Maybe these demonstrations are a little premature. Pope Pius did not officially denounce war in his encyclical which is to be published April 27. Brisbane thinks that means that the immediate danger of war is past.

Fossil Exhibit Up
For Historical
Meet Held Fri.

Representative of work being done by Prof. C. S. Johnston are several fossil remains of mastodons and elephants now on display in the basement of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

These fossils were placed on display shortly before the annual meeting of the Historical Society held here last week. They consist of the lower jaw of a shovel-jawed mastodon found near Clarendon, elephant teeth, leg bones of elephants, and a huge tusk of a mastodon.

Illustrative of the manner which fossils are prepared for exhibit is a sand table, cement and other materials used in preparing prehistoric remains in which this section of the Panhandle abounds. On the table, along with the materials used, are several pieces of a rhinoceros skull excavated near Clarendon.

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, head of the Department of English, has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address at the Farwell High School on May 17.

Bells Ring Again
After Two-Day
Difficulty

Hear dem bells, don't cha hear dem bells a callin'? Calling yo to da classes now. Ghos' done hung one o' da home economics bulletin board wires over a knob and stop tha whole works.

We didn't know that those bells meant so much to our general sense of security until the bells failed to function Friday and Saturday. It was just a bit disconcerting to walk into a class and find it in full swing after having stood outside in a hall and talked for a half an hour, more or less.

By starting at the bottom of the building and working up, the electricians finally discovered the aforementioned difficulty on the top floor. (But we still believe you should start at the bottom and work up. It's much, much better than starting at the top and working in some instances. What say you?)

Seniors Decide
On College GiftBulletin Board To Be Designed and Made
By Gillis

A mahogany fronted bulletin board was the gift which the senior class decided to make to the college in its meeting Thursday morning. The case is designed to match the trophy case now in the main corridor; it was a gift of the class of 1934.

John A. Gillis, head of the Manual Arts Department, is making the case, and it is thought that it will be complete by the time of graduation of the class.

The case is to have approximately six divisions with glass doors which will be locked. An appropriate carved design will appear on the mahogany front.

Announcement was also made about the senior party which occurred Saturday evening as well as about other very important senior business.

Students Write
Ranch Histories

Members of the Texas History class of Professor L. F. Sheffy are compiling histories of ranches in this surrounding district. Many of the ranches which are being written upon have brands on the entrance of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. Questionnaires are being sent to pioneers and old settlers in the Panhandle ranching region to locate new material and to ascertain certain facts about the origin of the ranches, who founded them, how their brands were derived, and what the present status of the ranch is.

Much available material is in the museum library, and it has been placed at the disposal of the students by Mr. Sheffy.

After these ranch histories are completed as much as possible, they will be placed in the museum library, and some of the best ones will be published in the historical review.

Swift Was Main
Banquet Speaker
Friday EveningMcCormicks Were Special Guests of Hills
at Banquet

Approximately 175 people assembled in the Cousins Hall Dining Hall Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the 14th Annual Banquet of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. Judge R. Walker Hall of Amarillo was toastmaster of the occasion.

After the invocation by Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum, Dr. J. A. Hill of the College gave the welcome address. Dr. Hill drew an analogy between the activities of the pioneers in building up this country and the efforts expended in building up the college through a period of twenty-five years. Following this, Dr. Hill introduced his special guests on the occasion, Mrs. Clara McCormick and her son, Bill, who was the companion of Joe Hill at the South Pole.

Mrs. John Josey of Amarillo played two violin solos, a Victor Herbert Medley and "L'Amour Toujours" accompanied by her husband at the piano. An encore was "Dark Eyes."

The main speaker of the occasion was the Hon. J. C. Swift, Kansas City. Swift told of the extensiveness of Texas, admonished his listeners not to envy the man who lives in the town. He described the grass as the best friend of man. Swift also told of his experience in Texas.

Following the speaker the Beaton Quartet of Amarillo sang "Ole Faithful" and "Rain." The encore was "Shortnin' Bread."

Special guests of the members of the Society were introduced.

Lyceum Course
Concluded With Joint Recital

The Lyceum course of appreciation was ended last Tuesday evening, April 9, with a brilliant musical performance attended by an appreciative audience.

Guest artists presented on the program were Horace Jones, violinist, and Mark Wessel, pianist.

The opening rendition was Sonata (A major) in three movements by Brahms, given jointly by Mr. Wessel and Mr. Jones. Following numbers were Toccato and Pague by Bach-Wessel, Concerto (G minor) by Bruch, and other arrangements by such masters as Chopin, Schubert-Liszt, Dvorak - Kreisler, Schubert-Wilhelmj, Tschakowsky-Kreisler, and Wienawski.

An especially entertaining transposition, though in a lighter key, was Feminine Conversation, composed and delivered by Mr. Wessel. This quick - moving version depicted clearly the various veins in woman's conversation.

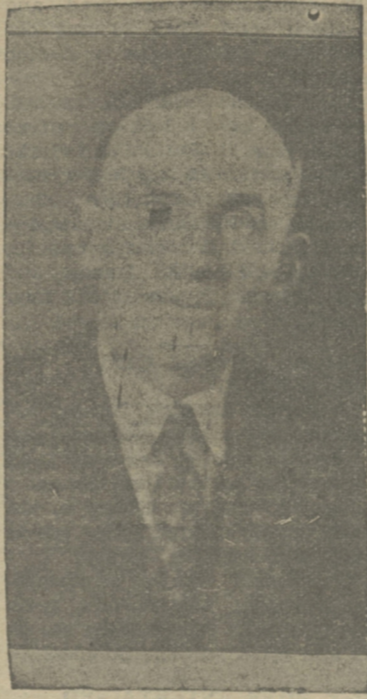

Listen, big boy—I'll lay you a hundred to fifty I can take your wife away from you the first day I'm not busy."—"Ladies of the Jury."

Anderson)—these helped convert all the members of the jury to a verdict of acquittal except the obstinate Jay J. Pressley, foreman of the jury, played by George Bishop, who is characterized in his order to the officer: "A piece of apple pie and a bottle of milk—certified." A person beyond the jibes of the proletariat or the sniffs of the aristocrats, wouldn't you say? We won't tell you how he was converted; come and see.

Although one of the members of the cast was not present, the reviewer's imagination didn't fail to function for the person referred to is Judge Williams who portrays the characteristic Scotchman. Can't you just see those ears getting close to his head and hear the r's stuttering excitedly.

The other members of the play are as well cast in their parts. Sparkling action interpreting many different personalities describes the work of all of them. Josephine

TULIA HIGH SCHOOL RANKS
HIGH IN SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION REPORT

According to the 1934 report of the Southern Association report just off the press, Tulia High School graduates in school during the fall of 1933 passed 283 semester hours of work and failed 9, making an average of 3.1 percent failures as compared with an average of 13.7 percent for the state. The record for Tulia graduates for the last year was 247 hours passed and 6 failed or 2.4 percent failures. These reports are based on the record made by the freshmen students during their first semester in college after graduation in high school.

The report of the 3.1 percent failures for the Tulia school is an excellent one and compares favorably with the schools having the lowest failure rates in the state. Reports from the last five years of published Southern Association Statistics indicate that Tulia students have only 6.2 percent failures for the five year average. An average of 45.1 percent of all Tulia graduates attended college over the five year period.

Superintendent W. H. Younger of the Tulia school system is a graduate of W. T. and the majority of his teachers are from this school. Mr. Younger says that to Miss Kathleen McDaniel, '26, and to Bill Anderson, belong much of the credit for the success of the Tulia students. Miss McDaniel taught English and Mr. Anderson taught mathematics.

MANUAL ARTS CLUB
VISITS POWER PLANT

Accompanied by their sponsor, R. A. Terrill, the Manual Arts Club made an instructive and interesting tour through the plant of the local Texas Utilities Co. last Friday evening.

Members of the club witnessed a number of demonstrations of work carried on in the plant during their brief visit.

Sally Mary Campbell left Saturday morning for Dalhart. She is to do tutoring on the Victor Stewart ranch in New Mexico.

Leonard Britt has been elected principal of the Fairview school in Armstrong county.

W. T. Musicians
Return From Tri-
State MeetingOrchestra Entered Combination Program at Carlsbad

Thursday morning the West Texas State Teachers College Orchestra left for Carlsbad, New Mexico, to participate in the Tri-State Music Festival. The West Texas Orchestra formed the nucleus of the Tri-State Orchestra, of which Professor Wallace R. Clark was conductor. Selected musicians from Roswell and from Lubbock completed the personnel of the Tri-State Orchestra. This combined orchestra gave the following concert program Friday morning in the new Cactus Theater:

March Militaire, No. 1—Schubert
Symphony No. 6—Surprise—Haydn
Adagio Cantabile—Vivace Assai
Andante
Menuetto—Allegro Molto
Allegro di Molto

Violin Group—Horace A. Jones
Slavonic Dance—Dvorak
Ave Maria—Schubert
Humoreske—Tschakowsky
Scherzo Trantelle—Wienawski

Waltz of the Flowers—(Nut)
Cracker Suite—Tschakowsky
Hungarian Dance No. 1—Brahms
Dance of the Bacchantes—Saint Saens

These selections had been previously studied by the separate orchestras represented, and two rehearsals were held by the combined Tri-State Orchestra prior to giving the concert. According to musical authorities present, the orchestra of this year was highly superior to that of any previous

Phillips In Charge
Of Education Program at Plainview

Professor Frank R. Phillips, head of the Agriculture Department, is in charge of the Education Division of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show to be held at Plainview, April 15-18. Among those scheduled on the program are Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. College; W. H. Williamson, vice director of the Texas Extension Service; Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent; C. N. Shepardson, head of the dairy department, Texas A. & M. H. H. Finner, director cotton division, AAA, Washington, D. C.; John E. Hill, president Panhandle Agricultural Association, and Garford Wilkinson, News-Globe farm editor.

Miss Annabelle Brown and her sister-in-law, Louise Brown, spent the week-end in Miss Brown's home in Channing.

Harold Shanklin, a former student, underwent a mastoid operation at Amarillo Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Metcalf of Fritch were transacting business on the campus Friday.

Companion Of
Joe Hill Visitor
Here Friday

A surprise in store for the Historical Society Banqueteers and their guests Friday evening was Dr. J. A. Hill's announcement that Bill McCormick, best friend of Joe Hill's at the South Pole, and his mother, Mrs. Clara McCormick, were their guests at the banquet.

Mr. McCormick, who returned early with the scientists from the South Pole, and his mother were enroute from the west coast to Oklahoma City, and drove to Canyon to meet Joe Hill's family.

Both he and Mrs. McCormick made impromptu speeches. Of his work at the South Pole in helping with the aircraft division of the expedition he told and of the scientists' work with cosmic rays, detection of the depth of the snow on the land, the discovery of an island and of fossil bones and an extinct volcano.

Condron Speaks
To D.A.R. Monday"Washington's Contribution to Development of Nat'l Unity"

S. H. Condron, Head of the Department of Government and Economics of West Texas State Teachers College, made an address at the April meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Amarillo and Canyon Monday afternoon, April 8.

The meeting was a combined affair and was held in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum here. The subject of Mr. Condron's address was "The Contribution of Washington to the Development of a National Unity."

"While Washington's leadership was far reaching in the field of military attainments, perhaps his next greatest attainment was to develop a spirit of fellowship among the American states," Mr. Condron pointed out.

The speaker traced Washington's career and declared that the great historian's chief objective seemed to be to show the need of drawing the colonies closer together. In a talk with Lafayette, Washington said that he thought the world would ultimately be drawn together as a world organization because of the result of commerce, Mr. Condron pointed out.

Ninety-One Seniors
To Graduate Here

Ninety-one members of the senior class will be eligible for graduation this spring. This is an increase of eight over last year's class, which had only eighty-three members.

Of this ninety-one, fifty-eight have paid for their diplomas, and seventy-three have ordered caps and gowns.

Among students who have recently been out on judging trips are Josie Wiggins, La Trice Quattlebaum, Martina Anderson, J. C. Higgins, D. V. Biggers, and Jimmie Holston.

Address

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society convened at West Texas State Teachers College Friday in its fourteenth annual session. Judge H. E. Hoover, Canadian, presided. The program was divided into three meetings: that of the executives who drew up resolutions to be presented at the general business session of the society, which met at 2:30 p. m. in the Education Auditorium, and the banquet Friday evening attended by about 175 members of the Society and their guests.

W. H. Patrick, pioneer Clarendon banker, was elected to the presidency of the society for the coming year. Judge H. E. Hoover's term in the office ended Thursday. W. T. Coble, Amarillo cattleman, and Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell, were re-elected to the directorate.

In the afternoon, after the routine business was attended to, Horace Russell, of Amarillo, read a group of resolutions concerning the admission of new members into the organization and the contributions of sums of money or collections to the Society.

The name of Miss Susan J. Allen was voted to be placed on the rolls of the Society as benefactor because of her contribution of rare and valuable Indian relics. James O. Guleke, of Amarillo, presented to the museum a respirator such as are being sold in stores of the Panhandle today, in order that posterity can know the ravages of the one-way plow. Mr. Guleke also made a presentation for Hattie M. Plemons of the portrait of Judge W. B. Plemons and also a personal gift of a centennial map of Texas presented to him by the Texas Daughters of the American Revolution.

R. W. Prentice, of Amarillo, presented the museum with a historical record of the First Christian Church of Amarillo.

Following the general business session and the presentation of these objects to the museum, Professor C. Stuart Johnston, of the College, addressed the group on the pre-historic past in this country. Following the lecture itself, slides of pre-historic animals in this country were thrown on the screen and Mr. Johnston explained them, their place in history.

Finnell Will Speak on Soil Erosion in
Ed. Bldg. Wed.

Mr. H. H. Finnell, soil erosion authority of the Dalhart Experiment, will speak to the general public here Wednesday evening, April 17th in the auditorium of the Education Building of the West Texas State Teachers College on the problems of the plains farmer with the wind. This lecture will be given under the auspices of the College Agriculture Council.

Mr. Finnell will go from here to Plainview where he will deliver an address to the Plainview Dairy Show on the 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Touchet of Taylor, Texas, announce the arrival of a daughter, Anne Ranelle, on April 6th. Before her marriage Mrs. Touchet was Angeline Kolatt.

Ouida Burzee, an ex-student, who teaches in Lubbock, came in Saturday for a conference about her correspondence work.

Charles Donnell went to Pampa Saturday night to judge the finals in the one-act play contest.

Senior Play Rehearsals Reveal Talented Cast

Mrs. Fiske, the famous actress who first had the leading role in "Ladies of the Jury," would blush for shame and begin playing mumble-peg rather than go on with her acting after seeing Eula Lee McKnight in her portrayal of the role of Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane, society leader of Rosedale, New Jersey. She stoops to conquer in the three-act senior play, "Ladies of the Jury," by meeting the demands of democracy in a cast of people taken from a "Sinclair Lewis census."

Mrs. Crane uses "financial legerdemain" in bribing the members of the cast, who as a block (with the exception of the socialite) voted the Mrs. Gordon, on trial for the murder of her husband, guilty. A juicy steak for the Scotchman, a pleasant corner for the poet (Johnny Hood) and his sweetheart (Velma Padgett), an Irish jig danced with an immigrant from the land of shamrocks (Martina Anderson)—these helped convert all the members of the jury to a verdict of acquittal except the obstinate Jay J. Pressley, foreman of the jury, played by George Bishop, who is characterized in his order to the officer: "A piece of apple pie and a bottle of milk—certified." A person beyond the jibes of the proletariat or the sniffs of the aristocrats, wouldn't you say? We won't tell you how he was converted; come and see.

Although one of the members of the cast was not present, the reviewer's imagination didn't fail to function for the person referred to is Judge Williams who portrays the characteristic Scotchman. Can't you just see those ears getting close to his head and hear the r's stuttering excitedly.

The other members of the play are as well cast in their parts. Sparkling action interpreting many different personalities describes the work of all of them. Josephine

Gamble is the "diabolically clever maid;" Pollyanna Pitts is the ex-chorus girl who during an "intestine" in the jury sessions executes a dance with "Tony" Comp-ton who started a brawl with "Steve" Biggers by saying, "Listen, big boy, I'll lay you a hundred to fifty I can take your wife away from you the first day I'm not busy." Marjorie Tucker, as Mrs. Dace, can't forget her husband to whom she has been married only two weeks. She can't seem to convince herself that he's able to take care of himself. He sends word to her that her cat is all right. (Lovers inseparable.) We can't tell you about all the players now because you'd know too much about the play then. The others, however, who are not classified, according to actions are, Bib Jameson, Hosea Foster, Charles Donnell, J. C. Line, Bill Hawkins, Red Holston, G. T. Higgins, Mable Mims, Glen Reeve, Frances Holman. We'll tell you about them next week. This three act comedy will be staged in the near future. Already construction has begun on the set and the other scenery and properties are in the making now. Miss Brown is enthusiastically working on the arrangement of the properties and adapting the play to the necessary arrangement.

As far as rehearsals are concerned, observation revealed that they are taking the way of the usual ones—that is, with one exception. As well as could be discerned, there was no riff between the members of the cast yet. Congeniality seemed to be the prevailing note of the whole affair. In fact that was in evidence every where. In various parts of the auditorium, couples who were not in a particular scene were paring off. Between scenes someone at the piano thumped out a few bars of dance music while those who were in potential scenes warmed up to the action. During a lull in one of the acts while one was thinking of his lines, Bib Jameson was heard to say, "Ah—you have a new shine, haven't you," while R. M. Thompson guffawed in the back of the room while the object of his affections acted as official prompter. Everyone was at least fifteen minutes late to rehearsal, but then it isn't the proper thing to do to be on time.

It is a good play. And it is suggested that every sophomore see that all the freshmen buy tickets. After all, what are sophomores for? The seniors probably have already agreed to see that the juniors do their part. However, from excited chattering we've overheard in the halls, some persuasion may be used to keep some away because everyone who has been lucky enough to get a peek at the show knows it is a wow!

REBELLION AGAINST WAR PROPAGANDA

Student participation in many different things has been reflected in news mediums throughout the week-end. Many of the movements are conflicting. For example, in Chicago, a new student organization, known as the Public Policy Association, is fighting radicalism in the University of Chicago. The movement was promoted by fraternity men who had grown weary of the charge that their alma mater is one of the ten most radical hotbeds in the United States. There are many more organizations in colleges throughout the land which propagate radical measures.

Last Friday was the official day set aside by students to make group demonstrations against war. Just as many students, however, combated those pacifist students. Although tragic things happened in some instances, maybe a few of the demonstrations will help solidify opinions and turn many definitely against war. It is to be hoped that if the test does come that students, as well as youth who are not enrolled in the colleges, will have the strength of their convictions.

Geological Explanations of Johnston Lecture Interest Scientists

The Pi Beta Gamma Club, better known as the Science Club, listened recently to a lecture by C. S. Johnston, head of the Geology and Archaeology Department of this College. He told the club that the earth was two billion years old and then explained that this was determined by the deposition of lead by the breaking down of radioactive substances such as uranium.

Mr. Johnston had a geological time chart drawn on the board, and he explained this to the club. The members of the club and visitors learned that life started in the Cambrian Age, which was all sea life. This was several hundred million years ago. Mr. Johnston then told when the first traces of land plants, vertebrates, mammals, reptiles, and then birds were discovered. These all came into being hundreds of millions of years ago also.

Mr. Johnston had a great number of slides which were shown and explained. Some of these were of ancient animals and skeletal structure of the tinct birds and reptiles. After these slides were shown the visitors and members were privileged to ask questions which were answered by Mr. Johnston.

All students of the college and all faculty members are invited to attend these meetings of the Science Club. There will be at least two more meetings of the club before school ends.

WHITMAN FISH

Quite a number of papers this week either announce an April Fool Edition or sent one out. Of all though, the Texas Tech presentation gets the prize posy. Their "El Cuspidor" wins by several lengths and it's a dandy, doctor, really a dandy. If anyone wishes to see it, kindly drop by the office and your request will be granted. Kind, kerteous service to each and every customer!

The "Baylor Bells" report that a Kansas Fog is called a dust storm in Texas. Heck, Toos, you ain't seen nothin' yet. Even though they report that the dust irritated the rabbits' nose so much that they twitched themselves to death, we believe the prize will go to the gentleman in our immediate locality who reports breaking six eggs in succession and finding dust or rather mud balls in each egg. Such is the life in the far west, where men are men, and so what!

And then there was the one about the freshman at Harvard who, upon seeing the announcement on a bulletin board, "Dates for English Examinations," remarked that it was getting so a man couldn't go stag to anything any more.

From the Flora-Ala, of an Alabama State Teachers College, we find that that institute is to be honored with the presentation of two Shakespearean masterpieces, "Julius Caesar" and "Merchant of Venice." The Hendrickson-Bruce Company of New York has been booked to present these two plays before the student body. Quite a treat.

We are pleased to announce the complete definition of "Honor System" which is the method used in several schools and argued about in several others. "An honor system is where the teachers have the honor and the students have the system." How'm I doin'? Razza ma taz.

THINGS YOU WOULDN'T KNOW UNLESS WE TOLD YOU: Students at U. S. C. when observing a student cheating on an examination, stamp their feet, the practice which is taken up by the others and continued by the whole class until the offender ceases his tactics. . . . The faculty of the University of Illinois offered a prize of $25 for the most clearly written examination paper. They stipulated that the winning paper must be understandable to the average college freshman. . . . The home economics department of the University of Alabama recently graduated its first male. . . . There are more CCC camps in the U. S. than colleges, as there are 1646 camps and 1466 colleges. . . . At the University of Iowa, a recent campus survey cites that out of eleven campus romances, only one develops into marriage. . . . He who laughs last is the one who sits behind the tall, fat man in the movies. . . . That more than 50 percent of the college graduates who are Rhodes scholars and are over 40 years of age are listed in "Who's Who in America."

In an exclusive interview with the campus leaders, the Campus Chat reports their findings concerning the question "Who discovered America?" One young man, a senior, says that "although I am not altogether positive as to what your question implies, I shall endeavor to acquit myself creditably. If you desire to know the actual person committing the deed, I do not know."

And of course one of the interviewed had to pop up with the age old tripe "who the heck cares?" Anyway, they evidently found out, that is to say to some extent.

So, with the latest definition of a kiss, we leave you—it is: "A kiss is a symbol of pure effection, a blister of burning passion, or a smoke screen of evil design."

Phys. Ed. Students Entertain Memphis With Class Carnival

Mrs. Ruby Barksdale O'Keefe took seven of her physical education students to Memphis recently where they presented a program of dancing and music in connection with the Junior Class Carnival, which was directed by Mrs. Carl Periman, formerly Arless O'Keefe, who is the Junior Class sponsor.

The program, which was given in a Spanish Cabaret, consisted of piano music by Frances Holman, Frances Usery, and Royce Parks; tap-dancing by Mary Louise Mulkey, Royce Parks, Hazel Kirby, and Pollyanna Pitts; waltz by Frances Usery and George Brewer; and soft-shoe dances by Mrs. O'Keefe and Frances Usery.

The well-attended program delightfully portrayed some of the finest art in the college.

SCIENCE CLUB MEETING

The W. T. High Science Club met April 2 at eight o'clock, in the Physics room of the Education building. In a short business session Leo Duflof was elected Student Council representative: the club constitution was read and discussed; and April 18 was decided upon as the date for a club assembly program.

After the business was finished, Leo Duflof gave a talk on current events; Sam D. Burton and Burke Imman performed an experiment with an oxygen-hydrogen blow-pipe; Mr. Scott, the student sponsor, explained the Marsh test for arsenic; and Burke Imman and Sam Burton demonstrated color changes.

SENIORS CHOOSE GIFT AND SPEAKER

At a called meeting Tuesday afternoon, the seniors decided upon a shelf of library books as their parting gift to the High School.

The Reverend Mr. Dickey of the Presbyterian Church will deliver the commencement sermon.

A socialized type of commencement program will be used again this year, with four student speakers and other suitable numbers.

HI-Y BOYS ENTERTAINED AT RITCHIE HOME

The W. T. Hi-Y Club members and their friends were entertained by Miss Jennie C. Ritchie at her home Monday evening, at 7:30. The games played varied from potato races to acrobatics. Following an hour of games the boys told jokes until refreshments of punch, candy, cookies and sandwiches were served.

Guests and Hi-Y members included Glenn Davis, J. D. Roberts, Sam Burton, A. G. Thornton, Lyman York McGehee, Egbert Neely, Billy Norman, Brynilde Vaughan, J. L. Norman, Mr. A. K. Goodman, and Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, and Jewel Alma Glass.

HOME EC. CLUB ATTENDS DISTRICT MEET

Early Saturday morning the Home Ec. Club girls piled into the Sunny Hill school bus and the Marsh dairy truck with smiles on their faces and money in their pockets—at least enough for the day.

Mary Frances Douglas furnished enough wit on the trip for all the group.

The principal program of the meet was a co-operative pageant presented by the local clubs, demonstrating the American costumes of the different periods. The W. T. High School portrayed the "Gay Nineties."

After the program five-minute stunts were given, with prizes for the two best stunts. The last part of the entertainment was a reception which was held in order that the girls of different schools might become acquainted.

At 6:30, the busses rolled back into Canyon. Still the girls smiled, but their pockets were empty.

"RIP VAN WINKLE" PRESENTED BY CHORUSES

The choruses of the W. T. High School, assisted by Miss Velma Padgett, practice teacher in public speaking, presented the cantata "Rip Van Winkle" Thursday morning at the assembly hour. The students who took part in the pantomime work of the production were Meredith Warren, J. D. Roberts, Cato Merchant, Jean Graham, Mary Harman, Mary Frances Douglas, Kathleen King, Dick Loudder, Hallie Nell Sligar, John Thomas Sharp, Mildred Callham and Opal Callham.

The program which was presented under the direction of Miss Ada Clark, was repeated in the college assembly Saturday, April 6th.

STUDENT COUNCIL DONATES BOOKS

Five books were purchased for the library last week by the Student Council. All of them are duplications of books that have been in the library before but have worn out.

Besler's drama, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," tells of the romance of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett.

In "My Antonia," Willa Cather writes of life in Nebraska, her home state.

"The Battle Ground," by Ellen Glasgow, is a story of the Civil War as it took place in Virginia.

Nordhoff and Hall reveal the secrets of the sea in "Mutiny on the Bounty."

The fifth book is a collection of short stories by well-known authors.

Each of these books may be reported on for parallel reading in English.

The students are urged to read them, provided they take good care of them while they have them checked out.

It was at the orchestral concert. After gazing for some time at the bass fiddle player, a man in the stalls muttered, "He'll never do it; he'll never do it." At length the title of the first number was announced, whereupon the mutterer continued his remark, louder each time. This was too much for a man in the front row, and eventually he turned and said, "Stop your muttering, sir!" "Well, he can't do it, I tell you. I know he can't," was the reply. "Can't he do what?" "Put that fiddle under his chin."—Exchange.

"Jack was the goal of my ambition, but alas!" "What happened, dear?" "Father kicked the goal."—Ex.

He: One night while you were away I heard a burglar. You should have seen me going down stairs three steps at a time.

She: Where was he—on the roof?

By naming his fourteenth child, born last year, "Finis," Roy Bowen, of Iowa, announced to everyone who might be interested, that this child marked the end of "New Arrivals" at his home. So when a baby girl was born this year she was quite appropriately named, Patricia Sue, with the intention of calling her "P. S."

THE SNOOP

I wonder how many stars Brynilde Vaughan saw when he fell down only five times at the Latin Club party?

A certain girl in W. T. Hi was speaking of her friend who goes to John Tarleton. "John Tarleton?" asked Cleo Bourland, "I don't know him."

Hear ye, housewives! Glenn Davis and Brynilde Vaughan are A-1 dishwashers.

A True Story

Mr. Vaughan: Now, Dick, what is the most pitiable state to see a man in?

Dick Howard: Without any clothes on.

Irving Willoughby laughs like he has the hicoughs!—or is it just a dog barking?

Jerry Tomlinson may get mad easily, but it doesn't take her long to get over it.

Meredith Warren is exactly one month older than Mary McCaslin.

If you value a man's friendship, don't sell him a second-hand automobile.

Christian Endeavorers Attend District Meet At Memphis Mar. 29-31

Fourteen Christian Endeavorers attended the district convention of the Panhandle Christian Endeavor Union at Memphis, March 29-31. Travis White, Dallas, state secretary of Christian Endeavorers, was present. He talked of the National convention to be held in Philadelphia during the latter part of June and July. He gave the rates for the round trip and its accommodations.

Amarillo, Borger, Pampa, Canyon, Memphis, Clarendon, Childress and Lubbock sent delegates. All in all there were about 250 at the convention. The convention will be held at Amarillo next year.

The district officers elected for the coming year are: President, Fred Lamb, Pampa; vice president, Ward Gregg, Lubbock; secretary, Jessie Pearce, Amarillo; treasurer, Mildred Kesterson, Memphis; Educational chairman, Virginia Blair, Childress; Extension chairman, Charles Madeira, Pampa; Recreational chairman, Claudine Cox, Shamrock; Missionary chairman, Elizabeth Roberts, Panhandle; World and Publicity chairman, Maxine Witherspoon, Dalhart; Adult chairman, Paul Squires, Lubbock; Junior chairman, Mrs. I. Dyne, Intermediate chairman, Mildred Hart, Amarillo; Senior chairman, Rosa Cash, Canyon; pastor councilors, Rev. John Mullin, Pampa, and Rev. Chas. L. Dickey, Canyon.

Those attending from Canyon were: Kathryn Robinson, Marjorie Wilkinson, Norma Kidd, Mildred Bessire, M. E. Cleavinger, Jr., Woolworth Russell, Leo White, Nell McNeely, Freda Charles Bills, Rosa Cash, Gladys Barton, Esther Lou Bandy, Mrs. Travis Shaw, and Charles L. Dickey.

Miss Mary Morgan Brown and Wendall Cain helped conduct literary contests at Friona Friday. Ernestine Walker, a senior and Seth Lindsey, a junior, assisted C. W. Batchelder in judging at Vega Saturday.

AUTUMN
The cool grey hills lie meek and still—
Asleep by the crystal stream;
The dew-drops pass and blades of grass
Lie down to mystic dreams.

The crimson leaves that fall from the trees
In their velvet beds below,
Foretell the approach in an ice-bound coach
Of winter—and cold and snow.

From my window I sense fair autumns incense—
The fragrance of burning leaves,
But when dusk draws nigh I turn with a sigh
Away from the ghost-like trees.

MARY MARTIN MARRIES SANFORD MAN

Miss Mary Martin, '32, and Mr. Frank Bradfield, both of Sanford, were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage in Shamrock, Mar. 30, at high noon. Rev. C. E. Jamieson read the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony before an improvised altar composed of tall baskets of mock peach blossoms and tea roses.

The bride wore a becoming flesh and white crepe suit with white accessories. She was unattended.

Only two friends, besides the minister's family were present. They were Miss Ethel Ruth Collins of Canyon and Miss Madeline Ingerton of Borger.

After the ceremony Mrs. Jamieson, assisted by her daughters, Ellen and Elizabeth, served a beautifully appointed buffet luncheon. The dining room was lighted with white tapers, and tall baskets of lilies graced the ends of the dining table. In the center of the table, which was laid with a lace tea cloth, was a small three tiered bride's cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. The minister and flower girls were placed at the foot of the cake on the reflector. Tapers in flower-surrounded candelabra were on each side of the cake. After the luncheon the bride cut the cake which was served with punch.

Miss Martin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Martin, pioneer residents of Rockwall. She is an ex-student of North Texas A. and M., and graduated with the class of 1932 from W. T. S. T. C. While in school she was very active in the Elapheians, Y. W. C. A., and the Methodist Student Federation. She has been teaching in the Sanford school for the past two years and will finish her term there this year.

Mr. Bradfield is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bradfield of Tulsa, Okla. He is connected with one of the gas companies at Fritch and Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradfield will live in Sanford.

COUSINS-SESAME MEETING HELD THURSDAY

The Cousins-Sesame Literary Societies met in a joint meeting Thursday evening at its usual hour in the demonstration room of the Education Building.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Various points of business were discussed. A short, but very interesting program consisting of a talk about Lloyd C. Douglas, one of the modern authors, by David Shahan, and a short book review of Douglas' "Magnificent Obsession" by Georgine Henson was given.

Brief plans were made for a picnic to be given in the near future.

ANGIE DEBO'S BOOK REVIEWED MONDAY

Monday afternoon the Junior Woman's Club had a very interesting program when Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt gave a review of "The Rise and Fall of the Choctaw Nation," by Dr. Angie Debo. The speaker also gave a short review of the author's life.

Miss Debo was a former member of the West Texas faculty and is now doing research work at Oklahoma University preparatory to writing another book.

Y. W. C. A. TO PRESENT EASTER PLAY WEDNESDAY

An Easter play typifying the spirit of the occasion is being presented by the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon. All members are urged to be present, and visitors are cordially invited.

Miss Maurita Taylor's mother has been visiting her the past week.

SENIOR BRIDGE-DANCE

GALA SPRING SOCIAL

Last Saturday night the members of the Senior class and friends enjoyed a dance to the music of Peggy's Rhythm Girls.

The girls gym in the Administration Building was elaborately and beautifully decorated in red and white streamers, making an appropriate setting for the gala occasion.

Bridge was enjoyed by many and this part was held in Dean Green's office. Punch was served throughout the evening.

Faculty guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Sheffy and class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Meyer.

BULL-SIMMONS WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Friends of Miss Madelyn Bull and Max Simmons were surprised this last week to hear of their secret marriage Wednesday evening at Happy. Rev. Raney officiated.

Mrs. Simmons is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Bull of Canyon. She was a member of the freshman class at W. T. the first part of this year, but has since been working at M. E. Moses Company.

Max Simmons is from Wellington, and is a member of the Junior class. He will continue in school during this term.

GARRETT-HOLLINGSWORTH MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

The secret marriage of Miss Cleo Hollingsworth to Mr. Elwyn Garrett, both of Amarillo, was announced recently.

Mr. Garrett has attended West Texas State Teachers College two years, 1933-34, 1934-35.

The couple will make their home in Amarillo where Mr. Garrett is employed in the Hughes Street Grocery.

Clark Recital Is First of Series

Miss Frances Alice Clark, piano major, rendered her formal senior recital Wednesday evening, April 10, at 8:30 o'clock in the Administration Auditorium.

Her artistic touch and sympathetic interpretation especially delighted the small, but highly appreciative audience. The program consisted of the following selections:

Gigue (from First Partita) — Bach
Gavotte (from Fifth French Suite) — Bach
Sonata Op. 7 — Greig
Allegro Moderato
Andante Molto
Five Preludes, op. 28 — Chopin
Scaramouche (The Clown) — Chaminade
The Hurdy-Gurdy Man — Goossens
Arabesque — Debussy

Miss Clark is a pupil of Miss Brigham and is one of the most talented and accomplished students in the music department. She is accompanist for both the Men's Chorus and the Women's Chorus, and she is also a member of the college orchestra.

The next recital to be given will be Thursday afternoon, April 18, at 4:30 o'clock, in the Administration Auditorium, by Royce Parks, sophomore. She will be assisted by Kenneth Hohlaus.

Representative Of Dupont Company Inspects Paint Test

Mr. J. W. Illif, head of the Experimental Paint Testing Laboratories of the E. I. Dupont Company in Philadelphia, spent three days here last week looking over that company's experimental station located on the West Texas State Teachers College farm. The local experiment is being directed by Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the Chemistry Department of Canyon College, and is being conducted in connection with that department.

Apparatus includes a number of rows of painted board plates which are placed so as to get maximum weathering, and a painted fence, all on the farm, and ten newly painted residences in Canyon. In the case of the latter, the company furnishes the paint and the property owners applied it. The farm station has been tended by college boys since its installation about five years ago. Harold Lair of Canyon is tender of the station this year. James Davis, also of Canyon, will hold that position next year.

Mr. Illif was pleased with the progress of the local experiment and stated that the work will go on until the most durable set of paints for this region is found.

Conning the Campi

At George Washington University in Washington, D. C., the class of '35 is sponsoring a drive to erect a "George Washington flagpole." The University Hatchet, student newspaper, says that each contributor's name is to be stencilled on the pole. At present, we assume, the class of '35 is at half-mast.

Classified ad, Michigan Daily: "Have you tried white pistachios?" Maybe that's nut for vanilla.

A situation—quite perplexing—is reported at the University of Illinois, where a young couple recently broke off an engagement. The co-ed was reported to be so angry that she demanded the return of her lock of hair, once tenderly given her boy friend.

"Which one," reported the peeved male, "the dark lock, or the one that you gave me when you were a blonde?"

"I'm delighted to meet you," said the father of a Cornell student as he shook hands with the professor. "My son took math under you last year, you know."

"Pardon me," said the professor, "but he didn't take it."—Joke.

Miss Militia Hill had as her guests last week-end during the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Meeting, Mrs. J. W. Walker, and J. Waring.

HEATH ELECTED TO SUPERINTENDENCY OF WHITE DEER SCHOOLS

George A. Heath, class of 1929, who has been located at Friona as principal and superintendent ever since his graduation, has been elected superintendent at White Deer. He has accepted the position.

Mr. Heath has been especially successful at Friona, in securing the co-operation of the entire community in carrying forward school enterprises. The standard of preparation of the school has been materially raised during his superintendency, and every department of the school improved.

Mr. Heath has secured his Master's degree since he graduated here.

The Beauty School

by Helena Rubinstein
International Beauty Authority

The old admonition to "put your best foot forward," leaves many modern maidens in a quandary. Just at a time when we are going foot foremost into the fashion world, feet have become anything but an asset. Yet they can be just as pretty and nicely shaped as hands with a little additional care.

If you are very athletic, or if you dance a great deal, remember that your feet bear the brunt of activity. Give them rest in proportion. After a strenuous day or evening, place the feet high—on another chair, or on a table, or raised on pillows while your head is lowered. The circulation thus flows from the feet, and takes away the hotness and tiredness.

Once a week, give your feet a simple treatment. Use a little of your pasteurized face cream, and massage it well into the skin. Then, use a handful of ordinary table salt, and rub it gently into your feet, taking care not to break the skin. Rinse off with warm water and soap, and dry well. Remember, in massaging the feet, to use firm, steady molding movements—always toward the heart. If the ankles are inclined to be heavy, follow the treatment with the "heel and toe" exercise (I'll be glad to send it to you, if you don't know it) and an astringent such as witch hazel or alcohol.

If you take pride in your feet, you will want to dress them up. On the beach, the dance floor, and during the daytime, this summer they will be on display. Manicure the nails occasionally, therefore, and use a nail groom to match your fingernails. A new summer shade is terra cotta—a warm, bronzy tone. Be sure to cut the nails straight across—don't make them oval as you do your finger nails, or you'll encourage hang nails. The pedicure should be preceded by soaking the feet in warm water for ten to fifteen minutes, so that the cuticle can be pushed back easily.

If you have a personal beauty problem on which you need advice, write Woman's Interest Syndicate, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

MISS PATTERSON IS PRINCIPAL AT ROTAN

Estell Patterson is teaching this year at Rotan. She has 54 first grade children in her room and is principal of the primary school in which she works. She has taken a prominent part in the P. T. A. work of the 12th District and helped to plan the program of the conference which was held last week in Plainview. Miss Anna I. Hibbets and Dr. H. M. Cook were speakers on the program.

YOUNG RE-ELECTED TO DICKENS SCHOOL

Mann Young, '33, has been re-elected principal and coach of the Dickens High School.

In addition to having taught biology, general science and two histories, this year he has developed a successful basketball team which won the Dickens county championship.

Miss Isabel Price is not in school this term.

When they take each other "for better or for worse," it does not follow that they should always be looking for the worst.

"I'M NOT ONE of those 'natural born students' you hear about," says Capers Smith. "I have to buckle down and study to get results. When I'm not hitting the books, I work in the college bookstore from 12 to 4 every day. It's easy to see how full my time is! When I feel tired or 'logy,' I know that I'm nearing the end of my energy. Then I always smoke a Camel. It revives me—restores my energy. And each Camel that follows seems to be even more chock-full of that mellow, rich flavor! I smoke Camels steadily. They never tire my taste. And Camels never make my nerves jumpy." Great Plains Meet Is April 27th

MANY AWARDS TO BE MADE

Entries Must Be Made Here Not Later Than April 24th

NO ENTRY FEE

Special Division For High Schools and Junior Colleges

One of the largest collection of medals to be assembled at one time since the passage of the gold embargo act will be awarded as prizes to the speedsters of the Panhandle in the twelfth annual Great Plains Meet at the West Texas State Teachers College, Saturday, April 27th.

Forty-four gold medals and three large silver cups have been gathered by Coach Al Baggett, director of the meet. This year's contest marks a revival of the meet after a lapse of four years, and several new features have been added.

There will be a division for college teams, as usual. However, for the first time there will be a separate division for junior colleges and freshmen, and a division for high schools. Junior colleges and high schools have competed in the meet a few times before, but the junior colleges had to compete with the four-year schools, while the high schools had just a few special events instead of a full schedule of competition.

Gold medals will be given to first place winners in all events in all divisions; gold medals will be awarded to the individual high scorers in each division; and silver cups will be awarded to the team with the high score in each division.

April 27th falls on the week-end between the regional meet and the high school state meet of the Interscholastic League, and will give the coaches an opportunity to test their men on the only cinder track in West Texas against some real competition just before going to Austin.

There is no entry fee but entries must be in by Wednesday, April 24th.

Preliminaries and finals will all be run off the same day. Preliminaries will begin Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock, with the finals scheduled to begin at 2:00 o'clock.

W. T. MUSICIANS RETURN FROM TRI-STATE MEETING

year. Despite only two rehearsals, the program was rendered excellently, and was well received.

Professor Horace A. Jones, guest artist from the University of Colorado was accompanied by Mark Wessel, pianist. His selections evoked a hearty response from the audience of music lovers. These two artists appeared at West Texas in a lyceum concert last week.

Some of the other high points of the music festival were the artists concert given Thursday evening by Robert Hopkins, baritone; Robert Markham, accompanist, and Mark Wessel, pianist, and the various musical contests, all of which the orchestra members were free to attend.

Cavern Trip

The music contests and concerts were concluded Friday, but most of the participants remained in Carlsbad overnight to accept the complimentary trip through Carlsbad Cavern on Saturday. The special party going through the Cavern entered about 9:30 and came out at 3:00 o'clock. There were 850 in the Tri-State music group, and many of these had never been through the fascinating Cavern.

After the trip through the Cavern, most of the contestants began preparations for returning to their respective homes. The West Texas State Teachers College Orchestra, however, had accepted an invitation, tendered en route, to give a concert Saturday night in Lovington, New Mexico. The same program was given at Lovington that the Tri-State Orchestra had played, with the exception of the group of violin numbers rendered by Mr. Jones.

In both Carlsbad and Lovington, the most cordial hospitality was extended to the orchestra. In both places the members were guests in private homes. Everyone making the trip reported it a most pleasant and beneficial one. Orchestra members making the trip from Canyon were:

Mr. Clark, Frances Alice Clark, Mary Alice Quattlebaum, La Trice Quattlebaum, Martin Baze, Oscar Croson, Don Savage, Kenneth Hohlhaus, Leo Duflet, Mr. C. E. Strain, Margaret Seay, Grover Stukeley, Roy Farnsworth, Kathleen Bragg, Rex Lovelady, Vera Goodwin, Helen Edwards, Charles Stratton, Hugh Harmon, Dorothy Parton, Mrs. C. W. Batchelder, Mr. Herschel Coffee, Louise Shirley Lilla Beth Burroughs, Nell Green, Miss Ruth Lowes, Miss Isabel Robinson, Walter Shelton.

Mrs. Geraldine Green accompanied the party.

Baggett Surveys Prospects For Next Year's Team

With hard, long scrimmages on the program in the spring football training camp at West Texas State Teachers College, every day the sand permits it from now to May 3 when the spring contest with A. C. C. is scheduled, Coach Al Baggett stopped yesterday long enough to take stock of his candidates for the guard positions.

Captain John Rankin, 171 pounds from Miami, has about got the right side of the question sewed up. During the last half of the season last year, Rankin played some sensational ball, and the added responsibilities of captaincy have made the work of Rankin in spring training a joy to behold.

Rankin's running mate at the present is George Caviness, squadman from Causey, New Mexico. Caviness had never played any football at all until last year, but he had a lot of natural ability, and this year he seems to have found himself. He has proved that he is varsity material.

George Wright, 178 pounds freshman from Childress, has demonstrated that he will be fighting for a regular's position. His blocking and tackling have been of the rough house variety, and the coaches have been unable as yet to decide whether he or Caviness have the edge in the race for the first-string position.

Oscar Hinger, 170 pound freshman from Endee, New Mexico, is another boy who has made it seem that there is a wealth of material for the guard positions. He is Captain Rankin's understudy now and bids fair to make a worthy one.

B. F. Cain, from Shamrock, Frank Greer from Rochester, and Joe Stribling, one-armed guard from Childress, are three freshmen whose work has been above average in the spring work-outs, and are a constant threat to the first choice guards.

"It looks like now," said Coach Baggett, "that Rankin and Hinger will hold down one side of the line successfully, while Wright and Caviness between them can take care of the other, with Greer, Cain, and Stribling as reserves."

gram was given at Lovington that the Tri-State Orchestra had played, with the exception of the group of violin numbers rendered by Mr. Jones.

In both Carlsbad and Lovington, the most cordial hospitality was extended to the orchestra. In both places the members were guests in private homes. Everyone making the trip reported it a most pleasant and beneficial one. Orchestra members making the trip from Canyon were:

Mrs. Geraldine Green accompanied the party.

Federal Housing Act Essay Contest Material Here Now

President Hill has received from Honorable R. A. Stuart, a member of our Board of Regents, information concerning the essay contest which he mentioned in his speech here recently. The letter is quoted below and explains the contest. All students who are interested in this contest are requested to read the literature which is on reference in the library. When other information is desired, they are requested to interview B. F. Fronabarger of the English department.

March 27, 1935
Mr. J. A. Hill, President,
West Texas State Teachers College,
Canyon, Texas.

Dear Mr. Hill:

I am very much pleased that you have offered me the opportunity of addressing your student body upon the Federal Housing Act. I feel that information as to this act can be disseminated to college students as well as, if not better than, any other medium available. Your students are to be the future teachers and home owners of this country, and any information given them goes direct to the ones we desire to interest in our program.

As stated to you before, I personally, have decided to offer three prizes for the three best essays written by students of the seven teachers colleges; first prize to be $25.00, second prize $15.00, and third prize $10.00. You will select the three winning essays in your school in any manner you choose. Each of the other schools will do likewise and will forward these essays to me not later than May 15th, 1935. These essays will then be judged by the State Director and the four District Directors of the Federal Housing Administration in Texas, and the awarding will be made by them as to first second and third best out of all the essays written by the various teachers colleges, after which I will immediately send the cash prizes to each of the winning students. The essays will contain not less than one thousand words nor more than two thousand words. Contestant may write upon either the first or second or both first and second phases in the Housing Act; that is, upon the Modernization Credit Plan and- or the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Plan, which are referred to in the Act as Title I and Title II. The winning essays of each school must be typewritten.

We have heretofore forwarded to you various pamphlets published by the Federal Housing Administration. Any additional information which you may desire may be obtained from the District Director of the district in which your school is located. Mr. W. W. Fondren is District Director at Houston; R. A. Tullis, District Director at San Antonio; Sam R. Sayers, District Director, Fort Worth; and Senator Wallace Hughston, District Director, Dallas.

We would appreciate your giving a copy of these regulations to any member of your faculty whom they designate to handle this essay contest.

Thanking you very much, I am,

Very cordially yours,

R. A. STUART.

Duflet Talks on Child Delinquency at Rotary Luncheon

J. L. Duflet spoke interestingly Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon on child delinquency. He was introduced by Bill Warren, chairman of the vocational service committee.

The speaker used cases which have been investigated to show the causes of child delinquency, and offered suggestions that might prove helpful in decreasing the number of cases. For the past century the schools have been interested alone in developing the intellectual side of the child. They now have discovered the necessity of developing the emotional life. It is a more difficult problem, as it arises from the conflicts of life. The associations of life are based more upon the emotions than upon the usually accepted basis of intellect.

Type of children were presented which lead to delinquency. The satisfaction of exaggerated love of the parent for the child, which leads to the spoiled child. It is the result of unsatisfactory marriage. Another type is the satisfaction of parental ideals, in which one parent attempts to educate the child along lines for which he is not adapted. Another type is the dominating negative parent, who continually points out to the child the anti-social acts of men rather than the positive acts.
