

CAMPUS BEAUTY No. 1 is Miss Elaine Murphy of Pampa. A freshman, she is 17, and 5 feet 5 3-4 inches tall. She is a slender brunette and is majoring in speech arts. She aspires to become a designer for the stage.

Student of Week Is Red-Haired Girl

In French, it's Eclatant. In German, it's Hell, but in English it's Sparkle. "Sparkle" is otherwise known as Virginia Lee Hussey, recently elected "Smile Girl" and this week chosen "Student of the Week."

Miss Hussey, a junior from Hereford, is usually at work in the office of the registrar, and divides her time for other activities between being Baptist Student council vice-president and Students' association secretary-treasurer. She is also secretary-treasurer of Randall hall, her residence.

She plays tennis when she finds time for her favorite hobby, and she has a real interest in reading and music. Her time goes to making new acquaintances and her work on her major study, intermediate education.

This red-haired, blue-eyed girl, who was chosen "Smile Girl" in a contest sponsored by The Prairie recently, plans to teach school or do stenographic work upon graduation. She looks for two traits in selecting her best friends: Sincerity and happiness.

Artists For Palo Duro School This Summer Chosen

Grant Reynard, distinguished American artist who will be a member of the faculty of the Palo Duro School of Art here next summer, has just been elected an associate member of the National Academy in New York.

The Academy is the only national institution with a long tradition of representing the best things in American art, and membership in it is achieved by relatively few artists. Among its members have been Winslow Homer, Sargent, George Inness, Eakins, LaFarge, Whistler, George Bellows, and other notables in American art.

Mr. Reynard will be artist-in-residence at the art school here for six weeks beginning June 4. It will be the fourth session for the art school managed by Miss Isabel Robinson of West Texas State College. Miss Robinson will teach during a portion of the summer. Other members of the faculty will be Derrald Swineford, who will teach pottery, modeling and wood carving, Alice Nichols, specialist in metal work and drillery, and Donald Weisman of Illinois, who will teach art education and history. The art school will continue through all twelve weeks of the summer session.

Alpha Chi Talk Regional Meeting

Plans to send delegates to the regional convention are being made by the Lloyd Green Allen chapter of Alpha Chi, national scholarship society. The convention is to be held at Southwestern university in Georgetown on April 12 and 13.

The society has been active this year and has sponsored several picnics to raise money for the convention trip.

Members of the society will meet tonight to complete plans for the convention and to make plans for the annual picnic to be given later in the spring. Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Jr., is sponsor of the local chapter.

Yale was the first U. S. university to establish a school of fine arts.

New B. A. Course To Be Available

Two-Year Business Training Will Be Offered In Fall

A two-year short course in business training, supplementing the four-year course leading to the Bachelor of Business Administration degree but not related to the latter, will be offered here beginning with the September term.

The short course, which will include typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business law, introduction of business methods, psychology, and English, will be offered for students who do not have time and funds to take the four-year course. The short course will lead to a certificate of efficiency and will prepare students for employment in the average business.

The four-year course, according to Prof. Lee L. Johnson, head of the B. A. department, will be further expanded next year. Classes in budgeting, cost accounting, and government accounting will be added. The department, in cooperation with the departments of economics and government, is providing courses for preparation, for skilled public service, and administration.

The department, one of the largest in the college, is recognized as exceptionally strong in accounting. Several students are approaching the C. P. A. examinations, and others are working toward this goal. Accounting is taught by Prof. Robert J. Hibbets, C. P. A.

April Fool's Day Feted By W. T. Radio Players

All Fools' Day, April 1, was feted last night on the W. T. radio broadcast, which resumed its regular schedule at 8 o'clock after an absence of a week during the Easter vacation.

Mogie Routh acted as mistress-of-ceremonies, and Brynildie Vaughn interviewed Virginia Lee Hussey, "Student of the Week." Lannie Line gave the news cast, which was interspersed with a fashion sketch by Fern Stephenson and a humorous spot by Bob McKenzie. Glen Davis gave a short commentary Dr. A. M. Meyer, the faculty guest, talked on guidance in education.

An original skit written by Jim Bugental and entitled "All Fools' Day" was given by the radio players. Characters in this free verse radio play were: Josh Hopkins, Carolyn Mayfield, Ruthe Klein, Alton Paul, Bomar Brown, Paul Smyer, Hollis Bledsoe, Jack Walker, Bob McKenzie, Doris Kirksey, Carolyn Greenway, Glen Davis, and Dr. Baxter M. Geeting.

LaNelle Scheihagen, a senior from Hereford, sang "None But the Lonely Heart" by Tschalkowski, "Slorian's Song" by Godard, and "Early News" by Terry.

Pi Omega Loan Fund Is Increased $25

Members of Pi Omega have added twenty-five dollars to the club loan fund, which was started last year by donations from exes and by the work of active members.

The first hundred dollars of the fund has been loaned to three senior girls, according to Mrs. Geraldine Green, who has charge of the fund. Mrs. Green also said that the girl who received the first note, the first check, and the first receipt paid the first interest last week.

The additional sum was compiled by the receipts from the Sadie Hawkins dance earlier in the year which was sponsored by Pi Omega, and donations from ex-members and present members. The club plans to increase the amount of the fund from year to year.

Loans are made on the basis of scholarship, need, fitness for subsequent employment and social adjustment. Each loan must be signed by the student, her parent or guardian, and an unrelated property owner.

The Pi Omega Loan Fund was established for the benefit of needy girls who are worthy of help. No member of the sorority is eligible.

STUDENTS IN HOSPITAL

Girls seem to be alone at the hospital currently. Students receiving hospitalization are: Hazel Bath, Laura M. Slaughter, Mary Morris, Morene Clay, Mildred McCerrin, and Edna Graham.

TUITION IS DUE

Final date for payment of tuition for the second nine weeks of the second semester is Wednesday, April 3. If paid later, a $3 penalty will be charged. Don Bowie, assistant business manager, said last week.

Ranking Quartet In Concert Here

Pictured above is the Curtis String Quartet from the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, Pa. The quartet gave a concert in the auditorium of the Administration building Friday night. The program consisted of Beethoven's fifth quartet, "Concert Etude," and "Smetna Quartet, My Life."

String Quartet Has Brilliant Ensemble

"Certainly the togetherness—the ensemble—of the Curtis String quartet was the most remarkable quality of the performance given here Friday night," said Prof. Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department.

More than 500 persons heard the musicians play a concert of chamber music. Reaction of the audience to a substituted number, "Smetna Quartet, My Life," indicated it to be the most popular. An interpretation of the reference of the movements of the life of the author was outlined, and this added interest. Especially beautiful was the third movement which recalled the author's first love.

The quality of the work of the group in ensemble was demonstrated in the second number, "Concert Etude." The first selection, the fifth of Beethoven's 18 quartets, has been called his loveliest by many. It was distinguished from the "Smetna" as pure classicism.

"This group is the ranking quartet of the world today," Prof. Clark said. "Each is a musician in the ensemble, but not a soloist."

Instruments made by Stradavarius and his students in the 17 century were displayed to the audience following the program.

The quartet has played together since graduation from the Curtis school in 1927. The concert was presented as a lyceum feature.

Duflot Advocates More Off-Campus Practice Teaching

Writing on the subject, "Is the Training School Practical?" Prof. J. L. Duflot has declared in the January number of the Peabody Journal of Education that more off-campus practice teaching must be developed in the training of teachers.

He would continue the present organization, with its courses in observation and practice teaching, as a laboratory for conducting experiments. But he also would send to certified critic teachers in the field the most competent student teachers who have completed their observation work.

"By this method," Prof. Duflot believes, "the training school through its coordinator with the public schools may carry on the psychological and sociological processes of fusing the ideal with the real, theory with practice, and learning with experience. The laboratory school must find a way to interact continuously with the public school."

The advantages of the plan are summarized as follows:

1. It will place the student teacher in a natural situation where effective learning and practical experience may be carried on simultaneously.

2. It may eventually improve the quality of teaching in the public schools. In order to secure recognition as critic teachers, all of the employed teachers may be stimulated by this type of organization to do creative and outstanding work. It is reasonable to believe that the school boards will take cognizance of such honors bestowed upon their teachers and that they will reward them accordingly.

3. The student teacher will be genuinely motivated to do her best work while under the sponsorship of her critic teacher. It is a notorious fact that among too many students the 'getting off' of practice teaching is treated more as perfunctory act than as a vital experience. When a student becomes an under-study of a teacher in a regular school system where the possibility of a permanent job dangles before her eyes, she will have a real incentive to make good in her internship.

Flag Bill Sent To President's Office By Student Senate

Provision for flying the American flag on the campus every day was the text of a recommendation to President J. A. Hill passed by the Student Senate at a regular meeting Thursday.

The bill will be sent to the office of the president upon his return from California this week. Hollis Bledsoe, senior representative, indicated Sunday.

A resolution passed by the junior class Thursday morning was the origin of the plan to place a flag on the pole in front of the Administration building.

Eight representatives of the Senate were present and voting. Included were Margaret Esther Hill, Donald Kendrick, Hollis Bledsoe, James Swafford, Arvo Goddard, Garland Turner, Glen Thomsen, and Ballard Graves. Presiding was Stephen Milner, vice-president of the Students' association. Ulane Zeek, president of the Association, and Virginia Lee Hussey, secretary-treasurer of the Association attended.

Queens College has added 69 new courses for the second half of the present school year.

perience. When a student becomes an under-study of a teacher in a regular school system where the possibility of a permanent job dangles before her eyes, she will have a real incentive to make good in her internship.

"4. This type of organization has the possibility of binding each community to the college. The citizens will become conscious of the fact that the college as an educational institution will be functioning directly within their own communities.

"5. As the years pass, with the accumulation of experience and the perfection of methods, the staff of sponsors will be enlarged and an increasing number of student teachers of all grades of scholarship will be placed in their public schools for their practice teaching."

The article is based on studies made by a group of College teachers in 1938. Questions submitted to former students now teaching brought out that these teachers recommend providing of more practice and less theory and that practice teaching be done in less ideal conditions.

Prof. Duflot noted that a majority of these teachers had a warped conception of the meaning of theory, regarding it as something vague and bookish. He points out that a theory is not a vague something, but a generalization rooted in facts, and that a theoretical knowledge of subject matter is true scholarship.

He adds: "If college teachers will make it a practice in teaching a theory to have the student go through the same processes of developing and proving its validity that its author experienced in establishing it, then ex-student teachers will come to have a more wholesome respect for these instrumentalities of control. It is not too much to say that no man's theory becomes an integral (See Teaching, page 4)

First-Voters Will Be Given Recognition

Air Mechanics Course Offered

Classes Will Begin In Three Weeks; Shop Nears Completion

Completion of the concrete floor of the new workshop and beginning of classes for 24 students in aviation mechanics within three weeks has been announced by Olie Brown, superintendent of the NYA vocational project.

Brown said the new workshop under the stadium would be one of the best in the state. Several airplane engines have been received from the federal government along with other equipment for the shop. Students will be taught to dismantle and reassemble the engines.

David Bletner of Amarillo, who was to have been the instructor, has been made state supervisor of aviation mechanics, and will appoint an instructor for the local project immediately. Some of the students expect to obtain jobs in the aviation industry after the training is completed here.

The project has increased to 72 men who are living on the campus in a dormitory constructed by the group last year. Rock veneering of the structure is scheduled to begin Saturday, and natural rock from Palo Duro canyon is to be used.

Part of the students are studying electricity, auto mechanics, and sheetmetal work. All attend classes and work a part of each day.

This project is in addition to the civilian pilots training program in which more than a score of college students are enrolled. All of these have soloed.

Joe Fortenberry Is Listed as All-American Basketball Guard

Joe Fortenberry of Happy, former star of the W. T. Buffaloes, was chosen by sport writers at Denver as All-American guard. Fortenberry is a member of the Phillips 66 team which won the National AAU championship at Denver. He was a member of the team which represented the United States in winning the basketball championship at the Olympic games in Germany four years ago.

Since starring at W. T., Fortenberry has been a member of the Phillips 66 team from Bartlesville.

Aggies Hear Soil Specialist In Lecture

The recently organized W. T. Aggies club members heard Don M. Braum, soil conservation specialist last week in a survey of the field of employment for agriculture majors.

Desirable qualifications for the various vocations were discussed, and he pointed to loyalty as the most important. He summarized the advantages and disadvantages of civil service work.

Another meeting of the club is planned for tomorrow night in Room 17 of the Administration building. All agriculture students are being urged to attend.

Pampa Band Gives Program Tuesday

Students of W. T. were entertained at assembly Tuesday with a musical program by the Pampa junior high school, featuring the junior high school band composed of 81 members and directed by A. C. Cox, Sr.

Another feature of the program was a chat between Jack Johnson, and Gusto, his dummy. Johnson has never had a lesson in ventriloquism, but "just picked it up by working on it in spare time."

The girls' sextet, under the direction of Miss Winifred Wiseman, sang three numbers, "Eighteenth Century Drawing Room," "Japanese Garden," and "Old Man Mose." Members of the sextet were Anna Lois Alford, Anna Barnett, Alexia Brown, Betty Lou Clifford, Joan Hawkins and Betty Jo Holt.

Also on the program was Fred Thompson, introduced as the Fred Astaire of 1950, who did a song and dance number.

New Instructor

WILLIAM F. READ

William F. Read, above, will be a new professor in the geology and anthropology department beginning in late summer. He will complete his dissertation for the doctor's degree at the University of Chicago this spring.

Instructor For Geology Named

Young Graduate of Chicago To Finish Ph. D. Work Soon

Appointment of William F. Read of the University of Chicago to the department of geology and anthropology has been announced by President J. A. Hill.

The new professor will succeed the late C. Stuart Johnston next fall. Wayne Christian, who has performed laboratory and field work in the department during this term, has accepted a fellowship at California Tech.

"I believe we have found the man," Dr. Hill said. "I have seldom been as impressed by a young man and his recommendations."

Mr. Read is completing work for his Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago. His dissertation is based on studies of vertebrates of the Permian redbeds near Seymour, Texas—a subject familiar to that which will require much of his time here. His major subject is vertebrate paleontology, a field to which the Panhandle "diggings" are contributing finds of worldwide importance.

Recommendations of his professors at Chicago include:

Dr. Harlen Bretz: "Mr. Read is to be one of the best teachers of geology of the next generation. He is a young man on whom we shall be proud to tie our degree."

Dr. W. C. Krumbein: "Mr. Read is an unusual student. He is very capable and thorough in his work and approaches his problems with a high degree of enthusiasm."

Dr. Everett C. Olson: "Mr. Read is the best graduate student with whom I have had close contact. He is one of the finest laboratory assistants the Department of Geology and Paleontology has ever had."

Dr. Rollin T. Chamberlin: "He is unusually painstaking and thorough, with the instinct of a true scholar."

Mr. Read took the bachelors degree at Harvard. He is a son of Dr. Conyers Read, professor of history at the University of Pennsylvania. He was married last September. At Chicago he has had a teaching fellowship to defray part of his expenses.

He is expected to visit the campus this spring to confer with Dr. Hill, Floyd V. Studer, curator for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, and Dr. L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the society and head of the department of history.

BAGGETT IN KANSAS CITY

Athletic Director Al Baggett of West Texas State left Thursday for Kansas City to attend a national meeting of basketball coaches.

While there he also will attend a meeting of the board of directors of the National Intercollegiate Basketball Championship Association, for which he is the Texas director.

Mr. Baggett also planned to confer with Oklahoma City University coaches concerning the date of the football game next fall with the Goldbugs. Fixing of this date and that with St. Mary's of San Antonio will complete the Buffaloes' 1940 schedule.

Program For New Citizens Planned By Condron May 8

By EARL WALKER

In the days of Greek superiority, a program was held once each year for the purpose of recognizing young men who became of age during the year. They were enlightened as to their privileges and responsibilities as citizens.

That same purpose will be the theme of a program to be held at West Texas State college on May 8 when more than 200 young men and women will accept the responsibilities of citizenship for the first time.

Such a program has never been attempted in W. T., said Prof. S. H. Condron, head of the department of government and chairman of the program. Only two or three other colleges in the state are attempting such a program; however, other states are launching it quite successfully. Practically every college or university in the state of Wisconsin has a similar program annually.

The program here is being sponsored jointly by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club, and the County Coordinating council. The council is an organization with a membership consisting of representatives from all clubs and societies in Randall county. Prof. Condron is president of the council.

Stress is to be placed on the fact that when a young man—or young woman—reaches the age of 21, he is then a part of the nation, in fact he is the nation, forming policies and attitudes himself. He often needs guidance in order to make those policies ideals rather than downfalls, stated Mr. Condron. Citizenship is the voters' privilege and they should learn to vote and to carry on the government intelligently and effectively, he explained.

The program is to begin at 7:30 p. m. in the main auditorium of the Administration building. The college band, under the direction of Prof. C. E. Strain, will open the program.

Neville Bremer of Amarillo will talk on the subject, "Youth Accepts the Ballot." Other speakers from the student body will appear on the program.

A prominent Texan, whose name has not been disclosed, will make a keynote address, after which the new voters will be given the charge of citizenship and will take the pledge of allegiance. At that time they will be given certificates which will be provided by the joint sponsors.

In order to close the ceremonies fittingly, the Buffalo band will play the national anthem, "Star Spangled Banner."

Jack Curtice and Frank Kimbrough to Coach School

A football coaching school will be held in Plainview August 26-30 for the benefit of high school coaches of this area.

Coach Jack Curtice of W. T. Buffaloes, and Frank Kimbrough of the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys will be in charge of the instruction.

Mr. Curtice was in Plainview Friday closing arrangements for the school.

YWCA Will Hear Pierle Today

Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the chemistry department, will speak to members of the Young Women's Christian association on "A Scientist Looks At Religion" in Room 205 of the Administration building this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

This program will conclude the science series, and the next will be on contemporary problems.

Ray Brack spoke on "Real Christianity" at a recent meeting of the YMCA. The lecture by the South American was an outstanding one of the year. The H-Y of the W. T. Demonstration school had parts on the program.

Seventeen miles of shelves have been added to the University of Illinois library. They'll accommodate half a million books.

"College men and women are peculiarly the sentinels on the outer walls. There was never more need for clean thinking and courageous doing by college men and women than there is today. We of the universities must more aggressively, more earnestly, more militantly combat these falacies and heresies and expound and 'sell' representative democracy. It is the bastion of our liberties; and the foundation of our faith must not be undermined." Diplomat Joseph E. Davis.

Invite The Drinkers?

A local social club in planning a guest list for a dance considered dropping the names of all students who might be expected to be drinking, but decided not to be discriminating in this way.

It's too bad that the plan was not followed. Simple is the task of marking off the names of the drinkers, because there are not many. It's true that a few of the large number of students who dance are threatening the freedom which is enjoyed locally at dances.

If these persons who impose can be made to realize that their activity is not accepted in society here, then some progress can be made in removing the annoyance from the campus.

It is interesting, too, to think about where these not-yet-adults, as most of the students are, get their liquor inasmuch as a state law prohibits sale of intoxicating liquors to minors.

Band Assures Good Will

There isn't much significance attached to Buffalo band's making a tour and playing concerts over the Panhandle area. There should be.

The band is gaining a reputation for its sponsor, because of the good concerts and fine way the members act when on the road. Prof. C. E. Strain consistently insists that the band members conduct themselves as college students, and the results are always favorable.

One might expect this good will to be expensive, but it certainly isn't. On a trip to Shamrock recently tax on the band budget amounted to the gas and oil expenditures. That's about all.

It is well that the group can find the support for their trips, and they should be recognized for their work.

Careers Through Home Economics

Home making can be a career and a profession if the woman who chooses it possesses knowledge and skill and pride in her work. The college trained woman who has chosen home economics as her major field of study is prepared for the profession of home making.

She is prepared for many other occupations, too. Only a few of these occupations—which are increasing in number all the time—can be mentioned. The county home demonstrator and the teacher of home making are familiar figures in every community. They are home economics trained women.

Manufacturers and wholesalers employ attractive, trained women to demonstrate their products. The cooking school under the sponsorship of a range or refrigerator company is an example of the work of these women. Women who do this type of work must be physically strong, well poised, and genuinely interested in people. They travel far and can make for themselves hundreds of pleasant friendships and acquaintances as well as a good salary.

The buyers of ready-to-wear clothing and of all sorts of house furnishings in department stores are usually trained in home economics. They know materials, styles and values. Large department stores send their buyers to Europe once or twice a year, and their cultural opportunities as well as their salaries are superior.

The United States Government employs hundreds of women who have been home economics majors when in college.

Banks employ home economists to help their customers live well on the money they have earned. Furniture stores employ them to help other women furnish their homes in good taste. Hotel tea rooms, and cafeterias are frequently managed by foods experts who must also have much executive ability. Dieticians in hospitals, clubs, schools, and hotels are required to have similar college training.

The alert girl who will put forth the effort to secure a real education in the fields of foods and clothing, and who learns to work successfully with people will find profitable and pleasant employment.—W. T. Wings.

There have been enough compliments heard that we can assume the concert given by the Pampa Junior high school band recently to have been an unusually good one.

To the ha ha department we send the story of certain students who have questioned The Prairie's right to ridicule the "drinking class." None has taken advantage of a right to express an opinion in a letter to the editor.

THE HIC JACET JOURNAL OF RADIO INVESTIGATION

Do you like a peek behind the scenes? Most people do. So today we offer an actual case history of a radio mystery. Our chief character is a Mr. X. Not because he is unknown, but because discretion bids us so to name him.

Curtain!

PROLOGUE

The radio class has long sought to attract some newsworthy attention to its weekly program. Somehow the local talent didn't offer anyone who could out-Benny, the Jello King, nor out-Hope the Pepsodent Prince. In vain did they search for someone who could rival Wee Bonnie Baker. Fruitless was the search for a home to replace the Barbers. (Even though Arvo Goddard tried hard.) In fact, there wasn't even a dummy on the campus to threaten McCarthy's throne.

At length it was decided in the secret council chambers of the etherites to shock the waking world into attention. After all, look at Orson Welles and his men from Mars and his beard. After all consider the Gypsy Rose, the girl who's heart belongs to daddy, or any of the many others who have startled their way into notoriety.

Thus the plan was formed.

ACT ONE

Then came the zero hour. With the cunning of a Guy Fawkes, the cast of an anti-war skit rehearsed. Sound effects were prepared. Music was fitted into the interludes. Everything was in readiness to startle the radio world. The "shock troops" toed the mark.

Was the skit startling? Well, after all, it had one "damn" and two "hells" in it!!!

And so the program went out on the air.

ACT TWO

Now everyone waited tensely for angry letters to pour in from out-raged patriots. One letter arrived. Crammed into the middle of a paragraph discussing other things was:

"The play was very effective. The bombing and other sound effects were very good. The musical background also helped a great deal. Compliments are due the sound effect workers, actor, and the writer of the skit."

Time passed and another letter came:

"The sound effects were a trifle indistinct. The whistling especially—couldn't tell what it was supposed to be. . . . Players weren't up to standard."

ACT THREE

And then it came. Written on two post-cards by a typewriter with a poorly controlled left-hand margin:

Head of Speech Department
West Texas State College
Canyon, Texas.
Dear Sir:

I am surprised at hearing such a program as you put on the air Monday night. It is bad enough the conditions which now exist in the colleges with so much radicalism and the fun-making which is being poked at the Dies committee.

But I certainly didn't think that we were stained with Red in this part of the country. Having a radio play like you did the other night and glorifying cowardice . . . just at the time when we need for this country to be united to go out and fight those things which are menacing our home shores. You not only preached a great deal of pacifism in the play and presented such a treasonable thing . . . you went as far as to poke fun at even the supernatural and our Biblical characters and saints. Not satisfied with going and being treasonable you had to do unholy and sacrilegious things . . . you should be barred from the radio. I am going to the Amer. Legion and have them investigate that college.

A Perturbed Listener."

It was great! Fine! Sensational! Call up the Prairie Editor and ask him to hold page one for a smashing story. Can't you see the headlines: "LEGION INVESTIGATION OF W. T. REDS ASKED!"

EPILOGUE

But you can't see that on page one today. We had to call the editor up again. We told him: "It's this way. We were going to do a column on ghost letters to the radio class. Make it fit in with the big front-page story on this "A Perturbed Listener" guy. We got out all the ghost letters and started thumbing through them.

"Then we found it. Back in December this same Mr. X who wrote this sizzler wrote us another letter. It was milder, though it did some roasting. He signed it "A Faithful Listener" that time.

"But that previous letter was identified as the work of a member of the radio class. This new one is easily tied up with the first letter, or with the radio class member."

"Kill the story!"

FINIS

That's how it died. You almost got a big news story. It turned out to be a one-man affair. So this column gets it and you'll have to wait until another time for the feature on radio ghosts.

MORAL

Doctors have been using ether for a long time for just one purpose. When trying something new with it, don't expect much but the same results: Sleep.

Buffalo Wallow

"THERE AIN'T NO
FLIES ON ME . . ."

It will seem strange: Foster Watkins throwing baseballs instead of footballs.

For the little All-American chunker has signed with the Amarillo Gold Sox for a try at the short-stop position next summer. Fans know he has a stout arm . . . a fighting heart . . . lightning-like reflexes and a likeable disposition—all prime baseball assets.

But can he hit? You don't hit footballs and if you boot a baseball you're a bum! The answer is that the Gold Sox need, above all, to plug that big hole in their defense. If Flippin' Foster can do that, he will be seen in these parts all summer.

But who says he can't hit? Slug 'em a mile, Foster.

Every Buffalo fan should know: That nearly every member of the "Tallest Team on Earth" captained a high school basketball team. (Included are Charles Halbert of House, N. M., Ernest Schur of Vernon, Frank Stockman of Malta Bend, Mo., Dewey Johnson of Abernathy, Price Brookfield of Friona, Earl Stagner of Dimmitt, Bob Nippert of Kirkland, and Donald Kendrick of Groom.)

A little man who wasn't there: Last fall Coach Jack Curtice was invited to speak at the annual football banquet in Claude. Jack carefully prepared a speech, rehearsed it before the boys, and picked out some motion pictures to illustrate gridiron antics.

"Nothing like being on time—or before time," quoth Jack as he drove up to a Claude drugstore and inquired:

"Where is the banquet going to be held?"

"What banquet?" the druggist asked, puzzled.

"Your football banquet; I am to speak there," Coach Curtice said, then wilted as the druggist replied: "That was last night; we wondered why you didn't show up."

W. T.'s expanding sports and physical education program has brought another coach to the campus. He is Leslie Van Meter, a husky son of Old Kaintuck who is the assistant coach and instructor in physical education. He played under the Curtice banner at one time and the two Blue Grass men should make a fine team—and a winning one.

It went with the wind . . . did baseball at W. T. Not dust storms, we're told, but cold northerners finally discouraged baseball teams on the plains. Track and field meets went the same way . . . with the wind. In recent years dusters have smothered out enthusiasm for these two grand sports.

Boy, it would be great to have them back! A peep into old year-books shows records of many thrilling games and meets. And if weather runs in cycles, maybe hard ball and track will return.

We can wait until next winter, but it will be hard waiting . . . for the best basketball team West Texas State has seen in a decade. The large sophomore Buffs won the Alamo Conference title and the Southwestern Intercollegiate meet this year. The up-and-at-'em Yearlings won the hotly fought Amarillo Jaycee tournament. Put the two squads together and turn them over to Coach Al Baggett in October and you'll have a treat for your eyes.

AND DON'T FORGET THAT WEST TEXAS STATE HAS NOT HAD A WEAK BASKETBALL TEAM IN TWENTY YEARS!

We're not forgetting, of course, that the Buffs were the first Texas team to win the El Paso invitation tournament. . . That Captain Ernest Schur is rated one of the best guards in the Southwest. . . That the Buffs will play Fresno State in football next fall. . . That several Border Conference schools favor W. T. for that circuit.

MAYBE HE'S A GENIUS

Sounds unbelievable, but the good folks of Dunkerton, Ia., swear Junior Wumkes, a high school basketball player, scored nine points in 15 seconds the other night.

Bufs Strong In Spring Training

Squad To Feature Ground Attack On Gridiron This Year

During the few days of spring practice for the Buffaloes fans have learned several things about the 1940 West Texas State College football machine.

First, the squad of fifty men appeared to get an amazing amount of fun out of the rehearsals.

Second, the spirit seemed to be one of driving confidence.

Third, there seems to be an abundance of material for almost every position.

But no Flippin' Foster Watkins to hurl the ball.

"We will have a smashing, running attack this year and will use passes only for surprise and deception," explained Head Coach Jack Curtice, who is taking over the football responsibility from Athletic Director Al Baggett.

However, Curtice hinted that the passing might develop into something formidable in time. In Brandon and Anderson he has two fair left-handed flingers. Cornell and Collins let go from the other wing. Cornell and Brandon also are more than ordinary punters. They excel in quick kicking, a Curtice specialty. Brandon is one of several men obtained from Sul Ross State when the Lobes gave up football permanently.

The running attack will feature such speedsters as Cornell, Collins, Brandon, Price, Kirkpatrick, and Sanders. Sanders will work at full-back, however, as also will big Jim Foust, the most powerful of the backs. Brandon also is a good line plunger. Price will be a wing back. Blocking backs will include Tiger Lee McLaury of Amarillo, Eldon Davis of Amherst, Roy Lee Jones of Pampa, and Red Martin of Seagraves, another Lobo.

Deep in guards and tackles, Curtice will have to give considerable attention to developing a pair of centers and bring the ends along to top performance. Fans are expecting much from a pair of 235-pound sophomore tackles—Jack Hessey of Pampa and W. J. House of Wichita Falls. The starting line may reach an average of 220 pounds this year.

Characteristically optimistic is Irish Jack Curtice, but he shrugs ruefully when contemplating an early season battle with Arizona State of Tempe, the Border conference champions. High praise for the Buffaloes has come from Leslie Van Meter of Owensboro, Ky., new assistant coach named by Curtice. Van Meter said he has inherited line material far more husky and scrappy than he had hoped for, and that the whole squad seemed to promise an outstanding team before the end of the 1940 season.

Termites Lead In Intramural Contest Defeating N. Y. A.

Finals in intramural volleyball left the Termites as the contest winners with two victories over the NYA team Wednesday night in Burton gymnasium.

This victory gives the Termites the lead in the season intramural contest with second place held by the NYA team.

In the Termites' volleyball victory, the first game was won easily, but the second encounter was decided on the last play breaking the tie.

Standings by points for the teams follows: Termites, 17; NYA, 12; Firecrackers, 11; Bachelors, 7; Epilson Beta and Wildcats, 6.5; Bullshooters and T-Anchor Aggies, 6; Gully Jumpers, 2.5; T-Club, Stafford, Hornets, Glamour Boys, and Alpha Sigs have 2 points each.

Halbert Made 450 Points During the Buffalo Season

The West Texas State College basketball statistician has had his last session with the adding machine and has come up with the fact that Charles Halbert was leading scorer for the season, with 450 points.

The 6 foot 10 inch center made 182 field goals in 429 attempts and 86 free throws in 136 attempts for a scoring effectiveness of slightly more than 50 per cent. His percentage on field goals was 42 per cent, which was very high compared with 29% for Price Brookfield, who was runner-up with 394 points. However, Brookfield was the more aggressive, getting a total of 592 field goal attempts.

Other Buffalo scorers were Johnson, 227; Schur, 309; Stockman, 203; Price, 99; Kendrick, 62; Nippert, 65; Stagner, 56; Stephenson, 46; and Jones, 14. The total for the squad was 1925 points.

The Buffs won 26 games and lost 8. Games won produced the Alamo conference championship and the flag of the Southwestern tournament at El Paso.

EXHIBIT OF PICTURES

An exhibit of pictures by both old masters and modern painters will be shown in Room 202 of the education building from April 9-13.

Boxing Contests To Begin Tuesday

Entries Are Complete; Plans For Fight Night Made As Prelims Start

By DELBERT MCGUIRE

Pairings for the intramural boxers have been made by Mitchell Jones, faculty director, and the preliminary bouts will begin Tuesday. The prelims will probably be fought in the afternoon, with the semifinals taking place at night, and no admission charge being made.

The finals will be fought on a fight night, with an admission charge of a dime for students to finance awards to the winners in each division. Mr. Jones stated that these plans were not final.

In the 128-pound class, four fighters are entered, with Brown fighting Long, and Bacon Jones fighting Pullen. Waggoner will fight Graves in the 138-pound division, with Johnson taking on Howard in the second fight of that weight.

In the 148-pound scrap, White vs. Jones, and Pritchett vs. Davidson, make up the fight card. Hughes will fight Davis, and Dalton will fight Currin in the 158-pound tilt.

Dowlin will meet Dukes, and Glass opposes Frazier in the 168-pound class; Wright vs. Ellison, and Crisswell vs. Morgan make up the heavyweight division.

The grunt and groan division does not yet have a full card, but those who have entered will fight for titles, Mr. Jones stated.

In the 128-pound mat event, Langford will wrestle King, with Reeves taking the winner. Harley Gordon will wrestle Gosnell in the 138-pound class with George Gordon meeting the winner of that class. Incidentally, George and Harley are not brothers, but cousins. Horace Gordon will fight the winner of the bout between Bob Miller and Alley in the 148-pound class.

The 158-pound class finds Plank fighting Barton and Bob Pritchett tussling with the winner of that bout. Lee will fight Langford and Patterson will fight Marcum in the 168-pound scrap. In the light-heavy, or 178-pound class, much interest has been shown in the match between Garland Turner, sophomore, and Luther Archer, a junior. This promises to be hard-fought tussle, and should be anybody's match. The heavy weight division has a good card, also, with E. B. Turner and J. Delevan Smith in the main bout. Crisswell will meet the victor.

Dean C. E. Edmondson of Indiana University is national faculty billiard champion.

MISS EDNA GRAHAM HOSTESS AT EASTER LUNCHEON

Centering the table for an Easter luncheon Friday at the home of Miss Edna Graham, was a beautiful arrangement of garden flowers placed amid miniature rabbits, chickens, and birds peeking out among flowers and sprigs of grass. Nests of Easter eggs added more color to the table and a large hydrangea in a similar setting was on the buffet.

Individual chickens were used as favors. Miss Graham was assisted by her niece, Miss Edna Graham.

A colorful plate was served to Mrs. Nancy McCaslin, Mrs. S. L. Ingham, Mrs. Harris M. Cook, Mrs. C. A. Murray, Mrs. J. S. Humphreys, Mrs. T. B. McCarter, Mrs. Ida Barlow, Mrs. L. F. Sheffy, Mrs. J. A. Gillis, Mrs. R. A. Terrill, Mrs. Anne Wofford, Miss Hellen Hickman, and Miss Graham.

Jack Jennings left Tuesday for Austin to spend a few days before going to New York City, where he is employed with American Airlines. He had visited here a few days.

Twelve tons of rubbish were removed from the Rose Bowl stadium after the Tennessee-Southern California gridiron battle.

TEACHING—

part of his mentality until he passes through the experience of developing it. . . .

"These students are demanding an extra stock of tricks for lesson planning, unit activity projects, creating interest in subject matter, controlling personality and group problems, and for meeting the various learning situations with the limited material equipment on hand. Many of them regard the traditional methods courses as being too impractical, and they express a desire for courses in the selection and adaptation of materials, combined with practice teaching."

In raising and answering the question of whether the training school is an institution of the public schools or the college campus, Prof. Dufflot says, "it has the possibilities of being vitally related to both, and ideally that should be its objective. But it is constantly redefining its aims and reshaping its structure through experience gained from systematic field studies, or does it depend too much for its inspiration upon the professional distillations of arm-chair opinions and rationalizations?"

The off-campus practice teaching plan is a suggestion derived from studies of teachers' answers to the last question.
