

Twenty-Six Men Arrive to Begin Work on NYA Project

T. I. P. A. Entries Mailed Last Week

Frances M. Smith and Lynard Riley Win Here In Three Divisions

Entries in virtually every field of competition in the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association were mailed early last week by Type High, college press club.

Interest in local contests, particularly the literary divisions, surpassed that of the last several years.

Frances M. Smith and Lynard Riley shared honors in the local competition, each winning in three divisions. Miss Smith's one-act play, poem and essay were entered in the state contests. Riley, Prairie sports editor, won with his sports column, sports article, and feature story. Other winners include Quentin Ward, short story; Bill Cone, news story; Sam D. Burton, news photograph; and Dan Hemphill, editorial.

Last year's edition of Le Mirage was entered in the yearbook competition, and four editions of The Prairie will compete with papers from other schools.

Winners in the state contests will be announced at the annual convention at Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth April 22. Several members of Type High, which includes members of both Prairie and annual staffs, will attend the convention.

Frank Hill Reports Progress on Old Printing Exhibit

Frank P. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News, said Saturday when he visited the campus that construction of a printing press room of 1880 would be started next summer in Pioneer Hall.

Working with Clyde W. Warwick, Canyon publisher, Mr. Hill has been busy planning the exhibit, and the collection to date includes an old-time George Washington press. Cuts have been obtained of old brands which were printed in early cattle-men's papers making brands well known and protecting the owners from cattle rustlers.

Mr. Hill explained that there is a large amount of material which can be obtained to make up this interesting exhibit.

Hill was editor of The Prairie two years, 1922 to 1924, and he was the publication's only male society editor, according to The Prairie files. He was also business manager of The Prairie for one year. While he was editor The Prairie was changed from a semi-monthly magazine to a weekly newspaper.

Mr. Hill is vice-president of the Lubbock division of the W. T. ex-students.

Speed Work on Buffalo Dam

Completion of recreational facilities and beautification at Buffalo dam near here is being rushed by a crew of 150 men, of whom 110 were added recently.

Carpenters are completing the recreation hall and boat houses, while other workmen are setting out thousands of trees and planting grass on the grounds and around the cabins.

Policies of management have not been announced, but federal authorities say that the facilities will be ready for public enjoyment by June 1.

Buffalo lake is the largest in the Panhandle and is nearer completion than other lakes on the federal program. Summer school students will be among the first patrons.

"Get Acquainted" Return Engagement

A sandstorm made the celebration of Fish Day a mediocre affair last year and this year cancelled the only activity scheduled by the same group—now sophomores.

"Get Acquainted Week" which was planned for last week by the sophomore class didn't get started last Tuesday because the auditorium hadn't been cleaned after that 80-mile duster.

In assembly this morning the sophomores were again scheduled to present Tony Dougal's tumbling team, and badges were ready to be pinned on co-operative students.

West Texas State Band Sweethearts

The picture above is not a photographic trick, nor are your eyes deceiving you. The charming identicals above are West Texas State's new band queens, Mary and Virginia McGowan, who made their first appearance with the band last week at Shamrock's annual St. Patrick's Day.

Juniors Will Be Guests at Senior Frolic Saturday

Members of the junior class will be guests at the first senior night of this semester which is scheduled for Saturday night at Cousins Hall.

The informal affair will last from 8:30 to 11 p. m., and both games and dancing are on the evening's program. Members of both junior and senior classes may attend "stag or drag," and members of either class may date students from other classes.

A program is scheduled during the evening, the details of which have not been announced.

W. T. Dramatic Group Will Attend Festival in Waco

Members of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, will leave tomorrow to attend the Drama Festival of Universities and Colleges, to be held at Baylor University in Waco, March 23-25.

The group from West Texas State are to present a one-act play, "Peggy," at the festival. The play was given Wednesday afternoon at Dramatic Club meeting, and drew favorable criticism from the Club. This week has been spent in further polishing the production in order to compete favorably with the other colleges and universities. Included in the play cast are: Dorothy Lee Yearwood as Peggy, Bomar Brown as Worthington, Elizabeth Wood as Angeline, Billy Ballard as Danny, Mogie Routh as Harriet, Lynette Harter as Amy, and Lawrence McBee as Lawrence. Gaynelle Douglas is promoter for the production.

The play is being co-directed by Dr. Baxter M. Geeting, head of the speech department, and Miss Helen Anglin, assistant.

Two cars of students are to leave the campus for Waco tomorrow morning. They will return Sunday.

Dorothy Morgan, student last semester, was on the campus Saturday.

Cousins Class to See Orphan They Have Helped Nine Years

Members of the Cousins Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church will see for the first time, April 1, an orphan, Geraldine Webster, 12 years old, whom they have helped support for nine years.

She will come here from the Methodist Orphanage at Waco to spend two days as the guest of members and former members of the class. Former members are paying her expenses here, and she will stay with Miss M. Moss Richardson, teacher of the class.

A full program has been outlined for her visit. A theatre party will be given in her honor on the evening of her arrival, and on the follow-

Addition Made to D. A. R. Loan Fund

Hill Given Check at State Meeting Held in Abilene Last Week

Dr. J. A. Hill has announced receipt of an addition of $2,340 to the D. A. R. student loan fund at West Texas State.

This brings the total in the fund to $3,740. It will be increased eventually to $5,000.

The check was handed to Dr. Hill at the Abilene state meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution by Miss Marian Mullins, state regent.

More than fifty College girls have received loans from the D. A. R. fund in recent months. Junior and senior girls chiefly are the recipients.

The D. A. R. committee of faculty women in charge of the fund are Mrs. Geraldine Green, chairman, Miss Florence McMurry, and Miss Darthula Walker.

While downstate, Dr. Hill attended a meeting of Texas state college presidents at Austin Monday. He also attended in Fort Worth a meeting of the board of the Educators Mutual Life Insurance company, of which he is a member and secretary.

The school heads were unable to obtain accurate information on the school budgets to be approved by Senate and House finance committees, but were promised data within ten days.

WORK OF MRS. BUSH ON EXHIBIT HERE

Drawings and water-color paintings by Mrs. Maurine Bush of Amarillo are being displayed this week at the art room of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum.

They are done from several approaches, including the impressionistic, post-impressionistic, realistic, abstract, and non-objective. Mrs. Bush spent the last several summers in the Taos School of Art, studying with E. S. Bistram. She also has worked with Mrs. Amy Jackson of Amarillo and at Carmel, Calif.

day she will be given a shopping tour in Amarillo. Later in the afternoon she will be given a picnic in the canyons, and on the evening of April 1, girls of her own age will be invited to a party in her honor. A sunrise breakfast has also been planned.

Geraldine is talented in music and plays the violin and piano.

Members of the Sunday School Class, which was named in honor of the late R. B. Cousins, first president of W. T., have contributed to the girl's support nine years, although they have never seen her, and her visit will be a joyful occasion to them as well as to Geraldine.

Alpha Chi Shingles Awarded Sixteen

Dr. Margaret Lee Wiley Gives Principal Address In Assembly Saturday

Sixteen members of Alpha Chi were awarded shingles in the general student assembly Saturday morning. Dr. Margaret Lee Wiley of the English department gave the main address of the program.

Two piano selections by Marjorie Wilkinson, Alpha Chi member, opened the program.

In her address, which dealt with radio broadcasting, Miss Wiley discussed advertising and the possibilities of television.

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, head of the College English department and Alpha Chi faculty adviser, discussed the organization explaining qualifications for membership. Membership is gained only by application, he said, explaining that many students who fulfill the scholarship qualifications would not have enough interest in the organization's program to make them worthwhile members.

Junior membership is based upon freshman and sophomore work, and is limited to the upper 10 per cent of the junior class. A minimum grade point average of 3.2 is required.

Senior membership is based upon the first three years of college work, and is limited to the higher 10 per cent of the senior class. Graduate membership is based on all college work except freshman work.

Students receiving shingles Saturday for senior membership are: Wayne Christian, Roy O. Irvin, Mrs. Bess Kervin Leforge, Mrs. Nanette Padgett, and Jo Mae Smith.

Shingles, signifying junior membership were presented to Louis B. Cole, Mary Nell Jennings, Royce Jones, Lucille Morris, La Nelle Scheilagen, Ulane Zeek, Alice Vaughan, Marjorie Wilkinson, and Clarice Whitten.

Inter-Club Council Will Sponsor Annual Queen Coronation

Members of the Student Senate Tuesday authorized the Inter-club Council to sponsor the coronation of the college personality queen, Gaynelle Douglas of Silverton. No date for the occasion was set at a meeting of the Inter-club Council at their meeting last week.

A committee to work on legislation to supplement an amendment to the constitution, which provides for a court of interpreters, was appointed. Members of the committee are Ulane Zeek, Dick Smith, and Bill Norman.

ARTICLE XI INTERPRETATION OF THE CONSTITUTION

A committee shall be appointed each year by the President of the College and the President of the Students' Association, acting jointly, and approved by a majority vote of the Student Senate. The function of this committee is to act as an interpreting agent of the Constitution. The committee shall consist of two students from the student body at large, one student from the Student Senate, a member of the Welfare Committee, a member of the Executive Committee, and the Head of the Government Department. Principles of interpretation shall follow the usual rules employed in the construction of constitutional issues.

New Museum Case Will be Completed Within Two Weeks

Another in a series of companion cases is under construction in the Museum now. To be completed in two weeks is a coyote case containing two coyotes, male and female, mounted with a prairie background of low, rolling hills. Prairie grass will be painted by Mr. Sundstrom, museum artist.

The series includes the lobo wolf, coyotes (of the dog tribe), and ring-tail cats commonly known to this section of the Southwest. The two coyotes are mounted and ready for setting in the case when the background is completed. This case will bring the number of display cases to seven, a series which have unusual interest and educational value attached to them. The College furnished the fund for the building of this last case.

Y to Seek Aid for Chinese Students

Prize Offered for Best Theme, 'Why I Prefer W. T.'

To the writer of the best 200-word theme on the subject, "Why I Prefer W. T.," will go a prize of $5, awarded by the Senior Class. Persons interested in the contest, should tell in 200 words or less why they find W. T. a more desirable place to attend school than some other college or university.

"Everyone connected with the school, from janitor to president, is eligible to enter, and each person may enter as many themes as he wishes," Robert Orton, senior president announced.

Entries should be in the hands of Charlotte Tubb, Kenneth Hohaus, or Orton by Saturday afternoon.

"If your English instructor is willing, themes may serve a double purpose," Orton said.

If you go to W. T. because it is small and social contacts are more numerous than in a larger institution, if you attend W. T. because the expenses do not run as high as in other schools, if W. T. was your choice because it was near your home, or if you go to W. T. because the courses are easy, then write about it and win the $5. Some person will receive the prize even though only one theme is submitted. Entrants should sign their names or student numbers to their papers.

First Weekly Scout Training Session Held Monday

First of a series of weekly training sessions for adult Boy Scout leaders of this community was held Monday evening at the Education Building.

Milton Morris, chairman of training, is conducting the work with the assistance of Prof. T. M. Moore, district chairman, and executives from the Council headquarters at Amarillo.

Five training periods will be necessary for the completion of Unit 1 of the Boy Scout program for Scouters.

College men interested in knowing more about Scout leadership training are invited to meet the group on Monday evenings at 7:30 p. m. in Room 202. The value of such knowledge to school men is often illustrated when requests for teachers reach the teacher placement committee here. There is a shortage of male teachers who know Scouting.

Weekly Broadcast Features Band

West Texas' weekly broadcast from the remote control studio in the Education Building featured the Buffalo Band last night.

Billy Norman reviewed the news of the campus in the regular five-minute newscast.

Herschel Coffee, associate professor of economics, discussed "Extracurricular Activities at West Texas State."

Mogie Routh of Amarillo, presented a reading.

Tennis Champ Captures A's And Attends Dime Opera

By Lynard Riley

"One in a thousand gets to the top in sports, in painting or in the movies."

That ratio is about right, perhaps in the things listed, but the files of West Texas State College reveal some variations, at least in grades. Six out of 100 students were perched at the top with straight A's cards last semester. Two of these, Frank Kelley and T. S. Stevenson carried six subjects.

Any student will testify that it's hard to choose six subjects from that long list handed out around enrollment time, just any six, and make straight A's. But try picking six subjects that follow a major and ring the bell on every one!

Frank Kelly, not a bit smug about the whole thing, has outlined a procedure that he says would help anyone. In his own words, it sounds simple.

Three-Day Campaign on West Texas Campus Will Start Next Tuesday

By Hazel Bath

West Texas State students will be given an opportunity to aid a fellow-student in war-torn China beginning next Tuesday and continuing thru March 30. The goal for American colleges for this year is $50,000, and student groups all over the nation are aiding in the drive. The local campaign is sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

The great need of China is apparent, but few persons realize the struggle Chinese students are making to continue their education. Thirty-five out of a hundred colleges and universities in China are totally or partially destroyed. Others are being used as barracks by hostile troops. In some cases entire student bodies and teaching staffs have moved inland from the war zone to western frontier cities where colleges are re-opening.

With their buildings destroyed by air raids and their basic physical needs snatched from them, these students continue to meet classes in bomb-proof cellars and take examinations during air raids. Caves and dugouts frequently serve as dormitories. The bare necessities of life are often unavailable to these courageous students, but they still remember that you can best serve its country by completing an education.

Funds raised by the local Y. W. C. A. unit will be given to the Far Eastern Student Service Fund.

During the three-day drive here, Y. W. C. A. members wish to remind students that the price of a coke will buy three meals for a Chinese student, and 15 cents, often spent for a malt, will shelter a Chinese student for one week. About $20 will enable one student to complete a full course.

"Y" members hope to raise enough money here to see at least one Chinese student through college.

Buffalo Band Opens Shamrock St. Pat's Day Celebration

West Texas' Buffalo Band opened the program Friday morning when Shamrock celebrated its second annual St. Patrick Day Festival. The Ex-students' Association sponsored the visit.

A program of marches was featured in the opening concert directed by C. E. Strain. The band joined more than fifteen other bands in the parade which featured the bearded Irishmen and many floats. Included in the formation on the football field which spelled out the date and plan of the St. Pat's occasion, the W. T. band was not entered in the "marchiesta" competition with the high school bands of the Panhandle.

More than forty members left Thursday morning playing a concert in McLean in the morning and another at Wheeler in the afternoon.

Mary and Virginia McGowan, twins from Anton who were recently selected band "Sweethearts," made their first appearance with the band. They were introduced at the band's concerts and led the band as flag bearers during the parade.

New Dormitory Is First Assignment

Youths Will Receive Vocational Training Along with Work

Twenty-six men arrived here Sunday and are ready to begin work under the NYA project recently secured by the College. The CCC barracks situated north of the college power plant is serving the first contingent as quarters.

Olle Brown, senior agriculture student is project superintendent. The men will receive three hours of vocational training each day and will spend three hours working on campus improvements. Their first assignment will be converting three CCC barracks, given the college by the government, into a dormitory. The barracks were recently moved to the campus from Hereford with funds donated by Canyon business men.

U-Shaped Structure

The barracks north of Buffalo Courts will be formed into a U-shaped structure which will house fifty men. The dormitory will be given a rock-vener, and will match the architecture of Buffalo Courts. When this project is completed, the barracks now serving as temporary quarters for the men will be transformed into a work shop.

Forty-two men have so far been accepted for the project, and the remaining sixteen will join the group here this week. They will receive $28.20 per month which will pay for room, board, and vocational instruction. Prof. R. A. Terrill, head of the department of industrial arts, will be in charge of the vocational instruction.

More than half of the men on the project are high school graduates, and will be given training in work in which they are interested. Those doing veneer work on the dormitory will receive special instruction in this type of work.

The project scheduled to follow completion of the dormitory is a mess hall for T-Anchor Farm.

Men on the project were originally scheduled to arrive April 1, and college employees were busy several days last week preparing for their arrival.

Of the forty-two men accepted, the following twenty-six have arrived: Willard Pullen of Kirkland, Oliver Rafferty of Pampa, Homer Reynolds of Childress, Tyson Shelton of Mobeetie, Richard Scott of Loco, Estef Snodgrass of Kirkland, Norman Whinsand of Pampa, Robert Woolridge of Loco, Jim Woodard of Kirkland, John Woodard of Kirkland, John Morrison of Memphis, Woodrow Atkinson of Kirkland, Molas Bailey of Goodnight, Jack Brown of Dodson, Bithen Batson of Wellington, Ray Berry of Pampa, Reuben Cox of Childress, Charlie Carter of Lakeview, Garland Elbert of Loco, Curtis Huffman of Turkey, Randy Holtman of Childress, John Lancaster of Childress, J. B. Langford of Wellington, Bonnie Lemons of Wellington, Quenoco Morgan of Mobeetie, and Roy McErven of Amarillo.

HEAR NOTED PIANIST

A group from W. T. heard Alexander Barilowski, pianist, in his civic music concert Friday night in the Lubbock High School Auditorium.

The group from W. T. included Mrs. Leona Headlee, Charlotte Tubb, Mary Nell Scruggs, Merrie Elizabeth Duflot, and Genelle Ketchum.

Pet Mouse Brings Wide Publicity to Former Student

A widely published story by the United Press last week brought much publicity to Kaki Westmoreland, student here last semester, who is now enrolled in the University of Missouri.

Miss Westmoreland became ill with a cold and entered the university clinic. She could not bear to be parted from a pet mouse, and she took it along to the hospital. Nurses were astounded to find the tiny animal asleep in the waste basket or playing about on the window sill.

Miss Westmoreland, a freshman here last semester, was interested in dramatic work. She was a member of Delta Zeta Chi sorority.

"The student should acquire and graft into his very being the social and mental habits that underlie citizenship in a democracy. The country needs citizens with a sense of social responsibility and mental capacity for understanding public issues far more than it needs technical experts."—President Charles Seymore.

Famous Dance Band on the W. T. Campus--A Reality?

Interest in plans to bring a well-known dance band to the campus is further stimulated as information concerning famous orchestras is received by a committee here. More than eighteen bands—many of them prominent ones—are available by tours through this section for prices ranging $175 to $1500.

Russ Morgan and His Phillip Morris Orchestra are available May 17 to 22.

During the month of April the following bands can be secured: Ina Ray Hutton and her Melodians, currently featured at the Rose Bowl in Chicago; Lou Breeze and his Chez Pardee Orchestra; Barney Rapp and his famous New Englanders; Bill Bardo and his famous orchestra of eighteen entertainers; Henry Halstead and his Park Central Hotel Orchestra; Jerry Johnson and his NBC Orchestra of Victor and Variety Recording Artists; Layton Bailey and his Sophisticated Swing Orchestra; Johnny Randolph, famous tenor, and his orchestra currently broadcasting over the Texas State Network from the new Club Avalon in Austin.

Vincent King and his Orchestra; Dee Cline and his Swaying Swing Orchestra; Wilson Humber and his Orchestra, currently featured at the Chez Ami in Buffalo; Ray Williams and his Orchestra, currently featured at the Chez Maurice in Dallas; Mitt Evans and his Mississippi State College Orchestra; Clyde Amsler and his Orchestra, featured at the Southern Dinner Club in Houston.

Outstanding bands in the "Price class" which seems attractive are Carl "Deacon" Moore and his NBC Orchestra, and the King's Jesters and their orchestra.

"Deacon" Moore is the Arkansas traveler who has made Howdy Folks, Howdy!—the byword of radio. In the current issue of Metro-nome: "Carl 'Deacon' Moore and his 'orkestry', who lately have been putting in some really delightful half-hour remote sustainings over NBC sounds on the air like a good musical crew; it plays nice sweet, can swing out on occasion, and produces notably fine work from Munson Compton, tenor, Marge Hudson and a vocal trio.

"It's the Deacon, himself, though, who warrants this top-billing outburst. Here's a man who has finally added the much needed sense of humor heretofore so sadly lacking in dance band presentations. Describing his whack antics is pretty tough to do, if only because it's hard to be funny in somebody else's words."

A "big name" dance band on the campus will bring prominence to the College as well as to the organizations sponsoring the band's appearance. A concert and dance presented on the West Texas campus at reasonable prices would enable many students to see and hear a famous dance orchestra, and if well planned should bring dance-goers from Panhandle towns.—Dan Hemphill.

WORKING AGAINST WAR

A gloomy picture of world conditions is given by Nicholas Murray Butler in his annual report as director of the division of intercourse and education of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He points out that, while proclaiming its devotion to peace, "every government, whether democratic, despotic or otherwise, is preparing for war at a rate and at a cost which are appalling."

Dr. Butler attributes this condition to "the complete breakdown of public morality in all that affects the policies and plans of governments and in the lack of both intelligence and courage on the part of the democratic peoples themselves to insist that their governments act in constructive fashion to remove the causes of war." He finds that, as a result, "the nations, whether advanced or backward, are in a state of economic war which is impoverishing their peoples and wasting in colossal fashion the earnings and savings of the people."

To combat the forces of envy and malice is a staggering task, but some have been courageous enough to undertake it. The Carnegie organization, among others, has been engaged patiently in world-wide education of public opinion for peace; it resorts not to agitation or emotional appeal but to reasoning and making peoples more familiar with each other's history, institutions and modes of thought.

Despite the present forebodings of war, Dr. Butler still believes that international co-operation is possible. This belief is bolstered by the success of the reciprocal trade agreements made by the United States and by popular responses to educational efforts to more neighborly relations among the nations. Peace education is uphill work, but the need for it is greater than ever before.

English Association Organized for Northwest Texas

Plans for a permanent Northwest Texas English Association were made at the Educational Conference which convened here March 10-11. The purpose of the organization is to help the teachers of the Panhandle work out many of the mutual problems which confront them in their regular classroom work. It is hoped that through the co-operation of teachers and good speakers that the English work may be made more unified and standard.

The first goal of the organization is a one-hundred per cent teacher visitation program in the Conference. This plan was endorsed by the superintendents at the administrator's meeting in Canyon. All English teachers are encouraged to select any school they wish to visit for a day and to study the organization and work of the English department in that particular school.

Since the Conference, composed of twenty-six counties, is so large, it was deemed advisable to divide it into four divisions; namely, District A, District B, District C, and District D. Each division is to have a separate executive committee and work on problems that meet definite needs of the teachers from that section. Only the chairman and vice-chairman of each have been named. The rest of the officers will be selected at the first district meeting.

Outstanding speakers and teachers from schools in the Conference will give beneficial and worthwhile programs and demonstrations of progressive work being done.

The new organization of the Northwest Texas English Association will be headed by Miss Ila Mae Hastings, of the English department at Lefors. Miss Hastings has her B. A. degree from West Texas State at Canyon, and her M. A. degree from Columbia University. The other conference officers are vice-chairman, Mrs. Alice McDavid, Amarillo; secretary, Miss Angie Boyles of Borger; treasurer, Miss Verna Harris, Perryton; member at large, Miss Ineva Herdick, Clarendon.

District A is composed of Potter, Randall, Deaf Smith, Palmer, Castro, Swisher, and Oldham counties. The officers are: chairman, Miss Dorinda Bond, Canyon; vice-chairman, J. C. Baker, Adrian.

District B has Lipscomb, Hutchinson, Ochiltree, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Roberts, and Hemphill counties. The officers are: chairman, Eugene Mann, Pampa; vice-chairman, Miss Odessa Howell, White Deer.

District C has Donley, Collinsworth, Childress, Hall, Briscoe, and Armstrong counties. The officers are: chairman, Miss Joyce Sheets, Memphis; vice-chairman, W. J. Parker, Goodnight.

District D is composed of Dallam, Sherman, Hartley, Moore, and Hansford counties. The officers are: chairman, Miss Jane Younger, Du-

SLEEP IN PEACE, by Phyllis Bentley, New York: Macmillan Company, 1938. 554 pages.

By Edith Wise

"Sleep in peace, father! I will be different from you." . . . Feuchtwanger, "The Ugly Duchess."

For those parents who become vexed because their children do not tread the path laid before them, or those children who are so puzzled because their parents do not understand their hopes and ideals, "Sleep in Peace" will throw some light on bewildering questions. Miss Bentley, understanding the situation, endeavors to solve the difficulties. "It seems to me," thought Laura, the principal character in "Sleep in Peace" feeling her way carefully, "that probably that is what each generation can do for its children. It cannot provide them with a ready made solution (which by the way, it must not attempt to imitate), but it can provide standards by which to judge. The higher the form of life we offer, the higher the standards the next generation has by which to judge its innovations."

The story opens about 1895 in the town of Hudley in Miss Bentley's native West Riding of Yorkshire, England, and centers around three generations of two families, the Armisteads and the Hinchcliffs, who are bound together through a partnership in a textile mill. From the Hinchcliff family, who, by the way, is of plain people of dissenting faith and inclines to the heavier bourgeois virtues, we have the children of the second generation, Edward, Frederick, and Grace. The Armistead family tends toward the aristocratic tastes and religion, though not of noble birth. The second generation of this family is Gwen, Ludo, and Laura. Grace and Laura are the first of the family rebels. Edward is the talented young man with progressive ideas who goes to the war—never to come back. Ludo, conscious of the constant turmoil of the generation, seeks peace in an Anglican Brotherhood. Gwen, the domestic young woman, marries Frederick, a stern pacifist, not for love but for the sake of getting married. They have two children, Geoffrey and Madeline, who, along with Kay, the illegitimate son of Edward, make up the third generation. The story is told through the eyes of Laura, just an ordinary girl whose ambitions are to excel in the field of art, and to live her own life.

The families are made to realize the inevitable economic and social change by the advent of the war of 1914. Laura and Frederick are the only ones to realize what is happening, and even they do not agree. The story is built around the ups and downs of the Armistead-Hinchcliff textile mill. The author gives many interesting scenes describing English adults, English youth, and English modes of living. The character descriptions are so well done that the reader may readily visualize the one about whom he is reading, and is made to feel and think as do the individuals themselves. Occasionally, the story drags or may become too detailed, but nevertheless, it keeps an interest burning within the reader. The ending is weak, but leaves food for thought.

COLLEGIATE CHATTER

By Buzzy Stapleton

Advance. Bow! Extend right palm. Smile! Quote. Greetings Gates. So you're one of my dates. Unquote.

Never were truer words than those of the flunking collegiate guzzling his midnight oil, "There ain't no rest for the wicked and college students." No sooner do we rest up over being chased during Sadie Hawkins Week than we entertain some ten millions (oh, two thousand at the very least) school marns, and now—

"Bring forth your best sick fish smile, get your W. P. A. handshake, and advance upon a sophomore world eager to learn your true identity. Make no mistake for beginning tomorrow, the Sopomore Class presents, 'Get Acquainted Week' or 'Learning How to Pronounce the Name of Your Best Girl Over the Phone.'"

And then there is the case of Prof. Olin E. Hinkle who copied Mary a la Lamb. He brought his dog, "Tex," to the institution. He was probably disgusted with trying to teach some of us lugs and wanted some intellect.

Smuggled dope from the band trip to Shamrock verifies the fact that some of our dear boys are the real Irish. But not Bill Roberson—he got his Indian up. And the latest smuggled plan (brought to me by my scout Monday in a wad of chewing wax—second hand) reveals that those McGowan gals were really the Band Sweethearts.

A candid view of the main hall discloses Mary Collins and Dorothy Jean Mullins courting Pop Savage. I'd better get my powder puff out and see if I can get an education grade from Dr. Cook.

Twins, triplets, and quadruplets only will be on a special program to be held by the Baylor U. Twin Club for all multiple collegiates in Texas. Some folks around here are so large that they could pass for Siamese twins (Owe! Hit myself—just found out that I am larger than all five of the Quints.)

Well back to news of the social world—Overton Donnell is growing a mustache.

To you that do not read any article on this page (editorial page), let me warn you about the column conducted by the Senior Class. It is entitled "Wisdom we leave to you," but should be more appropriately labeled, "Trouble we get you into because we are beyond worrying, cause it don't make no difference now." That neat little item appearing in last week's issue concerning Dr. Pierle and the little amount of studying necessary has gotten a bunch of us into a kettle of hot air. Since according to the writer of the aforesaid column, twenty minutes of work would be passed with honors in chemistry, the good Doc has multiplied his assignments to confirm with the catalogue statement of two hours daily necessary for work well done. And are us chemistry folks in a mess. And all because "Wisdom we leave for you to get into trouble with."

Contributed by some Jill—Dern these snooty Social Clubs, Some gals in them Are four-star snubs.

Go on and talk Of a big-name band. I think Raillard Is the man.

All this fuss and squabble about the days of gallantry passing is just a lot of bunk. Here Dr. Fronabarger gets up in assembly and makes the most chivalrous speech of the decade and it passes unnoticed. Who says Sir Walter Raleigh would be appreciated now.

After reading of the hardships Chinese students bear in order to have the opportunity to study, a student yesterday considered dropping out of school and sending his allowance to the Chinese. Another, reading that a Chinese student could eat three meals for the price of a coke, threatened to continue his studies in China despite the bombs and machine gun fire.

To Sam Burton: He dangles cameras on his gut (I think he's slightly off his nut) And runs around to classes thus, Snapping you and snapping us, He takes me sober, takes me stewed, I'm scared the guy will catch me nude.—Lampoon.

If this column is below expectation very much more than usual, don't blame it on me for some old boys twisted my arm and made me go off to Shamrock with them. As a result I didn't get back until Sunday eve and that is rather late to start writing a column. Don't anybody get me wrong and think that I am sorry that I went for I am indeed glad. Those Irishmen really know how to pull a celebration in a big way.

My compliments to the W. T. band for the grand way that they conducted themselves there and for the great publicity they got for the school.

Betty Jean Ball donates this one: Ladies to this advice give heed, In controlling men If at first you don't succeed, Why, cry, cry again.

Say kids, have you read the editorial on big name bands for this week. If you haven't, go back a step and read it. We have a list of a lot of the available bands in the Prairie office and let me tell you some of them look awfully tempting. Come around and look them over. This columnist would like an awful lot to see some of them down here not only because it makes for swell dancing but because it also advances the school in social opinion.

Well it looks like the Harley Goettsche - Charlie Mae Northcutt romance has come to a head. Harley tells me that there will be a trip up the aisle to the altar about Easter. My congrats to them.

I once heard a very reliable man say that the way to tell what the weak-minded were thinking about was to watch what they drew on the edges of their note books. In the face of this I should be very careful about drawing these five card bridge hands on my books if I were Lyman Davenport.

Economy all too often is something to practice when money and credit are both exhausted.

Wisdom We Leave For You

Conducted by Senior Class

Note to freshmen on how to become good scholars: (We are a little late on this, but it is something you need to know.) It is most important that you do good work the first year of school, and particularly the first two weeks, for with very few exceptions, the instructors grade good students high and poor students low. For instance, if you make an "A" on a course the first semester and do "C" work the second semester, it is very probable that you will still get an "A"; and conversely, if you get a "C" the first semester and do "A" work the second semester, it is unlikely that you will get more than the original "C." In other words, the grades you get in college depend not so much on the work you do, but on the way you get started and hold the attention of the instructors.

We can consider only one teacher this week and we choose Mr. Condron of the required government courses. You may very well lay your text aside for the course and concentrate on the various points which he emphasizes in class. Keep up with current affairs through newspapers and magazines, be able to enter into class discussion, but read enough that you can do this without embarrassment, hand in all papers and don't miss any tests, and remember that he isn't so very susceptible to the so-called "sucking" process.

Coming Marriage of Mary Harrison Announced

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Mary May Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Harrison of Canyon, to Gerald Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brown of Amarillo, was made Saturday afternoon at a tea given by Mrs. Wallace R. Clark and her daughter, Mrs. William M. Nelson, at the Clark home, 1312 Fifth Avenue.

In the receiving line were the honoree, Mrs. C. N. Harrison, Mrs. C. L. Brown, and Mrs. C. N. Harrison, Jr. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Clark.

Upon entering the dining room, the guests were given miniature corsages of orchid sweet peas, bearing the announcement, Mary May-Gerald, April 6, printed around the white lace-paper background.

The tea table was covered with a Chinese cross stitch cloth and was centered with orchid sweet peas and candles in crystal candelabra, placed on blue mirror reflectors. The bride-elect's chosen colors of orchid, white, and green, were carried out in the refreshments. Mrs. C. H. Jarrett and Mrs. A. M. Meyer presided at the silver service.

Other members of the house party were Florence Clark, Christine Jarrett, Frances Usery, and Dorothy Dickenson.

Guests were: Mrs. C. R. McAfee, Mrs. D. A. Park, Mrs. C. O. Keiser, Miss Grace McAfee, Miss Dixie Harrison, Mrs. Harold Schoen, Mrs. Ben C. Mead, Miss Jo Vineyard, Mrs. Henry Blackburn, and Miss Dorothy Morgan, all of Amarillo. Mrs. L. D. Moxley, Mrs. John Dalrymple, Mrs. John Fry, and Mrs. W. B. Powell, of Lubbock; Mrs. Clay Beavers, Muleshoe; Mrs. Ray Sheffy, Dimmitt; Mrs. Zeb Mitchell, Hedley; Mrs. Jack Liston, Pueblo, Colo.; Misses Amatene Lockhart and Virginia Hohlaus, Plainview; Miss Royce Park, Pampa; Miss Lelia Cooper, Plemmons; Miss Frankie Dodson, Lockney; Miss Rosa Cash, Shamrock; Miss Irene Thompson, Tell; Mrs. Oscar Hinger, Panhandle; Miss Virginia Line, Canadian; Mesdames Al Baggett, Hosea Foster, M. H. Rockwell, T. V. Reeves, Joe H. Thompson, T. C. Thompson, S. L. Ingham, R. P. Jarrett, O. W. Gano, E. J. Cundiff, Mollie DeGraffenried, R. A. Terrill, D. A. Shirley, C. W. Warwick, C. R. Burrow, R. A. Neblett, W. C. Black, J. S. Humphreys, L. Angel Robert Jarrett, and Alice Nichols, and Misses Virginia Jarrett, Louise Shirley, Pearl Black of Canyon, and active members of Pi Omega.

Miss Harrison will be graduated from West Texas State in June. She is a member of Pi Omega sorority. Mr. Brown attended Amarillo Junior College and received his Bachelor degree from West Texas State, where he was a member of Alpha Sigma Xi, fraternity. He received his Master's degree from the University of Texas and is now teaching in Amarillo Junior College.

Y Cabinets Hold Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of cabinet members of Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. was held last week at the home of Dr. Mattie Swayne, Y. W. faculty adviser.

Members of the group accepted an invitation to attend an entertainment given by the Amarillo Junior College "Y" organizations, which were recently started.

Students here who wish to attend the Amarillo social should meet at Randall Hall at 6:45 o'clock Thursday evening. Transportation will be provided.

Helen Gilmore, who was chosen ex-student queen at the homecoming celebration last fall, visited the campus Friday and Saturday. Miss Gilmore teaches in the Westway school near Hereford.

Dr. Margaret Lee Wiley will judge Interscholastic League contests at Happy this week.

Prominent Student Worker Visits Little House of Fellowship

Miss Ellen Gammack, formerly Episcopal Student Worker for the Pacific Coast, was a guest at the Little House of Fellowship Thursday and Friday of last week.

She met with several members of the student body and faculty Thursday evening, and expressed her surprise at the interest shown here in current problems and ideas. She was particularly interested in the College's co-operative student homes.

Miss Gammack is a graduate of Smith College and studied two years at Oxford. She was en route from the University of California at Berkeley, her headquarters as student worker, to New York, where she will take over her duties as Personnel Secretary of the National Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church.

Those who attended the Thursday night meeting at the Little House of Fellowship were: Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women; Billie Ruth King, Loramack Hawkins, Mary Hawkins, Edwin Sluder, Mary Elizabeth Hughes, Bill Anthony, Mellie Bird Richey, Nell Green, Bob Patterson, Helen Lyles, and Miss Gammack.

Pi Omega Honors Bride-elect With Tea and Shower

Miss Mary May Harrison, bride-elect of Mr. Gerald Brown of Amarillo, was honored Sunday afternoon with a pre-nuptial tea and lingerie shower given by Pi Omega sorority at the home of Mrs. Al Baggett. Pi Omegas and honoree were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. C. N. Harrison, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Al Baggett and Mrs. A. M. Meyer sponsor of the sorority.

Following the arrival of the guests, a bridal party composed of the officers of the club staged a mock wedding. At the close of the ceremony Miss Sybil Anne Gillis, ring bearer, presented the gifts to the honoree. Miss Annette White had charge of the bride's bouquet.

The tea table was centered with a miniature bridal couple walking down an aisle marked with small tapers arranged on a reflector. Tall white tapers in crystal candelabras encircled the center piece. Green, orchid, and white, chosen colors of the bride-elect, carried out the table decorations and refreshments. Mrs. Baggett presided at the silver service.

Guests included Mesdames C. N. Harrison, Hosea Foster, C. N. Harrison, Jr., C. H. Jarrett, W. R. Clark, Misses Louise Shirley, Virginia Jarrett, Frances Usery and Christine Jarrett, of Canyon; Mrs. C. L. Brown, Mrs. Henry Blackburn, Mrs. Vincent Lockhart, Miss Jo Vineyard, Miss Grace McAfee, Miss Dorothy Morgan, and Miss Ruth Campbell, of Amarillo; Misses Amatene Lockhart and Virginia Hohlaus of Plainview; Mrs. Royce Park of Pampa; Mrs. Oscar Hinger, Panhandle; Miss Rosie Cash and Mrs. Wayne Fox, Shamrock; Mrs. LeMore Hill, Borger; Miss Virginia Line, Canadian; Miss Frankie Dodson, Lockney; Mrs. Bill Nelson, Portales, N. M.; Mrs. Jack Liston, Pueblo, Colo.; Miss Irene Thompson, Tell; and all active Pi Omegas.

Mrs. Hill Entertains With Luncheon

Mrs. J. A. Hill entertained a group of friends at a luncheon at her home, 2615 Fourth Avenue Wednesday. Beautiful flowers added an atmosphere of spring for the occasion.

Attending were: Mrs. Harris M. Cook, Mrs. A. M. Meyer, Mrs. T. M. Moore, Mrs. S. H. Condon, Mrs. John A. Gillis, Mrs. Geraldine Green, Mrs. Anne Wofford, and Mrs. Hill.

Spanish Theme Carried Out In Annual B. S. U. Banquet

The Spanish motif was fully carried out at the annual banquet of the Baptist Student Union Friday night in the church dining room. Spanish food was served by waitresses in Spanish costume, the program featured Spanish music, the toastmistress, Mrs. Tommie Montfort, spoke in Spanish, and the program was written in Spanish.

Tables were arranged to form "W's," and favors were miniature sombreros.

More than a hundred members of the B. S. U. and their guests attended. The program opened with a musical novelty, "Ferdinand the Bull," by George Stokes and Bill Norman. Two accordion selections by Naomi Slay followed with a Spanish vocal selection by Mrs. Mildred Biddy.

Members of the B. S. U. Council and visitors were presented by Olie Brown, president. Members of the Council include: Mr. Brown, Ida Lou Glaze, Marijo Brown, Winnie Dee Hicks, Sybil Coker, Charmion Runyan, Claryce Whitten, Ruth Clay, Elwin Dysart, Faye Schaffer, Brynilde Vaughan, Ulane Zeek, Stephen Milner, Alleen Meyers, June Cope, Clark Harvey, George Stokes, and Mrs. Tommie Montfort, faculty adviser.

Guests included Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Harris M. Cook, Dr. C. E. Donnell, the Rev. Jeff Moore of Claude, and a group of special guests from Pampa.

High School Play Given Generous Applause Wednesday

Led by David Sharman and Helen Whittenburg, cast in prominent roles, the W. T. High School senior play cast won a generous applause from a packed auditorium for their production of "Growing Pains," annual class play given Wednesday night.

The production was a true-to-life picture of many of the difficulties and joyful moments of adolescence.

Other members of the cast doing outstanding work in the production were: Christine Jarrett, Berry McCarter, Harley Gordon, and Mary Katherine Sharp. The play was produced under the direction of Dolores Little and Dorothy Yearwood of the college speech department.

Le Mirage Pictures Sent to Engravers

The last Le Mirage photographic copy has been sent to the engravers and final work is underway on the printed copy as the staff of the 1939 Le Mirage nears the end of their work.

Special photographs, the first of their kind to appear in the college yearbook, have been completed by Sam D. Burton, editor.

Although students are not required to pay space fees until they receive the annual, all clubs must pay space fees by April 15 or be subject to a penalty, Margaret E. Hill, business manager, announced yesterday.

Ink colors and patterns for the book were selected yesterday from samples submitted by George Autry of Russell's Stationery Co., printers for the yearbook. Brown and blue, with splashes of red, green, and gold will make up the color scheme.

The cover, selected several weeks ago, is blue with a brown rub and gold letters. A circular design will appear on the cover, and will be continued throughout the book on division pages.

Over seventy-five drawings of "Buffy Westex," mascot of the 1939 Le Mirage, will be found in the book. May 15 is the tentative date for distribution of the annual.

Dakota Wesleyan Sinks W. T. Cagers

Over-Anxiety Accounts For Bungling Numerous Scoring Opportunities

A crew of alert boys from Dakota Wesleyan College last week whittled down the nervous West Texas Buffaloes to send them home from the Kansas City Intercollegiate tournament on the shorter end of a 41-38 score.

The tournament, that every year attracts the heavy cream of United States basketball players, had more than its share of brilliant basketball playing and the usual amount of upsets, the Dakotans' win over West Texas being classed as one of the major ones in this category. Play Under Tension

Playing under the tension of their first appearance and trying hard to justify all advance publicity the Buffs were thrown down hard by the old bug, over-anxiety. They bungled innumerable scoring chances in their eagerness, while on the other hand, the small Wesleyan five, fighting against odds including the Texans' superior height, stood back and sent several long shots swishing through the net that didn't hurt their figures on the scoreboard.

Raymond Shackelford, usually the spearhead of the Buffalo offensive, found the basket for 11 points to lead the locals' scoring, but he missed several craps under his own goal. In fact the whole team hit only 17 field goals out of 69 tries. Hayes connected with 1 in 10 tries, Johnson 1 out of 8, Schur, way off form himself, made 3 goals in 12 attempts, and Stephenson bagged 5 in 17 tries. To round out the miserable evening the Buffaloes missed enough tosses from the free throw line to win the game, connecting with 4 out of 12.

Ends Season

With this game the varsity uniforms join the freshman outfits in the moth balls until the next fall season rolls around. This year's record shows the Buffs won 22 of their 30 games, running up 1344 points in their season. Raymond Shackelford, outgoing senior, led the scoring with 326 points followed closely by Ernie Schur, who has one more year of eligibility, with 280.

The returning Buffs, with the addition of this year's undefeated freshman team, are expected to be stronger next year. The sensational Yearlings scored an average of 63 points each game, while allowing opponents an average of 22 points per game in the 11 contests played.

Six Candidates Report for Varsity Tennis Practice

With tennis equipment dished out to six candidates and with both temperature and enthusiasm hitting a high spot for early spring, varsity net practice is sailing along smoothly on the campus courts.

Heaving chests and lagging, stiff strides are evidence of the fact that condition is not too good on the squad and Coach Lockhart is stressing that every man must get in shape before he attempts playing several long sets.

The spring schedule has not been completed as yet, however Texas School of Mines is dickering for a match here in the early part of April. The Miners are making a road trip and wish to include Canyon on their jaunt. They are led by dashing Louie Kahn, El Paso City champion and a protégé of the famous Ball brothers, national Intercollegiate champions from Northwestern University.

Varsity sweatshirts were issued to John Hill, Lynard Riley, Bobby Childers, Frank Kelly, Glen Milner and Billy Smith.

Virginia Hohlaus, Le Mirage editor last year, returned to the campus last week. She teaches music in the Plainview public schools.

Three Regulars Play Last Game

K. C. Tournament Writes Finis For Shackelford, Hayes and Cullender

By Lynard Riley
Prairie Sports Editor

Three seniors handed in their suits for the last time as the current basketball season comes to a close. These three, Raymond Shackelford, Joe Hayes and Melvin Cullender, turned in their duds with regrets, regrets that are shared by all, players and fans alike. Only another basketball season will tell who can fill their shoes on the maple courts, but none can ever fully take the place of this trio of regular fellows, always scrappers, athletes, and fine sportsmen.

Standing out from the rest by dint of superior height looms the giant frame of Center Raymond Shackelford. "Shack" dropped off in Canyon, fresh from triumphs in Tell High School, and immediately became a sensation, even on a team where tall men are not unusual. During his four years' stay, the 6 foot, 9-inch pivot man compiled an enviable record. He led his mates in scoring in each of his varsity years of competition. This year he collected 326 points to add to his long string of digits. "Shack," self-assertedly, may try his hand at professional basketball, and if so should continue to make the ball roll over and do tricks for him.

Melvin Cullender, 6-foot, 4-inch center from Hartley, Texas was an understudy of Shackelford's at the center post. This became definitely one strike on the capable player for his was no easy task to try beating out a player of Shackelford's ability. Doubtless his work would have won for him a starting nod on nearly any other team. His work while on the court was characterized by earnestness and clean playing. Next in line stands the 5-foot, 10-inch figure of Joe Hayes, who played in the regular guard slot on the varsity. Hayes played forward at Allison high school, but this year was switched over to his new posi-

No Holiday for W. T. Athletes

Minor Sports Will Fill Calendar Until Spring Football Practice Opens

There is no holiday for the West Texas athletes. But according to these healthy young blades, they don't fancy this inactivity business. So from now till Spring football season starts in the early part of April, these athletes, wheather freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors, and excluding only the varsity basketball team who get a two-weeks respite from athletic activities, are going to fall right in and do things up right in the Physical Education department.

They will play basketball, volleyball, handball, box and enter into all the things that require wind and stamina. Announcement was made last week by Coaches Dougal and Curlice that a handball tournament will start in the next few days. Added to the handball tournament will be tournaments in volleyball and basketball. All students are eligible to enter any of these.

Starting in April, football spring training will fill the calendar for the remainder of the term, and will give Coach Baggett an opportunity to see how the gridders from last year's undefeated freshmen team will fit into the gridiron picture for 1939.

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger will go to Vega this week to judge Interscholastic League events.

Schur Elected Cage Captain at K. C.

Diminutive Star Chosen At Special Meeting at National Tournament

Ernie Schur, two-year letterman from Vernon, Texas, was elected captain of the 1939-40 West Texas State Buffaloes at a meeting of the squad at Kansas City, Mo., Wednesday.

The Buffalo varsity elected the 5 foot, 10-inch guard by a large majority in a special meeting, following their defeat in the national tournament.

Schur is best known for his fiery type of ball, and his accurate shooting has helped the Buffs through many a hard tussle. He first played on the West Texas Yearling squad, and enjoyed a great season that year, but didn't receive important notice until the early varsity games of '37, when his accurate shooting while on the run, caught the eye of Coach Baggett who began to use him consistently.

In the 30 games played this season Schur scored 280 points running, second only to Center Raymond Shackelford, who counted 326 points.
