PLAN MADE FOR MUSICAL WORK HAS WIDE RANGE

PERSONNEL RANGES FROM 25 TO 30 INSTRUMENTS—WIND SECTION SHORT—STRING GROUP STRONG

TRAINED LEADERS IN HEAVY DEMAND

Orchestra Has Appeared in Many of The Towns in 100 Mile Radius
Choral Accompaniment Is Feature

The College orchestra is one of the most successful organizations in this institution, both in regard to the work it has done as an organization and the efficient leaders it has developed.

The personnel of the orchestra ranges from 25 to 30 pieces. The instrumentation is fairly representative of a symphony orchestra. The string section is the strongest although the wind section is well balanced.

The orchestra has appeared in almost every town within a radius of 100 miles about the college. It is impossible to satisfy the calls to small schools. The number of pieces sent out to various schools depends on the size of the hall where the program is to be presented.

The orchestra has presented three or more concerts and programs a year in the College auditorium. The organization has assisted with orchestral accompaniments on oratorios and larger choruses. This is unusual in a school of this kind when usually one or two pianos are the only accompaniment.

The demand for orchestral leaders is much larger than the College can supply.

It is Mr. Clark's belief that graduates with ability for music have better opportunity for securing desirable positions. Many schools are unable to employ a music teacher; yet these schools are very anxious to employ teachers of English, Mathematics and all other subjects who are able to direct musical organizations. There is room for more students in the Senior orchestra. The Junior orchestra is an organization primarily for the purpose of training people of little or no experience in orchestral work. There are successful teachers of music throughout the state of Texas who have received their training in W. T. S. T. C.

Three Pledges Taken in By Redmen Tuesday

At chapel period Tuesday the Redmen appeared for the first time in their maroon and white striped sweaters. These sweaters have been adopted as a part of the uniform of the Loyal Order of Redmen. The students seem to be pleased with the sweaters as many have stated that they think it is one of the best things the Redmen have adopted.

On Tuesday night three pledges were taken into the order. They are, Vernon Rice, Billy Tabor, and C. W. West.

Ruth Irwin Wins Prize In Sportsmanship Test

That the high ideals of W. T. S. T. C.'s sportsmanship are being recognized as the best was shown in the contest that was sponsored by the Amarillo Globe a few weeks ago for the best definition of a true sportsman. At the close of this contest two of the prizes were awarded to students who had attended this institution. Miss Ruth Irwin, a student at the present time, was awarded second prize, while Miss Lola McGuire of Tulsa and a degree graduate of 1924 won the third prize.

Claude Minister is Chapel Speaker

Rev. Mr. Kelly of Claude addressed the student body Wednesday morning at the chapel period. His subject was "Holding On" and the theme of his address was that one should hold on to God through prayer. He said "Prayer will help us to hold on to the things of life." Among the important things of life he mentioned "strength," "beauty," "self-respect," "cheerfulness" and a "clear conscience."

Election of College Celebrities Passes Quietly; 100 Annuals Sold During Week Campaign

Ray Daniel, Fay Lockhart, Delbert Lowes, Johnetta Anderson, Fannie Cash and Tip and Irby Carruth Chosen as Celebrities

College Celebrities for Le Mirage were elected Tuesday. Ray Daniel was chosen Most Valuable Man to the College; Miss Fay Lockhart was elected Most Valuable Woman, Miss Fannie Cash the Sagest Senior, Mr. and Mrs. Irby Carruth the Jolliest Junior, Miss Johnetta Anderson the Sanest Sophomore, and Delbert Lowes the Freshest Freshman.

The Staff of Le Mirage is quite well pleased with the election and consider it a success even though relatively few students cast their votes. The celebrities chosen are considered really representative of the College. Miss Amy Daniel, editor-in-chief of Le Mirage stated. About 275 people voted and nearly a hundred annuals were sold as a result of the election. Voting was heaviest from nine to eleven in the mornings and from one until three o'clock in the afternoon.

Ray Daniel, the Most Valuable Man, is president of the Senior Class, president of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society and assistant secretary to the College. Mr. Daniel is also a college debater. His major is history.

Miss Fay Lockhart, chosen Most Valuable Woman, is treasurer of the Senior Class, managing editor of The Prairie and vice president of the Sesame Literary Society. She is also student assistant in the department of Commerce, and a member of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society.

"I think it is a joke for me to be considered Sagest Senior," said Miss Fannie Cash, when informed of her election. There are so many more who are much sager than I." Miss Cash is vice president of the Senior Class, Literary Editor of Le Mirage, member of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society, the Dramatics Club, and the Elaphean Literary Society. She is majoring in Spanish.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Carruth, "Tip" and "Irby," elected jointly as the Jolliest Juniors, are popular with the students. Mrs. Carruth is a member of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society, the Elaphean Literary Society, the Dramatic Club and is the Junior Class representative on the staff of Le Mirage. Mr. Carruth is president of the (Continued on page four)

TWENTY RESPOND TO INITIAL CALL FOR BASE BALL

Hurlers Appear To Be Stronger Than Ever This Season

Many noises vibrated across the Buffalo Park on Tuesday afternoon when Captain Buck Johnson of Slaton led those athletes and athletes-to-be which are aspiring to make Coach Eckhardt's baseball team. About twenty men reported and checked out uniforms, only a few of these were letter men, the rest are last year's reserves with a number of new men. A number of letter men are on the basketball squad and will not report until the cage season is over.

The following letter men checked out uniforms: Capt. Buck Johnson, Wayne Boone, and Felix Phillips, infielders, Kenneth Dixon and Reagan Harrell, pitcher and outfielder.

The rest of these are reserves and new men: Oscar Konken, Tige Elkins, Jerry Malin, Jess Oliver, and Jim Spilman, pitchers, Hardin Boylsey catcher; Dennis Barnard, Ross Tate, Mason Anderson, Walter Cowart, and Hugh Landis, infielders; Pat Whittington, Gilbert Hill and Elmer Sadler, outfielders.

Some of these men are expected to make the veterans hustle for their positions, for not any man has a cinch on his position on Eckhardt's team.

Several other men will report later, a number are letter men, the rest are new material.

On account of the snow only one day's practice was gotten in last week, but Coach Eckhardt says when the weather becomes warm again practice will be continued again with renewed energy.

McCarty Now Sports Editor Both News-Globe

Students, ex-students and faculty members of the West Texas State Teachers College are pleased to note that John L. McCartney, formerly sports editor of The Prairie, and since the organization of The Globe in charge of sports on that paper, is following the purchase of The Amarillo Daily News by The Globe, sports editor of both papers. He is devoting his entire time to sports. McCartney was formerly sports editor of the Amarillo News and also of The Amarillo Tribune. He worked his way while in school here using his ability to do newspaper work along with other odd jobs to make his way.

DISCUSSION OF QUESTION AIDS NEW CANDIDATES

Thirty Men Make Largest Group of Debaters in College History

Discussing the relation of the United States with the World Court in every phase of the question, the candidates for the places on the college debating teams came to a very good understanding of the interpretation of the question in an open house discussion last Tuesday night. The question of the relation of the United States with the World Court is proving very popular, and there were about thirty candidates out to take in the discussion and will enter the try-outs.

Ray Daniel is the only debater of last year's team that is back, while A. D. Cummings, an alternate of last year is out again. Most of the material is young and inexperienced, but is very promising.

Seniors Hear Mexican Tipica Orchestra

As an added attraction to their social calendar for the quarter the Senior Class went as a group to Amarillo last Saturday night to hear the program given by the Mexican Tipica Orchestra. The orchestra was presented by Emil F. Meyers of the Amarillo College of Music, and was the official orchestra of President Obregon of Mexico.

The organization of the orchestra as well as the music that was played was very unique. The music and the instruments were typical Mexican in every respect and although they played several selections of modern music it was played in Mexican style and was very different from American jazz. Their features of the program were the Mexican love songs and the serenades. Much response was registered in the Mexican section of the auditorium when the orchestra hit upon the Mexican National Anthem. The typical Spanish dress added much color to the group.

Aggie Council Formed of Honor Students

Last Wednesday afternoon an Agriculture Council was organized for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the Agriculture department in the College. The membership of this council is composed of those students who have agriculture as their major and who made A in the subject last quarter.

The members are: James Oden, Lester Burke, Oscar Thomas, S. J. Woodruff, T. F. Bice, Harold Shanklin, Ray Bivins, Ross Tate, and Guy Kiker.

The following were elected as officers: Oscar Thomas, president; S. J. Woodruff, vice president; Ray Bivins, secretary; T. F. Bice and S. J. Woodruff, steering committee.

LIBRARY NEED IS SHOWN BY RANK GIVEN IN SURVEY

COLLEGE LIBRARY FOOTS LIST IN POINT OF FLOOR SPACE; IS FOURTH IN SIZE OF AVAILABLE FUNDS

LIBRARY ROOM IS FAR UNDERSIZED

9,416 Square Feet Floor Space Needed to Bring Department Up to the Standard of the American Library Association

The Texas Educational Survey, Volume VI, "Higher Education," reveals the rank of the West Texas State Teachers College Library among those of the other six state teachers colleges in Texas.

In amount of budget, our library is at the very bottom of the list; in floor space and seating capacity, it is sixth; in number of books available for general circulation it is fifth.

A comparison of the College library facilities with those recommended as the standard for four-year teachers colleges having as many as 800 students is still more startling. This standard is taken from "The Measuring Stick for Libraries in Teacher-Training Institutions." The revised report of a committee from the National Education Association and the American Library Association.

Square feet occupied by college department, standard 10,650; our library, 1,204.

Square feet in general Reading room, standard, 4,000; our library, 1,204.

Seating Capacity, standard 300; our library 80.

Volumes for general circulation, standard 43,500; our library, 9,061.

Reference Volumes, standard 9,500; our library, 2,351.

Children's Library Volumes (includes all students below college) standard 5,500; our library 1,791.

Annual Budget, standard 9,000; our library 1,471.

Budget for Magazines, standard, 1,200; our library, 525.

These figures show the College to be below standard in the matter of an adequate library. The library should be approximately ten times as large in the matter of floor space; should have almost four times the seating capacity it now has; needs five times as many volumes for general circulation and four times its present number of reference volumes. Its annual budget is one-sixth what it should be; its budget for magazines one-half. Our sub college students need more than three times the number of volumes they now have.

From these facts the urgent need of increased library facilities is evident. A library building constructed and equipped for permanent use—not a mere temporary makeshift or building to be used for a combination of purposes—and an increased budget for maintenance are indispensable.

Misses Betty and Eula Smalley spent the week end at their home in Claude.

Band Will Present Lyceum Numbers at High Schools

Friona and Farwell will be visited Friday and Saturday by the College band. Programs constituting a part of the lyceum numbers of both towns will be played. Miss Betty Smalley, reader, will accompany the musicians.

BOOKS

"The library in the school has been retarded in its development because it has not always shared in the scientific planning given to other departments in the school. It is still not fully understood that there are standards for library equipment and organization that have been tested for usefulness and economy and that much time, money and effort may be saved by accepting plans and systems tried and approved rather than inventing new ones."

—Martha Wilson, Library Supervisor, Cleveland, Ohio.

One of W. T.'s greatest needs is adequate library facility.

BUFFS OPEN IN T. I. A. A. WITH HILL BILLY QUINT

THIEVERY HIT BY NEW RULE

Building Will Be Closed At Night to Prevent Depredations

President Hill called a meeting Thursday morning at chapel period of the representatives from every college organization which meets at night in this building. Plans were discussed whereby there might be less destruction of college property.

The fact that fifteen lockers were broken into during a program one evening shows the need for some definite schedule by which the building is to be opened and closed.

Mr. Hill brought before the meeting the weightiness of this matter from an administrative standpoint. He said there should be developed in the students a determination to care for the college property, and those who persist in defacing and destroying it should be unpopular about the institution. "It all depends upon what the students can do, will do and do," and as Miss Richardson added, "Don't do, because the attitude of the student body as a whole is not one of destruction."

Mr. Hill expressed the desire that a maximum use could be made of the college resources, such as an open library, but that cannot be BREVITY

The Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House, addressing the convention of the American Grocery Specialty Manufacturer's Association, interpreted the controversy between modernist and fundamentalists in an even dozen words. He said:

done, "because some folks are not decent."

Favor was shown during the meeting of adopting the plan of opening the building for only three nights per week in which time all organizations must be scheduled to meet.

Aggie Students Overhaul College Bus For $2.15

Overhauling the College Bus in less than a week and at a total cost of $2.15 is the latest class project of Shop Working 21. This class is made up of tenth and eleventh grade high school boys under the instruction of Professor T. M. Moore.

When the 16-passenger bus was driven into the shop last week after a hard season of rough usage it was found that the body was in a dilapidated state. The bus has been in two smash ups this term, and was turned over in each case. The wooden upright framework supporting the enclosed body was splintered in many places and vibration was greatly increased by this condition. A large dent in one of the doors prevented the glass window from being lowered, and other large dents marred the surface appearance of the car. The stationary seats had been torn loose from their fastenings and were exceedingly unstable.

After the class in shop working had finished with the bus practically all the structural weaknesses had been repaired. Long steel rods running entirely through the body of the machine removed the play in the joinings which were due to broken uprights. Braces placed around the seats under the upholstery make them solid and immovable. The dents in the metal body were straightened out and the upholstery in general had been repaired.

The bus will be given a coat of varnish in a few days and will then be in better condition than at any time since the machine has been college property. Professor Moore stated that the boys had done all of the work and that the total cost to the school was $2.15 for material.

Dr. Pierle gave a lecture on brown tooth stain Monday evening at the San Jacinto Methodist church of Amarillo. The lecture was given under the auspices of the San Jacinto Civic Club and the San Jacinto Parent-Teachers Association.

VIVIAN PLAYERS SCORE HEAVILY

Adam and Eva "Food For Pessimists;" Company Gets Excellent Response From Audience

Adam and Eva, a realistic farce comedy, well known on Broadway, was very effectively presented in the College Auditorium Monday evening, January 18th, by the Vivian Players. Three of the leading characters played in "The Cinderella Man" presented last year by the same company.

The success and popularity of this play is attributed to its realism, which is said to be, by the greatest dramatic critics "the truest test of modern drama."

The story, as presented, is of modern, everyday life, portraying the domestic troubles of a wealthy business man, who has never had any personal contact with his family except in a financial way. Pure broad comedy predominates throughout the play, and, as the chief comedy character of the play, Lord Andrew, would say, "Brings laughing food for the jolly pessimists." But enough serious emotionalism is woven in, in the form of a clean love story, to make it appealing to the most temperamental audience.

The clean cut forcefulness of Harry Sleight, playing the part of John King, the wealthy business man, was to many people the outstanding feature of the production. Every word carried a meaning or an opening to the plot of the play, and almost every line brought a laugh.

Misses Anita J. Wright and Josephine Wehn, and Mr. Harry Sleight played in "The Cinderella Man" produced here by the Vivian players.

The cast in order of first appearance:
John King ..... Harry Sleight
Corinthia ..... Josephine Wehn
Julie DeWitt ..... Pamela Robinson
Clinton DeWitt ..... Victor Garland
Eva King ..... Anita J. Wright
Lord Andrew Gordon..... Frederick Monti

Adam Smith ..... Albert Moore

Buffalo Tailor Shop Reopens in New Home

Having moved into a new and modern tile structure just across the street from the Buffalo Confectionery the Buffalo Tailor Shop has reopened for business. Manager "Shorty" Malone says that he will be able to take care of all kinds of tailor work. It is a plant equal to the best anywhere, he says.

The old Buffalo Tailor Shop burned down late in the Fall Quarter and this new structure was opened for business last Wednesday.

Phillips Developing Freshman Judging Team

Professor Frank R. Phillips is fast developing a team for the Freshmen College stock-judging contest to be held in Fort Worth, March 8. Although the team has just recently started work Mr. Phillips reports fair progress. West Texas State Teachers College won in the annual contest of 1925, and the indications are that the College will win again this year.

NOTICE TO SESAMES

The Sesame Literary Society will meet on Fridays instead of Wednesdays, as planned. There will be a debate, "Resolved; that Texas should adopt single house legislature," at the meeting Friday evening, 7:30, Room 101.

Miss Kathryn Pittman of Amarillo visited friends at Cousins Hall during the week end.

BASKET CREW HAS FULL WEEK

HILL BILLIES HAVE WON FROM AUSTIN COLLEGE, McMURRY AND HOWARD PAYNE QUINTETE

TECH CAGERS WILL BE MET SATURDAY

Wayland and Tech Also on Week's Bill; Pearson and Lowes Suffer Minor Injuries—Crump Likely to Play Tomorrow

The Buffalo Quintet meets the Daniel Baker Hill Billies in the home gymnasium tomorrow and Thursday nights. These two games with the Bisons will be the final games on their extended road trip of ten games, as they played six games in Abilene last week, met the Tech yesterday, and will again today. The Hill Billies have humbled the Austin College, Howard Payne, and McMurry Fives, and have split tilts with the strong A. C. C. basketball squad.

It is reported that the Daniel Baker squad is the fastest that has been developed at the school in Brownwood for several years and their hat is in the ring for high T. I. A. A. honors. Four Brownwood high school men bolster the offense of the Billies, and their reserve strength is strong. The fact that they are to be met on the home court, and after they have played eight games away from home and are weary by travel is quite an advantage to the Bisons, though the Goats will put up a strong battle to out the Buffs from their position as championship contenders. The Buffs leave soon after the completion of their engagement with the Billies to meet the Wayland Jack rabbits on their home court Friday night, and the Technological Five at Lubbock Saturday night, completing a full week for the Bison squad.

Coach Burton has been working his men hard for the coming contests and is gradually perfecting his scoring machine. Pearson has a bad wrist, and it is doubtful if he will be able to enter the melee the first night, and Lowes' ankle is still weak from his accident of a few weeks ago. Crump will probably be back in the game to do his stuff as high point man in the conference, as he did last year.

Music Faculty Heard In Open Recital

Miss Pauline Brigham of the Department of Music gave a piano recital in the College Auditorium Friday evening. Wallace R. Clark, tenor, assisted with the Whelpley setting of Tennyson's "Maud."

Miss Brigham began her first group with Beethoven's Rondo in C. Selections from Grieg, Ornstein, and Macdowell followed.

The last group, which was especially well received by the audience, consisted of Rubenstein's Barcarolle, the Grubill transcription of Chopin's Waltz in G-flat, and a Waltz and Rhapsodie by Brahms.

Tableaux Seen By Dramatic Students

Wednesday afternoon the Dramatic Club was very delightfully entertained by a group of people appearing in two tableaux and a play. The scenes were from "Bluebeard and his Wives," and "Rebecca at the Well," and were portrayed very well. The Junior Dramatic Club, directed by Miss Betty Smalley, presented a patriotic play, which shows the good work that the girls are doing.

Johnnie Askey Represents Young People

Miss Johnnie Askey will represent the young people of this district in a joint session of the Women's Auxiliary and Sixteenth Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, North Texas District, which convenes in Clarendon from January 24 to 27.

Miss Askey will appear on the program.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Sportsmanship has long been the watchword of civilization. It is a factor that all civilized and truly intelligent people esteem highly. In fact, it is the mark of a good character, institution or nation. Consequently, the individual or organization that upholds higher learning, as a rule automatically stands for clean and pure sportsmanship. This worthy element of character cannot be too highly esteemed. It is at the root of all wholesome activities, both intellectual and physical. Sportsmanship will never exist unless the persons involved in such, stand for that principle. It exists only through the will of the people.

Sportsmanship holds a predominant place in the hearts of all contestants who uphold the name of this college, either in athletics or literary accomplishments. But the question that all rooters and upholders of these individuals should ask themselves: "Do I, myself, stand for this good sportsmanship?" Look upon this in the light of being loyal to your college, by giving the opposing college a fair deal at the same time. It is well and good to boost your team, but when it comes to the point of creating a handicap to the opponent, it should cease.

You Name It

The other night at the senior oyster supper Professor Sheffy sprang this one on us:

Passer-by—What have you lost, friend?

Drunk (looking earnestly under the street light for something)—Me watch.

P. B.—Where'd you lose it?

—About a block up the street.

P. B.—Why don't you look for it where you lost it, fool?

D.—There ain't no light up there.

Stapleton—Why do my knees always shake so when I make an announcement in chapel?

Lowes—They're trying to tip their caps to the ladies.

The following was handed to us by an unknown individual who is said to be a high school pupil within these here walls; said outburst is entitled, "Foolish Rhymes Number One:—"

Of the Charleston I am innocent;
Bobbed locks are not for me;
As to hosiery, I'm content
That it should hide my knee.

I've never smoked a cigarette,
And lipsticks I abhor;
I frown on all that's suffragette
And flappers make me sore.

All Jazz to me is quite taboo;
I never had a bean,
Yet I have a better time than you—
For I'm an old maid Eskimo.

Preachers

Did you know that it was against the law to have a preacher in the church in England during the latter portion of Charles I's reign? That is, a preacher who lectured to his congregation. The old Puritans used to attend the regular Anglican ritual service, and then gather in some deserted barn or fen and hold their services, which more nearly resemble these of our own day. And yet, today the English people say, "the Americans constantly sing and talk of liberty, but we have it."

Red Grange

Red Grange can't graduate from the school for which he battled four long years on the gridiron, because the officials there have said so. They don't like the spirit he showed by quitting school in the middle of the fall term to play professional football, and his coach, Zuppke, has said that Grange has given the game of football the worst blow that it has had for many years.

Some say now that football will soon be relegated to the list of professional sports with a consequent lessening of interest in it to the college athlete. Who of us wouldn't have quit school to play one game of football with its consequent remuneration of ten thousand dollars, with which dollars we could complete our education? We're for Red.

The word bombast is defined by Webster as stuffed, inflated, or high sounding. Dr. Munson tells us that the origin of its present meaning happened like this. The old English nobleman used to wear pantaloons that stuck out laterally from their hips and were so starched and kept that they looked somewhat like miniature balloons. These trousers and their upkeep were expensive, so the poorer menfolk wore trousers which were partially filled with sawdust. This sawdust was called bombast, hence our present word. It was a mean accident in those days when a man happened to snag his trousers on a nail, for he lost all of the bombast out of one leg of his pants. We thank you.

"There is no longer any isolated nation in the world, nor can there be. Steam and the electric spark have destroyed that possibility."—President Butler of Columbia University.

The man who starts out with the idea of getting rich won't succeed; you must have a larger ambition. There is no mystery in business success. is a better religion in the world, which makes for freedom, progress, brotherhood, service, and world unity, that I speak. And this better religion is the religion which insists upon the right and duty of private judgment, because only thus can the soul of man grow to fullness of power.

"Today I answer that fundamentalism is the majority of religion of America, but if we have a new baptism of the spirit of the eternal, tomorrow we shall bring in, under God, a new time wherein we shall enjoy the glorious liberty of the children of the Most High, and in every part of our land we shall restore the priceless estate which we call America."—Dr. Albert C. Dieffenbach, editor Christian Register.

"There is no gainsaying the fact that women in business, like all the rest of the women in the world, do not play the game; they are not loyal to each other as men are, and at the first opportunity they get they ram down the throat of every man, every adverse statement they ever heard said against every other woman.—Miss J. ### "Laws" Subject of Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. met last Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in room 205. The meeting was started by a song. Mr. O. E. Thomas led the discussion, "Should Laws Be Kept?" The different phases of the law of the institution, city, state, and national were mentioned and under what conditions they could be broken. This was truly helpful and inspirational to the entire group. Each member gave his views of the subject. The organization is coming fine, and several men have joined. All interested in this work are urged to attend the regular meetings each Thursday at 4:30 in room 205. Talk it.

Current Events Sesame Topic

After the devotional led by Mary Merry, and the solo, "Girls," by Evelyn Hogan, those present at the Sesame Literary Society, Wednesday night were told of "Mexico and Progress" by Mary Bennett, and of the "Problems of Congress" by Sadie Anderson. Junior Class, college debater, and a member of the Antler Literary Society. Dramatics is also one of Mr. Carruth's hobbies. His major is history.

"Speaking for the family," said Mr. Carruth, trying not to smile, "being misunderstood and elected Jolliest Junior, I suppose I am supposed to say something funny. This is impossible. However, I shall endeavor to laugh whenever any one desires me to. Office hours are from 8:30 to 3:30—if you want any more talking, go to the other half of this picture. Miss Johnetta Anderson, Sanest Sophomore, is president of the Women's Athletic Association and a star basketball player. "As impersonator of the sanity of the sanest class in the institution, I shall endeavor to uphold this characteristic of my class throughout the year," Miss Anderson said, with a twinkle in her eyes that revealed a nature altogether pleasant even though it has been branded with the concept of "sanity."

Delbert Lowes, chosen Freshest Freshman, is a graduate of Canyon High School with the class of '25. He entered College here last fall. He is a promising member of Burton's Buffalo basketball team and is expected to letter at the center position this season. The vote of the Freshman Class was solid behind Lowes and put him over with a strong majority.

SHORT STORIES OF INDUSTRY

A Jap, writing to his family in Tokio, remarked that "Here in United States she-cows give milk and he-cows tobacco." He might have added that she-cows also produce poker chips and that a man named Hnery Ford proposes to produce milk without any cow at all. All of which is by way of not only illustrating the impressionistic value of using the picture of a bull in tobacco advertising but revealing some of the generally unknown wonders of chemistry in every-day life. For it is true that most poker chips are made from skimmed milk, and we wear milk-made buttons, by the million. Karolith, as the manufactured substance is called, is

Luncheon Thursday 12:30 for Visitors at Southwest Trail

The Chamber of Commerce will give a luncheon next Thursday at 12:30 o'clock at the Palace Cafe for visitors who will attend the meeting of the Southwest Trails to be held in Canyon. All members of the Chamber of Commerce will be given tickets to the luncheon. Those not members may secure tickets.

Letters have been sent to all towns in this division, and indications are that a number of visitors will be present. A business session will follow the luncheon. President J. A. Hill will give the welcome to the visitors.

Student Intelligence In Average Line

Intelligence tests indicate that the general intelligence of this student body is as good as the average college student body in this country, according to Professor R. P. Jarrett, head of the department of Education.

Mr. Jarrett defines general intelligence as that ability of a person to learn by contact with general conditions in life. The degrees vary gradually rather than abruptly; the quality of general intelligence can not be greatly modified by circumstances.

The two most helpful characteristics a person use in life are acquired knowledge and general intelligence. The latter, according to Benet, is the ability (1) to adopt a course and to follow it; (2) to alter a course for cause, and (3) to criticize self. The power called general intelligence, although developed by the growth of the individual, results from the innate abilities of the mind.

The variation of mental characteristics of individuals holds true if that of the distribution in a large group closely resembles that of the normal curve. At the age of eighteen the individual's general intelligence, at least of the average, has reached its highest point: this does not mean that the greatest development of the mind on the basis of acquired knowledge has been attained.

Intelligence tests indicate that the general intelligence of this student body is as good as the average college student body in this country.

made by combining milk with ren-hardened with formaldehyde. Karolith, as in cheese-making, and then lith was discovered at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh after five years of experimenting by graduates of the Universities of Kansas, Nebraska and Toronto.

Furfural is a by-product of this morning's breakfast. It is made of oat hulls, obtained during the manufacture of cereal. The hulls are cooked in acid and steam and thus aldehyde is produced in the cheapest possible form, corn cobs being the next cheapest source. Furfural is used in the production of varnishes and synthetic resins, one of which is Bakelite, now used in the manufacture of pipe stems, radio apparatus, etc., and in varnish form for surfacing woodwork. In a short time Bakelite will be used in the manufacture of furniture, to be acidproof, scratchproof and possible in every color and form. So wonderful is Bakelite varnish that when applied to a fragile human skull it impregnates it so thoroughly that it may be bounced upon a table top uninjured.

Cotton is also doing wonderful things. Besides being the base of artificial silk, or Rayon as it is now called, the short fibre of the cotton seed, formerly wasted, is now bathed and bleached and dried, then saturated with nitric acid. The

Tooth Stain Findings Reveal Diet Defects

"It's not what we eat but what we do not eat that causes the brown tooth stain. Poor teeth are caused by lack of mineral in the food we get while the teeth are growing." This is what Dr. Pierle says when asked what causes brown-tooth stain.

Ten distinct experiments on white rats and guinea pigs are being conducted to find out exactly what causes bad teeth, brown stains and other defects that are found in teeth of this section, and also what part the water plays in the development of these bad teeth. The water we have here has very little calcium in it, according to Dr. Pierle. It has much magnesium in it. Therefore he is giving some rats water prepared in the laboratory with a large amount of calcium content. Another group is given water strong in magnesium. The group that gets calcium bicarbonate water has good strong healthy teeth, while the other group has plainly mottled teeth. Four other groups are given water from wells one to ten miles apart. No difference is found in the teeth, they are all mottled. By mottled teeth is meant teeth "with" chalk colored spots on them. These teeth are softer than other teeth.

The brown stain is an extreme case of mottled teeth. A group of rats that is fed milk and green vegetables, daily, does not have the mottled teeth since the mineral shortage in the water is supplied by the minerals in the milk and vegetables.

Parallel experiments are being conducted with guinea pigs producing even more striking results, as the brown stains have been produced. When the mineral food was reduced the brown stain was actually produced. When their allowance of green feed was restored the teeth which are continually growing and wearing off, again turned to their pearly white color. All rats and guinea pigs are similarly fed with the above exceptions. All other feeds have little or no mineral in them.

Dr. Pierle's work has been aided materially by the hearty co-operation of the City Market and the College kitchens in supplying the experiment with meat and scraps of vegetables.

water is displaced with alcohol in hydraulic presses, producing pyroxilin, which is then dissolved in amyl acetate and other chemicals. In the end we have a lacquer which dries by evaporation, and evaporation is a thing that once it's done it's done forever. The final result is duco, a finish now popular on automobiles and fine furniture.

Green lemons are turned yellow over night by submitting them to ethylene gas. Formerly kerosene stoves did the work.

Chemistry discovered tantalum, an unusual metal which looks like platinum and has many of its properties, but costs much less. It will not tarnish or rust, few acids affect it and it is able to withstand intense heat. Engineers found it would let an electrical current pass in but one direction, so it is used as an electrolytic valve in radio and also in electric signal systems on railways.

Permalloy is another wonderful chemical achievement, in nickel-iron alloy form. The Bell Telephone laboratories discovered it and thereby enabled cable communication to be increased from 250 to 1,900 letters a minute.

New Seating Arrangement in New Gym.

An annual plan is to be initiated Wednesday and Thursday nights when Coach Burton reserves the entire west section of the seats in the gymnasium for the townsfolk, and all who do not belong to the student body. It is a novel scheme to secure patronage from outside the student body, and should prove a convenient plan for the visitors to the Buffalo Stampedes. He has placed tickets on sale at the Jarrett Drug Company, City Pharmacy, J. J. Walker Drug Store. This plan will unite the students as a unit for purposes of pep demonstration, and prove a boon to visitors to the games.

The Big Coach seems modestly confident of victory in the remainder of the games of the season, after having watched his men in action scattering the Jackrabbits Pack. With Captain Hale, Crump, Bivins, Hill, Herm, Pearson, Vaughn, Gamel, McVicker, and Lowes as a crew, it seems that barring adverse winds, Pilot Burton should be able to steer his ship of basketball into the Port of Championship.—Hardin Boyles.
