School Writers To Assemble Here Next Saturday

Amarillo Girl Will Preside

Assembly to Be Changed To Saturday So Visitors May Be Guests

Two hundred high school journalists will come to West Texas State Saturday, March 23, for the annual convention of the Panhandle High School Press Association.

The association, organized in 1934, did not hold a convention last year because of transportation regulations which prevented it. In previous years, as many as 400 students attended the annual meetings here.

Officers of the Association are Patsie Northcutt of Amarillo, president; Anna Merle Cox of Pampa, vice-president; Jo Ella Hussey of White Deer, secretary; and Alvin Jennings of West Texas High School, treasurer. West Texas State is a permanent headquarters of the high school group, and Professor Olin E. Hinkle of West Texas State is general sponsor.

Special Assembly Arranged
Registration will be opened at the Education Building at 9 a. m. Saturday. The first general session will start at 10 a. m. At 11 o'clock, the visitors will be special guests at a West Texas State assembly. Musical entertainment will be furnished by the Buffalo band. The featured speaker will be A. Eugene Mann, director of publicity and publications of Eastern New Mexico College of Portales since 1944. Mr. Mann, who has served as school newspaper adviser for the last thirteen years, formerly was an instructor in journalism and supervisor of student teaching in English at Western State College, Gunnison, Colorado. He also taught for a time at Pampa High School. He has a B. S. degree from Southwestern State College of Weatherford, Oklahoma, and an M. A. degree from Western State College of Colorado of Gunnison.

Sports Editor to Speak
Convention delegates and sponsors will be given a luncheon at the Methodist church at 12:30 o'clock, with students of Canyon High School in charge. In an afternoon session starting at 2 p. m. in the auditorium of the Education Building, the visitors will hear discussions by Harry Gilstrap, sports editor of the Globe-News, and Clyde W. Warwick, publisher of the Canyon News. At 3 p. m., sectional meetings will be held for discussions of school newspaper staff organization, news writing, photography, year books, sports writing, and editorial writing. A business meeting will follow in which officers will be elected and at which winners of the annual writing contest will be announced.

Following adjournment, a light luncheon will be served at the college cafeteria with students of West Texas High School in charge. Type High, the college press club, will give a post-convention reception and dance at Cousins Hall ballroom from 5:30 to 7 p. m.

Advance registration indicates that delegates will range in number from White Deer's six to Pampa's twenty-seven. Thirty schools were members of the Panhandle High School Press Association before the war-time restrictions limited organization activities.

Ag Group Elects Phillips President
Newly-elected president of the agricultural instructors of State Teachers Colleges, Prof. Frank R. Phillips, head of the department here, reports several recommendations compiled by the group when they met in conference at Fort Worth last Monday.

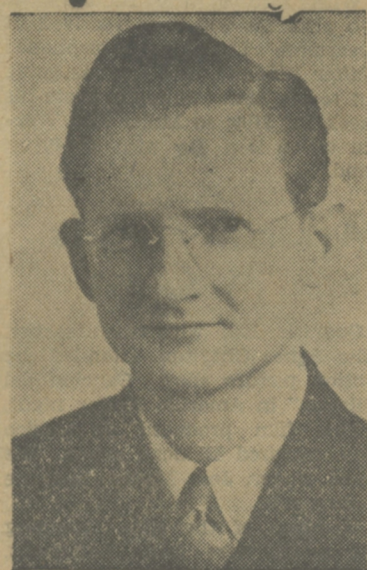

With finding means for promoting the teaching of agriculture in public schools their primary purpose, representatives from ag departments of Texas colleges decided that from one to four units in agriculture should be made available to all high school students.

Further, they suggested that adequate funds be provided to secure equipment for teaching agriculture in rural communities and that State Teachers Colleges offer to all prospective teachers sufficient courses in agriculture to meet six hours of the laboratory science requirements for a degree.

Other officers chosen at the meeting are H. G. Hylander of North Texas State Teachers College, vice-president, and T. R. Buie of the Southwest Texas State Teachers College, secretary.

Prof. Eugene Mann of Eastern New Mexico College will be a featured speaker Saturday at the annual convention of the Panhandle High School Press Association here.

Freed Completes Comedy Casting

Garrison, Henslee Lead 'Dover Road' Players; Miller, Byars To Direct

Not until May will the speech department have "Dover Road" ready for actual production, but initial preparations for the three-act comedy began last week with completion of cast assignments by Dr. C. W. Freed, department head.

In the lead roles are Brack Garrison as Mr. Latimer and Mary Henslee, who starred in "Jane Eyre" last September, as Anne, Margaret Miller and Shirley Byars are co-directors of the A. A. Milne play.

Supporting cast includes Charles Murphy as Leonard; Billie Burel and Elizabeth Schulze as Eustacia; Ward Hook as Nicholas; Paul Teague as Dominick; Mary Hanna and Opal West as maids; and Red Weatherly and Billy Greenfield as the two footmen.

Dorothy Daniel will have charge of costuming and Ruby West will act as business manager. Designer of the set will be Carl Michell.

Museum Drive Gains Strength

Chairman H. C. Pipkin Says Half of Goal Of $60,000 Is Reached

Launching of a final drive to raise $60,000 to complete the Plains Museum here has been announced in Amarillo by H. C. Pipkin, general finance chairman. About $31,000 has already been raised.

Potter County, which has a quota of $10,000, has given about $8000. The county drive chairman is S. B. Whittenburg.

Panhandle counties in which a minimum quota of $1,000 has been raised include Armstrong, Carson, Sherman, Hartley, Farmer, Wheeler, and Randall.

In Hutchinson County, C. R. Stahl and A. A. Meredith will direct a drive in April. Other counties have similar plans.

Closing in of the concrete-steel framework is urgently needed to prevent rain damage to the original structure. The two-story annex was started by the Works Progress Administration but was interrupted by the war. Much of the necessary material is on the ground. This includes large stacks of common brick received in the drive among school children several years ago.

Mrs. Poke Bonnett, anonymous author of a popular Globe-News column, wrote the West Texas State ad in Sunday's newspaper. The column follows:

Of course, any gal that has ever had two dates knows the way to catch a feller ain't to pounce on him like a hen on a June bug. It is plumb scary to a man to see a woman bearin' down on him fast, with a gleam in her eye and a weddin' veil in her hands. So a body don't just go to Canyon and an-

Bids Sought On Dormitory

Veterans' Building Will Be Ready in Fall If Materials Are Found

Plans and specifications of the veterans' dormitory, which will be located east of Terrill Hall, have been completed. Bids are now being advertised for its construction. Bids will be open and contracts let about April 7, according to President J. A. Hill. The dormitory will be completed before the fall school term.

Architects are working on plans and specifications for the cafeteria at present. This contract will probably be let in May.

The college cafeteria will have a large dining room which will seat approximately 500 people, banquet style. During cafeteria service, it will seat about 400 persons. Two other dining rooms will seat 100 persons and 25 persons. The building will be air conditioned and modernly lighted. It will have a lounge for men, one for women, and a lounge for both. Living quarters for the manager and the necessary offices are included in the plans.

The Randall Hall annex will be completed by July 1 but it will not be ready for occupancy until the fall term. The new part will room 98 girls. The present dining hall will be transformed into rooms and will raise the number of girls to 110.

Faculty Asked To Support New Canyon C-C

Along with other citizens, members of the West Texas State faculty will be given an opportunity to make pledges for the support of a re-organized Canyon Chamber of Commerce, Inc.

President Bob Clark is announcing a campaign to raise $600 a month to employ a full-time manager, open an office, and finance an extensive program of county and city betterment.

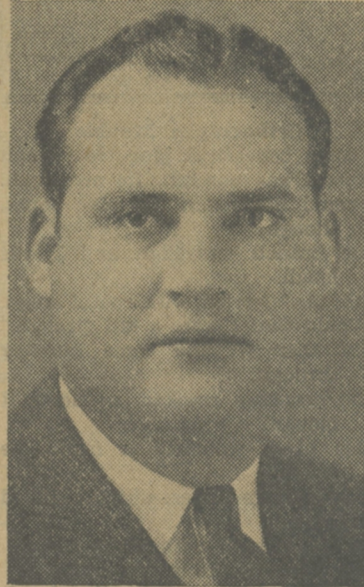

Members of the board include Dr. S. H. Condon, Dr. Lee Johnson, and Prof. Olin E. Hinkle.

Capt. Leslie E. Van Meter, W. T. freshman coach, swimming coach, and physical education instructor, arrived Saturday to resume his duties after nearly four years in the army. Mrs. Van Meter and sons, Leslie, 2½, and Joseph, 3 months, are at Owensboro, Ky., but will come to Canyon when living quarters are found. Capt. Society Initiates Honor Students

Twenty-Eight Join Mary E. Hudspeth Scholarship Club

Because their grade average for the fall semester ranked them in the upper five per cent of the college enrollment, 28 students have been elected to Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society, organization of scholastically high freshmen and sophomores.

Club President Jane Campbell was mistress of ceremonies Friday evening March 8, when the following were initiated: Bobbie Berryman, Johnnie Fay Cresens, Wilma Lee Francis, Waldine Reed, Ellen Sanders, Juanita Bell, Jean Brannon, Betty June Euler, Joyce Harvey.

R. L. Hamm, Jr., Donald Myers, Arless Oglesby, J. Spencer Winn, Sandy Oliver, Mary Cherry, Loyce Eddleman, June Wimberly, Mary Jo Gallemore, Freeda Johnson, Trixie Travis and Myrtis Sargent.

Although they were unable to attend the meeting for spring initiation, these are also listed on the honor roll and are therefore new members: Tommy Thompson, Marcella Blue, William H. Clark, Peggy Lawler, Ellen Root, Earline Thomson and Hank Decker.

Introduced by Jean Boyd, vice-president, Dr. A. M. Meyer addressed the group concerning education and knowledge. Carolyn Wimberly, who is reporter for the society, played piano selection, "Arabesque," by Debussy.

Other members of Mary E. Hudspeth are Charlene Guiseke, (secretary-treasurer), J. A. Bagwell, Louise Conater, Gladys Romera, Mary Ann Britten, Betty Young and Mollie Nann Ziegler.

Senior to Give Piano Recital

Mrs. Rena Beth Barnard of Canyon will be presented in her senior piano recital on Thursday evening in the college auditorium. Her performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Barnard will play Beethoven's "Pathétique Sonata" and several modern compositions. She is a pupil of Miss Pauline Brigham, head of the piano section of the music departments.

WT Girls Win In Two Contests

High Competition Marks Abilene Tournament For College Speakers

In the Thirteenth Annual Speech Tournament of Abilene Christian College, Dorothy Rae Bivins of Tulla won top honors in the poetry reading division and Margaret Miller of Hereford captured the second place ribbon in women's extemporaneous speaking. Dorothy Rae recited Alice Duer Miller's famous epic, "The White Cliffs of Dover."

Under the sponsorship of Dr. Conrad Freed, head of the college speech department, two cars of West Texas students went to Abilene, leaving Thursday morning and returning Saturday afternoon. The group stayed at the Wooten hotel.

The tournament lasted all day Friday with the finals in poetry reading held at a banquet in a downtown Abilene restaurant that night.

Other than Bivins and Miller, those entering the meet from West Texas State were Billie Bural, women's extemporaneous speaking; Ward Hook and Bill Montgomery, after-dinner speaking; Virginia Smith, poetry reading; Wayne Thomas and Lin Welch, men's extemporaneous speaking.

Colleges entered were Texas Tech, Abilene Christian College, Baylor, Mary Hardin Baylor, Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State College.

"The competition was keen and all performers were superior. Those who did not place did a wonderful job and in several instances were judged to be only a fraction of a percentage below the winners," said Dr. Freed.

McCarter Assists Amarillo Air Field In Atom Problem

In a recent visit, two officers from the Amarillo Army Air Field consulted T. B. McCarter, head of the physics department, concerning problems of fission.

Fission is the process of releasing energy in the nucleus of the atom. Through this problem a better understanding of the atomic bomb, known to the people in physics as the nuclear bomb, will be taught to aviation students in Amarillo.

Mr. McCarter furnished data to make the course more complete.

Articles Debated By Student Club

Mrs. W. W. Nicklaus was hostess to the Parent-Teachers Study Club at a covered dish luncheon last Tuesday. The meeting lasted from eleven until three.

Mrs. Robert W. Jones led a discussion of two articles from the National Parent-Teachers magazine. These articles, "Let's Get Rid of Prejudice" and "Who Says Your Child Can't Read," were widely debated by the twelve members.

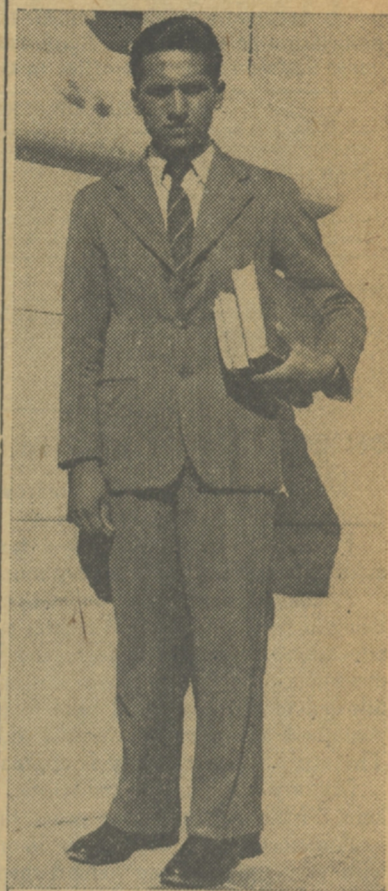

College Presidents Study Budgets

President J. A. Hill attended a meeting of state college presidents in Dallas last week and also stopped in Fort Worth to investigate possible procurement of government surplus property.

The college presidents made some progress, Dr. Hill said, in discussions of uniform budgets. Their goal is the formulation of comparable salary schedules for the institutions. They also agreed to ask the legislature only for buildings that reasonably may be possible to erect in the next biennium instead of asking for all structures needed. However, they will submit to the legislature an additional list of buildings that are needed most.

Well, Poke studied about all them miles to come to see me and decided it would be easier to get married. But I sure hope the word don't ever get back to him because bein's we married in Leap Year he is hard enough to live with now. He would never stop teasin' if he knew I didn't even send out a application!

CLAUDIO ESCALANTE

Peruvian Likes His Work Here

It's a Long Way From Home, He Says, But Worth the Voyage

Not since January 10 has WT's special student, Claudio Escalante, seen his home city of Arequipa, Peru. That was the day he left for his first contact with the strange life of American collegians.

After waiting in Lima a week or so, he finally boarded the ship bringing him to the United States. Describing the long trip, Claudio asserted that all was "Bon Voyage," (how do you say that in Spanish?), until he docked in Panama, where he spent five miserable days coping with terrible food, worse accommodations.

Then, with his hands holding his forehead suppressing a very sick look, Claudio told of a five-day trip to New Orleans. Yes, sir, it was a very sick five days. In New Orleans he caught a two-day train trip and on the twenty-first of February was resting under the sheltering gables of Stafford Hall.

Claudio is usually racing around the hall with a smile on his face. Occasionally he gives with some Latin American music—not doing a bad job, either.

You can understand Claudio's predicament if you can picture trying to make yourself understood in Peru with the equivalent of two years' high school Spanish. But whether he speaks his native tongue or in English, this dark-eyed Peruvian representative has a charm of manner that would make him well-liked on any campus.

Ping Pong Observer
He passes more time studying than Joe College does at the Student Union. Before chow and after studying, a twenty-minute lapse, he wanders down to watch the boys beat out a few games of ping pong.

After lunch, the SOP includes a variety of things: studying, going to class, then studying. One day we copped a little of his time at the Prairie office—it was the first time, by the way, that he had been exposed to snow.

The minute details of Claudio's experiences in South America will have to be left to your imagination. However, you usually decide that the weather was rather hot when the conversationalist, finding no better form of expression in good solid English, pulls off his shirt and wipes feverishly at his brow. This happened during the episode "A Year in the Peruvian Air Force."

Nope, the army is no good, the Iquitoan Jungle is no good, and from other contortions of the face and waving of the hands, you conclude that nothing that occurred during the year could have been printed in Boston.

While still carrying on our interview with the 19-year-old business administration major, we discovered his purpose in coming to West Texas State College. His father is in the leather business and needs a foreign correspondent to study markets in the United States and in Great Britain.

ON COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING

There has been a lot of controversy over the question of compulsory military training in peace time.

President Truman has asked for the continuance of the draft. This suited our military leaders very much.

A compulsory draft is undemocratic in every way. Being prepared is being in good physical and mental condition. I think that a good physical education program in colleges and high schools would keep boys in top condition. Boys who have the ambition to attend college should be allowed to do so and not have to go to the army. Even if the draft is continued, another war would make our present training nearly useless. The age of atomic energy is approaching us.

Military discipline is feudalistic. As Morris A. Coers recently said here, "Military training in peace time would be medieval."

Americans were drafted in World War I, and sent across to fight with very little training behind them. They soundly whipped the Germans. In this war, the German soldier was trained in the practice of warfare since he was old enough for schooling. Again, our soldiers won. American men have never been defeated at war; and neither have they had a large peace-time army, or universal military training.

If our military leaders expected another war, they would not have discharged the many thousands of highly experienced veterans. Instead, the "brass hats" want to keep their ratings and jobs. They want the new boys coming in to do their work for them. This caste system is unjust. Of course there must be leaders, but social equality is not practiced in that system.

Robert Neville, who was editor of "Stars and Stripes," gave his opinions in "Life" magazine. He went in the army as a private and came out a lieutenant colonel. He knows the story from all sides. He tells of the injustices and the democracy that is not there.

If there are men who want to join the army or navy for a career, that is all right. The men who fought and won our war fought for democracy. Let us enjoy that democracy. Let us use diplomacy, not power, to prevent future wars.—S. M.

THE NEEDY PHILIPPINES

Approaching Manila, Luzon, P. I., from the north on Commonwealth highway No. 2 the traveler passes a graceful monument located in the Grace Park area of the city. This picturesque monument was erected by a grateful people in memory of their leader, President Rizal. The Rizal monument, as it is commonly called in Manila, stands like a guardian angel commanding with a sweeping gaze the approaches to the city. And let all men beware! No person can possibly pass by this watchful sentinel without his intentions toward the city, good or evil, being known to the spirit of President Rizal. In some mysterious manner the spirit of the Philippines' most righteous warrior of freedom is symbolized in this once humble piece of masonry, now proudly standing unscathed by shot and shell of the recent war.

In their struggle for a spiritual, physical and political freedom the people of the Philippines have encountered many obstacles. But with splendid leadership, born of an undying faith in the right, the Philippines have been led to their ultimate goal by such men as Rizal, Quezon, and Osmena.

With this stirring example of loyalty and patriotism before us, how can we who went through much the same ordeal ourselves stand by and let these gallant people want for food and clothing? These are the people who fought side by side with us through the war just recently ended. How can we stand by and let them think us slackers when a little effort from each of us would ease a serious situation for our friends in the Pacific and gain for us the undying gratitude of an intelligent and progressive people?—E. W.

WHY NOT HAVE A LILY POND?

Once West Texas State boasted of its beautiful lily pond, which is located behind the band house. That was several years ago when its clear water was covered with large lily pods and blooms. Since that time, the lilies have died and with water gone, sand has filled its bottom.

Did someone ask the students to help beautify the campus? They cooperate with the school by keeping it clean. Now the students ask why someone doesn't improve the campus by keeping up the things the school already has. The lawns, trees, dahlia and canna beds are beautiful, but think of the effect a pretty lily pond would have on young lovers in the spring!

To see a building grow presents a challenge to a person—a challenge to grow to be as perfect as the building itself. The same is true of more transient things of beauty.

Charlene Baird, who became Mrs. Leroy Reaves in Childress March 15, was a transferee from T. S. C. W. at mid-semester. She was graduated from Childress High School last fall and is a Gamma Phi pledge. Leroy recently got his "ruptured duck" from the armed forces and re-entered W. T. He is a football star and will be on the starting line-up next year.

Excitement broke our quiet night Friday when Harold G. Reid, an ex-GI from Guymon, Okla., was assaulted and robbed. Harold was en route from Stafford Hall to Bob's when stopped by a man and asked for a match. When the match was produced the bandit offered a cigarette. After it was lighted the former GI turned to leave. The assailant vigorously slapped the veteran over the head with a hammer. The bandit removed Reid's billfold and told the young man he "hated to do it, but he had to." The robbed man was then handed his social security card and a dollar and told to start walking and not to report the assault. He reached Stafford Hall and woke Derald Swineford, who took him to the doctor. An examination showed that the 22-year-old veteran had a skull fracture. He was taken to Amarillo by ambulance.

Sherrid Reavis and Charlie McDonald had a close call on the basketball court. Reavis evidently got a little too close, as his charming smile the next morning revealed a shiner as black as Goering's heart.

Next week will bring the Greek letter presentation dances. Tri Tau fraternity, which will present its pledges on Friday night, will set the precedent for 1946. In the past, these dances have topped the social shindigs of the year.

Geraldine Green, dean of women and sponsor of our regular Saturday night dances, has procured several new games and equipment to add to the enjoyment we receive at the hops. Since she accepted the management of these entertainment periods, an adequate record player and a large library of fine records, together with games and other material, have made our Saturday evenings enjoyable. Refreshments are always served, and admission only a dime.

Friday afternoon found Diddy Records, Frances Harp, Willie Francis, and Ellen Sanders equipped with toothbrush, a small quantity of water, and soap. . . . down on their knees and hard at it. It seemed as if some of the elders and deacons of Delta Zeta Chi thought it was high time that someone cleaned the place. Pledges were chosen for the small task. As a result of their effort, the steps of the west entrance of the Administration Building are much cleaner. Thanks, gals.

On the same day but in another spot, Chesterfield Kinard and Charles Klutts were leisurely fish-pocket-book, was gradually being engulfed, as Mickey Mouse, the latter-day 'Sorcerer's Apprentice,' was engulfed by water. I have interviewed an estimable, white-haired lady who enjoyed riding a scooter right up the years to her seventies—often scooting right up the years to her seventies—often scooting expertly across the Brooklyn Bridge, up Broadway to her bank at Fifty-seventh Street, and back across the bridge to her Brooklyn home. I have interviewed a doctor whose hobby was writing sonnets and who, at the time of the interview, had turned out over fifty thousand, some of them astonishingly fine; the good doctor could no more stop writing sonnets than you and I can stop blinking our eyes, yet he was an eminent psychiatrist whose special was treating other people's compulsions!

He drew his prejudices down over his reason like a window blind.—Florence Fisher Parry.

Warren-Miller Team in Quick Museum Drive

SPEARMAN—It took Editor Bill Miller of the Spearman Reporter and David M. Warren of Panhandle, former Reporter publisher, just seven hours to raise $1,040 in Hansford County for the building fund of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum at Canyon. The county had a minimum voluntary goal of $1,000.

Mr. Miller is a historical society director.

J. R. Collard, another Hansford County director, started off the list with $100. Then, the First State Bank gave $100 and the campaign was off. Miller and Warren raised $670 in Spearman and went to Gruver for about two hours, getting $240 there.

With $910 of the fund raised, two gifts for $30 were received at Spearman. Then Miller telephoned Walter Wilmoth that he was going out to see him. Wilmoth wrote his check for $100, so Miller and Warren called it a day with $1,040 on hand.

Mexican Film Is Seen By Class

Spanish 102, with the teacher, Miss Agnes Charlton, attended the motion picture show "Cancion del Milagro," in Amarillo Friday night. This film produced in Mexico City, featured Mexican actors. The noted singer, Jose Mojica, had the leading role.

Members of the class attending the movie were Dana Lallement, Nannie Lou Bearden, Valaree Riley, Georgeanne Hucabee, Muriel Bangs, Lorraine Henderson, Tride Travis, Marcy Lary, Mr. and Mrs. Owenby, Robert Dunaway, and Woodrow Glover. Claudio Escalante, a student from Peru, was a guest of the class.

DETERMINATION WINS
"Spirit did it," said Coach W. W. Nicklaus in discussing the Buffalo track and field victory at Fort Worth.

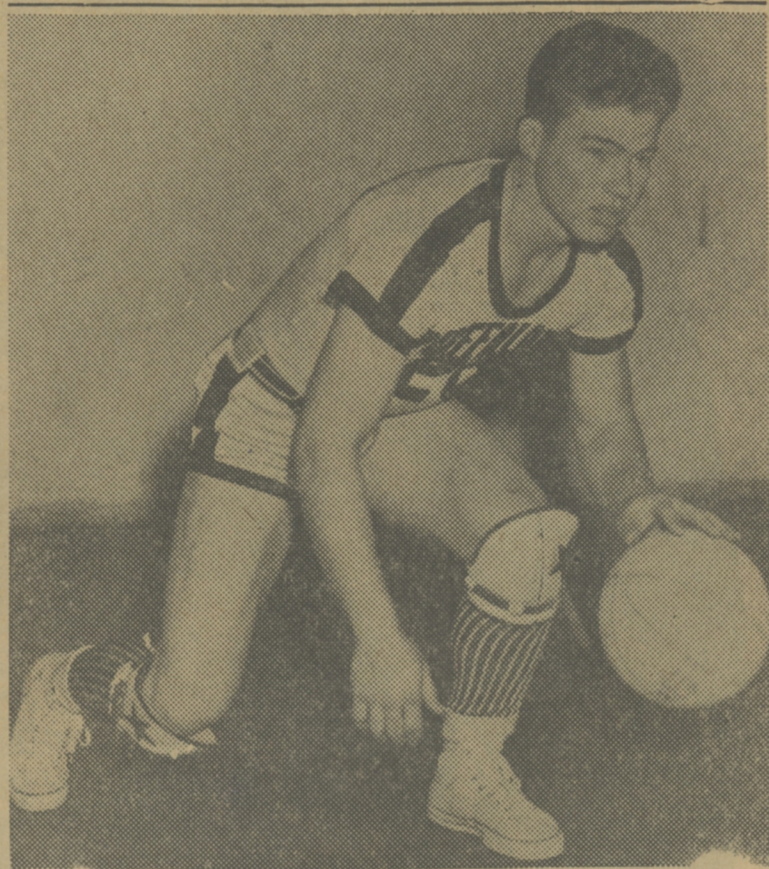

Every member of the 9-man squad qualified for the finals and all made a good showing on the slow, wind-swept track. For several local men, it was the first college meet they had seen.

The Buffs brought back a team trophy, a trophy for the 440-yard relay which they must win three years to keep permanently, and a number of medals.

Capt. Larry Sanders suffered a "charley horse" in the broad jump and was unable to run in the relay event. Dwaine Lyons was high point man for the Buffs.

CLUB SEES MOVIE

A film on the uses of petroleum was shown to the Pi Beta Gamma, chemistry club, on March 8.

J. W. MALONE

These five Buffaloes represented West Texas State College as starters on the basketball team most of the season. Borden Price, Bill Stockman and Ledru Jacobs were late arrivals. Bill Miller, Don Leach, and "Pinkey" Jackson were starters part of the time. The above cagers scored 99 points of the 119 points made in two games by the Buffaloes at the Kansas City tournament. J. W. Malone was captain of the 1945-46 team.

Bill Stockman Hits High Scoring Average at Kansas City Meet

Locals Trail at Half But Come Back Fast—Score Is 71 to 48

An inspired Buffalo basketball team made a fine showing in winning its first game of the NAIB tournament in Kansas City last week. The Texas quintet met the Wisconsin State five from Eau Claire Tuesday night and won by a score of 71 to 48.

Bill Stockman, war veteran and former West Texas State star cager, led the Buffaloes to an impressive victory.

With the local quintet training Wisconsin 26 to 27 at the intermission and after rather sloppy defensive play, Stockman turned in one of the best individual scoring spectacles ever seen in the national tournament.

Hits 13 Baskets

After the halftime the Buffs seemed a bit more inclined to score and Stockman sank eight field goals in the first seven minutes of play.

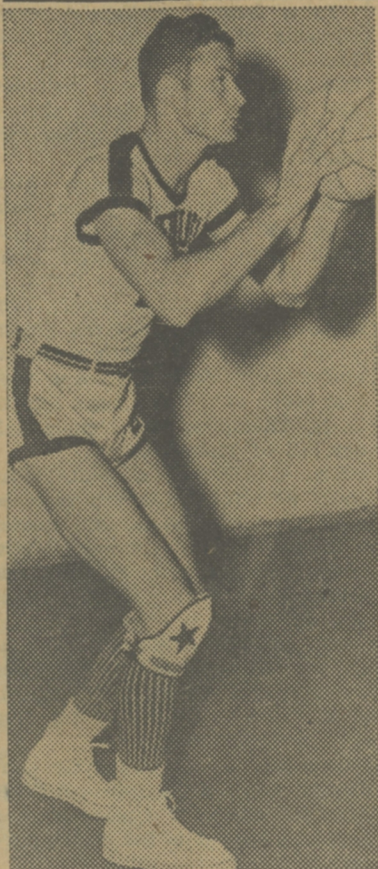

J. W. Malone, last year's choice for all-American guard at the Kansas City tournament, was a bit cool in offensive play but turned in a red hot floor game on defense. Jay was second high scorer for the night, sinking 12 points in the form of five field goals and two free tosses. Following closely was Hank Decker, veteran center, who scored 11 points. Ledru Jacobs sank 10 for the winners.

Leading the Wisconsin five was Babington, center, who made 11 points. Close behind was Helixan with five field goals for 10 points.

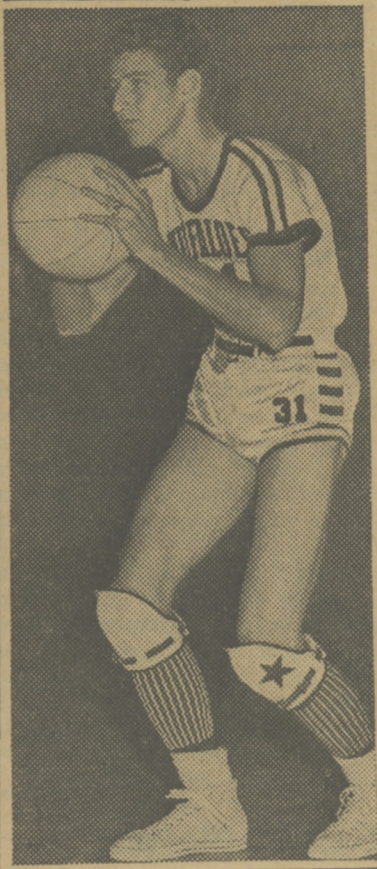

Bill Stockman drilled in more than 80 per cent of his attempts for a sensational average.

Terrill Defeats Pueblo Courts

Terrors Also Get Win Over Stafford; Town Bombers Also Victors

Terrill Hall Terrors defeated the Pueblo Courts five in perhaps the best game of the intramurals. The Terrors edged out the Pueblo boys by a 32 to 28 margin. Nolan Jones scored 15 points to lead the scoring for Terrill. Deason scored 7 points and Henry played an excellent floor game for the Terrors.

The Pueblo Courts team did not stop trying until the final whistle blew. Billy Peggram scored 11 points, followed closely by Don Meyers with 8. Bishop showed excellent ability on tip-ins and off the backboard play. The Terrors clinched the intramurals with this victory and have only one game left on their schedule.

In the first game Thursday evening, in a one-sided game, the Town Bombers defeated Stafford 51 to 31, with Frank Barrett scoring 14 points. Don Weast and Bobby Black scored 8 points each for the winners. The Buffoneers from Stafford were led by W. C. Davis who scored 12 points.

In the games Monday night the Terrors edged out a close 33 to 31 over the Stafford Hall club. Whitfield led the attack against the Terrors in a terrific ball game where anything could and did happen.

Bert Lane and Gene Mayfield have done excellent jobs of officiating in these games.

Two former West Texas State basketball stars are members of a new team being organized at Bartlesville, Okla.—the Phillips Lee Tires.

This outfit is made up of former Phillips 66 team members and is coached by Harold Schmidt, ex-66 mentor.

The former Buffs with this team are Frank Stockman, brother of Bill Stockman of the current West Texas State quintet, and Charles Halbert, 6 foot 10 inch center.

The new Lee Tires team will compete with other outstanding teams, including the famous Phillips 66 outfit.

Foster Watkins, former Little All-American football star for West Texas State, has been signed to coach the Canadian high school team.

Watkins has been released by the Navy and will report to his new job at once.

College Professor Buys Little Red Scooter; Dodges Questions and Puns

By Bobby Storey

The latest thing in locomotion is the motor scooter. Olin Hinkle, director of journalism, has started the fad on the West Texas campus.

Mr. Hinkle has had his flashy red Cushman Motor Scooter about three weeks. He first became interested in it while in the Army, where various models were used—some with side cars and luggage compartments which carry everything from messages to repair parts for an airplane. Two of Mr. Hinkle's friends, the chief chaplain, a major, and his executive officer, a lieutenant-colonel, had motor scooters which they rode around on the post. "If the things wouldn't crack the dignity of a lieutenant-colonel," says Mr. Hinkle, "I thought perhaps a college professor could get by with it."

The scooter has a four horse motor, a gasoline capacity of two gallons, and can get as much as 75 miles per gallon in straight driving. It can go as fast as 40 miles per hour, but a good cruising speed is around 20 or 25 miles per hour. A low gear shift enables the scooter to pull up hills. The small rubber tires are styled after those of a wheelbarrow, being a size 4.00x3.

Mr. Hinkle has added a tandem seat on the back of his scooter for his son David, while son Bob stands up in front.

So far, according to Mr. Hinkle, the chief problem is that small boys ask too many questions and older people make wise cracks. The children are broken hearted when they find that a scooter costs $215 or more and they cannot buy one for $50; the grown-ups seem to think it is a toy, whereas it is actually a vehicle of locomotion intended to relieve pedestrian husbands when the family car is in use.

Motor scooters have many uses, including carrying home the groceries and riding to work. In South Texas, they are being used instead of horses by cowboys in fence riding. Mr. Hinkle rode his scooter from Amarillo to Canyon after he bought it and learned to ride on the way home. He says it isn't as easy to guide as it looks. Being one of those persons who likes to sit down while he walks, Mr. Hinkle is having a lot of fun with his little red scooter.

Mr. Hinkle recommends the motor scooter to businessmen and college professors who like the fresh air and enjoy doing something different. He suggests the formation of a motor scooter club.

Brotherton Invites New IRC Members

"To correct a mistaken impression among some of the students, we want to emphasize that the International Relations Club does not restrict its membership to government and economics majors," declares Ben Brotherton, IRC president, who adds that, "anyone interested in world conditions today may attend the meetings."

Friday afternoon at 3:30 is the time set for the next program; meeting place will be the usual Room 211 of the Administration Building. In charge of the round-table discussion for this week's meeting are Billie Bural, chairman, Wayne Thomas and Jeanne Edgar.

During the West Texas-New Mexico area IRC meeting at El Paso last month, Freeda Johnson of the organization here was elected recording secretary.

Perkins, Manire Are Visitors Saturday

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, of Eastland, a long-time friend of President and Mrs. J. A. Hill, visited West Texas State Saturday. Mrs. Perkins is the only woman on the State Board of Education. She is president of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs and a past president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Perkins spoke to the girls of Cousins Hall at the noon hour. She was returning to Eastland after having participated in programs in Lubbock and Amarillo at teachers' conventions.

Robert A. Manire, state director of vocational agriculture, of Austin was also a visitor. Mr. Manire has worked in this area of the state for many years.

SPEAKS IN AMARILLO

Miss Loula Grace Erdman spoke of "Writing" at a meeting of the Pierian Junior Club in Amarillo last week. She told of the studies leading to the writing of her books, "Separate Star" and "Fair Is the Morning."

Bette Brown Crowned Queen

Captain Dale Russell Participates in Ceremony At Cousins Hall Dance

Captain Dale Russell crowned Bette Brown as the 45-46 basketball queen at an informal dance at Cousins Hall Thursday. Queen Bette was escorted down the center of the hall through two single rows of basketball athletes. The queen wore a light blue skirt and a white blouse with a large carnation corsage.

After the crowning, the students sang the W. T. alma mater. The ball room was decorated with the school colors. The crown itself was very colorful, with many gold and silver basketballs circling the gold crown. The evening was concluded by the attending students dancing to "Good-night Sweetheart."

Senior Notables Named; Favorites of Juniors Chosen

Outstanding students in the senior class were chosen at a recent class meeting. Wilma Jean Miller was chosen as the prettiest girl, and Alvin Jennings as the handsomest boy. Selected as the girl most likely to succeed was Virginia Reid, and Loren Hightower the boy most likely to succeed. Ken Stone and Virginia Hunter were elected as the most talented girl and boy.

The juniors elected their class favorites in a meeting of March 8. Bennie Jean Dawdy and Carl Jennings were chosen. The tentative date for the Junior-Senior Banquet was set for May 10. The class showed its appreciation to Gwen Holland for selling 65 tickets to the junior play by presenting her a gift.

At the sophomore class meeting, Miss Adele Barnes was elected class sponsor to replace the former sponsor, Mrs. Morgan. A committee was appointed to begin work on the assembly program that will be presented by the sophomore class. Beverly Beck was elected to be a library club representative for the remainder of this school year.

Patsy McDonald and Horace Carter were elected by the freshmen to be class favorites for this year.

Choir Featured At Conference

W. T. High School's Choir with its new choir robes presented its first out of town performance March 15. The choir sang for the Texas State Teachers' Association social studies section. The choir's part of the program consisted of two numbers, "Santa Fe Line" and "Climbin' Up the Mountain." The choir was accompanied by Ruth Ann Soll and directed by Miss Ada V. Clark.

Tentative Date for Coronation Is Set

When the Student Council met Thursday morning, it was decided that if Cousins Hall is available, the coronation dance for personality queen and king will be held Monday, March 25. The juniors' request for the Student Union for a party was granted. The party will probably be Tuesday, March 26, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A committee was appointed to draw up a set of rules for dances held in the future.

The committee also will see about reducing the price of cokes, sold for ten cents at these dances, because of the students' objections.

Final Rotary Lecture Is Heard

Before an audience composed of both high schools in Canyon, Charles M. Tobin of Chicago presented the last of the Rotary Lectures on his experiences in Turkey last week.

Mr. Tobin brought out many interesting facts on the international relations between the dominating countries and Turkey.

Later in the evening, he addressed another audience in the auditorium of the Administration Building.

The students of W. T. High are extremely grateful to the Rotary Club for sponsoring such educational lectures for the school students.

Home Ec Class To Give Dance

The Home Economics Class will sponsor a semi-formal dance with games. The event will take place at Cousins Hall at 8 p. m. The date will be March 29. The admission is to be 25 cents stag and 35 cents drag.

for the purpose of nominating next year's PHSPA officers. A light lunch at 5 o'clock in the college cafeteria is to be sponsored by the W. T. High School. The concluding event of the day will be a post-convention dance at Cousins Hall from 5:30 to 7 o'clock, sponsored by Type High.

Marcine Keeney Is Bride of James Dement

In a formal candlelight service Tuesday evening, March 12, Miss Marcine Keeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Keeney of Plainview, and James C. Dement, also of Plainview, were married in the First Baptist Church there.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Frances Muller of Vernon, Miss Ruth Haliburton of Vega and Miss Bobby Jane Storey of West Texas State College. Miss Sue Green of Plainview was maid of honor. Ernest Dement, brother of the groom, served as best man, while other attendants of the bridegroom were Olin Monk of Lubbock, Max Pinson, D. M. Thompson, and Donald Zelnay, all of Plainview.

The bride wore a white satin gown with train and veil fastened with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Miss Green was gown in pink and the bridesmaids wore identical blue dresses.

Soft music was played throughout the ceremony, and special music was furnished by Mary Lee Abbott of W. T., who sang "Till the End of Time" and "Because."

The church was effectively candlelighted and decorated with lilies. After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

The couple will live in El Paso. Mrs. Dement attended West Texas State College from 1942-1944 and was a member of Pi Omega. The bridegroom attended Texas Tech and has just been discharged from the army after overseas service.

MISS ERDMAN SPECIAL SPEAKER SUE HITE TEXAS DAY

Loula Grace Erdman, novelist, short story writer, and faculty member of West Texas State College, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Sue Hite club Monday afternoon, March 11, in the Thompson club room.

Following an introduction by Mrs. Glenn Truax, who was in charge of the Texas Day program, Miss Erdman gave a few suggestions about fiction writing and told one of her stories, "But Sweet Will Be the Flower."

"A story of merit usually has a theme," said Miss Erdman. "It is best to choose a title before writing the story."

The story Miss Erdman told was suggested by the life of a woman who said her flowers were like herself, "grudgingly taking root in a strange and alien country." The story was of a young pioneer woman of the Panhandle who had moved to this section of the state from Galveston.

He is an excellent editor who finds the superfluous in his own writings.

Who's Who

"I came from Perryton," says Clara Louise Davis, commonly known around the campus as "Easy." She collects pocket-size novels as a hobby. To own a motorcycle is the very height of her ambition. Among "Easy's" favorites are art, physics, and chicken-fried steak, and ice-cream. Although food constitutes a major part of her daily routine, she simply detests it when not well-cooked. When asked her age, Miss Davis replied, "Seventeen—I think, but I'll have to ask my mother."

She likes W. T. very well but wishes that West Texas wind would take a holiday.

Sybil Ann Gillis is that small, energetic bundle of blond charm who rates the role of "Pinkey" in the senior play, "Spring Green." Her very special interest is life in general. Collecting snap shots appeals to her as a hobby, and chicken-fried steak wins her favor in the food department. Sybil is editor of "La Vaquita" and holds a position on the "Tumbleweed." She is a member of the National Honor Society. All of Sybil's ten years of school have been spent at W. T.

W. T. Basketball Intramurals Begin

Another intramural tourney has begun. The first game was played last night. Boys from the four classes make up the teams. Coach Milton Morris, sponsor of the intramurals, eliminated some of the more valuable lettermen from the tournament, which made the teams evenly matched.

The purpose of the tournament is to give the boys experience for next year's play and to furnish fun for the entire student body.

Students should come to see the games, and yell for their classes because the boys need their backing.

Boys Benefit By Austin Trip

Mack Cantrell and Alvin Jennings made a trip to Austin on Thursday, March 7, with Mack's father, M. E. Cantrell. They enjoyed the state basketball finals as well as visiting the Steak Company, publishers of "La Vaquita."

Alvin, the business manager of the yearbook, brought home ideas and information needed by the annual staff. Mr. Cantrell, with the two boys, inspected the printing plant and saw the work done on "La Vaquita."

The bride was dressed in an aqua suit with black accessories and carried an orchid on a white Bible.

A reception was held at the Officers' Club after the service. Mrs. Voyles is a junior in West Texas State College and a member of Pi Omega, while the bridegroom is supply officer at AAAP. The couple is at home in Pantex Village, and Mrs. Voyles is commuting to school.

superintendent of schools at Oklahoma City, and Dr. Arnold E. Joyal, dean of the school of education at the University of Oklahoma.

Resolutions approved by the conference pledged the organization to promotion of international understanding, solidarity, and good will, and recommended the exchange of students and teachers between the United States and foreign countries, especially Russia. The teachers favored the efforts of states and federal government to secure better health care for adults and children and urged support of candidates whose records show consistent support of education, social uplift, and child welfare.

Another resolution urged that any program of compulsory military training be arranged for minimum interference with normal education routine, and that it be a part of high school and college or summer camp programs.

As an emergency measure, the teachers endorsed federal aid to education and urged an increase in coupled with more studies in the field of social science.
