MEETING AT W. T.

Gathering May 16th For Annual Planning of Work

Six hundred women from the Home Demonstration Clubs of District One and Two are expected in Canyon May 16 for the Annual Short Course. This lasts one day and is put on through the co-operation of the West Texas State Teachers College with the Extension service of Texas A. and M. College.

Looking to the Texas Centennial, the program this year will have for its central theme, Texas Pioneers, and Miss Mildred Horton of College Station will give the main address having "Women as Pioneers" as her subject.

Beginning with a reception at 9:30 a. m., the sessions will continue through the day.

Miss Ruby Mashburn, Home Demonstration Agent of District Number One will preside, and Mrs. Hogge of Potter county will conduct the singing. Miss Laura V. Hamner of Amarillo will be the forenoon speaker, her topic being "Episodes of the Plains." Music by the T-Anchor Troupe under the direction of Ed Todd, an illustrated talk on Brands by Wendell Cain and Miss Betty Hicks of Canyon, and the welcome address of Dean Geraldine Green will be other forenoon features.

Visiting the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum and luncheon at the college cafeteria, and inspection of Buffalo Courts will occupy the noon intermission.

Miss Lida Cooper, Home Demonstration Agent of District Number Two will preside at the afternoon meeting at which Miss Horton speaks.

Other features will be music by the W. T. Band under the direction of C. E. Strain, and a presentation of typical pioneer dances under the direction of Mrs. Wallace O'Keefe of the Physical Education Department of the College.

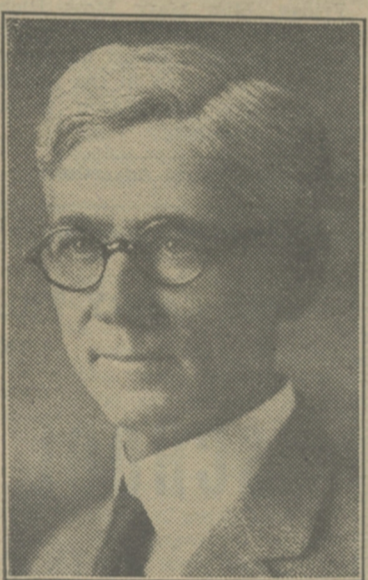

The day's programs have been planned by Miss Marion Northington, Miss Elizabeth Cox, and Miss Orpa Dennis of the Home Economics Department of the local college.

Pulp-Magazine Characters On Bulletin Board

Whether someone had intentions of starting a rogue's gallery or whether it is purely accidental that sketches on the bulletin board in the Publications Office are in character as they are is still unsolved. A fanciful one has called the oblique Indian "The Last Legend," and into this atmosphere the other drawings fit. One might be called the city slicker or the card sharp who's dressed in a red plaid vest which harmonizes with his nose and his hair. The other is a cow hand of the wild and wooly West who in his day strutted brazenly across the blackboard. However, under the ravages of the western sandstorms and chain letter writers who lean upon him, he has faded and is about to cross the great divide.

Perhaps, if you come soon, you'll be fortunate enough to see him and these other "wild-western-pulp-magazine" characters which some West Texas student or students, in a fit of unconsciousness, covered the blackboard with.

OUR PREXY

Dr. J. A. Hill, Honorary Sponsor of the Senior Class.

As this year is about at an end, leaving for the last time the regular work of college, one begins to think of different people associated with our college life that has made it useful and worthwhile. The man who has successfully guided our college through years of plenty and scarcity deserves worthy consideration in this select group that has shaped our four years here. Our Prexy has, unknowingly to his own self, placed himself upon this elevated position. He is ruler over all he sees as he looks over our campus. The sun, peeping over canyon walls, seems to caress him. Its rays fall upon him like a benediction. He is the center of the picture; all around him is the campus; and outside of this we see an easy-going western town, surrounded by prairie and canyons.

Our Prexy has a heart of a youth. He never was so in love with life. His eyes twinkle with merriment or fill with tender sympathy. The only sign of age is his whitened hair. When our Prexy is spoken of, it is done with a voice full of reverence, mellow with love, and ripe with respect for a life well lived. He has no hate, no whim, no prejudice. He believes in the wrong doer, the fallen, the sick, the weak and the defenseless. He loves children, animals, birds, trees, and flowers. He is one who is afraid of no man, and of whom no man is afraid. He puts you at ease. You could not be confused nor embarrassed before him. In his presence there is no temptation to deceive, to overstate, to understate, to be anything different from what you are. You can confess to our Prexy and reveal your soul and tell the worst; and his only answer would be, "Yes, yes, I know." And tears of sympathy and love would dim his sky-blue eyes.

Advanced Art Work To Hang in Gallery

An exhibit of the art work of the advanced classes of W. T. S. T. C. will be hung in the Mary E. Hudspeth Room of the Museum about May 25. This work will illustrate the use of the various mediums, watercolors, etchings, charcoal and wash drawings. This does not include the freshman work but only the advanced work for the year.

The Freshman Exhibit was returned recently from Amarillo where it has been on exhibit in the public schools. The last semester's work of this group will soon be placed in the corridor on the

CARD RECEIVED FROM DR. J. A. HILL

Ruby Kendrick Hunt received a card written by Dr. J. A. Hill from Mobeetie, Alabama, last Saturday. He said that the members of their party were all well and having a good time. They sent good wishes to everyone.

The Byrd Expedition was received in Washington Friday evening by the National Geographic Society. Their reception was broadcast at eight o'clock that evening over a national radio hookup. At four o'clock in the afternoon President Roosevelt received the group on the cruiser where he is vacationing.

OUR SPONSOR

The senior class has been exceptionally fortunate in having as sponsors Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Meyer.

Dr. Meyer came to W. T. in the fall of 1933 from George Peabody College for Teachers where as a graduate student he received the much coveted Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award given to the most outstanding student each year.

Dr. Meyer, a graduate of Indiana State Teachers College, received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Indiana University, and his Ph. D. from Peabody College for Teachers.

Dr. Meyer began his educational experience as a teacher in the rural and village schools of Clay County, Indiana. He was also head of the Social Science Department at Brazil, Indiana and later Superintendent of Schools at Oxford. In the summer of 1925 he became instructor in History at Indiana State Teachers College, and for four years he served as Director of Secondary Education in (Continued on last page)

Very Appreciative Audience Hears Madrigal Club

Clark Recognized As Greatest Madrigal Authority

A carefully chosen program, beautifully sung, and a sensitive, appreciative audience combined Friday night to make the annual concert of the Madrigal Club of the West Texas State Teachers College one of the happiest artistic affairs of the entire year. The Madrigal Concert is always conducted by Wallace R. Clark, head of the Music Department.

Using Madrigals of Italian, Spanish, English, and French origin most of them composed in the Sixteenth Century, together with old Scotch songs, a chant from the Russian Church, and a modern Madrigal arrangement of "In the Merry Month of May," the thirty-two singers carried their audience with them through every moment of the hour. To most of the listeners the "Hosodi Pomiliui (Have Mercy, O Lord)," composed by Lvovsky, was the most exquisite (Continued on last page)

Guleke Presents Museum With Valuable Book

J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, member of the State Board of Education, has presented the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society with a book containing pictures of the presidents of the United States from Washington to Grover Cleveland, inclusive. These are very fine hand-made steel engravings and beneath each one is a facsimile signature of the president pictured.

The cuts were engraved by H. G. Hall and Sons, 13 Barkley St., New York.

Besides their historical significance, persons interested in the study of character as reflected in hand writing and the shape of heads will find the book particularly interesting.

Tim Daugherty, ex-student, who graduated last summer, was a campus visitor recently. Daugherty, who was superintendent at Baileyboro this year, has accepted a position as principal and coach at Beulah for next year.

Miss Leona Lockhart spent Mother's Day and Monday with her parents at her home in Dalhart.

SPEAKER

Rev. J. O. Haymes, D. D., who will deliver the commencement sermon, Sunday, May 26.

West Texas Profs In Demand As Year Draws To Close

Professors of West Texas State Teachers College were very much in demand by the high schools over this section of the country the year round, but especially are their services in demand around the close of the school year.

This fact is illustrated by the number of requests that each of the college instructors receives during the spring to appear on Commencement Programs and other programs of graduation exercises.

A typical weekly schedule of the college professors is Mr. S. H. Condron's program for the balance of the week.

On Tuesday, May 14, Mr. Condron will attend the annual meeting of the Texas Wheat Growers Association directors in Amarillo. Mr. Condron has been a director of this organization for the past four years. "This group of officials have been most loyal in their support of the college in every issue that has ever come up," Mr. Condron said.

Wednesday, May 15, Mr. Condron will address all of the seventh grade graduates of Potter County at the McKinley school in Amarillo for the county-wide commencement program.

"New Patterns of Life" will be the subject of Mr. Condron's address when he delivers the Commencement Address to the Lelia Lake High School on Thursday night of this week. Mr. Condron will be principal speaker on the Commencement Program of the Spring Lake High School, Friday.

MAY 17 IS DATE

Show Is Different From Any Produced Previously

A benefit dance pageant sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Department and under the direction of Ruby Barksdale O'Keefe of that department will be staged Friday evening, May 17. The pageant will be a delineation of the evolution of ballroom dancing and will have a musical comedy touch through the use of a chorus line for a background. Admission will be fifteen and twenty-five cents. Proceeds go to the fund for a recreational hall for W. T. S. T. C.

The best dancers in college have volunteered their services and will execute some of the most popular dances of the east and west coast and of the Argentine. Also popular early waltzes will be done. Mary Louise Appel and Lewis Shirley will do the ever-popular Merry Widow Waltz. The Schottische, which is a group of ballroom dance, has been characterized as one of the cleverest dances in the review. Slower dances are the old fashioned Virginia Reel and an exhibition waltz.

Brilliant, fast-moving tangos, the continental, carrioca, and the jazz nocturne will show the Spanish influence. Costumes will be adapted to the dances.

John Morris and his sister from Amarillo are scheduled to dance the carrioca and the Charleston. Miss Morris has been invited as one of a group of four Texas girls to dance in the American Pageant in South Dakota.

William Garrett and his partner, Frances Alice Clark, will do a soft shoe number, and he will appear again in a novelty dance with Royce Park.

Frances Usery and George Brewer will dance the tango; and Frances Holman and Judge Williams will do the Continental.

These are only a few of the many colorful and beautifully done dances which are included in the benefit which, to repeat, is Friday evening in the Administration Auditorium. "Never before have so many boys been used in a dance pageant here," said Mrs. O'Keefe, "and they are co-operating wonderfully in these dances." Needless to say, a full house is expected.

Nothing quite like it has ever been produced at this school before, and the whole show has promises of a grand success.

Twenty-six of the ninety-one members of the senior class which graduate in the spring have answered a questionnaire which all seniors were asked to answer. The original plan in mind was to compile this material into statistical form. "Old Mr. Time" Bids Adieu To Athletes

When "Old Mr. Time" puts on his fall rags and marches out to play "taps" to the present scholastic school year he will be introducing John Walker, D. V. Biggers, Leonard Britt, Jimmie Holston, M. E. Cleavinger, and Bill Allen to a man named Mr. Sheep Skin. Graduation will remove from the W. T. Campus this group of athletes. These boys have fought their "hearts out" to preserve the traditions of the school, they have displayed true sportsmanship and a fighting desire to bring glory to West Texas State Teachers College athletics.

John Walker came to W. T. in the fall of '31 and lost no time in distinguishing himself as a worthy athlete. He was a member of the famous "Tall Teams" and was elected captain of the Varsity Football team in '34. His home is at Spearman.

LOOKING BACKWARD

By a Girl

Four years ago, we see a group of very green Freshmen entering this college. In retrospect, let us go back to that first class meeting. The scene is the Education Auditorium—three hundred boys and girls are gathered together for the first time. One of the most popular students was chosen for president. The students had much confidence in Roy Whittenburg. John McIntosh was chosen vice-president, and Irene McCoy for secretary. With these leaders, this class embarked upon an eventful college career. Pep? Plenty of it was shown by this group. With James Compton as yell leader, how could the situation be otherwise? At the end of that first year, practically every member heaved a sigh of regret, expressing such sentiments as these—"The most glorious days of college life are past."—"The happiest days are those good old Freshman days."

In the fall of 'thirty-two, the group assembled again. Not quite the same group, for some familiar faces were missing, and there was an addition of new faces. Alvin Morgan piloted the class through this eventful year. The Sophomore year is always the hardest of all. You can't be green, and get by with it any longer. The adjustments are many and hard. Some fail to make them, and do not return.

In the Junior year of this class, the students began to feel that old spirit of loyalty in the real sense of the word. After spending two full years in the school, the students feel more familiar with the faculty, especially Dean Green, Dean Jarrett, and Dr. Cook. Who could expect to get through two years of college without some associations with these three? However, with such a capable student as Mr. J. C. Line as president, this class had little opportunity to go wrong.

This past year has been one of interesting events. Being a Senior isn't any joke, especially if you try to fulfill Senior obligations and duties. With the capable leadership of James Compton and the advice of Dr. and Mrs. Meyer, all the members of the class feel that the class activities have been worthy of the honor and dignity of the name Senior. Although only thirty-five of those who started four years ago have "stuck it out," one feels that these thirty-five, with the addition of the other fifty-five now a part of the class, will go down in history as worthwhile graduates of W. T. Many common projects have drawn the Senior group close together. As the time approaches for separation—each to his own way of life—a feeling of sadness is mingled with the pride and joy of completing a college career.—Ernestine Walker.

By a Boy

It is customary for all college seniors to indulge in a little reminiscing when their last year in college is almost over. They look back over their four years in Alma Mater with a feeling bordering upon sentimentality. The thought of leaving their four year intellectual—or social—home, of being no longer a part of the academic and social life, and of the delightful days gone by arouses in them an emotion that is difficult to analyze or to define. We find that this elusive emotional disturbance is beginning to appear upon our campus in the seniors of the Class of 'thirty-five. Each senior is considering everything that he has done, good and bad, during the last four years and is wondering how he "got away with it all," why the dean didn't "catch up with him," and how the old Alma Mater can continue to fulfill its purpose without him after the fatal graduation day arrives. It is inconceivable to some that this miracle could happen. Then, the fond recollections of pleasant days, congenial fellowship and unforgettable memories crowd upon their minds—freshman days, hazing, doing mental tasks for infinitely superior upper classmen, home-coming, the bonfire,—remember, Comp?—and all the joys and sorrows of a slime's existence—sophomores, with an inestimable feeling of importance, lordling it over the new crop of freshmen—juniors, with a more superior air, and finally seniors, with all the dignity common to that peculiar specie of animal life. We think of Comp's meteoric rise to the head of that august body, of Hosea and the college dances, of Charlie Donnell and dramatics, of Bib and all kinds of pranks, of Lewis and his ever-ready camera, of Ernestine and her unbounded enthusiasm, of our instructors who have performed such Herculean efforts to inculcate us with the serum of education, and of countless other classmates and the unforgettable associations their names bring to mind, and finally ending with—Will I have to take my final examinations?—J. C. Line.

Senior Class Gift Is Almost Ready For Presentation

Have you noticed the steady stream of seniors which is fast making a beaten path to the wood-working department? Early and late throngs of admiring students who are here for their last year troop into the workshop to proudly view the token of their love and regard for the institution.

To let you in on the secret, the magnificent bulletin board, gift of the Senior Class, is almost completed.

Made on the ancient Tuscan order of design, the case is similar to the trophy case presented by the Class of 1934. It will be placed in the hall in such location as to balance in position with the trophy case.

The case is divided into six separate bulletin board compartments with an individual key to each of them. Each compartment is assigned to a specific purpose such as: Senior class, other classes, lost and found, religious activities, student organization, and faculty. Each compartment is electrically lighted.

Tanglewood mahogany was used as material for the case proper and the bulletin boards are of cork. The inlaid words "Class of 1935" are made of rosewood. Small plaques on the case are made of teakwood.

J. A. Gillis, of the woodworking department, has done almost all of the work of constructing the case. Those helping him were: Miss Isabel Robinson who made all drawings for the carving and selected the scroll used between the carved plaques; Miss M. Moss Richardson helped in the selection of the designs for the plaques and carved one of the plaques herself; Miss Novella Goodman, of the Demonstration School, and Carroll Killebrew each carved one of the plaques; James Compton, president of the Senior Class, contributed several hours in the carving and construction of the case. Carl T. York turned the columns and did the rosewood inlay in the front of the case.

MANY REGIONS REPRESENTED BY STUDENTS

At the closing of the regular term this year, 1934-1935, more than a thousand students will flock to their homes all over Texas and the neighboring states. By every road and by the use of both thumb and fore-finger, they will be conveyed to their respective homes; a little better educated than when they first viewed the institution last September. They will go, and with each of them will go a little bit of the old school spirit to the four corners of Texas and the United States.

Scattered from one corner of Texas to the other three are the homes of the students of this institution. There are, of course, students from this region; but also of neighboring regions and even out of the way regions and distant states.

The counties of Texas represented are those of Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Brown, Carson, Coleman, Collingsworth, Cottle, Crosby, Dallam, Dallas, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Delta, Dickens, Donley, Ector, Fannin, Fisher, Floyd, Foard, Gaines, Garza, Gray, Gregg, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hareman, Hartley, Haskell, Hemphill, Houston, Howard, Hutchinson, Johnson, Jones, Kaufman, Kent, Knox, Lamar, Lamb, Lipscomb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mills, Mitchell, Montague, Moore, Motley, Navarro, Nolan, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parker, Parmer, Potter, Presidio, Randall, Roberts, Runnels, Roy, Saba, Scurry, Shackelford, Sherman, Smith, Swisher, Tarrant, Taylor, Terry, Tom Green, Washington, Wheeler, Wichita, Wilbarger, and Wise County. These counties are represented by from 219 in our own Randall county to one student in some of the more distant counties.

Neighboring states represented are those of California, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. These states are each represented by from one to thirty-eight students.

Scattering their influence over a wide territory, they can scarcely fail to bring back to the institution next year a larger number than has gone out from the school this year.

W. T. Artists Are Recognized In New York Galleries

If Panhandle artists and art-lovers could have visited the galleries in New York during the month of April they would have seen exhibits of work of three artists who are or have been members of the faculty of W. T., and who have received inspiration for their work from Panhandle and Southwestern scenes.

Effie Rogers, who left Canyon at the end of the 1934 summer session, had the first one-woman exhibit ever shown in New York. It appeared in the Morton Galleries from April 8-22. Watercolors, figures, landscapes, and flower pieces made up the 20 pictures about which the New York Post said, "While much of the work is formalized, there is a curious emotional intensity throughout the work which gives it stimulating quality."

"The Village," and "Near Taos," were especially mentioned. Of the latter the critic said "Near Taos, a small paper, is so sensitively seen and directly set down that it makes immediate impression. Here is a young artist who not only has much to say, but is rapidly finding the means to say it with convincing power."

The New York Times critic, Howard Devree, wrote of Miss Rogers' work, "Her papers are purposive and possessed of nervous vitality."

Isabel Robinson's Work

In the Industrial Arts Show at Radio City are hung two paintings by Isabel Robinson, Panhandle artist, who is the present head of the art department of W. T. They are water colors, called "The Greenwood" and "The Studio." These were painted last summer. This exhibit was set up by Alfons Bach, New York artist.

That Miss Robinson's paintings please the public as well as trained artists was shown recently when her "Street in Santa Fe" was voted the most attractive picture in an exhibit at the convention of the Seventh District Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at Plainview. This picture will be exhibited in Austin at the State Convention next November. Other of her works have been a part of the Southern States Art League exhibits on several occasions.

The third New York exhibitor who is well known in Northwest Texas is Georgia O'Keefe. She was once head of the college Art Department here. She is now proclaimed the foremost woman artist of America. One of her pictures in the April exhibit of the Downtown Gallery, New York, was suggested by Palo Duro Canyon.

Mrs. Geraldine Green and her daughter Nell, were dinner guests at Cousins Hall on Mother's Day.

Football Schedule For Next Year Released

FIVE NIGHT GAMES TO BE PLAYED

Outstanding Journeys Looked Forward To By Buffs

Coach Al Baggett has released the Buffaloes' football schedule for 1935, complete except for one game.

September 20th the Buffaloes make their debut for the home town in a night game with the Panhandle Aggies. The second game on September 28 will be played with Southeastern Teachers at Vernon.

The schedule will include ten games, running from September 20 to November 23. All but three of the games will be played in Canyon on the Buffalo gridiron.

The outstanding journey for the Buffaloes will be a trip to El Paso to play the strong Texas School of Mines team on October 26. November 23 the Buffaloes will wind up their season at Alpine against the Sul Ross State Teachers College.

Other outstanding teams on the schedule besides Sul Ross and El Paso Miners are McMurry College of Abilene, an intersectional game with St. Benedict's Ravens of Atchison, Kansas for Homecoming, November 2, and the Central Oklahoma Teachers, winners of the Oklahoma Conference.

The complete schedule is as follows:

- *Sept. 20, Panhandle A. & M., Canyon.
- *Sept. 28, Southeastern State Teachers of Durant, Okla., at Vernon, Texas.
- *Oct. 5, Texas Wesleyan College, Canyon.
- *Oct. 11, McMurry College, Canyon.
- *Oct. 18, New Mexico Normal U., Canyon.
- Oct. 16, Texas School of Mines, El Paso.
- Nov. 2, St. Benedict's (Homecoming), Alpine.

Rankin's Team Beats Champs' By 13 Points

Captain John Rankin's White team captured the third intrasquad game Saturday night 13 to 0 to give them two victories and one tie in the three game series against Ezell Champion's Maroon clad team.

Early in the second quarter Craig Walling intercepted a pass from Champion and raced 45 yards to tally. He kicked the goal to make the score 7 to 0.

In the last period the second score came, also as a result of an intercepted pass when Captain Rankin grabbed a stray heave and went 52 yards to score. Rankin missed the try for point.

Saturday's game marked the close of seven weeks of spring training for the Buffaloes. Both teams were pretty evenly matched, and since they both knew each others plays, the defense stood out much stronger than the offense.

However the fierce blocking and tackling of both teams sent the fans away satisfied that the Buffaloes in the 1935 grid season would be at a par at least with all their opponents.

Playing under the Maroon colors were: Toby Waggoner, James Baggett, and Jewel Meacham, ends; Clinton Meek, R. D. Wheelock, and Wyatt Batson, tackles; George Wright and Oscar Hinger, guards; Woodrow Marchbanks and Grover Dennis, centers. Ezell Champion, Lwood Dow, Lewis Gibson, Floyd Murry, Jack Jennings, Conway Butler, and Burnie Davis in the back field.

The victorious White team was made up of: Stina Cain, Jack Davis, and Craig Walling, ends; John Lee, Ernest Patton, tackles; John Rankin, George Caviness, and Frank Greer, guards; Leo Jackson and B. F. Cain, centers; and Vernon Johnson, Lawrence Clark, Tom Slack, Frank Van Noy, Ray Cox, Ed Miller, and H. D. Stewart, backs.

Societies Begin Football Rivalry In Game Wednesday

It seems that football is in the air this spring. Anyway, no sooner did the Buffaloes complete their spring training when it was announced that two societies in the school would compete in another game.

Epsilon Beta's or the Eligible Bachelors and the Alpha Sigma Xi, better known as the Rough Necks, are the two contesting teams.

Wednesday afternoon the two societies meet in a game to decide the intramural football championship of the school.

With the names of Joe Collins, Ogden Stroud, George Bishop, Joe Smith, Roger George, John Morris, G. T. Higgins, Hosea Foster, Lewis Shirley, George Wright, Pete Cowart, Bill Pitman, Myles McGehee, John Poole, Jim Beard, H. D. Stewart, Leonard Britt, Clarence Wooten, Seth Lindsey and Kotton McGehee appearing on the roster for the Epsilon Beta's, they have been established as pre-games favorites. Most of their members have had some if not more, football experience, but the fighting spirit of the Rough Necks will attempt to offset that.

Then too, many of the Rough Necks know what a football is and for. Playing for the Rough Necks will be Ray Cox, Carroll Killebrew, Craig Walling, Floyd Murry, Oscar Hinger, Melvin Alexander, Marvin Callihan, John Hood, Winfred Lewis, Buster Leslie, Schuman Cherry, J. C. Line, James Compton, Ashley Little, Dale Bowman, Gene Whitman, and others. It ought to be a feature game of some kind or other. You might be there and see.

Professing to believe one thing and doing the opposite is another double standard the world frowns on.

Spring Basketball Began Immediately After Football

With spring football closing last Saturday night, the West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes exchanged their moleskins for a pair of shorts and a jersey and without a pause started right in with spring basketball Monday afternoon.

Next year the Buffaloes start off their schedule a little early by participating in a tournament at Winfield, Kansas from December 30 through January 2.

Spring practice will run through two weeks. Coach Baggett will give the squad the basic fundamentals of the game, help individuals on their weak spots, and work some on team play so as to set the stage for next year.

Captain-elect Willie Boedecker of Lockney will lead the five lettermen into the practice. Curtis Clement of Wellington, Audell Kimmins of Canyon, Lawrence Clark of Turkey, and Jack Davis of Memphis are the returning lettermen besides Captain Boedecker.

Three lettermen from this year's team which had a fairly successful season climaxed by a trip to Denver for the National Tournament will be missing next year.

John Walker, three year letterman from Spearman, and Leonard Britt, two year man from Canyon, are lost because of graduation, while Captain McMinn is graduating to take a job in Kirkland, his home town, although he had one more year of eligibility.

Vernon Johnson of Childress and Ray Vineyard of Claude are squadmen who will be eligible next year, and several promising freshmen from the team which won nineteen out of twenty-two games this year are reporting to the varsity.

Most outstanding freshmen prospects for the varsity are B. F. Taylor of Kirkland, Craig Walling

OUR PREXY—

(Continued from first page) and he gets out in the mornings and scans everything before him, and as he walks he watches for new things or old things that may appear in a new light. This habit of expectancy always marks the strong man. It is a form of attraction—our own comes to us because we desire it; we find what we expect to find, and we receive what we ask for. All life is a hope and prayer—strong natures indulge most—and every earnest, sincere hope and prayer is answered. Our Prexy's life is a hope and prayer for goodness and helpfulness. He looks for these and these things have been added unto him. An author once said, "Upon every face is written the record of the life the man has led; the prayers, the aspirations, the disappointments, all he has hoped to be and was not—all are written there—nothing is hidden, nor indeed can be."

In 1929 he was instructor of Social Sciences, Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, and the following year he was professor of Education, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. From 1932 until he came to W. T. Dr. Meyer taught History and Education in Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee.

Since becoming sponsor of the senior class he has taken an unusual interest in its affairs, offering many helpful suggestions during class meetings at which he has been an unfailing attendant.

The class feels that it has been indeed fortunate to have come under the stimulating influence and guidance of such a man as Dr. Meyer.

of Farwell, Don Savage of Canyon, Oscar Hinger of Endee, New Mexico, and Ray Cox of Vernon.

With five lettermen returning who saw lots of service this year and some outstanding prospects from the Yearlings, prospects are rosy for a basketball team in 1936 that will better the record of the this year's Buff team which won twelve out of seventeen games and never lost a series all year.

Some men spend more time in trying to imitate than it would require to be the real thing.

9 Intermediate Majors Complete Work In May

Nine from a group of seventeen majors in intermediate education graduate in May, according to statistics recently compiled. Five of these nine have answered the questionnaire which all seniors who graduate in May were asked to do. Josie Baird and Leona Bullington have secured positions for next year, Miss Baird having recently been elected principal at the Harmony school near Jayton and Miss Bullington having been selected to teach at Anton.

The other eight intermediate majors are Esther Boulware, Edith Brookfield, Ruby Cornelison, Thelma Holly, Edna Orton, Alice Reese, Marjorie Tucker, and Leona Vetsak.

Miss Florence McMurtry, supervisor of the Intermediate Education Department, sponsors the group.

MADRIGAL CLUB CONCERT

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger's paper "Literature in Song," was a valuable addition to the program, reminding the hearers that poetry and song are interwoven, neither developing except with the other.

In a brief comment, Mr. Clark told of the debt which this region owes to D. A. Clippinger, for many years director of the Chicago Madrigal Club. Mr. Clippinger enabled the West Texas State Teachers College to secure its extensive Madrigal Library, one of the largest and most complete in the United States.

Mr. Clark was recently recognized in a radio broadcast from New York City as the greatest living authority on madrigal music in the world.

Senior Play One Of Most Successful Of Year's Activities

"I will not accept this woman as a juror." As these angry words were spoken by Rutherford Dale alias Bill Hawkins, the curtain went up on one of the greatest entertainments ever given in W. T. S. T. C. The senior class of '35, in presenting "Ladies of the Jury" accomplished something that many felt couldn't be done. Here are a few remarks some of the skeptics were saying—"A $50 royalty play? Don't be funny!" "That Broadway success? What can our students do with it?" "Why attempt the impossible?" With the excellent directorship and splendid co-operation of a cast of 22 people, those skeptics were shown the other side of the situation.

Some of the outstanding qualities of the play were—the superb acting of Eula Lee McKnight—the complete abandon George Bisley gave to his part of Jay J. Pressley—the cold-bloodedness of Lily Pratt as portrayed by Bib Jameron—the humor of the Irish washerwoman as shown by Martina Anderson. These and many other excellent traits of the student's portrayals helped to make this play a howling success. The acting of Judge Williams as the Scotch gardener, should be especially commended, as well as the acting of Pollyanna Pitts as the flashy box-office queen. Other students in the cast were: Velma Padgett, Marjorie Tucker, Johnny Hood, Hosea Foster, D. V. Biggers, James Compton, Charles Donnell, J. C. Line, Mable Mims, Josephine Gamble, Thelma Callihan, Frances Holman, Glenn Reeve, Jimmy Holston and G. T. Higgins. Each of these people seemed to give his very best the evening of the performance.

Another senior student who contributed much to the success of the play, was Carroll Killebrew. Wendell Cain and Thomas Newell functioned nicely in the capacities of technical directors.

As for the director of the play, Miss Brown, one cannot find words adequate to express the deep appreciation of the Senior Class for the untiring effort that she put forth in presenting the play. Considering everything, the students have a right to feel almost cocky about the success of the play.

Mrs. Geraldine Green will deliver the Commencement address at Dimmitt, Friday night.

OLD MR. TIME EIDS ADIEU

(Continued from page one) the fall of '30, he was a candidate for the Varsity in '30 and made a favorable impression. He is not only a football player but a golf player of no-mean rank. D. V. hails from McLean.

Leonard Britt is a Canyon boy, and showed basketball ability from his first high school days. Britt was a "heady" player as well as a hustler. His basketball sweater has two stripes on the arm.

M. E. Cleavinger possessed one of the finest spirits that an athlete could have. He was never a regular but hustle and "never-say-die" spirit was an inspiration to the team. M. E. calls Spring Lake his home.

Jimmie Holston did his prerequisite work in football in Amarillo Junior College, and continued the good work here in W. T. S. T. C. Jimmie was a "wee bit small" but he could pass with the best of them, and as a quarterback he was good. Jimmie's address is Amarillo.

Bill Allen has only been in our midst one year, but he has made many friends. Allen was a "sweet" football player, and although he has only worn a Buffalo uniform for one year he possessed the same spirit as many of the old men. Bill's home is in Amarillo.

PROFS ARE IN DEMAND

(Continued from page one) mencement programs were turned down for this week by Mr. Condon. He has to have at least two hours every week free for fishing, he said.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Page was the dinner guest of Miss Hellen Hickman on Mother's Day at Cousins Hall. This was also Mrs. Page's birthday.

Ex-student Clem McDonald, editor of the Quitaque Post, has a new manager, June Carolyn McDonald, born May 8.
