Studying In The Dark

When the library was opened for night hours, the staff admitted that there would be problems, and lighting facilities were considered questionable.

Checking the light in the library does not require a light meter, but if one is used, it will show that the candle power is too low for a student to hit a nail with a hammer. Exaggerated? The large reading room shows one and one-half foot candles with a low of less than one foot candle. In the small reading room, the meter shows three and one-half foot candles, which is high for the room.

Is that enough? The light company recommends 30-foot candles, and 4-foot candles of light is considered and marked on the meter as inadequate for most tasks. For sewing and similar work, 70-foot candles are considered adequate.

These statements are most startling when it is considered that the students are using the library hours. And it is likely that more will find it useful. Studying in the library has been promoted as a good habit, but we are skeptical about some things that happen in the dark.

Reduce NYA Rolls

Several W. T. students may be figuring the number which a 31.5 per cent reduction in NYA rolls may eliminate from school next year.

The cut is included in the recommendation by President Roosevelt and would, on the basis of present allotments, involve a reduction of 31.5 per cent of the National Youth Administration college employment.

It's always true that the group howls when its feet are stepped on, but it's hard to believe that the economy would balance the detriment to the nation's college students who have found this employment the only way to stay in school. The NYA committees always select, from the list of applications, the students who cannot afford to go to college, and from these, the committee chooses the ones with the best records. There is no doubt that students who are supported by NYA employment depend on the check.

As an added thought to these students, we recommend they apply to Congress for a job building ships and planes.

About Those Resolutions

"Ha, Ha! I caught you. Thought I wasn't watching, huh? Well, you were wrong, heh, heh. You were wrong."

Does that fiendish voice sound in your ears? Are the ghosts of those new semester promises and resolutions disturbing your leisure time?

Well now that you've come to think about it, aren't you beset by two gangs of demons? The first bunch is that tough Killanhour outfit. Every time you get out of class, they're waiting for you. It's mighty hard to ever get away from them.

And then if you give into them, you can be sure the Soy-ve Dunitagin mob starts to work on you. They're a nagging, worrying bunch.

Between the two a fellow hardly stands a show. Some people say that you ought to quit straddling the fence and sign up with one or the other and get it over with. You tried it before, remember? New Year's was one time. Then again at the start of this new semester.

Yeah, sure you tried it but that Killanhour gang isn't put off that easy. Now look at this last week or so. . . . Say, that is something. It's only been a week or so that you've been loafing. And the semester's only three weeks old! F'gosh sakes, man, what are you mooning for? You've still got a chance to carry out your plans.

"So you thought you caught me at it, huh. Well, forget it. I'm still far from the state wherein my resolutions and promises are only ghosts. Out of my way, let me back at the job."

When Is A Man Drunk?

When is a man drunk? Some men are intoxicated when, standing up, they admit it; others are not drunk when they have to hang on to the ground to keep from falling off the earth, if they deny it.

One thing, he is drunk after the first drink, although he may not be. Authorities agree that the first degree begins when his muscular and mental speed is diminished.

Well, so he's drunk, and why? He considers it first-aid for the nervousness caused by overwork. If that's true our friend might like to know that nervous troubles will likely increase with the strain of intellectual studies and the foaming beaker.

Experimenters have found that more breakdowns are from beer than from books.

We often wonder what causes people to become morticians. We have known three college fellows going into the black crepe trade, and they seemed normal otherwise. However, some of the signs on funeral parlors seem to indicate one possible reason. We refer to such names as Boxwell Brothers, Carver and Black.

Mr. Black's wife, we have been told, bore the maiden name, Coffin.

Not quite in the same mood, but another odd firm name is that of the Beverly Hills realty company that flaunts the sign, "Reed and Wright."

TAKING YOUR MEASURE

The new text-book in Measurement used by the Education 302 class has a number of interesting items such as:

Philosophy: "Since life is made up only of a series of presents, we ought to make sure we do not habitually sacrifice the present. We should learn to live happily in the present in such a way that the future, when it comes, will be a series of happy present moments."

Prophecy: "Present tendencies, unless consciously interrupted, will continue until involution has run its tragic course, destroyed our urbanized civilization, and evacuated city dwellers who are no longer competent to maintain its elaborate interdependent functions to a simpler rural environment which fosters the evolution of intelligence."

Politics: "The nation's illiterates over twenty-one years of age could have outvoted the states of Pennsylvania, Maine, Michigan, Alabama, and California in the 1920 presidential election."

TRY THIS OUT

With your pencil make a dot over any one of these letters F G H I J, and a comma after the longest of these three words: bol mother birl Then, if Christmas comes in March, make a cross right here but if not, pass along to the next question and tell where the sun rises If you believe that Edison discovered America, cross out what you just wrote, but if someone else, put a number to complete this sentence: "A horse has feet." Write yes no matter whether China is in Africa or not; and then give a wrong answer to this question: "How many days are there in a week?" Write any letter except g just after this comma, and then write no if 2 time 5 are 10 Now, if Tuesday, comes after Monday, make two crosses here; but if not, make a circle here or else a square here Be sure to make three crosses between these two names of boys: George Henry. Notice these two numbers: 3. 5. If iron is heavier than water, write the larger number here, but if iron is lighter write the smaller number here Show by a cross when the nights are longer; in summer? in winter? Give the correct answer to this question: "Does water run uphill?" and repeat your answer here Do nothing here (5 plus 7 equals), unless you skipped the preceding question; but write the first letter of your first name and the last letter of your last name at the end of this line:

This is from the same source and is a sample of a test designed to measure the ability of children to follow instructions. How did you do?

PUNNING PROFS

Quoting Dr. Jarrett: "I have an old school bell that means a lot to me. I am going to have it mounted some day. Later some hysterical society will probably get it."

Quoting Prof. Jones: "I play the Cumbersome system of Bridge."

QUOTING THE PROF

Said Prof. Condron recently: "I didn't know that was a Hearst paper at first. I thought it was a good paper."

This calls to mind one of the few bits of verse we have ever memorized to recite on the slightest provocation:

Oh, Mr. Hearst, if you should die,
Our hearts would surely sadden.
But not so, if you took along
Your friend, Bernarr MacFadden.

FROM THE BOTTOM OF THE BARREL

The butcher's delivery boy was knocked from his bicycle by a car. A neighborhood cop helped him to his feet:

Cop: "There now, lad, are you all right?"
Boy: "Well, my heart's here; my liver's where it should be; but where are my brains?"

CONFUCIOUS SAY

Girl in Art Class does not polish apple, polish bottle instead for teacher.

Whoa, now, don't get ahead of me. Bottle contains apple jelly.

QUOTING THE PROFS

(I haven't much hope for my Education grade after this, but as you will see, any martyrdom is worth it):

"Women's Clubs have made more widowers and orphans than any other agency." (Or how about this one):

"Love is a delightful and idiotic state of mind. I envy those beginning to experience it now."

Both quotations are taken without permission from Professor M. Jones.

Letter to . . .

All in the Family

. . . the Editor

Editor of The Prairie:

Mark Twain once said, "Everybody's always talking about the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it." We could, with a few minor changes, apply the above quotation to our chapel programs.

The students of WTSC are continually voting on one thing or another, and in our haste to get something or to kill it; we continue to gasp and almost every Tuesday and Saturday morning along about eleven o'clock we stroll into the auditorium to try to swallow a dull lecture.

Chapel programs are for entertainment, relaxation, and an hour's rest from our studies. In the past, entertainment has been fair on an average; relaxation, medium; and a rest from books has been terrible. The majority of the students have found that it is hard to concentrate on sleep and shut out a dry lecture at the same time. Many express the opinion that we should not have chapel but once a week. We would enjoy good programs which are along the average student's mind. We prefer good music to some lecture by someone who has been unfortunate enough to have been in war-torn Europe or someone who has written a book which we've all read and expressed a sour opinion of same before we ever saw him.

Why not have more programs like Raymond Raillard's orchestra, the Panhandle High School Press Convention, and Dr. Geeting? Religious Emphasis Week was fine and brought to us an excellent speaker, but that only comes once a year. We don't care about third grade stuff; so please give us some good music, interesting speakers, maybe a one-act play, or a comedy or two.

A Fellow Student,
BLANTON ARMSTRONG.

Addressed to Fred Hart: Before again assuming the responsibilities of public critic of the dramatic productions of the College, will you please take the trouble to get the facts.

In the first place, we give three full-length plays a year. The try-outs are publicized and are open to all interested in trying for the parts. Two actors in major roles in our last production—Hollis Bledsoe and Bob McKenzie—had never been on the stage before and are not speech majors.

Last year thirty-five different students appeared in speaking parts in the three dramatic productions of the College. The recent production, "The Unguarded Hour," presented fifteen characters. The forthcoming production, "Mr. Pim Passes By," is a small cast, but offers three people who have never before had major roles.

Heavy dramatic roles must be taken by competent actors. You would not expect Coach Baggett to present "new faces" at every basketball game, or Coach Curtice to present "new faces" at every football game. Everybody can't paint a picture, play a musical instrument, or play football well enough for public exhibition. The same holds true with acting. Acting is a specialized activity that takes training, intelligence, and a certain amount of born ability.

It has been the policy of the speech department to put on productions of such merit that attendance would be entirely voluntary. We were not aware that any comparisons with "slavery" could be hinted at with regard to the audience situation. Neither were we particularly aware that we had "three hundred loyal students" who streamed into our productions.

Newspaper critics of Amarillo and people qualified to judge dramatic productions rate our performances with the best the Panhandle has to offer. "Good Play, well presented," "A gob of character parts well played" (Mr. Hart, note the use of the word "gob") a West Texas State College drama presentation, drew a rousing reception at its showing tonight"—are just a few of the criticisms offered by reporters from the Amarillo News-Globe.

As far as work toward "gleaning" a new crop of entertainers is concerned, we present each week at 3:30 in the Education building auditorium a program open to the public, followed by a free tea in the Green Room. In these programs we have one-acts, poetry recitals, dramatizations, and many other forms of entertainment to give opportunity to new talent.

If you have such a love for "new faces," Mr. Hart, we shall be glad to see you among the audience next Wednesday, and also we hope to see you among the "faithful three hundred" at the coming presentation of "Mr. Pim Passes By."

Condron Outlines Plans for Citizenship Day at Council Meet

At the meeting of the Randall County Co-ordinating Council Saturday afternoon in the Thompson Club room, S. H. Condron, chairman, outlined plans for the Citizenship Day, which will be held in Canyon on May 8.

The purpose of this event will be to contact all residents of Randall county who are voters this year for the first time. Excellent speakers are to be brought to Canyon for this event, and complete plans will be announced at a later date.

Mayor C. H. Jarrett spoke to the group on the possibility of a County Library and Community center building. The council went on record as endorsing the plan of the Mayor and working to that end.

Approximately 25 or 30 members were present at the meeting.

The next regular meeting will be April 13.

Alamo Conference Titlists Play Cage Series With H.-S. U.

Bufs Win First In H.-S. U. Series

Traditional Rivals Will Battle For Second Game Tonight

Like Christmas it comes but once a year. It seemed that way as the Bufs prepared for a two-game series with Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys from Abilene.

These two team rivals met last night in Burton Gymnasium and when the smoke of the battle cleared, West Texas was victor over a bitter rival.

Score: 73-41.

Leading Cowboy players are 6-foot, 7-inch, Grady Osborne from Tell, Texas, one of the brother combinations on the squad; Dudley Reed, forward from Foss, Oklahoma; D. A. Parker, forward from Ozona; Bob Cowser, forward from Odessa; and Deward Marcum, guard from Paducah. The other brother combination on the team is made by Glen and James Crocker from Caruthersville, Missouri.

The Alamo titlists were paced by 6-foot, 10-inch Charlie Halbert, Captain Ernest Schur, Sophomore Price Brookfield, Dewey Johnson, and Frank Stockman.

Head Coach Frank Kimbrough's Cowboys will meet the Bufs again tonight to close out the two-game series in Burton Gymnasium. Game time is 8 p. m.

Ruth Eakin, Grace Violet Cannon, Betty McManigal, Billie Jean Biggers, Frances Campbell, Frances and Vera Beth Hoskins, Elaine Murphy, and Lorene Dye all spent the week end in Amarillo.

Kathryn Doak and Jean Patching spent the week end at their homes in Claude.

Marion Clark, an ex, visited Janice Kendrick over the week end.

Girls' Basketball Tourney Is Hot

The strongest girls' teams in the history of the school are creating interest in the basketball tournament which is being held in the woman's gym.

Almarine LeMace lead the scoring Free-Shots in a game over the McGehee team of which Imogene Dalton was high scorer. Out-In-Town won over the Randall Hall girls when they scored a total of 35 points to 17.

In the two games Thursday night, the Free-Shots ousted the Out-In-Town team by a score of 26 to 21, and Cousins Hall lost to the McGehee team by a score of 27 to 11.

The Out-In-Town team was last season's champions. This does not include last night's games.

Baggetmen Win Rattler Series

Bufs Take Alamo Conference in Two St. Mary's Games

Champions of the Alamo Conference in basketball! That is the title that the West Texas State Buffaloes now hold as a result of their two-game series win over the highly touted St. Mary's Rattlers from San Antonio. Playing a brand of superb basketball, the Baggetmen slaughtered the Rattlers last Friday and Saturday nights at Burton Gymnasium 69 to 36 and 69 to 37.

Never slowing up, the "Tallest Team" quickly took the lead in both encounters and never gave the Rattlers a chance to take up the slack in the scores. Friday night it was Captain Ernest Schur, the little man from Vernon, who led the Buffalo attack against the wandering Rattlers. Schur with his magnificent ball handling and accurate shooting led the scoring with 16 points. It was the height of the Plains boys that seemed to baffle the San Antonio cagers.

In the second encounter Saturday night, the "World's Tallest Team" nearly duplicated the feat of the previous night, ringing up a total of 69 points and letting the Rattlers score only one more point than their total of the previous night. Crosswell, St. Mary's fine center, and Varpahol, Rattler forward, scored all but four of the Rattler's points in this game. Crosswell sank eight field goals and two free throws for a total of 18 points. Big Charlie Halbert was a point ahead with a total of 19 points.

"THERE AIN'T NO FLIES ON ME..."

Much comment has been given recently on the question of wearing letters on sweaters other than the college "T." It has always been the custom of West Texas State to forbid letters to appear on high school sweaters and it seems to me as if this is no time to start; so let's preserve this custom of allowing only the College "T" to be worn on this campus. Please don't embarrass yourself and others by waiting until you are personally asked to remove the numerals from your high school sweaters.

WOE IS US

The "Towering Buffaloes" are having trouble trying to keep teams on their schedule in basketball. First it was Sul Ross State College of Alpine who cancelled its games with the "Tallest Team," and now it's Texas A. & I.

The reason given for this series of cancelled games was that West Texas is already the Alamo Conference Champion in basketball, its team has already been beaten twice by the Bufs, and this will give them a chance to start their spring training in football earlier. This means that tonight's game with Hardin-Simmons University will be the last home stand for the Baggetmen. Let's all go to the game and make it a record crowd for Burton Gymnasium.

CRACK OF THE WEEK

Another woman companion of hers asked, "I wonder what they are going in for?"

The first lady replied, "Well, I guess the poor boys need some more work on their sweaters."

Firecrackers In Finals With NYA

Cage Intramural Title Will Be Decided Tonight

Mowing down their opposition as they came to them, the Firecrackers from the Hancock house and the NYA Galloping Terrapins moved into the final round of the intramural series which is to be played tonight in Burton Gymnasium after the Buffalo-Hardin-Simmons game.

Twelve intramural teams entered the tournament in basketball and eliminations were held until two finalists were crowned. Both teams have several former high school players, and a close battle is anticipated by followers of each club.

Olie Brown, manager of the Galloping Terrapins, said, "I think that if the team gets the breaks we will win, and we're going to try to get that break."

Edgar Frazer manages the Hancock Firecrackers.

The intramural basketball season closes this week after three nights of fast and furious games. The semi-finals were played Friday night. Tuesday night, in the first game, the T-Club defeated the Wildcats by a score of 44-22, eliminating the Wildcats from the contest.

Kelly was high point man in this tilt, scoring 10 points for the T-Club. In the second game, the T-Anchor Acs successfully beat out the Glamour Boys 33-14, and the Gully Jumpers outplayed the Stafford team 35-10 in the last game of the night.

Wednesday night, in the opener, the Firecrackers outplayed the T-Club in a rough tussle, beating them by a score of 24-16. Morgan, member of a former AAU championship team from Quail, Texas, led his teammates in a conquest of the T-Club.

In the second game of the evening the Termites slipped by the Farm Boys in a thriller, defeating the T-Anchor club 23-20. The NYA played the Gully Jumpers in the nightcap game, probably one of the most closely contested of the season. Although the Gully Jumpers played a cool game on the offense, they lacked accuracy while under pressure and lost 12-13.

Thursday night, two games were played—the semi-final tilts. The Firecrackers met the Termites in the 7:30 opener, defeating them by a top-heavy score of 50-32. Morgan again sparked the offensive playing for the 'Crackers, scoring 17 points. The NYA Terrapins leaped the Gully Jumpers in the semi-finals, 26-17; leaving the finals to be played by the NYA Terrapins and the Firecrackers.

"SPEED'S fine in hockey but not in cigarettes"—Roy, how right you are! Research men may use fancier language—but they say exactly the same thing about cigarettes. Scientists know that nothing destroys a cigarette's delicate elements of fragrance and flavor so mercilessly as—excess heat. And cigarettes that burn fast also burn hot. Your own taste tells you that. Slow-burning cigarettes don't burn away these precious natural elements of flavor and fragrance. They're milder, mellower, and—naturally—cooler! And the slowest-burning cigarette of the 16 largest-selling brands tested was Camel! They burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested.
