GERALD BROWN WINS TITLE
IN SOUTHWEST TOURNAMENTWest Texas Entrants Do
Well In Contests
At Tech

In the Southwest Intercollegiate Wrestling and Boxing Tournament held at Lubbock under the auspices of Texas Tech, the West Texas entrants made a good showing. Gerald Brown, 128 pound boxer, won first honors in his division by defeating the last year's champion and title holder, Heller of N. M. I. at Roswell.

Due to the inclement weather, only seven colleges participated in the meet, but from these seven were representatives of the finest and best type of collegiate and Olympic grapplers and pugilists. The Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers brought some of the men who last year won the National A. A. U. honors and some of the Olympic champions. These men won all events in the wrestling division, but they were hard put in places.

Other colleges represented were New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell, McMurray College of Abilene, Oklahoma A. & M., and New Mexico A. & M.

Aubrey Smith, defending champion of the 135 pound boxing title, lost his championship to Fink of N. M. I. in an extra round over the set three after Smith had re-injured his hand in the second round. Smith put up a good fight, but the referee's decision, heavily booed by the crowd, was based on his inability to punch with his injured hand in the last two rounds. Smith gained the right to battle Fink by a technical knock-out over Alford of Texas Tech.

Jody Boston was one of the few wrestlers to pin a man during the matches. He pinned O'Donnell of N. M. I. and then lost to the champion in a semi-final bout.

Moore had given his man a good fight, things looking pretty even, until he stepped into a wild right and went down for a count of ten.

Jennings held a time advantage over his opponent when he slipped and was pinned. His adversary was Ammons of Texas Tech.

Wooten was defeated by a 1 minute 53 second time advantage by the runner-up in his division.

Duncan was defeated by a technical KO by the present champion, Jones of Tech, who knocked out his opponent in the finals.

Every title holder was pushed from under his crown except two, Chairmont of N. M. I., 165 pound boxer who has won 69 of his 73 fights by knockouts; and Guthrie, light heavyweight boxer of Texas Tech.

NOTICE TO ENGLISH
MAJORS AND MINORS

The head of the Department of English is called upon to recommend all Junior majors in English for practice teaching in the Training School. He is asked to recommend English majors and minors for teaching positions in English in the public schools. Reports come to him from superintendents and supervisors in the Training School that our students are not familiar with the material to be taught. These facts force the head of the English Department to hold an examination to ascertain the familiarity our students have with material to be taught. This must be done before he recommends a student for a position or for practice teaching in English. On March 15 at 3:30 in the afternoon such an examination will be given, covering grammar, composition, English and American literature. All Juniors and Seniors majoring or minoring in English should take this examination at this time. If it is impossible to take the examination at this time, the student should see the head of the department. A list of Juniors and Seniors majoring in English will be placed upon the bulletin board. Two sections of a non-credit course in grammar are now being offered, one at 10:00 T. Th. S., another at 2:30 M. W. F. The 10:00 section meets in room 318E, and the 2:30 in room 106A.

The leading roles are taken by speech majors who have had much experience in play work.

Inez Riddling and Lois McCaslin will assist Miss Brown in the directing, one of them also filling a minor role in the play. Charles Jennings was appointed a member of the committee to handle the business of the play. He will choose two others to assist him.

Hill, Savage Back
From N. E. A. MeetEducation Of the New Day Is Theme of Convention

President J. A. Hill of the College and Superintendent F. E. Savage of the Training School returned Sunday from Cleveland, Ohio, where they attended the annual meeting of the National Education Association. Dr. Hill and Mr. Savage were especially interested in the meetings of the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

Other members of the Texas party were Superintendent Ferman Sawyer of Canadian, and Superintendent R. B. Fisher, of Pampa.

"Education of the New Day" The theme of the convention hinged around "Education of the New Day," special emphasis being paid to three phases of the problem, a better teacher, a curriculum organized in terms of modern problems, and a revised plan of financial support.

Concerning the New Teacher, the speakers were emphatic in saying that the teacher of the future is one of improved personality, increased preparation and high character.

"Revised Curriculum" A revised curriculum with more preparation for leisure time, special attention being paid to music, art, and social sciences was stressed. The traditional forms of taxation were assailed as being antiquated and inadequate for the needs of education in America.

An interesting definition of education was given by Dr. P. Smith, Commissioner of Education of Massachusetts, when he said, "Education is that which you have left after you forget what you have learned."

The Panhandle group visited schools enroute to Cleveland.

Thrill doesn't consist so much of worrying about last month's extravagance as nailing down this month's expenses.

SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITIESW. T. H. S. Seniors
To Present Play"Aunt Betty Of Butte" Is Class Production

"Aunt Betty of Butte," the Senior Class play of W. T. High School will be given in the auditorium of the Education Building at 8 o'clock on the evening of March 16. The play is a comedy featuring the easy manners of the West, the dignity of the East, and the polished aristocracy of England.

Agnes Smith plays the title role of Aunt Betty, a Western woman who is capable of handling "any situation." Jewell Alma Glass, interpreting the role of Mrs. Grayson, eastern sister-in-law of Aunt Betty, is shocked at the frankness of the West. J. T. Sykes takes the part of hen-pecked Mr. Grayson, confused by everything from his wife to mosquitoes.

Don Savage as Richard Porter, a young college professor, cannot understand why Suzanne Grayson, played by Virginia Murray, refuses to kiss him. Suzanne uses the maid, Madelyn Bull, to help her out of this difficulty. Wayne McNeill interprets the role of the very English Sir Thomas Lord, who suffers from monacle trouble.

Admission is twenty-five cents.

These scholarships are primarily intended for students interested in literary and drama study, but are also given for the more important purpose of promoting international understanding. We are very eager that the donors of these scholarships shall not be disappointed in the response to the unusual opportunity offered American students.

Students of the theatre and teachers of drama and its allied arts are eligible to come before the committee on awards, and application blanks may be obtained from the League's headquarters in the Hotel Barbizon-Plaza, New York. We welcome all letters of inquiry concerning the granting of scholarships.

Professor Speaks
On Foreign PolicyExplains Attitude of New Deal To Panhandle
Farmers

S. H. Condron, head of the Department of Government and Economics of West Texas State Teachers College, last week filled two engagements, one at Tulsa and one at Hereford, speaking to Panhandle farmers in behalf of the Foreign Policy Association.

Organized in 1933

This Association, with a membership composed of 29 of America's leading economic experts, in addition to volunteer speakers in all sections of the country, was organized in April, 1933. Its purpose was to acquaint American farmers more thoroughly with facts concerning the foreign policy of the New Deal administration, and to bring them to the realization that if fair prices for agricultural products were to be established, a planned production program must be devised, whereby the plight of the farmer could be considered in relation to domestic production and foreign importation.

The Association does not require its speakers to emphasize any certain system of controlled production, but merely asks that they point out the need of adjustment, together with pertinent facts concerning the Administration's attitude toward agriculture at home and abroad.

Mr. Condron has appeared before audiences in the Panhandle and eastern New Mexico, and he reports that farmers in the Southwest are more and more coming to believe in the necessity of a planned national program of agricultural production. He estimates that last year he spoke to audiences totaling 3,100 people in towns of this section.

LEARNING IS ON THE DEFENSIVE

"Learning is on the defensive." This statement, made twenty-six years ago by Woodrow Wilson, is seemingly as appropriate today as it was a generation past. The intellectual activities, which are sovereign in themselves, have been subject to abashed justification by students and instructors alike, especially when out from under the protective shelter of the academic atmosphere. We find that learning, the only pendulum ever to attain perpetual motion within itself, must be apologized for, must be excused as a kind of human but necessary weakness. I'm sure that in many communities and in many scholastic institutions pure acquisition of knowledge is more revered, but in at least a few with which I am fairly well acquainted, learning is on the defensive from at least two stand points: the first, practical; and the second, nominal.

Even now do we hear on rare occasions a denunciation of all higher education as a waste of time. "Book-larin'," snorts the illiterate, "ain't nothin' but a lot o' tomfoolery! To get anywhere you gotta really work and find out for yourself!" Of course, the more considerate one says, "Well, it may be all right for them as likes it, but I want my boy to stick to somethin' solid." Recently I heard the story of a typical West Texan who remarked that "The only difference I can see between an educated and an uneducated person is that the former eats with his fork instead of his knife." In commercial groups, composed largely of those with no more or even less than high school educations, one finds the view that college training involves more time and money than one may ever realize in return. In high schools especially it is revoltingly evident that the ultimate reward of the athlete is far more desirable than that of the intellectual student. And this even now in a country whose governmental theory depends virtually on not only mass education but popular acquisition of the true scholastic spirit! Unless the young person has in mind a doctor's or lawyer's course, he must explain and justify all and sundry his zealous pursuit of knowledge not only for its sake alone, but for knowledge as an intrinsic factor in living "the abundant life"—even a natural life.

But the tragedy is greater than this; among graduates of our universities whose educational methods and matter "went from the professors' notebooks to the students' notebooks without passing through the heads of either," one observes a pathetic regard of pity for those who believe in learning. The literary person must assume an air of quiet meekness and apology or else an attitude of utter contempt when in the presence of the virile unlearned. Middle-Western barbarians condescendingly smile upon everything beyond the range of mediocre conversation. The one honestly desirous of moulding more sanguinely his intellect is "queer," sometimes effeminate, vulgarly, a "sissy." In some instances instructors practice all forms of justification—justification of the students for even attempting to teach them what they've come there to learn! The weak professor introduces novelties, diversions—anything to make up for his being forced to teach his pupils thus and so. And especially if he wanders from his strict subject-matter does the faint-hearted teacher fawn and apologize for presenting a larger conception of learning, for perhaps identifying himself, the students, the course material as an integral portion of life. It is criminal indeed that with all but the learned themselves, learning is on the defensive—and will be until Babbitt's last breath.—M. C.

ANOTHER COLUMN

DE PROFUNDIS

Last week, while wallowing shamelessly (and for the first time) in the lascivious delights of writing a column, we suddenly lost control, went into a tailspin, and finally descended into such a quagmire of incoherence that we wrote, and permitted to be published, an item to the effect that we had installed a Lovelorn Department, with John Daniel Davidson as entrepreneur.

On Wednesday morning of this week the prisoner arose and ate a hearty breakfast.

On strolling casually into the Prairie office we suddenly heard a commotion that sounded like a return engagement of Chaos and Old Night. In amazement we were confronted by the embattled Mr. Davidson. . . . The scene that followed is one which must be held sacred and inviolate even unto the grave. The net results are contained in the following statement, to-wit:

That the said John Daniel Davidson is not, and never has been in any way connected with this alleged column, and that for any statement which shall henceforth appear in this column, the management assumes full responsibility.

In other words the whole thing was done for a gag, as the vulgar might say.

BALM

But we still have our memories.

Since last week the fan mail has been literally pouring in.

Get a load of these:

From Monsieur Voulevoung, highly favored as next week's premier of France: "C'est magnifique!"

From Senorita Lupehupla La Rumba, of Hollywood, sometimes called the "Marian O'Brian of Mexico": "Thees—what you call—'Another Column'—he ees ver' foney. She ees foniest column I haf ever read."

From Sir J. Tuppington Thistlebottom, M. P.: "Ripping."

We could publish the one we got from Mae West, but there are some things sacred, even to a columnist.

A new book just going the rounds is Ernest Hemingway's "Winner Take Nothing," a collection of short stories done in the modern manner. Some are good. Some not so good. One, "A Natural History of the Dead," is a sort of half story, half essay, with a certain sombre beauty, harsh and bitter. Another has as one of its characters a charming and beautiful nun who is a rabid baseball fan. . . . Still another, "Fathers and Sons," sounds autobiographical. If it is this Hemingway has certainly been the rounds. All very naughty and gertrudesteinish, if you know what we mean.

Those anxious to invest in a going concern should make sure which way it is going.

Javelina Hash in the South Texan kindly answered our inquiry about the name Javelina. In South Texas there are a great number of wild pigs called Javelinas, and being as they are pretty tough little customers T. C. of A. & I gave their name to their athletic teams. How many of you Panhandlers knew there was such an animal?

A South Texan joke—They laughed when I walked over to the piano—but they were right; I couldn't lift it.

The South Texan also has a very effective editorial comment written in primer style.

Propaganda put out by the wrongly accused aviation corporations and anti-administration forces has a mouth piece in the Yellow Jacket—They say that Postmaster General Farley found a crooked postmaster the other day and will fire all the mail carriers in the United States and have the mail carried by the Boy Scouts.

In the Yellow Jacket from the East Texas East Texan: People who live in glass houses should never throw parties.

We are further indebted to the Yellow Jacket for—a philosopher once said, "I am old and have had many troubles; but most of them never happened."

The East Texan prints a story quoting the former head of the Phi Beta Kappa as saying the value of the honor fraternity is questionable for the reason that the fraternity merely seconds the motion of professors who give out the grades. Dr. Edward Ellery, formerly president of the New York State Association of Phi Beta Kappa, is President of Union College.

An editorial in the East Texan in no uncertain terms berates the convention of tagging at a dance. It's right too, for "getting stuck" was never heard of before the tag dance. Anyhow we for one, kinda have to get the hang of a person's dancing personality (whether she kicks you in the shins or not), but

Thank You, Olin

Dear friend:

I am taking this moment to dash off my appreciation of your work in helping the Exes to put out such very creditable editions of The Prairie.

I enjoy reading the college paper as I do few of the hundreds reaching my desk, and the ex-student editions are especially welcome.

I take pride in the continued improvement of The Prairie.

Miss Walker conducted Vesper Service Wednesday evening and made a very interesting talk on Mohammedanism. Miss Walker has visited Mecca, the center of the Mohammed religion, twice and she gave some interesting information concerning the beliefs, the description of their mosques and their holy shrines. Miss Walker said she had a greater appreciation of Mohammedanism after her visit.

Miss Hill entertained the girls of Randall Hall with a delightful seated tea Tuesday afternoon from 4:00 to 5:30 o'clock. She was assisted by Misses Lelia Cooper, Vera Goodwin, and Annie Maude Hunter.

Miss Bessie Beene left Thursday night for California where she is to spend some time sight-seeing and visiting relatives. She accompanied her parents.

Miss Dorothy Anderson of Randall Hall spent the week-end in Plainview visiting friends.

Rev. C. E. Jameson of Shamrock visited his daughter, Elizabeth, Tuesday.

A large number of the girls of Randall Hall spent the week end at home.

In the editorial column of the Simmons Brand a news item of the Abilene Daily Reporter is quoted. Over At MOORE'S CO-OP

(By Wm. Hawkins)

(By George Kneirim)

A distinguished artist has moved over to the Co-op. He is Elba Murf, the artist who painted Coach Burton's picture. We feel sure that his works will gain fame. Speaking of fame, Rodger B. Street has become famous in the art of quenching his thirst. Can any of you drink ½ gallon of water in ten minutes. Street can do it and thrive. Arlie Elms will undoubtedly make a famous teacher. He can dismiss a class now. Farley still resides at the House of the Dead and seems to be doing well. We have a suspicion that Andrew Boston is falling in love. His literature, conversation, and actions indicate it. Charles Townes does all the wise cracking. We get a new one every meal. Alton Harrell seems to have a monopoly on all the mail at the Co-op. None of the rest of us seem to have a chance. Smith has originated a secret pass-word and it must be repeated before anyone can enter the room.

Bill Hawkins, our reliable cook, had an harrassing experience the other day. At the close of the recipe for making soup, were written these words, "Sit on the fire ten minutes and then stir." Hawkins always follows directions so he sat on top of the stove. Needless to stay, he stayed up there only one minute and then more than stirred. We have recently discovered that Kneirim and Smith are financial wizards. McMinn seems to be receiving anonymous letters. We hear that Jody Boston has a great interest in the Methodist people of this campus. We think Todd will soon be an accomplished ball room dancer. That's all except two new members to that growing organization: The I. W. A. club, for particulars see Murf and Andrew Boston.

for Pipe Smokers

the pipe tobacco that's MILD the pipe tobacco that's COOL

The method of preparing Granger Tobacco for pipe smoking is not like any other method now in use.

So far as we know, it is the best way ever found of taking out of tobaccos the oils that don't smoke right or taste right in a pipe.

Granger owes its extra fragrance and mildness to Wellman's Method.

The way Granger Tobacco is cut—in big flakes—helps it to smoke cool and last longer. Try it.

—folks seem to like it

Just about the nearest thing to a pouch that a package could be—it keeps the tobacco the way you want it.

A sensible package—10c.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY BANQUET AT COUSINS HALL

Texas Exes met in Cousins Hall, Friday night at 7:30. This annual get-together of ex-students and parents of students now attending the University of Texas has become a tradition all over the world wherever two or more ex-students can come together, they are supposed on March 2, to meet, eat and talk. The talk is always of the University, sometimes reminiscent and sometimes prophetic.

At this banquet the Canyon Exes welcomed the Amarillo Exes. There were thirty-five from Amarillo. After the banquet several of the members made speeches. Mr. Condon showed some pictures of the new buildings that have been added to the University.

After the speeches they elected officers for the following year. Mrs. Travis Shaw was elected president of the Canyon Exes, Mrs. Tommy Montfort, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Richardson, Alameda reporter. Mrs. Lumpkin was elected president of the Amarillo Exes, Dr. Primer, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Blankenship, Alameda reporter.

MRS. ARTHUR KEETER HONOREE AT SHOWER

Complimenting Mrs. Arthur Keeter, nee Miss Montie Rockwell. Mrs. M. H. Rockwell and Mrs. Tom Lair entertained at the Rockwell home Wednesday afternoon. A color scheme of green and white was followed in the use of potted plants and in the decoration of the gift laden table which was found by the honoree at the end of her treasure hunt. Many lovely gifts were received.

Master H. R. Fulton, Jr., read three numbers, and Albert E. Shaw of Amarillo, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Shaw, at the piano, sang appropriate selections. Refreshments of ice cream and angel cake in the chosen colors were served.

Present were: Mrs. Arthur Keeter, honoree, Mrs. Mary Simon, Mrs. Herrick Simon, Miss Angie Debo, Miss Dora Ward, Mrs. Wm. Ash, Mrs. H. H. Groom, Mrs. F. E. Haines, Mrs. T. C. Thompson, Mrs. Burt Newlin, Mrs. J. J. Walker, Mrs. S. F. Ward, Mrs. Frank Garrett, Mrs. A. J. Ford, Master Alfred Ray Ford, H. R. Fulton, Jr. Mrs. Both, Mrs. H. R. Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. THETA DELTA CLUB MEET TUESDAY

The Theta Delta Mathematics Club will have its first night meeting in Room 211, Tuesday night, March 6, at 7:30 p. m. All members of the club are requested to be present and if possible to bring someone with them.

The program for Tuesday night will consist of Mr. Murray's demonstration of his straight line machine and its proof. This machine is so constructed that it will draw a line that can be geometrically proved to be straight.

We wish to extend to all a cordial invitation to be present at this meeting. You are perfectly free to visit us and we will be more than glad to have you. The Theta Delta Club has been recently organized in this school and should be well attended. The purpose of the club is to offer the students more of and a different kind of mathematics than they get in the class room. Mathematics majors should be more than interested in this type of work and those who are planning to go out and teach mathematics should attend as there are many queer problems and situations brought up which they might meet with during their teaching days.

COUSINS LITERARY SOCIETY MEETS

The members of the Cousins Literary Society met Wednesday morning in a special session. Society officers for the second semester were elected, the new staff being: Arlin Hartzog, president; Thomas Newell, vice-president; Willie Boedeker, secretary-treasurer; J. C. Baker, parliamentarian; Horace Hickox, Prairie reporter; and Gardner Sanderson, sergeant-at-arms.

Thursday night the Cousins held their weekly meeting. The newly elected officers were sworn into office by President Glen Reeve. Plans for programs and social activities were discussed.

MRS. SHARPE TO SPEAK TO Y. W.

Mrs. J. R. Sharpe will be guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon at 4:30. Mrs. Sharpe's subject will be "Homemaking as a Profession." The program will be held in Room 205, and young women of the college are invited to attend.

METHODIST B. & P. W. CLASS HAS SUNDAY BREAKFAST

The Business and Professional Women's Class of the Methodist Sunday School enjoyed an early breakfast Sunday morning in the dining room of the Methodist Church. Miss Mattie Jordan, president of the class, presided over the affair. A duet was sung by Miss Olive Schramm and Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Quattlebaum at the piano. Miss Angie Debo, organizer of the class, told something of the class history, and Rev. Quattlebaum spoke on the possibility of service of such an organization. Several impromptu talks added to the entertainment.

A delightful menu of orange cup, hot waffles, maple syrup and coffee was served. Individual favors of sweet pea corsages were found at each plate, and potted plants made lovely centerpieces for the table. The nineteen class members brought sixteen guests, thus making an attendance of thirty-five at the breakfast.

SCRIBBLERS' CLUB MEET TUESDAY

The Scribblers' Club met Tuesday evening in Randall Hall at 7:30 in their regular literary meeting. Several contributions were read and commented upon by the other members.

A committee was appointed by J. C. Baker, president of the club, to arrange for the social affairs of the club. Those on the committee are George Brewer, Lois Molloy and Virginia Bowman.

At the close of the program, Miss Hill, matron of the Hall, and some of the girls appeared with refreshments of hot chocolate and cakes. The members of the club were agreeably surprised and certainly appreciated the delicious refreshments.

TRAVEL CLUB ENJOYS FORMOSA TEA

After a brief business meeting the Travel Club enjoyed a discussion of Formosa and Koren by Neida Haney. The customs, cities, and products of these two places were described.

Following this Formosa tea was served by Miss Walker. This is one of the world's most famous teas. Several complimentary packages were presented to Miss Walker by the Formosan government during her recent trip around the world.

WAFFLE SUPPER

Miss Jennie C. Ritchie and Mrs. T. V. Reeves entertained Friday evening with a waffle supper at the home of the former on Fourth Avenue. Guests were Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Meyer and Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Ingham.

George Washington Program

The seventh grade presented a program in commemoration of George Washington, Thursday afternoon, in the auditorium.

Six of the most outstanding incidents in the life of our first president were portrayed in pantomime by the members of the class, who were dressed in colonial costumes.

Between scenes, the fourth and sixth grade students sang several songs.

Miss Marguerite Buchanan, a practice teacher, supervised the program. She was assisted by Cleo Bourland, who announced, and Evangeline Baker, who directed the play.

T-Anchor Cowboys Entertain W. T. High

Pupils of W. T. high enjoyed one of the most delightful assembly programs of the year, Friday, February 23, when the T-Anchor Cowboys entertained them with songs and stunts. The songs were "Beautiful Texas," "Coming Back to Texas," "The Old Spinning Wheel," "When the Bloom is on the Sage," and "Night Time in Nevada," sung by the Todd Brothers, Bill and Ed.

"Pictures of My Mother," and "Take Me Back to Colorado," were solos by Kid Young. Other numbers on the program were, "Coming Down to Lynchburg," "Red River Valley," and "Ragtime Wagner," called in cowboy style by Slat Weatherby, who also performed with great ease several difficult roping stunts. Ted Clark was "fiddler" for the group.

Tax on Misspelled Words

The two Senior English classes have decided to pay a penny tax for every word they misspell. The money collected in the morning class to be used to buy new books for the library; that collected in the afternoon class will be given to the Junior-Senior banquet fund.

W. T. High and Dimmitt Divide Honors Saturday night, February 24.

three W. T. H. S. teams played Dimmitt at Dimmitt.

In the first game the Junior Calves found little competition in the Dimmitt juniors, and easily took a 20-2 victory. The scoring was high, considering the time, which was only twenty-four minutes.

The W. T. girls brought their cage season to a close by dropping to the Dimmitt girls, 43-16. The W. T. girls played a good game, but could not check the smooth working Dimmitt players. The jump center was outstanding for Dimmitt, while McGehee, forward, played a good game for W. T.

In the last round the W. T. Calves defeated the Dimmitt Badgers to the count of 41-9. Coach Morris used all his players during some part of the game. The Calves entire first team played well, and Dimmitt likewise had no individual stars.

The previous afternoon the Junior Calves defeated the Dawn Juniors by the score of 28-12. The Calves second team also took a 49-11 victory from a Dawn team.

Coach Milton Morris left February 24th for Friona where he has accepted a position in the Friona high school. Coach Morris has put out one of the best ball clubs ever produced in the history of W. T. H. S. They have played, this year, some of the best teams to be found in West Texas. In the absence of Morris, Zeke Brotherton will take charge of the W. T. boys basketball teams while Juanita Golden will work with the girls.

Spanish Club to Have Open Program

All students and teachers who would like to hear an interesting illustrated talk on life in Spain are invited to come to room 202 in the Education Building at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to hear Miss Mary E. Mudspeith describe some of the observations and experiences of her recent stay in Madrid, where she spent a year studying. Another interesting feature of the program will be a number of Spanish folk songs played and sung by Ramon Williams.

Sixth Grade Celebrates March 2

A short historical play, "A Meeting of Leading Texans," written by Mildred Merchant, was presented Friday, March 2, in the auditorium.

A FRONT VIEW

"I wish that we could use this door all the time." "I bet that this is the most use this door has ever had."

"If there were only a drive up to the front then we wouldn't have to walk so far"—some of the comments heard recently during the time the west door was closed.

Students Err

One of the overheard was wrong in saying that the front door had never been used as much before, for in the years gone by there were no sidewalks to the West door, only to the front door. But, we certainly agree with the others that the front door should be used much more. We wonder how many students have ever looked from the front of the Administration Building down the long walk bulging out to encircle the F. P. Guenther Memorial like a snake swallowing an egg. Or who, by students of the sixth grade history class. The play was directed by the author, assisted by Virginia Brown, under the supervision of Miss Jean Moore and two practice teachers.

Home Ec Club Meets

Points on parliamentary law were studied and demonstrated by members of the Home Ec Club Wednesday afternoon. The study was conducted by Florine Bowman, a practice teacher.

Junior Class Meeting

The Junior Class met Wednesday, February 28, and elected officers for the spring semester. Ruth Baker was chosen president; Bomar Brown, vice president; Kathryn Patterson, secretary and treasurer; Lucius Penick, social chairman; Helene Oliver, Prairie reporter.

NOTICE

There will be a joint social for the Cousins-Sesame Literary societies Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Education building. All members are urged to be present.

approaching the front of the building for the first time, failed to be struck by the building and upon recovery failed to marvel at its immensity, for the first time realizing the true size of the edifice they had been inside of so often.

Difficult To Enter College

There exist innumerable reasons why the front door of the Ad. Building should be used wholly or in the majority of cases. The red tiled plaza at the top of the steps offers a most adequate place for the males to hesitate upon and to cogitate upon great affairs of state, or whether the girl approaching is as good looking as she seemed from afar, or—(It is peculiar that boys have such a difficult time entering college). The location is also most conducive to giving one's self up to that feeling of lassitude, for the cold North wind cannot hinder and the sun bathes all with unmitigated effulgence.

Lopsided Citizens

Further, a school whose students have to slip in at a side door will turn out lopsided citizens. A student who never even enters at the main entrance of his school building cannot be expected to enter life's problems with the same perspective as a properly trained youth, and possibly his maltraining will lead him to entering buildings in a manner that would arouse the suspicion of the officers of the law. If he be of a gentle and unassuming nature his mode of entrance may be forever warped resulting in an inordinate love of entering at the back door. And also, it would appear to visitors and new trodders of our campus that we did not want anyone entering by the front for fear of their tracking up the parlor rug,—or it might be thought by some that Dad slept in the daytime and became terribly angry if he were disturbed. All of which is not true: the fact is that the fatiguing nature of the work done by the frequenters of the building make it almost totally impossible for them to undergo the extra duty of walking around to the front or up the innumerable steps.

If you're the stolid, phlegmatic sort of person who doesn't feel things very deeply, you'll probably never have to worry about nerves. But if you're high-strung, alive, sensitive—watch out.

WEST TEXAS SPORTS

MARIAN O'BRIAN
Women's SportsW. T. TO HAVE INTRAMURAL
BOXING-WRESTLING MEETContestants Must Sign Up
Immediately; Begin
Training

Stress is being laid on intramural sports for the first time in West Texas State Teachers College athletic history. A basketball tournament is being completed during this week, and definite plans have been made for a boxing and wrestling contest, for a tennis tournament, and for track and field contests.

The finals for the boxing and wrestling tournament will be held on the night of March 21. A card of from 1 1/2 to 2 hours will be prepared for this night, with the grappleds and pugilists as the main event. The card will include a game of Servus ball, and various stunts and take-offs.

Any college man is eligible, but he must begin working out immediately so as to be in good training by the time of the tourney.

The tennis and track jousts will be held later in the season. All men interested are requested to sign up for their weight with Coach Baggett in the Burton Gymnasium office immediately and to watch the bulletin board for further information.

The medals that will be given, eight in wrestling, and eight in boxing, have already been received. They are gold engraved hexagonal medals suspended from a ribbon and pin. In the oval of the medal is an engraved picture of two wrestlers, of a boxer in stance, according to the event. They are medals that are well worth fighting for.

S. O. J's ARE HEADED TOWARD
INTRAMURAL BASKET HONORSEx-Eagles Upset Dope by Running Up
Scores

Advancing steadily, the S. O. J. first team is headed toward the intramural basketball honors.

In the first game, they downed the touted, but weakened, Cousins I by a 22-14 count. Cousins I had lost one of their best men, Jack Gosnell. Then the Poole House gang barely edged out a win over the Farm Boys in a thrilling 18-16 count. By virtue of these two wins, the Manning coached boys are in the semi-finals and were favored to defeat the Ex-Eagles last night to go to the finals.

Upset Dope
The Ex-Eagles upset most of the dope by edging out Moore's Co-op in the first game, 24-22, and then taking the Cheyne House, who had drawn the only bye of the contest by a 19-18 count. Meanwhile, Farm A beat the Outlaws, 25-21, only to be forced into the losers bracket by the S. O. J's. The Outlaws gave the Cousins I their second and final defeat, making them the first team eliminated, by the score of 25-15. By virtue of the win, the Outlaws tackled the Farm Boys again, only to be eliminated by a 23-10 rampage.

Advance to Finals
In the upper bracket, Cheyne House forced Moore's Co-op out by a 13-11 game and advanced with Farm A to the quarter finals. Farm A found the Cheyne Boys easy, and pounded out a 27-16 victory to go to the semi-finals.

This leaves three teams in the running, the Ex-Eagles, who are picked as the underdog, Farm A, who will have to defeat the loser of the S. O. J. I and Ex-Eagle game to get into the finals, and the powerful S. O. J's.

Farm A will play their semi-final game Tuesday night, the finals being scheduled for Wednesday night.

The consolation tournament, in which are the teams of Farm B, S. O. J. II, Muskrats, and Cousins II, began Monday night and will be completed Thursday night.

The S. O. J. II are picked to win, but the Cousins II will have a good chance.

A former dean of women and member of the history department at W. T., Mrs. Dwight Smith, known to students and faculty as Miss Mary McLean, has recently been devoting her time to bird study at her home in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Smith assisted in making the 1933 Audubon Society bird census in her home city, working the fine greater part of the time when the thermometer stood at 6 degrees below zero.

Mrs. Smith now lives at 1231 Thirty-ninth Street in Des Moines.

Stroud and Richards Are On Last Trip With Buffaloes

Winding up the scheduled season, the West Texas Buffaloes are on the road in Oklahoma, playing the Northwestern Teachers at Alva last night and tonight, and the Southwestern Teachers at Southwestern Wednesday and Thursday.

These games will be the last for Captain Russell Stroud and Guy Richards, who will graduate this spring. Stroud came to W. T. from Eldorado, Oklahoma, spending his entire college career here and lettering 3 years in basketball and 2 years in football. Richards is from Ralls, the little city that has sent quite a few athletes to Canyon. He lettered 3 years with the Maroon and White and is well known as one of the best guards ever to play in Burton Gymnasium for the Herd.

The Bison squad was picked as the underdog for all four games though they beat Northwestern here one of the two games of the series. However, the Herd played Southwestern at the beginning of their season and were not the experienced, well drilled team then that they are now, and they may slip up on the Murraymen and upset the dope.

Those men making the trip are Stroud, Richards, John Walker, Ted Phillips, Edd McMinn, Willie Boedeker, Leonard Britt, Curtiss Clement, and Ralph Griffiths.

"Cartwright is Dead, Sir"—a thrilling story of love, murder and mystery by Hugh Baker—starts in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Why—Men and women
say They Satisfy

FOR SOMETHING to "satisfy" you, means that it pleases you—that it's what you want. This applies to cigarettes or anything.

A cigarette has to taste right—not raw or too sweet. For a cigarette to "satisfy" it has to be mild—not strong, not harsh.

You can prove for yourself whether a cigarette is milder—whether a cigarette tastes better.

And it's because smokers can prove these things about Chesterfield that so many men and women say they satisfy. Try them.
