SEVENTEEN COLLEGES SEND DELEGATES TO T. I. P. A. SEVEN RECORDS ARE SHATTERED AT GREAT PLAINS MEET

TEXAS TECH IS WINNER OF BIG MEET SATURDAY

West Texas Ranks Second
While Soldiers Are in Third Place.

McCOOMIS, SOLDIER, IS HIGH MAN.

Many Athletes Take Part in Great Athletic Meet Here.

In the parlance of war, records fell like flies before the onslaught of the great army of athletes entered in the Great Plains Intercollegiate last Saturday. It was by far the greatest track, field and tennis meet ever held in West Texas, and witnessed the establishment of records that will do credit to any conference.

Texas Tech, with the greatest track team in her history, took the meet with 49 1-5 points. The Matador squad also furnished three of the individual stars of the meet in Fisher, low hurdler, broad jumper, and relay man; Tadlock, low hurdler, high hurdler and high jumper; and Edmonds, attaining prominence by setting a new record in the shot put, taking second place in the discus throw and fourth in the javelin throw.

TECH WINS SECOND TIME

By winning Saturday Tech puts a firmer grip on the great loving cup offered to the winner, to become the permanent possession of the first team that wins the meet three times. In the eight years of the Great Plains Meets' existence, N. M. M. I. has won twice, Tech has won twice, Clarendon College has won twice and West Texas State Teachers College and Southwestern Teachers of Oklahoma have won one time each.

New Mexico Military Institute came to the fore and made a strong bid for first or second place but was nosed out of second place by the West Texas Teachers, themselves bidding desperately for the possession of the cup which they won last year. West Texas scored 38 3-5 points, with Bagwell, Keith and Lowes the outstanding men. Lowes set a new Meet record in the pole vault but it is doubtful if it will be allowed because he took four trials.

After being beaten by the fleet-footed McCoomis of N. M. M. I. in both of the short dashes, Red Keith ran and won the 440 yard dash, running it in exceptionally fast time despite the high wind that was blowing. His time was 52.8 seconds, 6 seconds slower than the record held by Vaughn of West Texas.

McCOOMIS WINS HONORS OF DAY

To McCoomis of New Mexico Military Institute goes the greatest honors of the day. Besides setting new meet records in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, that young man, still in high school at the Institute, was high point man of the meet, taking second place in the broad jump to raise his total to thirteen points and leading his closest rival, Fisher of Tech, by nearly two points. Fisher scored 11 1-4 points.

Naylor of Clarendon College and Tadlock of Texas Tech engaged in a high jumping duel that kept the spectators on their feet in admiration, the duel finally being declared a draw at 6 feet, 3 3-4 inches, a new record and one that is likely to stand for some time.

OKLAHOMA TEACHERS WIN RECOGNITION

Oklahoma came in for her share of recognition when Anderson of Southwestern Teachers College won the mile and took second place in the 880 yard run. Fourier of Southwestern won first place in the javelin. Walker of Panhandle A. & M. took second place in the mile and first in the 2-mile run.

Naylor of Clarendon College made all of his team's eleven points, set a new record of 15 seconds in the high hurdles and tied with Tadlock of Tech for a new record in the high jump. He

MARTIN REPRESENTS RO- MANCE OF HIS PROFESSION

Missouri Instructor Has Trained Famous Newspaper Men.

By EDWARD GERALD, Jr.

The busy news room was awirl with clacking typewriters and the movement of many reporters. A sports writer stopped to talk to a society writer about a date which wouldn't appear in the social calendar. As they talked the girl giggled; the boy huz-zawed, and both rocked back and forth on their heels as if very happy.

The dark figure of a man drooped over the managing editor's desk came erect and a hint of a smile swept into his eyes. Then it was gone again: "Let's have silence in here," he said. He didn't speak loudly, but everyone heard him. The girl blushed and moved away. The boy coughed and quickly disappeared through the door. The typewriters became busier, the reporters more intent.

The lank form of the man at the desk drooped again, and from under his breath came the words: "... and very little of that!" It was the droll joke of the old Irish judge who had snapped his fingers and shouted, "Let's have silence in this court, and very little of that!" Frank Martin couldn't permit his students to hear the last of it. He was teaching newspaper manners, among other things, and he knew quite well that when the pretty society writer started to work in the summer her managing editor wouldn't be so kind in instances such as he had just witnessed.

The society reporter moved into her office and her fellow worker grinned. "That's all right," she said, "he can bowl me out three times daily and I'll still let him chew my gum."

Frank Martin's students all feel that way about it. Whatever he does to them, they like him, and it is because of the things he does for them that they do like him. As

Panhandle Editors Gather in Annual Meet at Childress

The annual meeting of the Panhandle Press Association was held at Childress Friday and Saturday, attended by 106 delegates representing 48 newspapers of this section of the state. The meeting was counted one of the most successful in point of interest and entertainment ever held by the association.

Pampa was selected as the meeting place for next year. Deskins Wells of the Wellington Leader was elected president; Homer Steen of the Floydada Hesperian, vice president; Clyde W. Warwick, Canyon News, re-elected secretary-treasurer; J. D. Merriman, Jr., Wheeler News Tribune, poet; Fred Story of Childress Index and T. A. Landers of McLean News members of the executive committee.

Childress put on an exceptionally good entertainment program for the visiting editors, including a banquet and two luncheons, a musical tea, golf tournament, automobile ride and theatre party. Jerry Debenport, efficient secretary of the Childress Chamber of Commerce, was always on the job and is responsible for the splendid way in which the program went over.

Among the exceptional speakers on the program were "State Press," Dr. J. J. Taylor of the Dallas News; Prof. Paul Thompson, of the University of Texas; Harry Oimstead, president of the State Fair; Harry Albright of Wichita, Kansas; Homer D. Wade, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; President E. A. Carlock of the Texas State Press Association, and Vice President Sam Miller of the same association. Practically all of the newspaper publishers of this section took part on the program.

The Panhandle Press Association is the largest regional association in the world, and the programs are always highly interesting. The session this year was not an exception to the rule.

COLLEGE BAND HAS MUCH WORK

35 MEMBERS, JUNIOR AND SENIOR BAND, MAKE PROGRESS.

A very important department of the college, the music department, has and is doing some excellent work. The band especially, has had a full year. It has worked under difficulties all the term. A number of the old members graduated last year and others are out teaching, consequently the band consists of a large percent of new members.

There are about thirty-five active members in the junior and senior bands. A number of members are not in school, but merely in town. Classical qualifications are not required in order to play in either band, but if one is advanced far enough in music, he may become a member. Practically all of the players of the junior band are inexperienced in this work, but this group is doing excellent work, according to Professor Strain, director of both bands. The junior band gave a program at River Road, seven miles north of Amarillo, several days ago, and will give a program in the bandstand soon. Both bands will have some work to do to contribute to the commencement program at the close of the term.

HONOR SOCIETY ADMITS GROUP

SIX NEW MEMBERS ADMITTED TO THE HIGH SCHOOL
HONOR SOCIETY.

Six new members were admitted to the R. P. Jarrett Chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools at a chapel assembly of the college high school held last Thursday for that purpose.

A program given by the present members of the society served to enlighten the high school students concerning the history, ideals, and graduate membership of the society. Ernest Cabe, Jr., spoke on the "Ideals of the Society," giving the basis on which students are judged for membership. What membership means to a high school student was given by Winston Savage, and Owen Stagner, a graduate member, talked on this from a college viewpoint. Dr. R. P. Jarrett, for whom the chapter was named, spoke on what he hoped the society would mean to the college.

Lonie Beth Weaver, an active member in the society, related the outstanding events in the history of the society. It was first organized in 1919 and now has chapters in practically all of the leading high schools. The local chapter was organized in 1926. Until recently, when Amarillo organized a chapter, the local one was the only chapter in the Panhandle. The total membership of the local chapter is now approximately thirty-five.

The new members admitted this year were: Helen and Ruth Bearden, Cleo Oswalt, Mayme Gary, Florence Throckmorton, and Verda Lee Bloodworth. They will be initiated at their reception banquet which will be given Monday evening, May 7. At this time they will also receive the standard pin of the society, to which every member is entitled.

Seniors Working on Play "Hands Up"

The cast for the Senior play, "Hands Up," written by Mr. L. A. Osgood, is practicing consistently under the direction of Mr. Osgood, and will be ready for presentation at an early date.

"Hands Up" is a play full of mystery, suspense, and action with an adequate mixture of humor. The cast has been carefully selected from a large variety of material, and will ably carry out the characterization in the play.

Watch the calendar for the date of "Hands Up." You will not want to miss this chance for a good laugh and an enjoyable evening.

Miss Parker also was offered an appointment in the university of another state, but chose to stay in Texas and get acquainted with another part of the state of which the Panhandle is a part.

Miss Parker came to the Teachers College at Canyon from a ranch near Tucumcari, New Mexico. She did her high school work at Tucumcari. Last year she won a $500 prize in a contest sponsored by the American Chemical society and has submitted an essay again this year.

Early Delivery of Books Made Possible This Year.

Due to the splendid co-operation which has obtained during the year in the building of the college yearbook, Le Mirage is making its appearance more than three weeks earlier than it did last year. New features have been introduced and some changes have been made in the general arrangement of sections, divisions, and sub-divisions. These innovations add greatly to the attractiveness of the book.

The art motif is woven around the traditional Scottish Highland costumes and the literature of Robert Burns and others. The sub-division drawings bring out this motif in a very striking way. The main division pages have a green tint border of scottish thistle in design, which makes an effective background for the familiar campus scenes printed in a brown duotone ink on pebbled paper. The thistle design appears again on each of the Senior panels, and in some of the sub-division drawings.

The introduction of "Le Petite Mirage" is a step in the direction of giving greater impetus to the activities of our training school. The High School students elected their staff and worked out the plan for their division of the annual as though they were editing a book of their own. The high quality of this section reflects much credit on the staff whose efforts were untiring in the perfecting of every detail.

Many students who were not members of the editorial staff have given freely of their time and talents in making the 1928 Le Mirage a book to be treasured in the years to come as a memento of happy days spent in our Alma Mater. And since our most treasured memories are those in which our friends have had a part, the last eight pages have been reserved for autographs; "For auld lang syne."

91 STUDENTS TO GRADUATE

MID-SPRING TERM OPENS;
PLANS MADE FOR SUMMER TERM.

The long term of the West Texas State Teachers College is nearing completion. The spring quarter will close on June 4, with the graduation of 91 men and women.

A number of students enrolled last week for the mid-spring term of six weeks, which is provided to close those teachers whose schools close early and would otherwise be unable to make this six weeks period reap them any benefit. No definite schedule of courses was made, but the work offered was governed largely by the number of students asking for the same courses.

The summer term will open June 5, and the indications are that there will be a heavy enrollment. The summer work will be carried on with a full faculty. Courses in twenty different departments will be available. The summer term will continue for twelve weeks, but is divided into two six weeks divisions so that students may enter for either half of the term and complete any work that is begun.

Recreational Tours
Tours to the mountains and to the Indian pueblos of New Mexico are being arranged as special recreational features. These are planned as week end trips so that the student's work is not interrupted.

Shorter trips will be provided to the beauty spots of the Palo Duro canyon, which are within easy reach of the Teachers College, some of them close enough to make delightful hiking.

The new $300,000 Education building is to be ready for occupancy by fall, and the training school and high school department will be installed in it, providing one of the best educational laboratories in the state. The Administration building will be re-arranged and repaired during the vacation period between summer school and the opening of the fall session.

NEWSPAPER MEN MAKE SPEECHES AT CONVENTION

Frank Martin, Missouri
Journalism Instructor
Makes Address.

ABILENE TO HAVE NEXT MEETING.

Burton, of Simmons University, is Elected
1929 Prexy.

More than seventy representatives from member institutions of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association were the guests of the West Texas State Teachers College Friday and Saturday at the annual convention of the organization. The gathering of the college journalists climaxed the year's work of the T. I. P. A. and marked the close of the nineteenth year of the Association's existence.

That Joe Burton, of Simmons University, will head the association during 1929 was decided Saturday afternoon when the combined forces of three Abilene colleges won the fight for the next convention.

Frank L. Martin of the school of journalism of the University of Missouri, was the principal speaker on the first day of the convention. C. W. Warwick, publisher of the Canyon News, and Olin E. Hinkle, editor of the Pampa Daily News, spoke on the second day of the sessions of the writers.

MARTIN TALKS ON NEWSPAPER WORK

Mr. Martin's subject was "News." His whole address centered around the idea that the primary function of the present day newspaper is to give news correctly told and correctly interpreted.

He said there has never been a time when the whole world was as interested in news as the present; that the paper of today contains 50 times more news than the paper of a generation ago.

News is the food of public opinion and any newspaper which lives must render public service by presenting news so as to form intelligent public opinion.

No journalist can hope to succeed without a sound educational foundation followed by continued study throughout life.

HINKLE AND WARWICK SPEAK SATURDAY

Olin E. Hinkle opened the morning session of the Association on the second day with a discussion of the college trained journalist. Hinkle emphasized the advantages which should belong to the college trained journalist, discussing preparation, personality, freedom from prejudice, life experience, and grace under criticism. His address ended with an appeal to well trained journalists to define and uphold the best ideals of journalism.

Hinkle is one of the youngest managing editors of the state of Texas, was formerly editor of the Prairie, West Texas State Teachers College paper, and served as an officer in the T. I. P. A. These facts made his talk intensely interesting to the young journalists who heard him.

Clyde W. Warwick, editor of the Canyon News, and one of the outstanding newspaper men of north-west Texas, addressed the convention on the country newspaper field. He declared that the country newspaper offers the ambitious young person a chance to become a community builder through a high type of service and at the same time secure financial success.

MANY ENTERTAINMENT FEATURES GIVEN

In addition to the addresses made by the newspaper men, a number of other events featured the stay of the T. I. P. A. delegates in Canyon. Chief among these were a luncheon given by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and served by the W. M. U. of the Methodist Church, a tea given by the Lloyd Green Allen Chapter of the Scholarship Societies of the South, a banquet Friday evening at Cousins Hall, and a program given by the W. T. S. T. C. Girls' Glee Club. A number of the delegates made a

To You Who Helped

The convention here last week of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association marked the climax of the year's work for the organization. Much had been done in preparation for the convention. Much was done in the execution of the plans made for it. Much credit is due the members of the college body and the people of Canyon for the hearty manner in which they welcomed the visiting delegates, and for their warm support given the local organization.

It is a matter of pride to the press club that it is a part of an institution and in a town which gives so unstintingly of its time and effort in the support of its representatives. It is with pride that we acknowledge our debt of gratitude to the people and organizations who helped in the convention just closed. It is a debt that can be repaid only in the same coin—in service and loyalty.

It is a matter of regret to us that it is impossible to make individual acknowledgement of each of the services rendered the T. I. P. A. by the members of the college body and the people of Canyon. As it is, we must be content with saying that the tradition of West Texas hospitality has been nobly upheld, and that it will not, cannot, be forgotten.

Thank you.

THE BOOK STORE

The place where the college books and supplies are kept and sold at present is very inadequate.

During the rush which comes at the beginning of each quarter, four people sell books. The shelves that hold the texts are so crowded that it is difficult to do business. Books are stacked in the aisles, and when the supply is at its lowest, there are few vacant places in the shelves. Music, History, Mathematics, English texts and many other books are jammed together.

The book store has no place for a show window and the students do not know the number of things they can buy there. The supplies, bathing suits and caps, all athletic paraphernalia, fountain pens, paper, inks, cannot be put on display.

The college bookstore carries on an extensive mail order business, with neighboring schools, correspondence students, and teachers, but has not sufficient room in which to do it.

The main office is very crowded. Four people have to work there in addition to keeping all files, invoices and records of all kinds. The store room under the stairs is inconveniently located; therefore every available corner in the book store is used to keep supplies.

W. T. S. T. C. needs a building for the specific purpose of a bookstore on the campus such as other colleges have, or adequate rooming space for both store and supply room in the administration building.

Jim: I'll beat you to a jelly.
Tim: What flavor? — Missouri Outlaw.

History Prof: Define the middle ages.

Prosh: Can't you dynamite them?—State Lion.

A POLITICAL SERENADE

Warsaw, Poland. — Communists and Ukrainian radicals have been interrupting the meetings of the Diet by squeezing bulbs of motor horns and blowing shrill tones of fifes.

IT WAS DISCOVERED IN 1499 BY PINCON

When Vincent Yanez Pincon, a companion of Columbus, described land near Cape St. Augustine in 1499, he might have been the first white man to see the future center of the world's cultural and industrial life. Certainly in every respect except in letting her resources and possibilities lie dormant, Brazil is a marvelous nation. Her rough triangular 3,292,000-mile-square face is filled with every worldly treasure that fable gives as a birthright of ancient Eldorado.

The surface has not been more than scratched from the mines which hide diamonds more perfect than those of Africa. Few saws have touched her hardwood and rosewood offerings. Her cotton, fruits, cereals, platinum, silver, and copper are seldom remembered by the layman. She has not extensively advertised that the greatest iron deposits in the world are in her bosom. She has not boasted to the four corners of the earth that she has every product for the support of a world civilization.

Yet Brazil has all these. She is a veritable storehouse for all that mother nature has to offer her human children.

Brazil is rapidly being exploited by commercial interests, although her government bears down heavily upon the exportation of her woods and minerals. She has already achieved rank as the premier coffee and rubber producing country in the world. From Sao Paulo, coffee center of the world, comes more than two-thirds of the beverage; from the country's rubber trees much of our tire supply.

Brazil's conglomerate of races, steeped in a rapidly-diminishing ignorance, holds in its hand the key to possibilities that may relegate United States greatness into the category of Rome and Greece. Science, industry, and a new culture are transforming these possibilities into brain and stomach food for the whole world.—Daily Lariat.

THE COST OF LIVING

From the Christian Observer we take the following items concerning living costs, business enterprises and luxury expenditures:

1. Living cost dropped two per cent during the year 1927. The items that go to make up the family budget were lower in cost in 1927 than they have been since the war. The items that declined most were rent and clothing. Food prices have declined and predictions are that they will go down again in the spring.

2. As compared with the year 1926, the following business enterprises showed an increase:

Savings deposits, 4.3 per cent.
Stock sales, 26 per cent.
Life insurance sales, 1.5 per cent.
Bond sales, 12 per cent.
Corporate financing, 32 per cent.
Cotton consumption, 13.5 per cent.

Petroleum production, 8 per cent.
Shoe production, 8 per cent.
Electricity output, 8.5 per cent.
Union wage rates, 3.7 per cent.
Farm buying power, 2.5 per cent.
Chain store sales, 14.5 per cent.
Mail order sales, 3.5 per cent.

3. The Department of Commerce reports the following as the luxury bill of America:

Tobacco, $1,847,000,000.
Theaters and movies, $943,000,000.
Soft drinks and ice cream, $820,000,000.
Candy, $689,000,000.
Jewelry, $453,000,000.
Sporting goods, toys, etc., $431,000,000.
Perfumes and cosmetics, $261,000,000.
Chewing gum, $87,000,000.

$250 DIAMOND FOUND IN CANNED PEAS

Penarth, Wales.—Talk about the pearls that can be found in an oyster! Here's a case of a diamond discovered in peas.

After eating canned peas, the two year old son of J. Spear became ill and disgorged a large cut diamond. Spear sold the stone for $10 to the man who had sold the peas.

A local jeweler later said it appeared to be a Tasmanian diamond and that at one time it had been set in a ring. He appraised its value at $250.

OVERALLS FOR CHURCH

Henderson, Ia.—Rev. G. D. Nolan of the Henderson Christian Church here objects to the church being made a place for dress parade. He is adopting overalls for his costume and asks men to come to church in overalls and women to come in modest attire.

Statistics of the vast number of people who are not working are quite alarming. What we would like to know is how many of them have jobs.

It's fine to have the reputation of being an entertaining dinner companion but not when it means missing any of the dinner.

Success is a failure if it makes him less a man.

Ask a man's wife if you want to know his weak points.

VIVID YOUTH, DULL AGE. MAKING THE MISSISSIPPI SAFE DEPEW WISE MAN COULD COOLIDGE SAY NO?

In youth impressions are vivid, and last into old age. Therefore, the manuscript of "Alice in Wonderland" sells for $75,259, a record price, more than would have been paid for the manuscript of Dante's "Inferno," or Voltaire's "Zadig," each word worth a thousand "Alice in Wonderland" manuscripts.

Years dull imagination. Millions that remember "Robinson Crusoe," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Gulliver's Travels" vividly have a faint impression of more important books read later.

Washington reporters say, probably inaccurately, that President Coolidge is "shocked" at the suggestion of $750,000,000 to make the Mississippi River safe.

A country that could give TEN THOUSAND MILLIONS TO EUROPE, add half a billion a year to railroad receipts, and plan, wisely, to cut $200,000,000 a year from corporation taxes, need not shudder at the thought of spending part of a billion to make the Mississippi safe.

Chauncey M. Depew, dead in his ninety-fourth year, older than the Republican party, which he served long and faithfully, said: "I have lived long because I could laugh at anything."

Of Napoleon, it was said that in his youth "no one ever saw him laugh." He didn't live ninety-three years, but he did live more in one day than amiable Mr. Depew in all his ninety-four years.

Chauncey Depew attended 8,000 banquets and never let boredom drive him into eating too much. That's wisdom.

He campaigned for Lincoln, got $1.75 for his first legal services, lived under twenty-four Presidents, from Andrew Jackson to Calvin Coolidge, and knew thirteen of them personally. How many can name the twenty-four from Jackson on?

Mr. Darrow of the House Naval Affairs Committee, told President Coolidge his friends "still hoped he would be a candidate." The President replied: "I am afraid they will have to be disappointed."

Die-hard Coolidge enthusiasts will find some comfort in that word "afraid." A man cannot help being persuaded if arguments are good.

Suppose the President were convinced, as he may be, that his renomination and re-election, a second time, would boom business, increase employment, stabilize prosperity, and free his party from oil stain danger, could he continue to say no?

Aviation is a reality, says General Atterbury, and railroads should know it. He is said to plan for the Pennsylvania a part railroad, part flying machine service from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The traveler would spend daylight in the flying machine, night hours on the train, cross the continent in forty-eight hours, avoiding mountain flying. This rumor is not guaranteed.

It's remarkable the punishment some automobiles can stand on the road and in the repair shop.

BY OSCAR GAMEL

In an endeavor to capture the world's automobile speed record Frank Lockhart, one of the best-known of American race car drivers, was killed at Daytona Beach, Florida, last week, when his car, a Stutz Black Hawk, making 200 miles per hour, overturned. Lockhart first came into prominence about three years ago when he won the great Indianapolis Speedway, a 500 mile grind.

A High School baseball team in Georgia defeated its opponent, obviously a weaker team, 109 to 0, in a ball game the other day. The winning pitcher, in addition to pitching a shutout game, got 15 hits out of seventeen times at bat! And what have you?

Unless Mr. Tex Rickard, our million-dollar fight promoter, gets busy arousing popular enthusiasm about the bout this summer between Gene Tunney, the champion, and Tom Heeney, champion of England, he is likely to have at least plenty of standing room at the fight.

Some day an affluent American public is going to wake up to the fact that a fight lasting no more than thirty minutes is not worth $40 to see. Then Mr. Rickard will lower the price or turn to something more profitable—a la some of our prominent politicians.

If you are living and can remember this, think of this prophesy about the time of the 1932 Olympic Games to be held in Los Angeles: Germany will either win the Games or will be a close second to the United States. Those stolid-looking fellows put up the greatest fight the world has ever seen and had a dozen nations wondering what was going to happen next, now they are devoting their spare time to the use of dumb bells and the development of athletics in general.

The South, never very strongly represented in the Olympic Games, has a great athlete in Tom Churchill of Oklahoma University, said to be the greatest all-around athlete the Sooner school has had in many years. He will be a strong bidder for an Olympic berth.

Loud speakers are being played all over the auditorium in a London theatre, but in this country they usually sit just behind us.

The loco weed grows down this way, and it may be a pretty good idea to keep a close watch on the democratic donkey next June.

Dark patches under the eyes, according to a medical theory, may be due to defective teeth, but probably more of them are caused by a moment's delay in dodging.

Hildegard Schwinghammer won the nail driving contest at the University of Minnesota, so it appears there is something in a name after all.

RITA BALDWIN IS MARRIED

The following clipping from the "Arizona Republican" tells of the marriage of Rita Baldwin, an ex-student of W. T.

On the lawns of Los Amigos Rancho, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Benning, occurred the marriage of Miss Rita Baldwin and T. K. Swan Sunday, April 15 at 4 o'clock, a small group of the bride's friends attending the service. The Rev. Philip Y. Pendleton performed the ceremony which was held in the gardens where a setting of magnolias and palo verde brought a characteristic touch to the out of door scene. As the 36 guests assembled for the service, Mrs. Will Pendleton sang "At Dawning," Mrs. O. T. Edwards at the piano. Mrs. Benning played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal party advanced to the out of doors altar.

Scattering rose petals, Mary Cox and Jean Benning preceded the bride and her attendant to the altar. The bridal costume was of peach colored georgette and the bouquet of white rosbuds. Mrs. H. E. Holman of Globe, the bride's sister and attendant, wore a gown of grey chiffon with violet velvet trimmings. Mr. Holman was best man.

A reception was given after the ceremony with Mr. and Mrs. Benning and the bride and groom receiving. Mrs. Swan, who has resided in Phoenix a comparatively brief time, came here from Eugene, Oregon. Mr. Swan is an Oregon man. They will make their home in Phoenix, having taken apartments on North Second avenue.

Thirty-four Enroll for Six Weeks Term

A number of former students have returned to W. T. for the last six weeks of the spring term. There are thirty-four students who have enrolled for the six weeks term.

There are six new classes in the English department alone. This shows something of what this institution is doing to serve that vast number who have chosen teaching as a profession.

Special Train to Carry Contestants

Under the rules of the League, the winners in the District Meet are entitled to represent this district in the State Meet which will be held in Austin, May 3, 4, and 5.

The 125 high school students that won events in the District meet will go on a special four-car train to Austin. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Batchelder and W. E. Lockhart will be with the group.

W. A. A. Girls Have Genius for Business

W. T. S. T. C. is developing some hidden talent. It takes a college to bring the best to the surface. This school is producing some of the finest specimens of workers to go out and teach that any other like institutions in Texas is producing. Moreover these students know their "onions." They take their wares and go after the dough. There is not a drone in the bunch. When opportunity presents itself, this group of workers let no grass grow under their feet.

If there is work to be done, the college knows upon whom to call. The W. A. A. girls made quite a haul last week end with their two stands of hamburgers, hot dogs,

Societies Prepare for Annual Debates

The annual inter-society debate is to be held some time in the near future. Not all of the society debaters have been chosen, but try-outs are being held as rapidly as possible.

The Antler-Cousins debate question is: Resolved: That Installment Buying is Conducive to American Prosperity. J. B. Fowler and T. H. McDonald with Julian Glenn as alternate are to represent the Cousins. The Antlers have not chosen their debaters, but no regular college debater is to be eligible.

The Sesame-Elapheian question for debate is based on the McNary-Haugen Farm Relief Bill. The Sesames are to be represented by Gladys Lowry and Opal Coley. The Elapheians have had the following entrants: Bessie Thomas, Lillian Cash and Beth Pitts.

The contests promise to be the best of the year for the societies and great interest is being developed over the coming inter-society debates.

May 29 Will be Senior Class Day

May 29. has been decided upon for Senior Class day this year. At the last meeting of the seniors, final preparations were made for the last college days of the class of '28.

On Senior Day, the Seniors are to do anything they want to, and they have decided to give a program in the chapel. A committee is now working on the details of that program. They have also decided to present to their Alma Mater the gate-posts that are nearing completion at the west entrance of the campus. This dedication of a gift to the college is one of the oldest traditions of the Senior classes of W. T., and the gate-posts will make a very appropriate and attractive addition to the campus.

Miss Brown Reads at Assembly Hour

Miss Mary Morgan Brown of the Public Speaking Department, read at the Tuesday chapel hour "Meh Lady," a short negro story written by Thomas Nelson Page. This is a touching story of the Civil War as told by an old ex-slave.

Miss Brown read it in the true negro dialect, giving it the suggestive accents and peculiarities.

Mother's Day

If ever there was a correct time for a Picture, this is surely the Day! All the sentiment, all the poetry in the heart of every one of us, come to the surface at thought of Mother! And is not a picture the fitting expression of this loving sentiment, this poetry and everlasting faith?

When Dad was a "Modern Youth"

BICYCLES, stereopticon lectures, and the "gilded" youths with their horses and carts; at night the midnight oil burning in student lamps while the gas lights glared and flickered across the campus—the gay nineties when Dad was in college seem primitive to us to-day.

Now it's sport roadsters, the movies, and radios. At night the MAZDA lamp replaces the midnight oil in dormitory rooms, while modern street lighting sheds its friendly glow over the campus.

Without electricity we would have none of these improvements. To-day's marvel of electrical invention becomes to-morrow's accepted utility. In the coming years, by taking advantage of new uses of electricity you will be able to go so much farther that the "tearing twenties" will seem just as primitive as the "gay nineties."

Scientists in the research laboratories of the General Electric Company keep G.E. a leader in the field of electrical progress. Skilled G-E engineers develop each latest invention. The G-E factories carry out the engineers' designs with high-quality material and expert workmanship.

trip to the canyons, while many were present at some of the events of the Great Plains Track Meet.

Sectional meetings for annual staff members and newspaper workers were held Saturday morning following the general session. In these group meetings the writers discussed problems peculiar to their respective fields, and each person received the benefit of the viewpoint and experience of the people from other institutions.

Two executive committee meetings and two business sessions were held during the convention. The problems of the association and business details were attended to.

CONTEST RESULTS ARE ANNOUNCED

The final session of the convention was featured by the announcement of the contest winners and the choosing of the convention college for 1929. Elizabeth Chesley, of C. I. A., vice-president of the organization, announced the contest results and awarded the prizes.

The College of Industrial Arts won more honors than any of the other colleges having entries in contests, winning five first and four second places and winning the trophy for the best college newspaper. Other first places were won by Stephen F. Austin Teachers College, San Marcos State Teachers College, Sul Ross, Baylor college and Simmons University.

Some of the delegates who had long distances to travel did not reach Canyon until Saturday morning, but more than seventy representatives of the Texas college press were present when the awards were made and the officers elected.

ABILENE WINS FIGHT FOR CONVENTION

A spirited fight for the 1929 meeting featured the final session. Simmons University, A. C. C., and McMurry, all of Abilene, combined to bring the next convention to that city with Simmons as the convention college. Other bids were made by the Sam Houston delegates and by the Denton Teachers. The Abilene delegation won the next meeting by a decided majority.

Joe Burton of Simmons, who heads the organization for the coming year, will be assisted by Jesse Fox, of Sam Houston, vice-president; Earl Nowlin, McMurry, corresponding secretary; Margaret Mehaffey, North Texas, recording secretary; Paul Southern, A. C. C., treasurer; and Lucy Chambers, Trinity University, publicity manager.

Early in the business session, Austin College of Sherman, Burlington College, of Greenville, and Southern Methodist University of Dallas, were excluded from the Association for non-compliance with the provisions of the constitution.

The Association extended a vote of thanks to the West Texas State Teachers College and to the people of Canyon for the courtesies extended them during the convention.

Only 29 of 150 college girls interviewed said they would marry Colonel Lindbergh if they had the chance. But who ever denied a woman the right to change her mind when the chance came?

Martin

professor of journalism at the University of Missouri and managing editor of the Columbia Missourian, he has made more friends and taught more journalists the essentials of their profession than any other man. Any of the 844 students who have graduated from the School of Journalism at the University, or any of the 3,000 who have been students without taking a degree, will tell you that Frank Martin has the biggest and warmest heart it is possible for any man of his size to have.

Letters from all over the United States and foreign lands stream into the office daily from these students, telling him about the new printing press, the tough competition, the big story, the thrilling scoop—all just because they know he will be interested in hearing about them.

The curators of the University of Missouri found Martin in the city editor's office of the Kansas City Star in 1908 when the School of Journalism was just getting underway. They needed a running mate for Dean Walter Williams, a man who could teach journalism because he knew journalism. It took the curators a long time to convince Martin that the change would be to his liking, but in the end he agreed to go. If he didn't like the work at the University he was to return to the Star. His position on the Star is still waiting for him and he has never been officially released. He is out on assignment, and even he will admit that it has been his greatest one.

Martin started to work on the Star immediately after he graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1902. William Rockhill Nelson, the powerful editor who built the Star, and much of Kansas City at the same time, was in full command then and under him Martin learned the type of journalism he teaches. His work on the Star won the praise of the stern old newspaper pioneer and he was ranked as the most brilliant reporter in his section of the country at the time he was offered the work at the University.

Statisticians find that Martin and the University of Missouri have furnished more newspaper men than any other source in the world, according to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Missouri trained writers are to be found on practically every major daily in the United States, in foreign news agencies, and on the staffs of leading magazines and journals. All of these writers have been trained in part by Frank Martin, criticized by him, praised by him. Perhaps more have been "bawled out" than have been commended, for Martin has found that it is the best plan to praise the work of a student only once.

Ralph H. Turner, the man who went into Mexico some years ago, met the bandit, Pancho Villa, gained his confidence and obtained an interview that startled newspaper readers, was trained by Martin. Turner is now general manager of the Southwestern division of the United Press Association. Francis H. Misselwitz, New York Times correspondent in China, was graduated from Missouri, as was John B. Powell, international authority on problems of the Far East and editor of the China Weekly Review, of Shanghai, Frank H. King, Associated press correspondent in London; Arch King, manager of the United Press bureau in London; Mary Margaret McBride, short story writer; and many others, located in every state in the Union and practically every nation of the world, owe their basic knowledge of journalism to Martin and the School of Journalism.

The team scores besides Tech, West Texas State Teachers and New Mexico Military Institute were:

Martin brings to the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association the highest idealism in journalism. His chief concern for the newspapers of today and tomorrow is that they be supplied and maintained by good reporters, for he believes that a paper can be no better than its poorest reporters. Readers must not get a false picture of what is transpiring in the day's news and Martin bends his entire energy to the teaching of fairness, accuracy, clear thinking and clear statement.

Possibly no speaker who has addressed the T. I. P. A. in its twenty years of history knows more of, or is more a part of, the romance of the profession than is Martin. Much of it he has experienced himself, and the rest he has found from the warm words of friendship sent to him by his students from all over the world.

A paragraph from the Journalist's Creed, which was formulated at the School of Journalism, expresses best this idealism he has: "I believe that advertising, news and editorial columns should alike serve the best interests of readers; that a single standard of helpful truth and cleanliness should prevail for all; that the supreme test of good journalism is the measure of its public service."

SUCCESS

Take not anxious thoughts as to the results of your work. If you are doing all that you can, the results are not your affairs at all. It would be great if we could succeed now, it will be greater if we patiently wait for success, even though we never see it ourselves. For it will. Do not be fretted by abuse; for those who abuse do not know what they are doing; we have been at one time deluded and cruel—therefore forgive. Do not be angry at opposition; no one can really oppose the order of nature. Our plans may be upset; but you must remember that there are greater plans than ours. And last, do not grieve over your troubles; you would not have them if you did not need them.—The Houstonian.

GRADES VS. ATHLETICS

Making scholastic requirements stiff is hard upon a school's athletic standing it would seem after reading the complaints of some college newspapers. Athletes are said to shun a school where grading is close.

It is significant that some undergraduates feel that it is more of an honor to have their alma mater shine in athletics than to have her respected because of her scholastic requirements. The attitude which is taken by students is obviously the result of the emphasis that is being placed upon collegiate sports.—Oklahoma Daily.
