Group Conference And Discussion Periods Attract Large Audiences

Concluding six days of discussion of marriage and family relations topics, Dr. Paul Popenoe, noted author and lecturer, attracted large audiences to his final conferences yesterday afternoon.

Attendance at the discussion periods and group conferences was large as shown by the registration totals. Many students were given personal conferences. It was during the major programs—student assemblies—that the largest number heard the Institute of Family Relations director. More than 500 attended the Friday conference for Boy Scouts and other similar groups; the subject was "Youth Faces a New World." Two hundred persons heard a discussion on "Some Problems of Adolescence" later on Friday. Wednesday and Thursday group conferences attracted 121 and 200 persons, respectively. For these conferences, persons were registered from Pampa, Dalhart, Happy, Amarillo, Spearman, Perryton, and other cities. Additional Lectures

Canyon's Best-Known Canine Citizen Dies

Canyon's most prominent canine citizen died Thursday following an operation for tumors.

She was a big malemute dog which was used by the second Byrd Antarctic Expedition. She was born in Maine about eight years ago but was taken aboard a Byrd ship while pup. Friendly and quiet, she was given the run of the ship—an unisual liberty for dogs of the northern breed—and became a favorite of Admiral Byrd. By spring she was a large, powerful animal trained as a sled dog. She served faithfully on the Antarctic trails.

Neeka Given To Hill When the expedition was ended and the dog packs were dispersed, Admiral Byrd gave Neeka to Joe Hill, Jr. of Canyon, the youngest member of the expedition and son of Dr. and Mrs. J. ## Hart Palpitations By Fred Hart

Walking placidly along yesterday without a thought in my head or a cent in my purse, suddenly I ran my head into an over-hanging branch (branches don't really have hangovers) and received an unstimulating shock.

It does give the imaginative mind of a creative artist a shock when he first beholds the buds on the shrubbery of trees. Then spring is approaching in reality.

An then this morning a number of larks (birds) were observed feed- Delbert McGuire the fences were put up to keep unthinking or lazy students from completely ruining the lawns that have been so carefully cultivated about the campus. Those of you who have had to raise grass at home know it's no easy task to grow lawns in the Panhandle.

College officials explained that if someone would get up a petition signed by a large number of the students, all pledging to do their part in staying off the grass and reminding unthinking students to stay off, the fences could be re-

This was done by Type High Friday morning, and some 300 names were signed and given to the officials shortly after noon Friday. It was of course too late to remove the fences by Saturday, and as yet no action has been taken.

But, the fact comes back to us. Are we willing to spend a few seconds more each day and walk on the concrete walks, or are we such that we must be forced to take the correct paths by the construction of crude and ugly fences?

This spring there will be many high school groups with us as guests, and personally speaking, I don't want them to see the campus as it is now. It looks like we're sorrylacking in social pride—like the fellow who leaves clothes strung around the living room when company is coming.

By the simple use of a little will power, all the fences will be eliminated. We'll have no fences, no trails across the grass, and plenty of pride and self-respect.

Let's get behind the movement for self-control and fence removal. After all, WE AIN'T COWS!

Four Home Games On Sports Menu This Week For Buffs

Star-Dusters On Alamo Cup Trail

Wins Over St. Mary's And A & I Virtually Assure Championship

Carrying the title of the second best team in the entire South, the Complete '41 Buffaloes will try to add to a string of victories this week when they encounter the Cowboy squad from Hardin-Simmons.

The series was opened last night when the Buffs defeated the Abilene squad 80 to 37. The second game Gymnasium starting at 7 o'clock.

Winning 18 games in 23 starts strong Border conference. while playing a hard road trip and tournament schedule, in addition to games, there are return engagehome and conference contests, the roster of top teams over the nation. Series were split with Southern Methodist and Drake Universities. Close games were dropped to Simpson College, the Iowa conference champions, and to Oklahoma Aggies and Texas University at the end of a long road trip.

The tall men, who can start a lineup averaging 6 feet 6 inches, opponents were making 932 tallies. Five players for West Texas State have scored over 100 points this season. Top scorer is Price Brookfield, forward, with 319 points. Next in line is 6 foot 10 inch Charles Calif. Halbert, center, with 248 points, and Frank Stockman, guard, with 202 tallies. Other leading point makers are Jack Maddox, forward, with 171, and Captain Borden Price, guard, with 110.

Last week the Buffaloes virtually won their second successive Alamo Conference cage championship by defeating Texas A. & I. and St. Mary's of San Antonio in a twogame series. These contenders have little chance to beat the star-gazers on the local floor.

The Cowboys took bad beatings from the West Texans earlier in the season but have an improved club for this series.

Another victory to add to the long list of wins credited to the West Texas Freshmen cage team was secured last week when the Vega Independents went down in defeat before the onslaught of Coach Jack Curtice's team, 52-20.
