DRAMATIC GROUPS
PLANNING TOUR

Junior Artists and Faculty Artist Groups Will Visit Allamore, Abernathy, and Miami in Next Few Weeks

Arrangements have been made by several town over the Panhandle for lyceum numbers to be furnished by the College. The Junior Artist group, consisting of Herschel Coffee, Mae Slack, and a member of the department of Public Speaking, will present a program at Allamore, February 26, under the auspices of the Girls' Choral Club of that place. This group will also appear at Miami on March 3.

The Faculty Artist group, consisting of Professor Wallace R. Clark, Miss Pauline Brigham, and Miss Mary Clark, will appear March 13 at Abernathy, under the auspices of the Abernathy Community Club.

The Panhandle Players, senior dramatic organization, will make a tour of South Plains towns in the near future, according to information received from the Public Service Bureau. Their program will include "The Blunder," a short one-act play written by Mrs. Cora Lee Braudt.

Plainview and Tulia will be visited by the College Band within the next month. Many students of the music department are being asked to serve as judges for county music contests.

VOCATIONAL WORK
URGED IN SCHOOLS

Professor T. M. Moore Says All Education Should Include Vocational Element.

Vocational Education in the high school was the subject of a chapel address by Professor T. M. Moore of the department of Agriculture, Thursday morning.

Professor Moore defined vocational agriculture as a combination of educational intelligence. "All education is, in a certain degree, vocational," Mr. Moore contended. He reviewed briefly the history of education from the time man first began to teach his son to fish, up to the modern vocation system was first begun about 1900.

"There is not enough vocational education in our high schools," Professor Moore stated. "They do not prepare people for a vocation; rather they serve the select few to the exclusion of the masses not preparing for a college education."

Series of Expression
Recitals Well Received

On Thursday, Feb. 18, at 4:30 p. m., a very pleasing recital program was given by students of the Public Speaking department. This was another of a series of recital programs in which students, who are taking private lessons in Expression have appeared.

The program was given as follows:

1. "Three Things"—Mary S. Andrews—Opal Walcup.
2. "Group of Poems"—Winnie Burrow.
3. "The Mission Box"—V Frances Greenman—Bessie Thomas.
4. "The Child"—Annie Hamilton Donnell—Ouida Campbell.
5. "Where There is a Will"—Ellis Parker Butler—Sudie Miller.

Buffs Split With Wildcats in Last

FIRST BATTLE

ALEX HALE AND TAHO LOWES ARE HIGH POINT MEN EACH CONTEST

COME-BACK STAGED

Nervous Team Drops First Game After Desperate Fighting Shared By Entire Squad

By Hardin Boyles
Wrecking the Bison fans' hopes for an undefeated season, the Abilene Christian College Wildcats defeated the Buffs in the home gymnasium last Friday night 31 to 37. The Christian scoring and defensive strength faltered Saturday, and the result was a hard earned victory for the Plainsmen to the tune of 35 to 25. Crump played the initial half in Saturday's game, his reappearance in basketball togs coming as a joyful surprise to the student fans, signifying his ability to complete the season with Burton's machine.

Loves was the high point man in the first contest with a total of twelve points, and Powell of the Wildcats ran him a close second with ten markers. Hale led his men in the tallying in the last game with fifteen points. The Buffaloes were keyed to the highest pitch Friday night, and seemed to realize that this was the supreme test of their ability to cop the championship. Loves played his fastest game of the season, and proved a worthy teammate to the redoubtable Hale.

Each game was a see-saw of points, the first half of the initial contest ending 17 to 15 with the Wildcats in the lead. In the middle of the closing half the Cats forged ahead six points to top the Buffs, and held their lead throughout the remainder of the contest in spite of the heroic attempts of Hale and Loves to overcome this lead. Herm and Hill fought nobly to avert the first defeat to be administered to the Buffs on the home court in three seasons, and their efforts won them a place in the hearts of the onlookers as men who possess the "fighting heart." It was due to their efforts that the score was held so closely to the Cats, as they forced the Christians to long and difficult shots with the exception of two instances.

The second night was a replica of the first except that the timely lead of ten points was garnered by Hale's men, and maintained through the rest of the second half. (Continued on page four)

"Violinist" Carries Story
on College Violin Students

Miss Mary L. Clark, head of the violin department of the West Texas State Teachers College, has an article in the January "Violinist" entitled "On Evaluating Students." The article carries with it a picture of the college string quartet which is composed of Mary L. Clark, first violinist; Herschel Coffee, second violinist; Anadel Guenther, viola; and Gladys Beavers, violin cello.

Miss Clark formerly resided in Amarillo and is well known in musical circles there.

Vergil Matney, who was a student here in '24, is visiting with relatives and friends in Canyon. Mr. Matney is working as an accountant in Chicago.

COFFER-MILLER
CAST PRAISED

Brown Says Company is Striving to Build Up The Drama

Miss Mary Morgan Brown, head of the department of Public Speaking, praised the Coffe-Miller Players for their efforts in behalf of improved dramatic work. "They have sought for some time," Miss Brown said, "to uplift the drama and educate the public taste along dramatic lines rather than to gain commercial prestige for themselves in the popular theatre world."

The Coffe-Miller players are due here Monday for two productions, "The Imaginary Invalid," by Moliere, and "Sleepy Hollow" by Washington Irving. They are being brought to the College by the Randall County Ex-Students Association. The company, according to Miss Brown, have directed their attention to college centers almost exclusively, and have played numbers of the older and more worthwhile comedies for several years.

"The Imaginary Invalid," a popular play of the great French dramatist, is the one which the company has chosen to present in the College auditorium at 3:30 Monday afternoon. It is a rollicking comedy with a theme much the same as that of "The Mollusc" by H. H. Davies, which was presented here with marked success several years ago. The work of Mr. Coffe and Miss Miller in the cast will inspire an appreciation of Moliere's genius for comedy, according to Miss Brown.

"Sleepy Hollow," a dramatization of Washington Irving's Legend of Sleepy Hollow promises a real treat at the evening hour. Those who have seen Mr. Coffe as Bob Acres in "The Rivals" are anticipating a very clever characterization of Ichabod Crane with Mr. Coffe in that role. His brilliance as a comedian is of no small note. Critics have contended that in his interpretation of Bob Acres, he compares favorably with Tom Powers, one of America's most popular comedians. "Sleepy Hollow" will be given in three acts with scenes at Van Tassel's home and at Old Wolfert's Well.

No little interest will be taken in the costumes which the members of the casts are provided for these two plays. The fineness of the texture of the material and the beauty and appropriateness of the design should attract the attention of all students of dramatic art and of textiles.

Tickets may be purchased at any time from J. J. Walker Drug Store, Jarrett Drug Co., or from the ex-students at the College.

Episcopal Council
Representative Here

Mrs. D. D. Tabor of New York and South Carolina, was one of the distinguished visitors at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society banquet here last week. Mrs. Tabor, a woman of rare culture and charm, is a representative of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church. She is making a tour of North Texas, and was the guest of Mrs. E. H. J. Andrews while in Canyon.

On Saturday afternoon at the Little House of Fellowship Mrs. Tabor gave a talk on the origin and development of the Episcopal Church. She called attention to its democratic character; the presiding Bishop being similar to the president of the United States, and the Church Cabinet is patterned after the American Government. Every member has an equal voice in the affairs of the Church, according to Mrs. Tabor.

In the open discussion of racial problems which followed Mrs. Tabor's talk, the negro situation was studied carefully.

Mrs. Tabor was a guest at Cousins Hall for luncheon Saturday.

Miss Rachel Shields, who has been in school this quarter, has recently accepted a position in the Stratford schools.

DENTON EAGLES AND EAST TEXAS TEACHERS WILL BE MET ON LAST TRIP

FOUR TILTS ON ROAD

Buffs Expected to Meet Tough and Fast Competition in Last Games of Present Season

Coach Burton reported in an interview yesterday, "We leave Wednesday afternoon at two-forty-five on our down state trip. We'll play the strong Denton Teachers squad Friday and Saturday nights, be on the train Sunday on our way to Commerce where we will engage the Teachers there Monday and Tuesday. The games at Denton will be two of the hardest on our schedule, and we will play them away from home, too, but we believe that we can bring home the bacon if we'll all help us."

If the Bisons can best the Denton quintet in their two game series there and emerge victorious over the East Texans, they will be the T. I. A. A. Championship team. Many fans think that the split series with the Abilene Christian College will aid the Buffaloes in defeating their opponents in the remaining conference games, for they were only the second series of the season in which the Buffs were forced to extend themselves to win. Daniel Baker being the other stiff opposition. Several old timers have said that the A. C. C. Wildcats were the strongest aggregation ever to meet the Buffs on the home court, and that the games here Friday and Saturday have undoubtedly done them good.

Denton has been defeated only once this year, and then by the powerful Sam Houston Teachers in Huntsville. With the return of Crump to the game, and the excellent condition of the men at the present time, prospects look exceedingly bright for the capture of conference honors. Burton has excellent reserve material in Blivins, Reeves, Sanders, Gamel, and Pearson. (Continued on page four)

Violin Students of Mary Clark are Presented Saturday Morning; Program Receives Applause

Miss Mary Clark, head of the violin department of the College, presented her students in a varied program at the chapel period Saturday morning. Miss Clark's pupils were assisted by other members of the music department.

Much ability in technique as well as beauty of expression was displayed by the group in the several selections played. The student body received the group enthusiastically.

The program consisted of two trio numbers for the violin, Chas. Daucila, "Minnet," a selection on a theme by Mozart; strings and piano, "Overture des Marionnettes," Opus 105, by Gurlitt; string quartet, "Minnet in G" by Beethoven. Those taking part were Rose Stewart, Willie Mae Beavers, Halie Adams, Ruth Strain, Virginia Queen, Mae Slack, piano; Gladys Beavers, cello; Ruth Strain, viola.

Bonner Baker went to Floydada for the week end.

WYATT HESTER CHOSEN
HEAD POTTER CO. EXES

At a meeting of the Ex-Students' Association of Potter County, Wednesday evening, February 17, Wyatt Hester was named president of the organization for the coming year. Mr. Hester was a student here in 1919-20. He succeeds John L. McCarty, one of the most enthusiastic workers in the Potter County Association. Other officers elected were W. E. Routh, vice president; Elise Hall, secretary; and Silas Hart, treasurer. J. W. Hill was named head of the general committee in charge of raising Potter County's $1,000 quota for the Mary E. Hudspeth Hall.

Tulia High Puts up Dogged Fight But is Overwhelmed by Superior Ability of Fast Canyon Team; Trophy Presented by Hill

Canyon High walked away with the honors in District 1, Interscholastic League and won the right to represent this district against the Lorenzo team, in the tourney here Friday and Saturday. Tulia, Panhandle, Stratford finished next in the order named. From the outset it was apparent that Canyon and Tulia were the class of the meet. These two teams fought through to the finals and it was here that the Canyon quintet demonstrated its superiority over the illusive Curtis Brown, diminutive forward of Coach Mitchell Jones' club. The meet was slower than usual, due to the lack of stiff competition.

At the close of the meet the following all-star selection was made by the officials of the tourney:

F—C. Brown, Canyon.
F—Crow, Tulia.
G—Hazelwood, Canyon.
G—Gerald, Canyon.
C—Newman, Hedley.

Honorable mention: Strain, Canyon; Ward and Harris, Tulia; Sims, Panhandle, Ingham, Stratford; and Shaw of Hedley.

Referees Woodward, Dennis, and Lockhart are to be commended for their work in conducting the meet so satisfactorily. Coach Burton of the College, director of the meet, handled the whole affair to perfection and the games went off without a single hitch.

Tulia and Hedley opened the meet on Friday afternoon and Tulia cleaned house to the tune of 39 to 20. In this contest Newman, center of the Hedley club, and incidentally the pick of the meet for that position, was the whole show for his team. Although Shaw, a tiny red-head from Hedley thrilled the fans with his sudden bursts of speed, the work of the entire Tulia team completely overshadowed the best that Hedley had to offer.

The second game between Hereford and Panhandle was almost devoid of speed and class. Panhandle (Continued on page four)

RETURNS TO GAME

Cleatice Crump is back again with his mates after an unexpected recovery from his early season injuries. Crump will be able to finish the season as Buff forward, says Coach Burton. He was a regular on Burton's squad, and Texas' high point man last year.

Easy Games With Second String Playing

Arrayed against foes who could not make the Bison Five extend themselves, Hale's machine clicked off two more victories against the New Mexico Military Institute Cadets here last Monday and Tuesday nights by the counts of 46 to 16 and 40 to 13. Pearson showed wonderful improvement in his floor work, and Loves displayed spirit and speed that is likely to list him among the A-1 forwards of the Conference. Burton replaced his first string guards with his reserves Monday night, and they wasted no opportunity to show their superiority over the Soldiers.

Reeves again shows promise of making a place for himself in the Buffalo squad of seasons to be, and Burton believes that with experience he will be of real value to the future Teachers' teams. A gradual welding together of team. (Continued on page four)

Hill Tells of College's History in Chapel Address; Canyon Gave $100,100 For College

Wednesday marked the seventeenth anniversary of the West Texas State Teachers College. President J. A. Hill told of the College's history in a brief talk Wednesday morning.

The bill for a normal college in this section, according to Mr. Hill, passed the House on February 17, 1909. On the following March 31 it passed the Senate. The bill, as passed, provided for a normal college west of the 98th meridian.

Twenty-nine towns were applicants for the normal school. Seventeen of these towns were visited by the locating committee. By September, 1909, the committee announced that Canyon was to receive the new school, having offered a bonus of $100,100, and forty acres of land.

School was opened in September, 1910. Of the present faculty, only four have been with the College since its founding. They are, L. G. Allen, dean of the College; President J. A. Hill, who was then a member of the department of history, Jennie C. Ritchie, dean of the High School, and Mary E. Hudspeth, head of the department of Spanish.

CHAMBER COMMERCE MEET

President J. A. Hill spoke at the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Littlefield yesterday. He also spoke at the First Baptist Church in Lockney Sunday morning.

The district meeting at Littlefield was one of the largest district meetings of the West Texas body that has been held this year. Prominent men from all over the state were present. Col. R. Q. Lee, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and P. W. Horn, president of Texas Technological College, were also on the program. Littlefield boasts that more presidents were on its program than any other district convention in the state.

SOCIAL SERVICE
STRESSED IN ALL
HOME EC. STUDY

TWO NEW COURSES ARE TO BE OFFERED BY HOME EC. DEPARTMENT BEGINNING NEXT YEAR

LABORATORY WORK
HERE EMPHASIZED

Principles of Cooking From Simplest to Most Difficult Taught to Freshmen; No Recipes Used In Lab. Work

Two new courses are being offered by the Home Economics Department next year; it's Club is now doing efficient work in the promotion of education, social activities, and social service. The department is especially emphasizing intensive laboratory work. One of the new courses will be a survey course in Home Economics which will be open to students who are not majoring in this subject. The fundamental principles needed will include work in food selection, meal planning, serving, entertaining, child care, household administration, budget making, selection of clothing, and elementary dietetics. Since statistics show that 90% of the girls in the United States eventually marry, the value of this course is evident. The second course will be an intensive study of child care.

The Home Economics Club which meets regularly once each week has about forty members; it's aims are three fold: the promotion of the study of home economics, the improvement of standards of living, and the fostering of social service work. The girls are now making a contribution to a national scholarship fund to send a home economics teacher to Constantinople College in Turkey.

Among the Club's various social activities the following are representative: hikes, buffet-suppers, teas, candy pulls, and parties.

This department is doing intensive work in the laboratory. Principles of cooking from the simplest to the most difficult are taught in the freshman class and no recipes are used. The Sophomore Class has planned, prepared, and served two banquets and a tea. This class is also studying institutional cookery and demonstration work. The more advanced classes are studying dietetics and experimental cookery.

In the clothing department the selection of appropriate clothing, clothing construction, drafting and altering patterns, tailoring, and hygiene and economics of clothing, are emphasized. These departments are under the direction of Miss Falba Foote and Miss Elizabeth Cox.

NO DEBATE WITH
TECH THIS YEAR

Disagreement on Judges and Subject Forces Abandonment of Plans; Simmons to Sign

Proposed debates between the College and the Texas Tech have been called off for this year. The negotiations stopped last week after a failure to agree upon the question to be debated and the type of judges that were to be used. The Tech submitted the same World Court question that the other teams are debating on and after our acceptance they wished a change in the question. Arrangements will be made to meet the new college next year.

A contract for the debate with Simmons University girls has not yet been closed but undoubtedly will be this week. The boys have not yet paired off for their debates, but the work on the question is being pushed on.

ORATORICAL CONTEST IS
HEADLINER THIS QUARTER

The most important event in the realms of the societies this quarter is the oratorical contest.

Definite plans as to the exact date of the contest have not yet been made, but it will probably be in the last week of this quarter.

The oratorical contest between the societies is an annual affair, held in the winter quarter. In the spring term the inter-society debate will be staged.

Impatient Listeners

"The speaker received a most respectful hearing" is an expression that is becoming a rare compliment in this day of impatient listeners.

Once upon a time audiences listened. This was in the good old days when primitive man's courses in history, law, and literature consisted of tales told around the fire by the patriarchs of the tribe; when Shakespeare's dramas were educational lectures, entertainment, and philosophy to the masses of people; when the all-day sermon of the Pilgrim fathers was the only public program ever given in the community; and when back-fence gossip took the place of newspapers.

But with the advent of radios that can be turned off at will and of motion pictures, newspapers, and other means of communication which neglect the ear as a channel of learning, we superior moderns are rapidly losing our ability to listen.

For many students chapel is an ordeal. "Why we have to be bound and helpless while some long-haired reformer airs his views about us?" they ask. As for listening to a musical program of an hour's duration, impatient youth hesitates not to show its boredom, often committing grossest breaches of good manners.

Courtesy is certainly due the long-suffering performer, whether he be the singer who has to drown out the whispers on the other side of the foot-lights, the speaker who has to stoop to telling jokes before he can present a serious idea, or the actor who knows that the fine points of his art might just as well not exist for those who leave before the end of the play.

The rights of that part of an audience which is present to listen ought to be respected. A woman who recently heard Sousa's band said that her enjoyment of the program was seriously hampered because someone nearby persisted in eating hard candy throughout the program. And how many a mild music lover has had murderous thoughts when the couple in front carry on their spirited banter during the very number he had come to hear?

But aside from courtesy to performer and listener, aside from the duty of good breeding and the charm of refinement, there is a further reason why the college student, of all people, should learn to give his undivided attention to whatever is going on, whether entertainment or class room work. The cultivation of an open mind, accompanied by ability to evaluate any ideas presented to it, is an indispensable attribute to the cultured man or woman. College education, if it does nothing else, ought to make one respectful of the thought and arts of others, and eternally eager to learn.

Music and Yaps

Perhaps we don't enjoy the program. Neither does a cannibal appreciate Browning as mental food. We both will derive pleasure from music and literature, though, when properly educated. Nature has endowed us with physical and spiritual appetites, each of which must be directed, developed, and curbed for us to be bodily and mentally healthy. To neglect the aesthetic sense is to dwarf it, as poor or insufficient food warps the body. Pleasure gained from pure music and literature is lasting, basic, inspirational, cultural, and necessary to the development of the mature mind. And what's more, young folks, there is one reason why we should help to keep the peace at public entertainments that is paramount. That is, just look at the people who do create a scene, talk, laugh, and misbehave generally. As a class, they are yaps, and let's don't apply for membership in their club, for take a look at the club personnel at the next meeting you attend.

The Last of Hotsy-Totsy

We understand that the canary bird belonging to one of the Randall Hall inmates gave up the ghost the other day, deceased, became extinct, made his demise, shuffled off this mortal coil, and died all within the space of a few minutes. A very impressive funeral ceremony was held at Randall in honor of Hotsy-Totsy, as the little animal had been christened. Miss Burson delivered the funeral address, and Miss Altman sang plaintively the Song of Death. Seven of the flower girls fainted and had to be carried from the field, and the pall bearers waded ankle deep in the briny tears of the sympathetic onlookers, many of them being intimate friends of the

The inebriate replied, "Well, well, old man, put 'er there, I married your sister."

Inexpensive Tips

You often see the hat or cap lifted in salutation to women, one's superior, or old age. Well, it all happened like this. In the days of yore when the knight wore tin pants, a breast plate, and a helmet, there was a little piece of steel on the front of the helmet that worked on hinges, and could be lifted or lowered. It had small holes in it which the knight could see through, but could not be pierced by a sword or spear, and was called, by the way, the visor. When the knight was fighting a battle of a jewel, he would lower this visor for protection; he would have been plumb foolish not to. And when he was among friends, he would raise it so that he could ing the visor when among friends gradually evolved into the lifting of the hat when the helmet passed away.

Consolation

We don't feel so bad about the A. C. C. games now, as time cures all wounds, they say. And then this is the Buffaloes' first defeat on the home court in three years, their second in four winters, and it is the first time that the foreigners have amassed a bigger total score than the Bisons in the new gymnasium. We're in favor of pouring it on these Denton and Commerce Pedagogos-to-be just as soon as possible. It seemed that the Abilene Christians had been saving up for this series of games for weeks, and had their energy and ability concentrated and stored, and just let 'er fly last Friday and Saturday nights. We haven't er they were used to playing like that or not, but some of those been able to figure out yet whethershots of the Wildcats sure looked supernatural. We thank you.

Elapheian Stunt Night "Glorious Success"

Stunt night for the Elapheians was a glorious success. The high wind and the snow did not succeed in keeping the students away from the performance.

The first stunt was given by the Elapheians of Cousins Hall who represented a typical western audience at a picture show—flappers, sheiks, a kind of mother with her flock of little vagabonds, and the elite of the town could be found in the theatre. The picture proved to be quite thrilling. The special vaudeville act was the best that has ever been to town. The entire population is practicing the Charleston as a result of the vaudeville troupe's act.

The second stunt was performed by the town girls. The dramatic skill in operatic action was exceedingly artistic. Miss Josephine Duflet missed her life's calling when she failed to choose as her profession the acting of a Spanish hero role. Miss Vida Savage's sweeping success was very evident. Miss Fannie Cash read the plot with ease and eloquence while members of the cast deserve equally as much praise.

The third stunt was given by the Elapheians of Randall Hall. The dramatic action in this stunt was incomparable. The Indian characterizations were almost blood curdling. Miss Fay Jordan, the beautiful heroine, moved the hearts of many onlookers by her pathetic situations. The noble horseman road exceedingly gallantly and the scene closed by their rescue of the heroine from the dreaded Indians who were preparing to scalp her.

Much success is predicted for the future of all these companies.

A. D. Payne Addresses Amarillo Ex-Students

A. D. Payne, superintendent of the Canyon public schools and a prominent ex-student of the College, delivered a very fitting address before the Ex-Students Association of Potter County at the annual Founder's Day program given in Amarillo Wednesday evening, February 17. In the course of his address Mr. Payne declared that ordinary ability, determination, and self-confidence were the three outstanding qualities which would ultimately mark progress and accomplishment in the life of an individual.

Mr. Payne's resignation as superintendent of the Canyon schools will become effective in June, and at that time he will begin the practice of law in Amarillo. He and his family were voted a hearty welcome to Amarillo and to the ex-students association of that city at the meeting. Mr. Payne received the B. A. degree here in 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther E. Thompson and daughter, Hazel Jean, are living in Stamford, Texas. Mrs. Thompson was Miss Julia Rachel Allen before her marriage and was a student here in 1922-23. She is a niece of President Hill and Miss Mary Hill.

ON BOYS IN GENERAL

Oh boys! You necessary evils,
You heartless, selfish brutes—
We hate you, yet we love you,
We, inconsistent fools.

You break our hearts, you give us tears,
Yet you fill our souls with joy—
Rapture, sorrow, misery, bliss
You give us—and we enjoy.

You try to rule us, and we rebel,
But can't you see you're blind!
With gentleness and kindness,
Well—you might change our mind.

You rouse us to angry fury;
We hate you and all other men—
Yet, if you only knew, a gentle word
Would bring us back, again.

You take us out, and pay the bill,
Then think you've done your part.
We should amuse you, flatter you,
spoil you,
Why you've only made a start!

It's your place to win and woo us,
Since pre-historic days
A privilege, not a duty,
And one that always pays.

For we have lots to give you,
You boys, if you only knew
Faithfulness, love, loyalty,
And these are only a few.

But, oh you misunderstand us,
Why don't you read our eyes?
We want friendship, comradeship,
palship,
Not sentimental lies!

And then, if all our lives to come,
Your sorrow, or your joy

Will depend on how you treat us,
Don't think us merely a toy.

"A theatre means, a great deal to a community as an educational center, if the theatre as an institution will revert to the fine and great things which it has done within its history in America. The theatre is the finest education the artistic world can offer because it reaches out so widely and can give instruction, visual and audible, in deportment, costume, language, diction, painting, design, and physical culture. WILDCATS WIN FIRST BATTLE

Hale himself held the fans breathless with his tallying in time of need, he and Crump springing a surprise on the Abileneites with their flashy passing and floor work. Herm was forced to retire from the game early in the second half, and was replaced by Babe Bivins, who set the oak boards on fire with his speed and snap in handling the ball. More than one time Bivins dashed in to prevent the tallying of the Cats, and proved the fly in the Christian ointment time without number. It was impossible to best the brand of basketball dispensed by Burton's boys, for they settled down the second night to hard, fast basketball. Pearson played the entire game the first night and the second half of Saturday's contest, and proved his ability to stand up under the gun fire of a fast game and cope with one of the most consistently flashy centers in the conference.

Crump's reappearance in a source of pleasure to the Panhandle fans. Though he scored only four points in the half that he played, he was responsible for the tallying of his leader, Hale, in many instances. He thwarted Powell's efforts to tally on many occasions, and seemed to pick the prevention of Powell's scoring as his big job in the melee.

If stars must be picked in this series of games they were Hill and Hale. Hill fought off the attempts of Powell and Porter to score with dogged tenacity and superhuman ability, forcing them to sideline and long distance shots that proved the undoing of the Felines the second night. He ripped open the Christian offense in close-up play, and returned the ball to his mates with speed and deceptive dribbles that brought the stands to their feet. Hale proved himself a leader of his men, and nothing more need be said. Powell and Brown deserve honorable mention for the Wildcats, playing stellar ball in both contests.

Woodward and Dennis officiated in this series, and held the games down closely, though not slowing them down. Much satisfaction was expressed by the snappy brand of officiating that they turned out.

The lineups:

Bisons—Pts	Wildcats—Pts

Hale (C) 5	Powell 10

Lowes 12	Porter 10

Pearson 7	Hill 11

MUST WIN ALL ON ROAD TRIP

son, and which of these men will make the trip will be determined early this week.

Coach "Big Sam" Burton has said that he will take eight or nine men on the trip with him, preferably nine, but this also is yet to be determined. A strong reserve supply will very materially enable him to defeat his opponents on the road trip. It is to be hoped that Crump will hit his stride again after his lay off from the game the past two weeks, and should do so soon provided he does not injure himself again, though the time in which he has to condition himself is short.

Coach Burton is to be commended for his foresight in securing games with Sunday as a rest period after the contests with Denton Friday and Saturday. Though a portion of Sunday will necessarily be spent on the train, it will be a relaxation for the Buffs in preparation for the Commerce tilts. To emerge victorious from half of the games when on a road trip is considered a good average by most coaches, but it appears that Burton has set his ideal a little higher, and has always attained it, never having lost as many as fifty per cent of his games on an extended road trip, and winning five of six at Abilene on one trip last year.

Canyon Eagles Win Tourney

handle managed to annex this contest by a count of 31 to 19. Outside of the all around play of Simms of Panhandle the game was rather slow and dull from the point of view of the spectators.

In the third game of the elimination round Canyon was given her first chance to show her ability and she promptly did so by drubbing the fast Canadian team by the one-sided score of 53 to 11. In this contest the Eagles appeared to have an entire constellation on the floor throughout the game. Bulldog Jones, coach of the Eagles kept his ace, Curtis Brown, out of the game most of the time, only allowing him to play a few minutes in each half. This boy displayed an almost unbelievable amount of speed and cleverness during the time that he participated; too much cannot be said of his prowess, for as the saying goes he certainly was "numerous on the field of play."

The team from Follett failed to arrive for the meet and Stratford was left without an opponent until Jim Webb's Calves rushed to the rescue. The redoubtable Spike Lowes and his gang administered a neat spanking to the North Plains boys by a score of 36 to 14.

In the first round of the semi-finals Tulia met Panhandle in a game that resulted in the elimination of the Oil Town boys by a score of 30 to 20. This game was rather slow and proved nothing except that Tulia would play in the final game. The last game of the semi-finals took place when Canyon took Stratford into camp in a contest in which the smooth working Canyon machine never hit the stride of which it was capable. However, a final check showed that the Eagles had chalked up 32 counters against 7 for her rival.

To start the afternoon off right a consolation game was played to determine the third place team. Panhandle defeated Stratford in this game by a score of 25 to 15. Outside the exceptional speed of the tiny Ingham of Stratford who earned himself a mention in this game there was little unusual play.

At four o'clock Canyon and Tulia met in the final game of the series. The winner of this game was to represent this district to say nothing of capturing the cups offered by the College and the College Oasis. Canyon won this setto after a hard fought game by the score of 26 to 17. The game was replete with thrills from start to finish. Featured by the play of the entire Canyon team and especially that of Curtis Brown, to say nothing of Crow of Tulia, the other all-star forward, the game held the fans breathless throughout. The Eagles had the Hornets outclassed from the starting whistle to the closing gun. Only determined fight and the dogged tenacity with which the losers played kept the score from being doubled.

After the game the winning team was presented with the two cups offered to the best team in the tourney. The presentation was made by President Hill of the College who complimented all the boys in the meet for their conduct on and off the court and urged them to become students of this institution as soon as possible as this school would be proud to have men of the type that they had proved themselves to be.

Soldiers Lose Two Here 46-16; 40-13

work showed itself to have been in progress during the past two weeks, and it looks as if the Buffaloes are to be practically as strong contenders for the championship as they were rated at the start of the season.

The Teachers' had trouble getting under way the second night, but snapped up to the onlookers' expectations before the end of the first half, and amassed a count that tripled the total of the Soldiers' tallies. No individual stars shone in either contest, but the Cadets have a squad that looked good as a unit, inexperience seeming to be their greatest handicap. Webb (W. T. S. T. C.) officiated on the occasion of each of these games, and elicited much approval from the camps of the Army and Teachers.

Gamel and Sanders appeared to have no difficulty in handling the attempts of the Soldiers to score.

FIFTEEN-INCH CUP GIVEN BY OASIS

The handsome loving cup pictured here has become the permanent possession of the Canyon Eagles Basketball team as a result of their victory over their contenders for honors in District One. It was presented to the Eagles soon after their victory over the Tulia squad Saturday afternoon by President Hill. It is fifteen inches high, knobbed with a miniature silver basketball, and has a removable cover. The Eagles received this cup in addition to the trophy cup presented by the college. The cup shown here was presented by Carl Scott of the College Oasis to the victors over all opponents in the district meet held here February 19 and 20.

Yearlings Lose Two on Road Trip

The Yearling basketball team returned Friday from Goodwell, Okla. where they lost two games to the Panhandle A. and M. college. They lost the first game 34 to 8, but came back strong the second night and gave the natives a few thrills, but lost 32 to 16. The Yearlings were handicapped by playing on a small court with a poor lighting system, many of the Yearling shots hit the ceiling. This is not an attempt at alibi, for Goodwell had a well balanced team and were well coached.

The Yearlings have played games with several high schools over the Panhandle and have been successful in winning most of them. They have won from Clarendon High, Miami High, Panhandle High, split a two game series with Tulia High.

On this week end the Yearlings go to Estelline and Hedley for games with the High Schools of these towns.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF SPORT

1. Thou shalt not quit.
2. Thou shalt not alibi.
3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
4. Thou shalt not be a rotten loser.

5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage.
6. Thou shalt not be unwilling to give.
7. Thou shalt always be willing to give thine opponent the shade.
8. Thou shalt not underestimate an opponent nor overestimate thyself.

9. Remember that the game is the thing and that he that thinketh otherwise is a mucker and no true sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playest, for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins even when he loses.
