

CPT Exams on Program Today

Another Eight-Week Class To Be Started—College Group Also Forming

Mental examinations for the next eight-week Army - Navy flying course at West Texas State will be given this afternoon, October 6, at 2 p. m.

Prof. W. Mitchell Jones will direct the screening test in Room 302. This Civilian Pilot Training program launches new classes each eight weeks. Full-time instruction is given five Army trainees and five Navy air cadets. The examinations are for prospective Army trainees only. Age limits are 17 to 37 years. The currently enrolled class will finish its training late this month and will proceed to another field for secondary training.

Another Class Forming

Meanwhile, an extra-curricular class for regularly enrolled college students is being organized. Instruction in this will last most of the semester. Information about either program may be obtained from Dr. S. H. Condon, coordinator of college aviation projects.

One class of Army-Navy trainees has been graduated and another class is in its fifth week of training. These fledgling fliers are not regular students of the college; however, they are taking a few short courses that are required by the government. Two planes and two instructors are furnished the class. The planes are the small but safe Aeronca 65's. CPT students do not draw a salary from the government; however, the government is responsible for all training expenses of the men.

The Navy boys are Jene Edward Ukena, Vene Maurice Schuhart, Alonzo G. Jones, Jr., Warren Earl Vaughn and Thirl Francis Sims.

The Army boys are Frank Tgar Atkinson, Billie Otho Browning, Curtis Jones Clement, Ernest Holden Lindsey, and Joe B. Mayo.

A Full Program

The cadets live at Stafford Hall. They eat breakfast at an early hour and are taken to the air field, where they fly until 2 p. m. The afternoons are spent in class rooms and on the athletic field, where the boys are building themselves up mentally and physically. All of the afternoon work is in the ground course. This course is made up of the following classes: Mathematics, physics, civil air regulations, navigation, general service of aircraft, radio code, military and physical training, aircraft identification, military science and discipline, meteorology, theory of flight and aircraft, and aircraft engine operation.

Dr. W. L. Ball, who is a second-lieutenant in the Civil Air Patrol, is instructor of the ground course. Louis Cole and Fred Hall of the Amarillo Air Service are the flight instructors. Amarillo Air Service also owns the planes that the cadets use. Lt. Reeves Donnell, instructor of the R. O. T. C. in Amarillo High School, is instructor in military science.

Annual Faculty Reception Draws Large Audience

Students in large numbers enjoyed the annual faculty reception at Cousins Hall September 28. After passing through the receiving line and being served punch, the group entered the ballroom for dancing.

Selected for the shortened receiving line were the following: Miss Adele Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boger, Mrs. Frances Bright, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Caywood, Miss Alma May Clark, Dean and Mrs. Harris M. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. Seth Fessenden, Dean Geraldine Green, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Haggard, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Henson, President and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hill, Dean and Mrs. R. P. Jarrett, Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Jarrett, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson, Dean and Mrs. Mitchell Jones Dean and Mrs. A. Kirk Knott, Miss Louise Manigault, Dean and Mrs. A. M. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Nicklaus, Miss Martha Palm, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Savage, Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Sheffy, Dean and Mrs. D. A. Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd V. Studer, Miss Lee Una Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Miss Mildred Tietz, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Whippo.

A few of these could not be present. Other members of the faculty were on various committees.

Officials have reported to the Prairie that a large number of students are coming to the gate during a football game and wanting to be admitted without their activity tickets. For the first game this was permitted, but Prof. W. Mitchell Jones states that in the future all students will have to have their activity tickets with them in order to gain admittance.

Assembly Speaker

DR. H. A. ZIMMERMAN

Dr. H. A. Zimmerman of Phoenix, Ariz., former missionary to Brazil, who is preaching in an 8-day meeting at the Canyon Baptist Church, is to be speaker at the regular assembly hour Thursday at 12 o'clock, according to an announcement by Dr. R. P. Jarrett, Dean of the College.

The public is invited to hear his message in the College assembly and his messages delivered at the Baptist Church, according to Dr. Roy L. Johnson, pastor. Dr. Zimmerman should be of double interest at this time due to the present relations between this country and Brazil.

Services are conducted twice each day at the Church, at 11 o'clock each morning and at 8:15 each evening. Music will be directed by Claude W. White, choir director.

Senate Names Yearbook Heads

Bill Mitchell Chosen Editor; Joy Cain To Be New Business Manager

Bill Mitchell and Joy Cain were the new Le Mirage executives whose names the Student Senate approved and sent to the office of Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the College, for final approval Saturday.

Bill Mitchell, a junior, was the only applicant for the position of editor. His election becomes effective immediately upon the approval of Dr. Hill. Miss Cain, who is a freshman, was elected to the office of Business Manager, effective December 1. Mabel Back, present Business Manager, has resigned as of that date.

Both students' final selection await the action of President Hill, who was sick yesterday and could not be reached for a statement concerning his action.

Teachers Likely To "Double" in Classes To Equalize Loads

Because of a shift in class enrollments, attempts are being made this week to equalize the teacher load in West Texas State.

The exceptionally heavy loads are in mathematics, physics, business administration, and government.

Dr. J. A. Hill has asked that instructors competent in more than one subject volunteer to take some of the extra classes or sections.

Essay Prize Contest Announced

A total of $20 in war stamps awaits the winners in a Rotary Club-Prairie essay contest announced today.

First prize, $10. Second prize, $5. Third prize, $2. And three prizes of $1 each.

The subject of the essay is "What the American Way of Life Means to Me."

Teacher Calls Are Numerous

Women, Including Married Ones, Taking Work in Many New Positions

Although most Panhandle schools have been in session almost a month, calls for teachers continue to reach West Texas State at the rate of five to ten a day.

The teacher shortage in the grades is especially serious, and is growing as young women go into other work. For the first time in many years, employers of teachers must bid against numerous other businesses and professions.

Some subjects have been dropped, while others have been maintained only by exercise of extraordinary resourcefulness. Among the persons who have been pressed into service are bus drivers, trustees, housewives, and professional men who work on a part-time basis, especially in direction of sports. Young women are doing work formerly considered only as fit for men—including coaching, manual arts, and band directing. Women are teaching pre-flight aviation, mathematics and sciences, and boys' physical education. Some are superintendents and many are principals. Schools which formerly barred married women now have few who are not married.

New Opportunities

Many school authorities have come to the campus to hire undergraduates of any certification at all. Movements of teachers have been unusually brisk because of the possibility of advancement. While some superintendents have condemned this trend, others take the position that long-suffering teachers, notoriously underpaid, should take advantage of any possibilities for bettering their pay or getting better working conditions.

In her efforts to aid school officials in finding teachers, Mrs. T. V. Reeves of the college's teacher placement committee has written hundreds of personal letters to former teachers and has furnished lists of persons granted certificates in recent years. These have resulted in the re-entry into teaching of many capable persons.

Mail Courses Available

Teachers whose certificates have expired and others who need better preparation are finding it possible to take work by correspondence while in service. These correspondence courses are offered in many fields. West Texas State is one of 79 American institutions approved by the War Department to offer correspondence work to soldiers and sailors.

Schools which must be closed for harvest periods are, it is feared, likely to suffer further losses in teacher personnel. Each draft call increases the openings into which teachers may go. The movement of future teachers into college for certification is not great enough to keep up with the decline. This is in sharp contrast to the pre-war trend, which showed an over-production of teachers under the certification laws and led to agitation for higher standards.

"There's A Scrap Mine on Every Campus," Says W. P. B.

The average college campus is a potential mine of scrap value and can play an important part in the current campaign to salvage waste metals for war, War Production Board officials point out. Acting through their representative bodies, college authorities are conducting campus drives.

As for direct participation, students might act as "salvage sleuths" to search out and report to their committee the location of scrap caches. In larger schools it might be found desirable to set up an official salvage depot to which the material could be carried. Red, White and blue signs reading "Official Salvage Depots" can be supplied by town salvage committees.

All sorts of scrap may be found in science laboratories, gymnasiums, kitchens, storerooms, boiler rooms, clubs and fraternities and other buildings. There is a wealth of material available from old Bunsen burners to discarded iron beds; from rubber mats to steam pipes;

Old Barn Grew Into Infirmary; Its Future Is Gloomy

Once upon a time a huge barn was built for the housing of the W. T. president's "coach, Ford, and horse."

No one knows just how long the old barn was used for this purpose. The building was later moved to the campus, where it was reconstructed, painted, and provided with beaverboard partitions which didn't reach the ceiling.

A basement was dug. In this basement the YWCA had its headquarters. Sandwiches, coffee, cake and other foods were served here while people stood around the walls. Later the college found need for a music practice room. The reconstructed barn was immediately filled with horns, pianos, gongs, violins, and other instruments.

Later, as the College grew, there was a need for a Health Center. The old, white, two-story building, north of Cousins Hall, was made into a Center. A nurse was employed; and daily, students visited the health center to get throats swabbed, cuts treated and other ailments cured.

Although the "Old Shack" was crude and poorly constructed, it served five years as a health center under the supervision of Miss Hellen Hickman, RN, and Dr. R. A. Neblett.

During this five-year period over 20,000 calls were made by students. Quoting Miss Hickman, "After all, a sore throat swabbed in a shack is better than a sore throat which hasn't been swabbed."

Fortunately after the five-year period mentioned, Dr. Neblett constructed an expensive hospital in Canyon. A contract was made whereby students who were bed patients were sent to the hospital. Clinic work was done at the shack. Since Pearl Harbor situations have changed.

Dr. Neblett volunteered for foreign duty; his hospital was closed. The old shack could no longer serve.

To make a long story short, the ex-home of the president of W. T. has been designated as the new home of the health service.

The upper story of the house is used as a hospital. For the most part it has been provided with new furniture. The lower story of the building serves as a clinic and quarters for the health supervisor, Miss Hickman.

Work in the "new health center" will not differ from that in other years. Miss Hickman has engaged several assistants who have had nursing training. Three of the assistants are students.

Dr. R. P. Jarrett is the school doctor.

Emergency cases are handled at any hour. Other cases should come during designated hours: The doctors consulting hours are:

8:30 to 9:30 a. m.
1:30 to 2:30 p. m.
Regular office hours of the health center are:
8:30 to 12:00 a. m.
1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

from old fences and railings to broken down pianos; from torn shower curtains to old rags; from hemp rope to replaced boilers.

Any student who has a jalopy which has outlived its usefulness, may do his country a real service by taking it to an automobile graveyard. Articles such as keys, badges, and miscellaneous items are good scrap and can be found in the very rooms in which students live.

The students' salvage committee might also make certain that all school and fraternity kitchens are cooperating with the salvage drive by saving fats and greases regularly.

MADE AN ASSISTANT

Berry McCarter, son of Prof. and Mrs. T. B. McCarter, has been made an assistant in an advanced class in electrical engineering at the University of Texas. He has an exceptionally high record in scholarship.

November 10, when the program will be directed by Olin E. Hinkle, a member. The club is providing the prizes. All students in the college are eligible to enter a contest essay.

Through this contest the Rotary Club and The Prairie hope to promote straight thinking about this often heard term, "American Way of Life." College instructors will be

Band Elects L. Hohlaus Prexy

Merle Lewis Makes First Appearance At Game Saturday

Lawrence Hohlaus, junior from Lockney, was elected president of the West Texas State Band last Thursday as the Buffalo organization started the 1942 season. Gene Morris is to fill the vice-presidency.

This year the Buffalo Band has started the program of using a membership committee, selecting its officials from the different halls on the campus. They are: Joe Slack, Pueblo Courts; Jack Andrews, Stafford Hall; Earlene Lust, Randall Hall; Gene Morris, Terrill Hall; Gerald Terry, delegate at large

"At this time the personnel of the entire band has not been selected," said Professor Strain.

Sectional drill will be stressed more this year than last, Mr. Strain also stated.

Merle Lewis made his first appearance as Drum Major of the Band last Saturday night during the ball game. Miss Lewis is from Denver City, Texas.

Military Group Sees 300 Men

Recruiting Mission Will Come in Three Weeks to Enlist Interested Males

After calling all college men to a special assembly last Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, five representatives of the U. S. Reserve Forces explained their programs to nearly three hundred eager men.

Dean R. P. Jarrett, who was in charge of the meeting, introduced the officers.

Major A. W. Holt, of the U. S. Army, leader of the group, presented Lieut. Liman E. King, who explained the Navy's programs, V-1 for freshmen and sophomores and V-7 for junior and senior students between the ages of 17 and 27 who want to stay in school and become officer material. Lieut. King said that any student should take mathematics of all kinds, and physics.

To upper classmen a degree of liberal arts or science would be of help. After completion of the sophomore year, a three-hour exam will be given and if the work has been satisfactory one may finish school. At any time, a member of V-1 or V-7 may transfer to V-5, the Navy flight program.

Naval Cadet Speaks

Next, Lieut. Ralph E. Binnion, a member of the U. S. Naval Flight Cadet Selection Board, explained flying in the Navy and the Marines. The Navy trains all Marine flyers.

Major Holt next encouraged men to get into his program the General Army Reserve. "No man in this reserve is likely to be called until he is at least 20½ years old but I believe one should try to get into the Army Air Corps Reserve if he can pass the rugged test."

Lieut. Carl C. Gregory, of the Army air corps Reserve, told men that there were two divisions of the air program: the Air Crew which has the pilots and navigators, and the ground crew, which includes the Armament, Engineering, Meteorology, and Photography officers.

"The Marines have many branches but are divided into three main ones," said Lieut. James R. Harper. "They are the defense battalion, sea-going Marines, and the fleet force. Now the Marines require a college education for entrance but I do not know how long this will continue."

This joint program of explaining all the branches of the reserves was not for enlistment but only for explanation. Recruiting officers will be on the campus in about three weeks and will then enlist college men in the reserves.

Quotations may be used in the essays only when properly credited. Originality and good form will carry considerable weight in the judging. Evidence of serious thought, some research, and a personal reaction will be expected.

Free Movies Will Be Shown Again In Ed. Building

The second in the year's series of free motion pictures will be shown today in the auditorium of the Education Building at 3:30 o'clock.

These films are designed for the purpose of helping citizens of the United States understand how many-sided total war is for a nation as large as the United States and to indicate each citizen's contribution to the war effort, according to Mrs. T. V. Reeves, director of the Bureau of Public Service.

Hundreds of British, American and South American films are now available for showing here.

"Ring of Steel," "Lake Carrier," "Safeguarding Military Information," and "Aluminum" will be shown today.

Former Student Is Married in Santa Barbara, California

Miss Fay Brown and Wallace Van Hise were married recently in the Church of Christ in Santa Barbara, California, by Dr. John N. Ashley. They were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Willadeen Brown, and a brother, Sgt. Eugene Brown of the Air Corps Gunnery School in Las Vegas, Nevada, and Miss Esther Munro and Ralph Vanian of Santa Maria, were present.

The wedding party left after the ceremony for El Paso for dinner, after which the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Oregon, home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride is a daughter of W. F. Brown of Lakeview, Texas and is a graduate of West Texas State College. She has been a resident of Santa Maria, Calif., for the last four years. She was society editor of the Santa Maria Times.

Campitivity Club Will Hike Today

The Campitivity Club will have a hike Tuesday, October 6, at 5:30. All old members and all those who are considering becoming members of the club are urged to come and bring a sack lunch. All who plan to go are to meet at the east entrance of the Administration Building at 5:30.

The activities of the club started with a hike and a picnic supper at the college farm Tuesday, Sept. 29 and with the donation of thirty-four knitted six inch squares to the American Red Cross to be made into afghans. These were made by members of the club last spring and summer.

Miss Hazel Evans announces that many more interesting activities are being planned for the club to carry out this fall.

Mabel Back Chosen Randall President

Mabel Back is the newly-elected president of Randall Hall. Doris Nell Gans was elected vice-president; Betty Ann Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Earlene Lust, vespers chairman; Frances Shafer, social chairman; Bernadine Phillips, Le Mirage and Prairie representative. Plans are being completed for Freshman Week.

Lack of Interest Is Cause Given

Students' Association Meets Today To Discuss Nomination Question

The proposed Student Association election has been postponed pending action of the Students' Association today in the Auditorium at 12 o'clock.

J. W. "Andy" Anderson, president of the Students' Association stated that lack of interest in the election originally scheduled for Friday, October 9, caused the postponement. Only one person's name was turned in by the deadline set by the Student Senate for each position vacant on the ballot.

"Nominations," stated President Anderson, "have not come in in sufficient numbers to justify closing the nominations deadline."

"If students do not feel the value of representing their own interests, it is due either to the improper functioning of the Students' Association or Student Senate or to lack of interest on the students' part. I urgently request active participation in student politics by all students of the College. Such activity is of mutual benefit both to the individual and to the Students' Association."

"Lack of knowledge as to the part that they play has probably handicapped the participation of many students."

Anderson assured The Prairie that all petitions which had been turned in to date, were bonafide regardless of whether the Students' Association chooses to change the date of election.

Faculty Members Are Introduced at First Assembly

If the same enthusiastic attendance of assemblies continues throughout the year, W. T.'s efforts to better them will certainly be a success.

Dean R. P. Jarrett acted as master of ceremonies for assembly Thursday. W. R. Clark of the Music Department led the group in singing the national anthem, after which Dr. Hill introduced the faculty members of which were seated on the stage.

A letter concerning the ringing of the Victory Bell for the duration was presented to the student body by Dr. Hill. The group voted to refer the letter to the President of the Student Association for further consideration.

OFFICIAL Bulletins

The College Dames is an organization sponsored by the college for the pleasure of those who, keeping house for college students of their own family, are transients in Canyon. Mature women students are invited to the first meeting at Cousins Hall on Friday, Oct. 9, at 3:30. Miss Florence McMurtry is the hostess.

At an executive meeting of the College Dames, it was decided that everyone who had formerly been a member is privileged to continue the membership.

The Prairie and War Censorship

War is a serious business in which fundamental errors of possible danger to the boys in service may be made in Canyon, Texas, as well as elsewhere. The game-loving American public formerly regarded the war as a phony exhibition. But when American boys are dying, the picture changes.

Loose talk is dangerous to these boys. Similarly, loose reporting may be dangerous. The Prairie is a student newspaper, but still a newspaper. It works under the same code of wartime practices that governs daily newspapers. Circulator throughout the state, it has the same opportunities for errors that other publications have.

The Prairie, for example, may not reveal in any manner the movements of troops and supplies within or without the United States. It may not comment upon their equipment, size, routes, schedules, and identity. With troops moving steadily in convoys, a revelation of this kind might be relayed to a waiting submarine or air patrol of the enemy. It would be easy, perhaps, to violate this regulation. The campus is visited frequently by service men. The only exception is that training camps may be mentioned if they are in this country. Naval personnel must not be linked to ships or bases, however. Names of persons stationed in combat areas may be used only after official announcement that troops have arrived in such areas.

Certain service men are engaged in specialized activities. To reveal these and the location of the men might furnish vital information to the enemy.

Newspapers are asked not to report the horror of air raid action, nor to use sensationalism in any form relating to the war. The public morale must be remembered and protected. Reports may not estimate the number of planes involved and the number of bombs dropped, except as mentioned in official communiques. Similarly, damage to property must not be mentioned.

Spreading of rumors is a favorite method of the enemy. These may concern domestic affairs or war progress. The American press is constantly urged to discard all rumors and to attempt to halt rumors already current. Certain of these already have been combatted in this area.

Atrocities stories are not always favorable to the United Nations, even though they are about enemy subjects. If they serve to alarm and worry American parents, they may be of enemy origin. Remember that the enemy has made a science of propaganda and is shrewd in its use.

Interviews with service men can be used only with extreme caution. In case of doubt, such stories should be submitted to the nearest censorship office or public relations officer.

The Prairie is endeavoring to send copies to men in service. But addresses change so rapidly, without notice, that this is an almost futile task. Only when men in service notify The Prairie of each change of address is the mailing likely to be satisfactory. In many instances, of course, the movements are secret and it is impossible to send address changes. The Prairie will continue to go to men whose addresses are accurate.

On the Duties of Sponsors

President J. A. Hill has called attention to the duties of organization sponsors in regard to the welfare of the groups served and the institution as a whole. In private conversation he has recalled instances of sponsor irresponsibility and resulting embarrassments.

"Unless one thinks of the opportunities rather than the honors which the office of sponsor affords," he told the faculty, "one is likely to take his duties in this respect rather lightly. Because of the confidence and respect which presumably go with one's selection as a sponsor, this officer has unique opportunity to serve many individual students and the institution as a whole. It would appear that the sponsor has unusual responsibility in the field of guidance—guidance of individuals and guidance of groups."

It is the duty of the sponsor, he added, to know as intimately as possible each member of the group sponsored, and to give such individual help as circumstances will permit. He should attempt to develop in students a constructive attitude toward their human environment. Secondly, the sponsor needs to know thoroughly the objectives of the group sponsored. Perhaps its objectives need defining. Much time is lost because organizations have no planned program and no leadership. This observation is true of students on the upper level as on the lower level.

It is not too much to expect that students shall exhibit the common courtesies. A college graduate ought to carry the earmarks of a cultured person. He should be cultured in personality, in conversation, in conduct. The group sponsor has opportunities to stress the importance of conduct which is to be expected of a person moving in polite society.

The sponsor cannot function well unless he attends the sessions of the group advised. He cannot be of much use unless he confers frequently with the student officers. He cannot plead the negligence of such officers, for one of the duties of sponsors is to see to it that student leadership is effective. He can do this more easily than fellow students of the offending officers.

It should be quite obvious that the office of sponsor requires fine, tact and intelligent skill in handling people. Domineering personalities are not effective in sponsoring young folk. Yet every good teacher should be an effective leader of youth.

More than one student has suggested that some sponsors and faculty members could well exhibit more culture in their talk about, and dealings with, each other and the administration. The college education process is experience in living. The lives of every person on the campus either raise or lower the general cultural tone. It is not enough to talk smugly about human relations in classes; they must be lived and exemplified in campus activities.

The sponsor is probably over-worked, long-suffering, and seemingly little appreciated. But the effective sponsor rarely suffers from lack of appreciation. Good work brings its rewards, although sometimes the ex-student, rather than the student, comes bearing gifts.

"Newspapers are the voice of the people—a little raspy at times, but I hope I never live to see the day when they can't speak above a whisper. I am for bigger and better newspapers, continued freedom of the press, and—more feuds."—Harold L. Ickes.

"The men and women of the Fourth Estate are on active duty almost as much as our soldiers and sailors and administrators, and it is their obligation to make certain that the enemy is not aided or comforted by written or spoken word that our American institutions are untarnished by the battle heat."—Cordell Hull.

"Newspapers are the pedagogues of the public mind. They furnish the information, they impart the knowledge upon which intelligent judgment must be founded. To interfere with this function in any way would be to undermine one of the bulwarks of the democracy of this nation."—Frank C. Walker.

THINK IT OVER

No great man in history has been a twin.

Although Texas' coastline is the third longest among the states, from the standpoint of distance of most of its territory from the sea and its transportation problems, Texas is an inland empire.

DEFENSE NOTE

We're fighting for AWOL . . . American Way of Life . . . so buy a stamp when you pass that table in front of President Hill's office.

OFF THE CAMPUS

There is little accounting for taste, but we would not like to make our money as a snake dancer . . . or a snake trainer.

Recently snake trainer Jack Hesse calmly entered the door of a well known off-the-campus spot, sat down, order a malted milk and a glass of water. The water turned out to be for Oscar, a small Bull snake.

Oscar drank some water, slithered around, yawned, and finally went to sleep in Jack's pocket. The reason for the good treatment was that that afternoon Oscar went to biology lab.

ON THE CAMPUS

Those tunes trickling out of Cousins Hall one night last week didn't come from the flexible digits of a maid. There were several soldiers in the crowd.

Don't fall into that ditch between Cousins and the "Ad." building. The progress on it is piling up rapidly . . . and that ain't hay!

CONFUSING... EH?

Dr. I. C. Barlow finds herself confronted in one of her history classes with Willis Truitt and Willard Pruett Hedges, Boyce and Cloyce Box, and Boyce and Cloyce Childers. The Childers are merely brothers; the others are twins.

"Give me a week, and I'll know you apart," she said. That would be called meeting the situation.

Dr. A. K. Knott gives the twins in his classes geographical names, according to their position in the classroom. If you visit his class, don't be surprised to hear him call someone "East" or "West" or "North" or "South."

Another set of twins on the campus are Edward and Edgar Brannon. Are there any others?

JUST TO MENTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5, (ACP)—Interesting because of his recent official connection with the government is C. A. Dykstra's recent analysis of the official government viewpoint toward colleges. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, headed the national draft machinery until appointment of General Hershey.

"The government," he said in an address before the American Library association, "considers America's institutions of higher learning as key centers in the war effort."

"At no time in human history have universities seems so important in a national effort as they are right now in the United States," Dykstra maintained.

"Universities and colleges are reservoirs for the recruiting of fighting men, of specialists for national services, and teachers of men in training," he declared. "Their laboratories are being used 24 hours a day and their plants in general are being made available for national service. Their facilities are being used instead of providing new facilities in many areas."

"The government without question considers them a wartime necessity and it is using them as they never have been used before. Moreover, it is indicating in no uncertain terms that it wants these institutions to carry on their regular training and educational programs so that we may have a supply of men who can meet the challenges of next year, and the year following and so on into the days when we may have peace again. It does not want to face the fact of a lost generation of educated leadership."

America's national policy at this time contemplates the maintenance of vigorous and comprehensive educational programs, not in spite of the fact that we are at war, but because the war effort and the peace effort to follow require such services as universities have to offer, Dykstra explained.

"Such a policy requires from universities adaptability, resourcefulness, an awareness of national needs, selfishness and devotion to the national effort, and willingness to put first things first during a period of world conflict," he asserted.

"To do this does not require the sacrifice of standards or the relinquishment of long time objectives. It means only a temporary redirection of certain activities and changing emphasis where it become necessary. Our task in general remains the same, the education of the new generation, the making of citizens, the pushing outward of the boundaries of knowledge, and the serving of our country and our generation in practical ways, which will make our national life more decent and wholesome."

CONSTITUTION

The Constitution of the United States is able to meet the problems of modern life because the Supreme Court is using modern methods in making its decisions. This is "judicial statesmanship of the highest order," declares Robert E. Cushman, professor of government at Cornell university, in a new pamphlet titled "What's Happening to Our Constitution?" and published by the Public Affairs committee.

The changed outlook of the court is not the result of the whims of new and younger judges, writes Professor Cushman. We must remember that the National Labor Relations act and the Social Security act were upheld before any Roosevelt appointee sat on the Court. "This revolution in the Court's method of work has come as a result of the application of a philosophy which runs back over 40 years and is most closely associated with the names of Holmes and Brandeis."

Local Officers To Enforce Law

Federal Order to Replace State Laws During the War; Gas Ration Nov. 22

Automobile speed in the United States is officially 35 miles per hour.

While there is no law on the subject, the edict of Transportation Director Eastman demands that all Americans observe the 35 mile per hour regulation in order to save tires and gasoline.

Eastman has requested that State and local officers enforce the law.

Governor Coke Stevenson stated Tuesday that he would refer the matter to the State Highway Department. The law of Texas allows a maximum speed of 60 miles per hour. The emergency of the war will probably cause the State Highway Patrolmen to assist in the enforcement of the 35 mile per hour regulation.

According to word from Washington, gasoline rationing will start Nov. 22. By that time ration cards will be in the hands of the local Price and Rationing Board.

Sgt. Billy Black of Las Vegas, N. M., was home on a short furlough last week. He is in the Air Corps and drills the men in the military training.

Schools Will Start National Drive Oct. 5

A country-wide drive on junk led by the school children of Randall county will get under way this week. The drive is nationwide in scope, and every school child will be asked to help Uncle Sam with the serious business of winning the war.

So far as Canyon is concerned, every citizen is asked to make another careful search of his home. Gather up all of the metal and rubber on his place and pile it on the front curb next Monday.

The school children will gather the junk, take it to the school houses where it will be sorted and weighed, and then delivered to the Consumers Fuel Association salvage yard. In this manner the school children hope to raise a little money to assist them in their school activities.

Every common school district in the county is urged by Judge A. H. Hunt to assist in this drive. The Umbarger school is organized and scrap metal is being brought to the school house by the pupils.

A meeting was held Friday night at the City Hall, called by C. L. Thompson, chairman of the city salvage committee. Representatives were present from nearly every organization in the city and county. The purpose was to unify the efforts of Randall county people into one great drive to get all of the scrap in the county moving toward the junk yards.

Mr. Thompson warned citizens not to be excited over the fact that junk must be handled through authorized junk dealers. There are 75 different grades of metal. These must be separated and shipped at different times. All of the metal must be processed and cut to a definite length so that it may be handled promptly at the metal furnaces. Every junk yard is under close government supervision, and that dealers are allowed to make only a reasonable profit considering the great amount of work which the dealers must do in processing the metal. Furthermore, the government knows exactly just how much metal there is in every junk yard in the nation, and these yards will be called upon to ship metal as it is needed.

Mr. Thompson pointed out that the need of junk metal is very, very urgent. Many metal furnaces have not been producing to full capacity because of the need of junk metal to mix the new ore.

From Washington comes warning that all scrap metal must be turned in by citizens. If there are any citizens who will not sell their junk, they will be reported to the government and something will be done about it. Junk should be gathered from the farms before cold weather and snow falls so that it can be handled by the junk yards as needed.

City trucks and county trucks have been made available to haul in scrap where the owners do not have means of transportation and are willing to donate the scrap to the Red Cross or other organizations. Most farmers can handle their own old metal, and there are few people in Canyon who have too much heavy metal to handle themselves, unless they wish to donate it to one of the public institutions.

Jeff Wallace made a very encouraging report on the progress of the campaign. Farmers are bringing in metal nearly every day. So far the Boy Scouts have done a good job in Canyon.

Several citizens made inspirational talks on the need of every citizen getting behind the war effort, especially this junk drive. It was agreed that a careful inspection would be made of the county this fall to see that all old metal had been marketed. Randall county has made a very fine record so far, but it is known that there are many tons of metal which have not been turned over to the junk dealers.

"Brave men shall not die because I fail," was suggested as the slogan of every citizen in this campaign of gathering precious metals and rubbers.

West Texas Buffs Take Tempe Bulldogs, 28 to 0

All Squadmen See Service In First Border Conference Win

Arizona Teachers Offer No Serious Offensive Threats Saturday Night

In their first home game of the season, the entire Buffalo squad saw service in smothering the Arizona State Bulldogs of Tempe 28 to 0 Saturday night on Buffalo Field. It was the first Border Conference win for the West Texas State eleven in two starts.

Arizona State presented no serious offensive threat during the contest, using a varied offense with Al Onofrio, Roy Cours, Hubert Figueroa and Bernard Vitek alternating at the passing, kicking and running chores. The Buffs' starting backfield accounted for a touchdown in each of the first three quarters before reserves came in to score the final 7 points.

Early in the first quarter the West Texans commenced their scoring spree when Duncan Kirkpatrick intercepted Vitek's attempted pass to Figueroa on Tempe's 38-yard line and charged to their 24. Co-Captain Joed Forbus and J. P. McMahan took the ball to the opponents' 6-yard line on five plays from which McMahan circled right end for the touchdown. Co-Capt. Johnny Thomas pulled out from his tackle position to place-kick the extra point.

Soon after the gun ended the first period, big Leslie Curb took a lateral from Ed Castleberry, going from the 49-yard line to Tempe's 20. Castleberry went over tackle twice and guard once for a total of 9 yards. Andy Anderson skirted left tackle on a reverse to score standing up from the 11.

Freak incident of the game was on the next conversion. Anderson's first kick was low, but the Bulldogs were offside; his second was partially blocked, but Tempe again drew a 5 yard penalty. On the next attempt, Castleberry went over the goal around right end but the Buffs drew a 15-yard holding penalty. Anderson came back for another try and his place-kick from the 20 was good.

Tempe came back scrapping after the kickoff as Figueroa, Vitek, Onofrio and Cours returned the ball from their 40 to the Buffs' 32, making two first downs enroute before losing the ball on an incomplete fourth down pass. The three-year threat, Al Onofrio, did not do nearly all of the running, passing and punting as was expected. This was his third year to play against the Buffs, having had a hand in the Tempe win in Amarillo two years ago.

Shortly before the half Onofrio came within a fraction of scoring but was nipped at the shoelaces by safety Andy Anderson who was the last Buffalo between the 30 and the goal line.

Near the end of the third quarter the Buffaloes made four first downs in a row to place the ball on Tempe's 5-yard line. Around right end went Ed Castleberry for the third touchdown. Thomas' kick was good, making the score: Tempe 0, West Texas 21.

LeRoy Reeves, freshman back, was the principal pilot in the Buffalo offensive for the remainder of the game as he led the passing and running attack to Tempe's 20. He passed to Willard Hedges, then to Charles Vick from the five for the final touchdown. Rufus Bradford converted from placement.

Because of the serious rubber shortage, certificate rationing of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes has been ordered by the Office of Price Administration to insure necessary supplies of this footwear for men working on jobs essential to the war effort or the public health and safety. W. J. Wooten, Chairman of the Randall County War Price and Rationing Board announced.

Effective at midnight Tuesday, OPA ordered all sales and shipments of six types of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes frozen to prevent a buyers' "run" on the stocks now on hand and also to give dealers time to take inventory.

All retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers of the rationed footwear are required to obtain OPA inventory forms from their local War Price and Rationing Board before the end of this week.

To get a certificate the applicant must fill out two copies of a form that will be available at the local War Price and Rationing Board.

TRAILIN' the Herd

By STUART CONDRON

Border Conference upsets and high scores were as thick as draft notices last week as many strong favorites fell four miles below sea level. First of all, West Texas State's Buffaloes were given only a fifty-fifty chance to pull over the Arizona Bulldogs. But our Texas team took the game 28-0. The mighty Texas A. & M. considered one of the best teams in the nation, was doped to take Texas Tech for a cleaning de luxe. The Aggies pushed across only three tallies, all of them came in the first half.

Hardin-Simmons, last year's steam roller, claims the best club in years and has new statistics to support the theory. First, H. S. U. plowed through Baylor, 13 to 7. Then, last Saturday, blasted North Texas Teachers in a 34-0 setback.

McMurry, which ordinarily would not scare your own Aunt Ida, even with her bad heart and high blood pressure, sent the New Mexico Aggies to the showers with a 12 to 0 defeat. And that, chum, is something to see your lawyer about. Besides all this, Texas Mines worked a 7-0 victory over New Mexico University.

HERE IS ONE FOR RIPLEY

Call it lucky if you want to, but that is just the way that those boys from St. Louis do things. As you recall, the Cards lost the first game of the World Series, 7 to 11. They came back in the second affair and took it 4-3. Then in the third game on Saturday, the Cards got hotter than a firecracker lit on both ends and stormed through the Yankees 2 to 0. That score though it was a mere two-point win, doesn't do justice to the St. Louis Cardinals. Neither does it represent the game that the Yankees turned in. The records will show that the New York club got the better of the deal. Although they did do this, the Cards showed some of the best fielding that has been seen in the Series in many a year. Any way that you take it, it was a game that will long be remembered in both the American and the National Leagues.

10,000 Copies of American Talk by Hill Distributed

The Plainview Evening Herald has printed and is distributing 10,000 copies of the address by Dr. J. A. Hill, "And This Is America."

Dr. Hill first made the address at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education. Since then he has been called upon to repeat the talk before several civic clubs.

When he talked at Plainview before the Kiwanis Club, Herbert S. Hilburn, editor of the Herald, started a movement to print and distribute the copies as a patriotic service to people of this section.

Copies were sent this week to all members of the Panhandle Press Association together with the quarterly Panhandle Publisher.

ALFALFA EMLER CURB — DOG

Mascot Is Well Fed

One of the popular, if not the most popular boys at Buffalo Courts is Alfalfa Emler Curb. Alfalfa, though just a canine mascot, has been gaining the spotlight every since Christmas, 1941, when the basketball boys adopted him. By the time the rest of the Courts boys returned after the holidays, he had established himself quite well and soon became as well known to the rest of his adopters. At the present, Buford Emler and Leslie Curb are fathering him mostly.

Since Alfalfa is important to both the hardwood and the gridiron teams, he has accompanied his friends on virtually every bus trip (to town). Not only does he participate in these excursions but he may be found on the football field at any time the boys are there, barking out encouragement and instructions right along with the coaches.

Of course Alfalfa eats at the cafeteria, but only after the boys are through and have brought him his food. His friends' generosity has no bounds and is even carried beyond ordinary limits. On Wednesday Jack Hessey was seen sharing an ice cream cone with him, which he took lick by lick as a gentleman does.

Alfalfa, to the public, is just an ordinary black and white long-haired, good natured, American dog; but around West Texas State he is a very popular dog-about-the-campus.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crowder of Clovis were here over the week-end visiting at the parental Wester and Crowder homes. He was inducted into the army Tuesday at Clovis, going for Volunteer Officer Training. His wife will continue her work in Clovis.

Visitors in the Wester home Sunday were: Iva Wester and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wester of Carlsbad; R. E. Wester and family of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Crowder and the Henry Meyer family.

Terrill Hall Is Open For Men

Bill Collins Elected First President; Mrs. Milton Morris Is Hostess

A new and attractive dormitory, equipped for 39 men, is Terrill Hall, located immediately north of Buffalo Courts. Hostess for this new hall is Mrs. Milton Morris. This first college boys' co-op will be operated on the same order as Randall Hall, co-operative home for women.

At a hall meeting held Wednesday evening, Bill Collins was elected president; Jack McWhirter, vice-president; Robert Conner, secretary and treasurer; Gene Morris, Prairie reporter and annual representative, and James Montgomery, intramural manager.

Plans are being made for an open house in the near future. All students are invited to visit the hall at any time.

Students who stay at Terrill Hall pay a fee of $85 per semester, which includes board and room. Each works one hour a day.

Terrill Hall is of native stone similar to Buffalo Courts. Immediately to the north is the dining hall with one end to be devoted to a recreation hall.

Inquiries and reservations may be made by writing to Mrs. Milton Morris or by inquiry direct at the office.

Play is a pleasurable mental and physical competitive exercise where the issues involved are trivial and transient. It is a fit preparation for more important tasks. And it is the law of life that you only do those important tasks well at which you have played in childhood.—Stanley Hall.

Coaches Eye Game With Flying Eleven

Miller Well Pleased With Team's Physical And Morale Condition

With the spectacular and impressive 28 to 0 win over the Arizona State Bulldogs of Tempe under the belts of the hustlin' Buffaloes of West Texas State College, Coach Gus Miller is all optimistic over the offensive and defensive showing of his team and is awaiting the return of Coach Windy Nicklaus who scouted the Albuquerque Air Base over the week-end, to resume practice in preparation for a tougher opponent here Friday.

Coach Miller was particularly impressed by the fine morale and physical condition of his team after the defeat of Texas Tech last week. He expects a lot closer game with Air Base, which has a number of individual standouts gathered from top teams of the country including Connie Sparks of Panhandle who played with T. C. U.

The Buffaloes emerged with no game injuries and the injured men in better shape than after the Tech encounter. Mack Winters, brilliant blocking back, played almost half the game and is still improving and should be almost at peak condition by Saturday. Andy Anderson is "coming along" and should be able to use his left arm to assist in passing duties.

J. P. McMahan turned in an outstanding ball - carrying performance as did his running mate Ed Castleberry. Both seemed to be over the early season strain. Leroy Reeves, frosh back who did most of the passing Saturday night, looks like a triple threat man with his running, passing and punting. Coach Miller was especially pleased with the blocking of Co-Capt. Joed Forbus in the backfield and of the whole line's performance. The statistical summary brings to front the fine line work when the Buffalo backs were forced to punt. No yardage was made by the Bulldogs on punt returns.

Pilots Seen as Strong Eleven

Albuquerque Club May Topple Buffs*Friday; Nicklaus Is Impressed

Assistant Coach W. W. Nicklaus returned from a week-end scouting tour to announce that West Texas State now faces two of the strongest offensive clubs in the Southwest in successive weeks.

On Friday evening, the Buffs will play the Albuquerque Air Base—an eleven which, according to Nicklaus, has the most varied offense he has ever seen. The lineup is scattered across the field on some formations, and the "T" system is in full bloom on others.

To make matters worse for opponents and more interesting for fans, the pilots handle the ball exceptionally well and have great passing. Laterals were handled faultlessly by them last week as they defeated the Lubbock air base, 12 to 0. The pilots are coached by Ted Shipkey, former New Mexico U. mentor who long has been noted for gridiron hocus pocus. He has college stars at every position had some former pros in addition. His fans already are talking about the likelihood of an undefeated season.

At El Paso, Nicklaus saw Texas Mines beat the University of New Mexico by a single touchdown on a muddy field. The lads trained last spring by Jack Curtis, former Buffalo coach, showed much power and a defense which, on the slow field, stopped the New Mexico razzle-dazzle.

Conceding his alarm, Nicklaus called for a week of intensive training to prepare for the very capable Albuquerque pilots. He was only partly reassured by the Buffs' 28-0 victory over Arizona State of Tempe in his absence. He and Ben Collins, who made the trip and saw McMurry College beat the New Mexico Aggies 12 to 0, see only major obstacles ahead for the locals.

Campus Social Clubs Prepare Rush Week for Sororities and Fraternities

Benefits of Social Clubs and Regulations Are Explained

With classes well under way, and things in general under control; comes time for the social clubs to blossom. And what with rush week less than two weeks away, comes also time for the freshmen and campus freshmen to become acquainted with rules, regulations, restrictions and so forth.

Under the present ruling of the administration, those who have a minimum of fifteen hours, together with a C average are eligible, and may consider themselves as prospective rushers. Those with less than the required number of hours or with averages hitting below the C mark are of course ineligible.

The clubs were organized primarily for the purpose of promoting social life on the campus. Since their beginning, however, they have widened the scope of their activities, until they have attained a prominent place in the structure of the college.

Scholarship, culture, friendliness, good sportsmanship, cooperation, initiative, character, and loyalty are all requisites according to club codes. They strive to make leaders of their members in whatever walks of life they choose to follow after college.

Along with the social affairs given by each club occasionally, various worth-while projects are sponsored. The competition is especially keen concerning semester grade average. At the end of each semester, these averages are posted for the public to view.

Altogether, there are seven social organizations on the campus—three men's clubs, and four women's clubs.

For the boys there are: Epsilon Beta, Tri Tau, and Alpha Sigma Xi. For the girls: Gamma Phi, Kappa Tau Phi, Delta Zeta, and Pi Omega.

Rush week will begin Sunday, Oct. 18th, and end Sunday, Oct. 25th.

Is stubbornness your problem? Dr. Donald A. Laird, eminent psychologist, explains what stubbornness really is, how to detect it, what to do about it, and how to make it a help rather than a handicap. Read what he has to say on this well-nigh universal problem in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

Freshmen And Campus Frosh Honored with Tea

Frost-touched leaves, brilliant dahlias and chrysanthemums, lighted candles and soft music provided atmosphere and decoration Sunday evening for the annual Autumn Tea, given by Gamma Phi sorority for the freshmen and campus freshmen girls.

Each guest was greeted at the door by Betty Whitlock, president; Mrs. Harter, sponsor; Miss Edna Graham and Mrs. Wofford, honorary sponsors. After signing the guest book, the girls were pinned with corsages of baby mums.

Piano music was furnished by Miss Nelda Fagan of Randall Hall; and pictures for the annual were taken by Hud Prichard, as the guests arrived. The girls were served light refreshments, Miss Graham and Mrs. Wofford presiding alternately at the table.

A short business meeting was held after the tea. A round table discussion of current events was held with Mrs. Herschel Jennings directing as the president.

Those signing the guest book were Mrs. J. S. Humphreys, honorary member, Mrs. Roy G. Boger of Amarillo, Mrs. W. A. Miller, Mrs. W. F. Haggard, Mrs. R. C. Hilliard, Mrs. W. W. Nicklaus, Mrs. Alwyn Williams and Mrs. Clem Alexander, guests.
