

South Pole Adventurer Lectures to Full House

Introduces Comparison, Nika, Malemute Sled Dog

Thursday evening in the Administration Building, a packed auditorium of friends gathered to see and to hear Joe Hill, who, as Clyde Warwick expressed it, was the West Texas representative on the Byrd Expedition to the South Pole. After Mr. Warwick's introduction, Joe Hill appeared on the stage holding the leash which was quite firmly fastened around the neck of Nika, a malemute dog which he brought home with him. After introducing Nika, Joe gave the dog into the care of R. M. Thompson, and then proceeded with his lecture.

"When it's too cold for dogs to work in the Polar regions, men have to go on with the jobs," said Joe in recounting his adventures in Little America with the Byrd Expedition. "If the thermometer goes beyond 40 degrees below zero, and it frequently does so, the dog's lungs freeze, and they die."

"We worked eight hours every day, but we ate only twice each day," said the twenty-one-year old adventurer. Asked how the men spent their leisure he replied that ski-ing, kodaking, playing games and watching the Aurora Australis which shoots 600 miles into the sky, reading books, singing, seeing the same movies over and over were among the things that helped them spend long hours. The longest work shift during the twenty months was when the ships were unloading at Little America and it was necessary to work 72 hours, almost without stopping, in order to get their ships ready to depart for New Zealand and their base ready for habitation during the long night.

Young Hill closed his lecture by saying, "When the ship sailed away from Little America, I couldn't keep tears out of my eyes to save my life, and believe me, if I ever have a chance, I am going back again." So Canyon may have a famous polar explorer among its citizens some day.

Among those in the audience Thursday evening were dozens of Boy Scouts who felt that they were his brothers because he was an Eagle Scout.

Joe will appear before many other audiences during the summer, and he will show Nika and the garments which he showed in his lecture here.

Haymes Delivers Baccalaureate Talk

Setting Truth as the highest, most sought-after quality, Dr. J. O. Haymes of Amarillo delivered one of the most enlightening sermons ever given before a senior class when he addressed the members of the Class of 1935 in the auditorium of the Administration Building Sunday. Reviewing the slow, laborious development of truth by giving many lucid illustrations, Dr. Haymes pointed out that superstition and many "isms" had retarded the development of the element which has done most to enlighten the people of the world. That religion and science are not conflicting is his opinion. "The truth about anything cannot cause conflict," said Dr. Haymes. Although science has disclosed much of God's plan for the world, there is much mystery about it all yet. Leaving the thought that unselfish service is the result of a knowledge of truth, Dr. Haymes closed his sermon.

The Madrigal Club of the college furnished the music; Professor Wallace R. Clark was director. The invocation was said by Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum. Uncle Tommy Clark substituted for the Rev. J. R. Hicks in reading the scripture. Following the prayer by Rev. Chas. L. Dickey and announcements by President J. A. Hill, the choir sang "Gloria" from 12th Mass by Mozart. The Rev. Stuart Marsh said the benediction.

Twelve W. T. High Students Placed On Honor Roll

Shingles will be presented to twelve W. T. High School students tomorrow evening in the Commencement exercises formally admitting them to membership in the National Honor Society.

Following are the names of those receiving the shingles which will be presented by Mrs. Montfort:

W. T. High Studes Present Recital

The annual recital of the W. T. High School speech class was given last Thursday afternoon in the Home Economics dining room.

The program for the recital was as follows:

The Culpit—Louise Groom. The Twins—Kathleen King. The Rival Speakers—J. D. Roberts and Earl Whitley.

The Prayer—L. E. Thomas and Meredith Warren.

Three Types at the Movies—Jerry Tomlinson.

Crossing the Bar—Helene Oliver. A Slight Misunderstanding—Jean Graham and Millard Currie.

Her Answer—Dorothy Decker. Little Boy Blue—Jimmie Lou Adams.

Little Boy Blue's Mother—Frances Armstrong.

With Every Breath I Take—Grove Stucky.

So Was I—Cato Merchant.

Pantomime—Kathryn Patterson. Songs My Mother Sang—Mary McCaslin.

At the Soda Fountain—Mary Frances Douglas.

Snowbound—Ruth Baker, Marjorie Merchant, and John McNeill. Thelma Callahan, Martina Anderson, Elizabeth Jameson, Velma Padgett, and W. D. Hawkins, practice teachers in public speaking were in charge of the recital.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS HOLD CAMPING PARTY

About 20 Christian Endeavorers spent the week end at Ceta Canyon. Each member took his own camping outfit. Hikes, games, photography, and nature study were enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. Travis Shaw and Rev. Charles L. Dickey chaperoned the group. Everyone got back in time for the baccalaureate service Sunday morning.

Halls, Stairs Blocked By Autograph Fiends

"Gangway! Come on, and let a feller by, can'tcha?" These and similar cries of protest have echoed along the halls of the Ad. Building ever since the arrival of those Le Mirages.

Packed densely together on the stairs, eds and co-eds are to be observed busily engaged in exchanging autographs and "Remember me as a friend at W. T." Much tardiness to classes has been reported by various instructors as a result of the student pausing to inscribe a few words of appreciation and encouragement in the yearbook of a friend.

Those students who are most popular in school have been heard to complain quite frequently during the last few days of being afflicted with the "writer's cramp." One of these popular eds who happened to be endowed with more intelligence than the majority of his peers, and whom it is best not to name, appeared in the hall with his right hand and arm carefully bandaged and in a sling. He confided to an intimate friend that he would be safe from the swarming autograph seekers and that he would thus avoid being forced to cut his classes.

Girls Show Deep Interest In Woodworking

Intense enthusiasm and most assiduous application to duty are the chief characteristics of the Girls' Woodworking Class. The course was planned for the purpose of giving primary and intermediate education majors training in handling tools efficiently. Often, teachers of pupils in these grades are called upon to assist in the preparation of exhibits. For this reason, much of the work done by the class is of that nature. Among the articles made by the girls are miniature sets of furniture, book ends, stick horses, and larger pieces of work such as book-cases and magazine racks.

The class was divided into two divisions because of the unexpected interest shown by the girls in the course. The course is not limited to primary and intermediate education majors only but offers opportunities for the home economics and art majors as well.

J. A. Gillis, instructor, says that the girls are more dependable than are boys and that in many instances, they are faster in their work.

Educational Tour Plans Progressing

Frank R. Phillips, who is to be in charge of the Western Educational Tour during the summer received a charter Thursday authorizing him to conduct such tours from the Secretary of State at Austin. The charter was granted to last over a period of fifty years.

Preparations are being made now for the tour as Mr. Phillips is buying between $1,500 and $2,000 worth of equipment for camping and comfortable traveling.

A house trailer was recently purchased to serve as the cafeteria of the expedition.

Miss Agatha Taylor, who went with the Educational Tour last summer, was on the campus Friday making arrangements for going on the second educational tour this summer. She was primary teacher this year at Chamberlain school in Donley County.

Killibrew, Brown Engaged In Craftsmanship

Cedar chests, cabinets, buttons, lawn decorations, picture frames. You can find all these things and many others, all hand made and carved in the small shop operated by Carroll Killibrew and Durwood Brown, in the basement of the Buffalo drug.

These two young craftsmen received their training in the Department of Manual Arts of the College, however their work shop is in no way connected with the college. The shop is fully equipped with miniature machinery and after Carroll receives his degree this spring, they plan to establish in a larger place here in Canyon. A curio shop is to be connected with this.

The carving is all done by hand and is done exclusively by Killibrew who is well known on the campus for his artistic skill.

The largest order the boys have received since they established their shop, less than a month ago, is one for an entire bed room suite of cedar. All you have to do is to tell the boys what you want and they make it—everything from a button to a bed. Their price on furniture is only about two-thirds the usual retail price.

Young Hermit Has Novel Experience

Wayne Miles, a West Texas State Teachers College student until the beginning of the last quarter, has for the past two and a half months been living the exciting life of a hermit up in the lonely hills of Hemphill County, many, many miles away from the "maddening crowd!" Panhandle newspapers have termed him, "The Hermit of Hemphill County."

When he first went up there, Wayne started work on his future home, which he has since completed. It is a novel eleven by twelve foot dug-out which was made in the side of a hill and faced with a rock front. It has been made quite neat and very comfortable and will be used in the future by advanced paleontology students when they make week-end excursion trips.

The building of this dug-out has not taken all of Wayne's time, since he has been directing a party of FERA workers who have uncovered a large part of a Pliocene period bone bed. Exceptionally fine fossil bones of horses, camels, and saber-tooth cats have been found. These men have removed enough of the over-burden in the bed to expose a large part of the fossil bearing layer which promises to be very rich material.

While in college, this promising young paleontologist made an excellent record, and he is doing splendidly in the work he is now doing.

Prexy Absent For Longest Time In His Presidency

Dr. J. A. Hill, President of the West Texas State Teachers College, returned Wednesday from a 5,600 mile trip and a 24-day absence from Canyon. This is the longest time that he has ever been away from the campus since he became president in 1918.

While away he attended the President's reception and the banquet of the National Geographic Society honoring the second Byrd Expedition when they arrived in Washington and the huge reception given the Byrd party at Boston before the expedition was disbanded.

President Hill stated that the crowd in Boston was the largest which he had ever seen, that it seemed that all New England must have turned out to welcome home the men who had been so long in the Antarctic.

While in Washington, President Hill spent several days working upon PWA projects under consideration for the West Texas State Teachers College.

W. T. Student Wins Prize In Contest

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger received a letter Friday from R. A. Stuart who has been in charge of the Federal Housing Administration Essay Contest in Texas. Accompanying the letter was a check for the amount of $10.00 which was to go to Miss Imogene Holbert, winner of the third prize in the contest. Miss Holbert is a junior in W. T. and lives in Amarillo.

Sidney Goldman, of Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville, won first prize of $25.00, and Miss Mildred Ruth Hargis, Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, won second prize of $15.00.

Miss Mayme Lee Gibson of Snyder visited this week in Randall Hall with her sister, Louise Gibson.

Commencement Climax To Be Reached Thurs.

Finch's Duties Lead Him Far

Howard Finch, field man for the Panhandle district of the curriculum revision program for state schools, has traveled 3,335 miles to speak to 2,230 people in his district since February 1st.

Mr. Finch is employed by the West Texas State Teachers College and is sponsored by the Panhandle-Plains Superintendents' Association. His work has consisted of spreading in speeches the state school administration's aim in conducting the great program of testing curricula.

When speaking before school groups, Mr. Finch has stressed the scientific approach to the curriculum revision problem. The goal is toward a more practical curriculum, so Mr. Finch explained, that will omit a seeming bulk of subjects useless from the standpoint of later needs, and of no immediate benefit to the student.

Many groups who have heard Mr. Finch have been social and parent-teacher organizations. To these audiences his speeches have been pointed toward the welding of a probable breach between school and society, stimulation of community interests in school affairs, and an awakening among such organizations to their duties as promoters of well organized, practical, and systematic schools.

Mr. Finch has co-operated with the state-wide curriculum revision movement in its first year of a four-year program. He plans to complete his year's work by June 1.

Commencement For W. T. High Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow evening, the Commencement exercises for the W. T. High School Seniors will begin at 8:15 in the Education Building Auditorium.

The program is as follows:

Processional—Class.

The Latin Grammar School—La Vada Quarles.

"Welcome, Pretty Primrose," Pin-suti; "Gondolier's Song," Graben-Hoffman—Girls' Chorus.

The Academy—Frances Armstrong.

"Concertino," Von Weber—Leo Duflo.

The Early High School—Mary McCaslin.

"I Hear the Bees A-Humming," Zamecnik; "Little Glow-Worm," Wellesley—Boys' Chorus.

The Modern High School—Kathleen King.

"Napoli," Stuart-Van Norman; "The Pipes of Spring," Lyon—Mixed Chorus.

Awards: Diplomas, F. E. Savage; National Honor Society, Mrs. T. S. Montfort.

"Our Dear Old W. T. High School"—Assembly.

Seniors Elected To Good Positions

The majority of the thirty seniors who have been elected to teach next year or to act as superintendent or principal in schools are to remain in the Panhandle.

The people and the schools where they are going to teach are as follows: Sid Thomas, Hedley; Yvonne Thomas, Quitague; Minney Allen, Pampa; Josie Baird, Harmony, near Jayton; E. W. Baldwin, Alexander in Swisher county; Lucy Blair, Dickens; Leonard Britt, Fairview; Edith Brookfield, Messenger; Pearl Buckley, Quanah; Leona Bullington, Anton; D. V. Biggers, Hopkins near Pampa; Ruth Wells, Hopkins school, also; Roy Farnsworth, near Amarillo; Kathleen Bragg, near Amarillo; Irene Hurst, Oklahoma Lane; Elizabeth Jameson, Goodnight; Emil Hutto, Olton; Louise Jacobson, Vernon; Esther Boulware, Adrian; Annie Johnson, Benjamin ranch school.

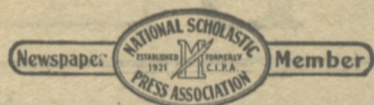

Helen Johnson, Stratford; Mrs. Arline Ogden, Williams, Arizona; Joyce Sheats, Oklahoma Lane; Marjorie Tucker, Goodnight; May Bell Beach, Paducah; J. C. Line, Panhandle; Kathryn Brown, near Tyler; Mattie Devin, Quanah; Wanda Cain Faville, Texico; Le-roy Lowry, Connelly school, Borger.

At last, back to the creek, and a scramble for blankets, quilts, etc. And then a night of—well, wait. You'll be a Senior someday.

GREETINGS TO THE READERS

With the appearance of this issue of The Prairie, the formulation of the policies of this newspaper enters into new hands. In all probability, these new hands will prove inferior in capability to those that have had in charge the direction and guidance of the paper this year. Certainly, the new hands will make mistakes, probably many of them. Errors will be committed, though it is the intention of your new editor to strive to render the best of service always. In connection with this aim, it is well to say here that criticism, that is, constructive criticism, is invited and will be appreciated.

It is easy to make promises. The real test comes in carrying those promises to fulfillment. That being the case, we shall, with your permission, refrain from promising. We feel that the better policy is to do the work to the best of our ability and then let you be the judge. If you are satisfied, we are, and if you are not satisfied, tell us so and give us the opportunity to do better next time.

Perhaps we should inform you that the pleasure of taking up the work in earnest is to be deferred until the beginning of the regular session in September of this year. During the summer session, Miss Emil Brewer, editor of the paper last year, will serve in the capacity of editor. This issue has been more or less a trial one; a trial of our abilities and of your reactions. Anyway, give us some suggestions in order that we may know more about it when we start out next fall. —B. B.

A LIGHT?

Put a penny over your eye and it is bigger than the sun. But is it? Place before you the present methods and system of American education and they are more efficient than any which can be proposed. But are they?

In most cases it is a matter of distance and perspective. The penny is too close to the eye to permit of its comparison with the sun; the educational methods and systems employed today are too near for us to form an accurate opinion of their worth, compared to a proposed system which would eliminate higher education of the masses.

The bare statement, "elimination of higher education for the masses," is alarming to those who do not know the underlying factors of the vast resolution for which the initial trumpets are being sounded. The impression created is that a lull in education would be brought about; but, quite on the contrary, educational standards would be raised.

By demanding a very great deal from students in the higher institutions, the standard in lower department of the educational system would force a better preparation and selection of advancing pupils. Simultaneously there would be an automatic culling process in the higher ranks which would bring about the desired object: A reduction in the number of degreed scholars.

Using the existing system, a little time, willingness, and money are the only requirements for anyone, regardless of intellect, to become a graduate of a college or university. And at the present rate, but few years will elapse before the majority of the citizenry of America are degreed alumni.

Is this condition due to superior intellectual endowment of the American people, or is it due to an antiquated educational system? Without casting reflections on the average American intellect, it is evident that the answer lies in the latter cause. In the past three centuries we have made definite advances scientifically, artistically, and in literature; but in substance we have remained educationally stagnant.

In the beginning, we took the lead in mass education; then newer nations developed more efficient systems and we gradually fell to the foot of the class. But with the inauguration of the proposed system, we will again lead the world in pointing the way toward the unattainable goal of perfection.

The only stumbling block in the path of transition is the prevalent delusion that a mistake may be made—the sun and the penny—but powerful forces stirring the current of educational thought today will eventually sweep over the resistant forces to triumph in a new glory for the scholastic system of our nation.

Plans Announced For Opening Summer Session W. T.

Announcement has been made that a number of outstanding teachers have been secured for the summer session of the college.

Miss Annie McDonald, for many years primary supervisor of the Amarillo public schools, will work in the education department. Miss Bertha Stephens, who was a member of the faculty here a few years ago, will return this summer to work in the Training School. Miss Stephens is now on the staff of the Denver public schools.

Miss Ethleen Murrell of Pampa will teach social sciences in the high school of the Training School this summer. Since going to Pampa Miss Murrell has prepared a work book for teachers of Junior High School history.

Miss Maud Fletcher, art supervisor of the Amarillo public schools, has been secured for work in the art department.

From the University of Texas Dr. Arlin Turner and Luther Gray have been secured, both of them to teach in the department of English. Dr. Turner was a member of the faculty last summer and Mr. Gray formerly taught with Dr. Fronabarger at Denton.

Prin. J. B. Pope, Jr., of the Canyon high school will teach in the department of government.

There will be two visiting teachers in the department of home economics. Miss Fern Bowman, graduate of the local college and of the University of Chicago and now of Canal Zone, Panama, will begin work here July 1. Miss Hazel McKibben of Iowa State College at Ames will give a special course for teachers of home economics.

Emmitt Hazelwood, formerly of Canyon, will come from Cornell University to teach for half the summer in the department of physics.

Mrs. Hugh Brooks, formerly Miss Margaret Justice, will return this summer to teach again in the music department. Mrs. Mae Slack Coffee will teach piano during the summer, and Charles Strain, Jr., will substitute for his father in the band department.

Charles R. Sherer of the mathematics department of the Texas Christian University will be a member of the local mathematics department this summer.

For the first time in several years courses in journalism will be a part of the offering of the summer school. Miss Emil Brewer, a former student and once a member of The Canyon News staff, will give these courses. Miss Brewer is receiving her degree in journalism at the University of Missouri this spring and will come immediately to Canyon.

Besides these visiting instructors, a number of outstanding speakers have been secured for the summer session.

Rotarians Hear of Fossils Tues. Noon

Prof. C. S. Johnston of W. T. told the Rotary Club about the fossil beds in the Palo Duro Canyon, and Governor-elect Jim Willson talked briefly on the Japanese situation.

Harris M. Cook was in charge of the program, and introduced Prof. Johnston, the newest member of the W. T. faculty.

"There's bones in them thar hills," stated Mr. Johnston as he told of the excavation he was conducting in the Palo Duro. He described his work here with Floyd Studor, as well as the work he is directing in Donley county and Hemphill county. The fossils must be carefully removed, and prepared as they are taken out, then much time spent in the laboratory classifying them before they are ready to exhibit.

There are two phases stressed in this work, educational and scientific. In addition to the many bones of mastodons, elephants and other animals which have been removed, a complete skeleton of a new specie of land turtle has been removed, aged something like 5 million years.

Mr. Johnston highly praised the possibilities of the museum at W. T. and predicted that it may be one of the largest and most scientific in the nation as a result of the discoveries being made in this section.

APPROACHING MARRIAGE OF COACH COX ANNOUNCED

Bob Cox, Assistant Coach of West Texas State Teachers College, is to wed Miss Mary Carolyn Sneed of Upper Montclair, New Jersey, June 8.

Mr. Cox left Canyon Saturday for New Jersey. He is motoring through and will bring his wife back with him.

Mr. Cox and Miss Sneed became engaged while attending Duke University, Durham, North Carolina. Mr. Cox is a graduate of Duke and a member of S. A. E. National Fraternity.

Miss Sneed is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clifford Sneed of Upper Montclair, New Jersey. She attended Duke University.

The wedding is to take place at 8:30 o'clock, Saturday, June 8, at the Saint James Church, Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

A reception will be given in honor of the couple at 181 Fernwood Avenue, immediately after the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox will make their home in Canyon upon their return from New Jersey.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. HILL RECEIVE SENIORS

Saturday evening, President and Mrs. J. A. Hill gave their annual reception for the faculty and the class of 1935. Approximately two hundred guests were received between eight and ten o'clock.

Favors of blue Corn Flowers were given the guests by Miss Milvia Hill. Mrs. T. V. Reeves presided over the refreshment table where punch and cookies were served.

RANDALL HALL SENIORS HONOREES FORMAL DINNER

Seniors of Randall Hall were honored at a very lovely formal dinner given by underclassmen Friday evening. Honorees were Kathleen Wade, Kathryn Brown, Joyce Sheats, Fannie Mae Rees, Marjorie Tucker, Bobbie Woodring, Dorothy Parton, Eddie Mae Scott, Margaret Bergner, and Mable Mims.

On the tables were placed bowls of roses and four white tapers in candleholders.

Toastmasters on the occasion was Hester Gates, president of the hall.

The program was as follows: toast to the seniors by Flora Mims and response by Mable Mims; piano solo by Charlene McLarty; reading by Lella Cooper; a solo by Adella Beavers who was accompanied at the piano by La Trice Quattlebaum; short talks by some of the guests, presentation of a beautiful white cake to the seniors by a freshman, Virginia Hammer, and a closing group song.

Guests of the seniors on the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Miss Marion Normington, Miss Florence McMurtry, Miss Mary Morgan Brown, Miss Isabel Robinson, Miss Anna I. Hibbets, President and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Dr. Harris M. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Meyer, Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Clark.

WATKINS HOUSE SCENE OF BUFFET SUPPER

The Watkins House girls entertained friends with a lovely buffet supper Friday evening.

Decorations were carried out with a profusion of roses and other summer flowers and with place cards in the form of umbrellas symbolic of the song "Rain."

Various games formed the diversion for the evening.

The menu included fried chicken, creamed peas, mashed potatoes, gelatin salad, pickles, radishes, hot rolls, strawberry shortcake, coffee and tea.

Guests were: Mary McKamy, Minnie Allen Montgomery, Emma Lewell Plunk, Sybil Gidden, Josephine Lane, Mrs. Elsie Maye Hood, Gladys Adams, Rachel Elliston, Ernestine Walker, Johnette Hood, and Belle Watkins; Stina Cain, George Caviness, Dean Storey, Ezell Champion, J. C. Baker, Leo Jackson, and R. D. Wheelock.

Some of the curious seem determined to see how fast they can drive without being killed.

CARVER-SARRETT WEDDING RECENTLY ANNOUNCED

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Ruby Sarrett to Mr. Joe Carver on April 19. The pastor of the Church of Christ at Borger officiated.

Mrs. Carver is a student in W. T. and will complete her sophomore work at the end of this term.

Joe Carver is an ex-student of Canyon High School and is connected with the Canyon Tailoring Company.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN FRANCES MUNSON

Honoring Miss Frances Munson, who is leaving soon to attend school in Illinois, the library staff entertained with a picnic Saturday, May 25, after five-thirty. After playing a number of games, a picnic supper of sandwiches, potato chips, olives, cake and punch was served. Those invited were Frances Munson, Misses Tennessee Malone and Linnie Babston, Mary Kate Brotherton, Louise Hamm, Evelyn Mayfield, Gwendolyn Cow-Gill, Bertie Mae Williams, Ora Mae Harris, Genevieve Simmons, Annie Lou Henderson, Winnifred Carter, Mary Gordon, Mrs. Louise Brown, Sudie Lee Foust, Rachel Elliston, Patricia Wederbrook, Pearl Buckley, Nan Johnson, and Ray McEntire, Woodrow Toone, Red Merchand, James Young, and Reed Clark.

HOME EC. GIRLS ENTERTAIN WITH BRIDGE PARTY

Home Economics girls at the practice house entertained at bridge, Wednesday. The rooms were attractively decorated with roses, mock orange blossoms, and honeysuckle. The following were present: Misses Orpa Dennis, Maurita Taylor, Mable Jones, Betty McFarling, Gladys Stewart, Mary Jean Muse, and Peggy Roebuck; Messrs. Ford Fronabarger, Cecil Pike, James Beard, Stina Cain, Jimmy Holston, Wayne Terry, and G. T. Higgins; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fowler, and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan A. Miller.

Ice cream and individual devils food cakes were served which carried out the color scheme of pink and black.

RUFF-NEX HOSTS TO EPSILON BETAS

Last evening in the women's gym of the Administration Building, the Ruff-Nex were honoring the Epsilon Betas, and girl guests of both societies at a lovely dance.

The gym was very attractively decorated to represent a rose garden. The entrance was a rose covered arch trellis, and looking down the hall was a very elegant yellow moon just rising over the orchestra pit, draped in maroon velvet. The walls were covered with white crepe streamers, and the ceiling was made of blue streamers and silver stars. The walls were hung with pennants and the dance was a very gay affair, carrying out the idea of a collegiate dance set in a rose garden.

BETTY STERNENBERG COMPLIMENTED WITH SHOWER

Mesdames Murray, Dowlen, Savage, McElroy and Batchelder were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower complimenting Miss Betty Sternenberg, whose engagement and approaching marriage has just been announced. The home of Mrs. McElroy on Monday afternoon, May 20, was the scene of this lovely shower. The rooms were decorated in pink and white using roses.

Bridge was the diversion during the afternoon. Miss Melva Game-well read for the group and Miss Gwendolyn Black gave some piano numbers.

Refreshments of ice cream and angel food cake, with pink frosting, were served to the honoree, and many out of town guests.

MOORE DELIVERS COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Professor T. M. Moore delivered the commencement address to twenty-five seniors at the Booker high school last Friday night, May 17. On the previous night Mr. Moore delivered the commencement address to the graduates of Sunnyside consolidated school, and some three weeks ago he made the graduating address to the seniors of the Red Hill school.

The Beauty School

by Helena Rubinstein
International Beauty Authority

Mayflowers have a reputation for sweetness and charm. But praise of them is always tempered by the fact that they are among the first flowers to bloom. Yet, these dainty, star-like flowers could stand competition with the most sophisticated roses if they had been born to bloom a month later!

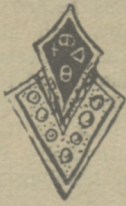

There are many girls, who, like the mayflowers, are quite and unassuming in their good looks. You hear it said of them—"Oh, she has a lovely complexion, but she's no great beauty"; or, "Her features are regular, but she just hasn't a pretty look." Those same girls, in later years, may set the styles in beauty and fashion! They need only learn to stage the beauty they possess most effectively, instead of letting it fade away unseen.

Yet dramatizing beauty is not a matter of exotic accents—or even of long, arduous study. A simple daily treatment is sufficient to keep the skin clear, soft and lovely. For girls of college age, a good pasteurized cream and skin tonic is usually all that is required. Once a week, washing the face with a scientific wash, such as beauty grains, or enlivening the skin with a skin clearing cream, are easy beauty practices that pay great returns in beauty.

The little details that mean so much in the final ensemble, are mostly a matter of grooming. I strongly suspect that many a great beauty of former years gained her reputation almost solely by such meticulous attention to her daily beauty habits—consistent care of the skin, hair, hands and feet. Those of you who are about to enter the stiff competition of the business and social world, will find it worth while to devote a great deal of time and attention to all beauty details. If you do, I assure you the ensemble will take care of itself!

ELAPHEIAN DOINGS

DELTA THETA TIPS

We take this means of saying goodbye and good luck to the Senior Elapheians. If you know these girls you will understand why the Society will have to disregard the NRA code and work overtime next year to make up for their absence. Here's hoping the years to come will turn out as versatile, talented, and capable a group of girls as these who are leaving.

ERNESTINE WALKER—ex-president and ever-generating dynamo of energy which connects her with many student and church organizations.

MARJORIE TUCKER—not only the Pride of Pampa, but the pride of everyone who knows her. We won't be forgetting you, Marj.

KATHLEEN WADE—not only an artist with reference to paint and brush, but one who can match the wit and humor of Will Rogers himself. She's Kak to you.

LA TRICE QUATTLEBAUM—she has led the Elapheian Sextet through a successful year. Wouldn't be surprised to find her listed in Who's Who most any day.

LUCILE DAVAILT—makes anyone feel that life's worth the trouble. We need more like her—the life of the party always. Lu's ok.

IRENE HURST—blond, always smiling—and gentlemen, she bakes a wicked pie. You'll find her on the third floor of the Ad. Building.

BIB JAMESON—when you see a heap of pep, good-looks, friendliness and style—that girl that people look at more than twice—that's Bib.

THELMA CALLIHAM—the girl who radiates personality. The laurels can't be piled too high for her. Those dimples will get her by even if she didn't have anything else.

When you're gone, don't forget us!

Hall Happenings

Dinner guests at Cousins Hall Wednesday evening were Mrs. J. A. Hill, Joe Hill, Jr., Miss Marion Hill, James Compton and Lewis Shirley. We regret that President Hill was out of town and could not accept his invitation.

The program was a musical entertainment. Miss Virginia Hohla, accompanied by Miss Wilhelmina Cleek, sang two numbers, "Caroline," and "Smiling Through." Misses Freda Charles Bills and Fern Gower played a piano duet; then Miss Yvonne Thomas concluded the program by playing a group of popular songs.

Miss Percy Ryon's school term is finished at Groom, and she has been visiting Miss Dallas Mitchell at Cousins Hall.

Miss Florence McMurtry and Mrs. Agnes Smith spent Thursday afternoon shopping in Amarillo.

The girls of Cousins Hall who enjoyed the outing of the College Farm picnic were: Misses Bonnie Gerhardt, Ruth Troutman, Margaret Beck, Allyne McIntosh, Lorraine Lyon, and Dorothy Nelle Kinkead.

Cousins Hall did not have open-house last Monday night because of the dance given by the Ruff-Nex.

Dowlen's last week and at the Methodist Church, Sunday evening. The members of the group are La Trice Quattlebaum, June Day, Adella Beavers, Margaret Seay, Thelma Calliham, and Ernestine Walker.

Park Board Bill Being Studied by Governor Allred

Governor Allred is holding the bill which would create a separate park board for the Palo Duro State Park until he has more time for investigation. He will probably not act on the measure before next week.

Mayor C. R. Burrow, T. C. Thompson, Travis Shaw, G. G. Foster, C. H. Jarrett and Clyde Warwick met a group of citizens in Amarillo Thursday where the matter of a separate board was discussed at length with officials of the National Park Service. It was the opinion that something must be done to insure better management for the Palo Duro during the summer, and to get the construction program under way. T. E. Johnson of Amarillo, C. R. Burrow and Clyde Warwick were named to interview Governor Allred in Austin Friday and to get his reaction as to the necessity of a separate board. The Governor was scheduled to leave Saturday night on the special train through the south to boost the Centennial, and therefore the urge to make the trip to Austin. Friday afternoon Governor Allred signified that he would sign the bill and appoint the separate board if that was the will of Panhandle citizens, yet he questioned the advisability of such action. When the special train was called off, the Governor asked for more time to study the bill and indicated that he wished to take up the question of the entire park situation before taking any action. This was agreeable to the Panhandle delegation in view of the fact that all this section desires is the prompt and effective management of the Palo Duro.

Governor Allred is going over the situation thoroughly this week, and yesterday had in conference D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board.

A meeting of local citizens was held at the court house Tuesday night at which all phases of the Palo Duro was discussed. Another meeting with Amarillo citizens will likely be held during the latter part of this week.

McMinn's Seniors Defeat Boedeker's Team Friday Aft.

Fast, tight, and rough are the terms to properly describe the basketball game Friday afternoon between Edd McMinn's team of Seniors and Captain-elect Boedeker's team of underclassmen. The game ended with the score 27-26 in favor of the Seniors.

On the starting line-up for the winners were: Edd McMinn, Leonard Britt, M. E. Cleavinger, John Walker and Bob Clark, a member of the famous "Tall Texan" team. Playing on Boedeker's team were: Willie Boedeker, Lawrence Clark, Jack Davis, Audell Kimmins, and Curtis Clement.

Fifteen men were used in trying to find an effective combination for the varsity team for next year. Several good prospects showed up in the course of the game.

Frank Van Noy officiated as referee in the game.

Interesting Article Made In Women's Manual Art Classes

Toys, book-ends, music cases, radio tables, picture frames and many other things are being completed by the men's and women's manual arts classes under the direction of Professor John A. Gillis. There will probably be no exhibit of the projects being made by these students, according to Gillis, because not enough of them will be completed in time. The class for women has changed from toys to other things, such as carving picture frames, building and upholstering footstools, and making various kinds of cabinets. However, some decorative work will be done on toys made by the women.

Many beautiful pieces of furniture are being made by the men in that department; however they probably will not be completed by the close of school. Among them are an intricately designed end-table, a secretary, and a bed.

Mr. Gillis, who has recently completed the senior class gift, the mahogany bulletin board in the main corridor, almost has ready for placing in the museum an upright glass exhibit case for materials.

BAND CONCERT GIVEN LAST EVE

The Buffalo Band under the direction of C. E. Strain presented its annual open air concert last night.

Following is the program:

PLAY NIGHT TO BE HELD JUNE 7

Play night at West Texas State Teachers College is to be revived Friday night, June 7.

Such activities as playground ball, lawn tennis, volleyball, croquet, horse shoe pitching, etc. will be indulged in by all the people of the community. As last year, a soft ball team from Amarillo will be brought down to contest the local team of soft ball players.

The croquet courts have been walled in with rock and they have been rolled until they are as smooth as concrete.

Playground ball teams will be organized immediately after the opening of the summer session of West Texas State Teachers College. These teams will play a round robin tournament to decide the best team.

There will also be organized two soft ball teams composed of local business men. These teams will play a series of games to decide the champion team.

The swimming pool will be in fine shape, and regular classes will be held all during the summer session of school. There will be a special life saving class organized and all good swimmers are urged to join.

Plans are under way to have a bigger and better rodeo this year than was held last year. This will be a great event. Announcements will appear in the paper just as soon as arrangements have been completed.

Even a donkey baseball game is being planned for the summer.

Everyone is urged to attend these play nights for they bring the people of the community closer together.

Misses Ritchie and Graham Will Leave Trip Around World

Miss Jennie C. Ritchie and Miss Edna Graham will leave next Wednesday for Seattle where they will sail for the Orient. They will visit the important nations of the Pacific, spending some time in Japan. They will sail west to Egypt, and then to Europe, returning to America by the Atlantic.

The trip will take three and one-half months.

"But, Alfred, why don't you like girls?"

Soft Ball League Will Be Formed at Gym Tuesday Eve

Soft ball players are called to meet at Burton Gym next Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 7:30 for the purpose of organizing a league to play throughout the summer.

Coach Al Baggett wishes to meet representatives of all clubs and organizations which wish to enter teams. At least six or eight teams are desired for the league. Sunday Schools and other organizations, including the Rotary Club, Firemen, Legion, lodges, are asked to organize to enter a team in the league next Tuesday.

Hills Mix Business With Pleasure While On Trip To Boston

Both business and pleasure mingled on the trip which Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill and their daughter, Marion, made from West Texas to Austin, thence through the old south and north to Boston where they went to meet their son and brother, Joe.

Dr. Hill went from here to Austin where he transacted business with the state legislature. In Washington, D. C., Dr. Hill spent three days conferring with the PWA committees, and it is his opinion that all the five projects at W. T. S. T. C. will be well underway this summer. The five projects are an addition to Cousins Hall, a new outdoor swimming pool, a boys' dormitory, ten cottages which will cost $2900 each, and a new home economics cottage. Dr. Hill also conferred with Senator Connally and Congressman Marvin Jones.

A visit was made to Smithsonian Institute for the purpose of establishing friendly relations between our museum and the Institute. Dr. Hill reports that he got some very helpful suggestions from Drs. Judd and F. M. Seltzer. While there they were entertained by the National Geographic Society at a banquet honoring the Byrd Expedition. The party likewise participated in all activities in connection with the reception of the members of the Byrd Expedition. In New York, Dr. Hill called on the Rockefeller Foundation in connection with the museum and the historical society.

In Boston they attended the banquet given by the governor of Massachusetts in honor of the expedition and listened to the program on Boston Commons.

In Washington on Saturday, April 13, Dr. Hill and his family were guests of Mrs. Cliff Sherrill, a former student who before her marriage was Susie McGinley of Hilton. Her husband, Mr. Sherrill, is associate director of Public Relations of the National Association of Manufacturers. To her friends in Texas, it will be of interest that Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill have three sons, Mark, Byron, and Robert. Mark recently received a valuable prize for the construction of an airplane model. Mrs. Sherrill sent her love to all old timers around the campus, and the people of Texas whom she knew. Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill live in Cherrydale, Va., just across the river from Washington.

The Hills were also entertained by Mrs. Henrietta Scott who was for more than ten years the college nurse here, and by his nephew, E. I. Hill, Jr., who is employed in the government printing shop, and Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Hedrick, an architect who was formerly of Ft. Worth. In Columbus, Ohio, the Hills were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Hill.

The remarkable thing about the trip was that they traveled 6,058 miles and did not have a single flat tire. The return trip was made in four days.

Joe Boy Attracts Interested Crowd

Wednesday was a gala day in Canyon. The town's own Joe Hill, its representative on the second Byrd Expedition to the South Pole, arrived late Tuesday night.

Everywhere Joe appeared, whether on the porch of his home, at the college, in a barber shop, or on a street corner, a crowd had gathered to hear something of his experiences during the past 20 months, fourteen of which were spent on the ice of Antarctica.

Asked what was his most difficult experience, Joe said it was changing a piston rod of one of the ice tractors when they were far from Little America and the temperature was forty degrees below zero. They had to work barehanded and it was so cold that every time they touched the iron tools they stuck to their fingers and when put down pulled the skin off. The expedition had six tractors but only one was brought back to the United States. Some-

MAVERICK CLUB

NUMBER TWO
Canyon, Texas

By Pat Noser

The Amarillo Maverick Club came down to Canyon some 250 strong Sunday and really taught the Canyon Maverick Club No. 2 how to sing, "Here We Are, Here We Are," and "Ham and Eggs."

A short religious service was held during which several religious songs were sung. This service was ended with all the Mavericks repeating the Lord's Prayer together.

Al Baggett made the talk of welcome for the Canyon boys and promised the Amarillo Mavericks that they could go swimming the next time they came to Canyon. The pool had been closed because of doctors orders, and will not be open for about a week.

There were several solos, duets, etc., by the Mavericks from Amarillo and Canyon. Such songs as "Old Faithful," and "Home on the Range" were sung.

Mr. Warwick of Canyon led the boys in several songs.

Possibly the highlight on the program was the talk made by Joe Boy Hill. Joe had Nika, his sled dog, with him and made a very interesting talk to the boys on the dogs used on the trip to Little America at the South Pole.

Joe then answered questions fired at him by the inquisitive Mavericks. Some of these questions were: Did the dust blow at the South Pole? How long did your hair grow? What did you eat down there? How cold was it? Did it get as cold as it does in Amarillo? What did the dog houses look like? How much does Nika weigh. Are the dogs any larger than her as a rule? How much can a sled dog pull. Did it rain at the South Pole? The answers in order were:

The dust did not blow. Joe's hair grew down to his shoulders and he had two hair cuts while in Little America. They ate mostly dehydrated food. Admiral Byrd recorded 82 degrees below zero at Advance Base. A little colder than in Amarillo. The dog houses looked like trunks. Nika weighs about 65 pounds. Most of the dogs weigh about 100 pounds, and are larger than Nika. Sled dogs pull around 150 pounds. It rained once at the South Pole in two years. The boys gave Joe a big hand when he concluded his talk.

Pat Noser wants to thank Dut Wanser for coming down with the boys and he enjoyed his flak with him.

Pat also wants to thank all the Amarillo Mavericks for coming down and helping us in our first Sunday afternoon meeting. Those Amarillo boys can really make "Ham and Eggs" ring. Some of the Maverick's parents said "Ham and Eggs" were heard plum to town.

Bill Allen and Red Holston, the boys in charge of the Canyon Mavericks, were on hand to help in the meeting. Red and Bill are both fine boys and really know their stuff when it comes to swimming, boxing, wrestling, and all the rest of the sports.

Robert Matlock, chief of police of the Canyon Club, looked for an hour for Jimmie Taylor, chief of police of the Amarillo Club. Robert said he wanted to biff Jimmie in the nose just to let him know who was the toughest cop. However, for some reason, Jimmie was not to be found. Those boys are about evenly matched and its usually a toss-up as to which one will win.

After the services were over, we all went out on the lawn and had our pictures taken by Mr. Travis Shaw, Business Manager of West Texas State Teachers College. I was right down in front and I'll bet my mug can be seen from Canyon to Amarillo.

We wish to thank Mr. Galloway, the piano player, and the leaders of the Amarillo Mavericks for coming down. It was a real pleasure and we want you all to come again.

Red Holston was just in and he said for all the Amarillo Mavericks to be sure and come down and go swimming next week sometime. Red is a National Red Cross Examiner and will not let any of you boys down, so come soon.

One asked Joe what the expedition was for, anyway, and he replied that through it Admiral Byrd and his men hoped to add to the scientific knowledge of the world and especially to learn more of weather predicting for the temperate regions, since the Antarctic is the place where storms begin.

JUNIORS WIN HOME

EC. CONTEST

The junior members of the Home Economics Club won the program-contest which was brought to a close last Wednesday at their regular meeting period. The seniors, as judges, chose the following program as the winner of the series presented this semester.

Pantomime—Mary F. Westfall, Geraldine Westfall.

Dance—Lois Blackwell, Marjorie Merchant.

Reading—Anna Menke.

A Long, Long, Trail—Juniors.

Club Song.

The most popular feature of the program was the serving of homemade candy.

As a reward for winning the contest, the juniors and the senior judges were treated to a picnic at the College Farm Thursday noon by the freshmen and sophomores.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS

HAVE HAY-RIDE

The members of the senior class entertained the juniors with a hay ride Tuesday evening.

The wagons loaded with half a hundred boys and girls (but no hay) left the Education Building at seven o'clock and took the road leading to the Palo Duro.

Arriving back in Canyon, they all piled into Bob's Coffee Shop, and ordered hamburgers with onions.

SENIOR CLASS

PRESENTS BOOKS

The senior class gave as its parting gift to the school a shelf of novels by modern authors. A formal presentation program was given Saturday morning at eleven o'clock.

Two bell-hops, Pearl Mayben and Lela Louder, introduced one of the most unique programs given in the Training School Auditorium this year. While these bell-hops chanted rhymes of explanation, living pictures portraying scenes from various well-known classics appeared. (The first was a scene from Treasure Island. Lady Macbeth walking in her sleep then came into view. Next came the avaricious Silas Marner counting his gold. The last scene showed David Copperfield as he journeyed to Dover.

Following the pictures came the formal presentation of the gift, in which, Alma Smith represented the seniors, and Mr. Savage accepted the gift in the name of the school.

The entire program was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Jameson, assisted by Thelma Callahan and Martina Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Reeves and Frances Grimes entertained Miss Jennie C. Ritchie and Miss Edna Graham with a picnic supper in the Palo Duro canyon Monday.

SIXTH GRADE ENTERTAINS

SEVENTH GRADE

The sixth grade language club of the Demonstration School entertained the seventh grade and their teachers with a picnic party in the Education Gym Wednesday afternoon.

Very enthusiastic games of baseball were played between the two grades.

Delicious chocolate ice cream and cookies were served to members of the sixth and seventh grades and their teachers: Miss Novella Goodman, Miss Jean Moore, Mr. A. K. Goodman, and the practice teachers, Misses Pauline Thompson, Joyce Gilbert, Lou-
