History Project In Two Divisions

One to Secure Artifacts; And Other will Collect Historical Records

Two main divisions, one the collection of historical records and the other the collection of historical remains or artifacts, have been set up in the WPA history project sponsored by West Texas State College under a $26,000 allotment.

According to Dr. L. F. Sheffy, the sponsor's representative, the WPA research staff will copy historical data found in county archives, together with facts recorded there concerning expenditures, tax collections, property valuations, expenditures for animal scalps, and excerpts from important wills and land deals. Important civil and criminal cases also will be briefed.

Early newspaper files and clippings will be sought in the 26 counties involved. Books concerning the plains, collections of private letters, ranch records, records of old business enterprises, maps of the plains, interviews which have been published, and current publications and periodicals will be collected. All of these will be classified, catalogued, and filed in the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, where they will be available to students of research.

Important artifacts of the modern Plains Indian and of the early white settlers also will be assembled. These will include arrow heads, Indian dress, weapons, and equipment used by modern Indians, buffalo hunting weapons and equipment, skinning knives, spurs, bridles, chaps six-shooters, cowboy dress, chug wagon utensils, branding irons, and various heirlooms. Many of these items will be displayed at the museum.

Mrs. Winnie Davis Hale is project superintendent.

District Farmers Urge New Building

Two hundred North Plains farmers voiced their approval and support for a new building for West Texas State.

The following resolution was passed by farmers attending a district meeting in Amarillo.

"Whereas the attendance at West Texas State College has increased 65 per cent since funds for the last major building were appropriated, we therefore urge the present legislature to appropriate sufficient funds for a class room building at this West Texas Institution.

Harriet W. Kritzer, a former art student of W. T. and at one time a member of the summer faculty, is now on the Art Department staff at the University of Oklahoma.

West Texas State Dating Etiquette gets Black Eye From Both Eds and Co-eds

By Lynard Riley

Dating conduct herabout needs a trip to a personal relations clinic! Even a brief survey by a Prairie reporter shows that the "other half" would like to tell the "first half" a thing or two, but for various reasons doesn't.

The average co-ed, it appears, would like for her date to show her more respect and consideration than he is now in the habit of showing and, in connection, be generous with "thank you's" and smiles.

"We still like to sense that we are being enjoyed," the co-eds explain. He could be a little more particular about his personal appearance, and one cute little girl ruefully added, "Please boys, dress to fit your personality."

Some co-eds asked: "Can't you be more cheerfully consistent? Can't you carry that lagging sense of humor around in your handy pocket? You need it to help us bridge some of those awkward situations."

One girl even made it firmly known she chose poise and posture first above other male characteristics, thereby attaching an alarming importance to two things most college men are careless about.

The college girl would be happier if "he" would not attract undue attention. This includes loud, ill-bred talking and laughing.

Seniors Plan Varsity Revue

Committee Appointed To Select Annual Stage Production

Members of the senior class will present a varsity revue centered around the graduation motif in assembly later this semester it was decided at a meeting of the class Thursday morning.

Rex Galloup of Amarillo is in charge of arranging this assembly feature, and all members of the class have been asked to offer their services and suggestions for the program.

A committee was appointed by President Robert Orton to assist Lawrence McBee, senior play director, in selecting the annual senior stage production. Members of the committee are: Claryce McCall, Weldon Dodson, Mrs. Paul Lefforge, Sibyl Coker, and George Stokes. The play should be selected within a month Orton said.

Two senior nights, scheduled for March 25 and May 19, were announced at Thursday's meeting.

Dues for the current semester were set at $1.50 two weeks ago, and a resolution was passed to exclude from class exercises all seniors who fail to pay their dues in full. This would apply also to dues which were not paid last semester.

An announcement from the College Bookstore, read at class meeting, pointed out that March 17 is the final date for placing orders for cards and college invitations. May 6 is the last date for ordering caps and gowns. No deposit is required at the time of the order. Master outfits will cost $4, bachelor outfits for men will cost $1.75, and bachelor outfits for women will be $1.90. No limit on class ring orders has been made.

Run for Cover Men, Sadie Co-Ed Has Declared Open Season on W. T. 'Lil Abners'

Yoo hoo—Mr.—a—oh, Bill—a—oh, say—uh, you would—no, uh, would you like to—to—uh—could you go—it's lovely day, isn't it—uh—would you care to go to a—the dance Saturday night at Cousins? Uh, I could—well, uh, would you want to—I'll come after you, if you do—??? The girls are supposed to ask the boys—uh—you know.

Sadie Hawkins week has just begun.

Now's your chance girls—this is the "co-eds' opportunity week", a week of deflation of Mary's pocket book or Dad's wallet—a week of anxiety for boys (they'd better look their best—and talk their sweetest!)—about a whole week to date that "wonderful hero," the one a girl dreams about and watches out of the corner of her eye, hoping that some day he will glance her way. Opportunity knocks but once a year—a girl might even try a proposal or two.

This is a week to give the boys just what they deserve—pay 'em back or show 'em the real way to

Rules For Sadie Hawkins Week

1. Girls must walk on the outside of the sidewalks when walking with a boy.
2. Girls must open all doors.
3. Girls must furnish transportation, if any, for their dates.
4. Girls must pay for all drinks, shows, dinners, dances, etc.
5. Girls should make their dates in time for the boys to do all the necessary primping.
6. Girls should be sure that the boys are home by 10:30 on week nights, 1:00 on Friday night, and 11:30 on Saturday night.
7. Girls should furnish cigarettes for the dates if they smoke.
8. Girls should be sure that their dates have a good time.
9. Each girl should be a Sir Walter Raleigh if the occasion demands. If there is a mud puddle, she should take off her coat so that her date can keep his feet clean and dry.
10. If a girl asks a young gentleman to go to the Buff with her during the daytime, she should pay for the malt or whatever he sees fit to consume.
11. Remember, girls, if there is any courtin' done, it's up to you.

treat a date. It is a week to balance all scores or start new ones.

This week, initiated here by Pi Omega sorority, is to be an annual event. An explanation in assembly, presented by Lawrence McBee marked the official opening. Tags were given out to all girls, who may pen them on their "dream man," showing to other girls that "he's taken and hands off!"

Spring is here making the setting perfect. A girl may take her "Lil Abner" to a movie, but she will doubtless remember that SHE has to pay the bills and fervently hope that he won't order a T-Bone steak when she only has a dime as she did once. Then there's always quiet evenings at home (in the Buff) or picnics and wiener roasts and, of course, the courting fence for the freshmen.

This gay round of events will be ended with a dance in Cousins Hall from 8 to 11 p. m. Saturday. Again the fun will be on the fens, for they make the dates, pay the admission of 25 cents for couples or 15 cents for stags, do the tagging, take their "Lil Abner" out at intermission, and finally escort them home. A prize for the best dressed "Lil Abner" with overalls, straw hat and all, will be given by Pi Omega. The proceeds from this dance will go to the Pi Omega Loan Fund which is being started this year.

Cash in on Your Ability To Call Freshmen Names

Since nicknames seem to flow from student minds like anti-freeze from a leaky radiator, the staff of the 1939 Le Mirage has decided to utilize this talent and also give a suitable reward to the most proficient in this line.

Beginning now (at once) the box outside the Publication Office holds open its spout for names of the little freshman, pictures at the side who will be featured in the current publication of the yearbook.

The person who submits before Saturday at 5 o'clock the best moniker for the aspiring little fellow will receive special mention in Le Mirage, in addition to a month's pass to the Olympic theater, awarded in time for the winner to attend "Dawn Patrol" which shows Sunday and Monday with Errol Flynn and David Nivn. The winner will be publicly announced in next week's Prairie.

Rules of the contest will appear in the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue.

'The River' To Be Shown Agriculture Students Thursday

A dramatic Farm Security Administration picture, "The River," will be shown to students of agriculture in the auditorium of the Education Building Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. Other students and faculty members will be permitted to see the film.

"The River," which will be screened for Gerford Wilkerson of the FSA by the College film service shows the great Mississippi starting in little trickles at the top of the continent, uniting with other trickles, and then freshening into streams. It is a story of towering timber, building of cities, cutting of the forests and destructive erosion, climaxed with actual scenes of the devastating floods of 1937.

Ending with an encouraging note, the picture shows how man is attempting to remedy misdeeds of the past through foresting the wornout hills, checking erosion, providing against future floods, setting up regional planning and extending farm aid through government services.

A special symphonic score on native American themes written by Virgil Thomas, noted young American composer, accompanies the film. The music is played by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Alexander Smallens, distinguished American conductor.

FIRST YOUTH CRUSADE RALLY IS TONIGHT

The first rally of the Youth Crusade which is being sponsored by the young people of the Methodist Church will be held tonight at the Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo at 7:30 o'clock.

Speakers on the program include the Rev. W. W. Ward, pastor of the Polytechnic M. E. Church of Ft. Worth; the Rev. Lance Webb of Shamrock, and Rev. Rex Kendall of Vega. Miss June Rarnsworth, district director, will preside.

Transportation for the local group will be furnished. They will meet at 6:45 p. m.

West Texas Will Have Candidate For TIPA Queen

W. T. will have a candidate for the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association's Sweetheart to be selected when members of the Type High, local press club, attend the annual convention in Ft. Worth April 21 and 22.

Fifteen contests will be held and prizes of five to twenty dollars will be given.

The contests, in which any student may submit an entry are: Short story, college annual, newspaper, essay, news article, sports story, editorial, sports column, news or feature photograph, column—not sports or "scandal," feature story, poem, one-act play, literary magazine, advertisement.

Deadline for local entries will be March 14, according to Bill Cone, Type High president.

At a meeting of the club Friday members discussed plans to attend the T. I. P. A. convention at Texas Wesleyan College in Ft. Worth.

Business Students Hear John McCarty Discuss Hobbies

"Hobbies afford a real back-log of interest and recreation," John McCarty, editor and associate publisher of the Amarillo Daily News, told students Tuesday in the third of a series of discussions by prominent Panhandle business men.

An enthusiast in archaeology as a hobby, Mr. McCarty pointed out the relation of hobbies as compensation factors to the founding of great industries. He cited the photography industry as a business based upon a hobby. Model planes were named as a hobby in which enthusiasts later became plane builders.

"Hobbies often make an open door to contacts for many people, and lead to interesting discoveries and development," he said. He discussed misfits which are frequently adjusted by interest in a hobby.

Floyd Studer, Amarillo National Bank director, was scheduled to speak Tuesday, but he will appear April 11.

John E. Hill, member of the Board of Regents, will discuss "Training the Business Man," this afternoon.

Baptists Will Meet Here Saturday

Hundred Students Expect To Attend Great Plains Conference

West Texas State Baptist students will be hosts to more than a hundred Baptist young people from the various colleges in this section Saturday when the Great Plains Baptist Student Conference holds its annual convention at the First Baptist Church here.

With Miss Mary Nance Daniels, well-known associate southwide student secretary from Nashville, Tenn., and the Rev. J. W. (Bill) Marshall, state Baptist Student Secretary from Dallas, scheduled to make addresses, Olie Brown, local B. S. U. president, has expressed hope for the largest group of students ever to attend a Great Plains conference. Delegations are expected from Texas Tech of Lubbock, Wayland Baptist College of Plainview, Eastern New Mexico Junior College of Portales, N. M., Amarillo College, and other Amarillo professional schools.

One of the highlights of the conference will be a fellowship hour on Saturday night. Present plans call for a showing of the official moving pictures of the Ridgecrest and Memphis student conferences at this meeting.

Miss Daniels and the Rev. Mr. Marshall will be presented at the general student body assembly Saturday in a program sponsored by the B. S. U. Council. A special luncheon for visiting speakers has been scheduled by the Council for Saturday noon.

The closing address of the conference will be brought at 11 o'clock Sunday morning by Mr. Marshall.

Special music for the occasion will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. John Josey of Amarillo.

BROADCAST POSTPONED

Due to the bad weather last night the equipment for the college broadcast was not brought down from Amarillo, and the broadcast had to be postponed until a more suitable time.

Frosh Low in Mathematics Experiment Indicates

Do college freshmen retain the facts and principles of mathematics taught them in high school? Can college freshmen get correct answers to simple mathematical problems arising in the everyday affairs of ordinary people? How "literate" are college freshmen in simple mathematics?

To throw some light on these questions, Prof. C. A. Murray, head of the department of mathematics in W. T., recently tested 88 W. T. freshmen on pre-college mathematics problems, giving them a regular class period to solve ten problems. The average for 88 freshmen was 4.2 correct solutions out of the 10. Five students worked 8 correctly, making the highest grades, while the other contestants ranged on down gradually to an average of only one correct for the lowest 7 students.

Seventy of the freshmen got the correct answer to the problem: "A family uses 2-5 tons of coal in a week. At the same rate how much will they use in 12 weeks? How long will 10 tons last?" They were not so fortunate with another problem:

Date for Meeting Is March 10-11

More Than 3,000 Expected To Attend Panhandle's Largest Convention

Completion of the program for the Panhandle's largest convention, the annual Northwest Texas Conference for Education, here on March 10 and 11 has been announced by R. A. Selby of Pampa, the president.

More than 3,000 teachers, trustees, administrators, and Parent-Teacher Association members are expected to hear this program on the theme, "Meeting Today's Needs in Education."

Officers Listed

Other officers of the organization include J. W. Reid of Dalhart, vice-president; C. M. Rogers of Amarillo, immediate past president; J. Davis Hill of White Deer, treasurer; and F. E. Savage of Canyon, secretary. The conference is a district of the Texas State Teachers Association, which is headed by George B. Wilcox of College Station. State executive board members from the Panhandle district are Miss Neville Wren of Hereford, C. A. Cryer of McLean, and C. M. Rogers of Amarillo. Dr. J. A. Hill of Canyon is counselor.

The first general session will be held in the auditorium at 9:30 a. m. March 10, and the meeting will continue into Saturday, March 11. The main speaker at this first session will be Dr. George W. Frasier, president of Colorado State College of Education, who will talk on "The Development of Personality." Dr. Hob Gray of the University of Texas will speak at 10:30 a. m. on "The Adventure of Teaching." He will be followed by Dr. Frasier in an address on "Education's Race with Catastrophe." Concurrently, there will be demonstration lessons and a showing of classroom films in another auditorium. Mrs. Laura Saunders of West Texas State College will be the critic teacher. Films will be taken from the College loan library.

Second General Session

A second general session will be held at 7:30 p. m. March 10, with the speakers to be George B. Wilcox, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, Mrs. Edyth T. Wallace of Oklahoma City, and Dr. Harold Benjamin, director of the College of Education in the University of Colorado.

The third general session at 9 a. m. Saturday, March 11, will feature Miss Corinne Nash, supervisor of elementary schools at Waco, whose subject will be "The Resources of the Teacher." A short business session will be held. At 10:20 a. m. the fourth general session will hear an address by Mrs. Wallace, who is home counselor of the Oklahoma City schools, and Dr. Benjamin, whose subject will be "Whose Education?" Newly elected officers will be presented at this session.

Many Section Meetings

Many sectional meetings will take place between the general sessions. General session speakers will be heard, as well as many others. A (Continued on page 3)

"Youth must make up its mind to participate in public life, to purify and dignify public office and public administration. It cannot afford to be cynical and aloof in this juncture of our civilization. Too much depends on intelligent cooperation and good will."—Pres. C. A. Dystra, University of Wisconsin.

West Texas State All-College Night Is Definitely Here to Stay

"It's better and more all-college, it's a more rounded program, it makes possible a longer time for these activities, it tends to draw those who don't dance and heretofore hadn't been coming out to entertainments, it concentrates numerous activities into one night and makes it something to look forward to, and finally there is a tendency for more girls to come out." These are a few of the comments on all-college night made on a questionnaire passed out Saturday morning.

The fact that The Prairie comes out at a time when it is difficult to carry stories on all-college night, makes it difficult to give the project the publicity it deserves. However, response from the students who have attended the affair indicates that it is going to continue to grow.

As is usual on all-college projects, there is a large number of students who wish to remain aloof, and again this is the same group which is most in need of more social life.

One argument opposing the idea is that girls from other residences do not like to come to Cousins Hall to dance. The ballroom of Cousins Hall is a recreation center for the entire campus and was built with this idea in mind. This argument has little more logic than refusing to attend a lyceum or basketball game because it was being held away from a students boarding place.

Despite some comment to the contrary, all-college night is here to stay.

'BIG NAME' DANCE BANDS

Many of the prominent colleges and universities using typical ideas to bring distinction to the campus are outstepping WTSC in using "big name" bands at dances.

Most of the schools of W. T.'s size take advantage of engagements of prominent orchestras near the campus, hiring the band for formal, German or all college affairs. In most cases these dances are arranged by the outstanding fraternities or sororities or combined groups. Only a few instances are found where the college promotes the dance in which the "big name" bands are used.

Earl "Father" Hines, nationally famous "colored king of the ivories," played Saturday night at Texas A. & I.—enrollment 1100—at Kingsville. Kappa Sigma Nu fraternity annually presents a big name band at its spring formal.

Artie Shaw and his orchestra, winners of the Downbeat poll appointing the outstanding swing band of 1938, are scheduled March 13 for the Junior Prom at Temple University, Philadelphia.

Many similar appearances at college dances are arranged when the orchestras are scheduled in cities nearby. W. T. could take advantage of "big name" bands appearing at the Nat in Amarillo. There has been some interest displayed in the possibilities already, and with a little support backed by several organizations W. T. will gain in appeal, and students can have an opportunity which for many will never be duplicated.

The Second Wife

REBECCA . . . by Daphne du Maurier, New York: Doubleday Doran and Co., 404 pages.

By Mary R. Sligar

What of the second marriage? This is the age-old question which Daphne du Maurier raises and attempts to answer in her latest book, "Rebecca." And the answer at which she finally arrives is honest though not altogether comforting. If the married pair succeed in laying the ghosts of former loves, they may arrive at a perfect understanding, and find through their need of each other a certain tranquillity of mind which brings contentment, if not happiness. Even this pseudo-Eden, however, is invaded by the serpent; for the thoughts of what might have been are ever present, and memories cannot be denied.

Miss du Maurier's plot is as old as romantic fiction, but her treatment is refreshingly new. Maximilian de Winter, forty-two years old and owner of a magnificent estate, Manderley, makes a tour of the continent. While at Monte Carlo, he meets and marries a young girl of good family background but in such straitened circumstances that she is forced to earn her living by acting as companion to a morbidly eccentric society-woman. Thus far the author's plot is so old as to seem hackneyed. Into this situation, however, the author introduces variety in the person (or rather the spirit) of de Winter's first wife, Rebecca, who has met a tragic death only ten months before and whom de Winter seems utterly unable to forget. After a short honeymoon, de Winter returns to Manderley with his young wife and immediately becomes absorbed in the interests of the estate, leaving his bride largely to her own resources which unfortunately are quite limited. From this point the story is no longer that of the second wife, though it is told by her. Shy, awkward, inadequate to meet the circumstances of her new environment, she begins "following a phantom in her mind"—a phantom of de Winter's first wife, Rebecca. How this figment of

COLLEGIATE CHATTER

By Buzzy Stapleton

Why? Oh why, can't we have some peace around here where girls' social clubs are concerned? It is my opinion that the real purpose for such clubs is to give students a chance to learn how to get along with each other and not to provide them with a reason to be forever slashing at some one else. Don't get us wrong; we don't mean all girls' clubs, or even every member of any club. One club, which has been rather conspicuous in its activities, has been conspicuously absent from all petty arguments over publicity.

Because this column ran a comment or two in the last two weeks about the coming "Sadie Hawkins" event, certain members of other clubs have been at my throat in a very nasty way. What was said in this column last week would have been said for any other club who had sponsored such a week. A project of this kind is for the enjoyment of the whole school, and for that reason, it seems very poor sportsmanship to begrudge it a little publicity no matter what club is sponsoring it.

This column, or The Prairie for that matter, makes no effort to give an EQUAL amount of publicity to every social club. To do this, would require printing minutes of the last club meeting, and giving them big headlines. There have undoubtedly been occasions when clubs had reason to object because they failed to get adequate publicity, but it seems rather "catty" to complain simply because some other organization was given notice.

Leaders of the Royal Order of Skunk Hunters, having no other means of crashing this column have issued the following statement: "The Royal Order of Skunk Hunters not only warn, but also threaten a certain young gentleman who has inferred that the Hunters are not a very ethical group, and adds that there has been drinking on the hunts. We challenge him to prove or withdraw this statement, or he will suffer the consequences. While his full identity is not known, we think "Billy" is part of his name.

While it is common to see a boy who sleeps through classes, it is rare indeed to see a girl who can sleep through a lecture like Virginia Edmondson.

This columnist is beginning to wonder if Perry Landers can tell the McGowan twins apart. For a long time it was Virginia that he was always seen with, but now it is Mary. Perhaps it was just a deliberate swap.

Clipped from the Daily Texan—Miss Virginia Murray and O. O. Lewis were married Jan. 25. We had one here too.

Laura Mae Gibson and Virginia Wedge are doing better these days for some reason. They were seen in the Coffee Shop Thursday with two boys each; they were all in the same booth, too.

"Young man, will you name me a great time saver?"
"Yes, love at first sight."

After a freshman has been in college a whole semester he or she should begin to act like a college student and not a high school kid. It seems to me that Bette Burgess, Geneva McAnarney, and Margaret Clutter have failed to do this as they still run and fight over their seats in biology like second graders.

"I think that we should give all of these new campus brides a shower."
"Good idea, I'll bring the soap."

Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the chemistry department, must be a big milk drinker. When he first came to Canyon back in 1922 the town's only dairy had to add a new cow to provide him with an ample supply of milk.

A tall story is making the rounds that Stevenson, Shackelford, and Halbert, basketball men, went to Cousins Hall after lights out, stood on each other's shoulders, and helped three girls down from a third story window.

Since the Buffs are going to be away during "Sadie Hawkins" week, they have requested that they be allowed to participate the following week after they return.

Well, it looks like a couple more of the football heroes have gone the way of all good looking young men. They have been seen around with Beth Finley and Dorothy Lee Davis a lot here lately. I am talking about League Clay and W. J. Gillis.

A bunch of germs were hitting it up in the bronchial saloon; Two bugs in the edge of the larynx Were jazzing a rag time tune.

Back in the teeth, in a solo game Sat dangerous Ack-erchoo; And watching his pulse was his light of his love.

Wagers are being laid that Bill French will soon have his eyes examined for double vision as a result of seeing a girl in the Buff whom he had just delivered safe and sound to Cousins Hall.

Who Am I?

Of course I am a slick little freshman who the editor of Le Mirage wishes to immortalize in the 1939 publication. But here I am in a fine kettle of fish. Although I was created by Jack Hamlin at the first of school, I have led a sheltered and dignified freshman life until I encountered this trouble of mine. Though no fault of my own, I have been put on the spot; but, so difficult is my task, that I now use this means to appeal to all of you for help.

I HAVE NO NAME

Now there's where you come in. Just scratch the old bean a few times, and think up a good snazzy short snappy name which you think characterizes me. Then write your selection on a slip of paper and sign your name. Then drop it in the box outside the Publications Office, and wait for the announcement of the winner.

Unlike W. T. Custom

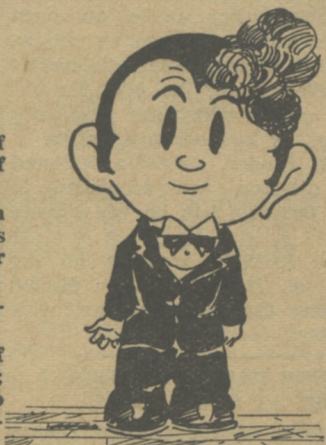

I offer no double malts, cokes, or even sticks of chewing gum, but I am doing my best.

First, the editor, sympathizing with me in my hour of trouble, is reserving a pew in his publication for my benefactor.

Second, Mr. Wooten down at the Olympic Theatre, has a soft spot in his heart for troubled freshmen, and he is giving me a ticket (good for a month) to present to my soon to be discovered good samaritan.

RULES

1. Any person may submit as many names as he desires.
2. All persons entering must be bona fide students or members of the faculty of West Texas State College. (Members of the staff of Le Mirage may not compete.)
3. Submit names printed plainly on a slip of paper with your own name signed at the bottom. Drop list in box outside publications office. The name must be five or less letters in length. Four letters or less being preferable.
4. In case of duplicate entries, the first one received will be considered.
5. Winners will be announced a week from today. The decision of the judges will be final. Although a winner will be announced; Le Mirage is not under obligation to use the name, but will do so if at all suitable. The contest closes at five o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 4. No late entries will be accepted.

Edna Brillhart Becomes Bride of Eugene Tucker

A wedding of interest to West Texas State campus, is that of Miss Edna Vanita Brillhart, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brillhart, to Eugene Tucker, which took place at the country home of the bride's parents Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Judge D. D. Shanks officiated in the presence of the immediate families and a few intimate friends.

Miss Mildred Brillhart, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music and accompanied Claude Shearer as he sang "I Love You Truly" before the entrance of the bridal party.

The bride wore a two-piece dress of sheer alpaca in an orchid shade with fuchsia accessories. She is a graduate of Perryton High School and attended O. W. C. at Chickasha, Okla., before coming to W. Dating

(Continued from first page) drug store defended the campus "eds" in regard to etiquette. "Most girls," he said, "do not appreciate the favors you show them. If you assist them occasionally, do they say thank you? No sree. And another thing, I don't like dumb girls who are always falling for somebody's line."

Smoking by girls is disagreeable to a majority of the boys. Some of them say, however, "If you must you must, but not in the streets."

All of the girls interviewed were opposed to blind dating. One boy, and one only, said "Yes" but added,

"Only if I had to have a date that bad."

As to Dutch dating—No sree, said all the girls in fervent unison.

Bufs Enter Southwest Tournament

West Texans Are Seeded Second

Strongest Teams of Region at Southwest Meet in El Paso

Eyes of West Texas State basketball fans are turning to the Southwest tournament at El Paso where the Buffaloes will be pitted against some of the strongest teams in the region. Play started yesterday and will continue through Thursday.

The Buffaloes entered the tourney with a record of 23 games won and 7 lost. Their most recent experience was a trip to East Texas State at Commerce, where they won easily the first night, 45 to 35, only to be conquered in the second game, 44 to 38, after taking a half-time lead, 22 to 16. The Lions played frenziedly and well in the second period, while the Buffs saw shot after shot roll off the hoops.

High Point man for the Buffs is Raymond Shackelford, the 6 foot 9 inch giant who has made 263 points in the 30 games played. Second is Ernest Schur, a speedy guard who has produced 204 points to pass Lother Stephenson, 6 foot 7 inch forward, who has 193 points to his credit. Dewey Johnson, the other starting forward, is fourth with 134 points and Joe Hayes, sensational guard, is fifth with 126 points. Other scorers are Kendrick, with 36; Price, 26; Cullender, 22; Nippert, 9; and Stagner, 5.

The Buffaloes have run up 1018 points while their opponents were making 824.

Slowing down of Stephenson in recent games has been costly to the Buffs. The big fellow has been going strong on defense, but against the Lions he could get only 6 points in the first game and 2 in the second. Shackelford came through in the first game with 14 points, but dropped to 9 in the second tilt.

The Buffaloes were seeded second by the El Paso tournament officials. They were seeded in the lower bracket, whereby the Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers, national intercollegiate champions last year, were seeded first in the upper bracket.

The last minute entrance of Panhandle Aggies, of Goodwell, Oklahoma hiked the list of teams to around 35. Seven states of this nation and one of Mexico are now represented by the entries which among others include: Gila, Ariz., College; New Mexico State College; Texas School of Mines; Howard Payne; New Mexico Normal; Kansas Wesleyan; Texas Wesleyan; Warrensburg, Mo.; Daniel Baker and others.

Cash prizes will be given to the winning teams and also individual medals to the players of the teams finishing in 1, 2, 3, order.

Dalhart Wins Region Over Pampa Five

Dalhart's Wolves stalked their prey for three periods before pouncing on a surprised Harvester team from Pampa to subdue them in the final seconds 25-24, to win the right to represent Region One in the final High School playoffs in Austin.

Defensively great, the Harvesters outclassed the calm Wolves of Coach Bob Carruthers, for three quarters leading all the way until the last minute. Then Weckel, stocky Dalhart guard, caught a pass from a teammate and blazed in under his basket for a crisp to inform Pampa that they were still in the running. But Pampa couldn't stop the rolling tide as Charlie Locke, Dalhart field general, rang up four more baskets in rapid fire order, including the last one that won the ball game with seconds to spare. Pampa, in the form of little Grover Heiskell, tried a last minute coup, firing at the basket from past center but the gun sounded as the ball fell short.

Lubbock was the first team eliminated from the tournament losing to Pampa 24-20 Friday morning, and to Medicine Mound 37-33 that night. Medicine Mound lost both games to Dalhart, one 33-30 and the other 36-30.

Appointed officials were confronted with the difficult problem of choosing six outstanding players of the tournament. Six were chosen this year to include Rusty Johnson, Lubbock Westerner high scorer and captain.

Andis, Pampa forward, was selected outstanding player of the tournament by unanimous choice—recognizing his infallible eye for the basket and his constant watching of the ball. Other members of the team were Atkinson of Medicine Mound, center; Dunaway of Pampa,

T-Club Takes Finals From Bachelors Hall

Buffalo T-Club reign as champions of West Texas State Intramurals by virtue of beating the stubborn Bachelors Hall crew in the final game, Thursday night, 29-27. Carl Matney and Jack Edmondson, T-Club forward and guard respectively, combined their scoring talents to eke out the bare 2 point margin of victory. Between them they scored 20 of the team's 29 points.

Getting a belated start, they let the T-Anchor Aggies drub them in the first game in the only upset battle of the finals melee. Bachelors Hall then took the Aggies with plenty to spare and it looked like it was Bachelors Hall for the trophy. However on successive nights the T-Club trounced the formidable Whirling Dervishes to exit them from the tourney and then got their revenge on the farm Aggies turning the trick neatly with a 28-16 victory.

Judges and tournament officials selected an Intramural All-tournament team as follows: Willard Jones Aggies; and Stanley Smith, Bachelors Hall, forwards; Preston Taylor, Bachelors Hall, center; Bomar Brown, Whirling Dervishes, and Ernest Kelly, T-Club, guards.

Stanley Smith of Bachelors Hall was chosen the most outstanding player of the tournament. Moonshiners club, the Milner House aggregation, was chosen the most typical intramural team.

Yearlings Down Wayland Rabbits

Fast Breaking Enables Baptists to Stay Abreast Two Periods

Fast breaking on the part of the under-rated Wayland College Jack-rabbit team enabled them to keep abreast of the tall freshmen from the West Texas State for two periods before the Yearling charges regained their composure long enough to pile in enough baskets in the last half to give them a comfortable win, 59-34, Wednesday night in Plainview.

Brookfield found the basket for 11 goals and 5 gratis pitches. He was in rare form as he galloped up and down the court, one-handing in shots from all angles. Halbert, bean pole center, didn't do so bad himself making 14 points and better than any Jackrabbit could do. Jackson, fair-haired boy of the losers chunked in four field goals and two free throws to high point his division.

The first half was slow and ragged as far as the frosh were concerned. Tied 22-all at the end of the half, it took the furious third quarter spurt to pull ahead of the Rabbits. They made 18 points the third quarter while holding the Plainview quintet to 6 points. Lengthening their lead in the final canto the Frosh added 19 more digits.

March 3, in Burton Gymnasium, the freshmen will pit themselves against the Eastern New Mexico College Greyhounds in a return engagement. The next night they will journey to Lubbock for a once postponed tilt with the Lubbock Tech first year men.
