Dean R. P. Jarrett Passes Away Monday

Two Members Appointed To Health Center; Education Dep't Staffs

Dr. James L. Russell now of the University System of Georgia will be Professor of Secondary Education at West Texas State College with the opening of the fall semester on September 17.

Dr. Russell is no stranger to the Southwest. He was born in Arkansas, went to high school at Floresville, Texas, did his undergraduate work at Durant, Oklahoma, was granted his M. A. degree by the University of Oklahoma at Norman and earned his Doctor's degree at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee.

His teaching has been, until five years ago, in Oklahoma where he was class room teacher, high school principal, and later superintendent of school for eight years at Checotah.

In 1940, he became a student at Peabody College where he held a Research Fellowship. He went, in 1941, to the University System of Georgia, Rome, Georgia, in which position he has served up to the present.

He comes to West Texas State College highly recommended as a teacher and as a community worker. He has been president of a civic club, superintendent of the Sunday school and chairman of the board of the church with which he is identified.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell and their twelve year old son expect to come to Canyon shortly after the first of September. The summer session in which he is director of a work shop and teacher of education will not be over until late in August.

Mrs. Nell Swinger of Jacksonville, Ill., has been selected to succeed Miss Hellen Hickman, college nurse, who resigned some months ago.

Mrs. Swinger has been on the nursing staff of Stephens College, Mo. and the college at Jacksonville, Ill.

She attended college at Kirksville, Missouri, received her training as a nurse in one of the large hospitals in St. Louis, Mo. from which place she was graduated and became a registered nurse. Since that time, she has been a student at George Peabody, where she earned her Bachelor of Science degree.

Mrs. Swinger expects to arrive in Canyon shortly after the first of September.

It is expected that President Hill will announce the election of other new faculty members at an early date.

Strickland Accepts Position At Denton

Chester O. Strickland, who has been superintendent of public schools at Hereford for the past year and who previous to that time was superintendent of schools at White Deer, has resigned to become superintendent of schools at Denton.

Mr. Strickland has served on the summer faculty of West Texas State College several times, working in the departments of government and of education. He is well-known to a great number of students and ex-students of the college and of the faculty.

During his years of service as a superintendent, Mr. Strickland has been an important figure in the Northwest Conference for Education and in the Texas State Teachers Association.

Forum To Discuss Russian Question

"What Is Russia Up To?" led by Dr. Ima C. Barlow, will be the topic reviewed in the open forum Thursday afternoon in Room 211. Previous discussions have included "Why Do We Talk About John L. Lewis?"; "Where Is the World's Food?"; and "What Should Our Schools Teach?"

The public is invited to attend and to participate in these informal discussions, which begin at 3:30.

Dorothy Acker is now Mrs. Floyd Ashcroft. She lives in Dallas. Before her marriage she taught for a short time at Dimmitt.

New Equipment In Use In Chemistry Department

A large part of a shipment of laboratory equipment from the Pantex Ordnance Plant in Amarillo, which was received here in February, is now in use in the Chemistry Department according to Dr. Chester A. Pierle. Arrangements are being made for installation of the pieces not now being used, he added.

The equipment was given to the college, with no cost attached other than that entailed in shipping, as a part of a government plan to distribute surplus war goods to various institutions which can utilize them.

Included in the shipment were two large electric drying ovens, a microscope, a Barnhillwater still, a Saybolt viscosimeter, a sturmer, two chainomatic analytical balances, a du Pont micrometer, a centrifuge mechanical stir, miscellaneous laboratory glass and hardware, and valuable heavy chemicals.

Mexico Air Tour Open To W. T.

West Texas State has been asked to cooperate in publicizing a low cost eighteen-day air tour to Mexico from August 9 to August 26. This tour is sponsored by the National Education Association.

The cost of the fifteen-day trip, leaving El Paso, will be $257.70.

This price includes transportation to Mexico City and return, transportation on all excursions listed while in Mexico City, all meals and lodging and tips to waiters and porters. Baggage for the trip is limited to fifty-five pounds unless the traveler wishes to pay for the cost of additional baggage.

A reception will be held for the tour members at the Benjamin Franklin Library in Mexico City, where Dr. Francisco Villagran will welcome the visitors. There will be an opportunity to meet and talk with prominent Mexicans from governmental and educational offices.

This tour has been arranged by the division of travel service of the National Education Association and has as its purpose the promotion of a pleasant vacation trip as well as the development of a greater understanding between people of the United States and of Mexico.

The tour provides varied activities, and at the same time it presents a flexible schedule so that persons having special interests will have the time to do things they enjoy most.

Attention is called to the fact that customs regulations permit returning United States residents to bring in duty-free merchandise with a total value up to $100, provided it is for personal use.

Those who have planned the tour specify that lightweight spring or fall clothing, including a light topcoat or raincoat, will be found most suitable for Central Mexico and that a pair of comfortable walking shoes is essential. Formal clothing will not be needed on the tour.

It is stated also that money should be carried in the form of Traveler's Checks. It is necessary that travelers going into Mexico for several days have birth certificates or other proof of the date and place of birth in order to satisfy immigration regulations.

This tour is open to any person who wishes to go. Any student or faculty member of West Texas State College who wishes to know more about the trip can get full information at the office of President J. A. Hill.

It is urgent that all veterans enrolled under Public Law 346 call by the Office of the Registrar not later than Wednesday, July 19. Office of the Registrar.

Dr. A. M. Meyer Elected Head of Amarillo College

DR. A. M. MEYER

When the summer session is ended, Dr. A. M. Meyer, member of the Department of Education and Dean of the Graduate School, will terminate his position with West Texas State College. He becomes president of Amarillo College.

Dr. Meyer is one of the best known figures in West Texas education. He took his Bachelor's and Master's degree at Indiana State University and his Ph. D. at George Peabody Graduate College.

After experience as a history teacher and superintendent of schools in Indiana, he held a supervisory position in secondary schools in Orlando, Fla., for five years before entering the college teaching field.

Before coming to West Texas State, Dr. Meyer had taught at Rollins College, Florida, in the Peabody Graduate School and the Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y.

During a part of the time that the Army Air Force training detachment was located at Canyon, he served as coordinator.

Dr. Meyer has become well-known in Texas educational circles, having been president of the Northwest Conference for Education and a member of the executive committee of the Texas State Teachers Association. He speaks of himself as a "career teacher" and his activities have demonstrated that he considers the teaching of the youth of America the nation's number one task.

On the campus, Dr. Meyer has been particularly active in developing the Graduate Club. It is probable that no graduate school of its size has a larger proportion of its members working in their own organization.

The Canyon Rotary Club recently chose Dr. Meyer as its president for the coming year. He is an elder in the Presbyterian Church in which he and Mrs. Meyer hold membership.

Mrs. Meyer has been sponsor of Pi Omega sorority during most of the years they have lived in Canyon.

President J. A. Hill has not yet named Dr. Meyer's successor.

Brune Succeeds Goins at the Veterans Center

William Brune resigned his position with West Texas State, working in the Veterans Administration, and accepted a position with the Veterans Administration at Lubbock.

Following a week's training there he was returned to Canyon as chief of the Veterans Administration Guidance Center, taking the post made vacant by the transfer of W. R. Goins to Oklahoma City.

When Mr. Brune came to Canyon last year from the Amarillo public schools to accept a position with the college, he bought a home in Canyon. He is hopeful that his appointment at the Guidance Center is permanent.

Felix Phillips, a graduate of W. T. and principal of one of the Amarillo schools, visited the campus last Wednesday.

College Gets Housing Units

A new housing project, which will accommodate 200 ex-servicemen was announced by President Hill last Wednesday. One hundred of the men, for whom accommodations have been secured, will be single and the other one hundred apartments will be arranged for married ex-servicemen.

The housing units have been secured from the Prisoner of War Camp at Hereford through the Federal Public Housing Authority at Fort Worth. President Hill states that much of the credit for success in getting these housing units should go to the Canyon Chamber of Commerce which has been working with him and Business Manager, Virgil Henson and the Housing Authority for some time.

Business Manager Henson made arrangements last week for the immediate removal of the buildings from their present site near Hereford to Canyon. The housing units will be placed on the campus wherever they will be most convenient to utility lines.

There will be twenty-five units, each containing four three-room apartments. These will be for the use of married ex-servicemen and their families.

In addition, there will be barracks style accommodations for 100 single men and all of them will be reserved for ex-servicemen so long as the demand lasts.

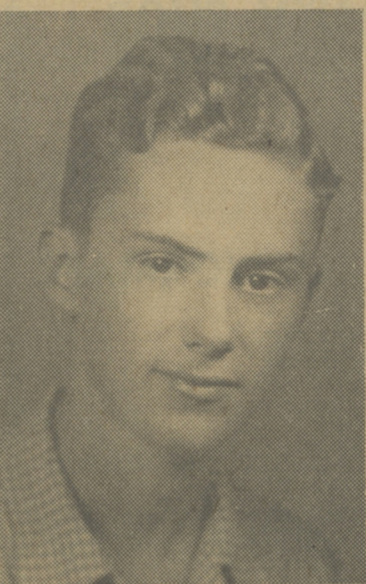

President J. A. Hill expressed great satisfaction over the new housing project. He said, "These buildings are close enough to Canyon that they can be moved and altered for student use and be ready by the opening of the college this fall."

He pointed out that these house units are strictly an emergency provision to be used only until housing of a more conventional type is again possible. He added, however, that the quarters being provided will be comfortable and thoroughly sanitary.

West Texas State College is very fortunate, thinks President Hill, in having secured this much needed additional space for students. These buildings are an outright gift to the college and come as a part of the Federal Public Housing Authority's effort to make it possible for ex-servicemen to attend college. The new housing units will not replace the trailer village nor the provisions for veterans at Conner and Terrill Halls.

Besides this last group of housing units, work is progressing on the transportation of units at Cactus Ordnance Plant which will be moved to Canyon and will furnish accommodations for another large group of men.

Scholarship Winner

Richard McCune, one of seventeen holders of band scholarships to W. T. next year is a graduate of Pampa High School. He began playing trombone when he was in the sixth grade and continued his study through Pampa Junior and Senior High Schools, where he held first chair in each organization. A former member of the Gene Lively Orchestra, and later director of his own swing band, Mr. McCune is associated with the Pinky Powell band in Pampa.

Teachers Sought Here Last Week

Superintendents of Schools in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and other states continue to visit the campus and to write their needs to the Teacher Placement Committee.

With the hope that some information about vacancies may be of use to prospective teachers and superintendents, brief information concerning places which are open will be given in each issue of The Prairie during the remainder of the summer.

Death Terminates Long Service

Yesterday morning shortly before 9 o'clock the word came to the college community that Dr. R. P. Jarrett, Dean of the College since 1927, had died at his home.

Dean Jarrett had been critically ill since early in June.

In 1920, Dr. Jarrett came to West Texas State College after teaching experience which began at a small school in Hood County in 1901 and was followed by work at Cisco High School, a principalship at Granbury High School followed by the superintendency, superintendency at Temple, Oklahoma, and membership on the faculty of the State Teachers College at Weatherford, Oklahoma. He came to this college as head of the Department of Education and in 1924 became Associate Dean. In 1927, he succeeded L. G. Allen as Dean.

Dean Jarrett's first study out of the State of Texas was at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, where he did his first work in 1902 and from which institution he received his Ph. D. degree in 1927. In the years between, he did work at the University of Texas and Texas A. & M. College.

Education studies which he carried on or with which he collaborated included, "Student Evaluation for Appointment Committees," "A Student Rating Schedule," and "Status of Courses in Psychology in State Teachers Colleges."

Professional and honorary organizations to which the Dean belonged included Phi Delta Kappa (Peabody), Southern Psychological Association, Southwestern Social Science Conference, the National Education Association (life), and the Texas State Teachers Association (life).

Dean Jarrett did not limit his interests or his activities to the college campus. During his entire residence in Canyon, he was identified with the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and with the Presbyterian Church in which he was an Elder at the time of his death. For many years he taught an adult Sunday School class. He was also a Rotarian and had been president of that organization.

With the opening of World War II, Dr. Jarrett, who had served on the Randall County draft board during World War I, was chosen chairman of the Randall County board, a position which he held at the time of his death and to which he had given time and study for almost five years.

The development of a sound program of teacher training, and along with it, a service program that would enable the youth of Northwest Texas to have the best possible college opportunities characterized Dr. Jarrett's work as Dean.

In his relations with students and faculty, his work was always marked by a keen understanding of people and an unusual sense of justice.

Dean Jarrett's immediate family consists of his wife, S. C., to whom he was married in 1907 in Hood County, Texas, a son, Dr. Robert Patton Jarrett, Jr., a daughter, Virginia Williams, a grand son, Bobby Williams, and two granddaughters, Jane and Ann Jarrett.

Young Conducts Du Pont Experiment

The Chemistry Department of W. T. has begun its sixteenth year as a paint testing station for the Du Pont Corporation, and for the first time a girl is in charge of experimentation and reporting. Miss Betty Young of Canyon, a chemistry major now in her junior year, was appointed to the position by Dr. Chester A. Pierle, head of the department, after her laboratory work, record keeping and general ability had been carefully observed.

This college is the site of one of four stations maintained by the Du Pont Corporation for the purpose of applying and testing new paints, special consideration being given to the climatic conditions prevailing in a given section. The other three laboratories are located in Delaware, Florida, and Colorado.

The experiment here consists of a series of boards placed so as to be in constant contact with all kinds of weather. This "paint fence," which is located on the College Farm, is frequently mistaken for laundry when seen from town.

As another phase of the testing project, Dr. Pierle often directs the painting of as many as four houses each year. The dwellings are observed in much the same way as the fence. Since 1930 fifty residences in or near Canyon have been repainted under this arrangement.

Louise Holeyfield of the class of 1945 is now Mrs. C. W. Manison of Portales, New Mexico. She will continue to teach at Portales next year.

Summer Varities Is Scheduled to Be Held July 31

Summer Varities spelled backward is Remmus Seitirav! Spelled any way it means the color and novelty of the college show to be presented at Buffalo Stadium, July 31.

The regular variety show, sponsored annually by band director, Glenn Truax, is being extended this summer to include a bathing beauty review, a baby contest, and an outdoor dance.

The show will begin at 8:00 with the baby contest. Children of veterans who are connected with the college, whether they live at Hill Courts or in town, are eligible for entry and for one of three prizes to be awarded to the "most beautiful" youngster. Two years is the maximum age limit.

Following this feature, three top bathing beauties will be chosen from contestants who are to be sponsored by dormitories, organizations, and business firms in Canyon. Entry is not restricted to college girls but is open to residents of the town as well.

A sparkling half hour of music, dancing, drama, and acrobatics will conclude the performance at the football field.

Following the show a "Starlight" dance will be held somewhere on the campus. The exact location is to be announced later.

Summer Varities is being arranged by a three man committee composed of W. Holmes Smith, Associate Professor of Industrial Arts; Glenn Truax, band director, and Eldon K. Shipp, a veteran student who lives at Hill Courts.

Details for the bathing beauty review are being planned by Kate McCulloch, Elizabeth Schulze, and Mattie Haupt.

There is still room on the show for musical, dramatic, or acrobatic talent. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Truax at the band house.

A general admission of ten cents will be charged at the stadium gate. No activity tickets will be necessary.

WHAT IS FASCISM?

The years following the first World War seemed to hold promise to a large group of liberals that there would develop some adequate world state in which cooperation by agreement would replace conflict. This picture of the future held that small nations were to be safe from the aggression of larger nations. Self-determinations of people was held to be a desirable goal. Minorities were to be protected from the majority. Labor was to be protected from exploration by employers. Coercion was to diminish and civilization was to advance with peace and consent rather than force. These highly idealistic hopes were badly shocked when the fascists acquired control of Italy in 1922. Mussolini soon designated the twentieth century as a century of fascism. One decade later Hitler was building a fascist state "to last a thousand years." This doctrine of fascism was the greatest swing to the Right the world has ever seen and bitterly contradicted the principles of both democratic and socialistic states.

The most significant concept of fascism is the totalitarian state. In democracies sovereignty is distributed among the citizens; the fascist state is total, it is the sole sovereign. The Italian fascists held that the average individual's capacity for judgment is insufficient to determine public policy; that most citizens are fit only to be led. The duty of the individual is to elevate himself to the heights of the national consciousness and to lose completely his own identity in it. He has individual rights only in so far as they do not conflict with the needs of the sovereign state. Hitler criticized democracy no less emphatically, advocating that the political leadership be free from the control by the majorities. Fascists criticized elected parliaments as inefficient, and demanded action, not talk. These attitudes toward democratic forms were derived largely from the short experience which Italy and Germany had with democracy under trying post-war conditions.

Concurrent with the major premise of the totalitarian state is found extreme nationalism. Strength alone constituted the right to possess whatever land or territory the fascist state wanted. Wars resulting from this search for new land and resources were looked on with favor. Mussolini even went so far as to say: "War alone keeps all human energies to their maximum tension and sets the seal of nobility on those peoples who have the courage to face it." To secure these ends, the spirit of self-denial and service to the state was preached in appeals that were highly emotional and were supported by constant parading and endless speech-making and propagandizing. Beyond these positive social appeals for solidarity was the list of "whipping boys" which impelled people to conform because they opposed something. Thus the population of Germany was organized against the Versailles Treaty, Russian communism, and the Jews. The economic system was revised so that the corporate state had complete control over the economic system and means of production. The whole fascist doctrine may be summed up in Mussolini's oft-quoted dictum: "Everything in the state, nothing against the state, nothing outside the state."—Ben Brotherton.

The French novelist Colette has a story, "Gigi," in the July Harper's Bazaar, telling the story of the social education of a fifteen-year-old girl during the early part of the century. Most of her lessons on etiquette come from her great aunt Alicia, a grand lady of many social accomplishments. Apropos of teaching Gigi to eat lobster a l' Americaine, Aunt Alicia says, "The three stepping stones of an education are lobster a l'Americaine, coddled eggs, and asparagus. Bad table manners . . . have broken up any number of happy families."

Gigi learns more of the ways of the world from her grandmother when the two of them are discussing the suicide of a prominent young woman. The grandmother tells Gigi—

"Call your mother, Gigi! Liane d'Exelmans has committed suicide!" "Ohhh! . . . "cried the girl. "Is she dead?"

"I should say not! She's an expert."

"What did she use, Grandmother? A revolver?"

Mme. Alvarez looked pityingly at her granddaughter.

"Really! She took laudanum, as usual. Although they do not guarantee the desperate woman's survival, Dr. Moreze and Dr. Pelledoux, who are constantly at her bedside, have made a hopeful diagnosis of her condition. . . . If you want my diagnosis, it's that if Mme. d'Exelmans goes on like this she'll ruin her stomach."

"I did not know whether to say purple or blue so in the mixture of thought wrote purple which may be an excellent name for a color made up of these two. . . ."
—John Keats.

In her novel "Orlando," Virginia Woolf has her central character sum up Victorian literature thus— "And now it is clear that there are only two ways of coming to a conclusion upon Victorian literature—one is to write it out in sixty volumes octavo, the other is to squeeze it into six lines of the length of this one. Of the two courses, economy, since time runs short, leads us to choose the second; and so we proceed. Orlando then came to the conclusion (opening half a dozen books) that it was very odd that there was not a single dedication to a nobleman among them; next (turning over a vast pile of memoirs) that several of these writers had family trees half as high as her own; next, that it would be impolitic in the extreme to wrap a ten-pound note round the sugar tongs when Miss Christina Rossetti came to tea; next (here were half a dozen invitations to celebrate centuries of dining) that literature, since it ate all these dinners must be growing very corpulent; next (she was invited to a score of lectures on the Influence of this upon That; the Classical revival; the Romantic survival, and other titles of the same engaging kind) that literature since it listened to all these lectures must be growing very dry; next (here she attended a reception given by a peeress) that literature since it wore all those fur tippets must be growing very respectable; next (here she visited Carlyle's sound-proof room at Chelsea) that genius since it needed all this coddling must be growing very delicate; and so at last she reached her faithful conclusion, which was of the highest importance but which, as we have already much overpassed our limit of six lines, we must omit."

"It doesn't cost anything to be courteous," is an old saying, but if somebody asks you what time it is on a dark, back street, guess at it.
—Kin Hubbard.

If you get up too early, it makes you conceited all morning, and cross all afternoon.—John Stuart Hill.

When I feel inclined to read poetry, I take down my dictionary. The poetry of words is quite as beautiful as that of sentences.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

The Road to Truth
The wayfarer,
Perceiving the pathway to truth,
Was struck with astonishment.
It was thickly grown with weeds.
"Ha," he said,
"I see that none has passed here
In a long time."
Later he saw that each weed
Was a singular knife.
"Well," he mumbled at last,
"Doubtless there are other roads."

Herd Rumbblings

Dear Editor:

The Prairie is our student publication. Through their activity tickets, the students pay for it, students edit it, and students read it; therefore why don't the students have a voice in their own paper? To anyone who reads The Prairie it should be obvious it is not a voice of the students.

A college progresses through the efforts of its students. How can our college progress if we are denied the privilege of free expression?

This is a state supported institution, but does that necessarily mean that we must bow and scrape to every supposed state dignity? That we must refrain from using any material of current interest just because it might offend government officials? It seems to me that the purpose of a newspaper is to publish news whether some persons approve of that news or not.

Why can't we have a newspaper like Texas University—a real newspaper. The Prairie is of no value as long as it remains a puppet on strings in the hands of those who restrict its publication. What should determine the editorial policy of the paper? The Students? Should people have to be reminded of the fact that the Atlantic Charter sets forth "Freedom of Expression" as one of the four basic freedoms?

RIDING HERD

By Dale DeShazo

Baseball seems to be the highlight attraction, at least to a few baseball fans, at West Texas State.

But where are all those so-called students of the college when those ball games are scheduled for 5:30 o'clock? It couldn't be that you know them. . . . In fact if you notice there are usually reminders on every bulletin board for some two or three days before game time.

You really don't realize what you are missing when you neglect a game in which top basketball, football and baseball stars participate.

Some of these West Texas State baseball players are very well known throughout the nation as top-notch athletes in football and basketball.

Price Brookfield, several times all-American basketball star looks pretty good "bunting" the ball out past the last fielders.

Other players include: Metz LaFollette also known for his basketball and football ability; Buford Emier, stellar football end; Ledru Jacobs, basketball star; Mack Winter, football backfield man; Hoss Bledsoe, two year quarterback for the Buffaloes; Doyle "Monk" Ford, football kicker and passer; and Boyce Box, one of the famous Box twins who hails from Ft. Worth and is quite well known in the basketball world. Wayne Funstan, one of the owners of the Buffalo Drug, is pitcher for the team.

The West Texas State Buffaloes have trounced teams from Vega, Tulia and the Amarillo Times semi-pro team.

Dropping down to the intramural league at West Texas State, we find Stafford Hall playing the diamond against Terrill Hall. In a practice game last Thursday afternoon the Stafford Hall Buffoneers edged out a seven to six win over the Terrill Hall Terrors. The boys were tied up six-all at the end of the regular five-inning game. Then with Calvin Applewhite, the terrorizing pitcher from Stafford Hall, the boys managed to swing in another score. Paul Robertson is coach for Stafford Hall.

Many of the boys were moaning over the fact that Terrill Hall boasted a left-handed pitcher by the name of Grayson. Well, they had something to moan about because Grayson has a pretty neat little curve that would scare anybody (almost). However, he was not successful in scaring that player from room 11 at Stafford named Pat Falls. Pat made some pretty nice hits and runs for Stafford to bring them another win.

Miss Dorothy Heath from Waco arrived here Sunday night to spend a two-weeks vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Heath. Miss Heath is employed in the Registrar's Office of Baylor University at Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jennings from Phoenix, Arizona are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Stevenson this week.

Charles Stratton, chemist at Phillips, visited over the Fourth with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stratton.

Methodists Will Build Center

The Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church has bought the lot where the O. T. Carruth home stands, west of the campus, and will build a student center in the near future. A Bible Chair will be established in West Texas State along with the erection of the building.

The conference has allotted $26,000 for this work, which includes a full time Methodist worker.

Methodists are establishing such work in all of the state colleges of Texas, according to Rev. Hubert Thomson.

The location selected is south of the Health Center of the College, and across the street from the museum.

Rev. Thomson states that he has not been advised as to when construction will start on the new building, or when a worker will be assigned to this charge.

Walker Discusses Food Situation At Rotary Luncheon

Miss Darthula Walker, head of the Department of Geography of West Texas State, talked at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday on the food situation confronting the world. The club is studying all phases of international problems during the year.

J. D. Barker was in charge of the program.

President A. M. Meyer resigned as head of the club since he is moving soon to the presidency of Amarillo College. Dr. Robert P. Jarrett was elected to succeed him.

Miss Walker stated that according to the best estimates there were 2, 170,000,000 people in the world today. There are about 52 pounds of food for each person. If this division is reached, the people of America must reduce their consumption two-thirds; Europe by one-half. The people of Asia would receive about three times their present consumption.

Drouth prevailed throughout the world in 1945. The grain crop was badly cut in every nation of the globe. For this reason the commitments on wheat to Europe are short. In order to reach these commitments, we must reduce our consumption by 25%. Failure to meet these commitments is having a very bad effect upon our relations abroad.

Before the war big packers of Chicago used to get about 65% of all meat animals which were received on that market. Because of the black market operations they have been getting only 11%.

Drouth conditions prevail in sugar producing nations, which has also

Pictures Will Be Shown Interest to Parents

This week the film division of the college is offering a special program of moving pictures of interest to teachers of children of all ages and to parents and to young people of high school and college age.

The pictures are "You And Your Friends," which shows a teenage party. The audience is asked to listen to the dialogue and watch the action in order to evaluate different types of behavior. Friendly co-operation is contrasted in the picture with self-centered bad manners. This film lends itself to discussion by the audience.

"Dinner Party," another picture two and one-half reels in length and in color, shows good type of etiquette and suggests how good manners contribute to the fun of social activities.

A third picture, "You and Your Family," has been made to help audiences, both youth and adult, discuss how young people and their parents should feel and act toward one another in the everyday business of living together.

"You and Your Child," a film dealing with the relation of parents and young children, will be the fourth picture, and "Junior Prom," a companion picture to "Dinner Party" deals with dating and proper social conduct by high school age youth.

High school boys and girls of Canyon, church workers and Sunday school teachers, public school teachers, and college students are invited to see these pictures. They were brought to the campus for the use of education classes which are being taught by Miss Novella Goodman.

Because these are pictures so valuable to young people and persons working with young people it has been decided to show them at 4 o'clock for the benefit of town people who could not come at another hour. They will be shown at 7:30 p. m. as a part of the regular Thursday film program and visitors will be welcomed at the classes in which they are shown. The hours for these will be posted on the bulletin boards.

They will be shown in Room One of the Education Building.

Early Completion of Museum Advised

At the call of the new president, Hamlin Overstreet of Farwell, the executive committee of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society met in the Panhandle Plains Museum here on July 10, at 2:30.

The purpose of the meeting was to consult with contractors C. S. Lambie and Frank Little of Amarillo concerning the advisability of beginning work on the Museum now. From both the economical and practical points of view, the contractors advised beginning work immediately rather than having to spend two or three thousand dollars for repairs on the north wall of the main unit and the roof of the basement unit.

By letter to each member of the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee will recommend that construction begins at once. If a majority of the Directors approves, the work will begin within a few days. All the necessary materials for completion of the project are on the lot.

A tentative contract was given Mr. Lambie subject to the action of the Board of Directors. "Providing we can begin work within a few days, the building should be finished by Christmas," stated Mr. Lambie.

Those present at the meeting were Hamlin Overstreet; David M. Warren, Panhandle; H. C. Pipkin, S. B. Whittenburg, M. O. Carder, and M. W. Hamilton, Amarillo; O. H. Finch, Dalhart; Newton Harrell, Claude, Harold Bugbee, Clarendon; C. R. Burrow, Clyde Warwick, and L. F. Sheffy, Canyon.

Miss Una Brooks of the Elizabeth Nixon Junior High School staff in Amarillo spent two days of last week working in the library at W. T. Miss Brooks has been graduated twice by this college, her Master's degree having been taken with a major in history which is the subject she teaches.

Miss May Simmons, critic teacher in the College Demonstration School, spent the fourth of July in Floydada where she attended the wedding of her niece.

Harvest Dance Sponsored By Sigs

Decorations designed to depict a rural scene provided a setting for the Harvest Dance sponsored by the Alpha Sigma Xi fraternity in the ballroom at Cousins Hall Friday evening.

On the stage in a small stall was an electric "Elsie," the cow, and "Beulah." Nearby was the horse, "Smokey," now of both literary and cinema fame. Bales of hay, blocks of salt, wagon wheels, and buckets on the stage and scattered throughout the ballroom carried out the theme. Window decorations consisted of draped levis and plaid shirts; while the chandeliers sported straw hats. Ducks floating about in a large metal water tank set in the middle of the dance floor added to the rustic impression.

Punch was drawn from a keg in the Red Room.

Miss Louella Grace Erdman, professor of English in West Texas State, and her mother are spending the summer months visiting friends and relatives in Blackburn, Missouri.
