

More Than 100 Degrees to Be Granted

No Permanent
Peace Is SeenDr. Umphrey Lee Tells
Seniors Each Generation
Fights to Hold Gains

"I don't feel as sorry for you as I might," President Umphrey Lee of S. M. U. told seniors and graduate students of West Texas State in the summer baccalaureate service Sunday.

Dr. Lee said it was time to talk plainly about people and about wars. Virtually every generation since Adam has faced the problems of war, he added, and only foolish people believe that a new day has arrived in human relations.

"There will be no peace," Dr. Lee declared, "until the people decide that wars do not pay."

He ridiculed the idea that better times follow wars, asserting that conflict makes worse conditions and lower standards.

"Force doesn't make people good, and never will," he said.

Misled By Distance

Americans have been misled in their thinking by their relative security and distance from Europe, the speaker added. He said this country entered World War I late and lost comparatively few men, with the result that the horrors of battle were not realized by the people generally. The present conflict, however, is a "people's war" which may yet touch many an American home.

He compared the people's position today with that of a band of pioneers whose stockade is surrounded by howling savages. The people have no choice but to fight, he explained—not that war pays but that non-resistance is suicide.

"We must ring our civilization with steel," Dr. Lee declared, "but remember that steel isn't civilization. Peace cannot be achieved by force. Our only chance is the slow process of educating the people in the way of Christianity and the realization that war cannot pay."

Dilemma Not New

He pointed out that the plight of this generation is really no worse than that of many previous generations. Only the foolish believe that they can have health, normalcy, and happiness without fighting for it.

Special music was provided for the occasion by a double quartet, which included Prof. Wallace R. Clark, Weldon Bright, Elizabeth McCaslin, Marion Miller, Florence Clark, Jeanne Lively, Olin Hinkle, and Houston Bright. Dr. S. H. Condon gave the invocation, the Rev. A. M. Dorsett read the Scriptures, Miss M. Moss Richardson gave a special prayer, and the Rev. Joseph Findley gave the benediction.

Commencement week activities include the President's Reception to seniors Tuesday evening, the concert by Chorus and Orchestra Thursday evening, and commencement exercises Saturday evening, July 25, at 8:30 o'clock. The commencement speaker will be Dr. Robert L. Sutherland of Austin, executive secretary of the Hogg Foundation.

New Courses to Be Offered Here
In Second Term

A number of new courses now listed on the official program will be offered in the 6-week term opening July 28.

Prof. John A. Gillis had not intended to teach, but being obliged to teach telegraphic code work in the CPT course, he decided to offer instruction in wood-working and carving. Students interested in these classes are being asked to consult him.

A new first aid course directed by Miss Ruth Cross is starting soon. It will meet six days a week from 7:30 to 9 a. m. for two hours of college credit. The class is 281 and is offered to both men and women. Those who finish the course will receive Red Cross certificates.

Although Miss Robinson will not be present during the last six weeks, a new teacher will be employed. Among the classes will be Art 401, Painting.

Dr. L. F. Sheffy will not teach during the second term and History 441 and 481 will not be offered.

Prof. Herschel Coffey will be the only instructor present in the department of government and economics. He will teach an advanced course in government finance, Economics 432. This will be taken with either sophomore government or economics as a prerequisite. It will carry advanced credit in either subject. (See COURSES, Page 2)

New Director

Roy C. Boger, executive secretary of Southern Methodist University, has been employed to be director of the Amarillo Center of West Texas State College. He will arrive about August 15 and will live at the Allen Early Building in Amarillo, where courses will be offered on a residence basis. He is widely known in Texas church and educational circles, and is secretary of the Texas Association of Colleges.

Direct CenterRoy G. Boyer Is Well
Fitted to Head New Program in Amarillo

A long step toward completion of the organization of the new Amarillo Center of West Texas State College has been taken in the employment of its director.

This director of the Center will be Roy C. Boger of Dallas, at present the executive secretary of Southern Methodist University. He will take up his duties in Amarillo on August 15. He will teach some classes in addition to directing the activities of the Center. With Mrs. Boger, an accomplished singer and pianist, he will receive visitors and represent the local institution in Amarillo.

Mr. Boger received A. B. and M. A. degrees from Southwestern University at Georgetown and did additional work at the University of Texas. He was president of Weatherford Junior College and for several years was dean of McMurry College of Abilene. He long has been prominent in affairs of the Methodist Church in Texas. He has belonged to a Lions club and for 18 years was a member of the Rotary Club. He is 49 years old. He is secretary of the Texas Association of Colleges.

Vice-president Eugene V. Hawk of S. M. U. wrote of him to Dr. J. A. Hill:

"I have never known a man who was possessed of a finer spirit of cooperation and service than Mr. Boger. . . . I congratulate you and your institution on securing his services for the Amarillo Center. Few men in the state are more widely or better known. He has been a leader in educational. Features of this second term are expected to include a lyceum number, a picnic, and a continuation of the recreation program. While the faculty and offerings will be smaller, the printed class schedule lists more than one hundred classes and labs.

Classes will be approximately 1½ hours in length. Two courses of 3 semester hours each will be a normal load. Classes will start at 7:25 a. m. and the last lab period will

"The Revenge"
Next ProgramChorus and Orchestra
Will Entertain With Production Thursday

A major contribution to the commencement program will be made by the college Chorus and Orchestra Thursday evening, July 23, when these organizations present "The Revenge," a tuneful ballad of the British fleet.

Prof. Wallace R. Clark will direct the performance, which will start at 8:30 p. m. in the main auditorium.

There will be no solo parts, but the blending of groups, spirit of the production, and delicate phrasing will call for all the skill of chorus and orchestra. Some passages of great beauty are of more than average difficulty.

Charles Villiers Stanford, who wrote the music to Tennyson's words of "The Revenge," was born in Dublin in 1852. This Irish conductor and composer received an excellent musical education and for a time taught music at Cambridge. He followed Goldschmidt as conductor of the famous Bach choir in London. In 1897-1900 he conducted the Leeds Philharmonic orchestra and directed the festivals from 1901-10.

Stanford was knighted in 1901. He composed several operas, half a dozen oratorios, church music, several symphonies, overtures and concertos for orchestras, some chamber music, and music for solo voices. He also wrote a history of music in 1916. He made much use of ballads of the British fleet.

Sir Richard Grenville was one of the sea-dogs who made the west countries famous in the naval annals of England during the sixteenth century. He was a stern man, but high minded and full of undaunted courage. In 1585 he led out to Virginia the first English colony. In 1588 he had charge of the defense of Devon and Cornwall against the Spanish.

Three years later he was put in command of the "Revenge," one of the crack ships of its class, of 500 tons burden and a crew of 250 men. The "Revenge" was notoriously unlucky, but had carried the flag of Drake in the Channel fights against the Armada. Under Lord Thomas (See "REVENGE," Page 2)

STONE IS DELAYED

Construction of the rapidly growing Science Building was slowed last week because of a shortage of stone. The missing stone is part of the first course on the first floor. Very little of the front of the building on the west side, is finished.

Virgil Henson, Business Manager, expects the needed stone to arrive this week. John Milnar is the superintendent in charge of construction for the contractors, Ellis, Nicholson and Cramer of Oklahoma City.

Meaning of "Amarillo Center"

There is nothing new in the fact that West Texas State will offer standard college courses in Amarillo next fall. Extension classes, many of them large, have been taught in the nearby city for many years.

But for the first time the College has facilities for extending these offerings and placing them on a basis of residence. Gift of the magnificent Early Building has given the College title to property which legally and practically is a part of its campus.

The "Amarillo Center" will stress business and public administration at a time when these subjects are vital to the war effort and the peace beyond. Whether we like it or not, the government will be much with us hereafter. Modern life is so complex that present-day democracy is one of much government, not just a little as Jefferson envisioned. Training for executive and research positions in business, government, and industry is much needed in this territory. Populous Amarillo should be able to furnish many students for these courses.

Graduate work in the fields of Education, English, and History and advanced undergraduate work in timely subjects also will be made available. The latter will approximate "adult education" in the sense that it will make for better living and vocational advancement.

The nursery school as it will be operated in Amarillo has little in common with the "day nursery" as many know it. The parents, even more than the children, will be trained by the child specialist. This expert should be of wide influence in such matters as child care, nutrition, juvenile delinquency, and kindred subjects.

In a more general field, the "Amarillo Center" will be an ex-student headquarters, a visiting place where friends of the College may learn more about it, and a lecture and exhibit place where talks, music, educational motion pictures, and dramatic productions may be presented. The long-term program for the Center cannot now be wholly predicted, but the benefits to the College and to Amarillo doubtless will be many.

At the same time, the limitations of the Center must be realized. It is ideal for a limited program but the number of classes which can be held at one time is no greater than the number of rooms available. The breadth of the program, rather than the number of courses, will illustrate its usefulness.

The distances involved are not great, measured by the size of other campuses. All the resources of the main campus are available to commuters. The driving time between the Center and the campus at Canyon is less than that between campuses of many large universities. The return of normal transportation and the inevitable speeding of travel will bring the two units still nearer in a real sense.

These same factors also will increase the possibilities for extending the facilities of the College to cities other than Amarillo. The importance of college training was never more apparent than now. Governmental agencies, including the military, have made this preparation prerequisite to hundreds of placements. Industries have placed the same values on college experience—not only for the knowledge gained but for the personality development, poise, and the mere fact of being ambitious. It follows that colleges also have offerings for adults either at the campuses or at some distance beyond.

The implied task for the colleges is a huge one. West Texas State assumes a heavy responsibility in opening the Center in Amarillo. During the war, the Center may even be a burden to some departments. But the sense of rendering a needed service will be much recompense.

The Center will be a part of the campus, just as is the College Farm or any other unit somewhat removed but still within working distance of the main plant. Not extension work, but regular residence instruction will be given at Amarillo.

Why Not SING Alma Mater!

It is almost time to sing the Alma Mater again.

But to sing it—not mumble it, stumble over it, or reduce it to a monotone.

Commencements are more or less emotional, it is true, and there may be some excuse for missing a note now and then. We will even concede that some seniors and graduates who have not been around the campus much lately may be forgiven a lapse of memory.

We are talking about the spirit of the thing. Listen!

"Over boundless reach of prairie."

Over reach—but what kind? Over boundless reach. Of what? Of prairie—not hills, not mountains, not lakes. Then why not interpret the line, enunciate each word plainly, and emphasize the boundless scope of Alma Mater's plains. Yes, her rolling plains.

"Over cliff and crag and canyon."

Not merely over plain and prairie, but the nearby rugged canyons. Tell the world about it. Note the generous suggestion of pride. The verse is dignified but it should be sung robustly and interpretively.

"To maroon and white our colors."

This is equivalent, in local terminology, to Stars and Stripes. Sing the words brightly and pronounce each color distinctly.

"We should faithful be—"

Sure. That's the senior pledge. Sing it out. Hold the "be," but not too long.

"Hearts as bold as western breezes."

You know our breezes. Sing boldly; put some spirit into the line.

"Souls as pure and free!"

We didn't insert the exclamation point; it's there. Pure and free as western breezes—that's something to fight for. Sing it as if you understood what fighting for freedom means.

"Round thy image, Alma Mater,"

Hallowed memories twine,

Bless the sacred ties of friendship,

Pledged before thy shrine."

Here is a change of sentiment. It has the quality of direct address. Sing it more softly but with sustained volume and pitch.

"Alma Mater! Alma Mater!"

We will faithful be;

Through the years that lie before us

We'll remember thee!"

Certainly this last stanza calls for the fullest cooperation of song leader and audience. It is expressive of high resolve. It holds possibilities for held notes and retarded count. The last line can be made intensely dramatic by stressing "remember."

"We'll re-mem-ber thee!" . . . Slowly, with accent on "mem" and full, held note on "thee."

It is a thrilling thing to hear Alma Mater sung as it can be sung—with feeling, interpretation, dramatic pauses, and sustained holds.

Today's . . . OVERTONES

. . . Odds N' Ends

By Joe Crisler

"Words are things . . ."—Byron.

By tradition, if no other reason, the artist, the poet, the writer has the privilege of closing his career with a last melody, a last utterance. It is termed his Swan Song.

After four years of reporting, copy reading, proof reading, editing and columning for the Prairie . . . After serving four years as reporter, associate editor, managing editor and columnist, we bring it to an end with this: Our Swan Song. With this passes the last effort of the last member of the Cone reign. You remember Bill Cone? He was editor in 1938.

Four Years . . . Four long years! Four exciting, enjoyable years! Yet all too soon comes the time of parting. Saturday, President Hill will hand out those long cherished diplomas. Then, it's good-bye. Farewell, Alma Mater. So long, friends.

Stop a moment and consider. Compare yourself today with that shy, timid freshman of Oh, so many years ago, or was it just yesterday?

Perhaps one could have accomplished more in college. But one must have a bit of recreation. Often too much. Overtones, for instance. . . . The things we had intended to write, but somehow the thoughts faded. . . . We had intended to mention that the golf course was grown over in weeds. . . . We were going to mention that the students still had no members on those committees which make decisions that affect the students. . . . That the Student Senate is merely a figurehead, with little power. . . . That why should one department receive money many times in excess of another department. . . . That people still persist in parking their cars in front of the No Parking signs at each entrance of the Ad building.

And there were the names we were going to mention: That Marion Crain receive a letter from Eugene Melquiere. . . . Margaret Conner, freshman at Randall. . . . Mava Lay, freshman at Cousins. . . . That Mary Jane Turrentine is again in school. . . . Eleanor Daugherty and her "second-hand relatives." . . . That Jimmy Fite married one of the cutest girls in Pampa, Jerry Smith. . . . That Betty Heles once ran for a class office. . . . That Geraldine Hart plays a number of musical instruments.

And there were the choice bits of gossip we knew, but never mentioned: J. D. Swift . . . Maurice Wingo . . . Jeanne Lively . . . Jerry Messenger . . . Connally Lockhart . . . Walter Word . . . Muriel Fay Phegley . . . Ruth Aaron . . . and many others. Nothing bad, but just little things that bring laughs.

There were things we didn't like: Chapel and chapel programs sometimes. . . . Class officers that acted as stogies. . . . Music at Cousins Hall dances. . . . The things we couldn't print.

But so it goes. College life is like no other. Four years that can never be duplicated in joy, in fun, in heart breaks, in failure.

Saturday opens as a new era in the lives of numerous graduates. Life becomes something more serious. Somewhat deadly. There are those going out to teach. Into professions. To till the soil. To industry. Business. . . . There are those headed for prison. To the insane asylum. There are those going to fight so that on-coming seniors may have the right to go out and live as they may choose.

But that's destiny. That is life: Sweet, Cruel, Joy, Despair! But it makes the world go around.

Those who leave, go freighted with happy memories, inexhaustible and unending—of W. T., its warm-hearted faculty and students.

They go freighted with knowledge. A great many things besides the construction of a grammatical ject. Current problems of financing the war will be stressed.

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger will offer a 3-week class in a 400 English course if there is a demand, with two periods a day for three hours credit. Business English 321 will be offered if students wishing it indicate a desire for the course this week to Dr. Fronabarger or Dr. Lee Johnson. English 572, which now conflicts on the schedule with a guidance course, will be shifted to avoid this conflict.

church, and civic work for 20 or more years."

Department heads and other authorities of West Texas State are preparing for announcement an introductory curriculum of classes to be available in the first term at the Amarillo Center, which will be operated concurrently with local terms. Advanced work will be given in business and public administration and other subjects and graduate work in English, History, and Education.

Dr. Hill is seeking a specialist to open a nursery school at the Center for the instruction of parents and training of a limited number of children.

The Center also will present exhibits, lectures, and musical and dramatic programs from time to time. It will be located in the four-floor Allen Early building at 2101 Harrison.

REVENGE—

Howard, Grenville was sent to the Azores to intercept the annual treasure fleet returning to Spain from the West Indies. The Spanish King dispatched in turn against the English a powerful fleet of fifty-three warships, crowded with soldiers. The Earl of Cumberland, who was coasting Portugal, sent warning to Howard as he lay at anchor on the north side of Flores. But the pinnace which carried the message had hardly arrived when the fleet was at hand. The Lord Admiral with five of the six queen's ships got away. Grenville, delaying to bring his sick on board, was cut off from the rest of the squadron. Instead of attempting to escape by doubling on the enemy, he tried to pass through the whole Spanish fleet. Finally the little "Revenge" goes down in the sea with the Spaniards aboard.

The composer, Charles V. Stanford wrote many operas, but his love for Tennyson's poems gave him a chance to excel in choral music. This is shown in his treatment of this choral ballad. It was finished in 1886. Tennyson wrote the poem in 1873.

Car Stamps Are Fifty Percent Under Last Sale

A large number of automobiles and trucks are either off the highways of Randall county, or their owners are running the risk of stiff federal fines.

Only 1,000 federal car stamps have been sold for the new fiscal year starting July 1. This is 50% less than the number of stamps sold early in the year.

Stamps are on sale only at the post office and owners of cars should get their stamps at once instead of running the risk of arrest and punishment.

sentence and the law of gravity. Many things too numerous to mention, but common property to everyone. Only it takes time. For some one year, others four. . . . Some unfortunately, never.

Four years of college life. Life can never be the same. There is a new horizon. A whole new complete atmosphere. New problems, new faces. A new life that will be fresh, exciting, and lovable.

But the four years of college life were filed away, some day to be taken out and reread. Memories of that dance, homecoming, dinner at Cousins, that little blonde, that tall boy, and a thousand events from 1008 days of college life. It's stored away, never to be lost.

College life—unforgettable.

Three years of columning. Funny, we can't even remember the name of our first, but then there was The Fifth Column, and now Overtones. There were those people we made angry. There were those who got a laugh. There were those who yawned and those who said, "I liked your column this week." Regardless: IT'S BEEN FUN!

It has been written: "This too shall pass." So, after four long years, the time of parting has come. The Hawaiians had a word for it: Aloha . . . Farewell, until we meet again.

Sincerely yours, until? . . . Well, who knows?

Whipple Joins Air Corps In Spite of Poor Vision

A medal should be given Kenneth N. Whipple for his perseverance in getting into the air corps.

Whipple lives in the north part of the county and decided several months ago that he wanted to be a pilot in Uncle Sam's air corps.

He took the physical examination and was rejected because of his vision.

He heard that the Canadian Air Corps was not so particular as Uncle Sam and made application for enlistment.

While his papers were being made out, Whipple was not idle. He started taking private instruction, and has spent $600 of his own money taking aviation lessons at the Amarillo field.

Last week he went to Lubbock for the physical examination for the Air Corps. He passed the examinations, was immediately inducted and is now in the flying school in Amarillo. Perhaps no other man in Randall county has spent as much of his own money fitting himself to make the air corps, and certainly no other man was as happy as Kenneth Whipple when he reported to the local Selective Service board that he had been accepted.

Uncle Sam is looking for thousands of young men with the same determination as Whipple.

Alvah A. Doak was graduated from the Radio Air Corps at Scott Field, Ill. on June 23. He was transferred to Presque Isle, Maine, for a brief time, but is being stationed with the Ferry Command in California.

Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Shirley and daughter, Miss Louise, returned Tuesday evening from McKinney. Both Mr. Shirley and Louise underwent operations while at McKinney.

Mrs. M.: "I got your letter yesterday, but I was surprised to see that it was dated next week."

Mrs. R.: "Really? My husband must have mailed it the day I gave it to him."

"Yes, Tinpan has written a song to help win the war." "Gosh, these modern methods of warfare are getting more ruthless all the time."

Buffalo Athletes' Ten Blanks Gas House Gang Friday

Similiar Story Monday Night

Lafallett and Johnson Take Turns on Mound For Weekly Victors

By STUART CONDRON
Prairie Sports Editor

In one of the saddest games played here this summer, the Buffalo Courts softball team really went to work on the Gas House Gang and held them to no runs and only one hit Friday night. This hit came in the last half of the seventh. While all this dirty work was going on, the Courts boys were gathering up 21 runs. Every man on the team scored at least once.

In the first half of the first inning, the Courts boys were held scoreless, but as the Gas House Gang came to bat they were treated the same way. That was a mere nothing though, for every time that the Gang came to bat after that it was a similar story.

The second frame didn't prove very exciting on either side. But in the third the Courts really got limbered up and went to work. Seven hits and five runs went down on the books for the Courts, while the Gas House Gang got the same old welcome—no hits. Johnson started pitching first but he only fanned five in three innings so they thought he was not good enough and the Courts put in LaFollett. He did a little better. In fact, he fanned the first three men up against him. And not only did he do that in that particular inning, but something seemed to make him mad and he did it again in the next one too.

Things became quieter in the next three innings as the Buffalo Courts only got four runs in each of these. That was a little better than usual for the Gang.

In the ninth, the grand finale came. At least, the Gas House Gang got a hit. After eight full innings of play without even having a soul on base, Spencer got a bingle that put him on first. That was as far as his ticket went though, for the next three men up went out in order.

After the pandamania was over, the final score stood, 21 runs, off 35 hits for the Buffalo Courts and a great big string of goose eggs and just one hit for the Gas House Gang.

The Buffalo Courts slipped into their hitting clothes last Monday night to rack up a 15 to 7 victory over the Gas House Gang.

The Courts boys were aided by five walks and six errors committed by the Gas House Gang. The Gang had an opportunity in the third when Hud Prichard singled for his first hit and Barker was safe on Groom's error. Suenser, however, hit into a double play and Hutto fanned.

The Buffalo Courts required five hits to score in the fourth, which began with singles by Groom, Stockman and Velton Sogee. LaFollett singled into center field and Johnson grounded out to Barker on second.

The Courts scored another in the fifth when Lockhart fumbled, letting Trimble come in home and moving Word around to third.

Four walks, two wild pitches and a squeeze play that went wrong gave the Courts four more runs in the first of the seventh. This finished Spencer on the mound for the Gas House Gang and sent in Lockhart.

In the last of the seventh "Wild Man" Jack Maddox came in for the Gang. He slugged the first pitch over the wall. The only thing wrong was that there was nobody on bases. The final score was 15 to 7 in favor of Buffalo Courts.

I believe in the United States of America as:

A Government of the people,

A perfect Union, one and inseparable;

For which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

New Rule For Army Selectees

Men May Come Home For 14 Days After Medical Exams—More Calls Made

A group of Randall County Selectees went to Lubbock Saturday for their physical examination. A new rule is now in effect regarding the induction of selectees. If accepted for service in the army, these men may return home for 14 days in order to wind up their affairs before being sent to the reception center at Fort Sill. The men will be sworn into service at Lubbock and to all intent and purposes they are in the army, but not in uniform.

However, the furlough is not compulsory and any man wishing to go to go on into service has that privilege.

The first call for 1-B men has been received. This is the class which has been rejected as 1-A men, yet whose physical defects are not so pronounced as to make them unfit for certain types of service. They will be used in non-combatant jobs, of which there are thousands in the army. It is expected that many such men will be called into service in the near future in order to relieve physically fit men for active military service. Two men in 1-B class will be sent to Lubbock on Aug. 1.

The largest call for men in several months has been received for August 17 when 24 men will be sent to Lubbock for their physical examination.

TRAILIN' the Herd

By STUART CONDRON

Again this column goes back in the annals of sports that kept the bells ringing in 1934. Costello Taylor was Sports Editor then.

As some of you remember, it was in those years that softball was king of summer sports. Donald Kendrick and his team had the Bull by the horns in the West Texas League. Others in the contest were "Slick" Naylor, Bob Harper, Bralley, Biggers and a few others who weren't worrying about the draft.

Football too was in the spotlight. Some of the Kingbees in this lineup were Stina "Sugar" Cain, "Pop-eye" Smith, Edd McMinn, Emil Hutto, John Rankin, Cagle Teague, John Walker, and Jimmie Holston. Holston was the boy who took such a tailspin in the hay stack. Jimmie was playing softball with one of the leagues. The ball field was out in a semi-hayfield and there was a big stack of hay down near the end. Holston's team is in the field when a batter for the other side steps up, takes a deep breath and simply bats the hide off the ball. It sails right smack into the hay pile. Jimmie Holston saw the only thing to do and he "dood" it. With the grace of a hog in the mud, our hero took his life in his hands, rolled up his hair, took a quick glance at the last chapter of "Gone With the Wind," and like a flash, dived head long into that death trap. His efforts were not in vain though, for he came up with that ball, and as he stood exactly 764 yards, 201 feet, 7 1/2 inches and 2 centimeters from first base, he very calmly threw the runner out.

Another sport on the campus was pasture pool. Otherwise known as golf. Along about this time in 1934, West Texas was holding a gigantic golf tourney. First prize was to be a loving cup. Second place winner was to get two golf balls; third was to get one golf ball. The last placer was to roll a golf ball with his nose from the college to the Palo Duro Canyon. It doesn't say who was the loser.

Enough is enough, however, and this has been too much. This being the last paper of the first nine weeks and seeing that most of you people are going home for the rest of the summer, I wish to take this to say good-by and lots of luck. It's been swell knowing all of you and "keep 'em flying."

More Men Have Entered Service During the Week

L. T. Barksdale left recently for Miami Beach, Fla., where he will enter training as teacher of mathematics in the Army Air Corps. He will receive a commission of 2nd Lieut. in the army after his basic training. Mrs. Barksdale will remain in Canyon until Lt. Barksdale is permanently located.

Dr. C. W. Freed received orders Saturday to report to Camp Barkeley for physical examination with a view of being re-instated as 2nd Lieut. in the army. Dr. Freed was a commissioned officer in the Michigan National Guard but resigned when he came to West Texas State. His papers were completed Saturday and he took the physical examination Sunday at Abilene. He is a candidate for Volunteer Officers Training but his acceptance for reinstatement would save considerable time in getting a commission.

Prof. James Butler has been transferred to Bellingham, Washington, where he will be inducted July 25. Mr. Butler is a candidate for Volunteer Officers Training and has been awaiting his call for several months. He went to Washington with his wife where she will teach next year.

John E. Albers has enlisted in the air corps reserve. Gerald Matlock has enlisted in the air corps.

William Watson Nicholson has enlisted in the navy.

Capt. W. E. Lockhart was home from Fort Sill for the week end. His daughter, Mrs. E. W. Pettitt, returned with him after visiting her father and sister, Mrs. Chas. W. Mays at Fort Sill.

lene, where he is in the medical corps.

His wife is the former Juanita Julch of Tulsa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shearer of Lockney. Pvt. Shearer's address is U. S. Army, Co. D, 56th Med. Trg. Bn., Planton 2, Camp Barkeley, Texas. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shearer are former students.

Students Receive Typing Honor Pins from Gregg

Tom Langston, secretary to President J. A. Hill and instructor in the business administration department, reports that six students have received pins from the Gregg Company signifying that they have written shorthand at the rate of 120 words per minute during speed tests.

The first student to pass the test was Emmett Sanders of Spearman. Those who received the pins must take dictation at the rate of 120 words per minute for five minutes with at least 95 per cent accuracy. The transcription must be completed within 45 minutes. Other students under Mr. Langston to pass the test were Ann Cockrell of Hereford, Marion Crain of Goodnight and Mary Dale Mitchell of Amarillo. Students of Miss Maude Cuenod to receive the 120-word pin last year were Ruth Meadow and Gusie Chesnut.

Mr. Langston entered several students in the National Student Contest in typing sponsored by the Gregg Company. Two have scores which their chances for placing look promising. Wyndall LaCasse typed 84 words per minute for 10 minutes with only one error and Ruth Meadow typed 83 words per minute with one error. This is the same contest which Mr. Langston won last year in the secretarial division.

The drive was started off early in the week by the $500 donation from Mr. Isaacs. His contribution was followed by other large donations, including $500 from Mrs. Mary E. Bivins of Amarillo and $100 from Mrs. Avery Turner of Amarillo.

Contributions Listed
Other contributions included Ray Wheatley, Dr. A. J. Streit and H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo, $50 each; W. H. Patrick, Clarendon, $25; C. H. Keffer, Amarillo and F. A. Paulk, Panhandle, $15; John W. H. C. Pipkin, chairman of the committee to raise the special fund, declared Saturday it was his opinion the entire amount would be raised by voluntary contributions within the next few days. The funds will be used to purchase labor and materials, classified as non-essential to the war effort, with which to close in the first floor of the museum's main unit. Concrete and steel forms and floors for this story unit were completed under a joint Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and WPA sponsorship. Virtually enough material is now on the ground, with the exceptions of materials classified as critical, to meet WPA requirements for resumption of work.

"What did he die of?" Patrick asked one of the last mourners at an imposing funeral.

"He died of a Tuesday," was the reply.

"No, I don't mean when did he die. What was the complaint?" The mourner's eye lighted up. "There was no complaint; everybody is satisfied."

Girls of High School Age Here

"And they're all cute, too," was the comment heard in regard to the high school girls living at Cousins this summer.

Mrs. Agnes Smith, matron of the dormitory, said they had been exceptionally good and easily managed. "Yet, I was rather alarmed at first at the prospect of having fifteen girls of high school age living here," she added. A large number of girls from a Sub-Deb club in Dalhart are attending West Texas High School together. There are two boys of high school age who reside at Stafford Hall. They are Gene Culbertson of Dalhart and Jack McKay of Spearman.

The girls are attending high school this first nine weeks to take extra work that will allow them to graduate next year from their respective high schools. They are:

Eleanor Biggs, Betty Dunlap, and Florence Lloyd, Hereford; Jeanne Cardwell and Margaret Vaughn, Shamrock; Fannie Culbertson, Betty Jean Dominick, Willie G. Eilers, Mary Harmon Hiatt, and Mary Louise Nelson, Dalhart; Carolyn Darnell, Pampa; Leona Knuteson, Texhoma, Okla.; Jane Lokey, Farwell; Jimmie Nix, Borger; and Mildred McKay, Spearman.

Campus Paving Nears Completion

As a result of speeded paving construction work, one can now drive completely around the campus on paved roads.

During the summer, approximately eighteen blocks of paving have been completed. Included in this total are the drives in front of the Administration Building, the road north of the Administration Building past Buffalo Courts and the N. Y. A. buildings, and a road north of Cousins Hall to meet the county road running along the north side of the Pueblo Courts. The county road from the highway has also been paved, as well as the street between the Education Building and the Museum.

The two Nazi officers in occupied France decided to rent a room—for which they would pay, of course, in "occupation money." They examined what the landlord showed them. "And how much do you charge for this pigsty?" asked one German. "One pig, 100 francs; two pigs, 200 francs," replied the Frenchman without batting an eye.

I defy any man to deceive me. He would have to be a real rogue to be as bad as I imagine him.—Napoleon.

Seniors of Cousins Hall Honored at Formal Dinner

Seniors and graduates living at Cousins Hall were honored at a formal dinner Wednesday evening, when Mrs. Agnes Smith, matron, presided at this the 32nd of such twice-a-year occasions she has sponsored.

Small diplomas were given the honorees as favors, and in each was an imported linen handkerchief. Hand-made place cards were the work of Marie Billingsley.

Short talks were made by President J. A. Hill, Dr. S. H. Condon, senior sponsor, and Dr. A. M. Meyer. Many faculty members were present. Among the guests introduced were Mrs. P. A. Hill, Mrs. Meyer, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller.

Marion Miller sang a solo, accompanied by Virginia Vaughan. Jane Lokey of Farwell played a piano solo, and Pat Devine played a violin solo, accompanied by Leona Knuteson.
