College To Get Studio For Campus Broadcasts

Opening Program
 Scheduled for Monday Night

Through the courtesy of Radio Station KGNC of Amarillo, a remote control studio on the W. T. campus will be formally opened Monday.

On each Monday, a program tentatively designed as the "Campus Parade" will be broadcast from the College studio for half an hour. The regular time will be 8 to 8:30 p. m.

Dr. Geeting Is Chairman

Dr. J. A. Hill has appointed Dr. Baxter M. Geeting, acting head of the department of speech, as chairman of the College radio committee, with the other members to be Miss Ada V. Clark, in charge of music; Mrs. T. V. Reeves, in charge of extension work in connection with the program; Dr. Margaret Lee Wiley, in charge of continuity and dramatic skits; and Olin E. Hinkle, in charge of College news broadcasts and publicity.

KGNC engineers will come to the college this week to make necessary installations in the auditorium of the Education building, where broadcasts will be made from the stage. Programs will offer a variety of entertainment and information, including the campus newscast, selected music, dramatic sketches and plays, short talks by faculty members, and interviews.

Executive To Speak

At the coming formal opening, much of the program will be given to short talks by College executives, ex-students, and staff members of KGNC.

Dr. Hill accepted the offer of expanded radio facilities with enthusiasm when O. L. Taylor, manager of KGNC, proposed the College studio. Aside from the public entertainment to be provided and the opportunity for the College to present its many-sided activities, the broadcasts will be used to train students in radio drama, script writing, newscasting, and studio management.

Canyon C. of C.
 To Help Secure
 N. Y. A. Project

Members of the board of directors of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution Thursday evening backing Dr. J. A. Hill in his efforts to get a 50-student NYA unit for the College and pledging the Chamber to guarantee interest payments on a proposed loan of $6,000.

The loan, which would be self-liquidating through operation of the NYA unit, would be used in preparing the NYA dormitory for occupancy. The basis of this unit would be OCC barracks which shortly will be moved to the campus from Hereford. These will be the property of the National Youth Administration while the program lasts, then will revert to College ownership.

Under the proposed plan, the NYA boys—who are of pre-college age and training and jobless—would rock-vener the barracks and provide an attractive set-up. The Government would pay the boys $28.12 a month, of which $18 would go to the College for board and hospitalization. The boys would work half of each day and receive instruction during the other half.

Prof. R. A. Terrill examined the barracks and estimated that at least $10,000 would be required to make them habitable and attractive. Immediate work on the project is likely.

Desirability of the NYA unit is enhanced by the fact that it likely would open the way for establishment of ground work in aviation here. President J. W. Kleinschmidt and his board are especially interested in this possibility.

NYA officials say there are 800 jobless boys now in the 26 Panhandle counties.

'Joy of Pictures'
 Tonight at 8:15

Lyceum Speaker

Pictured above is Dr. Carlton Palmer who will present "The Joy of Pictures," an illustrated lecture, tonight at 8:15 o'clock under the auspices of the Lyceum Committee. The Program, which will include the showing of original works of many contemporary artists, has won the approval of audiences all over the country because of its appeal to the laymen as well as those with training in art.

New Three-Point
 Program for Exes

Plans designed to broaden the activities of the West Texas State Ex-Students Association, launched here Saturday by the executive council, include an intensive membership campaign, an athletic program, and radio outlets.

W. B. Weathered of Pampa, Gray county superintendent, was appointed membership chairman. Ray S. Daniel of Amarillo, insurance man, was named head of the radio committee. Jerry Malin, sports Editor of the News-Globe, was made chairman of a special committee and Odus Mitchell, Pampa coach, the chairman of the council's own athletic committee. Deskins Wells of Wellington, well known newspaper man, was elected a lay delegate to the council of the Federated Ex-Students Association to succeed W. J. Rattikin of Fort Worth.

New Homecoming Date

The third Saturday in October was fixed as the Homecoming date at the College after this year, when the athletic program already made up calls far a later date, probably October 28.

Clay Thornton of Amarillo, president of the exes, took the chair after Carl Clift, retiring president, completed old business.

Others present also included J. B. Speer, superintendent of Canyon public schools; Miss Mary Alice Quattlebaum of Canadian; Mrs. Lee Johnson of Canyon, secretary of the council; and Rual Ford, principal of the River Road school in Potter county. Guests were Olin E. Hinkle, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, and R. A. Selby, president of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education.

Interest Widespread

Mrs. Thornton said that interest

"The spirit of art can be awakened in virtually everyone," says Dr. Carlton Palmer who will give an illustrated lecture in the auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock under the auspices of the Lyceum Committee.

Tonight's program is fully as interesting to the laymen as to the artistically enthusiastic and critical person. Dr. Palmer will have with him an exhibit of original works of art collected from various countries all over the world. Included among them are some of the finest examples of the painting of such artists as Frederick Waugh, Junius Allen, Howard Chandler Christy, Charles P. Gruppe, Lawrence Biddle, Ivan F. Choultse, Frances Charles Cachoud, Hugo Ungewitter and M. Foscarl.

Gives Understanding

Dr. Palmer's enthusiastic love of pictures and things beautiful, together with his energetic delivery and a colorful flow of words, have given a real appreciation and understanding of pictures to those who have heard him.

Dr. Palmer says that "Leading those who are not artists to thrill to the joy of great paintings is the most impelling adventure that I have ever chanced upon." That is saying quite a good deal in his case, for he has lived in thirty different countries, studied in American and foreign universities, was with the Polish army in the Russian campaign of 1920, crossed the Arabian Desert with a native camel caravan in 1924, coached athletics in two universities studied music in Germany, was with Nansen, the famous explorer, in the Russian famine in the winter of 1922 and from 1938 to 1933 was professor in the College of Education at the University of Alabama.

Collected All Over World

Dr. Palmer learned to love paintings as a boy through his mother's collection of beautiful paintings. He received, through her, such an inspiration and love of beauty that he has collected pictures all over the world for the last twenty years.

Dr. Palmer shares his intimate love of pictures and his beautiful gallery of notable paintings with his audience. Thrilling stories of his adventures in collecting many of his paintings, the artists who have painted them, and the characteristics of the paintings themselves, have delighted his audiences through out the United States.

Students will be admitted on the activity tickets, and admission for others is 50 cents.

Scheduled for the lyceum series on Feb. 17 is Maurice M. Lichtmann, concert pianist.

Committee Suspends
 Activities of Epsilon Beta

Temporary suspension of activities of Epsilon Beta, campus social club for men, by the College Executive Committee was announced Saturday by Dr. Harris M. Cook, dean of men.

Dr. Cook said that the club would be allowed to function again when the average grade of members has been raised to the minimum required of such organizations. He added that the step involved a disciplinary factor growing out of a violation of rules governing campus social organizations.

Pi Omega Will Start Loan Fund

A student loan fund will be established on the West Texas State campus by Pi Omega, girls' social club, it was announced Friday.

A gift of $25 from Mrs. A. M. Meyer, sponsor of the organization, will form the nucleus for the fund. Letters have been mailed to eighty of the club alumnae asking their support for the project. The club's goal for this spring is $100, and it is the hope of the members that this will grow from year to year.

The fund will be administered by the regular College Loan Committee, according to a club announcement. Students who borrow from the fund will pay 6 per cent interest, and loans will be made for one year to worthy women students.

The new fund will be known and listed as the Pi Omega Student Loan Fund. This is the first fund established by a student group in recent years; however, the Home Economic Club, in 1926, established a fund for junior and senior home economics students. Loan funds have also been established by ex-students.

Trula Mae Phegley, sophomore from Lockney, was selected College Beauty Queen by W. S. Van Dyke II, noted M. G. M. director and producer, from pictures of the twelve co-eds selected by the four classes. Ann Pallmeyer, junior from Memphis, was ranked second. No other distinctions were made.

In a letter received by Margaret Esther Hill, business manager of Le Mirage, yesterday, Van Dyke announced his selections. The charm and beauty of all the candidates is attested to by Van Dyke, who declared that he experienced difficulty in reaching a decision.

Miss Phegley is a member of Delta Zeta Chi, girls social club, and resides at Randall Hall. She is blonde, blue-eyed and slender. Miss Pallmeyer is a member of Gamma Phi, secretary of the junior class and lives at Cousins Hall. She is also blonde, blue-eyed, and was elected football queen on Homecoming, November 4, 1938.

These two will receive special positions in the 1939 Le Mirage, and will act as attendants at the crowning of the Personality Queen, Gaynelle Douglas, the latter part of this month. Two pictures of W. S. Van Dyke II will appear in Le Mirage along with the letter announcing his decisions.

Other candidates will have a page

Douglas To Head
 Christian Council

A Northwest Christian Council to plan for two regional conferences each year was organized here Sunday at the close of a joint "Y" retreat attended by nearly one hundred persons from four cities.

Miss Gaynelle Douglas of Silverton, president of the West Texas State College YWCA, was elected chairman of the council, with Woodrow Baldwin of Amarillo Junior College as vice-president and Miss Vondée Webb of Wichita Falls as secretary. Other members are: Prof. S. H. Condon of Canyon, Dr. Archer Bahm and Wayne Lykes of Texas Tech, Juanita Kinsey of Wichita Falls Junior College, and an Amarillo College faculty member to be named.

Miss Douglas presided at the opening session at El Coronado lodge in the Palo Duro State Park Saturday afternoon, Norman Davis of Texas Tech presided at a campus meeting Sunday night, and Brynild Vaughan of Canyon, head of the West Texas State YMCA, presided Sunday at the Canyon.

Principal speakers were Carol Moon of Kansas City, regional "Y" secretary, and Prof. Condon. Themes included "Characteristics of Religious Maturity" and racial and international attitudes. The next meeting will be held at Texas Tech next October 14-15. Membership in the group will be extended to Oklahoma and New Mexico institutions.

Miss Douglas characterized this first meeting as "highly successful and inspirational."

A buffet luncheon was served the group Saturday at the home of Dr. Mattie Swayne of West Texas State College.

Exactly 71 per cent of the University of Pittsburgh co-eds participate in some extra-curricular activity.

Many Panhandle
 Organizations
 Pledge Support

President J. A. Hill is in Austin today to submit his proposed budget for the next biennium to the appropriations committee of the House of Representatives. He will request a more liberal allowance for operating costs during the next two years, and will urge passage of a bill to provide the West Texas State campus with a new science building.

In the state capitol on the same mission is John E. Hill, Amarillo member of the board of regents, Gene Howe, publisher of the Amarillo Daily News; and Supt. J. B. Speer of the Canyon Public Schools.

Vigorous Support Widespread

Active support for W. T.'s expansion program is now more vigorous and widespread than ever before. Civic organizations and prominent citizens all over the area have formally pledged to support the college in its efforts to enlarge. Among the organizations formulating formal resolutions for the unreserved support of the college are: The Eighteenth District of the American Legion, the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the Panhandle Superintendents Association, the Amarillo Post of the American Legion, the Canyon Legion Post, the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, and the Amarillo Kiwanis Club.

Clay Thornton, President of the Ex-Student Association from Amarillo, has written nearly a hundred letters to prominent former students asking their help. Responses from his correspondence has been highly satisfactory to officers of the Association.

The new West Texas State Student Senate Saturday got the unanimous approval of the student body for a letter sent to the chairman of the State Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee. The letter pointed out the needs of the College.

Enrollment Increases Needs

In submitting his proposed budget to the appropriations committee of the House, Dr. Hill will direct attention to the fact that in 1929-30 the appropriation for salaries and maintenance was $253,110.84, but in the ten-year period since that time enrollment has increased approximately 50 per cent, necessitating more faculty members.

He will also bring to the attention of the appropriations committee that the cost of general maintenance has increased because of drought and depression conditions and increased upkeep of the college plant. Unless more money than is recommended by the State Board of Control is forthcoming, West Texas State

More Funds Essential If W. T. Continues to Progress

Friday will mark the passing of another milestone in the history of West Texas State. It will be the twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of W. T. Each of these twenty-nine years have brought growth and improvement to the College.

Much of the progress made in the past has been due to the efforts of the board of regents, the faculty, and students, but W. T. has now reached a point where progress cannot be as rapid as it has in the past if greater financial support is not forthcoming.

Those connected with the institution are still eager to extend the service of the school and to make further progress, but lack of facilities make this virtually impossible. Despite an increase of more than 50 per cent in enrollment, W. T. has no more classrooms or laboratories than she had ten years ago.

Careful planning and hard work are no longer enough for advancing the school. More funds from the Texas legislature must be forthcoming if W. T. is to continue serving this area as well as she has in the past.

The sportsmanship of American athletes rates high alongside the average American sport fan. Poor sportsmanship can develop more readily in the ranks of fans than in the ranks of athletes. Sentimentalists will often defend their stand and say that poor sportsmanship is often the direct result of seeing many near chances never become chances.

The athlete who does the most for athletics is the one who stirs up enthusiasm on a wide scale. The fan who does the most for his team and the school is the one who can create a spirit of good will. The athlete plus the fan count no little in building up a sport.

A poor sportsman is a poor fighter. He is a poor loser; one who cannot give credit to the rightful winner. He will harass the opposition with abusive remarks. He is unfair. He will try to be amusing to the spectators with his "self-styled" clever wit. But he never stops to consider how he would like to be the target of these personal verbalisms.

Scan carefully, sport fan, your own conduct at various recreational activities. Are you being fair, not only to your team to which you are excused to showing partiality, but to the opposition as well? Do you respect them as worthy foes or are you the type to look down your nose at any display of etiquette directed toward them? At least they are good enough to be out there. Let's be human toward these other humans and show teams we are just as good sports in this part of the country as they are likely to find anywhere.—L. R.

THE ANONYMOUS LETTER

One of the most irritating thorns in the life of persons holding public jobs is the anonymous letter. The irregularity in the mental make-up of persons who are eager to get their opinions to others yet lack the courage to take credit for them is a mystery which should prove an interesting study to the psychologist.

The absurdity of such letters should be immediately evident to any thinking person. The fact that a letter is unsigned always makes the motives of the writer doubtful in the mind of the receiver. The anger and disgust usually created by an unsigned communication makes it difficult for the material contained to win the approval or sympathy of the reader.

Recently an unsigned letter on the bulletin board of The Prairie demanded to know why a certain picture had not been printed in the paper. The nature of the picture in question made it immediately evident to what group the writer belonged. Although the letter demanded in forceful language to know why the picture was not printed, no means was provided for answering it, nor was any indication as to whom it should be answered given.

During a recent campus controversy many unsigned letters came to various officials in the College. Such letters failed to accomplish anything other than to boost the sale of stamps a fraction. They were merely an irritation to those who received them.

Last week an excellent letter dealing with the need for more intramural sports was submitted to The Prairie. Although it was well written and contained nothing of which any student should feel ashamed, it was signed "A Student." It was likely written by a sincere student eager to help the school, but without a signature it might as well have never been written.

An opinion worth being expressed is worthy of the signature of its writer. The weight attached to your name may be almost nil, but a letter written without it has a negative weight.

Hill At Austin

will likely be compelled to release a few faculty members or materially reduce salaries.

To Ask $244,050

Dr. Hill will urge that the Board of Education's recommendation of $244,050 be substituted for that of the Board of Control, which recommended a total of only $233,746. In either case, the total would be less than it was for the 1929-30 sessions despite the significant increase in enrollment. He also will urge that the precedent of the last legislature be followed by appropriating an extra sum of $10,000 per year on account of weather, labor and other conditions not found in other parts of the state.

Dr. Hill is asking that the proposed appropriation for a science-classroom building be restored to the $250,000 originally asked.

The Board of Control cut the figure to $215,000. It will be pointed out that the legislature of Texas has not erected a major building on this campus since 1927, although attendance has increased 66 per cent and classrooms, offices and laboratories are crowded.

$15,000 For NYA

Dr. Hill also is asking permission to participate in the National Youth Administration program. This would entail an expenditure of $15,000 in the building of a cooperative dormitory, dining room, garages, and landscaping. Fifty men would be brought to the campus and improvements would represent a value of $45,000 or more when completed.

The W. T. president will appear before the Senate Finance Committee tomorrow when hearings begin.

Glen Davis, student president from Shamrock, read the letter prepared by the Student Senate in the general assembly Saturday morning. It was vigorously applauded and the student body voted as a body to send copies of the letter to the House Appropriations Committee and to the Senate Finance Committee.

Legion Resolution

Following is the resolution formulated by the Canyon Post of the American Legion. It is similar to that of the other organizations drawing up resolutions.

Whereas, the service rendered by The West Texas State College is a Panhandle-Community Service of District-wide and State-wide importance; and

Whereas, the housing facilities of the College are now inadequate; and

Whereas, the West Texas State College is supplying the laboratories of the Panhandle Oil Field Industries with chemists, the schools of this state and other states with teachers, businesses with trained clerks, and universities with pre-med, pre-law, and pre-engineering students, from year to year; and

Whereas, the working plant of the college has not been increased since 1927 despite the fact that the enrollment has increased about 66% in the same period of time thereby creating crowded conditions in the classrooms, libraries, laboratories and offices; therefore

Be It Resolved, that this Palo Duro Post No. 97, Canyon, Texas, of the American Legion of Texas go on record as supporting unreservedly the West Texas State College and its program and hereby soliciting the active support of the legislators of Texas in furthering the development of this College in its expansion program and in its yearly development.

ing committee for the new State Normal met in Fort Worth to receive bids from towns desiring the school. A member of that committee was R. B. Cousins, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, later the first president of West Texas State College.

Several Towns Bid

Towns bidding for the school were Abilene, Amarillo, Ballinger, Big Spring, Brownwood, Canyon City, Cherokee, Clarendon, Cisco, Coleman, Colorado, Dublin, Haskell, Hamlin, Iowa Park, Lubbock, Midland, Merkel, Mineral Wells, Seymour, Sweetwater, Snyder, Stanton, San Angelo, Stamford, Tulia, Vernon and Wichita Falls.

Citizens of Randall County and Canyon City notified the locating committee that they would bid $100,100 cash and 40 acres of land for the location of the new college.

On Thursday Sept. 3, 1909 it was announced that Canyon City was made the home of the West Texas State Normal College. The following night citizens of Canyon City and surrounding towns celebrated the occasion on the public square; special trains came from Amarillo, Hereford and Plainview.

On Friday, October 22, the locating committee chose a block of land owned by L. G. Conner as the site of the school buildings.

On Dec. 3, 1909, a letter from R. A. Terrill at Austin stated: "Mr. R. B. Cousins has been appointed president of the faculty of the school."

The Randall County News stated in the Feb. 18, 1910 edition, "First dirt was moved to mark the spot for the location of this the main building of the West Texas State Normal College, on the afternoon of February 17, 1910."

Alpha Sigma Xi Presents Pledges At Formal Dance

Alpha Sigma Xi fraternity presented seven new members to West Texas State campus Feb. 11 in the Cousins Hall Ballroom. There was a simple but striking ceremony in the lounge, where a large red and white playing card in the form of an ace of clubs served as a background for the presented as they walked into a spotlight.

They were announced by Ralph O'Keefe and Miss Kay Sawyer. Following them came the new members and their dates: Dick Smith and Jane Boone; Calvin Craig and Mogie Routh; Ed Line and Kay Wakefield; Pat Miller and Ruth Hill; Davis Thompson and Charlie Mae Northcutt; Le Roy Davies and Fernanetta Sawyer; Royce Jones and Veda Mae Peterson.

Music in the ballroom was furnished by Raymond Raillard and his Majors in Swing. The grand march was led around a large red and white lighted pyramid in the center of the floor over which the club colors flowed in a twine of red and white covering the ceiling.

This course was offered last summer in North Texas State Teachers College at Denton, where more than 700 students were enrolled for it.

Staff Frustrated; Dan Is Ill

Chief Cone was tenser than usual; Mr. Warwick with coat removed forgot his editorial dignity, and began to pound the linotype. (Dick) N. T. Dickerson was doing two men's work, and even Fousty (J. W. Foust, sophomore from Silverton) was recruited from his job press to help with The Prairie. And all because Dan (Dan K. Usery, father of Miss Frances Usery of the department of Music) was ill.

So, if the paper has not its familiar look this week, be not astonished, for the staff is without the services of Dan, who has poetically "raised this paper from a rag." When the first Prairie was issued, Dan was handling the linotype, and with few exceptions, his nimble fingers have hit off every bit of copy since then. If laid end to end, one column wide, he has set enough Prairie copy to reach five miles.

Questions Future Bosses Ask Prexy

In the belief that a knowledge of questions asked him concerning students would be of interest and possible usefulness to those applying for jobs with private concerns, Dr. J. A. Hill has released a list of queries taken from forms he is asked to fill out.

These questions, among others, are asked frequently:

Do you consider him or her as a person of fair, average, or exceptional ability?

In your opinion is he an exceptionally hard worker or about average in this respect?

Is there any reports of his having been dismissed or suspended from a job?

Can you give any information as to his family relations or intimate associates? If so, do any bear an unfavorable reputation?

Have you ever known or heard of his having been addicted to intemperance, gambling, extravagance or unfavorable associations?

Is he prompt to pay ordinary debts? Is he under any debts, judgments, or embarrasments.

Was he ever suspected of dishonest conduct?

Was he, to your knowledge, in any way irregular or inattentive to his duties?

Character and habits observed in college life have an important bearing on employment of students and ex-students who must furnish College references.

District Cage Tourney Here This Week

Finals for District I basketball tournament will be held in Burton Gymnasium, Friday and Saturday with Jack Curtice, Freshman coach, in charge of the activities.

The Amarillo Sandies and the Canyon Eagles are rated as the chief contenders. Last year the Eagles beat the Amarillo cagers out in a close and exciting finish. They have been playing nip and tuck ball during the present season.

Next week the four district winners will play at West Texas in a regional tournament. Regional champions will play for the state championship in Austin.

HAZEL EVANS HONORED

Four years ago Miss Hazel Evans was director of girls' physical education and advisor to girls in the Goose Creek Independent School District, a large consolidated school on the coast. While there she became the first sponsor of the Maroon Brigadeers, a drum and bugle corps.

Last week she received notice that they had in her honor named an award for her—the Hazel Evans Cup. The cup is to be an annual award, presented to the most outstanding member of the corps, based on character, spirit, loyalty, and leadership. The 1938 drill captain was the first to receive the Hazel Evans cup.

Oklahoma Geologist Praises Museum

Dr. J. Willis Stovall, well-known geologist and teacher in the University of Oklahoma, recently visited the museum here, and in a letter, written back to President J. A. Hill, praised highly the work being done here.

The text of his letter follows:

"I recently visited Canyon and tried to see you, but unfortunately you were out of town. I was very anxious to compliment you for the very fine museum which has been built there at the college under your administration.

"Very few people appreciate the full value of that fine collection. That condition can be corrected only by time. Those with broad museum experience know that it sometimes takes a hundred years or more to educate the people as to the cultural and practical value of a museum of the kind you are developing. Nearly everything we know about the past history of mankind and the earth has been gleaned from ancient manuscripts, papyrus, clay tablets, shards, implements of trade and of war recovered from old libraries and burial mounds. We cannot neglect objects of natural history from our consideration of the modern museum. You are especially fortunate in that you are situated in the midst of one of the world's finest collecting grounds for fossil vertebrates. You have, also, at your very doorstep, some very fine collecting sites of American aboriginal cultural objects.

"I know that you will continue in your same far-sighted policy of collecting and preserving for a thousand generations of future Texans the many objects of nature and of man's handiwork that a benevolent Providence has sown in your hills and valleys. The cost of carrying on that work is small when compared with the benefits derived.

Let me, therefore, urge you to use your utmost influence to impress on the state legislature the opportunity they have to perform a great service for their state."

Very truly yours,
J. Willis Stovall
Associate Professor of Geology.

W. T. Five Will Play McMurry

Chance Scheduling Will Give Fans Extra Game

A chance scheduling has given basketball fans an extra game this week—a battle between the West Texas State College Buffaloes and the Texas Conference Indians of McMurry College of Abilene.

The Indians will come to Canyon for a single game Wednesday evening.

While there is no direct comparison possible between the two squads, Coach Al Baggett regards the invaders as likely to be as strong as were the Oklahoma City University Goldbugs who split a two-game series here Friday and Saturday.

After a slow recovery from the long road trip, the Buffs showed flashes of their old form Saturday evening in walloping the sharp-shooting visitors. They showed much better passing, more accurate shooting, and a tighter defense. Inasmuch as the Buffs are expected to become a unit in a downstate athletic conference soon, the coming battle with the Texas Conference cagers will be watched with keen interest by the fans.

A Taste of Sports

By LYNARD RILEY

Spring is definitely in the air. The annual baseball holdout season has officially started, but so far the holdouts are scarcer than hen's teeth. Colleges all over the country have started limbering up for some intercollegiate competition. But you can be certain that West Texas State will not catch the baseball fever. Right now facilities are lacking for any pursuance of the grand old pastime but here is one that thinks that if such a thing could be that we could turn out a crackerjack ball club. Joe Smith, Foster Watkins, Carl Matney, Joe Hays and Coach Dougal, I know to be better than ordinary at the game and then there are dozens of others who have had more than a little experience.

The Buffs emerged from their road ramblings with only mediocre success. Mediocre in that they lost two games that fans think they should have won. The Buffs admit they should have taken every game but all things considered I would class a team that wins 4 out of 6 on the road a lot higher than just so-so. It has been definitely proved that teams playing at home have a distinct advantage over the invading teams. Why? No two basketball courts are alike. No sets of baskets are alike and floor surfaces are always different. This may seem a small angle but it is surprising how it can throw the best of teams off stride. Especially the first night. Bryan, O. C. U. forward, certainly proved an exception to this however. He was hitting about 80% of his long shots against the Buffs Friday night.

Just as Billy Norman, who turned in a very creditable job on this page last week, advocated why not bring a big name club to Burton gym for an entanglement with the Buffaloes. Fans are still talking about the show that the O.C.U. center, Otis Lisle displayed in the games here and proves conclusively that they like this sort of showmanship. Lisle, who employs tricky passes that bounce crazily with their loading of "english" also gave some of the fans their first taste of how faking is really "meant to be done."

Coach Baggett has announced that West Texas State may join the Alamo Conference soon. There will be a meeting sometime in April of the various officials to talk over the

Intramural Cage Finals Will Open Monday Night

Final games in the intramural basketball tournament will be held next week, starting Monday night, according to officials and managers of the four finalist teams who met Friday.

Prof. Mitchell Jones, manager of the tournament, Bomar Brown of the Whirling Dervishes, Cris Blon-di of the T-Anchor Aggies, Odell Washington of the T-Club, and Preston Taylor of Bachelors Hall were present at the meeting and drew for the first night's games and also compiled a list of eight eligible referees. At the meeting Ed Williams, who has helped manage the tournament was chosen score-keeper for the finals and Billy Smith was appointed official timekeeper.

The first game of the finals, barring school activities or other con-flicts, will be played Monday night at 7:30 o'clock with Bomar Brown's Whirling Dervishes pitted against Preston Taylor's Bachelor's Hall crew. The second game, slated for 8:30 o'clock, will be between Chris Blon-di's T-Anchor Aggies and Odell Washington's T-Club five. The remainder of the games will follow Tuesday and Wednesday nights and the final game to determine this year's intramural champion to be played on Thursday night at 7:30.

Three of the four finalists finish-ing the season with an average of 885. Bachelors Hall followed closely with 846.

The final tournament will be run on a two-game elimination basis. The public is invited.

plans of the proposed conference, and everything will definitely come to light. If West Texas does join she will be a member of both the Lone Star and the Alamo Confer-ence. This will enable her to final-ly get a full conference schedule, for if present plans go through St. Mary's of San Antonio, Sul Ross of Alpine, O. C. U. of Oklahoma City, A & I of Kingsville and probably Hardin - Simmons of Abilene will also be members of the conference.

DID YOU KNOW . . . that basket-ball is probably THE ONLY SPORT that enjoys the distinction of having been invented BY A SINGLE BRAIN, AT A SINGLE SITTING . . . that St. Mary's had ADDI-TIONAL STRENGTH against West Texas State in their last series in the presence of "Shorty" Quimby, TRANSFER FROM ARKANSAS at the mid term and an Arkansas All-star . . . that the UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA has appointed a GIRL TO BE SPORTS EDITOR of their paper, the Daily Nebras-kan. Reasons: No football player will dare toss her out of any games and FOR ONCE THERE MAY BE MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY IN THE SPORT COLUMN . . . that at Colorado State, Metro Kar-afra turned out faithfully for prac-tice each day. He practiced often but played none. At the end of his schooling the Athletic Council RE-COMMENDED A SWEATER FOR HIS SPIRIT.

Among the Pampa exes on the camps Saturday were County Supt. W. B. Weathered, Principal J. A. Meek of the Baker school, and Prin-cipal Frank Monroe of the Woodrow Wilson School.

W.T. Cagers Lapse In Second Half of First Encounter

By Lynard Riley
Prairie Sports Editor

Coming back strong Saturday night to patch a badly mutilated dope bucket the West Texas Buffaloes won the second game of a two-game series against the Oklahoma City University Goldbugs, played Friday and Saturday nights in Bur-ton Gymnasium.

The Buffs lapsed badly in the second half of the game Friday night and came out riding the short end of a 41-36 score. Bryan, OCU forward, and Otis Lisle, clever Goldbug center, staged a two man exhibition of ball handling and goal tossing that carried the goldshirts Soon-ers ahead of the tired Buffaloes.

Bufs Lead at Half

The locals piled up a big half time lead but saw their lead dim-inish as the seconds were ticked off on the big gymnasium clock. They could make only 7 points the last two quarters, while Bryan, Lisle and company couldn't miss the hoop amassing 22 points. Bryan scored 9 field goals and one free pitch to take the high point honors from Shackleford of the Buffs who got 12 points of his own.

In the Second Game

Lisle continued his exhibition of clever passing and faking but he was matched by skyhigh Raymond Shackleford who teamed with Cap-tain Stephenson to turn in the most creditable performance of the night. Schur and Hayes continued their watching roles and were not idle in doing their share of the scoring. Johnson followed the shots under the backboard well and got in several tips as a result.

Johnson High Scorer

Johnson was high point scorer with 10 points seconded by Stephen-son, Hayes, Shackleford, and Lisle all with 9 points.

spectacular form to date, and the whole team clicking in precise fashion, the Buffaloes walked away from their surprised conquerors of the previous night. Hayes shot in four field goals and five free pitches to be the high point man of the night. He was followed closely by several of his teammates, all of them having a big hand in the scoring. Schur, running mate to Hayes, made ten points and John-son, Stephenson and Shackleford all made eight each.

Frosh Quintet Takes Two Topheavy Games

West Texas State's unbeatable frosh made it two in a row last week, burying McClendon Grocery of Amarillo under an avalanche of baskets Wednesday night 66-26, then continued their winning ways Friday night trouncing Wayland Junior College of Plainview 65-17.

The frosh attack was too smooth and versatile for either the Grocers or for the Jackrabbits, and they coasted through for easy wins. Price Brookfield, of Priona, duplicated his early season form with dazzling displays of ball handling and contributed 25 points to the team's scoring in the first game to take high point honors. Halbert, lean center from New Mexico, followed his rugged teammate with 14 points.

In the game Friday night Halbert outstepped Brookfield to cop the individual scoring honors with 17. Brookfield personally accounted for 16.

Tonight the Freshmen cagers will engage the Portales Junior College Greyhounds on the Portales court. Portales will present the stiffest competition to date and they hold a win over the New Mexico Military Institute Broncos.
