"GOSSIPY SEX" TO OPEN SENIOR ACTIVITIES TONITE

Amateurs

(By Pollyanna Pitts)
"The Gossipy Sex," a comedy drama in three acts, will be presented tonight by the Class of '34 as the first event of the spring commencement activities.
The play will be presented in the Education auditorium beginning promptly at 8:15. Admission is 25 cents each.

The play is unusual in that it has several leading characters, says Miss Mary Morgan Brown, director. Among the most important is Danny Grundy, male gossip par excellence, played by Bob Rowan. Mr. Grundy loves talking above all else and devotes his time to being sociable, feeling free to exaggerate his stories when the occasion appears opportune. Mr.
Rowan interprets the part with dramatic insight.

Poet is Erratic
Mr. Grundy's fiancée, Anna Eterling, played by Ethel Brasuel, finds it difficult at times to be patient with her husband-to-be, although her affection for him is genuine.
Rival for the love of Anna is the poet, Gerald Kenyon, played with verve by Ramon Williams. Long-for almost nine years has been student secretary for the Methodist students of the West Texas in this section of the country who regret to see her leave W. T. and her work among the students here.

She will sing in revival meetings during the early part of the summer and will chaperone a group of ex-students on an European tour about the middle of July.
She will enter a new field of

1934 Le Mirage Undergoes Many Changes In Mounting, Engraving, and Arrangement

Number Represented In Feature Section Runs Near 300

(By Martha Nell Lang)
Le Mirage for 1934, certainly has borne its share of experimentation and innovation, which, it is expected, will at least partially serve to lift it out of the rut into which it was sinking.

The student, upon opening his new book, will find a novel theme carried out in the presentation of some of the ex-students who have won particular recognition in their respective fields since leaving W.
T. They and many others are due the gratitude of the present student body for adding to the prestige of a degree from W. T. S. T. C.

Unusual Engraving
Throughout the book there are numerous instances of pictures run without margin on two sides—an unusually interesting and attractive style which is becoming popular in the large university publications.

Hears Outstanding Speakers In Field Of Dramatic Art

Miss Mary Morgan Brown, head of the Speech Department, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Tyler, nee Letha West, attended the regional meet of the National Theatre Conference at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma, on April 13 and 14.

To Develop Centers

The purpose of the Conference is to develop theatrical centers over the country, to educate the American public to appreciate drama and to make the national drama independent of the dictates of Broadway.

Features of the meet were lectures by two distinguished speakers, Thomas Wood Steven, of Detroit, first director of the School of Dramatic Art at Carnegie Institute, and Dr. Otto C. Lucy, specialist in the Psychological Corrective Speech Clinic in Oklahoma City.

Sees Drama

Another highlight of the conference was the presentation of John Masefield's play, "The Witch," by a group of advanced students in the School of Dramatic Art at Oklahoma University.

Miss Brown brings messages to many faculty members and students from Harriet Kritzer, former student of W. T. Only four Texas delegates were present.

CHANGE

Much time (and paper) has been wasted during the past ten years,—we'll say ten years for we can't remember any further back than that,—trying to explain what is wrong with the people of the world, what is wrong with the financial system, moral system, or what-have-you, and, finally, after passing the buck back and forth the brighter ones have finally laid the blame on the educational system of the world.

It seemed a good idea. By this method the blame was so scattered that nobody felt directly responsible, no one felt that the dart was aimed at him—it was just the whole educational system, lock, stock and barrel. What is wrong? "Oh, the system is wrong. It's antiquated, er, out-of-date, it's, well, you understand, we're riding around in an educational wagon when we ought to be traveling by air."

To make a general statement of this sort is about the same as saying nothing at all. To lay the blame on everybody is to lay the blame on nobody. By spreading such criticism over a large area, nothing is given the real attention, the special attention it deserves.

One cannot merely say that the whole system is wrong and immediately junk it. What would be the result of such a drastic action? Instead we need a few more specialists to spend more time in their particular fields, working out obscure points so that a change may be made without disrupting the whole. There are many changes needed. We are progressing and change is part of progress. But such change cannot be brought about at one blow and achieve the greatest good. Sudden disruption will unbalance the good of a change. The old trial and error method, used small scale, is still the best one devised. If one loses, the loss is not so great, if one wins, well, it's time for the next step.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM AT SHOW

The dairy show and particularly Professor Frank R. Phillips of West Texas State Teachers College is to be complimented upon the character of educational programs being given.

Yesterday Owen W. Sherrill spoke on the topic of farm credit, and brought much information on the government's plan for long-haul credit for farmers at low interest rates.

Eugene M. Butler, Progressive Farmer editor, is to talk this afternoon on monetary changes and their relation to the farmer. His talk on this subject presents this complex topic in simple language that the layman can understand.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, outstanding orator and social leader, and president of Texas Tech College, has not disclosed his topic for this afternoon, but he always presents forcefully worthwhile thought.

Absence of Dr. J. A. Hill, West Texas State Teachers College president, is occasioned by the death of R. L. Marquis at Denton, longtime close associate of this outstanding educator. Dr. Hill's friends regret his inability to fill his date.

Col. Coppock of Canyon is to talk Thursday afternoon on CCC activities in Palo Duro canyon.

These programs, and the variety of general entertainment, do not detract from the dairy show itself, and are a genuine service to the people of the Panhandle-Plains here for the week.—Plainview Evening Herald.

ceptible. All honor for this accomplishment must be laid at the feet of Miss Brown and Dr. Fronabarger. Miss Brown has brought out the latent genius of the superb cast. (We critics must make a living.) The rest is due to Dr. Fronabarger. Almost the entire class sit in rapt attention in the Doc's Shakespeare class. They have become embued with the dramatic sense.

Mrs. McCollum in a hurried interview between rehearsals yesterday said, "I owe my success on the stage to my intrepid study of Shakespeare." (Intrepid was the word she used.)

The execution of the excellent play is admirable in its thoroughness but not at all humane.

There existed up to and including yesterday, one very strong obstacle to the proper rehearsal of the play; that was the fact that the cast insisted on playing tit-tat-too and hide-and-seek.

Ray Crowder and Charles Donnell could hardly be dragged from swinging the tops of the trash cans in the hall.

Don't say we haven't warned you, but if you insist on seeing "The Gossipy Sex," it will be put on for your approval tonight in the Education auditorium, beginning at 8:15.

QUALITY—

the quality of the book itself. As a matter of fact, the actual cost of 1934 Le Mirage is between $7.50 and $8.00. This seems fantastic considering that it is offered to the student body for $2.80. However, the difference is made up in space rates, advertising, and the local fund, all of which effects a great saving to individual students, affording them an opportunity to purchase a yearbook for a nominal sum.

The sale will continue through Saturday, April 29th, and during this week annuals may be purchased from any member of the staff or by calling by the Publications Office. The books will be here early in May, announces Miss Martha Nell Lang, editor.

Oh my, my, me. Our heads are in a whirl. Off for a two-day vacation bus served to remind us of happenings a few days ago when the big bus brought to our Alma Mater all those beautiful creatures who were tagged Alpha, Beta, Zeta, Kappa, Con, Phi, etc. etc. We thought Saint Peter had opened the gates and let all the angels out. And after the trip to the canyon, seeing that overgrown bus wind in and out with it gay cargo, supper by the fire, and a drive home by twinkle, twinkle, little star light, we were positive that one of the cherubims had snatched the keys to the golden gate.

In summary we find that we would join their organization if they would let us. We like Oklahoma better—much better. There is a Durham, Oklahoma; there are lots of nice places, and showing people from Missouri is not half bad.

CONGRATULATIONS TO 1934 LE MIRAGE

Annual Art Work Is Unusual

Exceptional art work makes of 1934 Le Mirage a book distinctly different from the usual college yearbook. Nina Mae Drew, art editor, has spent six months of careful planning and hours of tedious painting and sketching in order that Le Mirage may be an outstanding achievement in art.

The art theme of the book is one of modernistic line, designed in black and silver. The cover is in harmony with the design used throughout the book and expresses the fineness of quality which Editor Martha Nell Lang has held paramount in her arrangement of the annual.

The total engraving cost on the art etchings alone will amount to approximately $500, while the actual cost of the book is well over $7.50 each, according to figures of the business managers, G. L. Stanley and Glen Reeve.

And yet, a student may purchase a yearbook for the small sum of $2.80.

Second Grade Studies Train, Santa Fe Shop

Monday afternoon, April 16th, the second grade of the Training School, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Saunders, Maurine Goin, Nancy Strain, Marilee Cooper, and Sudie Lee Faust, made a trip to Amarillo on the train.

The journey was the result of a story concerning trains, read and discussed in class, which disclosed the fact that a number of the children had never ridden on a train. Mr. McEachern, traveling passenger agent for the Santa Fe Railroad, went with the class and explained features of the train.

The group examined the chair-car, smoker, negro section, baggage car, mail car, engine, drawing rooms rooms and dressing rooms. After reaching Amarillo they visited a Pullman car, wherein a negro porter showed them how to make up a berth, the Harvey House, machine shop, round house, blacksmith shop, zoo, and the Santa Fe building. After this, the class returned to the Harvey House, where they enjoyed refreshments. They returned by car at six thirty, and reported an interesting time.

Dew Bye Won

In future years you'll miss a lot if a Le Mirage you haven't got. With signatures and autographs And silly pictures full of laughs, And stately teachers looking wise When they know it's all disguise. But really, folks, you'll regret it, If you fail to hurry and get it, For that old book all through the years

Will picture days of joy and tears And bring back memories, sad and funny. I'm tellin' you, folks, it's worth the money.

NOTICE

The date of the Senior Class play, "The Gossipy Sex," as announced on the tickets is incorrect. The presentation of the play will be Tuesday evening, April 24, instead of Friday evening as announced on the tickets.

Would You Be Willing?

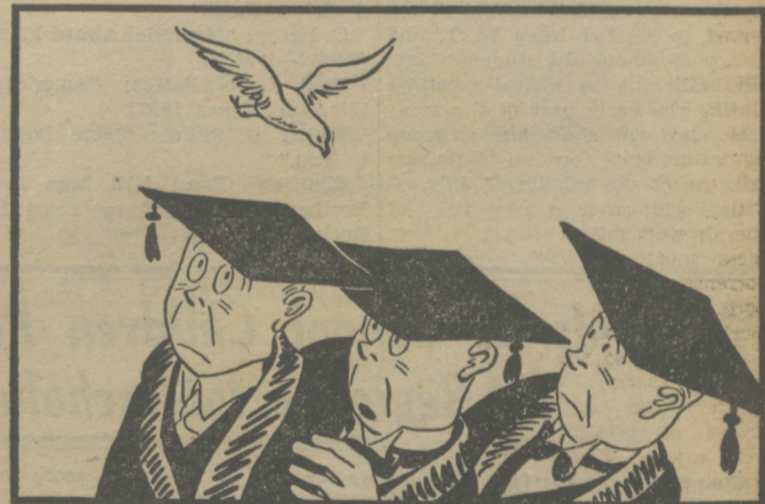

To return to tallow candles or the kerosene lamp for lighting, a coal or wood range for cooking, a Franklin stove as the sole source of heat, the horsecar or a horse and buggy as your sole means of transportation?

You would not! Ask any householder and his wife to give up their automobile, electric lights or appliances and see what they would say.

Then why continue old-fashioned methods of performing household tasks which are inefficient and laborous, when electricity will perform them for you? If your house is properly wired for electric service, there is no excuse for operating it in the most difficult and time-consuming way possible when this greatest of all servants is at your command.

Sixth Grade Visits Printing Office

Last Thursday afternoon the Sixth Grade of the Training School, under the direction of Miss Reese, were guests at the Canyon News office. The students had been reading about the invention and development of printing in their reading class and wanted to see how it was done.

The visitors were shown the entire printing process from the beginning until the paper was mailed at the post office. One machine that was especially interesting to us was the linotype. We had read a story about Mergenthaler and his invention, the linotype.

The guide through the office, an expert typesetter, demonstrated the machine for the group.

Fifth Grade Gives Play

The Fifth grade class gave a one-act play, "The Village Shoemaker," Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Robinson, Siegfried, the shoemaker's son; Patti Quattlebaum, the miller's wife; Elizabeth McCaslin, Hunda, the miller's daughter; Junior Smith, wizard shoemaker; Edna Graham, Anna, a village woman; Lillian Cupell, Frieda, Alice Marie, Lisbeth; Lillian Cupel, fairy godmother; and David Sharnan, announcer. The play was directed by Katherine Brown, a practice teacher.

Second Grade Pupils Take Trip On Train

Mrs. Saunders took the children of the second grade to Amarillo on the 1:10 Santa Fe, Monday.

The trip was made more interesting by Mr. McEachern, traveling freight and passenger agent for the Santa Fe, who came to Canyon to go with the children. He took the students through the train, showing them all the different coaches, pointing out their conveniences. He also showed the group through the Harvey House, the machine shops, blacksmith shop and the round house, where he had an engine turned on the table.

After a visit to the zoo, where the baby monkey was an unusual attraction the children went down town to the Santa Fe Building. There Mr. McEachern showed them the most interesting parts of the building.

As a final treat, Mrs. Saunders took the children back to the Harvey house, where they had lunch.

The high school chorus presented an operetta, "Evangeline," the music by Noble Cain and the text by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, in Assembly Friday. The program is to be repeated in the College chapel soon.

Neighbors Plays Over Radio

Carl Neighbors, a W. T. High senior, and Wayne Byars, freshman of Canyon High School, played two songs, "Ragtime Annie," and "Way Down Yonder" over one of the radio stations in Amarillo, Friday evening, April 13, at 9:15.

W. T. High Contributes Fourth of 1934 Membership in College Scholarship Society

Out of twenty pledges initiated into the local College chapter of the Scholarship Societies of the South, recently, five were graduates of the Demonstration School. Eighth Grade Makes Picture Show

The eighth grade has recently completed a picture show of "The Tempest." The project was constructed under the direction of Miss Ritchie, assisted by the practice-teachers, Misses Bandy, Smith and Reese.

"La Broma," the one-act play recently presented at assembly by the Spanish Club, under the direction of Miss Pauline Presley, is to be repeated at the next meeting of the College Spanish Club, which will be held at the home of its sponsor, Miss Mary E. Hudspeth.

Golf Tourney Is Success At Region Meet

Sponsored by W. E. Lockhart, Director General of Region One of the Interscholastic League, a golf tournament was held here in conjunction with the regular Regional Meet.

The four high medal scores from each of the four districts entered here for a medal play tournament.

The contest was won by Young of Lubbock in a five hole playoff with Talley of Pampa. After playing the required 36 holes Young and Talley were tied with a medal score of 149 each, and Holton of Lubbock in third place with a score of 150, and Croom of Amarillo, placing fourth with 156. Young and Talley agreed to a five hole playoff and Talley lost by one stroke on the fifth hole.

Hailed as a huge success in its initial year as a Regional Tournament, the golf tourney is expected to be a strong feature of next year's meet, since the work will be better organized and advertised that time.

Intramural Field
Events To Start

Anyone who wishes to enter the intramural field events are to report to Coach Jones or Jack Spence immediately, as no one will be eligible to participate unless he has worked out ten times.

A contestant may enter any five events and the relay team. There are no restrictions preventing other college lettermen from entering the contests.

The date for Field Night will be announced in next week's Prairie.

There is a possibility that medals will be given to the winner of each event.

On May 7, the Roswell Cadets will come to Canyon with a four man team, two doubles and four singles matches being played. On May 19, the Buffalo squad will go to the Sunshine State for the return match.

ACTIVITIES—

Williams, chairman, Martha Nell Lang, and James Stone. At the chapel program on that day, the seniors will present their gift to the school and will give a facetious program for the college.

In keeping with a tradition of the senior classes of W. T., one day has been designated as "sneak day" when all seniors cut classes. A picnic program in the canyons is planned in lieu of the academic schedule for that day.

The trouble with piety is its tendency to turn sour.

Tennis Matches Hard Fought In Contests Here

Saturday the regional tennis meet of the Interscholastic League was run off, the winners entering the State Meet, May 4. Tennis is the one phase of the Interscholastic League caucus which has to be split due to inadequate courts here. The boys' contests were held in Amarillo, the girls' on the new courts of the College.

Harold Gregory of Pampa won the boys' singles in a close fought match with Sammy Slaughter of Amarillo. The score was 3-6, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4, 8-6. Gregory had previously eliminated the Childress entry while Slaughter was swamping the Hale Center boy.

Aiva Holingshead and Stephen Dale of Follett, bi-district doubles winners last year, repeated their entry to the State Meet by defeating the Amarillo team, Ledbetter and Blackwell, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. Both had advanced to the finals by straight set wins over Eli and Olton, respectively.

The girls' contests showed better talent than usual. Jimmie Gilreath of Lakeview beat Imogene Dalton of Wildorado 6-2, 6-4 for the finals in singles. Leona Crews and Ione Shaw of Wilson downed the Lakeview doubles team of Tommie Davenport and Georgia Payne 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 to win the doubles competition.

SENIOR PLAY—

haired, and a trifle erratic, this "rhymist" frequently creates a sensation with his inspired manners. Mr. Williams' characterization of the eccentric poet is highly entertaining.

Danny, in the tangle of events, excites the ire of Chief Mason, played by Alfred Duncan, who is incensed over a bit of gossip about his wife, Malsy, interpreted by Betty Sternberg. Malsy is a nice girl—so nice that she leaves her job in a cabaret for fear that it will damage her reputation.

Newlyweds Not Safe

"The Gossipy Sex" can really be proud of its newlyweds, Flossie and Phillip Baxter, realistically portrayed by Alene McCollum and L. G. Harris. Even they are not safe from Danny's tongue, nor his fertile imagination.

Alton Brown, with a repertoire of two words, "Yes, dear," gives the audience a hint of the life of a hen-pecked husband in his part as Milton Norris. Hilda Norris, his domineering helpmeet, is played by Juanita Campbell.

John and Alice Bowen, played by Charles Donnell and Melva Gamewell, are the genial and somewhat anxious host and hostess.

Play Is Difficult

Ray Crowder, Wendell Cain and Lois McCaslin give polished interpretations of three minor parts.

The play, because of its rapid action, is difficult. It requires quick entrances and exits, and timed movements. The cast deserves a great deal of praise for their good work, says Miss Brown. Lois McCaslin and Inez Riddling are assistant directors; Ray Crowder is stage manager, and the technical work is in the hands of Charles Donnell. Professor C. W. Batchelder will make up the cast.

—about Cigarettes

As to the cigarette paper on Chesterfields

THIS reel of cigarette paper is sufficient to make 42,000 Chesterfield Cigarettes. It is of the finest manufacture.

In texture, in burning quality, in purity, it is as good as money can buy.

Cut open a Chesterfield cigarette. Remove the tobacco and hold the paper up to the light. If you know about paper, you will at once note the uniform texture—no holes, no light and dark places. Note also its dead white color.

If the paper is made right—that is, uniform—the cigarette will burn more evenly. If the paper is made right—there will be no taste to it and there will be no odor from the burning paper.

Other manufacturers use good cigarette paper; but there is no better paper made than that used on Chesterfields. You can count on that!
