Exes Association Plan New Program

Part or Full Time Secretary May Be Employed By Group

A part or full time field secretary for the West Texas Exes association is included in the five year program announced by President W. B. Weathered of Pampa.

The new long range program is to be worked out by a committee appointed at a meeting Saturday of the directors here in Canyon. The group held a luncheon at Stafford hall.

At a second meeting April 13, complete plans and hiring a secretary will be considered. The group voted to get into action immediately. In launching the work, the directors accepted the responsibility. Mr. Weathered said, of contacting representative W. T. exes in each community to set up a network of representatives throughout this area. The exes expect to double their membership by next homecoming.

The group voted to break precedent and change the "breakfast" usually held at Texas State Teachers association meetings to a supper on Thanksgiving night in Fort Worth.

The directors voted commendation for a new plan of the business administration department to train stenographers and office workers who cannot attend college four full years.

Attending were: Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college; Mr. Weathered; G. H. Jones of Happy, first vice president of the association; Kathryn Shearer of Canadian, second vice president; Lee Johnson, secretary; Clay Thornton of Amarillo, immediate past president, and a director; Mrs. W. D. Word of Amarillo; J. C. Baker of Adrian, and Vincent Lockhart of Amarillo, directors.

W. T. Profs Talk at Plainview Meeting

W. T. Faculty members appeared on several sectional programs of the West Texas Teachers Association at Plainview March 8 and 9.

Miss Anna I. Hibbets discussed "Nature Study in the Primary Grades" in the primary section and "Nature Study Correlations" in the primary science discussion group; Dr. Harris M. Cook talked on "The Value of Definite School Policies" in the trustees section; Prof. John A. Gillis had as his subject "Measuring and Evaluating Shop Work in Texas Public Schools" for the industrial arts section, and Dr. L. F. Sheffy discussed "The Museum Excursion as an Aid in the Teaching of History" for the social science section.

You Remember That Cold Spell We Had Way Back In 1899?

By DELBERT McQUIRE
Although the weather in the Panhandle varies as much as any place in the Southwest, few persons know the pleasant average of weather conditions here.

The agriculture department of West Texas State, under the direction of Prof. T. M. Moore and with the cooperation of H. T. Colman, Amarillo meteorologist, has compiled the averages over the Panhandle during a forty-year period. Following are some of the statistics:

Annual mean temperature, 56.9; average number of hours of sunshine per day, 13.6; average velocity of wind, 12 mph; highest wind velocity, 65 mph; average number of clear days per year, 200; cloudy days, 58; and the average length of the growing season was found to be 200 days.

The average date of the first killing frost in the fall was found to be November 1st, and the last killing frost in the spring was found to be April 14th. The extremes of killing frosts were found to be: Fall, October 16, 1903, and Spring, May 7, 1915.

The highest temperature on record for the Amarillo vicinity is 107 degrees, which came in the summer of 1939, the lowest was 16 degrees below zero, this cold wave striking in February, 1899.

The average elevation of the Texas Panhandle was found to be 3354 feet; the highest elevation, at Texline, 4,694, and the lowest, at Childress, 1869.

Wayne Christian Has Teaching Fellowship At California Tech

Recognition of outstanding work at West Texas State College has come to Wayne Christian, a graduate student, through appointment to a teaching fellowship in the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena.

Mr. Christian, whose home is in Darlington, Mo., will work toward the Ph. D. degree, majoring in vertebrate paleontology.

At present he is field supervisor for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum and the College. He will remain here through July and will assist for one month the new professor of geology, whose name will be announced shortly by Dr. J. A. Hill.

Mr. Christian did his work in paleontology here under the late Prof. C. Stuart Johnston. He has given much time to identifying and indexing the materials brought to the museum by W. P. A. scientific crews. He also has taken leading roles in many dramatic productions.

GOING TO DALLAS

The Dallas district meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association this week will be attended by Registrar D. A. Shirley, Dr. A. M. Meyer, Miss Edna Graham, and Miss Darthula Walker.

Party Talk Is Expected Soon

Election Will Be Conducted According To Constitution

Confucius say, "Politician who slings mud velly likely lose ground."

That isn't exactly the text of the Student Senate proclamation, but the suggestion is true that spring elections are coming soon.

The date is April 25. Annual selection of Students' Association officers, Student Senate members and class officers will be made.

Enough interest to make possible the political rally sponsored each year by The Prairie is anticipated. Date for the meeting will be announced later. Each candidate will be given time to present his own platform.

There have been no public meetings or announcements suggesting that the forces of the Progressive and Students' parties would prepare for washday. It has been reported that there will be some dirty linen, however. Both parties were active during the first election under the new student constitution in 1938.

Nominations will be made by petition. Twenty-five signatures are necessary for an Association office petition, ten for a class office or Student Senate post.

Petitions must be filed by 11:30 o'clock, Monday morning, April 22, and each nominee will be checked as a bona fide member of the Association with a C average. Polls will be open as usual in the hall of the Administration building all day. A sample ballot will be published in The Prairie three days before the election date.

Condron Addresses Amarillo Rotary on Democracy

In an address before the Amarillo Rotary Club at noon Thursday, Prof. S. H. Condron said, "If you really want to be up-to-date, embrace Democracy as a form of government, because it is the only new idea in government."

"There is no danger of a foreign invasion or a foreign idea of government because we will develop our own ideas and movements, our own way or living or attitude of life," Mr. Condron continued. He listed the forms of ideas of government as Fascist, Socialism, technological or economic planning, capitalism, and the cooperative way.

"The dream of mankind can be fulfilled in America if we each do our best to achieve responsible government. We must understand all of these ideas of government and we must have individual and official responsibility," he continued.

"Through the ages, man has sought three things from his government—freedom, security, and responsibility. We have these in a large measure, more so than any other country in the world, but it is up to us to assume our responsibilities of government."

"We can't build a great nation on government charity checks and those who are foolish enough to think we can vote security are due for a rude awakening. We must have confidence in our government, exercise control over our public officials and we must know who is responsible. If we cannot build our government on confidence then we will destroy the state."

Ex-Student Dies In Hereford

Friends of Miss Louise Jacobsen, W. T. graduate as a music major, have been informed of her death in Hereford on Saturday.

The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. today at the Methodist church in Hereford.

Miss Jacobsen was organist at the Canyon Methodist church for a time and had many acquaintances in this community.

She is survived by her parents and four brothers. She was associated with her father in business at the time of her death. She had been ill only a short time.

G. O. P. presidential hopeful Frank E. Gannett, was graduated from Cornell University in 1898.

Annual Session Closes Saturday

Educators Visit Campus For District Conference

More Than 2500 Attend—Cornelius And Weathered Are Elected New Officers

Membership in Northwest Texas Conference for Education was swelled when more than 2500 Panhandle teachers in 26 counties comprising District 9 of the Texas State Teachers association attended the session here Friday and Saturday.

Taking advantage of the sunny day Friday, the majority arrived and registered in time to over fill the auditorium with many chairs added at the 9:30 o'clock general session. More stayed overnight in Canyon and heard the Saturday program than have at past conferences.

Following sectional meetings on the afternoon of the first day, the district house of delegates selected Miss Oretha Jane Cornelius of Amarillo as president of the conference, the first woman to attain this position. W. B. Weathered of Pampa, Gray county superintendent and president of the W. T. exes, is the new vice-president.

Phi Delta Kappa Organize Unit

Local unit of Phi Delta Kappa, national scholastic education fraternity, was organized Saturday with Prof. Mitchell-Jones as president.

R. A. Selby of Amarillo is vice-president and Registrar D. A. Shirley is secretary-treasurer.

E. L. Hunter of Amarillo presided at a Phi Delta Kappa breakfast Saturday, at which J. Fred Horn of Austin, state coordinator of the fraternity, and Dr. Fritz Redl were speakers. Thirty persons were present.

Dr. Horn emphasized that the organization "will be more and more a field (research) body and less and less a campus group."

YW-YM Members Hear Speakers

One of the interesting programs planned for this semester by the Young Women's Christian Association will be heard this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Room 205 in the Administration building.

Houston Bright, instructor of music will speak to members and visitors on "How Pragmatism Affected Institutions."

Father Chas. Jansen of the Catholic church addressed the Young Men's Christian Association February 26. The subject was "People Are Not Born Criminals" in which he gave sufficient reasons for the belief that men and women are not born criminals but acquire such tendencies after birth.

"All the boys present enjoyed the address very much and extended to Father Jansen a standing invitation to return at any opportunity," stated Luther Moore, President of the Y. M. C. A.

College Women Are Not Smoking As Much These Days

College students are giving the tobacco growers a good business, for well over half of them report that they are smokers. But less than a third smoke habitually and half of the women who attend the nation's colleges and universities say they never indulge in cigarettes.

The Student Opinion Surveys of America, of which the Prairie is a member, sent out scores of interviewers to talk to students of all types to compile statistics that show the tobacco habits of collegians.

Any caricature of the typical college woman as a habitual smoker appears to be erroneous, for only 21.6 per cent declare that they smoke regularly. Men use cigarettes, pipes, and cigars out of habit to quite a larger extent than the co-eds. Over a third, or 34.3 per cent of the men smoke habitually. Complete tabulations statistically representing the entire U. S. college and university enrollment is as follows:

	Men	Women
Smoke regularly	34.3%	21.6%
Smoke sometimes	30.0	28.0
Never smoke	35.7	50.4

Both men and women in greater percentages prefer Lucky Strike over other brands. Camels, Philip Morris, Chesterfield, Old Gold, and Pall Mall were favored as listed.

Interesting differences in cigarette preferences were noticed in looking over the U. S. map—perhaps because of the influence of advertising in different sections. More students in the West Central, Southern, and far Western states say Luckies are their choice. But as one goes North and East one finds Camels are the favorite. Philip Morris, third nationally, showed its greatest strength in the West. Although there is the possibility that a few of the students wished to withhold the correct answer, no interviewer detected any apparent desire to conceal information about smoking.

Buffalo Band To Play Concerts

Buffalo Band, directed by Prof. C. E. Strain, will give a concert at the First Baptist Church in Wellington Sunday at 8 p. m.

The band quartet, composed of James Harrison, George Stokes, Ernest Scheihagen, and J. L. Burt, will sing two numbers, and Prof. Strain and Earl Wilbur will give a cornet duet, "Whispering Hope."

Many hymns, including "Holy City," "Peace, Troubled Soul," "Lead Kindly Light," and "Spiritual Rivers," are to be played.

The Band will return after playing in Shamrock at the St. Patrick's Day Celebration, March 18.

Large Crowd Sees "Mr. Pim Lyceum"

Geeting Directs Play Presented By College Players Wednesday

With the first show presented by the College players as a lyceum number went Mr. Pim.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, the auditorium of the Administration building was well filled Wednesday by students who saw a local version of a modern three-act comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By."

A. A. Milne, the author, brought the audience a play full of character production, unusual turns in plot, love, and mystery in Marden Castle in England.

Gaynelle Douglas, as Olivia, was the unconventional type, continually disturbing the complacency and dignity of her English husband, Wayne Christian, as George, by her insistence upon loud colored curtains, the marriage of his daughter on the family allowance, and even went so far as to inform him that he had married the wife of a convict, all of which simply beset the strictly conventional Mr. Marden. (See Mr. Pim, page 4)

Who Wrote Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath?"

PLEDGES VISIT TEXAS TECH CAMPUS

Why Did Buffs Win the El Paso Tournament?

Pledges of Alpha Sigma Xi fraternity hitch-hiked to Lubbock and Texas Technological College last week.

Each had a different objective as assigned by a club member, and the reports ran from a friendly opinion about social organizations on college campuses from Clifford B. Jones, president of Tech, to a quick exodus from the office of the head coach by a pledge.

"This is to certify that Earl Wilbur has duly presented on March 8 the instructions, however, I cannot certify with respect to how much of the distance between Canyon and Lubbock he covered on foot. His good looks and neat personal appearance would rather indicate that he rode most of the way.

"In compliance with the request for an opinion concerning social organizations on college campuses, it is a pleasure to indicate that under proper direction and with suitable objectives including of course the raising of scholastic standards, we at Texas Technological College are highly in favor thereof."

Concerning Steinbeck's Grapes of Wrath: "I have not read the book," was the reply of W. B. Gates, head of the English department.

Above the signature of the dean of men who was quizzed on poker-playing as a collegiate pastime was "I should like to say that too much time has been spent thinking about poker playing in college already."

"As an observation on mock initiation for social clubs, I would like to urge that you be governed by good judgment in restricting such activities to those that offer no hazard to the life, health, and good scholarship, for the sake of the type of organization you represent," Dean James T. Allen said.

Bring back this sheet with the signatures of twenty Texas Tech co-eds who are going steady, and get each to write down the percentage of her time which she spends on dates courting and what percentage talking. These are the instructions which made possible the survey of dating activity. It seems, unofficially, that 75 per cent of the dating time of Tech co-eds is spent courting, smooching, muggings, etc. This survey was not conducted by a selected cross section for accuracy.

Inasmuch as dean of women, Mary W. Doak, was not in her office Friday, her report on shorter skirts for co-eds is omitted.

Progress In Education

The Educational Conference is over. There is no doubt but what it was well-attended. But what definitely did it accomplish?

The answer of course will not be written at once. The educators and students must return to their respective classes. It is there that the answer will be given. What changes, what improvements are made as a result of the Conference will decide the balance between what could be a valuable institution or a two-day vacation.

Some educators and some students came reluctantly and gladly slipped away as early as possible. They have cheated no one as much as themselves. Some came, stayed throughout the session, and spent their time meeting old friends and gossiping. Their wastefulness was selfish and unnecessary.

Some came, attended a fair share of the sessions, took either mental or other notes, and returned to their own work Saturday afternoon inspired and enlightened. It is from these that we may hope for the dividends on the work and expense that went to make possible the Northwest Texas Conference for Education.

The daily challenges to education are numerous. The daily opportunities to prove its value, however, are even greater. If the numbers of those who are classified in the last group mentioned are sufficiently large, education should show a marked improvement in the twenty-five counties of District Nine of the Texas State Teachers Association.

If the numbers are small, education will not keep pace with the marching times in this district.

Progress is the order of the day. If education in the field does not recognize this and act accordingly, all of the work of the Thorndikes, Deweys, Hutchinsons, Bodes, McCalls, and the many, many others will be wasted. If education in the field does not seek constantly to better itself, George Bernard Shaw's epigram will be only too true: "Education is busy driving nails where the carpet used to be."

This must be realized. The Conference was arranged only at some expense and much work. Whatever this expense it will be a trifling thing if each practicing educator and each student educator received some idea or inspiration from the session which will improve him in his activities.

Price of Education

What crimes are committed in the name of education.

From a Dallas newspaper the following short article was picked up aptly illustrating the follies which a little learning brings. Listen:

"A 13-year-old boy who hit his teacher then jerked away from her and ran off when she tried to whip him Wednesday, and had taken his whipping and was back in school Thursday.

Police were called to return the boy back to school, but before they arrived, the boy's mother returned with him."

Great Caesar's Ghost. Is this the price we must pay for education? Is this the way education is to progress? It is not and it must not ever be. Education is not the result of a strong arm, but a strong mind. And this it must remain.

What can a "whipping" avail for education? Can it establish in the 13-year-old the respect for learning? It cannot. It is more likely to establish in the youngster a contempt of learning. More than that, it may establish a contempt for authority. And further than that it may establish a rebellious spirit against authority. Or at least it should, for when it comes to a show-down between taking a whipping and learning, hang the whipping and take the learning.

But, say whipping exponents, he slapped the teacher, didn't he? He deserves the whipping. Maybe he does and maybe he doesn't. It is well-known that the teacher possesses the authority. And it is a well-established principle that those in authority should not abuse it to the point where physical violence becomes necessary, even if a teacher-pupil relationship. If the boy struck the teacher, he in all probability had some reason. It is the fault of the teacher for provoking the assault, not the fault of the 13-year-old who probably had no inkling of his own motivation.

The teaching profession is badly underpaid. Especially is this true in the grammar schools. Someone once said that a little learning is a dangerous thing, and it is as dangerous in the primary school grade teachers as any place in the world. It is the unintelligence of the teacher that brings forth whippings. The blame is herewith and forever laid at the foot of the uneducated educators, and the blame forever removed from the head of those who revolt.

Education cannot be bought with punishment; it must be the product of intelligent distribution.—The Daily Texan.

THE HIC JACET JOURNAL OF TRAVEL

Since most of us like tales of travel and adventure and since most of us like to read other people's letters, we are quoting today from several letters received some time ago from a friend who went traveling by the airways: i. e. "Air you going my way?"

The first quoted was written in January after he had left Southern California in the late fall:

"It's about a quarter after five in the evening. I am lolling on the grass about fifteen feet off the highway, outside of Lored. I have a companion for the time being. A fellow from some little Texas town whom I met in Nuevo Lored. He finished junior college and decided to start out and find a job. Had $35, took a bus to Lored, got $5 changed into Mexican money — and now he's broke. Whatta town!

"We've just finished a dozen bananas. I'm seated on the ground to write this. He's lying flat on his back, trying to stab smoke rings with his toe. Every time a car comes by we solemnly give a long sweep with our thumbs toward Corpus Christi.

"As to the way we met: About 6:30 p. m. yesterday, I had crossed over into Nuevo Lored and was passing a Mexican pool room. I heard a Texas drawl yelling, "Say that in English, you greaser, or I'll ram this cue down your throat!" I jumped inside and saw a fool facing three nasty looking Mexicans with only a cue in his hands. A fourth was coming at him from the back.

"I yelled and he turned around and laid Mex. No. 4 low with a pretty sock on the "haid." The remaining three decided there were two many of us and started yelling for more greasers. We didn't wait for more though, but crashed out the door and—"My Golly! A car's stopping! We've got a ride!"

The second was written about a month and a half later from British Honduras to where he had managed to work his way:

"A revolution is getting ready to pop in Spanish Honduras and no boats will go down there for fear of confiscation. By the way, I escaped by only a hair's breadth being the first casualty in the damn revolution. There is a recruiting office here (secret, of course) for the revolutionists. I was held prisoner by them for an hour with a knife point in my back, a pistol pointing at my head, and a machete held dangerously close to my throat. These Spaniards take no chances. I never talked as hard in my life as when trying to convince them to wait that hour, instead of killing me immediately . . . and they didn't speak a word of English. I'll tell you more about it when I get back.

"I'd better finish this and get back to my day's work (harpooning small, defenseless, multi-colored fish; and eating cotoanuts and bananas. I average a dozen and a half bananas and one or two cocoanuts a day.)

"Say 'Hello' to everyone for me. It's possible that I'll be home in another month . . . it's just as possible that I'll be in Europe or China."

EDUCATIONAL ARCHITECTURE MADE EASY

Quoting Dr. Meyer with regard to the lighting in room 203: These lights were never intended for reading. They're just to keep you from stumbling over the seats.

JOURNEY'S END

An interesting phenomena and a rather apt commentary on the modern pace of life is to be found in the interest of the average American in the European wars. Once it flamed high. Today, if too many war pictures keep the newsreels from showing bathing girls or crowd out the time for a Mickey Mouse, there is a general feeling of resentment.

It makes George Eliot's observation in The Mill on the Floss seem all the more pointed: "War, like other dramatic spectacles, might possibly cease for want of a 'public'."

THE DEPARTMENT OF EVOLUTION

Quoting Dr. Jarrett, "I'm not worried very much about whether or not we came from monkeys. What I'm afraid of is that we'll get back to them."

PRODUCE THE BODY

Habeas Corpus, according to a test paper in that social science class, is the same as treason, or undertaking to overthrow one's own government.

NEED A JOB?

George Eliot (Mary Ann Evans) provides our closing thought on Education: Incompetent gentlemen must live and without private fortune; it is difficult to see how they could all live genteelly if they had nothing to do with education or government.

Letter to . . . All in the Family

. . . the Editor

Dear Editor:

There are many students attending the College who are genuinely in need of part time employment now and full time employment during summer vacation that have been unable to find any through lack of social or business contacts or through an inferior complex that defeats them before they start looking for work. I have taken upon myself the responsibility of assisting as many of these students as possible in their search for employment, but I need assistance.

Before Christmas I made an announcement of several jobs in Am-arillo for college students. This announcement was not made soon enough to get in on other jobs for the holidays.

After the announcement there came quite a list for different types of employment from the students. I went to work looking for employment for these. I locate a place and notify the student, and the rest is up to him.

At the present, three boys are pretty sure of employment in the near future with full time employment during the summer, there are seven more possibilities with reputable business firms that students have applied for and couldn't sell themselves. Also, there are some places for full time graduates but these are not executive positions.

I believe with some assistance, every student that needs work can get part-time employment and full time employment through the summer.

First, I suggest a place should be set aside at the College where the students may get detailed information blanks to fill out and leave.

Second, I need someone to work with me who can talk to a business man, and sell him on the idea of student employment.

Third, the student needs to rid himself of his inferiority complex and meet the employment manager on his own level. Who will teach him to make an offensive interview instead of a defensive interview? This is most important of all.

LOY REES.

The officers are as follows: President, Cecil Shearer; vice president, Don Kendrick; secretary and treasurer, Leroy Francis; reporter, Sidney Johnson; and Raymond (Pee Wee) Wagner, sergeant at arms.

The next meeting will be held in Room 17 of the Administration building at 7:30, Wednesday night—March 20.

Students Hear Pampa Choir

Helen Martin Directs Group In Program Of Variety Numbers

By DOROTHY JANE DAY

Pampa High School's A Capella Choir struck some pleasant tones for the student body at the regular assembly period Tuesday on a variety musical program.

Miss Helen Martin directed the choir in a series of old Negro spirituals as the first number on the program. A girls' sextet, composed of Betty Plank, Meribelle Hazard, Clarabel Jones, Annabelle Lard, Betty Jean Tiemann and Maxine Holt sang several selections.

The choir sang sacred, semi-classical, and popular selections with members singing solo parts.

The mixed quartet, composed of James Evans, Leon Holloway, Jeanne Lively and Jerry Smith, sang a semi-classical number and then sang "barber shop harmony," as announced by the director, on "Dinah".

James Evans, accompanied by the choir, sang an unusual rendition of "The Old Apple Tree."

The girls' trio, the Co-Eds in Blue, gave several selected numbers, the most popular one with the audience being an unusual arrangement of "Oh, Billy." The Co-Eds in Blue are Meribelle Hazard, Betty Jean Tiemann, and Clarabel Jones, with little Maxine Holt at the piano.

For the last two numbers Miss Martin called all ex-members of the choir now attending W. T. to the stage and the exes sang with the choir "Cherubin Song" and the Alma Mater of Pampa High School. Among the exes were Jack Hessey, Dorothy Jane Day, Earl Walker, Frances Thompson, Catherine Culbertson, Roy McNett, Vernon Casey, Jay Plank, Arvo Goddard, J. I. Howard and Myrtle Frances Jones.

If it was murder it was the perfect crime. Freed from prison and deported, the bigamous soldier of fortune insists his third wife is still alive, but police still believe he killed her, though they can't find the body. Read this strange true-life mystery story in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald-American.

West Texas Freshmn Defeat Canadian River Gassers 37-34 To Claim Amarillo Jaycee League Trophy

Full House Goes Hysterical In Wild Last Half

In a battle which sent the spectators into a hysteria of excitement, the West Texas State Freshmen basketball squad captured the Amarillo Jaycee basketball title last Wednesday night over the highly touted Canadian River Gas team, defenders of the 1939 title, by a score of 37 to 34.

Grabbing an early lead in the game, the Frosh kept up their scoring and held a 28 to 11 margin at the halftime. During the half-rest period the Gassers pulled themselves together and when the second half opened they played as a new team. Playing like madmen, the Gassers stole the ball away from the Frosh on numerous occasions to go down court for a goal.

It seemed as if the Freshmen had relaxed their vigorous hold on the game and had forgotten that they had anything to fear from the Canadian Gassers who were several points behind.

As the minutes clicked off and the game neared an end, the Gassers pulled themselves up until they were only one point behind the Frosh cagers. The Gassers' captain, Olen Crews, was largely responsible for the Gassers' showing when he pitched four field goals through the mesh in the last half.

With less than one minute of the game left, Freshman Guard Bill Stockman eluded the two guards and sneaked in a daring crisp shot, putting the Frosh three points ahead. Grabbing the ball off the backboard, the Canadian team started back up the court, but the game ended, killing the chances of the Gasser team.

After the game was over, the Freshman cagers together with

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE? Nothing? Look again. Yes, it's Foster Watkins. Well, okay. He's not firing a football. Flippin' Foster, as he was known when he was making history on the West Texas State gridiron, hopes to build himself a reputation in another field. His great fighting heart will be thrown into the job of earning himself a regular berth at short-stop this year for the Amarillo Gold Sox.

Rotary Presented Program Recently For Pampa Club

The Canyon Rotary club took a program to Pampa recently in an inter-city meeting with Pampa Rotarians.

The program, arranged by Olin E. Hinkle, a member of the local club and former Pampa newspaper man, featured student entertainment. The West Texas State Girls' Sextet sang two numbers. Members are Mary Nell Scruggs of Wellington, Jane Williams of Clarendon, Marion Miller of Claude, Mogie Routh of Amarillo, Merle Crow of Amarillo, and La Nelle Scheihagen of Hereford. They were accompanied at the piano by Lela Louder of Canyon.

George Stokes of Plainview, baritone also was presented.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State College, made a short address.

Buffalo Wallow

“THERE AIN'T NO FLIES ON ME . . .”

The Buffalo cagers are being publicised these days by various sports writers around. In a recent column by Bill White from New York City he writes, “West Texas State of Canyon, is not only the tallest team in the world, but is the scourge of the southwest.” He goes further on in his story about the Buffaloes and adds, “the southwest has produced four good teams—East Texas State Teachers, champions of the Lone Start Conference, Texas Wesleyan, winner of 12 straight games and the Texas conference title. West Texas State College, champions of the Alamo Conference, and winners of the Southwestern tournament, and Texas Tech. By the way, three of these four teams, East Texas State, Texas Wesleyan, and West Texas State are entered in the National Intercollegiate tournament at Kansas City this week.

DID YOU KNOW
That Ted Strain, Michigan State College basketball player, has been nicknamed “Nervous . . .” that Frank Stockman, sophomore star of West Texas cagers, once held the Missouri state high school record in the high jump . . . that the Buffaloes have pictures in the recent issue of Life Magazine . . . that the West Texas State tennis team officillay opens its practice session Friday . . . that Captain Ernest Schur and reserve center Donald Kendrick are playing their last games under the colors of the maroon and white; they are the only two seniors on the famed Buffalo basketball squad.

CRACK OF THE WEEK
It seemed as if Ralph Davis, who is the student manager of the Buffalo cagers, had a rather helpless feeling during his stay at Chihuahua, Mexico. During the Buffalo-Chihuahua Teachers basketball series, he and two other fellows kept the scorebooks. These other two happened to be Mexicans who could not speak a word of English. Davis said, “Boy, we sure did a lot of pointing.”

the national intercollegiate tournament title had arrived and tested the floor and glass backboards.

The field is made up of representatives from 19 states.

The West Texas State five, labelled the world's tallest team, is one of the pre-meet favorites.

Both Southwestern College of Winfield, Kan., and San Diego, Calif., State, last year's finalists, are in the present field. The Kansans took the 1939 title, 32 to 31. This year's champion will be decided Saturday.

Coaches and athletic directors accompanying the teams will organize the “National Intercollegiate Basketball Association” during the week to sponsor the four year old meet in the future.

Eight games comprise tomorrow's program, including: 3 p. m.—East Texas State, Commerce, Tex., vs. Ripon, Wis., College; 9:30 p. m. West Texas State, Canyon, Tex., vs. Northern State Teachers, Aberdeen, S. Dak.

Semi-final Round of Volleyball to be Played Tonight

By DELBERT McGUIRE

At a meeting of the team managers with Director Mitchell Jones Tuesday afternoon the schedule for teams playing in the Intramural volleyball contest was completed, and the first round was played Tuesday night in Burton gymnasium.

In the first games the NYA boys beat the T-Anchor Aggies in two straight games, which pushed the Farm Boys out of the running. In the second game the Wildcats defeated the Firecrackers in a closely fought contest that went three games. In the last match of the evening the Bachelor Hall team defeated the Bullshooters in two straight games. The Termites drew a “bye” and will play in the semi-final round, which will be played tonight.

At the meeting Tuesday Athletic Director Al Baggett stated that, in all probability, individual awards are to be given to winners of each division of boxing and wrestling contests. Entries must be given to Mr. Jones by March 15, as the final fight night is to be held near the first of April.

oratory assistant, took the group to the basement and showed them through the archaeology and paleontology department.

Dr. L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, made favorable comments concerning use of the museum as a aid in teaching history. Mrs. Weeks is one of the first to take advantage of this opportunity.

Halbert Has High Total In Games

Tall Center Records 425 Points; Brookfield Is Second with 370

Charlie Halbert, 6 feet 10 inch center of the Buffaloes, leads his team in the total points scored for any player on the squad. In 32 games, Halbert has hit the basket for a total of 425 points to take the No. 1 scoring position for the Alamo Conference Champions.

In 402 field goal attempts, Halbert has pitched 172 of them through the mesh and 81 of 127 free throws. Ranking second is Price Brookfield, another sophomore ace who hails from Friona, Texas. He has scored 370 points this season. Other scorers are: Captain Ernest Schur, 291; Dewey Johnson, 208; Frank Stockman, 187; Borden Price, 95; Donald Kendrick, 61; Earl Stagner, 56; Lother Stephenson, 46; Doy Lee Jones, 14.

The Buffalo cagers have recorded 35 per cent accuracy on their field goal shots and 71 per cent average on their free throws. For the game average in points, the “tall team” has 56.6 points per game.

Fifteen chances to taste the supreme thrills of speed. But in smoking it's different, very different. “It's slow burning that makes a cigarette tick with me.” “Bucky” Wells says. And he means what he says, because slow-burning Camels have been his cigarette for ten years.

“ONE-TWO-BOB! ONE-TWO-BOB!” And, as the crew bobs, “Bucky” picks up speed...60—70—80 miles an hour, driving high on the glassy wall of ice as he swings the quarter-ton steel sled around the curve. But in the field of cigarettes, this daring speedster gives the laurels to the quality of slow burning that he finds in Camels. You can tell by their mild, mellow taste that Camels burn cooler, slower—and scientists have confirmed this. (See panel, right.)

If you want to know how it feels to go 1.80 miles an hour on a racing bob-sled, “Bucky” Wells of Keene Valley, N. Y. can tell you. He's done it plenty of times. He likes those speed-thrills on a racing bob. But when it comes to cigarettes, “Bucky” Wells is on the slow side...the slow-burning side. That means Camels!

“I've smoked Camels for years, and I know they burn slower,” “Bucky” says. “There's cool comfort in a Camel. Mildness—more flavor. And—slow burning means extra smoking. Yes, penny for penny, Camels are the best cigarette buy. ‘I'd walk a mile for a Camel!’”

Why would anybody feel that way about his cigarette? Try a Camel and see. Camels are a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos...slow-burning. They give more pleasure per puff, more puffs per pack.

In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to

Friday Luncheons Honor Teachers

Teachers attending Northwest Texas Conference for Education were entertained Friday noon at various luncheons, held in every available place, including Cousins and Randall halls, and all the churches in town.

Vocational teachers, instructors in agriculture, home economics, and commerce, attended the luncheon at the Presbyterian church. Music was furnished by members of F. F. A. and P. H. T. Joint chairmen for arrangements were G. S. Dowell, Quail; Miss Rose Parsley, Canyon; and E. R. Reeves, Lefors.

Miss Esther Sorenson, Area Supervisor, vocational homemaking, talked on "How We Can Best Promote Joint Programs of Work for Vocational Agriculture and Vocational Home Economics Departments in High Schools." Another address was given by Dr. Fritz Redl of the University of Michigan, on "New Ideas in Vocational Education."

Librarians lunched in the Home Economics dining room. Miss Maybelle A. Taylor from Pampa presided. Miss Tennessee Malone of the Cap Rock Association and librarian of W. T. library, gave greetings.

Cagle M. Smith of the Hutchinson County Library, gave an address on "How a County Library Can Help Schools."

The Methodist church was the scene of a luncheon for superintendents, principals, board members and P. T. A. chairmen. Arrangements were made by Miss Vera Tops Gilreath, Memphis; and T. T. Burton, Clarendon.

Addresses at the luncheon was given by R. A. Selby, Director of Secondary Curriculum and Guidance, Amarillo Public Schools.

High School Language Arts luncheon was in charge of Miss Ila

County Club Plans Party For Members

Armstrong-Donley county club is planning a party for seniors from the two counties and the transfers from Clarendon Junior College. The date of this party is tentative and will be announced at a later date.

The Armstrong-Donley club is a newly organized unit, and so far members have interest in the activities. They have already sponsored one party and besides the planned party for the seniors and transfers, they hope to have a picnic sometime this spring.

The club has a membership of thirty-five. Webb Garland is president.

Mae Hastings of Lefors. It was held at the First Christian church Friday noon.

Dr. F. L. McDonald, from the Journalism Department of Texas State College for Women was the main speaker.

Randall hall dining room was the scene of a luncheon for classroom teachers association.

Speech and fine arts teachers were at Cousins Hall Friday noon, at a luncheon sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity.

Featured artists at the luncheon, was Dr. Ray K. Immel, Dean of the School of Speech, University of Southern California. Dean Immel read a number of simple folk selections.

Other numbers on the program included violin numbers by Sonny Roy Welch from Amarillo.

Special guests at the luncheon besides Dean Immel, were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Graham from Amarillo Junior College, Miss Ortha Jane Cornelius from Amarillo High School, and Mr. E. E. Bradley, from Oklahoma A. & M. at Goodwell, Oklahoma.

CONFERENCE—

(Continued from first page) playing Barber of Seville, and a medley of Stephen Foster's songs. Former governor Neff made an address explaining the early lead of the church in education, relating the need of education in regard to government.

"Preservation of our government depends upon our religion and education, and the state must educate to preserve the state," he said.

Dr. Ray K. Immel, dean of the school of speech, University of Southern California discussed the change in speech from old exhibitions of elocution and the mere communication in expression to use of language as a tool in thinking. His subject was "Speech as Technique of Education."

Dr. Redl discussed substitutes for use of force in education, and pointed out some of the methods of measuring the success of the teacher.

Supt. I. H. Turney of Tulia presided over the Saturday morning session when the group heard Mrs. Rebecca O. Nelson of Tyler, on mental hygiene. She warned against forcing students into work for which they are not fitted, and explained that a large part of mental trouble is preventable. The cure is in finding work in which the children can be happy, she said.

The Hereford high school band under the direction of Ralph Smith opened the fourth session on Saturday morning. Following Mrs. Nelson's talk, the final session, general session No. 5, was started with a discussion by Dr. Fritz Redl of the University of Michigan.

"Punishment is merely one form, one technique of discipline, and one which too often is a confession of ignorance of the basic principles of obtaining order," Prof. Redl said. Differences between discipline and punishment were carefully pointed out.

Dr. Immel closed the last session with a brief discussion of the price of free speech, asserting that speakers should have something to say, should respect evidence, and avoid rash assumptions, and should be free of the fallacy of hasty general-

Weddings of West Texas Ex-Students

HOLCOMBE-STEWART

Miss Ruby Lee Holcombe became the bride of Troy Stewart on Sunday, February 11, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Clark.

Mrs. Stewart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Holcombe of Plainview. She is a graduate of Plainview High School and attended West Texas State College. At present she is teaching in the Love school, 12 miles east of Tulia.

Mr. Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Stewart of Tulia. He is engaged in farming northeast of Tulia where the couple will live.

After the ceremony the wedding party went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kirkpatrick, sister of the bridegroom, where a two-tiered wedding cake was cut and served with coffee to friends.

KEMPER-WILSON

Miss Theresa Kemper became the bride of Mr. Clarence Wilson of Amarillo when vows were exchanged in the parsonage of the First Baptist Church in Tulia at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The Reverend Clark officiated.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kemper of Tulia, was dressed in blue with beige accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Wilson graduated from Tulia high school with the class of 1935 and will receive her Bachelor's degree from West Texas State next summer.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wilson of Perryton, was graduated from Booker high school and attended business college in Amarillo. He is now employed in Amarillo.

Attending the wedding were Margaret Dixon, Canyon, and E. T. Evans of Phillips.

A wedding dinner was given in honor of the couple in the home of the bride's parents.

The couple are now at home in Canyon.

izations. He insisted that loss of speech freedom would come about if the right was not respected.

Resolutions passed by the house of delegates included one which endorsed the 12-year plan for high schools. The delegates urged that the Legislature and Governor make it possible for the State Board of Education to furnish free textbooks for all accredited high school subjects, and such elementary and junior high school subjects as are generally taught in the public schools of Texas.

Speech teachers from over the Panhandle were pleased this year with the beginning of a new phase of the educational conference, the Speech Institute. The purpose of this institute was to give the teachers a better understanding of the problems in speech education, and how speech may be integrated into all other subjects.

Every year the Speech Institute will have a guest speaker who is an authority in the field of speech. This year Dr. Baxter Geeting, head of the department of speech, who was in charge of arrangements, secured Dr. Ray K. Immel, Dean of the School of Speech, University of

"Broadway Melody of 1940"

Fred Astaire and Frank Morgan are pictured above in a scene from "Broadway Melody of 1940." Inasmuch as many will be more interested in knowing that Eleanor Powell is in the picture, the announcement will be welcomed.

Mary Nell Scruggs To Present Recital

Mary Nell Scruggs, junior from Wellington, will be presented by the Department of Music of West Texas State College in a Junior Song Recital tomorrow afternoon in the auditorium of the Education building. Time for the recital has been set for 4:30.

This recital is one of several being presented by the music department this year. The public is invited to attend. A program of the numbers to be presented has not been released but will be ready this afternoon.

STUDENTS IN HOSPITAL

Students receiving hospitalization last week were: Alva Thornburg, White Deer; Jerry Fleming, Dawn; Ruth McCullen, Amarillo; Lodens Barham, Wellington; Felicia Holgate, Lovington, N. M.

Dancing lessons were a regular part of the University of Virginia curriculum as early as 1830.

Southern California, who spoke at the general session of the Speech Institute, and spoke twice at the general sessions of the educational conference. Other leaders were:

Kenneth Carmen from Pampa High School, conducted the section meeting on drama. Mr. E. E. Bradley, head of the department of speech, Panhandle A. & M., Goodwell, Oklahoma, led the section meeting on public discussion and debate. Dr. Helen Ogg, associate professor of speech at W. T., demonstrated techniques of speech correction. Dr. Geeting conducted the meeting on interpretation, and Miss Dorothy Lee Yearwood, from the Dumas public schools, led the meeting on Auditorium teaching.

Marion Miller Is Student Of the Week

Marion Miller of Claude, who's personality has already given her the student decision as "1940 W. T. Queen," has been selected "Student of the Week."

She was recently crowned at a traditional ceremony by President J. A. Hill, and is one of the first sophomores to hold the honor. She is a member of Pi Omega sorority. Much of extra-curricular activity centers around her major interest—music. She is a member of the Madrigal Club, College Girls' sextet, and the Women's Chorus.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired student is also a member of the Freshman Fellowship club, an organization concerned with orientation for first year students.

She has a hobby, not so different, but she really is interested in it, and she has a collection of costume jewelry to represent her enthusiasm. Her favorite sport is tennis, and incidentally she is a resident of El Pueblo No. 9.

GOING TO ABILENE

The annual sessions of District 7, Texas State Teachers Association, will be attended by Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Jr., Mrs. Laura Saunders, Miss Isabel Robinson, and W. T. Lofland. The convention will be held in Abilene Friday and Saturday.

The distressing problem of two uncertain mothers who claim their babies were mixed up in a maternity hospital. Read how they appealed in vain to science for reassurance, as told in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald-American.

MR. PIM—

(Continued from page 1) Double leads were shared by Nell Stevenson and Ed Line as Diana and Brian, two lovers, who after a bit of financial difficulty won their point.

Loveable Mr. Pim was played by Bob McKenzie who innocently, through his blundering kept the Marden household in a confusion which finally terminated in breaking up a marriage of five years standing, but then again in the reuniting of a happy home and aiding in the betrothal of Diana and Brian.

Lady Marden was played by Elizabeth Wood, and Anne, the maid, by Loramack Hawkins.

Dr. Baxter M. Geeting was director of the production with Mogie Routh, student director, assisting.

Student enrollment at Wake Forest College has increased 75 per cent during the last decade.

New York University has a special course on city government in which the teachers are administrative officials of New York City.
