Lieut. Ray Cox,
Buffalo Athlete,
Killed in Action

Lieut. Ray Cox, '38, former student of West Texas State, has met death in action somewhere in the Pacific.

He was a first pilot on one of the flying fortresses. The place and manner of his death have not been revealed.

Lieut. Cox was graduated by Vernon High School in 1932. He then attended West Texas State two years while his brother Robert Cox, was freshman coach. He played football here two seasons, then enlisted in the Army Air Corps.

He was graduated at Kelly Field in 1939 and assigned to March Field, California, and then to duty at Albuquerque, N. M. Two years ago he was married to Miss Claire Kelly of Riverside, Calif. Last October he was ordered to the Philippines.

Cox was the second Buffalo athlete to meet death in action in the Pacific. Jay Pietzch of Amarillo was killed December 7 in the Japs' sneak raid on Pearl Harbor.

Robert Cox is coach now at Carlsbad, N. M. High School.

Activity Ticket
Holders to Have Reserved Seats

Seats sufficient for all holders of blanket tax tickets will be reserved each week at Burton Gymnasium until 15 minutes before each game, the committee on athletics decided last week.

Students will sit together under this plan.

The decision was made immediately after the game with Texas Tech, at which several hundred persons were turned away.

Dr. Hill Attends
Three Meetings

Dr. J. A. Hill is away on a trip to the Pacific Coast which will take him to conventions of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, the National Education Association, and the Educational Policies Commission. He will serve the latter as a consultant.

The meetings will be held in San Francisco.

Dr. Hill will return about February 26. Mrs. Hill accompanied him.

Shakespeare Is Enjoyed Anew in Comedy Friday

By DOROTHY WARWICK

"Twelfth Night" was enthusiastically received Friday night when the Chekhov Players presented the Shakespearean comedy before a large audience. The company received praise that has seldom been as warmly given on this campus.

"The play was a most excellent production from the standpoint of acting and from the standpoint of mechanical presentation—which was absolutely and completely their own" was the comment by Prof. Wallace R. Clark, chairman of the Lyceum Committee.

Students were enthusiastic over the production and many received an enhanced appreciation of Shakespeare. Typical reactions of the students included: "Sir Andrew Aguecheek was the funniest character I ever saw in my life," and "That is the first time I have ever really enjoyed Shakespeare."

The play was crammed with comedy furnished by Sir Andrew Aguecheek, who stole the play. His delightful little laughter and his expressions made the audience hilarious. It may be of interest to the students to know that the young man who played the part, is in real life a good looking 21-year-old student with the company.

To most persons a fat man is supposed to play a fat man's part. This is not the case of Sir Toby Belch. A tall, thin, rangy fellow, also a student, was the fat man of the comedy.

"She is beautiful" was the comment made about Miss Penelope Marshall, who was Olivia in the play. Malvolio is a rangy young man 22 years old. All were young actors. Of the 26 players, three were students, and the rest were professionals.

Shakespeare in this play presented two main themes. The first involved Olivia and the Duke, which was the subject of love. The second involved the comedians and Malvolio, who was "sick of self-love." The cutting of the scenes and the doubling of others made the original five-act play into a two-act delightful comedy.

The usual stage settings were gracefully changed without drawing the curtains. Gay orange colored draperies were representative of the Court of Orsino and the lighter parts. The light blue denoted love scenes. The background was formed by dark velvet curtains hung on a pipe-constructed stage which was part of the equipment. Dazzling spotlights from their stage centered the players for their roles.

The players are under the supervision of Chekhov in New York and Ridgefield, Conn., where they stay when they are not on tour. The scenery, costumes, and props for the entire repertory were designed and executed by members of the company.

To enter Michael Chekhov's School, one must apply to the New York Studio for an audition. If this is granted, a month's trial follows to qualify the future student for training. Proving himself capable for the roles, the student is sent for a six months intensive training to the Chekhov Theatre Studio in Ridgefield, Conn. From there he is sent on tour and is in training for three years. When a player becomes a professional, he is allowed to tour with the students or to play in the theatre in New York two nights a week.

The Players start their tour early in October and end it in March. This year they are touring the southwestern and midwestern states. When they left here Friday they were going to Oklahoma City, where they would have a three-day vacation before playing at Norman, Tuesday evening. From there they will go to the midwest and on to Connecticut.

Graduate Says
Jobs on Airlines
Are Now Open

Jack Jennings, a graduate who is now chief agent of American Airlines at Knoxville, Tenn., has written that his expected vacation has been canceled.

A shortage of men has resulted, he said in a letter to Mrs. T. V. Reeves, because the military services have called all men who have reserve commissions. About one-fourth of the airlines staff will be affected. Applications are being sought from qualified men who would like to do airlines work.

An agent is an employee qualified to perform any duties assigned to him by the station manager in reservations, ticketing, dispatching, load computation, or any other one phase of station operation. A junior agent should have had a minimum of two years of college work, or previous experience in related airline work. He should be between 20 and 28 years of age, unmarried at the time of employment, and possess personal qualifications suitable for meeting the public. Some married men are being accepted now, however. The same qualifications apply to girls. Junior agents receive not less than $100 a month during the first six months of service. Senior agents receive $140 a month during their first year and salary increases regularly thereafter.

Defense Emblem for College Has Been Originated

This new college defense emblem was suggested by Dr. J. A. Hill and drawn by Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the department of art. It will be printed in several sizes on plain and gummed paper for general use.

"Alison's House" Stage Production
to Present New and Old Faces

Prof. James Butler Plays
First Role in College
Productions March 25-26

Some will make their first appearance, others will make their last, in the cast of Susan Glaspell's 1931 Pulitzer prize winning play, "Alison's House," which will be staged here soon.

New to the W. T. stage is Dorothea Harter, who is cast as Ann, the lovely and intelligent secretary who is almost as dear to her boss, Stanhope, as his own daughter. Miss Harter has a background of experience from Mary-Hardin Baylor where she appeared in "Brief Music" and "Her Alienated Affections."

In his last role is Joe Crisler who portrays a poetic reporter, Richard Knowles. Many will remember Mr. Crisler as the stern, stoical judge of "Night of January 16," as the fast talking, scheming producer of "Room Service," and his performance in "Our Town."

Weatherly Is New

Prof. James Butler gives his first performance as an actor on the West Texas stage. He portrays Stanhope, a dreamy individual who wants to destroy the world in which his sister Alison lived and created.

Red Weatherly is cast as a typical college student, Ted Stanhope, who appears to be the black-sheep of the family, but in reality may become the most successful member of the family. The role of Ted gives a touch of comedy that shatters the reminiscing mood created by other members of the cast. This will be Red's first appearance on the W. T. stage.

Veteran actor of such parts as the uncultured director in "Room Service," and as the confused doctor of "The Late Christopher Bean" is Jack Hessey, who is cast as Eben Stanhope, the unhappy never-dowell son of Stanhope.

Inez Franz, who is remembered for her performances in "The Late Christopher Bean," and "The Cradle Song" is cast as Agatha the failing and slightly demented sister of Alison.

Cast as Elsa, Stanhope's wayward daughter, is Grace Rogers, who last played in "The Cradle Song."

Final Production

Another member of the cast of "The Cradle Song" who is cast in "Alison's House" is Nancy Colley. She is cast as Louise, the cold-hearted, level-headed wife of Eben Stanhope.

Ellen McCall is the wife of the Mississippi hill-billy, Mr. Hodges, who is portrayed by Joe Davidson.

Imogene Roberson plays the part of the emotional maid, Jennie.

Bond Sale Quota
Not Being Filled

With a quota of $243,000 in Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps set for the year 1942, Randall County is running behind in the monthly allotment. On a monthly basis, $20,250 in Savings Bonds and Stamps should be sold. During January the total sales were $18,328.85.

At the present time 75 citizens are members of the Buy-A-Bond-A-Month club. Others wishing to join are asked to see R. H. Wright at the First National Bank. The treasury department is asking all business houses to work out a plan for handling employees sales of stamps and bonds. Under this plan, each employee agrees for the withholding of so much of his salary for the purpose of buying bonds or stamps.

Stamps are on sale at both the college and public schools and at a dozen or more business houses. Savings bonds and stamps may be purchased at the post office and the bank.

Mr. Wright urges that every citizen of Randall County do his best in seeing that the allotment for the county be met in order to carry on the defense work of the nation.

Hud Prichard Is
Prairie Editor

Nominated by the Student Senate to serve as editor of The Prairie for the remainder of the second semester is Hud Prichard. He was appointed by Dr. J. A. Hill Saturday before he left for California.

Other applicants were Mildred Merchant, and Betty Gose. Prichard is replacing Delbert McGuire, first semester editor who is attending a defense school in Amarillo.

The new executive has been sports editor during this year. Besides being photographer for Le Mirage, he is working for the Amarillo News-Globe and the Associated Press. He is a member of Tri Tau fraternity and Type-High, college press club. Classified as a sophomore, he is majoring in government, with a minor in journalism.

Bruce Cleland, '35, has resigned his position in the Amarillo Public Schools to enter the United States Navy.

College Host To Business Group
Saturday

More than 50 businessmen, teachers, and students were guests of the College Department of Business Administration Saturday when the West Texas Division of the National Education Association, Department of Business Administration gathered here for an all-day meeting.

The local organization was started last year with Dr. J. O. Ellsworth of Texas Technological College in Lubbock as president; Miss Virginia King of Spearman, vice-president; and Mrs. Mabel Sides of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer. Two people credited with early work in organization, according to Dr. Lee Johnson, who served as toastmaster at the evening banquet, were Mrs. Agatha Shaw of Amarillo Junior College and Miss Icie Johnson of Amarillo High School.

At the regular college assembly hour Saturday morning, R. L. Rahbar, sales correspondent and supervisor for the Southwestern Publishing Co. of Cincinnati, spoke to the assembled group on "Bringing the Office into the Class Room" and "Getting Results in Teaching Bookkeeping."

Prof. Robert J. Hibbitts introduced the speaker, one whose introductory remarks were "The National defense program has made available real jobs." Mr. Rahbar cautioned the audience about specializing too much in any line because when the recession period after the war comes, those people will be looking for jobs.

The army needs office men, he said, and added that girls, even poorly trained ones, could obtain jobs. He reported that in his experience he had found that employees want secretaries, stenographers, and office workers between the ages of 20 and 30 years.

"It is up to all of us to carry on the work previously begun by men now in defense activity," he concluded.

Mr. Rahbar spoke in the afternoon to high school business teachers and college students.

At the evening banquet in Cousins Hall, L. W. Land of the B. & O. Railroad spoke on "The Railroads and National Defense," explaining how the railroads had profited by their experiences in the last war and would now be able to care for its transportation problems.

Now, through thirteen regional advisory boards, the railroads have learned to predict the number of cars to be loaded in all areas and virtually to name the commodities, he reported. Statistically, the error in these predictions is less than one per cent.

Ruth Reeve, '41, visited on the campus Saturday. She teaches English and speech at Darrouzett.

Students Will Attend Party

Dahlia Society Completes
Program for Oldtime
Stunts on Saturday

"Ye olde dayes" will return Saturday evening, February 21, when a dance and stunt program is sponsored by the Southwestern Dahlia Society to raise funds for the trial grounds on the W. T. campus.

Students are being invited to join town folk in the fun. Coach Leslie Van Meter, he of the big words and abundant wit, will be master of ceremonies.

There will be dancing in the gymnasium of the Education Building from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m., a stunt program in the auditorium of that building from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m., and more dancing from 10:30 to 1 o'clock. Late permission will be given college co-eds.

As announced by Mrs. Mitchell Jones, the stunt program will include a family album skit by the Sue Hite Club, a melodrama by the Speech department, a solo by Mrs. L. F. Sheffy, a recitation by Bill Smith, a reading by Miss Novella Goodman, and a barber shop quartet by four Rotarians, Wesley Kleinschmidt, Guy Harp, Clyde W. Warwick, and Dr. D. A. Shirley.

At the dance, Mr. and Mrs. Art Quarry of Amarillo will demonstrate a new Victory Dance they have originated.

Refreshments will be sold by girls of the college department of physical education for women.

Tickets will be sold for 25 cents each by members of the Amarillo and Canyon Garden clubs. Costumes may be worn to the oldtime program and dance if desired.

DR. ESTILL DIES

Dr. Hill Gives
Tribute to Former College President

"Sunset and Evening Star"

With the passing last Thursday of Dr. Harry Fishburn Estill, president emeritus of Sam Houston State Teachers College, Texas and the nation lost one of its noblest leaders. Dr. Estill's association with the college at Huntsville covered a period of sixty years, having begun as a student when he was a mere boy and when the institution was in its first year. For twenty-six years he was professor of Latin and History in his alma mater, for twenty-nine years president, and for four and a half years president emeritus and professor of history. Dr. Estill was at one time president of the Texas State Teachers Association, was a Fellow in the Texas Historical Society, was author of several histories and magazine articles, and was actively identified with many social, educational, and religious organizations.

One cannot think of Harry Estill without thinking of his lofty intellectual and moral code and his un-failing devotion to the highest ideals of christian conduct. In the many years of happy association with him in the public service I have never heard any man question his motive or cast even the shadow of reproach upon his character. Free from selfishness and self-seeking, always thoughtful of those about him and of the interests of the state he served, beautiful in his loyalty to all Christian ideals, Dr. Estill was, indeed, one of God's noblemen and one of our country's truly great citizens. His rich personality will live long in the grateful hearts of thousands of people whose good fortune it was to know him. Happily, I count myself one of these, and in the last few years of Harry Estill's life I have dreamed and prayed that the sunset for me might have some small degree of the purity and beauty and glory that so pre-eminently characterized his passing. May God multiply his kind.

A Trip To Texas Tech

The Tall Team has put West Texas State on the map. Isn't this important enough to warrant a special to Tech? We've had specials to football games—why not basketball?

W. T. Students had the thrill of their lives Thursday night when they witnessed the basketball game between the Buffaloes and the Red Raiders from Tech. It was an experience they will not soon forget. But why shouldn't they be privileged to see another such exhibition? The Buffs and Raiders will clash again—this time in Tech gym on March 2. Why shouldn't W. T. run a special caravan of busses to Lubbock?

Questioning of Tech students who came up for the game Thursday night brought out the fact that the cost of the round trip bus ticket and the price of admission to the game totaled only $2.20. A cross section survey on the campus revealed that at least 150 of the approximate 780 students enrolled in school would buy tickets at this price, or for as much as $3.00 if it proved impossible to get a lower price.

It is up to the Student Senate to answer the cry of the students. It is up to them to ask Tech for the same accommodations we gave them and to make arrangements for the busses.

O. K. Senators, let's go!—C. B.

Usable Knowledge Needed Now

There is no substitute for real learning. College credits help very little when a man takes a mathematics or vocabulary test in an Army examination. Word studies in freshman English classes are helpful, but no student possesses a word until he can it and understand it. Usable knowledge of mathematics may be a matter of life or death in the Army or Navy operations.

Information abounds in college, but learning is a habit of mind rather than a matter of class attendance. The Army has complained that men are presenting college credits which do not represent real knowledge. This complaint is made of men from colleges of all types and sizes.

Physical examinations of drafted men show that the college man is soft, under-developed, and in need of repairs. Morally and mentally, he is not soft. He makes a good soldier, in time. Mental examinations reflect the widespread observation that college students lack the zest for learning which characterized many great men of American history. The modern student is a graceful being, socially, and he has a wide piece-meal information pattern, but his exact, usable knowledge at graduation is much too small.

Dictator nations preparing for war have adopted a "hard" and specialized educational policy to make sure that their young men do not lack skill in mathematics, sciences, languages, and mechanics. And it is quite evident that a "soft" educational program, dominated largely by student wishes, cannot save this nation. America is at war. Education is on a war footing. Students must prepare for service regardless of the difficulties involved. And, forewarned, the students will do just that. The softness of the campuses has been typical of the nation, born of complacency, but a temporary thing which now is of the past.

On Freedom To Learn

"Academic freedom should mean the freedom of the student to learn rather than of the professor to profess," said a prominent educator. The definition is sound; it suggests the ideal relationship that should exist between the teacher and the pupil and no other relationship could exist in a democratic public school. This was pointed out by the editor of the Good Housekeeping magazine.

The discussion of facts and theories should not be suppressed; for nothing can be gained by refusing to consider things as they are or may be. The Wright brothers were called crazy, but even now a war is being fought in the skies. Harvey was laughed at, but the blood does circulate. Education, must study all sides of a question and any dogmatism on the part of the teacher, except as to agreed-upon facts, should and must be frowned upon. However, the teacher has a right to say what she pleases about God and government, provided she says, "I think," and not "I know." This and this only is possible in a democratic public education.

The future of America rests in the hands of the teachers and the majority are convinced that democracy is the best form of government. In the hands of the teachers lies the privilege and responsibility of keeping vital the principles of American democracy guaranteed to us by constitutional decree; however, there is occasionally the teacher who forgets her obligations to man and state and teaches subversive doctrines.

Those teachers (and future teachers) who will not accept this responsibility have no place in the American school system. We want only teachers who believe President Roosevelt spoke the truth when he said, "If the fires of freedom and civil liberties burn low in other lands, then they must be made brighter in our own."

Even though our nation is in a desperate war, our soldiers on land and in air, our sailors at sea giving their lives to protect these rights, at home "they must be made brighter." This responsibility rests at large with the teachers.—J. C.

Today's . . . . OVERTONES

. . . . Elucidate

By Joe Crisler

"Words are things . . ."—Byron.

"Here's to the fellow who smiles today
And who smiles tomorrow, too,
No matter whether he's feeling gay
Or whether he's feeling blue.
The smiles we see in the sunshine
Don't always last as long
As the smile that smiles upon us
When ev'ry thing seems to go wrong."

And here's to the fellow that smiles after he looked at his grade-book, especially when it looked like the lower half of the alphabet.

A TOAST

Here's to the semester that just ended. We think back to September and recall the good resolutions that we made. We recall the many new faces. The new faces became more familiar as we gradually forgot the good resolutions. The new faces became our friends and we forgot the good resolutions. The last semester ended the college career of many of our friends. Many of the familiar faces are gone but new ones appear to take their place. To those that are gone, we bid a fond farewell and a hearty WELCOME to the new ones. Here's to the new semester. May it be better than the last one.

"The Ladies of St. James,
They're painted to the eyes;
Their white it stays forever,
Their red it never dies.

—A. Dodson.

Shakespeare said: "God gave you one face and you make yourself another." In 24 B. C., Sextus Propertius said: "The face is better as nature made it; foul shows the Belgian rouge on Roman cheeks." History and literature record innumerable similar male complaints.

You would think after 2,000 years of squawking about too much feminine face make-up, with no results, the men would give it up. Our Horses and Women department is not opposed to make-up, but believes in an art few women really master. Hence the many poor paint jobs we see on female faces. We really haven't the nerve to name a few co-eds who cover their faces with enough rouge to paint a barn.

We could make a million, if we could do something about the permanency in make-up so our feminine companions will not be grabbing at that make-up kit at the Buff, Bob's and other public places.

Some one asked why we opened our column with a poem. . . . The reason is there is always a poem to fit every occasion and also it is much easier to quote a verse, than to rack your brain in search for a lead.

OLD FACES SEEN ANEW

Back from Mary-Hardin Baylor, Dorothea Harter, seen again in the company of Hud Prichard. Wyndall La Cass, "I don't know if I am a freshman, or a sophomore." A lady talking to a prof., "Remember me? I went to school here in '36 and I'm back again."

SO LONG!

Delbert McGuire; it was a bit of fun working under your direction, as editor of The Prairie.

Your successor will be the fourth editor we have worked under. There was Bill Cone, we called him the "Chief." There was Dan Hemphill, who was called "Editor." You got your start under Hemphill. But you, old man, never did fall under a nom-de-plume, you were always Delbert. You were that kind of a fellow, sincere, friendly and co-operative. And just Delbert, who we termed a "good egg."

If you become one of Uncle Sam's nephews, the best of luck. But anyway, the best of luck. We enjoyed your regime.

MY OLD MAN ALPHONSO SAYS:

You should see Janie Beth Hibbits play tennis. . . . Ditto for Dr. Freed. . . . Eldon Huffaker is now in the navy. . . . That freshman Tubbs, who lives in Pueblo No. 9, thought he was entering Pueblo No. 3, but it was No. 4, and only after had he entered and searched the place did he discover that it was a girls' boarding house. . . . Wilbur Fitzgerald's new skeet at the Buff, new phone number is 510. . . . Ray Brack, ex-student, now at Colorado Mines, "pin-on-your-sweater" pin was returned to him by Beth McCaslin.

ACROSS THE BALL ROOM:

Betty Gose and James Swift. . . . Bobby LaFon and Stuart Condron. . . . Bill McWest and wife, the former Elouise Tout. . . . Cecil Ivester and Helen Studer. . . . Mabel Back and date, we failed to catch his name. . . . Maurice Wingo, new student. . . . Henry Baker. . . . Andy

The Museum and You

By BETTY GOSE

Persons who think of Canyon usually think of the tall basketball team and the Panhandle-Plains Museum. Yet how many students, who have constant access to this museum, make use of it. Perhaps they have dropped in once or twice with the boy or girl friend, but without any objective view in mind. The chances are these student visitors would not be able to describe a single article they had seen because their unlearned attention hurried from fossils to furniture and photographs in such rapid order that the ability to remember was impaired.

Approximately 300,000 persons register in nine Texas museums every year. Of this number, 42,000 visit the Panhandle-Plains Museum at Canyon. Besides casual visitors many groups of school children and convention delegates pass through the doors annually. There are three types of persons who attend, according to Boone McClure, assistant curator. These are those who merely wish to look around, those who come to see a particular article, and those who come to "court." The first type gets very little information, while the second sees only what he already had in mind.

Visitors Need a Plan

There can be a definite procedure in going through the museum at West Texas State. Although an addition is under construction at present, the main exhibits are on display. When the project is completed there will be a small auditorium for projecting photographs and for lectures. The top floor will have a library and art gallery. More space for exhibit cases will be provided. A better arrangement of the cases is anticipated.

The best way to get the most out of a tour through the Panhandle-Plains Museum is to take it slowly. Don't try to see everything at once. If you have only an hour, go as far as you can in that hour and return later for the rest. As a general rule the cases are placed so the visitor can view the exhibits chronologically. This gives a pictorial insight of history as it plodded through the ages.

It has been suggested by several students that we have class proms. Other colleges do it and it has become a tradition and a high-light of the social season on many campuses. Why not here? We think that the senior class should lead the way. What about this, Garland Turner?

Sale of Defense Stamps Is High

The sale of defense stamps reached new heights in one week as a total of $288.50 was sold by the "Dimes for Democracy" committee. This brought the total stamps sales to $1,020.20.

The sudden rush of sales was attributed to first-of-the-month purchases by many persons who have pledged themselves to a certain amount each month.

Border Conference Lead Is Stretched by Buffaloes

Hardin-Simmons Goat for Record

High Conference Score Made in Buffs 108-45 Victory

Freshman scorekeepers reconstructed their scoreboard Saturday night to accommodate Price Brookfield and his All-American teammates as they swamped the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys 108 to 45 to win their ninth consecutive Border Conference battle without a defeat.

Slow to start, the scoring nevertheless reached the tremendous height, which is the highest scored in a Border Conference game. Jack Maddox scored after two minutes, Price Brookfield made the one-hundredth point, and Ledru Jacobs scored the 108th. See the box for the wonderful job turned in by the rest of the team offensively.

Leading 15 to 9 after the first seven minutes, the Buffaloes started unwinding and had the scoreboard registering 27 to 13 by half time of the first period, or scoring four points for each three minutes.

With the starters not putting on enough pressure to make a very interesting game, Coach Baggett started substituting with six minutes of the first half remaining with the score 37 to 19. Clark ("Deacon") Johnson brought cheers aplenty as he bounced around to make two field goals in the twentieth minute of the game.

Brookfield divided his scoring with the clock making fourteen points each half. The half-time score was 55-22.

Even Steele, the Cowboy's ace forward who scored 21 points, could not make their case look very promising as the visitors resorted to court-length heaves and other wild passes. Both teams were unusually wild with their passing attacks.

Coach Al Baggett's valuable substitutes are seeing more and more service, and fellows like Douglas Groom, Ledru Jacobs, Chatty Johnson, Deacon Johnson, Norman Trimble and Paul House, who saw service Saturday could be playing on the first team of any coach's roster, as has been displayed by their supremacy in conference games.

The New York Sunday News had a special staff-written story on Al Baggett. Bill Matthias said: "When West Texas State hired Al Baggett as basketball coach eight years ago, the little college in the Panhandle took a great step toward national prominence. A mere dot in the largest state in the country, the tiny college has gained recognition through the efforts of Baggett, who has built up the basketball team into one of the finest in the land."

Three Games On Week's Schedule

Three Border Conference outfits which had no luck in previous meetings with the Tall Texans of West Texas State will have another chance this week.

Arizona State of Flagstaff will head the invasion Tuesday evening. Arizona State of Tempe, third place holder and next to Texas Tech the most formidable quintet in the circuit, will play here Thursday. And on Friday Arizona University, potentially a strong club, will make the round.

Only four games will remain on the Buffs' conference schedule when this series ends, and all of them will be on road trips. The final will be against Texas Tech in Lubbock on March 2. The Buffs hope to be conference champions before that contest.

Every conference opponent is opening up with everything in an effort to mar the locals' perfect record. How far the Cowboys of Hardin-Simmons missed this goal is indicated by the 108-45 score by which they were beaten. All American Price Brookfield made 28 points, but an impressive feature of the game was the strength of the Buffalo reserves.

Texas Tech Falls After Early Rally

Record Crowd Fills Burton Gym as Hundreds Are Turned Away

Fans stood on the roof looking in at windows and hundreds of Panhandle sports lovers were turned away when even the "Standing Room Only" rule was voided Thursday night in Burton Gymnasium as the Buffaloes faltered then regained their usual form to overtake and smother Texas Tech, 63 to 39.

The Red Raiders' speedy and rough floor game somewhat slowed the Buffaloes in the first half as the visitors led 26 to 23 when the first gun sounded. The fans, many of whom were standing at ends of the court, burst out wildly time and again as Charlie Halbert tipped the Raiders' shots away from the basket.

In the first 10 minutes the lead changed five times after Bill Stockman made the first goal on a fast break. The score advanced gradually for each team until Tech gained the lead for the first time at 8-6.

Came the second half! Tech scored first but after five minutes the Buffaloes had gained a lead which they never relinquished. With the score 37 to 32 and twelve minutes left to be played, Frank Stockman started a rampage of goals in which the Buffs scored six points while the red hand of the time clock was making one revolution.

Price Brookfield ran circles around double sets of guards put on him by Coach Berl Huffman to score 21 points. He was closely followed by Gilbreath and Erwin of Tech, who scored eighteen and seventeen points, respectively.

Coach Baggett's reserves finished the last few minutes of the game.

TRAILIN' the Herd

By HUD PRICHARD

Gus Miller, newly-elected assistant football coach, got a preview of how West Texas State is doing things in the athletic line Thursday night when he witnessed the Buffalo-Red Raider tussle.

REMINISCING AROUND

Two men on the faculty I talked to were all praise for William Augustus (Gus) Miller.

Mitchell Jones, associate Dean of Men, played football with him in 1919. "He played halfback during my first year and was a whale of a good one," Dean Jones said. Mr. Jones played guard on the same team.

During Miller's first year here, Mr. Jones remembered, W. T. didn't have much of a football team. The best football was displayed by the Student Army Training Corps then.

Registrar D. A. Shirley reports that Miller's record in College was outstanding. Miller went to Slaton for his first coaching position. From there he traveled to Trinidad, Colo., where he accomplished an outstanding record. "He has been a thorn in the flesh of all those colleges down there ever since," said Shirley about Miller's career at T. W. C.

Thursday night's game with Tech was the thirtieth victory for the Buffaloes over the Red Raiders since they opened athletic relations in 1926-27. Only six defeats have been suffered at their hands. Athletic relations were cut in 1934-35.

Dick Dunkel has yet to awaken in the sports world. He rates the Buffaloes as No. 1 team in the South and Southwest, but third in the nation, behind Colorado and Illinois. In the South and Southwest, Rice is second, Arkansas, seventh, Texas, tenth, and A. & M. sixteenth.

Leading the 20 top midwestern quints are Illinois and Wisconsin; Mountain and Pacific—Colorado, Washington, and Oregon; Eastern—Long Island U. and Syracuse.

The Buffaloes' high scoring record in the East had an abbreviated life. Rhode Island swamped New Hampshire 127 to 50.

QUEER QUIRKS

Unique isn't the word for some of the happenings concerned with last week's two games.

Former Buffalo Athlete Chosen

Coach Gus Miller Will Assist Van Meter—All Oldtime Exes Like Him

Gus Miller, former student in West Texas State College, was named assistant football coach, freshman basketball coach and instructor of physical education here Thursday night following the Texas Tech basketball game. Miller, now the Texas Wesleyan head coach, will act as assistant grid mentor to head coach Leslie Van Meter.

Miller will move to the West Texas State campus April 1 in time for the start of spring football practice, which extends from April 15 to May 15. The new coach received his bachelors degree here in 1924, and his M. A. at Texas Tech in 1937.

Miller had his local athletic afterward and told Coach Baggett, "That was a d— good game—so good in fact I'm going to pay for it." It was pretty cold up there, too. . . . Another one got in the back door without paying. He came around later to cough up the half buck voluntarily.

Hardin-Simmons displayed two Wrong-Way Corrigan versions. Osborn, forward, and Prescott, sub-guard, had their knees bent at a hundred-degree angle in preparation for sitting down with the Buffs during a time out when a burst of laughter "brought them around."

PUTT POWELL

"Wish I got paid by the point," remarked the Amarillo News-Globe reporter about covering the West Texas games.

career in 1918 to 1920 when he gained a prominent reputation for his prowess on the gridiron and baseball diamond. He coached four years at Slaton and then spent 10 years as head of athletics at Trinidad, Colo. High School.

During the last five years, he has been head coach at Texas Wesleyan College, Ft. Worth, where his football teams have won three-fourths of all games played. His basketball teams put together the startling record of 36 conference victories and lost only 18 games in 120 starts.

Miller, who has a large following of old-time West Texas fans, is 41 years old, and is married. He has a son 9 years old, and a daughter 13 years old.

The appointment of Miller completes the re-building of the Buffalo athletic staff following the resignation of Coach Jack Curtice. Curtice is athletic director at Texas Mines in Al Paso.

While playing football here, Miller was known as a hard-hitting, wiry halfback and a scrapper. His teams have exemplified this spirit. Playing halfback beside him at the time was L. L. Sone, now superintendent at Pampa. Everett Key was fullback and Bugs Battenfield the quarterback.

Camp Pi Omega Takes Draftees At Fort Rogers

By Jo Word

To the tune of "You're in the Army Now," five troop trains of "draftees" headed for Camp Pi Omega at Fort Rogers yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock War time. After presenting pass cards to Secretary Beth McCaslin mounted on a shetland pony of rather small stature, the trains moved on through the gate to the camp where they were met by General Jo Word, Colonel Dorothy Jane Day, Captain Grace Rogers, Sergeant Marion Miller, Corporal Charlotte Word, and Brigadier-General Meyer, (Mrs. A. M.).

The bugle was blown and the following draftees were marched in for physical and mental inspection administered by "Doc" Jouette and Nurse Ely: Helen Studer, Thelma Franz, Inez Franz, Amelia Ann Wofford, Betty Gray, Lella Peterson, Frances Shafer, Willene Jennings, Dorothy Dixon, and Marion Littlefield.

Having passed the examination with flying colors, they were assigned positions at various posts, according to their qualifications.

At the sound of a second bugle, the general trend was in the direction of the mess hall. There the draftees were served army beans, cole slaw, brown bread sandwiches, pickles, fried pies, and coffee. The announcement was made of the U. S. O. Dance to be given at the recreation hall.

Later the draftees drifted into the hall to be cordially received by Hostess Ruth Cole. Dancing, entertainment by Captain Rogers and Private Virginia Vaughan and various stunts followed. Finally the weary "soldiers" sank in a semi-circle around the fireplace and sang old favorite songs. The evening drew to a close as the Pi Omega song was sung and taps sounded the final note.

Lois Allen and Ernest Maupin of Gruver Are Wed

Miss Lois Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Allen, and Mr. Ernest Maupin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Maupin of Gruver, were married recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Jones of Gulf Dial Camp. The Rev. L. A. Sartain of the First Baptist Church of Stinnett performed the single ring ceremony.

Miss Stella Fern Martin, teacher in the Plemons school, was maid of honor. Moody Jones served as best man.

The bride wore a dusty rose suit with navy accessories and a corsage of roses and sweet peas. Other accessories were a gold locket given by her husband and a bracelet belonging to her roommate. Miss Martin wore a tan and beige suit with a corsage of carnations.

Mrs. Maupin attended Hermligh High School and was graduated from West Texas State College. She taught in Scurry county and at the time of her marriage was teaching in Plemons. Miss Martin is also a W. T. ex-student.

The couple is at home in the Keith Apartments in Borger.

Mesquite Girls Elect President

Miss Kathleen Dixon is the new president of Mesquite Lodge. Miss Dixon, a home economics major, is a junior from Booker. Other officers elected were: Lavenia Davis, vice-president, a freshman from Spartenberg; Myrtle Frances Jones, secretary-treasurer, a senior from Hart, and Vivian Rook, reporter, a junior from Plainview. Mrs. W. L. Potter is the hostess.

Camp Pi Omega Takes Draftees At Fort Rogers

"Come on and join Camp Pi Omega, if you like outdoor life!" That's the invitation extended to all college girls on the campus of W. T. The time is 6:45 on Wednesday, the purpose is recreation, the place is the Department of Physical Education for Women.

During last semester, short hikes and singing composed the general program, concluded with the most important event of the year, the annual Christmas banquet. The theme was a Mexican fiesta with songs, folk dancing, and pinata all planned by the club members.

The girls are looking forward to the time when their cottage will be located on a plot behind the college farm this semester. This will make possible overnight trips and outdoor cooking. Wood carving will enable them to furnish the house. They also plan to have guest speakers on travel and nature study.

Childress Soph Has Ambitions—and Bad Luck!

Meet Mary Kate Baker!

Mary Kate, pretty sophomore student from Childress, is preparing for a career in business—the business of making a home for a certain blond with "kind" blue eyes, or the business of pounding a typewriter eight hours a day, or better still, the business of doing both.

Ambitious designs, you'll say. But then, that is Mary Kate. She believes that people who are friendly, cooperative, and concerned with the problems of those with whom they associate will succeed.

She likes chocolate pie and fried chicken, swimming and skating, and young people. She dislikes eggs, dancing, and people who are cranks and conceits. There are other things that Mary Kate likes—but, too well! Things like Connelly Lockhart, chewing gum, going to the Buff, going to picture shows, and going home every week-end.

When asked if she had a hobby, Mary Kate replied, "I try to answer all my girl friends' letters soon after I get them, which amounts to about the same as a hobby with me."

Mary Kate's brown eyes filled with merriment when she spoke of the time she stepped on the hem of her skirt and fell down the stairs at Randall, just before her first formal dinner.

"It was my most embarrassing moment," she said, "but I was almost as embarrassed the time my roommate caught me trying to squeeze into her skirt. I have the awfulest luck with my roommates. They are always too large or too small."

Newlin-Vineyard Vows Solemnized

In a twilight ceremony Monday evening at the Beech Street Baptist church in Texarkana, Ark., Miss Anna Lee Newlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Maxwell of Canyon, and George Henry Vineyard were united in marriage. Dr. John Webb, pastor, officiated.

Miss Dorothy Anderson and Joe Byrd of Canyon served as attendants.

Immediately following the ceremony was a reception given in the home of Mrs. C. E. Rose for the immediate bridal party.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Vineyard are graduates of Canyon high school. The bride attended West Texas State College last semester, and is now doing correspondence work.

The couple is at home at 1223 Linden St., Texarkana, where he is employed as a welder in defense work.

Alma Hall, '30, is a member of the Executive Committee of the State Teachers Association representing District 9.

Faye Shafer, '41, who teaches near Shamrock, and Veatrice Roberts, '38, who teaches at Amarillo, were on the campus Saturday.

Marriage of Jean Slack, and Warren Lockhart Revealed

The announcement was made recently that Miss Jean Slack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Slack, Sr. of Canyon, became the bride of Warren L. Lockhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Lockhart of Big Spring, at the Methodist parsonage in Panhandle, Nov. 29, with the pastor Rev. J. E. Boyd, reading the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Slack, Jr., of Perryton, brother of the bride, were in attendance.

The bride finished Canyon High School in '37 and W. T. S. C. at Canyon in '41, receiving a B. S. degree in Vocational Home Economics at that time. She is teaching Home Economics in Happy High School this year.

The groom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and has been attending W. T. S. C. and playing football in Canyon since '38, where he would have received his degree in the spring. He entered military training in aviation at Kelly Field, San Antonio, and is classed as a flying cadet.

Home Economics Classes Improve Class Rooms

Miss Margaret Barrett, head of the Home Economics department addressed the High School Home Economics Teachers area meeting in Amarillo Feb. 7. The subject of her discussion was "What's New in Vitamin Research" and its practical application to meet the present emergency in the nutritional field. She reports that many former graduates of W. T. were present.

Four girls completed work for their degrees this semester, and two graduates students complied with the requirements for a Smith-Hughes certificate. Graduate students were Audrey Bray of Sunray, and Margaret Hellums of Rotan. Others graduating were: Joyce Thomas, Lockney; Birdene Brunson, Hereford; Gloria Soto, and Beatriz Martinez, both from Puerto Rico.

Students who have classes in Room 317 of the Administration Building agree that the appearance has been greatly changed—and much for the better. If you've ever had a lecture in that room you will remember how all the plaster was chipped off the southwest corner, the dirty window shades, and the dusty picture glasses and frames.

The Home Economics 211 class, under direction of Miss Elizabeth Cox, primarily interested in interior decoration, donated slacks and commenced their job of re-decorating the room.

Co-ed SPORTS

Girls To Dance Saturday

That college is no longer a group of buildings on a specified plot of ground will be illustrated by the Women's Physical Education Department next Saturday morning during the assembly hour. The horizons of the present day college are infinitely wider than those of the past, and the various dances that the girls will give will illustrate how college life bears on the army and navy life that is stressed so much today.

There also will be folk dances that "our boys in khaki or blue" may indulge in to get their minds off their divers troubles, but since our boys are accustomed to perhaps not quicker but at least a different kind of footwork and rhythm, the dances will be varied somewhat from the original.

This day in college will be related to the assembly hour as the full day is related to the week.

First Aid

Bandages everywhere except on the sore spot; it's amazing! The class in first aid that meets every Tuesday night is finding out that bandaging isn't always so simple as it may look when the doctor is doing it, and that it may take more than a nit-wit to do that!

But townspeople and students are having a lot of fun trying, and while we may want the little yellow men to wait a while before they come over, soon we will have some good first aiders that will keep the situation well in hand. But right now, some unusual bandaging techniques are being effected. One person cut off the bleeding from the right shoulder and then felt of the left pulse.

Would you like to be under the care of this class right now? Probably not, but just give 'em time! They have to learn, and if you think that it shouldn't take any time to learn to do anything so idiotically simple, why don't you try?
