The response was given by Miss Hettie M. Anthony of Maryville, Missouri, national president. Mary Ellen Morgan of Amarillo, president of Zeta Chapter, introduced the delegates.

A feature of the afternoon was the play, "Rich Man, Poor Man," presented by the Dramatics club under the auspices of the Home Economics club. Those who composed the cast were: Addeline McDonald, William Hawkins, Horace Hickox, Maize Patton, Ethel Rowland, Ernestine Walker, Fern Landers, Jerry Kerbow, Theresa Oglesby, Arlin Hartzog, and Lella Cooper.

An Appreciation

The passing of President R. L. Marquis of Denton Teachers College is a distinct shock to his many friends on our campus. The West Texas State Teachers College cherishes many fond memories of him and his fruitful eight years here. As a classroom teacher he had few peers; as a member of the faculty group none was more respected and loved; as a student of science he was keen and fearless; as a citizen of the community he was active and constructive; and as a friend and maker of friends there are few in his class. He was intelligently alive to everything about him; and his scholarly interest in his field of instruction and in every worth while thing about our campus left a permanent and wholesome imprint upon the institution and its service area. Measured in terms of years his life was not long, but in terms of value and quality it reached far beyond that of most of us. Because of my intimate association with him over a period of a quarter of a century, I feel a deep and irreparable personal loss; but I am grateful for his life and for what it has meant and will forever mean to me.

Recreation Trips Sched-

Students

President J. A. Hill and his staff are busy preparing for the greatest summer session that has ever been held in Northwest Texas. With the many changes which are taking place in public school practice and requirements, a challenge has been issued and the West Texas State Teachers College is meeting it squarely by offering the summer clientele the strongest combination of class work and recreation that could be assembled for the twelve weeks.

To meet the demand that teachers know how the Texas curriculum has developed and the probable steps in its growth, Dr. Alonzo F. Myers of New York University will be brought to the campus June 26, and Dr. Fred C. Ayer of the University of Texas, will come for three days beginning July 26.

In addition to these, several curriculum courses, given by the regular college staff, but revised to meet the situation of 1934, will be offered each of the two summer terms.

At least three ex-students of W. T. are running for office of county superintendent in Hall County.

They are L. D. Rees, '33, J. M. Parsons, last in college in the summer of 1933, and H. P. Gipson.

The present superintendent, Mrs. Roy Guthrie, is also a West Texas ex-student. She is not a candidate for re-election. The superintendent whom she succeeded, Theodore Swift, was also an ex-student, having been enrolled in 1911-12.

In Gray County, two ex-students, John B. Hessey, the present incumbent, and Wayland Wethered, '33, are seeking the office of county superintendent.

Joe Bob Golden, '33, superintendent of the Valley View School, has for his opponent in the Wilbarger county superintendent's race, J. A. Hood, also an ex-student.

Mrs. A. M. Meyer has been called to the home of her parents by the serious illness of her mother.

Pick of Students

Yearbook Before
All Are Gone

Students who have been keeping up with the progress of 1934 Le Mirage will be interested to know that all work on the yearbook as far as the staff is concerned has been completed, and the books are expected about the first week in May, announces Martha Nell Lang, editor. This early date has been made possible by the concerted efforts of the staff to get the annual into the hands of the students in time for the books to be photographed. There will be more time, likewise, to gather up the required number of nickels for a purchase.

Two Hundred Sold

The business managers, G. L. Stanley and Glenn Reeve, state that half the books ordered have already been sold—two hundred, to be exact—which means that there will be only two hundred for the remaining five hundred or more students. Because of the new scheme for financing 1934 Le Mirage—that is, having more than half of every book paid for by the college—no one can afford to miss this opportunity. Since this appears to be the prevailing opinion throughout the student body, an unprecedented rush for annuals is expected, and those who really want a copy are advised to be ready to grab one as soon as they arrive.

Miss Lang reports that the modernistic art work in black and silver done by Nina Mae Drew has reproduced so beautifully as to more than justify the extra cost. The feature section, 24 pages long, has established a record by representing more than 300 students. And—oh, but you've already heard about the Grind!

Don't forget to get your Le Mirage NOW!

Included in the athletic events, besides the tennis matches, are: 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard dash, 1 mile run, 1 mile relay, shot put, javelin throw, discus throw, broad jump, pole vault, high jump, and rural pentathlon.

For the literary events will come winners from the four districts in debate, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, essay writing, music memory, art, one-act plays, and shorthand and typewriting.

Season tickets will be sold for twenty-five cents; admission to the finals in declamation and extemporaneous speech will be ten cents; admission to the finals of the girls' and boys' debates will be ten cents; and admission to the track and field meet will be twenty-five cents.

Unusual interest was manifested in the declamation contest of the Rural School Invitation meet held at W. T. Saturday, April 14. Representatives came from the following schools: Cliffside, Allison, Dawn, Burch, Brady, Lakeside, and the Demonstration School.

In the sub-junior group medals were awarded to Lurine Roddy of Brady and Bobby Lee of Cliffside. Juniors receiving medals were Cleo Bourland and Doyle Neff of the Demonstration School. Alma Miller of Dawn received the senior girls' medal. There were no participants in the boys' group.

The seventh grade of the Demonstration School is justly proud of their representatives. This is the third year that Cleo has won first place in the declamation contest. Doyle Neff has been with this group only one year.

Editors

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in its annual meeting Friday chose the same officers to serve for the coming year that had served during the past.

H. E. Hoover of Canadian is president, W. H. Patrick of Clarendon and Dr. J. A. Hill of Canyon are vice-presidents, L. F. Sheffy of Canyon is secretary, and W. L. Vaughan of Canyon is treasurer.

Owe No Debt

Reports for the past year disclosed that the society had received $921.16 and had spent $885.98. The balance on hand, $35.18, was a delight to the members who on their last annual meeting learned that the society had 34 cents in the bank.

R. C. Crane, of Sweetwater, president of the West Texas Historical Society, was the principal speaker of the afternoon session. His address dealt with serious and humorous incidents connected with the organization of West Texas counties.

News Men Featured

Newspaper men were featured on the banquet program, Herbert Hilburn, editor of the Plainview Herald, being toastmaster, and Ray H. Nichols, editor of the Vernon Record, principal speaker. Others appearing on the banquet program were H. E. Hoover, J. M. Russell of Amarillo, and Judge L. Gough of Amarillo. Mexican music by Senorita Maria Flores and Senor Jose Ramos was a feature of the banquet.

More than 200 people who attended the meeting were surprised to hear from Floyd V. Studer that the museum contains the largest collection of meteorites in Texas and that the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society is known all over the United States for the excellence of its work in the fields of archaeology and paleontology.

Museum Is Famous

Mr. Studer, who is curator of these two subjects, called attention to the fact that the outstanding scientists of these fields have made repeated visits to the museum during the past year, the most recent having been that of Warren K. Moorehead, dean of American archaeologists. Studer showed that a great amount of work had been accomplished at no financial cost to the society, and called attention to the fact that an archaeological conference will be held in Canyon soon.

The historical society voted to make all past presidents ex-officio members of the Board of Directors, and T. D. Hobart of Pampa, who was the president of the organization during the building of the $50,000 museum was first to take the office of honor. He was enthusiastically cheered (Continued on last page)

Upton Close Urges Americans To Become
Awake To Situation Arising In Far EastGives Japan Two Years to Head Finance Of World

(By Fannie Johnston)

"We are passing from one era of history to another," said Upton Close, one of the most distinguished speakers ever to visit our campus, when he spoke in the College auditorium Thursday evening, on "The Menace of Present Day Japan."

"We are living in a time when the main arena of history is passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

"Many Are Like Flossie"

"All history is one, and any one who has studied history knows that Japan's position today is dangerous to the United States. Many persons," says Mr. Close, "are like my cow Flossie. She was very contented and never thought of her destiny until one day she was led away and butchered."

He compared the situation today with that of the sixteenth century when Spain laughed at the idea that England would encroach upon her dominance of the world. Today England has an empire on which the sun never sets.

Cases Are Parallel

Mr. Close emphasized the parallel of the relation of Spain and England to the present relation of Japan to the United States. He cited that all down the course of history, rich nations whose people were poor have been wiped off the face of the earth by a poor nation which had nothing to lose but their lives. "They do not have much money but plenty of spirit."

Not until 1854 did the modern world know anything about Japan. General Perry gained an entrance that year and invited the Japanese to join the Comity of Nations.

"The history of the Japanese is the most romantic of any people on the globe."

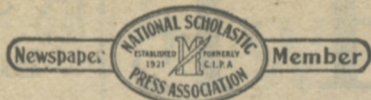

In 1854 the outside world began its process of educating Japan. "They have been good students," says Mr. Close. "In 1854 there were only seven boys in Japan who had ever seen a train; they had slipped out of Japan and traveled over Europe, gaining ideas from the western civilization. The oldest was twenty-six and the youngest eighteen years of age."

Planned Nation

"One of these, Yamagata, at twenty-two years of age, dreamed of a great Japanese nation with an army and navy as good as those of the nations of the west. He laid the plans for the present nation of Japan, and the army he built is today the world's chief nuisance."

Ito, another of the group, a youth of eighteen, by his strategy in dealing with a British general, saved his nation, became Japan's first foreign minister and wrote the constitution of Japan. He so (Continued on last page)

CULTURAL POVERTY

Wealth as we commonly think of it, has no dependably abiding values. It is only a means to an end—to be sure, a valuable and desirable means, but never an end. Hence it is that the collapse of our civilization is fore-shadowed not in bank failures and mortgage foreclosures, but in our cultural poverty. The business ruin about us is only the measly eruptions of a more fundamental and internal disorder. Our real danger is to be found in our low appreciation of the abiding values of life. This is the reason why every good citizen of today, regardless of vocation, rank, color, religious faith, or political affiliation should give mighty support to those institutions and causes which cultivate the intelligence, give quality to the emotions, and mould the ideals of our people. This conference is predicated upon the desire and purpose in a few hearts to conserve the invisible and dimensionless values that constitute the soul of all great civilizations. We are met to find ways and means, in our small way, of saving and improving one of the chief instruments of American culture—the public school.—J. A. Hill.

EDUCATION

Education is not the accumulation of knowledge or the acquisition of skills. It is rather the development of human power, along with a disposition to use it for social ends. In the final analysis that education is most practical which leaves the individual student with the most vision. The practical and the ideal come together in any proper conception of the nature of education. We cannot hope through education to guarantee to every man a job, even during good times, but we can, through education rightly motivated, guarantee to a vast majority of men a residuum of culture—a philosophy of life—that will enable them to keep their feet on the ground in both adversity and prosperity.—J. A. Hill.

CHANGES IN TEACHING

Modern psychology and a new philosophy of education have wrought changes in teaching during the past few years. The practice of requiring children to memorize the contents of a few pages of a textbook is being replaced by the project method, in its various forms which encourages children to make their own investigations through the medium of books, magazines, newspapers, pictures, museums, and personal interviews. A single textbook on a subject, no matter how complete it may be, can not supply all the data necessary in solving the many problems arising from a project. It is impossible to carry out effectively the newer methods of teaching unless children have access to books and other reading matter treating of various subjects.—Tennessee Malone.

"Cowboy" Introduced
At the luncheon Friday at the cafeteria the group, who begged to be introduced to a "real cowboy" were given an opportunity when Dr. Hill presented Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, a pioneer cowman of the Panhandle.

A trip through the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum, under the direction of Miss Hattie M. Anderson of the history department, was followed by a talk on "The Palo Duro Park," by Miss Darthula Walker, head of the geography department. Following the talk the delegation was motored to the park, where they enjoyed a supper served chuckwagon style around the campfire. Atmosphere was furnished by the T-Anchor Cowboys and their trick roper, Howard Weatherby.

Concluded With Luncheon
A colorful climax to the meeting was the bridge-luncheon given Saturday by members of the Amarillo Alumnae Chapter at El Taos club in Amarillo.

At this time it was announced that the national officers had been re-elected for another two-year term. It was not decided where the 1936 convention would be held. A bouquet of red carnations was presented Miss Anthony by members of the various chapters, and linked bracelets of white gold bearing the coat of arms were presented to the national officers and members of Kappa Omicron Phi. This latter gift was a present from a jewelry company in the north. Gladiolas furnished the table decorations while gum drop cactuses were unique place favors. Small pictures suitable for framing formed the combination menu and tally cards.

Members of the Alumnae Chapter are: Mrs. W. E. Miller, Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel of Canyon, and Mrs. Georgia Holtzclaw, Mrs. Mary Kate McDonald, Miss Maggie Avent, Miss Ione Red, and Mrs. Dewey Reed of Amarillo.

Y. W. C. A. STUDY LIFE OF "FIRST LADY"

What do you know about the First Lady of the Land?

Last Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in room 205 of the administration building, Miss Dorothy McKenzie led the Y. W. C. A. in a discussion in which the First Lady's daily routine and habits were taken into consideration and those who attended certainly felt a growing interest in and a deeper appreciation for Mrs. Roosevelt.

It was decided that lives of movie actors and actresses would be discussed at the next meetings. Suggestions as to whom these actors will be will come from members of the Y. W. Why do you not offer your suggestions to Miss McKenzie before next Wednesday, bring your friends and come?

College Students Entertain at Assembly

The students of the high school were entertained with a varied and interesting program Friday morning. Sarah Frances Smith gave another of the series of senior speeches on training for the worthy use of leisure. Her subject was "Athletics as a Training for Good Citizenship." Miss Frances Alice Clark, an ex-student of W. T. High, furnished a piano solo as the second number on the program. Miss Inez Ridling then gave a reading in child dialect. Los Tejanitos Present Play at Assembly

Miss Pauline Presley, a practice teacher in Spanish, directed the play presented in Assembly by the Spanish Club on April 5.

"La Broma" was a delightful comedy carrying out the tradition in Spain that the father selects his daughter's husband. The father in this case, Carl Neighbors, imports a gentleman as his secretary, Alton Paul, with the intention that his daughter shall fall in love with the young man. The daughter, Sarah Beth McGehee, to teach her father a lesson, changes clothes with the maid, Lavada Quarles. The secretary thinks he has fallen in love with the maid, but later discovers her real identity and all ends well. Both the students and their directors are to be commended for the excellent manner in which both the lines and the acting were done.

Floyd D. Golden Dean N.M.S.N.S.

Served As Superintendent Of Portales Public Schools

Floyd D. Golden, of the class of 1925, has been elected dean of the New Mexico State Normal School, which will soon open its doors at Portales.

Mr. Golden was a student at W. T. before the World War, and after it he returned to complete the work for his degree, his major subject being Manual Training.

Next he was superintendent at Miami where he was instrumental in developing a good school. He was next elected superintendent at Portales where he has worked continuously since.

His summers have been spent in studying at the University of Colorado, from which institution he has received his Master's degree, and in teaching in New Mexico colleges.

Students of a few years ago will remember him as a football player, and a real student leader. His wife, Elsie Pool Golden, is also a graduate of W. T., having received her degree in 1925 with home economics as her major.

The College congratulates Mr. Golden upon his success which has resulted in his appointment to this responsible position.

Following the debate, Bonne Rhea Whittenburg told the story of "The Lady or the Tiger."

During the refreshment hour, Mrs. Geraldine Green told the story of "Sir Gawain and the Green Knight," in an interesting manner.

We read so many class and April Fool editions of the college papers that garbled the column titles and indulged in such a great amount of foolishness that we haven't bounced back to normalcy yet.

"Your methods of cultivation are hopelessly out of date," said the youthful student of agriculture to the old farmer. "Take that tree over there, I'd be astonished if you got eight pounds of apples from it in one season." "So would I," blandly replied the farmer, "it's a pear tree."—Pine Log.

Chaudoin Says "Can Be Done"

The New Superintendent Makes Many Changes At Mobeetie

"If you believe it can be done, it can" must be the motto of Carl Chaudoin, a junior student, who is just completing his first year as superintendent of the Mobeetie schools.

What Chaudoin believed was that the Mobeetie school could have a nine month's term and secure affiliation during the 1933-34 session. To this end he began his plans last summer. How well he succeeded with the strenuous cooperation of his faculty, can be judged by the record of the year.

Busses Purchased

Six rural schools were persuaded that it would be profitable for them to send their boys and girls of high school age to Mobeetie, and three busses were put into service in this connection.

Through the utilization of a fine community interest about $450 was raised to help the school program. Five hundred books were added to the library. Football, which had been discontinued, was again made a part of the school's physical education program. Mobeetie's invitation to the schools of Wheeler county to come there for their Interscholastic League meet was accepted.

Affiliation Granted

That the year's plan was well carried out was given tangible proof, when classification was granted and affiliation given in 13 subjects. $3,000 in State Aid was given to the school which has 178 pupils in high school and 197 in the grades.

Mr. Chaudoin has been elected for the 1934-35 term and plans are under way for a nine month's school and the addition of another teacher to the faculty.

W. T. Is Living Up To Traditions of Western Hospitality As Host to Many Conventions

Meetings Are Varied In Appeal To Students and Faculty

W. T. is living up to the tradition of Western hospitality by being host to some kind of meeting nearly every week end. The convention season began early in the year when the County Boards of Education of District No. One, met in Canyon at the invitation of Deputy State Superintendent, E. E. Chamness and Professor Frank R. Phillips. They perfected an organization and are now working to help the people of their 22 counties understand their schools.

I. R. C. Conference

The International Relations Clubs of the Texas-New Mexico region met for a two-day session on March 9 and 10 with the local I. R. C. and its sponsors acting as hosts for the College. Three outstanding speakers, Miss Amy Hemmway Jones of the Carnegie Endowment, New York, Dr. David Maynard, U. S. trade representative in China, and Ernst Uiberall, an Austrian student, made this event one to be remembered.

Before this conference was ended, Dr. Goldwin Goldsmith, head of the architecture department of the University of Texas was presented to students and faculty of the college by the American Institute of Architects, and the architects and artists of the Panhandle came to Canyon to meet and hear him.

Next the college opened its doors for the Northwest Texas Conference for Education, and 1500 visitors came to hear Dr. J. A. Hill, Dr. Fred C. Ayer of the University of Texas, State Superintendent L. A. Woods, Dr. Doak Campbell of George Peabody College for Teachers, J. O. Guleke of the State Board of Education and Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma. Superintendent Ferman Sawyer, of Canadian was president of the Conference.

This meeting grew out of the old Panhandle-Plains Counties Institute, and Professor F. E. Savage, for many years director and treasurer of the Institute was prominent in planning the program.

At a business session, near the close of the two-day session, Supt. C. H. Dillehay was made president of the permanent organization which was effected. At that time, Supt. Geo. Heath was chosen temporary president of the executive board. At a meeting of the board later, Mr. Dillehay was elected chairman, and Professor F. E. Savage was appointed secretary-treasurer to replace Mrs. T. V. Reeves, who resigned. Plans are already under way for the next annual conference.

Tri-State Music Festival

During the Easter week-end the College had no great number of special guests, but on April 5, 6, and 7, between five and six hundred young musicians from the north and south plains and eastern New Mexico gathered on the campus for the contests and programs of the Tri-State Music Festival.

This meeting brought Dr. Edward D. Hale, dean of the College of Music of Colorado College, Rollin Pease, head of the voice department of the University of Arizona, and E. Clyde Whitlock, of the Fort Worth Conservatory of Music to Canyon as judges.

Gives Recital

For the public the Rollin Pease recital on Tuesday evening, the annual concert of the Madrigal Club on Friday and the Tri-State Orchestra program on Saturday night, made the week a notable one. Professor Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department and members of the music faculty were in local charge of this festival.

This week found the national convocation of Kappa Omicron Phi, honorary home economics fraternity, and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in annual sessions here. These two brought approximately 500 people.

On April 21, the season of big meetings will close for the 1933-34 session with the Regional Inter-scholastic League Meet. There will be the cream of the high schools from 45 counties in the contests at that time.

President J. A. Hill frequently says "The services which the college renders are a severe strain on her man power," but the institution keeps alert to needs and trends through the hundreds of people with whom the faculty and students are associated because of the frequent meetings here.

Men's Faculty Team Win Over W. A. A. Sextet

The Men's Faculty Team demonstrated their athletic prowess on the volleyball court last Wednesday by defeating the W. A. A. team 15 to 9. It was a great game, according to the galleries.

The Men's team was composed of Dr. Harris M. Cook, and Professors John Gillis, W. D. Mateer, Herschel Jennings, C. A. Murray and Carl York.

Those representing the Women's Athletic Association were Ada Lou Flathers, Anna Jewel Fauver, Maurine Goin, Dorothy Anderson, Juanita Parker, and Louise Tyner.

A return game was played Friday afternoon in the Women's gym with the girls affording much stronger competition than on the initial occasion, but not being able to defeat the Powerful Professors, who emerged victors to the tune of 15-12.

Dr. Cook attests that the Wednesday game was his first game of volleyball in years, and he thought he played an excellent game in that he "did not fall down more than twice."

WAA Clubs Are Active In Spring Training Work

At present there are four clubs in the Women's Athletic Association that are active in spring training.

The Big Six Club, with Lonas Fortenberry as president, is doing volleyball work. Two clubs are active in tennis, the Tennis Club with Anna Jewel Fauver as president, and the Golf Club, headed by Roberta Campbell. An Anglers Club will be organized Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in the women's gymnasium.

The Tennis Club will meet in the gym at the same hour Wednesday, and the Golf and Big Six clubs will meet at 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

The semester fee for membership in any two of these clubs is 25c, and any prospective members may pay Phyllis Holgate this fee at the book store. All girls are urged to join one of these clubs. The association is made up of clubs of girls who are interested in physical education as well as in winning points for emblems for sweaters.

SUMMER—

who must have courses in educational administration in order to meet the new requirements of the State Department of Education will find seven courses, planned to meet their needs. These courses will give the experienced administrator an opportunity to brush up on recent educational views and trends, and will give the youthful principal or superintendent a chance to enter his work with an understanding of the institution with which he will deal. Dr. Cook, Dr. Meyer, and Dean Jarrett will be in charge of these classes.

The many inquiries that are already being received, indicate that any principal or superintendent who chooses Canyon campus as his summer study place will have a chance to discuss his problems with dozens of other men who are doing work similar to his.

Recreation Education

The time has come when teachers are expected to know how to keep themselves fit and to understand and teach desirable health attitudes and habits to children. To this end a minimum of six semester hours work in this field is being required and the physical education department of the college will offer courses to meet these requirements.

The recreation facilities of the college and the community of Canyon will give every summer student ample opportunity to use his leisure time in a variety of ways. Palo Duro State Park, twelve miles east, offers the indolent a wide, comfortable automobile road leading into the silence of the canyon miles below; for those who like the feel of a horse beneath them, there are saddle animals available and bridle paths to follow; for the energetic there are many miles of well marked trails. For visitors of every temperament, there is gorgeous scenery, and in the side canyons there are springs and waterfalls, huge boulders, Indian relics, tiny wild flowers, birds, cacti, and fossils making an appeal to every taste. The Palo Duro Outing Club and the Physical Education Department will assist students who wish to make the 14,500 acre State Park their playground.

Will Go To Carlsbad

A half-day's journey away is Carlsbad Cavern, and to the northwest the mountains of the Santa Fe-Taos region of New Mexico. These natural attractions are supplemented by a great variety of industrial and amusement features of Amarillo, the Panhandle

MORE ABOUT TENNIS

It seems that some of the announcements made last week about the use of College Tennis Courts were misunderstood.

Court No. 1 is a private court before 8 a. m. and after 6 p. m. At other hours students may play on this court.

Students are requested not to play on any court Sunday forenoons.

Theta Delta Club

The Theta Delta Club will have a night meeting at 7:30 Tuesday evening, April 17, in Room 211. Problems will be demonstrated and discussions will be made as to club pins. Problems were demonstrated at the last meeting by members of the club and interesting developments were shown. The problems are in the field of geometry, trigonometry and analytical geometry. Plans will also be made as to a club outing that is to take place sometime in the near future.

All students are invited to attend this meeting and old club members are especially urged to be present. Teachers and students who are planning to teach will always get some good suggestions and ideas from these club meetings.

Did you know that the actual cost of the Le Mirage was over $7.50 a book, and that you can buy one for $2.80?

Verla Capps has returned to school after an illness of two weeks. She has been at her home in Clovis, N. M.

Doris Teas spent Sunday at her home in Canadian.

Professor L. F. Sheffy has great responsibility as chairman of the general committee for this occasion.

President J. A. Hill and most of the members of his regular faculty will compose the summer school staff. The present demand for summer bulletins indicates that the campus will be comfortably crowded on June 4, when the session opens and until August 24 when the second six weeks' term closes.

These young Japanese realized that in order to fight the west they would have to use western methods. They therefore set out to gain three things, militarism, mass machine production, and universal literacy. They have now realized these objectives, through their contact with other nations and their able management of their nation's affairs. Mr. Close thinks that they do not like our civilization, but they want power, and that they are getting it.

The daily newspaper is read by all the Japanese, and their yearly production of books by far exceeds that of our country. The machines of the Japanese are new, and their army equipment is up to date. "What will happen to the white men when the yellow man learns to use his machine guns?" asks Mr. Close. "If things continue in this way for two years Japan will have a monopoly of the commerce of the world."

"There is no easy way out, and any way at all is costly," he reminds us. The renaissance in Asia has begun and Mr. Close thinks that either Japan or Russia will lead the new nations.

"It is time for America to wake up," admonished the speaker.

Mr. Close finished his most dramatic, stirring account saying that it is the youth of America that he is concerned about. "Are you spiritually prepared for the future?" he asks. "Americans work against each other, but the Japanese are working together for a common cause—a greater Japan. "Is the United States a nation or an aggregation? The answer will come from us, the students of today."

Committee Named

The nominating committee of the society named R. P. Smyth of Plainview, J. A. Hill of Canyon, H. E. Hoover of Canadian for places on the board of directors. Mr. Hill and Mr. Hoover succeed themselves.

L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Society, reported that 29,628 visitors have registered in the museum since April 14, 1933, and that the greatest day since that date was Sunday, April 8, when 757 names were added to the register.

Gets New Equipment

Other additions mentioned by Professor Sheffy were the addition of eight show cases to the equipment, and the acquisition of two mural paintings, which came through Federal aid to the artists, Ben Carlton Mead of Amarillo and Harold Bugbee of Clarendon. These pictures will be hung within a short time, Mr. Sheffy said. The work of Dr. Angie Debo, who has been in charge of the museum since last September was highly commended by Mr. Sheffy.

Plans for the coming year include a widespread drive for membership.
