Whew-w-w-w. The special train to Roswell is over. Nothing to look forward to now, but the Thanksgiving holidays. It won't be long though, and in the meantime the first semester is slowly but surely passing. Watch all those term papers that have been assigned, folks. Those things can certainly ruin nice dispositions when neglected too long.

Getting around to the special train and all connected with it again, all of us certainly appreciate the help given us by Bert Levy, Amarillo, in his broadcast over KGNC at 12:15 Wednesday and Friday. For a time it looked as though we were not going to have enough passengers to get a special train. Thanks to Mr. Levy and to Jerry Malin, sports editor of the News-Globe, enough signed up to insure the trip. We never can forget the courtesy of the citizens of Roswell, either, in placing their cars at our disposal during the afternoon. We hope that we have a chance to show our appreciation by having them as our guests before long.

Of course, we are very regretful that the Buffaloes did not defeat the Cadets, Saturday, but it was not as easy as some of the Canyon fans thought it would be. That guy doing the punting helped to ruin things for us each time the ball went to the Cadets. It gets to be weary business playing the offensive all of the time. Just one more game and the 1936 football season will be over for W. T. Only think of it! Our team is going into the last game of the season undefeated. Nothing but those two scoreless ties of the year mars an otherwise perfect season when we meet St. Benedict's at Atchison, Kan.

Deep concern is apparent all over the campus concerning the condition of Toby Waggoner, strong man of the Buffalo squad. None of us have felt comfortable since the news first reached us that our prime favorite is in a serious condition following the good game that he turned in on the Cadet gridiron. That's a streak of hard luck, too, with the tough game coming up against the St. Benedict eleven this week. We are all backing you to the limit, Toby, and here's hoping for a speedy recovery.

To forget the special trip for a few minutes, I must now do a little bit of reprimanding just as a necessary duty for the benefit of all concerned. All club and organization reporters will please listen to what is coming. For heaven's sake (or something) begin turning in your reports of the meetings and other activities of your club to the office a little earlier each week. And another thing. In the interests of better stories concerning the activities of your club, feel free to confer with me at your earliest opportunity. I think that I will be able to clear up a few things that have been bothering you in (Continued on second page)

Four Candidates
Entered In Race
For Queen TitleCampaign Managers Will Present Nominees
Saturday

Names of four W. T. co-eds have been entered in the annual beauty queen contest, according to a statement yesterday from W. H. Hopkins, business manager of Le Mirage, the publication sponsoring the contest.

The candidates are: Ruby Lee McMillan, representing the Senior Class; Virginia Hohlaus, Junior Class; Helen Gilmore, Sophomore Class; and Rachel Kidd, group nominee.

Campaign managers will be selected for each of the candidates and will present them in general assembly Saturday.

Election of the queen will be Monday and voting will be done by secret ballot at tables in the corridor of the first floor of the Administration Building. All names except that of the candidate desired as queen of the college will be scratched from the ballot.

The government department will be in charge at the polls. Each student must present his student activity ticket which will serve as a poll tax receipt at the time of voting.

Demonstration
School Holds
Fair This Week

"Ladies and gentlemen, this way to the big show," will be the cry that will ring out from the Education Building Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when the doors swing open at the big all-Demonstration School Autumn Festival.

Featuring educational entertainment galore, the affair is predicted to be one of the best ever staged on the campus.

Some of the attractions include Airplane Rides and Cafe, Room 101; Flower Show and Sale, Room 213; Museum, Room 217; a Modern House, Room 201; Animal Land, Room 113; Puppet Show, Room 217; Library Tea, Room 207; "English As She Is Taught," Room 313; Social Sciences, Rooms 307, 311; Style Show, Third Floor Balcony; Balloon Ascension, Room 301; Applied Geometry, Room 305; Budding and Grafting, Room 302; Dresses As We Make Them, Room 303; Spanish Serenaders, Room 304; Greece and Rome, Room 318; and one of the big features, the Music Hall, in the Auditorium, with two big shows, the first, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the second, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Buffalo Band To Leave For Texas
Centennial Nov. 25

Leaving Wednesday, Nov. 25, the Buffalo Band, under the direction of C. E. Strain, will go to the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas.

Plans have been made for the band to give a series of concerts on the way to the Exposition and also on the return trip. All arrangements for the additional concerts have not been completed, Mr. Strain announced yesterday afternoon.

The members will make the trip in the West Texas State College bus which is on daily duty for commuting Amarillo students to W. T.

Joe Hill, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, will make all necessary arrangements in Dallas for the band. He is connected with the Little America Exhibit at the Centennial.

Waggoner Passes
Crisis, Say Latest
Official ReportsBecomes Suddenly Ill
Following Game
At Roswell

Word received from St. Mary's hospital in Roswell yesterday morning at 11 o'clock revealed that Toby Waggoner, Buffalo left end, had weathered the crisis and was on the road to recovery. Physicians were encouraging, but stated that his condition was still critical.

Waggoner was stricken with an abdominal pain an hour following the Buff-NMMI game. He was examined and was rushed immediately to the St. Mary's hospital. Doctor Guy performed the emergency operation which proved that Waggoner had a punctured stomach as well as an inflamed appendix as was at first reported. Doctors cite the haste in operating as the reason for the encouraging reports.

Coaches Al Baggett and Bob Cox remained over until Sunday evening. Coach Baggett indicated that Waggoner will be able to leave the Roswell hospital inside of three weeks if he continues to improve.

Special Program
Held In Assembly
on Armistice Day

Wednesday morning at ten o'clock a special Armistice Day program was presented in assembly.

The program began with the singing of America, by the assembly led by Prof. Wallace R. Clark. Miss Mary Morgan Brown read "In Flanders Field." Leon Lassars read from Siegfried Sasson.

Dr. J. A. Hill spoke concerning the late war and of the hopes for peace.

The students stood while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" as a tribute to the seven West Texas State students who died in action during the World War.

Legislators Will Be Entertained at
W. T. In December

Plans are being made to issue invitations to all members of the legislature who reside in West Texas to attend a dinner at W. T. early in December.

Several weeks ago the Chamber of Commerce voted to join President J. A. Hill and members of the faculty in entertaining the group of legislators before the regular session opens in January. The date selected will probably be Dec. 3rd.

Senator Clint Small and Representative G. H. Little approve the plan to have the legislative group visit the campus this fall, and will assist in securing a large delegation for this occasion.

Exes Meet With
Hill In Directors'
Parley Sunday

Directors of the West Texas Ex-students Association met Sunday afternoon with Pres. J. A. Hill to perfect plans for this college's participation in the great ex-student banquet which is to be held at the Hotel Texas at Fort Worth on Nov. 27th.

Directors who were present were Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, of Canyon; Mrs. Lee Johnson, J. B. Speer of Skellytown, and the president, Supt. Lee Gilmore of Wheeler.

Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel was appointed to sell tickets at Fort Worth for the Federated Ex-students Banquet, and instructed to select other ex-students to assist her.

Plans for the 1937 Homecoming were discussed and a committee consisting of Mrs. Ray Campbell, Mrs. T. M. Montfort, I. B. Carruth, Clarence Thompson and Miss Brasuel submitted a report suggesting that the annual Ex-student meeting which has been held at commencement be changed to Homecoming. The report was accepted, and the committee was continued. Its plans will be established from time to time, and the Ex-student feature of next Homecoming promises to be one of the most colorful and gay of the occasion.

Skinned noses, black eyes, and distorted features are overt illustrations of the prevailing clashes in Orville Cunningham's private boxing class each Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon.

The class was instituted by Mr. Cunningham to give lessons to novices in the manly art of self defense. All professional pugilists are barred from taking part in the class.

Those entering into the hostilities are Buster Hayes, Gayle Hemphill, Jesse Coleman, W. J. Hill, Donald Butler, Ira Hutchens, John McNeil, Everett Culps, and Alton Paul.

Hatcher Brown, '32, has been made principal of the high school at Tulsa, according to an announcement made by Supt. I. H. Turney.

Unique Writing
Pad Shown
Here

A writing pad, the work of Art Madson, is on display this week in the office of Deputy State Superintendent John W. Gunstream.

It is made of inch-wide strips of walnut and white oak. Of it Mr. John A. Gillis of the Industrial Arts department said, "It is a good piece of work for a freshman high school pupil; the joining with glue is especially good."

Madson's instructor is H. F. Collins, an ex-student of West Texas State, who is teaching at Booker.

New Name Chosen
For Athletic Club
In Recent Meeting

West Texas State Buffalo Club is the name which has been adopted to succeed the Canyon Athletic Club. The organization has been in operation for a number of years under the former name. The change was made in order to induce more exes of W. T. and athletic fans of surrounding towns to take an interest in its activities.

The club has been responsible for raising a considerable sum of money which was used in the construction of Buffalo Courts and the Recreation building. In this building 66 athletes of W. T. are housed.

C. H. Jarrett is president of the club and has devoted much of his time to the construction projects which are underway on the campus. Mr. Jarrett, Coach Al Baggett and Donald Trolinger are making a canvass of Canyon and Amarillo seeking donations to carry on the work of the club during the coming year.

NOTICE TO EX-STUDENTS

Persons wanting tickets to the banquet of the Federated Ex-students of the Teachers Colleges of Texas may get them by sending their checks immediately to Mrs. Lee Johnson, acting secretary of the W. T. Ex-students' Association, Canyon, Texas.

Tickets may be secured at Fort Worth at the principal hotels and at the Exhibit Building on Friday, Nov. 27, unless they are all sold before that time. Dr. J. A. Hill is a speaker on the program.

Grid Eleven From Amarillo 14-0 Sat.

Punching over touchdowns in the opening and closing minutes of the game, the W. T. High Calves defeated Central Junior High from Amarillo last Saturday afternoon on Buffalo Field, 14-0.

Pete Whitman, Calf halfback, scooted over into pay dirt territory from the 30 early in the initial period for Canyon's first tally, with Sarge, Calf quarterback, plunging over from the three-yard stripe late in the closing quarter for the last touchdown of the game.

Byrd, Baker, and Barnes, Central backfield trio, led the Amarillo attack, while Curry and Hurst were outstanding for Canyon.

Basement Annex of
P.P.H.S. Museum
Nears Completion

Work on the basement of the annex to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum will be completed the latter part of this week, R. A. Terril, superintendent of campus buildings, said yesterday. The date for acceptance of the building has been tentatively set for Nov. 30.

Representatives of the State Board of Control through its Texas Centennial Commission, the local committee of the Board of Regents, and the board of directors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be here to accept the building from the contractors.

The new basement will house public exhibits, but it has not been decided yet which exhibits will be placed here. The Board of Directors of the Historical Society will meet here Nov. 30 and decide upon this.

Tentative plans are to use the roof of the basement for outdoor band concerts and possible theatrical performances during the summer season.

Work on the $40,000 outdoor swimming pool is pending approval of the bonds. Bonds have already been printed twice and possibly a third printing will be necessary before they are approved. Work should begin within 30 days if the present bonds are approved, but may be delayed two or three months if they must be reprinted, Pres. J. A. Hill said.

Mammoth Banquet For Exes
Will Be Highlight of Nov. 27

The biggest banquet ever held in the State of Texas!

That is the description for the big event in Fort Worth on Nov. 27, when Dr. J. A. Hill will be one of the main speakers at the first great joint meeting of the ex-students, faculty members and friends of the Texas State Teachers Colleges.

Plans are being made at the Hotel Texas to accommodate 2500 exes and there will be much rubbing of elbows and comparing notes by people young and old from the seven points in the Lone Star at which the colleges are located. There will be huge delegations from the loyal exes of North Texas at Denton, Sam Houston at Huntsville, Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches, East Texas at Commerce, Southwest Texas at San Marcos, Sul Ross at Alpine, and West Texas. West Texas hopes to have the largest delegation of all, when distances and number of ex-students it has are considered.

W. T.'s Ex-student Association has a special interest in the Federated Exes organization for it was born through the suggestion of exes here. It has a special interest in this banquet because Pres. J. A. Hill was chosen by the program committee to represent the

Baggettmen Given Rating
As Underdogs In Affair

Disconcerted by a scoreless tie with the N. M. M. I. Cadets and distressed by the loss of "All-American" Toby Waggoner, the gloomy Buffaloes will let down the 1936 grid curtain when they invade the Raven lair of St. Benedict's College at Atchison, Kan., Saturday.

Tied in two affairs but still among the undefeated, the Buffaloes will go into this final game as the underdogs. The Ravens are undefeated in seven games, having walloped all competition by lopsided counts. This will be the fourth meeting of the two clubs, the Ravens having won each game. In 1933, the Ravens initiated interschool activities with a 12-7 win at Butler Field in Amarillo. The next year they pranced to a 19-14 win and last year they rolled over a stubborn Buffalo eleven 21-7 before a record Homecoming crowd in Buffalo Stadium.

In view of their glamorous year, Kansas sports scribes acclaim the Ravens' as the state's greatest football machine. In the backfield, Martin, Danaher, Weiffenback and Webb have returned with their elusive venom. Prairie Sports Editor Joe Smith, rated Danaher as the best back to face the Buffaloes last year. Their forward wall is paced by Captain Leo Deutsch who has already been chosen on many "All-American" check lists. It was his talented toe that contributed the three extra points last year.

Hill To Help
Confer Degree
On Garner

Pres. J. A. Hill will participate in the ceremonies of conferring a Doctor's degree from Baylor University upon John Nance Garner, Vice-president of the United States, and Mrs. Garner at Waco, Saturday.

Presidents of all Texas colleges have been invited to participate in the ceremonies. Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University and former governor of Texas, will preside. Those participating in the program will be attired in academic regalia. They will be entertained at the Baylor-S. M. U. football game in the afternoon.

Dr. J. A. Hill has been invited to participate in the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Newcomb College, a branch of Tulane University, in December.

Miss Mary Cox of Plainview visited the campus yesterday. She is collecting material for a book dealing with the history of this section.

Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, supervisor of the Demonstration high school, and Miss Helen White Moore visited the Pampa schools yesterday.

"Hip! Hip! H'ray" Indicates
Nature of Crowd on Train

Hip! Hip! H'ray! And with that the train pulled out of the station, leaving behind as envious a group of people as one ever beheld, but carrying as happy and carefree group as one could ever hope to see.

With gigantic placards on each side of the train reading "West Texas State" and with arm bands, and lapel badges reading "WEST TEXAS" and "W. T. BUFFALOES" the trippers advertised themselves and their seat of learning.

Impromptu dances were attempted in the baggage car, bingo games, bridge, and gossip, all furnished entertainment. Some of the students walked to Roswell through the aisles of the car. Clovis was the first New Mexico town to suffer the effects of the invading horde. A parade through the town was almost a peak of pep and punch. The band played! The crowd yelled and sang. A good time was had by all except the one who got left.

Roswell fell victim to the onslaughts of the paraders when the mid-day traffic was stopped dead as the entire group marched in military imitation behind the "red hot" band. The parade broke, food was craved, and then demolished, and about this time the girls began to swoon. They had their first vision of the uniforms. One W. T. product had no less than eight who escorted her to the park. (Girls, it's a heaven on earth if you like uniforms.)

Then came the game, the mad dashing up and down the field, all to no avail. The half came—W. T. and N. M. M. I. folks mingled. Friendly rivalry and bantering were evidenced by their unequalled quips and spirit. The W. T. folks never gave up, much, until the last, and left the game with the comment to the Cadets that W. T. would bring her first string along the next time they came.

The supper hour came—napkins, menu cards, and spoons disappeared—such souvenir getting, you'll never see again. The negro lad who danced and sang in the hotel lobby helped to top an almost perfect day.

"Lights Out" was the theme song on the way home, but there was a noticeable lack of co-operation from the sponsors and chaperones of the trip. Such crust! One noticeable thing was that the students were very well behaved as long as the lights were on. The train arrived in Canyon long after bedtime, but it was welcomed by a fine crowd, who received the truants, and although they hadn't brought home all of the bacon, they hadn't exactly lost their shirts in the strange territory. The crowd dispersed, and went to bed. Some of them were able to awake in time for Monday morning classes, but most of them were not. What a day!

"Let's go again sometime," was the thought of most of them after they regained consciousness.

The Student Council and the Press Club deserve and get the thanks of everyone for the arm bands and the lapel badges. Theirs the spirit to copy.

VOTE FOR COLLEGE QUEEN

Candidates have been nominated for the annual beauty queen contest, campaign managers are already tearing their hair, and the time is approaching when we shall cast our votes in order to decide who will be the supreme girl of the year on the campus.

Some of the students who are gifted, or cursed, with a memory, can recall that no more than approximately one-half of the students voted in the election for the queen last year. Then, to make matters worse, loud complaints were voiced when the general favorite did not receive enough votes from the lethargic student body to assure her of victory.

In that instance, no one was to blame, but the students who did not show enough interest or spirit to cast a vote.

Safeguard against a like occurrence this year by taking a few minutes of your precious time Monday to vote.

TO THE HOMESICK FRESHMAN:

Sure, you get homesick. Upperclassmen get homesick, too.

It's nothing to be ashamed of. Some of us have learned to conceal it, but we still get homesick. And the fellow who thinks it's sissy to get homesick is just a fool. Don't be ashamed of being homesick.

After all, the fellow who says he never gets homesick is merely saying that he hasn't much at home.—P. T.

DON'T BE THE LAST

Today, the National Red Cross drive reaches Canyon. This organization of inestimable prominence and importance in national charities is asking all citizens and public-spirited people to join, and enroll themselves with the great host of people who are already members.

Membership, either individually, or for organizations, is one dollar. All clubs on the campus should bear the Red Cross insignia of membership. All of the students should make it a point to enlist in the cause, or contribute to the enlistment of W. T. one hundred per cent. Fifty cents of the dollar goes to the local chapter of the organization, while the other half goes to the national chapter in its nationwide work.

Don't be the Scotch giver, and hope for misfortune so that you will benefit from the money that you have donated, but join now, and be grateful for the opportunity of being able to help out those upon whom misfortune lays a heavy hand. Let our motto be, "W. T. one hundred percent Red Cross membership."

Enroll now and avoid the stigma of being the only one not a member. Join at the table in the main hall today.—L. S.

(By Houston Bright)

Dear Collegiate Press fan(s): For vary and sundrous reasons, some of which were considered imperative by me and by my teachers, I have had to take the week-end off to catch up with some unfinished business. Anyway, just to keep myself from getting stale, I invited an extinguished guest to do the column this week, and since reading the copy which that guest has written, I have no regrets—no regrets at all—and I'll wager you'll say the same thing. (And besides, there's a little bet on involving the purportedly inimitable style of one H. Bright.) Our guest is a member of the famed junior class, on the staff of the NYA, an English major (for freshmen only), and just a peach of a girl all the way around—Quixie Bea King. Hold your breath—here she goes:

A guest columnist of the Junior Collegian says, "A price ought to be placed on the heads of those amiable half-wits who insist on contributing alleged poetry to these columns. I refer to those monstrosities that resemble baby-talk, except that baby-talk sometimes makes sense."

Which reminds me: Now I lay me down to rest Before I take tomorrow's test. If I should die before I wake, Thang gosh, I'll have no test to take.

For Digestion's Sake . . . Smoke Camels

THE TEST DIVE!

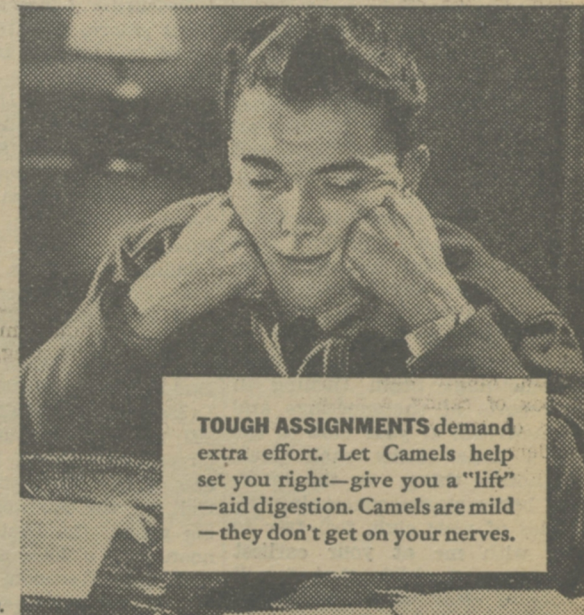

Straight down from 4 miles up—motor roaring—struts screaming—Gehlbach tears earthward like a bullet flashing from a revolver. At the bottom of the 2-mile drive—a sharp pull-out wrenches plane and pilot to the limit. Such tests make planes safer. Anything can happen. A bump in the air—a tiny flaw, and the plane can fly to pieces as though dynamited while the pilot takes to his parachute. But, as you can see at the right, Lee Gehlbach eats heartily and enjoys his food. Note the Camel cigarette in his hand—one of the many Camels that Lee enjoys during and after meals. In his own words (above), he gives you the reason why Camels are his cigarette.

Lee Gehlbach says: "Smoking Camels keeps my digestion tuned up and running smooth"

"CAMELS set me right!" Gehlbach says. "You know, a chance is only 10% of my business. Keeping alert and in fine condition is the other 90%. I smoke Camels with my meals, and afterward, for digestion's sake. And when I say Camels don't get on my nerves, it means a lot."

Good digestion and healthy nerves are important for everyone in this wide-awake era. Camels at meal-time and after speed up the flow of digestive fluids—increase alkalinity—help bring a sense of well-being. So make Camel your cigarette—for digestion's sake—for their refreshing "lift." Camels set you right! And they do not get on your nerves.

May I call to your attention again that it is now time for all of the pictures for Le Mirage to be in the office. Just in case you have not heard any of the announcements or did not read this column last week, I am telling you again to get your picture in to the staff so that it will appear in the 1936-37 Le Mirage. As I have said before, we like your face well enough to want to see it when we turn through our copy of the current year book. Please oblige.

Leona Lockhart and Ralph Headlee Wed

The Junior class of this year lost one of its most valuable members Saturday afternoon when Miss Leona Lockhart became the bride of Ralph Headlee, technical foreman in the Soil Conservation service at Perryton.

The wedding took place in the study of the Presbyterian church at Canyon with Rev. Chas. L. Dickey reading the nuptial vows. The bride wore green and brown with a corsage of Talsman rosebuds and bronze chrysanthemums. Ruth Cox, '36, and John Tole of Crowell, were attendants.

Mr. Headlee has been a student at W. T., his last work here having been done in the summer of '35. Mr. and Mrs. Headlee will make their home in Perryton.

REEVES HONORS LOCKHART WITH BRIDAL SHOWER

Miss Leona Lockhart of the Junior class was honored with a lovely bridal shower given by Mrs. T. V. Reeves at her home Friday night.

After the guests had arrived and had been seated in a semi-circle, Miss M. Moss Richardson told a humorous story, "My Sweetheart's Baby Brother." Various members of the group contributed to the miscellaneous program, after which the honoree was presented with many beautiful gifts tied in green and white packages.

Refreshments were served, carrying out the green and white color scheme, to Misses M. Moss Richardson, Marjory Wilkinson, Kathryn Robinson, Allene Myers and Frances Grimes of Canyon, Misses Ruby Dell Scoggins, Clarendon, Margaret Peery, Dalhart, Mary Etta Ferrell, Esteline, Helen Smith, Channing, the honoree, and the hostess.

PHIDIAS CLUB EMBLEM DESIGN COMPLETED

Completion of their originally designed emblems, done in gold and white, Phidias Art Club colors, on Kelly green sweaters, was the activity of the members of the Phidias Club in their weekly meeting last Tuesday afternoon.

This is the first year in the history of the club that Phidias has ordered sweaters. Miss Vondell Kees designed the emblem, the white letters "Phidias" in white felt on a large gold felt "A." The colors of the emblem will be reversed for the emblem of their sponsor, Miss Isabel Robinson.

Plans were completed in a short business meeting, for taking the annual picture of the club at the next meeting, Tuesday of next week. All members are urged to be present.

MRS. MEYER HONORED BY BIRTHDAY DINNER

The Stafford Buffoneers gave a birthday dinner Nov. 11 honoring Mrs. A. M. Meyer, hostess of Stafford Hall.

Mrs. Meyer was presented with a box of candy, a corsage, and a pair of lovely crystal candle-stick holders.

Outside guests present included Dr. and Mrs. Cundiff, Pres. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Miss Claudia Sue Mosely, and Miss Royce Park.

COUSINS HALL HONOR GUESTS AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Sharp, Miss Agnes Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boxwell of Amarillo were guests of the Hall at the formal dinner held at Cousins Hall, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Sharp is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Smith, director of Cousins.

After dinner, the girls of the Hall entertained themselves with a co-ed dance with music by the girls themselves.

A Proud Grandfather, Too!

While the nation's interest centered on its re-elected president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, the chief executive himself was otherwise interested. He cuddled on his lap his 8-month-old granddaughter, Kate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt, while the Rev. Frank Wilson, rector of St. James' Episcopal Chapel at Hyde Park, performed christening ceremonies. Little Kate behaved the part of the perfect leading lady. She wiggled her toes and the president smiled, but there was no other sound during the christening.

O'KEEFE-PRICE RITES PERFORMED SUNDAY

Miss Ella Paye O'Keefe became the bride of Willis Traylor Price Sunday in Pampa.

The bride is a member of a family prominent in Pampa and Panhandle. She was honor student when she was graduated from Pampa High School was active in class and campus activities and school society, and received the A. A. U. W. scholarship.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. O'Keefe of Pampa and Panhandle. Mr. Price is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Price of Reading, Kan.

Mrs. Price attended Northwestern University and West Texas State.

The couple will make their home on the Price ranch near Pampa.

ALPHA CHI MEETS WITH DR. FRONABARGER

"Heavenly Hash," as Dr. Ford Fronabarger, sponsor of Alpha Chi, termed it, was served to the members of the Alpha Chi Scholarship Society at the home of Dr. Fronabarger Monday night.

The program was a series of informal discussions concerning ancient philosophers and their works. J. C. Baker, Jr., handled Pythagoras; Ross Wilson discussed Archimedes; Royce Park, a music-major, talked on the early history of Music; Aristotle was the subject discussed by Mildred Lindsey; and Ora Mae Harris summarized Homer.

Alpha Chi is an honorary society to which entrance is determined by scholarship.

SPANISH CLUB HAS SPECIAL PROGRAM

A Spanish fiesta as interpreted in a piano solo and a talk on Spanish influences entertained the members of the Spanish Club in their last week's meeting. The group met at the home of Miss Mary E. Hudspeth last Thursday night at 7:30.

Miss Hope Bussey presented the piano interpretation of a fiesta in Madrid, and L. F. Sheffy of the history department, pointed out the Spanish influence and contributions in the Southwest. Miss Mary Madeline Hart and James Hines, both of the Demonstration School, topped off the program with several Spanish selections.

After the program, the club picture for the annual was taken. Refreshments were served to about forty members and guests.

W. A. A. WILL SPONSOR MONTHLY OPEN HOUSE

In their last meeting, the Women Athletes voted to sponsor, beside their regular weekly Co-ed Dance for the girls of the college, an open-house entertainment to be held once a month for all boys and girls of the college interested in dancing and sports.

The W. A. A. met last Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in the women's gymnasium as usual. In the business meeting, plans were advanced to develop the Club and to make it a member of the National W. A. A.

The remainder of the hour was spent in dancing with music furnished by various members of the club.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY CLUB TO MEET

The second meeting of the Collingsworth County Club will be held Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Room 207 of the Administration Building. All students from Collingsworth county are urged to attend this meeting.

Much interest was shown at the first meeting when Jesse Coleman was elected president; Henry Young, vice-president; Mary Lee Davis, secretary; Francis Somerville, finance chairman; Olie Brown, publicity chairman.

CENTENNIAL REVIEW

By Leslie Stitt

HALL OF STATE

The first building that strikes the eye of the visitor to the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition, is the magnificent Hall of State, with the long Esplanade of State leading to its doors. The Esplanade of State is bordered with trees, fountains, shrubbery, lights, stately buildings and above all there is the magnificence of the myriads of colors that bedeck every piece of work on the grounds.

The administration building is the first building on one's left as he enters the main gateway of the grounds. This building typifies the type of architectural structure that is found throughout the grounds, and over the State of Texas. It is an example of the modern day building with its simple, yet classical structure. It, like all of the other buildings, could easily occupy one's entire day at the Exposition, even though it is not primarily an exhibition building.

The Esplanade of State has as a centerpiece, a shimmering fountain emptying into a pool seventy feet wide and seven hundred feet long, which when lighted at night with vari-colored lights, resembles nothing except a product of the most vivid of imaginations. The building designated as the Hall of State cost $1,200,000, and is indeed a fitting structure for the representation of the State of Texas in its incomparable charm, dignity, and magnificence.

The building, representing the participation of the entire State in the Exposition carries out the idea of unity in the group of rooms designated Hall of Texas, Hall of Heroes, and in the four rooms for each division of the compass, North, East, South, and West Texas. The Hall of Heroes is dedicated to the Heroes of Texas history, and with due reverence for their immortal deeds, the room is planned so as to more fully impress the onlooker of the importance of these men in the origination of the State as an independent nation.

The Hall of Texas occupies the rear wing of the building and is sixty feet wide, ninety feet long, and has a ceiling of forty-five feet above the floor. It is a fitting commemoration for the birth of the State just one hundred years ago. The largeness of the decorative scheme imprints upon the mind of the sightseer more than any other one thing. The antique marble floors depicting the flora and fauna of Texas, the huge murals painted on canvas, the twenty-four-foot diameter of the bronze disk showing the history of Texas on its many ton body, and the enormous works of carved wood, are only a few of the more impressive decorations. This building with the one major exception, steel framework, is constructed entirely of native Texas materials, and puts a feeling into the heart of every native Texan that is envied by the natives of the other forty-seven States. Texas, the land of opportunity, and unlimited resources is the idea that is left on the minds of all of those who leave the gigantic Hall of State.

The new glass building to be built in New York will have no windows above the first floor—a safety measure for brokers looking forward to the next stock market crash.

Disaster Overtakes Buffs As Game Saturday Ends 0-0

Miller Baffles Maroon and White With Punts

Disaster overtook the galloping players of the West Texas State Buffaloes when they completely smothered the NMMI Cadets in Roswell, N. M., Saturday, but could only manage for a scoreless deadlock.

For sixty minutes the Buff charges crashed at the Soldiers' "port of entry" but the plucky Cadets withered the four 20 yard penetrations. The Buffs registered 17 first downs to the Cadets' 3, two via the penalty route. The Buffs were outscored in only one department, that by the dazzling punting of Cadet Miller. Repeatedly his long spiraling kicks demoralized the confident Buffaloes, and consistently drove them deep into their own territory.

Gigantic Toby Waggoner, left end, completed his long football career with a punch that distinguishes him as West Texas State's greatest wingman. His staunch defensive work clicked effectively as he cleverly disposed of blockers to make the tackle.

Over 200 Buffalo supporters rode the special train to attend this annual grudge skirmish. Director C. E. Strain and the College Band added to the occasion with their music. The Buffaloes' principal scoring threat came in the early minutes of the second quarter. Featuring an adroit passing assault the first goal line march was stemmed on the 14. Three line plays had failed when Watkins blasted an accurate pass to Waggoner who dropped the leather in the end zone.

Another scoring drive fizzled in the third division when Lwood Dow, the Buffs' most consistent gainer, juggled Watkins' 25-yard pass on the 20 yard stripe with an open field ahead. Halfback Slack's fumble and a Cadet recovery on the Buff 25-yard line afforded the New Mexicans their only scoring chance. The obstinate Herd blanked the Cadet offense to take the ball on the 22 after four running plays were dumped.

Varsity Netmen Trounce Texas Tech Squad 14-7

Coach W. E. Lockhart and his West Texas netters terminated the fall season Saturday by trouncing Texas Tech, 14 to 7 on the clay courts of the clever Matadors.

The Buffs won four of six matches in the dual clash.

In the ranking singles, Glyn Riley met a mountain of opposition in the clever Jordan, Tech, and lost 6-4, 6-4. Norton Curry, W. T., easily took Bozeman 6-2, 6-3. By illustrating his customary hard smashing game, George Smalley triumphed over McCarty, Tech, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, and Darrell Hemphill, W.

Freshmen Drop Final Grid Fray To Greyhounds

In a memorable Armistice Day clash, Coach Bob Cox's West Texas State Freshmen dropped their final grid debacle of the 1936 edition to the fleet Portales Junior College Greyhounds, 6 to 0 in the New Mexican's backyard.

Fumbles and muffed passes by the frosh at critical points were prevalent in the skirmish which proved to be largely responsible for the downfall of the Yearlings.

The sensational passing and punting of Bob McKnight, frosh quarter, kept the Greyhounds at bay during most of the afternoon. The lone counter of the Portales school came in the third canto when an alert Greyhound terminal recovered a fumble by the Fish safety on the 9 yard line. Two line smashes placed the ball on the 3, and Baker, Greyhound half, carried the ball over.

Late in the final period, a brilliant 65-yard canter by Carl Matney, fish fullback, before he was spilled on the 8-yard stripe, gave the Yearlings a chance to tally. Matney ripped off 6 more yards and the game ended with the young Buffaloes only two yards from pay dirt.

T., took the count from Upshaw, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Smalley and Riley completely baffled Jordan and Upshaw to garner the ranking doubles 6-2, 7-5, and Curry and Hemphill finished the afternoon by smashing to a 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 win over the Bozeman-McCarty duo of Tech.

Nicholas Murray Butler, President Columbia University: "Isolation has become as impossible for a nation as it once was comparatively easy for Robinson Crusoe."
