LE MIRAGE PLAN OF CELEBRITIES IS ANNOUNCED

Six Students Representative of School Ideals Are to Be Chosen

VOTE JANUARY 26TH

Classes Will Put Tickets In Field During This Week

Six persons will be chosen for the celebrity section of the college yearbook at the election to be held on Saturday, January 23, according to the staff of "Le Mirage." There will be one representative chosen from each of the four college classes. The other two celebrities will be a man and a woman who seem to be the "incarnation of the spirit of the institution." Only Juniors or Seniors will be eligible for the last two positions named. In keeping with the art motive and general scheme of the book, this section will be worked out in terms of knightly, the pictures being made in old English costumes. The titles which will be in the language of chivalry, will be chosen after the election when the sex of the various representatives will be known.

Each class is asked to choose from its own membership three persons that are representative of the best material in the class. These names are to be submitted to the staff who will place them on the ticket as nominees to be voted upon by the entire student body and faculty in the general election.

Any organization may put out a ticket, nominating persons for the other two places provided there are fifty signatures attached to each ticket. No person may sign more than one ticket. All tickets must be submitted to the staff not later than Wednesday, January 26.

A general assembly will be held at the chapel period Thursday, at which time any necessary explanations will be made before the classes go into the election of nominees for the class representatives.

The staff expresses a desire that a group which is representative of the best for which the college stands be selected, and urged each student to give serious thought to the qualities of the persons chosen.

Deer Escapes From Preserve

A deer which had escaped from the Palo Duro game preserve was captured in a garden in Canyon January 8. The deer had traveled 30 miles from the preserve and finally leaped a fence into a garden where a cow was grazing.

A cowboy roped the deer which was later carried back to the preserve in a truck. The Palo Duro game preserve contains 45,000 acres; it is stocked with wild turkeys, deer and pheasants, and other fowl and animals are being added as rapidly as they can be secured.

This preserve was created thru the efforts of Dr. Earl Axtell, formerly of Fort Worth.

Granbury Fails to Appear as Scheduled

Prof. John C. Granbury of Texas Technological College was unable to fill his speaking date with Phi Alpha Tau last Wednesday evening due to a hitch in transportation arrangements. A large number of visitors in addition to the membership of the society were on hand to hear the professor's lecture.

Mae Slack, Josephine Dufflot, Herschel Coffee, Earl Sparks and Emmett Smith furnished musical entertainment for the society during the social hour which was held as scheduled.

It is considered possible by the officers of Phi Alpha Tau that Professor Granbury will appear next Wednesday.

R. A. Terrill, head of the Department of Manual Training, was confined to his home for a few days last week due to an injured knee sustained last Thursday.

Commerce Officials Pledge Faith and Support to W. T. at Banquet Here on Friday

President Hill Is Host to Business Executives of Panhandle Towns; Attempt Made to Bring Out Institutional Value.

Unfailing loyalty and support to West Texas State Teachers College, the educational institution of the Panhandle, was pledged by a number of visiting delegates at a dinner given for them last Friday night at Cousins Hall with President J. A. Hill presiding. Representatives of the executive boards of the commercial bodies of Amarillo, Plainview, Hereford, and Dimmitt were present. Other towns were invited to send delegates but were unable to do so because of conflicting dates.

President Hill defined the occasion as a purely get-together meeting of the chambers of commerce just around Canyon. He stated that it is the desire of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce for the various towns of the section to have a common understanding of the common problems of this rapidly growing section of the State. He said, "We are in the beginning days of what I believe to be a glorious era in this section, which is as yet relatively undeveloped. I say 'relatively undeveloped' because we are young, and because we are young, we are responsible for the laying of a good foundation for a greater civilization. We can best do this thru our educational institutions, thru training wise and efficient teachers. To do this, we must understand one another and work together."

Speeches were made by C. W. Warwick, editor of the Canyon News; R. P. Jarrett, associate dean of the College; Mrs. T. V. Reeves, director of the bureau of public service of the College; J. D. Gamble, of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce; Frank Bennett, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Wilde, of the Amarillo Board of City Development; Mr. Harrison of Hereford; Mr. Boswell of Plainview; Mr. Roark of the Wayland Baptist College at Plainview; T. D. Moss of Hereford. (CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR)

FACULTY BUSY WITH SPEECHES

Prexy Hill Makes 50 Addresses During the Year 1926

President Hill has been called upon to give many addresses during the year that has just passed. Figures on this matter recently came to light in an investigation of the records of the Bureau of Public Service maintained by the college.

In January, 1926, Mr. Hill gave seven public addresses and in May when high schools were completing their year's work, he gave eleven. There were five days during 1926 on which, in addition to his many other duties, he gave two addresses each day.

During the twelve months, President Hill gave fifty addresses for which careful preparation was required, in addition he made dozens of short talks which he was called upon to make at various meetings.

Other members of the faculty of W. T. S. T. C. who have made many public addresses during the past year are Professor R. P. Jarrett, of the Education Department; Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the department of Chemistry; Professor J. L. Dufflot of the Sociology department, and L. F. Sheffy of the History department. Practically every member of the faculty does some of this work during the year, but the president and the department heads are called upon much more than others.

Pierle Talks on Teeth and Health

Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the department of Chemistry at W. T. S. T. C., addressed more than 100 members of the San Jacinto Parent-Teachers Association on "Teeth and Health," last Tuesday afternoon at Amarillo.

Dr. Pierle's studies of brown stain are revealing that the condition of the teeth of children and adults is important, not only because of their importance in maintaining the proper functioning of the digestive organs, but also because teeth conditions tell much about the diet. It is apparent to all, that diet has a most important bearing upon the health and mental ability of children and adults. Some of the most interesting results of Dr. Pierle's work with animals are to be seen in the pictures which show what happens to animals who are provided with all the food they will eat, but this food deficit in the elements necessary to maintain bodily health and promote proper growth.

Miss Mittie Jones is teaching at McLean this year. She was a member of last year's student body here.

GIRLS HAVE TWO DEBATE TOPICS IN SPRING TERM

Men's Schedule Calls for Debates With Two of Teachers Colleges

STUDY UNIT SYSTEM

C. I. A. and Simmons will Argue Marriage and Divorce Problem

Intercollegiate debate subjects have been chosen and debates are now scheduled with five Texas colleges. Debate try-outs will begin February 9.

The men will debate Northeastern State Teachers College at Commerce and the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College of Nacogdoches at Canyon. The proposition for debate is, Resolved: That the County Unit System of Education Should be Made Compulsory in the State of Texas. It is probable that a debate will be arranged with the Texas Technological College and an open forum discussion with the New Mexico Military Institute.

The girls have two debates scheduled with Clarendon College on the county unit system. One team will go to Clarendon, and another will debate the opposite side of the question at Canyon. Teams will be sent to the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and to Simmons University at Abilene. The girls' proposition for the latter two debates is, Resolved: That a uniform Marriage and Divorce law should be established in the United States.

February 9, is the date set for the beginning of tryouts. All members of the C. W. Batchelder Debate Club are already working on the questions and will automatically become contestants for places on the teams. Any student who is not a member of the Club may try out if he wishes.

The members of the various teams will not be chosen on the basis of try out speeches. The contestants will participate in a series of actual debates in which the two winners will be chosen from each debate upon the basis of the individual contestant's ability as a debator, the winner not necessarily being on the side winning the decision in the preliminary debate.

The winning teams in the preliminaries will then be pitted against each other until a final selection of the intercollegiate debators is possible.

All of the debates will take place in the spring term. Definite dates have not yet been agreed upon. The girls' debate with Clarendon will be held first.

Fire Damages Prexy's Home

Fire caused by a defective furnace did considerable damage Thursday at noon to the home of President J. A. Hill. Mrs. Hill was at home at that time but was unaware of the fire until it was discovered by Travis Shaw. Considerable damage was done by smoke to the wall tints and to the draperies on both floors, but the flames were confined to the furnace room. The Canyon fire department answered the alarm and extinguished the blaze.

Frank Bennett Wants To Move to Canyon

Frank Bennett, son of the late J. J. Bennett, who was a member of the Board of Regents of Texas Teachers Colleges, was a visitor in Canyon last Friday and was present at the dinner given Chambers of Commerce representatives that evening at Cousins Hall.

Mr. Bennett, who is connected with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, praised this school very highly. He quoted his father as having spoken in the highest terms of W. T. S. T. C. and of its president. He stated that if he can so arrange his affairs, he intends to move to this town and make his home here.

Miss Virginia Griggs, who is unable to attend college this quarter enrolled for a correspondence course in English this week.

Student Assembly Thursday

There will be an important student assembly in the Auditorium Thursday at the usual chapel hour. Nominations for the College Celebrities will be made. Every student is urged to be present.

HERSCHEL JENNINGS, President Student Council.

TYPE HI PLANS A VAUDEVILLE

Batchelder to Direct a Benefit Play For The Club

Mr. C. W. Batchelder, associate professor of public speaking, will direct a program of constructive vaudeville to be sponsored by Type HI, local press club. It is the plan to present the program during the winter quarter, and many are trying out for a place on the cast.

The primary purpose which Type HI has in the presentation of this program is to secure funds with which to buy the "T" and Quill pins which are to be awarded members of the annual and "Prairie" staffs at the end of the spring quarter. Mr. Batchelder states that he had planned to direct a program of constructive vaudeville during the year and that he is delighted to have the press organization and other members of the student body to supply talent and aid him in working out this project.

The program of constructive vaudeville will be new and educational and will be welcomed by the students, as it will not only be a high class presentation but also a feature of this year's entertainments.

Those best fitted to the parts will be selected from the number who are trying out for the cast. Students who wish to try out for a place and who have not already expressed a desire to do so are urged to see Mr. Batchelder or a member of the Type HI Finance Committee, which is composed of Lucille Astracian, chairman, Opal Dutton, Everitt Dison, Mason Anderson, and Myrtle Hood.

Eckhardts Are Back in Canyon

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Eckhardt Jr. returned January 8 from a trip down state. The Buffalo football and baseball coach left Canyon soon after the close of the football season for Dallas where he attended the conference of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association and made out football and baseball schedules for 1927.

From Dallas Mr. and Mrs. Eckhardt went to Austin and visited Mr. Eckhardt's parents. They were in Austin at the time the Buffalo basketball team defeated the University. "Big Os," his wife, and his father and mother, were yell leaders for the Buffaloes and put in some very effective work during the game. Their pep squad is highly spoken of by the Buffs.

Visitor's Rabbits Foot Saves Loss of Car

Fate, Dame Fortune, or something or other served Mr. Barber of Hereford a good turn Friday night. Mr. Barber was attending the dinner at Cousins Hall given for chambers of commerce representatives of the Panhandle towns, when chance dictated that he must go to his car for something. On reaching the car, he found that in some manner it had caught fire. A few minutes loss of time, and the car would have been lost. Reaching it when he did, however, Mr. Barber was able to extinguish the flames, stay for the remainder of the banquet, and ride home in comfort—in his own car.

Among ex-students who have recently enrolled for correspondence courses are Gus Miller, Slaton; Ruth Reed, Adrian; Mittie Jones, McLean; Mary Evelyn Jones, Foard City; W. J. Wheat, Ringgold, and Mrs. Willie B. Reid, Gageby.

Student Council Explains Problems and Organization To Student Body at Chapel

Students Given Insight Into Machinery of Body Representing Their Interests in Relation to Administrative Officials.

Defining its position in student life by urging a study of the student's problems by the student, himself, the Students Council made plain its position in college life at the chapel hour last Saturday. Closer co-operation of the students with the faculty, and a more efficient college spirit, were among the things discussed by members of the Council during the hour they were on the platform before the students.

President J. A. Hill introduced the Council and told of its work and of his ideas as to its duties. He plead for greater confidence and greater respect for the council from the students and stated that he believed the council members were due more honor than they had ever received because of their positions. President Hill described the council as a quiet-working, intelligent organization, which makes possible primary contact between student and faculty members. The members of the council are: Odell Head, Fraternity Council; Delmer Ashworth, Cousins Literary Society; Eula Smalley, Le Mirage; Margaret Camp, Y. W. C. A.; Viola Dauer, Sesame Literary Society; June Kolloer, Sophomore class; Opal Dutton, Prairie; Dolphina Carmack, Elaphean Literary Society; Lucille Astracian, senior class; Iris Edwards, freshman class; Elva Lemons, Home Ec. Club; Willie McCarty, Red Men and Ward Golden, junior class.

14 GET SENIOR HONOR RATING

Only One New Member Admitted to Scholarship Society

At a meeting of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society on Wednesday a number of business matters were discussed and some new members added to the society. Violet West was given junior membership and the following students, the majority of whom were already members of the Society, were voted senior membership in the chapter:

Sadie H. Anderson, Lucille Astracian, Dolphina Carmack, Lillian Donnell, Queen Gray, Myrtle Hood, Vernie Newman, Louise Shanklin, Addie Lee Smith, Jewell Foster, Veda Swafford, Bertie Mae Foster, Lillie McKinney, Mae Simmons.

Lillie McKinney was elected representative from the Lloyd Green Allen Chapter to the meeting of the State Scholarship Society to be held in Ft. Worth, February 22.

The question of the annual space to be used was discussed, and members of the Society voted to have two pages. Pictures of ex-students who are members of the chapter and have paid their fees will appear on these pages as well as those of members who are in school now. The fact was brought out that the Scholarship Society is one of the organizations of the college which is in close touch with a number of ex-students.

Plans for a banquet will be discussed at another meeting of the Society to be held soon.

$25,000 in Prizes Offered for Essay

Twenty-five thousand dollars is to be awarded to the young man who is not under twenty nor over twenty-five, and an equal sum to the young woman with the same age qualifications, who can write the best essay on "What Woodrow Wilson Means to Me" between now and Oct. 1, 1927. This contest has been opened by the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Foundation in order that a closer knowledge of the ideals and principles of Woodrow Wilson may be gained.

The essays written for this contest must appraise the ideals, standards and principles of Woodrow Wilson according to the personal view of the writer and will be judged not for literary style but for ideas and should be written in an easy, readable, and informal way.

Those who care to read more concerning the rules of the contest can find that information posted on the bulletin boards on first floor and in the library.

Names Added to Fall Honor Roll

Due to various causes, several errors were made in the publication last week of the honor roll for the quarter. The names of Jennie Osborne, Iva Mae Parker, Estell Fox, and Ethel Clare Oatis and Gladys Glascoe have been added to the roll.

The names of Grace Ferguson, Marjorie Walters, and Mrs. Fremont Mead should not have been on the honor roll as published in last week's paper. A mistake was made in transcribing the grades of Miss Ferguson and Miss Walters, while Mrs. Mead is not carrying a sufficient amount of work.

President J. A. Hill introduced the Council and told of its work and of his ideas as to its duties. He plead for greater confidence and greater respect for the council from the students and stated that he believed the council members were due more honor than they had ever received because of their positions. President Hill described the council as a quiet-working, intelligent organization, which makes possible primary contact between student and faculty members. The members of the council are: Odell Head, Fraternity Council; Delmer Ashworth, Cousins Literary Society; Eula Smalley, Le Mirage; Margaret Camp, Y. W. C. A.; Viola Dauer, Sesame Literary Society; June Kolloer, Sophomore class; Opal Dutton, Prairie; Dolphina Carmack, Elaphean Literary Society; Lucille Astracian, senior class; Iris Edwards, freshman class; Elva Lemons, Home Ec. Club; Willie McCarty, Red Men and Ward Golden, junior class.

Herschel Jennings, president of the Council, stated that the Council could be efficient only when the individual members make reports back to their organizations, and when the organizations advised the representatives as to their views on student problems. Mr. Jennings gave the purpose of the club as "the furtherance of college spirit in any way and in all ways that we can. We want you to feel that this is the most democratic institution in this part of the country and the Council urges you to work together to make it the best institution in the land."

"The relation of faculty to student as brought out through the student council is the measure of the success of the school," Mr. Jennings stated in stressing the importance of the Council.

Miss Lucille Astracian made a plea in behalf of the Council that the members be given a chance to act as student representatives by the students giving information to the council members and submitting their problems to them.

President Hill, speaking for the second time of the morning, as an ex-officio member of the Council, stated that the faculty was interested in getting whatever ideas the Council might have and that the attitude of the administration would be most liberal toward the wishes of the organization.

Miss Dolphina Carmack speaking on the subject of student loyalty pointed out that the student must do his part in school projects. Using athletics as an example she said: "It is your part to do your part of the yelling and no one can do it for you."

"How many of you went home and attempted to make the hometown folks believe that the Buffaloes outplayed the Matadors thru-out the game Thanksgiving?" she queried, in giving ways of testing student loyalty to the school. "Loyalty is a thing that comes naturally and easily if you put all you have into your work for the school," Miss Carmack believes. She also pointed out that student loyalty should not end with graduation but should continue to be evidenced by maintaining contact with the school's interests and returning to it on as frequent occasions as possible.

Delmer Ashworth made the announcement on behalf of the Council of the forthcoming organization of a student assembly at which social affairs will be intermingled with discussions of student problems from the floor in an open forum manner. The student assembly, Mr. Ashworth stated, will be entirely informal and any student will be permitted to speak at its meetings.

On Flunking

At the beginning of the new quarter, many good resolutions are being made as to what is to be done this term. Hearing the threats made, one thinks that text and reference books are due to suffer serious damage in the coming months. Of the various subjects, English and education seem to be in order to receive much of the most serious attention. Science courses are to be hammered unmercifully. A great deal of time will be spent in the pursuit of linguistic ability while all mathematics courses are in for a sound trouncing.

It is to be hoped that all this will come true. It would be a fine thing. But the cold fact of the matter remains. A number of students will flunk one or more courses this quarter. It is regrettable—but true.

What is wrong?

If a failing student has the necessary mental ability, and assuming that he cares whether or not he makes his work, one of two things is true. The student has either underestimated himself or overestimated himself. Either fault in self-appraisal is a deplorable one, and one which is seldom corrected, save through well paid for experience.

Never underestimate yourself. The people about you will do that for you. If an army goes into a battle half-heartedly, and with no expectation of winning, the bugler may as well sound retreat. If you approach a difficult course in fear and trembling, expecting to fail, you have already lost half the fight. This does not mean for you to underestimate the work you must do. Accord the course a sound respect, but do not let your work keep you on the defensive. Take the offensive at the very start and keep on the offensive throughout the quarter. A healthy respect for one's own powers is necessary to real accomplishment in any direction.

One must guard, however, against overconfidence. The big, brash bully may come to grief just as the timid soul may. Self-confidence must be tempered by common sense. A student may loaf and wind-jam his way for a while with apparent success, and play around with a perfect confidence in his ability to make his course, but somewhere, sometime, he will find himself up in the air—and he will hit the ground with a sickening thud. Then it is that there will be "weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth." It is to be hoped that he will awake to the fact that life has a larger objective than mere ease, and that the really worthwhile things in life do not come cheaply. If he realizes this, he will try to keep his feet on solid ground in the future, to keep faith with himself. It is the same matter of over confidence when a student schedules for more work than he can carry successfully.

While not being overconfident then, the student, if he is to go far in school, must have respect for his abilities and a lively sense of his own responsibility for their development. If this spirit be cultivated, the failures will be greatly reduced. Grades will take care of themselves.

Poking About At Random

Education vs. Athletics

Poor college boy! He continues to be the subject of nationwide discussion which is mostly to his discredit—as if he did not have enough troubles as it is. Grantland Rice, high and mighty in the world of sport prognosticators, suggests that the football orgy is rather overdone, and gives some good reasons to back up his judgment. Mr. Rice advocates the introduction of competition on the athletic scale into the field of the classics, hoping that competition will make the college boy interested in spite of himself.

From Herbert George Wells up to the realm of intelligent people, the modern college is getting a unanimous dose of poison publicity, despite the hopeful efforts of the writer's of Mr. Rice's ilk. Magazines and big business join in an attempt to boo the sleek young chap in oxford bags off the stage of competitive life; yet both of these professions are filled to the gills with college stories and college men. Few magazines can be found without an article on what they are wearing in college, what the college boy has for breakfast, what a punk failure at the business of living the college product is, and so on and on. Big business proclaims in a loud voice that if a man wants a job in its ranks he might as well forget it if he is college trained.

Something is going to happen, just the same, to the college world, and even the nonchalance of the college boy will be ruffled when the scrubbin' gtakes place. Welcome.

Divide This By a Nickel

The F. W. Woolworth Co. increased its sales a dozen or so millions this year, bringing the total to $254,639,084. Divide that by a nickel and you'll agree that the Jewish idea of business has some foundation, after all. Not to mention the Scotch.

Compare And Forget

Marie Curie, co-discoverer of radium: "Agitation for better pay for professors in France revealed last week that I earn but $1,500 a year."

Adolph Menjou, screen star: "A court action revealed last week that my annual salary is $130,000."

At last those who bask in the light reflected from greatness are getting their cut of the expense money. Col. E. M. House probably started it, and Roosevelt's negro valet kept it going. This last one from Mrs. Elizabeth Jaffrey, housekeeper at the White House for 17 years, gives us hope that it will be stopped. Mrs. Jaffrey, writing in one of the foremost fiction magazines of the country, describes the intimate private life of Woodrow Wilson as accurately as she is able and lets her imagination fill in the spaces. Which all points to the truth old Aesop grinned about, something like 1,000 years ago: "He who describes greatness is often fond of self."

Mrs. Jaffrey tells one for the book, however, in addition to the ones she tells for the ash-can. Mrs. Wilson's negro maid, taken before Queen Mary during the presidential tour of England, was asked if her quarters were comfortable. The negro, as natural a soul as ever walked on Virginia ground, replied: "You bet they is, Queen!"

"The leopard cannot change his spots, nor the charlatan his robes."

Student Opinion

Make Girls' Lockerroom 100%

It has been the custom from time to time in the college world for two or three per cent of the girls to mutilate the locker-room and appropriate clothing left in the room. It can be said that this is due to low ideals, because a few of the girls that have attended college have destroyed clothing for a joke and have vied with some friend in becoming the greater aggressor.

The West Texas State Teachers College has not had a history very different from that of other institutions. It, too, has suffered from this destructive type of girls. But, as time passes and the standards and ideals of the students are being raised, the majority of the girls in this institution must co-operate to prevent the mutilation of their property by the small per cent of the girls who do not appreciate property rights.

Wahee! Victory!

Hale, Hale, the gang's all here, on the campus green, we beat the University strange as it may seem. Whoop la, Emma, ain't our side grand! Ward may not be a relative of Montgomery Ward's but he sure delivers the goods via C. O. D. Pearson kinda necked that iron post but it oughten't to feel bad cause he done them Sooner boys the same way. They're a snappy pair, buddy, snappy. Preacher done well, and delivered a cute pair of socks to one Sooner; not mad, you know, just aggrieved like. Never kid the referee Crump; slay him, kid, slay him and leave him there. Oklahoma has a smooth team, but we expect they'd sooner play somebody with less talent next time.

Coppid Scores Again

Dennis Barnard and Thelma Crutchfield were recently married, both being exes from W. T., and also White Deer folks. They have 'em a little shanty and when Dennis tells anybody how to get to his house he says, "Just go up this street till you come to a two rooms and a bath." He really doesn't win enough arguments to feel any important than a peach orchard worm, but they're so happy.

Insure Now

Ray Daniel and Dick Hughes is both selling life insurance, and doin' well, thanks. Clem McDonald says their occupations is just a matter of life and death. Dick gave us a policy in his company as a wedding present and we learned later that every time we pay a premium he collects some dollars. He's a business man, he is. The wee-wifie was overjoyed when she found she'd collect double the amount of the policy if we was killed accidentally, there bein' no rollin' pin clause in the policy.

But, honestly, though, we is browbeat. Yesterday she made us quit smokin' Prince Albert and now we smoke Edgeworth because the color of the can matches the furniture so well.

They is two ways to keep from making enemies, and both of 'em is to die.

We pride ourselves on the fact that this is a democratic institution set amidst the finest of environmental factors and led by men and women of vision. Let us, then, as young women of this institution, following the examples of pioneers in the educational field, help our sisters, who have not seen the path of duty, raise their standard. Let us not be destructive critics, but, by precept and example direct them into approved channels of action. Our challenge to the women of this institution is: "Make our locker-room one hundred per cent!"—No. 1—6034.

A sure sign of an undependable debtor is the tendency to evade the man you owe. If you can't pay your creditor, tell him so, and hold your eyes in his till you're through talking. Dodging your creditor is childish, and suspicion, alone, will result. And when you walk out of his store remind him to charge it, and you'll get the credit for being square.

Some critics of the modern college say that it is nothing more than a matrimonial bureau, but we say what if it is, what if it is? From the looks of the divorce court records nowadays, four years is not too long to spend in looking for a spouse.

Here and there

Knowing a man in a far distant place and knowing him in his home town are two different things. In fact, you don't truly know him when he's the stranger. Ordinarily, he's a little more reserved, a little more on his mettle when he's away from home, for he knows that he's creating an impression that will be hard to erase in later years. Some are trying to lead you to believe that they are wealthier than they really are, or more refined, or that their stay within your midst is entirely a matter of condescension on their part, all of which they'll make you believe if they're cleverer than you. The fact that they try to leave a false impression is a good indication that they're not proud of the opinions that the home folks have of them. Murder will out, and so will sincerity and naturalness in the behavior of your friends if you'll watch the little posts. And the little spots are what count; if you don't believe it just try contractin' the measles.

It's gettin' late, my little dears, and you must go to bed. Sleep tight and you may have some nice warm mush when you awake. Well, pip pip, and thanks ever so much.

YOU KNOW THE TYPE

I'm the male student who blocks your passage on the stairs. When I am dashing madly to a class and see some co-ed I want to chin with, I stop her on the stairs, take her by the hand, and begin to shoot her the old line. If she is a member of a rating sorority, so much the better—in that case I keep her there as long as I can, so more people can see us together. I know that we are taking up more than our share of space on the stairs, but I like to show that I am independent and don't care what other people think. If you happen to brush against me in your frenzied rush to make a class on time, I will give you an angry look, unless you are a campus celebrity of some sort. In the latter case I will apologize effusively.—S. M. U. Campus.

Club Officers Asked to File Names To-day

Presidents and secretaries of the various organizations of the college will do The Prairie a special favor, if they will make it a point to leave with the editor of The Prairie, a list of the officers of their respective organizations, also a statement of the character of the organization and just who is eligible to membership. Include too, a statement of the time and place of meetings.

This information will be placed on file in the Prairie office in order that the student newspaper can better serve the college. It is the purpose of the Prairie Staff to keep in touch with every phase of college life, so no matter what your organization may be, furnish this information as soon as possible.

Thank you!

Randall Hall Elects a New President

Randall Hall elected a new president and yell leader Saturday night at a business meeting. The former officers did not return for the winter quarter. Elsie Savage was elected president and Marie Miles was elected yell leader.

Several of the Randall Hall Girls did not return this quarter. Mary Estes has accepted a position at her home in Stamford, Texas. She will return to W. T. S. T. C. next quarter. Ruth Irwin is now attending Simmons University. She received a Scholarship from that college.

Alva Beach is teaching near her home at Wellington, Texas. She expects to enter school next summer.

Grace Weigman remained at her home at Claude, Texas, on account of her mother's ill health.

Effie Phillips is teaching at Higgins, but plans to be back in school next summer.

Eula Mae Burke is at home at Wheeler, Texas.

Elizabeth Farrington has accepted a position as teacher in her home town, Chillicothe.

There are some new students at Randall Hall this quarter, also. They are Don Clinton, of Tahoka; Pauline Gillmore of Turkey; Camilla Holsinger of Vealmoore; and Opal Stovall of Plainview.

Two more girls will arrive soon. Bertha Richards of Artesia, New Mexico, and Thelma Winstead of Plemons.

Two Randall Hall girls spent a part of last week in the Infirmary. Ella Lee Robinson and Mildred Pepple were those on the sick list. Their friends from the Hall sent a bouquet of lovely flowers to each while they were ill.

Last Friday during supper the girls were pleasantly surprised when the piano was dragged out of its usual corner, set in the dining room doors, and Helen Duke played a violin solo. It was decided that every Tuesday and Friday evening a reading, a piano solo, or some kind of entertaining number will be given by one of the Randall Hall girls.

Y. W. C. A. Plans for New Year

Great things attempted and great things accomplished in 1927 were prophesied in the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. last Wednesday afternoon. Letters from the Y. W. exes were read that gave a brief review of what the Y. W. has meant to its members in the past. One letter from an ex-Y. W. girl attested to the fact that her experiences in the association had helped her in getting along with others and in putting her best self forward in the Girls' Reserves. With this as a guiding principle, plans were made for the New Year. Miss Lamb, in an interpretation of New Year's resolution, asked the girls to refrain from accepting defeat in any undertaking this year. She said, "What we think is defeat is sometimes the real key to success."

No doubt, he will give the teachers who hear him a new insight into teachers' problems, and will offer many constructive criticisms to them of their tactics and methods of approach, and spur them on to greater achievements and accomplishments.

Plainview Hi Beats Canyon Eagles 21-20

By a 21-20 score the Plainview High School Bulldogs defeated the Canyon High School Eagles in the Buffalo gym last Friday night.

At the end of the first half the score was 15-5 in favor of the Eagles, but in the second half the Bulldogs scored many long shots, and soon the score was tied. The close guarding on the part of the visitors was the outstanding feature of the game.

Brown, captain of the Eagles was the star for the losers, although he did not show true form. It was hard to pick a star from the winners for they were all consistent players.

Buffaloes Split First Pair at Home With Southwestern Okla. Teachers

Splitting a pair of thrillers with the Bulldogs of the Teachers College of Weatherford, Oklahoma, the Buffaloes opened their 1927 home season on last Monday and Tuesday nights. After losing the first by a score of 45 to 32 the local boys came back in the most approved style and annexed the second by a score of 26 to 22.
A large crowd of cash customers witnessed the two spectacles and all received full value from their investment.

In the opener the visitors won by one of the most sensational rallies ever seen here. The Bulldogs took the lead early but by supreme batting the Buffs managed to overcome this and at the half were in the fore by a score of 19 to 15.
Of the 19 points scored by the Buffs in this period, Loves was responsible for 15. The Buffs maintained their slim lead until about the middle of the last quarter when a couple of baskets by the redoubtable Montgomery put the invaders in front by three points. With six minutes to play,

Capt. Hale of the Herd looped a pair and put the Buffs ahead again. But this was vain, for five minutes before the final whistle
the Canines suddenly rose to heights hitherto unheard of in this neck of the woods, and began looping them from every point of the court and every angle. Indeed it was a beautiful exhibition of basket throwing with Montgomery playing a leading role. This had scored twenty points in the final period to make a total of twenty-six for the evening.

In the second contest the Buffs took the lead at the outset and while always in danger of being overtaken by the formidable invaders they managed to maintain this until the end. In this game
the fact that Ward a freshman guard on the Burton crew, covered Montgomery like the proverbial coat of paint and held him to five points while scoring six himself probably won the game for the locals. Alex Hale managed to be the high point scorer in this melee with fifteen markers to his credit.

Hale, Hale, Say Fans as They Cheer West Texas Basketeers

Hale, Hale, the basketball season is here! What in the world does W. T. care? Everybody knows how much W. T. cares!

Stellar playing such as Nay and Alex have done for Alma Mater is worthy cause about which to care. Nay Hale played his first game of Basketball for this college in 1920-21. Throughout his basketball career here, Nay held the position which he made the first year, that of forward on the first team. Four letters in Basketball were awarded him. Recognition of Nay's ability as an outstanding forward was given,
not only by his own college, but by the T. I. A. A. conference and by basketball fans through out the state.

Compensation to the school for the loss of Nay was made thru his younger brother, Alex. No wonder Alex is attracting state wide attention by his spectacular playing for the third season! Big brother Nay used to take little brother Alex out to the barn
where he taught him the basketball tricks he had learned at college. A barrel hoop fastened to the side of the barn was the means of demonstration. The demonstration was well made and well received as has been evidenced by Alex's good playing for West Texas State Teachers College.

All Hale to the Basketball stars!

Miss Opal Dutton made further announcement of the opening of the Student Opinion column in The Prairie and asked the students to use it frequently. Miss Iris Edwards, representative from the freshman class pledged the support of her class to the projects
of the Council.

McClure Tells Cousins of Oil Towns

Cousins literary society was intertaind with a short program
at the regular meeting Friday night.

Boone McClure told of his experiences in Borger and other nearby oil towns in a realistic way.

A monologue by Willie McCarty recalled to many the trials and triumphs of departed youth.

After these numbers the business concerning the representation of the society in the Annual was discussed.

The Cousins will meet with the Sesames next week.

Scoutcraft to Be Taught Here

The department of Physical Education is offering a course in scoutcraft for men during the winter quarter. Practical demonstration of scouting is the main object of this course. It is organized on the plan of a regular scout troop with all officials from scoutmaster down. There will be 10% lectures and 90% actual work.
Hikes will be taken at various times. Each man taking the course does exactly the same things as a regular boy scout.

W. E. Lockhart will conduct the course. Scout officials from Amarillo, including Thos. H. Nelson,
Chas. Malone and Fred D. Craft will assist in the course. It will co-operate with the scouts in Canyon who are led by C. W. West and L. E. Waite. Three term hours credit will be given and a certificate from the National headquarters of Boy Scouts of America will be issued to those completing the course. The class will meet every Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the old gymnasium.

Fraternity Council Plans for Young Peoples Meet

Plans were made at the Fraternity Council meeting Friday for the young people's union meeting.
An invitation was extended by Jessie Barker for the meeting to be held at the Presbyterian Church.
The Council moved to accept the invitation and hold the meeting January 23. Mr. Barker was appointed chairman of the program committee. Jordan Miller and Odell Head were new members admitted to take the places of Everitt Dison and Edward Adams.
Johnnie Askey presented her resignation as representative to the Student Council and Odell
Head was elected for the place.

Student Council Discusses Assembly

The Student Council met at Cousins Hall Wednesday evening, January 12. Plans were made for conducting the chapel program for the following Saturday, January 15. The proposed project of a Student Assembly was discussed in detail. The Council now meets semi-monthly instead of monthly.

take this course; it would prepare them to attend to their business with intelligence and save them
from victimizing by unprincipled."

Some of the other courses which have proved very valuable are Machine Bookkeeping, Public Accounting and Auditing, and Office Training for Stenographers. In this last course men and women are taught the things which enable them to be valuable instead of ordinary help in the offices
where they are employed. Office ethics, how to meet callers, courteous and proper use of telephones,
the efficient use of office appliances and the execution of legal instruments are emphasized.

Although handicapped for lack of room, W. E. Lockhart has built up one of the best equipped commercial departments in Texas.
Typewriters, calculating machines,
filing devices, mimeographs, lockers, and desks valued in the thousands are used by the students.
Additional room is the only thing needed to enable this department to train teachers and office employees to fill the great number of demands which are constantly coming from every direction.

Banquet

ford; and Judge C. F. Kerr of Dimmitt.

Mr. Jarrett spoke on "The College in its Relation to the Public School." According to Mr. Jarrett, a Teachers College has a fine idealism. It is not for the benefit of the students only, but most of all to the common school child,
for whom it is training teachers.
He gave also, statistics as to the number of teachers trained in the local college, 423 teachers certificates being issued through it last year. He stated that approximately 15,000 people have received training from W. T. S. T. C.

Mrs. Reeves spoke on the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and the work it is doing. "The organization," she said, "does not belong to this institution alone but to the people as a whole. History is being made, and we want to preserve the records which will paint for the eyes of the future generations, the vision of the struggle, the ideals, and the hard work of the western movement. We want to show them too, that all is not yet done, that there is work
for them to do."

Mr. Bennett praised the institution and expressed the intention of moving to Canyon, if possible.
He quoted his father, the late J. J.
Bennett, as speaking very highly of Mr. Hill and of the student body of W. T.

Mr. Roark brought greetings from Wayland College and expressed the hearty good will and friendship of that institution. Mr.
Roark is an old friend of Mr. Hill and of other members of the faculty of W. T. having been in the University of Texas at the same time they were.

All those present expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the meeting and as wanting to attend more of the same character.
