Nursery School Plan Outlined

Committee Studies Use To Be Made of Early Property at Amarillo

Establishment of a first class nursery school by West Texas State College at the Allen Early residence property in Amarillo, recently given to the institution for educational purposes, has been recommended to President J. A. Hill by faculty department heads.

Both children and their parents would be instructed under the nursery plan. Such instruction long has been stressed at Canyon, where the Department of Home Economics sponsors a nursery school each summer. The instructor for several years has been Miss Angie Nell of Greenville, Miss.

The number of courses taught in Amarillo will be small in the beginning. In general, it may be said that credit courses on the upper and graduate levels will be offered insofar as conditions permit. Activities are expected to include lectures of general interest, art exhibits, book reviews, and instruction in the field of adult education.

Extension courses now being taught in Amarillo by College instructors will in the future be centered in the Early building.

A committee appointed to study the possibilities for use of the Early property is headed by Dr. L. F. Sheffy. Other members are Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Miss Margaret Barrett, Dr. D. A. Shirley, Olin E. Hinkle, Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, and Mrs. Geraldine Green.

The property will be transferred in August, when the College will begin preparing it for instructional use.

Harvard Gives Important Fossil To Museum Here

An important fossil of the aquatic reptile, Ichthyosaurus, has been given to the Panhandle-Plains museum. It comes from the Harvard Museum of Comparative Zoology through Dr. Theodore E. White.

The announcement of the gift was made by Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo, curator of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The fish-lizard reptiles lived in vast numbers during the Mesozoic period and varied greatly in size. Some reached a length of forty feet. They had large heads with as many as 400 conical teeth, and their necks were very short. Their feet resembled paddles or modified flippers. Fins and a long tail expanded in a vertical plane. In general, they resembled porpoises, or small whales.

These marine animals are not found in the Panhandle in the Triassic period excavations, although fossils of contemporary animals, the dinosaur and phytosaur have. They have been discovered chiefly in Europe.

"The specimen recently received at the Museum is one of our most important acquisitions and represents a worthwhile gift on the part of Harvard," Mr. Studer said.

Nursery School To Be Operated First Six Weeks

Miss Angie Nell of Greenville, Miss., most popular of the instructors who have directed nursery schools for the Department of Home Economics, will arrive Monday.

She will direct a nursery school during the first six weeks of the Summer Session. The course, Home Economics 411, is required of majors in the subject. It will carry three hours credit.

Children, about twelve in number, will attend the school from 9 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. They will have refreshments at 10 a. m. and lunch at noon. Play will be directed in the Home Economics dining room, where a slide will be placed, and outside at the "jungle gym." The youngsters will be 2, 3, and 4 years of age.

About thirty girls will take the course, according to an estimate by Miss Margaret Barrett, head of the department.

Exes seen on the campus Saturday included: Sidney Johnson, '41, who has been teaching at Vega; George Graham, '40, superintendent at Plemmons; Robert Linder, '39, who teaches at Floydada; Cleo Sawyer Zenor, '39, Higgins.

College Plan Gets Approval

Board of Regents Is Given Report Friday In Austin Session

West Texas State's new reorganization plan, previously authorized by the Board of Regents, was approved in detail at the Board meeting in Austin Friday.

This plan, to be effective September 1, will divide the institutions into Upper and Lower and Graduate divisions, and will sub-divide the Upper Division into schools of Liberal Arts, Education, and Business and Public Administrations. Deans were appointed to the divisions and chairmen to the schools.

Figures given for the current long session show a total enrollment of 1047 students and a present enrollment of 801, of whom 276 are men and 525 are girls. During the two semesters, 420 men and 627 girls have enrolled. Total enrollment is not quite 13 per cent under the previous session, which was the peak year of the institution. Most of the decline is directly attributed to the war. Of the total enrollment, 58.5 per cent has been in the Lower Division and 41.5 per cent in the Upper Division.

Retiring

DR. JOHN S. HUMPHREYS

Although his mental and physical energies belie his 70 years, Dr. John S. Humphreys of West Texas State College is preparing to retire after 45 years of teaching—and to take his first real vacation in 41 years.

He has taught 41 years in Texas colleges, with 21 of these at West Texas State.

A native of Bardonia, Ky., Prof. Humphreys has had a brilliant career as college instructor and college executive. He was professor of foreign languages and co-president of Howard Payne College of Brownwood from 1901 to 1909 and president of that institution from 1909 to 1913. Then he was president of Burleson College of Greenville until 1917, when he went to the college of Marshall as professor of Education. He headed that college as president from 1918 to 1921.

Dr. Humphreys came to West Texas State as registrar in 1921, but in 1923 became professor of classical languages and head of the department. Since 1933 he has been professor of modern languages. He received A. B. and M. A. degrees from Harvard after being graduated at Georgetown (Ky.) College and later did graduate work at the University of Chicago. Howard Payne gave him the LL. D. degree in 1940.

In addition to his scholarship, Dr. Humphreys has been noted for his ability to finance religious and educational projects. These included a girl's dormitory and a girl's cooperative home at Howard Payne.

Hi Schools Begin Graduation

W. T. High Graduation To Be Friday; Canyon High Exercises Thursday

As a climax of 11 years of study, Canyon High School and West Texas High School seniors began their commencement week Sunday, May 17, in the Education Building auditorium, with Bishop E. C. Seaman of Amarillo delivering the commencement sermon. Bishop Seaman is minister of the Episcopal Church.

Superintendent J. B. Speer presided as master of ceremonies. The Canyon High School Band, directed by Harold Barnett, played the processional and recessional, while an anthem was sung by the West Texas Chorus.

The assembly sang "America the Beautiful" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Rev. Joe Findley of the First Christian Church said the invocation; Rev. A. M. Dorsett of the Presbyterian Church gave the prayer; and in conclusion, J. L. Banks of the Church of Christ pronounced the benediction.

The Canyon High School seniors will end their high school careers Thursday, May 21 at 8:30 in the Canyon High School auditorium. Dr. J. A. Hill, guest speaker, will address the graduating class. Following address, Dr. R. A. Neblett, president of the School Board, will present the diplomas. Principal J. F. Dickson will present the scholarships and honor awards.

The West Texas High School ceremony, to be held Friday evening, May 22, at 8:30 o'clock, was planned and directed by Mary Charlotte Word and Daisy Lee Dotson, assisted by Dorothy Warwick and Thelma Porter McMinn.

It will consist of a sketch entitled "The Voice of W. T. High School." All seniors will participate in the program. The Processional March will be played by Beatrice Clark and Mary Hodges. Awards and diplomas will be presented by Superintendent F. E. Savage. The National Honor Society will be announced by the sponsor, Miss Helen White Moore. In conclusion, "Our Dear Old W. T. High School" will be sung by the assembly.

O. B. Ginn, '35, who has been principal of the Skelly School in Moore County, has accepted a position as superintendent of the Friona Public Schools.

Class Gives War Plaque

Married Couple Gets Highest Honors for Being Outstanding

Seniors presented a finale of fun and frolic in the annual senior class day program this morning in assembly.

Garland Turner, president of the Senior Class and former president of the student body was the master of ceremonies.

In the traditional manner, seniors marched in to the processional, played by Virginia Vaughan, accompanied by a junior, to whom the rights of the seniors were passed.

The annual awards to the most outstanding boy and girl students were made by Dr. D. A. Shirley. The Pi Omega plaque goes to the girl and the Epsilon Beta plaque to the boy.

One hundred twenty-nine senior voices rang out in recommendations which would fit the current trend in student thought. The recommendations were made by the president of the class, Garland Turner.

The annual Pi Omega loan fund was given to the college.

A light touch of comedy was added by an act of Jack Maddox and Ben Collins. The act was entitled: "Buffalo Brothers."

Each senior presented his cap to a junior friend and the recessional concluded the program.

Two outstanding members of the Senior Class, selected by faculty members, will have their names engraved on plaques provided by two campus social clubs.

A unique feature of the awards this year is that both went to a married couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Ward were selected as the most outstanding students in the Senior Class on a basis of character, scholarship, leadership, cooperation, and citizenship.

Quentin Ward will have his name engraved on the Epsilon Beta plaque. Next in line for the award was Jack Haley.

Mrs. Ozzaline Ward received the Pi Omega award for being the outstanding girl.

Dr. D. A. Shirley, who made the presentations, noted that the top three girls had only one point difference when the check was completed. The other two girls were Laverna Evans and Nola Margaret Blue.

Each senior class presents the college with a gift as a token of appreciation for the pleasant student days spent on the campus.

The class of '42, the first class to graduate during World War II, will present a fund to the college to be set aside for a bronze plaque on which the names of the college dead will be engraved. Those students who will give their lives in the second world war will have their names before the future West Texas State classes as a constant symbol of the faith and devotion which they felt for their country. It is fitting that they should be remembered as were those war dead of the World War I.

Garland Turner, president of the Class of '42, prepared the following address for the assembly program:

"Our first consideration on Senior Day is to offer our thanks to the people who are responsible for our being here—our parents, the citizens of the state of Texas, and the founders and leaders of our school. To them we owe a debt of gratitude. May we ever be worthy of their faith and confidence which made it possible for us to be here today.

The class of '42 is facing a situation no other class has been confronted with for more than twenty years. In a chaotic world we are taking up our full load of responsibility. Perhaps we feel some sense of discouragement, but we have a task to do and we will not shirk our duty of offering our services wherever we can best serve to protect that which better men than we have died to give to us. In a war-torn world it is our prayer to serve our country to a victorious end so that we may return to our homes in peace and with the satisfaction of a job well-done and there to live in our Democratic way without fear of molestation from abroad.

Each year on Senior Day it is the tradition of W. T. that the Seniors make a summation of their impression of the school and its policies. This task is both a privilege and a duty. We do not profess to be able to tell the administration how to OWN SPEAKER—If the commencement address is unusually long, or dry, John McCarty will know whom to blame. He is the speaker at his own commencement. The Amarillo editor is completing work for a degree which was interrupted when he left college to begin newspaper work.

John McCarty to Address Own Graduating Class May 24

Men of Class Going to Military Services—Half Of Girls Will Teach

Seniors of West Texas State will hear one of their number, John McCarty of Amarillo, when the commencement address is made on the evening of Sunday, May 24.

The College took note of the unusual fact that a distinguished newspaper man was in the Class of 1942, and he was prevailed upon to make the main address to his own class. Mr. McCarty, editor and associate publisher of the News-Globe, interrupted his college career to enter newspaper work in Amarillo. Later he won national honors as editor and publisher of the Dalhart Texan. When he returned to Amarillo a few years ago as editor, he began to take college courses in his spare time, visiting the campus as often as possible. Some of his class papers are outstanding studies of Panhandle social and economic conditions.

Men Going to War

The 1942 class numbers 134 degree applicants, according to the Registrar's last check. Of these, 33 are men. At least a dozen of these men are either enlisted in military branches or have their draft calls. As many others likely will be in a military branch within a year.

The average age of the men is 21.8 years and of the coeds is 21.2 years. Eight girls and seven of the men are married. Fifty per cent of the girls are planning to teach, at least for a time. Several girls and an undisclosed number of the men are engaged to be married.

Members Are Prominent

Vocational choices of the seniors include teaching, radio work, secretarial work, medical careers, seed growing, and government work. Members of the class have been prominent in speech activities, social clubs, journalism, music, sports, church work, home economics, and campus politics. Hobbies they pursue include reading, dancing, sports, photography, and collecting such things as stamps, poetry, postcards, glasses, ships, pictures, and bronze figures.

One of the best known members of the class is Frank Stockman of Malta Bend, Mo., who was captain of the "World's Tallest Team." Roy Cheatham of Panhandle has been Business Manager of The Prairie. Nola Margaret Blue of Hereford has won honors in music. Inez Franz of Quanah has had leading roles in many college plays. Viola Holmes of White Deer has been secretary to the dean of women for several years. From distant Puerto Rico came Ermelinda Irizarri, Beatriz Martinez, and Gloria Soto. Miss Irizarri will be present to receive her degree, but the others have returned to their island.

Athletes Included

The list of senior athletes includes Lee McLaury of Amarillo, J. Olin Reid of Abernathy, and J. P. Meek of Gageby. Garland Turner of Donie, president of the class, formerly was student president also. He managed the College Farm cooperative. Other officers of the class include La Verna Evans of Brisco, vice-president; and Melva Jo Conklin of Flomot, secretary-treasurer.

Marion Miller of Canyon was college personality queen as a sophomore.

College journalists finishing this year include Mr. Cheatham, Maxine Rattan of Amarillo, Dorothy Warwick of Canyon, and Lillian Brown of Canyon.

Weldon Bright has been prominent in music, especially in demand for his piano playing.

Mid Askew, Donald Hawkins, J. P. Meek, Louis Griffin, Dwight Howard and Bill Lofland, Jr. are already serving in military services.

A majority of members of the class are seeking B. S. degrees, and eleven are asking B. B. A. degrees, 28 seek B. A. degrees, and eight are candidates for M. A. degrees.

Commencement To Be One-Day Event—134 Finish

West Texas State's 32nd annual long session commencement will be confined to a single day—May 24—because completion of the current semester has been advanced one week. The change will make possible the opening of a 15-week Summer Session on May 27.

Final examinations for seniors were set for May 15 and 16, but other students will be examined on May 21, 22, and 23.

Candidates for degrees number 129. Of these, 28 are seeking B. A. degrees, 11 ask B. B. A. degrees, 8 are trying for M. A. degrees, and 82 are candidates for B. S. degrees.

The commencement calendar for the institution lists the baccalaureate services of the High School division first. Bishop E. C. Seaman of Amarillo spoke at 9:15 p. m. in the Education Building auditorium on May 17. On May 18, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill gave a reception for seniors at Stafford Hall at 8:30 p. m. Senior Class Day, May 19, will feature a special assembly program at 11 a. m. The annual outdoor concert of the Buffalo Band will be played at 7 p. m. on May 22.

One of the major musical programs of the year will be "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by combined musical organizations at 8:30 p. m. May 23 in the main auditorium.

The College baccalaureate exercises will be held at 11 a. m. on Sunday, May 24, in the main auditorium with Dr. A. D. Forman, Jr., of Amarillo making the address. The final commencement program will begin at 8:30 o'clock in the evening with John McCarty, Amarillo newspaper man, making the main address. Mr. McCarty is a member of the Class of '42 and is receiving the degree which he has earned in part, during spare-time work.

Concepts of Human Liberty

For what is America fighting? What are the citizen's obligations in a democracy? The following understandings are those voiced by Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State, in his recent assembly address. The "quotes" are taken at random from his address.

"The sacredness of human personality is the basic concept out of which have grown all the liberties which we have come to cherish and is the foundation of the governmental structure which has been erected to guarantee these liberties. Denial of this concept inheres in the philosophy of all those who would destroy human liberty. . . .

"It can be said with much truth that democracy is a by-product of Christianity; in fact, democracy is Christianity politically expressed. . . . A democracy in which Christian concepts are not practiced by a majority of its citizens is in grave danger of internal collapse. . . .

"If we would keep our freedom, we must magnify faith and fellowship and temperance and self-control and virtue and honesty and all the other Christian graces. . . . A democracy will not long survive if a majority of its citizens habitually ignore the spiritual nature of man and the essential elements in building strong personality. . . .

"There is a personality within every normal human being and this personality is capable of infinite development. It is not monopolized by any class or race or creed. Greatness is as likely to come from a hovel as from a mansion. . . . Any youth of normal mind is capable of achieving greatness. The genius that is in most of us lies dormant throughout life. . . .

"That personality within you and that is so full of possibilities is as sacred as life itself—it is life. To neglect it, or to abuse it, is the most tragic thing you can do. . . .

"It is the function of society, through government and other agencies, to create and maintain an environment that conserves and stimulates each and every personality, converting human resources into realities, and making every man a king, every woman a queen. . . .

"The faith of our fathers as expressed in the Declaration of Independence eloquently hurls at you and at me the challenge to give our best selves a good chance. . . .

Dr. Hill quoted from a speech by H. W. Prentiss, Jr., president of the Armstrong Cork Company of Lancaster, Penn., as follows in part:

"The love of liberty was not born in an automobile, lubriated with radio, nourished with quick-frozen foods, raised in centrally-heated houses, clothed in synthetic fabrics, entertained by movies, or educated in palatial structures of granite and marble! It was born in a dungeon—in the fetters of tyranny. The time-worn cycle has been: From fetters to faith; from faith to freedom; from freedom to folly; from folly to fear; then from fear back to fetters once more. . . .

"Freedom is not only a pearl of great price. It must be sought and dredged from the murky depths of ignorance and indifference, generation after generation. And on whom does that mission fall with greater justification than on those of us who have been fortunate enough to receive the benefits of a higher education, seasoned with the stimulating spice of fraternal good fellowship. . . .

"The individual who cherishes the intangible yet very real blessings of political, intellectual, and religious liberty must assume a very large portion of the responsibility for his own economic well-being. If he is unwilling to do so and places that burden on the shoulders of government, he will soon find that he has reared a Frankenstein monster whose appetite for power is literally insatiable, and which sooner or later will devour all his other freedoms in the process of making effective its expanding economic controls."

No Parking and Pedestrians

"No Read da English."

After four years of college, it has become apparent that those fortunate people, college professors and students, who possess automobiles are either a bit near sighted or can "no read da English."

"No Parking" signs dot the curbs at the east entrance of the Administration building. A rather large "No Parking" sign stands meekly at the west entrance.

It seems that these signs are merely decorative. Students and faculty members disregard these signs, park their cars next to a "No Parking" sign and continue on their merry way, without regard to the personal safety of others.

Automobiles parked at these so convenient spots obstruct the view of the pedestrian walking down the steps and of the driver approaching the entrance. Countless accidents have happened when someone has stepped out from in front of a parked car. Since the student and faculty member must leave the building by these entrances, he must daily step into the street from the front of a parked car. Fortunately, there hasn't been such an accident here, but as the old adage goes, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Stepping from behind these parked cars into the path of the on-speeding car, a great many being driven above the speed limit, the pedestrian must possess the agility of a kangaroo and hydraulic-brakes to avoid being crushed under the wheels of the speeding automobile.

These same thoughtless persons who endanger the lives of others by parking their cars by a "No Parking" sign and speed their automobiles down the college drives, would not park beside a fire plug. They observe traffic signals in the city, but once on the campus, safety signs become blurred unreadable, illegible and become a signal to "do as you darn well please and to hang with the other fellow."

Those safety signs read "No Parking" and "Slow" but they are often interpreted as reading: "Let the Other Fellow Watch Out for Himself."

There are two solutions to the problem that faculty members and students learn to read and translate the meaning of "No Parking" and "Slow" signs, or if automobiles are confiscated by the government. Meanwhile, students and faculty continue thoughtlessly and carelessly endanger the lives of others by parking in a "No Parking" zone.

—A disgusted senior.

Seniors of both sexes are quite aware that their generation has inherited a war. And it's a first class war, too. They also will fall heir to a difficult peace. . . . But that's nothing much; every graduating class has fallen heir to one and inherited the other. Such is human life . . . so far.

Today's . . . OVERTONES

. . . Farewell

By JOE CRISLER

All too soon comes the time of parting. On next Sunday President Hill will hand out those diplomas to a great number of students. Then it's good-bye. Farewell, Alma Mater. So long, friends. It's been fun.

Look at yourself. you are quite a changed person. No longer the shy, timid freshman who entered these portals four years ago. No longer do you look at the upperclassmen and wonder how they did it. Now you know and still you don't. But you do know, upperclassmen are a bit human too. And you know: It's been fun.

Perhaps one could have accomplished more in college. Instead, one joins this club and that. One goes here and there, for one must have a bit of recreation along with all the work thrust down on his shoulders. There are countless times when the work was ignored, but it was worth it. It's been fun.

College life is like no other. After Sunday, life opens a new area for a great many. Life really becomes something serious. Even somewhat deadly. There are those going out to teach. Into professions. To till the soil. And those who go to fight so that on-coming seniors may have the right to go out and live their lives as they choose. . . . Not as they are pushed.

Not only those seniors, but a word is due the underclassmen. They who have completed one, two, or three years of college. Some will be back in September, in a year, in three years, and never. To all of these goes our best wish. And that isn't just an "annual line."

SO SORRY

To those whose toes we have treaded on, we hope there is no hard feelings. It was all in the spirit of fun.

But those seniors who are now getting last annual signed will leave freighted with happy memories, inexhaustible and unending—of W. T., its warm-hearted faculty and students. It's been fun.

Those seniors have found that some of those drips and stick-in-the-muds have turned out to be pretty good fellows. That each and every one had something that the other fellow didn't have. It took time, but after all, four years is a long time. A great many things are learned besides how to find the square root or Pestalozzi's theory of education. A great many things too numerous to mention, but common property to every one. Only it takes time. For some one year, others four, some unfortunately, never. Regardless: It's been fun.

Four years of college life. Things will never be the same again. There is no other life like it. New responsibilities are upon you. New horizons beckon. New problems, new faces, new surroundings, a whole new complete atmosphere. A new life that can be fresh, exciting, lovable. Unfortunately, also drab and gray. But the old life will not be gone. Stored in the minute little drawers of memory are: That presentation dance, that dinner at Cousine, open-house, home-coming, the visit to the dean's office, that little blonde, that tall boy, and a thousand odds and ends gathered in 1008 days of college life. It's there in the mind and is never to be lost. College life—unforgettable, treasurable.

So, after four long years, the time of parting has come. As it comes, we look back and see all the things we had intended to do, to say, and one thing pops into mind: Remember the recommendations of last year's senior class? Only one of those have been fulfilled—Side-walks have been built, but those student members on committees that affect the student were mere dreams. We pass on down memory lane and. . . .

Buffaloes End Spring Football and Basketball Practice

Tallest Cagers Complete Season

Next Year's Team Defeats Graduates 82 to 58 In Final Scrimmage

The tall boys who prepare for Madison Square will now prepare for a three months vacation as they climaxed the spring season's work Saturday with a scrimmage pitting this season's team against next season's.

With the close of spring training comes more big-time invitations to play big-time schools next year as the bigwigs of basketball are clamoring for places on the Buffalo schedule. Already on the rapid growing list are return games in the Garden, one with Buffalo, New York, and a return engagement to play in the Oklahoma City Tournament.

Big Al Baggett, famous as the builder of tall teams and rock houses is gone for the duration. With him will soon go Leslie Van Meter. But of all the men that could have been picked to fill their place, they just don't come any better than Gus Miller. Miller is expected to have a team next year that will be a close rival to the one of last year.

TRAILIN' the Herd

By STUART CONDRON

IRISH ARE HERE

From up Pampa way comes Pat Flannaginn, six foot-four inch try-out for next year's basketball squad. Every bit as Irish as a spud, Pat looked pretty smooth in scrimmage the other day. Another tall team is expected to be on the menu for 1942-43.

So ends another school year and with it goes another spring training period. This afternoon, some forty guys will hang up their stuff and limp to the medicine chest. . . . Spring football will be over. This is just the lull before the storm though, because when these same fellows come back in the fall, plus a few more a football game that really is going to be a football game comes off on the 26th day of September with Texas Tech. . . . Brother, that is going to be a game that everybody and his dog won't want to miss.

SO ENDS A TAIL

As all students became so calmly aware on Thursday, the annuals are out. Only twenty students were injured in the rush to the book room. This was nearly the end of one of the athletes in the dressing room . . . in fact that is exactly what it was. Seemingly he was so engrossed in the facts therein, he completely forgot that his clothes were off and of his nearness to the hot stove. The next thing he knew, he was on . . . not on the floor, either.

MORAL—In the END the wicked will be burned.

NATION WIDE SPORTS

Before Billy Conn married Mary Smith last July 1, the heavyweight contender's prospective father-in-law roared disapproval of the match and threatened to scramble Billy's handsome features. May 10, following the christening of Conn's newly arrived son at the Smith home, the host carried out his threat. Billy hit back and scored one of the worst binges in his entire career. Poppa-in-law ducked and the Mr. Conn broke his left hand on the Smith cranium, possibly ending his boxing career and almost certainly ruining the prospects of the return bout with Louis, set for early summer. This goes to show just what a father-in-law can do.

War Will Have Little Effect On Texas Colleges' Athletics

The war has put its pinch on Texas college sports, but the major program will be continued next year at most of the institutions. Texas Wesleyan and Weatherford colleges, which gave up football; St. Mary's, which abandoned all intercollegiate athletics and Texas A. and I., which faces a sharp curtailment, are the notable exceptions.

West Texas State, Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech, this state's members of the Border Conference, are not curtailing except that West Texas State will continue football, basketball and track but is indefinite about tennis. Tennis Coach Jack Jouette is expected to receive and Army call soon.

West Texas State's probable future was indicated by Dr. D. A. Shirley, vice-president of the Border Intercollegiate Conference and chairman of the local Athletic Committee in answer to a query by the Associated Press.

Reports from all the conferences and from the independents show tennis, golf and such sports probably won't survive generally but the majority of colleges will be doing business as usual along the other athletic fronts, especially in football.

The Southwest Conference will do some financial retrenching and it is not likely many of the schools will continue minor sports. However, football looks bigger and better than ever with service teams appearing on the schedules.

Tennis and golf will be eliminated in the Lone Star Conference but football, basketball and track schedules will be carried out unchanged. The Lone Star does not have baseball.

President J. H. Shelton of the Texas Conference says no curtailment is expected. Texas Wesleyan dropped football three months ago but the other members, including Trinity University (which was moved from Waxahachie to San Antonio), plan to carry on their programs as usual.

The Alamo Conference is no more, making Texas A. and I. an independent. St. Mary's, the other member, quit all intercollegiate sports several months ago. A. and I. is curtailing its athletic program considerably. Because college buses cannot be used for trips of more than 150 miles radius, the college is scheduling only football games with guarantees large enough to insure train transportation. Track, golf and tennis will be abandoned.

Plans are indefinite in the Texas Junior College Conference, according to President W. H. Elkins of San Angelo. Weatherford College has definitely abandoned football for 1942 and others are considering it.

To be human is to lack perfection and even though at times we have been critical, we are truly grateful for your help, your consideration, and your efforts to instill in us knowledge, ideals, and principles.

Graduation day for the seniors is attended by a mingled feeling of happiness and sadness. To leave the place where we have passed so many happy hours could not fail to touch a melancholy chord in our hearts. Memories surround us everywhere. Still this is but one phase of our lives and we are eager and ready for the next. Our closing word will be—"Long live West Texas State."

To the undergraduates we recommend that you remain in school as long as possible. To the men especially—remember that "he also serves who only stands and waits." You have heard representatives from all branches of service say that an education is your greatest asset in service of your country. Won't you heed their advice and prepare yourself for greater and better service. And to the women—since most of you are preparing for a teaching career, yours is as important a task as that of flying a combat plane. In your hands will largely rest the responsibility of carrying on with the schools. We charge you with the responsibility of training those children in our democratic way and instilling in them love for our country. Our task is to prove to the world that democracy is the best way of life.

Grateful to Faculty To the faculty, we are deeply grateful for the guidance you have given us. There have been times when we have questioned your methods, your interest, or perhaps

Bufs Write Finis to Spring Training

Freshmen To Be Eligible For Competition in Conference Play

It is all over now but the convalescence. Spring football has been put to bed for the next three months.

For the last month, nearly forty prospects for the '42-'43 edition of the Buffalo football team have been under the tutelage of newly-elected Coach Gus Miller. If Coach Miller can locate a couple of tailbacks for reserve strength, and a center, next year's team will be a formidable power-house.

The ever-present threat of inexperience looks to be the greatest handicap facing Miller at present. Although a goodly number of high school stars are on the dotted line, time will prove their ability in the more difficult college competition.

Another aid to the roster will be the new Border Conference ruling that freshman are eligible for varsity play. This ruling makes possible varsity play for four full years.

Standouts picked from the numerous scrimmages include Johnny Thomas, Leslie Curb, Buford Emmer, and Mack Winter. Freshmen of last year are also shaping up to fit into the picture.

On the pre-season list are: Don Anderson, Leland Burgess, Edie

the Knights of Pythias, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, and Texas State Teachers Association, and is a charter member and one of the organizers of the National Association of Junior Colleges. He has held nearly every position within the gift of the Baptist Church.

Dr. and Mrs. Humphreys—the former Sue Hite Maxey of Louisville, Ky., have two children. Samuel Maxey Humphreys lives at Fort Worth and Attie Eugenia (Mrs. Thos. A. Shriver) at Nashville, Tenn. Mrs. Humphreys is prominent in federated club and church work.

Dr. Humphreys won't retire to idleness. He plans to travel, to read, to write. He is the author of a number of essays, addresses, and reports. Answering letters from former students will require a considerable amount of time. His humor, kindly philosophy, and frank appraisals have endeared him to thousands.

His students have liked to surprise him with expressions of esteem. Santa Claus has visited him in his classes and polished apples—dozens of them—have appeared on his desk.

Allan W. Hicks has been transferred from Randolph Field to Waco where he will help take over the new flying field there, according to a letter received from him.

Whites Win 7-6 Grid Victory

Castleberry and Thomas Score Winning Points In Final Scrimmage

Rookie Ed Castleberry and Captain-elect Johnny Thomas joined forces Saturday in a battling spree that carried the Whites to a 7 to 6 victory over the Maroons in the last intersquad scrimmage of the spring training period for the Buffalo gridmen.

Both teams had a brilliant defense but were lacking in offensive power. Coach Miller divided the teams in such a way as to put half of the first team line on one team and the other half of the line on the other side. The same was done with the backfield.

In the first quarter Andy Anderson scored for the Maroons. Berl Pruitt's kick was no good, leaving the Maroons in need of that extra point to keep from suffering defeat.

Players for the Reds were Curtis Kelley, Eddie Castleberry, Mack Winters and William Flowers, backs; Leo Steinkoenig, center; Virgil Kelley and Ed White, guards; Thomas and Roy Schultz, tackles; Jimmie Richmond and Leslie Curb, ends.

On the Maroon team were Buford Emmer and Walter Word, ends; Jim Love and Walker, tackles; Joed Forbus and Clarence Schultz, guards; Williams, center; J. P. McMahon, Berl Pruitt, Don Anderson, and Andy Anderson, backs.

Faculty Members Are Going Into Military Service

Official red tape is still tangled to such a degree that several male members of the faculty still do not know how they stand with reference to the armed forces.

Carl York, math teacher, and Robert Axtell, instrumental music teacher in the high school have already entered the service. York is in the Civil Service Division in Chicago where he is training to be an instructor in the ground school of the Navy Air Force. Axtell was sent to Ft. Bliss at El Paso at first and was transferred to the medical Corps at Camp Barkley in Abilene.

Dr. Conrad W. Freed and Prof. James Butler of the College speech department have qualified to be a Volunteer Officers Candidate in the Army, but will not report until next fall. They took the examination in San Antonio. Prof. R. J. Hibbets, instructor in the Business Administration department, also took the test for VOC at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Al Baggett, athletic director, left last week for North Carolina to take up duties as Army Physical Education Director. Coach Leslie Van Meter expects to enter that branch in a few weeks.

W. Holmes Smith, manual training instructor and L. T. Barksdale, high school coach, have applied for instructorships at Randolph Field in San Antonio. Prof. Derald T. Swineford, art instructor, has received orders to report as Second Lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps at Lowry Field in Denver, Colo. on May 21.

Youth's First Duty—the War

Forty-Five New Voters Take Oaths Sunday As American Citizens

The immediate duty of American youth is to fight the battles of the current war through to victory, but equally difficult, perhaps, will be the efforts to win the peace that follows.

These thoughts were contributed by two college students here Sunday in the observance of "I Am an American" Day. Forty-five new voters, most of them students, took the oath of citizenship as administered by Judge E. C. Nelson of Amarillo.

Roy Cheatham, senior from Panhandle, stressed that each generation must earn the right to enjoy freedom. The keynote of democratic government, he said, is responsibility. General participation in the processes of self-government is necessary. He urged passage of laws which would set up minimum qualifications for office seekers. New voters of this age, he added, face the task of deciding world issues. But the outlook is thrillingly filled with opportunities for youth, he declared, and the new generation faces the future with high resolve.

Miss Inez Franz of Quanah, another senior, said the more than 2,000,000 new voters of this country are realizing, on attaining citizenship, that liberty is a precious thing and one which must be deserved. In this country, she said, "we entrust our heritage to the people." She called for a united defense of cherished freedoms.

Judge W. N. Stokes of Amarillo, justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, spoke on citizenship as a creator of institutions. He ridiculed the idea that any people has "pure blood" in the sense that it is a master race. This concept, he declared, implies that the state which could embrace a master race would be the master state. On the contrary, he said, the state should be the servant, not the master, of the citizen.

Judge Stokes stressed the importance of intelligent voting and willing jury service.

Dr. J. A. Hill presided at the New Voters Day program. The Buffalo Band played and patriotic songs were sung by the Buffalettes, a trio which includes Miss Louise Roach of Pauls Valley, Okla., Miss Jeanne Lively of Pampa, and Miss Meribelle Hazard of Pampa. Claude White directed the audience in the singing of "America."

The Rev. Joe E. Findley of the First Christian Church and the Rev. A. M. Dorsett of the First Presbyterian Church participated in the program.

Dr. S. H. Condon was introduced as the originator of the program in this area.

College Chorus Prepares Concert

The Pirates of Penzance, a comic opera in two acts, by W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan will be presented Saturday, May 23, in the auditorium of the Administration Building. This opera, in concert form, is under the direction of Prof. Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department.

Both the women's and men's choruses have been rehearsing it with the orchestra during the past semester. There are approximately 115 members in the cast.

Soloist parts are cast as follows: Richard, a Pirate chief, is played by Lawrence Hohhaus; Samuel, his lieutenant, is Weldon Bright. Frederic, a Pirate apprentice, is played by Jack Andrews. Houston Bright is playing the part of Major-General Stanley of the British Army. Edward, a Sergeant of Police, is played by Steve Self. aKte, Edith, and Isabel (Major Stanley's daughters) are played by Jeanne Lively, L. Jack Wafford, and Hallie Nell Silgar. Ruth, a Piratical "maid-of-all-work," is played by Florence Clark.

This concert will be presented at 8:30 p. m.

Ralph Owens Is New S. C. A. President For Next Year

Four new officers of the Student Christian Association were named Friday as a result of the open election held by that organization. Ralph Owens, a junior from Tulsa, was elected president; Ora Sharp, junior from Littlefield, vice-president; Estelle Burgess, sophomore of Canyon, secretary; and Gail Ross, a junior from Lubbock, secretary.

The vote moved Ralph Owens and Ora Sharp up from their positions as co-chairmen of the S. C. A.'s skating project to the leadership of the association. All four of the new officers have this year or in previous years been active in the work of the Association.

Retiring officers of the S. C. A. are Mildred Merchant, president; Mary Jane Turrentine, vice-president; and Nola Margaret Blue, treasurer. Melvin Kiker served as vice-president during the fall semester and Ralph Owens filled the office the spring semester.
