

FESTIVAL OF MUSIC IS FEATURE OF SPRING TERM

BIG TRACK MEET HERE SATURDAY

SEVEN COLLEGES TO TAKE PART IN MEET.

Buffalo Team is Training Hard For Contest; Hopes to Win Honors.

The Annual Great Plains Track and Field meet will be held this coming Saturday, April 26, at Buffalo Park with eight colleges participating. The Buffaloes will be hosts to McMurry College, Abilene; Clarendon College, Clarendon; Wayland College, Plainview; N. Mex. Mil. Inst., Roswell, N. M.; Panhandle A. & M., Goodwell, Okla.; Montezuma College, East Las Vegas, N. M.; Southwestern Teachers, Weatherford, Okla.

So far, nothing is known of the strength of any of the teams with the exception of New Mexico Military Institute Cadets. They succeeded in defeating the Buffaloes in a dual meet on April 12 by the score of 64-44. They will in all probability be one of the strongest teams that the Buffaloes will have to face. Southwestern Teachers College of Weatherford, Okla., won the cup last year and it is almost certain that they will bring a strong team to the meet.

From the present outlook, however, it looks as if the Buffaloes have a fair chance at the cup. Since their defeat at Roswell, the team has been undergoing some strenuous training and the weaknesses being worked out.

No definite announcement has been made as to who will enter the different events for the Buffaloes, but in all probability the line-up will be:

Discus—Goodwin Twins, Bivens, Herm.
Mile Run—Butler, Head.
Pole Vault—Mitchell, Fuller.
220 yd. dash—Terry, J. B. Golden, Sone, Vaughn.
16 lb. shot—Goodwin Twins, Roy Golden.
440 yd. dash—Vaughn, Pearson, Roy Golden.
220 yd. hurdles—Terry, Sone, Hill.
High Jump—Mitchell, Hill, Fuller, Harrison.
Half mile run—Bivins, Head, Roy Golden, Pearson.
120 yd. hurdles—Hill.
Broad Jump—Mitchell, Harrison, Fuller.
Javelin—Boatright, Jennings, Herm.
Relay—Sone, J. B. Golden, Pearson, Roy Golden.

Miss Edna Graham has accepted an invitation to read a paper at the Texas State Teachers Association at San Antonio, next Thanksgiving. She has notified J. M. Bledsoe, of E. T. S. T. C. at Commerce, that her paper will be on the subject of "Professional Value of Mathematics to High School Teachers."

The Elapheian Literary Society will entertain the student body Friday, April 25, chapel period. The subject is "Memories of your Youth," so bring an extra handkerchief along.

Art Department Work on Display

Variety of work done in Miss King's department is being featured by the art exhibit which is now on. Members of the Freshman class are exhibiting their problems of conventionalized birds and decorative landscape. Another very attractive feature in the display of the Freshman class is the jolly garden marker. The Sophomores have on exhibit work in batik, or the wax resist process of dyeing, and tie dye work, wooden boxes decorated with reffer, beads made of permadello decorated with enamele, and basketry in raffia and reed.

DENTON WINS IN DEBATE CONTEST

GET UNANIMOUS DECISION OVER LOCAL SPEAKERS.

Debate Was Hard-Fought; Jones and Ashworth Represented West Texas College.

On Monday evening April 14th, in the College auditorium, the West Texas State Teachers College lost in its second annual Intercollegiate debate to the North Texas State Teachers College.

The question debated was, Resolved: That the production and distribution of coal and oil in the United States should be regulated and controlled by the Federal Government. The local college defended the affirmative, the visitors the negative.

The main speeches on both sides were forcefully presented. The affirmative contended that waste and profiteering in the present system made government regulation and control necessary; that facts now withheld from the public would be published by government regulation and control.

The negative contended that a large part of the evils in the production and distribution of coal and oil are caused by forces outside of the present system; that such evils cannot be remedied by government regulation and control; that publishing the facts concerning the present system, without government regulation and control, would be a better remedy of the existing evils.

The rebuttals afforded a real clash. The affirmative refuted the argument of the negative in an able manner. The negative went directly into the heart of the argument presented by the affirmative and explained that the affirmative had failed to present a definite plan of government regulation and control, and that the affirmative failed to show wherein government regulation and control would remedy the existing evils.

The feeling was generally expressed among the student body that the decision was lost to two able and worthy gentlemen.

Tractor School at College Every Wednesday P. M. to June 1st

The Teachers College will have a tractor school every Wednesday afternoon from now until June 1 for the benefit of the seventy agricultural students and such farmers as may be interested in tractor work. The courses will begin at 1:00 and run until 5:00 o'clock.

Each Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to a different type of tractor and the respective companies will have an expert in charge to explain the technical details of their machines. However, the courses will be under the direction of Professor Phillips.

Yesterday afternoon was devoted to the study of the Allis-Chalmers tractor. Wednesday, April 23 will be given over to the Fordson Co., while the International Harvester Co. will have charge on April 30.

Miss Grace Ferguson spent Easter with her parents in Hereford.

Band to Play at Music Festival

The West Texas State Teachers College Band will go to Amarillo Wednesday afternoon, April 23, when they will appear in concert as the matinee program of the third day of the Panhandle Music Festival, now being conducted in the municipal auditorium of Amarillo under the direction of Emil F. Myers.

The band under the direction of Prof. C. E. Strain will appear with approximately thirty-five members, and those in attendance may be assured of a good program.

The personnel may now appear in full uniform. The fifteen additional uniforms recently ordered have been received and it is now possible to uniform forty men.

Art Collection of Miss Helen Hyde Being Exhibited

Miss King, of the art department, has secured a collection of woodcuts and aquatints of Helen Hyde, from the American Federation of Arts, and will exhibit them in Room 105 this week. These charming prints make up one of the most popular collections that the American Federation circulates, and are of great educational and inspirational value to all school people. We are fortunate to have such an opportunity and should give as much time as possible to the study of these prints. They include Mexican, Chinese, and Japanese wood cuts, and Japanese aquatints, besides native American subjects and a group of miscellaneous scenes.

The following article from the pen of one of Miss Hyde's most intimate friends gives us a deeper insight into the life and work of the artist:

"There died in Pasadena, May 13th, 1919, a noted American artist, Helen Hyde. Of cosmopolitan education and training, she was a pioneer in this country in colored etchings, an original and interesting worker in water colors, but her most notable achievement was in the field of wood prints. Many years of study in Japan gave her the Japanese technique, a sureness of drawing, a fine sense of decoration, but the spirit, the tenderness, the charm which she departed to her prints were all her own. But to those who loved her, the distinguished personality, the loyal and generous friendship, the high courage with which life was faced meant even more than the very distinct accomplishments in the field of Art.
A. G. R."

Hours of display will be posted later. No admission charge being made.

Denton Professor Talks at Chapel

Mr. B. E. Looney, Professor of English at the N. T. S. T. C., and father of the Misses Looney of our institution was guest speaker at chapel Tuesday morning. The many interesting features of his impromptu address included reference to his happy relations to various members of our Faculty, and greetings from President Marquis of Denton College.

A thought for constant meditation for all students was summed up in the following statement:

He gave us a splendid thought from President Burton of Chicago University: "The Great Problem of colleges is the development of one's personality, to wake students and teachers to their possibilities."

HINKLE IS NEXT PRAIRIE EDITOR

IS WELL PREPARED TO HANDLE COLLEGE NEWSPAPER.

Has Been on Prairie Staff For Four Years; Member of Scholarship Society.

Olin E. Hinkle of this city, will be the next editor-in-chief of The Prairie. This recognition of the high type of work which he has been performing in connection with the college paper comes only as a just reward for his long, conscientious, and efficient service.

Hinkle was born in a log-cabin somewhere in the state of Missouri. He turned aside from the usual path that tradition says the native Missourian travels. Instead of "having to be shown" he has been going about in his quiet, unassuming way "showing" other people how to write for a college newspaper.

Five years ago Hinkle entered the normal school. He is now a member of the Junior Class and a prominent worker in many branches of student activities. He is a member of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society, and last year his scholastic record won for him the Board of Regents Scholarship. His devotion to his studies is rivalled by but one other thing and that is his consecration to newspaper work. He has worked with The Prairie for over four years, and at one time or another he has served in almost every capacity of the paper work. He has been sports writer, reporter, business manager, and for the past two years has served as managing editor. Not only has he studied the college newspaper work thoroughly, but he has had experience in the print shop, and is well acquainted with all phases of the work.

Hinkle's editorials and news stories have attracted wide attention. His editorial entered in the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association Contest won first place, and his news story took first place in its class.

Our next editor has seen our paper grow from its infancy to a regular weekly newspaper, that tied for fourth place as the best college newspaper in the state this year. Under his careful direction and through his efforts we feel sure that The Prairie will continue to develop and hold its place at the very top among the Texas College newspapers.

Dramatic Club Presents Play

On April 16 the expression department presented a very interesting play at the Dramatic Club, entitled, "The Rose." It was under the able direction of Helen White Moore. The other characters were Verle Fletcher and Mavis Smith. It was altogether an enjoyable little play; the mood of the whole scene was excellent. "Indian Summer and Pearls," a play written by Bessie Walker, will be given at the next meeting of the Dramatic Club.

Miss M. Moss Richardson received word some time ago from the State Department of Health, that her "Health Hints and Jolly Jingles" which was published by the Health Department in 1920, is shortly to go into second edition.

Easter Services at the Churches

An interesting and inspiring program was given by the Juniors of the Methodist Sunday School at the regular class hour Sunday morning. The spirit of Easter was beautifully conveyed in fitting songs and readings by the members of the several classes.

A series of revival services began at the eleven o'clock hour with Rev. Beavers as speaker. The meeting will continue through the week and Dr. Munson will assist the Pastor by filling the pulpit at part of the services. A special invitation was extended to people of other denominations to take active part in the work.

Special music was furnished by the choir under the direction of Miss Mary Clark. As an offertory Herschel Coffee played a violin solo in his usual impressive manner.

LOCAL AND IMPORTED ARTISTS WON MUCH COMMENDATION IN EXCELLENT PRESENTATION OF MUSICAL PROGRAM

The first Annual Spring Music Festival of the West Texas State Teachers College was brought to a close Saturday night with the Little Symphony Orchestra of Chicago in concert. This is the first time in the history of the institution that a music festival has been held and it was a success from every point. It came as a result of the efforts of the Lyceum Committee to give the students something worth while in the way of attractive entertainment.

BUFFALOES WIN HALF OF GAMES

TEAM PLAYS SIX GAMES AT ABILENE.

Nine Made Costly Errors on Road Trip But Got Many Hits; McMurry College Here This Week.

The Buffalo baseball team returned home Sunday from Abilene where they won three games and lost three to the three colleges in that city. The entire series was featured by hard hitting of all teams and the Buffaloes garnered sixty six runs to their opponents fifty one. The Buffaloes showed weaknesses in their fielding, making twenty-five errors in the six games. Lack of practice seemed to be the cause of the Buffaloes showing.

Stock Judging Team Goes to College Station

Prof. T. M. Moore, of the Agriculture Department, left the first of the week, via Ford, for College Station. He was accompanied by George Love, Artie Baldwin, Reagan Sherman, and Harold Shanklin, who compose the stock judging team of W. T. S. T. C.

These boys will participate in the big stock judging contest sponsored by A. & M. next week. Every man on the team ranked among the highest at the stock judging contest here last Wednesday and are confident that they can hold their own with the best that the state has to offer.

This contest is one of the biggest, if not the biggest thing of its kind to be held in the South this year. Contestants from all the leading schools of Texas will gather and there is no doubt but that competition will be extremely stiff.

Other teams entering from this section are Panhandle, Silverton, Dumas, Farwell, and Lubbock, the latter team winning the contest at this place last week.

On the way to College Station our boys will stop at Childress and Hillsboro for the purpose of inspecting some fine cattle and hogs at these places.

At College Station the team intends to enter in the beef and dairy cattle, hog and chicken judging. They will probably be gone about two weeks.

The College String Quartette announces a special program of chamber music one evening early in May. Miss Ada Clark, soprano, will assist the Quartette in the program.

The Festival was opened Thursday evening with Dean Harold L. Butler of Syracuse (N. Y.) University in recital. He was ably assisted by his wife who is a very talented reader. Dean Butler was exceptionally pleasing in his recital and held his audience as no other soloist has done here. Each number brought thunderous applause and other expressions of appreciation. On Friday night, the Chorus and Orchestra of the West Texas State Teachers College presented Mendelssohn's "Elijah," with Dean Butler, bass, singing the part of Elijah. Other soloists were Mr. J. J. Powell, Mrs. C. A. Pierle, and Miss Ada Clark, of the College. A large and appreciative audience heard the rendering of this masterpiece and landed it highly. The Elijah, was under the direction of Prof. Wallace R. Clark, Head of the Music Department of this College and he is to be highly commended for the pleasing manner in which the oratorio was given.

On Saturday afternoon, the Little Symphony Club of Chicago gave one of the most pleasing concerts that has ever been given in the Panhandle. The orchestra came direct from Chicago to (Continued on page four)

MAJOR SPORTS—JACKS

"Some sigh for the glories of this world; and
Some for the prophet's Paradise to come;
Ah! take the cash, and let the credit go,
Nor heed the rumble of a distant Drum!"

Some strive for football achievement; some sigh for basketball letters, and some for baseball sweaters alim. There are a few who even aspire to the debaters cup or to declamatory success. But these narrow-minded few have missed the real calling of a life time. Only in the more youthful and determined groups do we find a real sport that includes all the features of the word. Not only is muscular ability essential, but this new-old sport calls into play the deepest psychological and perhaps, metaphysical qualities. This is no minor sport as golf, not a social fad as dancing, but an inborn tendency. We see it exhibited in the child at a very early age and it grows and increases in favor until it is killed by some of the cruder sports. This last fact is regrettable. The sport which I have in mind is, as you all may surmise, the game or, perhaps, the art of "Jacks." Now, how many Seniors can play a game of Jacks? It is useless to ask a Freshman, and no doubt the Sophomores would be ashamed of their skill.

Let's speculate a while. Think what could be done by developing this instinctive tendency and major sport. We wish our athletes to have previous high school training; our debaters usually have been members of High School teams—but the game of Jacks begins much earlier than either of these. By attentive cultivation of this sport, we may produce a phenomenon in the field of contest and achievement. Would it not be a touching sight to see Green Freshmen and hazy Seniors indulging in the game of Games—Jacks? Imagine ambitious Sophomores seated on the walks adorning the campus—Jacks, yes Jacks—think of couples who would otherwise be courting in the auditorium, enjoying the spring atmosphere and at the same time up-to-date themselves above the average—se who have failed to prepare for the same of life. Would not the scene be thrilling? This is a democratic all are eligible. of responsibility in matters political or social and reflective attitudes are relegated to the province of our elders.

Now morbid seriousness in speech, is not a becoming trait in any person, but very few indeed are the students to whom this characteristic may be attributed. Willingness to discuss real problems and to attempt logical conclusions is much too rare. The whole trend of society is toward the other extreme. If independence is put in conversation, it is done with much risk; therefore host and hostess plan incessant entertainment—to prevent conversation! Moreover, in this age of equality there is no very good reason why men should almost invariably pursue an uncharacteristic, light-hearted discourse when in the presence of ladies.

"Shop talk," even though the shop be a college, is rightly avoided. Yet how many acquired facts be related to life, if not through the medium of conversation? How may one merit his enfranchisement if he does not take a keen interest in public questions before reaching the age of political responsibility.

Man has no greater boon than the power of speech. The exchange of ideas builds up common ideals; those ideals engender feelings of brotherhood and are translated into progressive movements. Obviously, however, popular discussions may be also neutral or even negative in effect. Student conversation should be centered around worthy subjects. And though the wit and genius of modern man suffice much, a spark of fire from Burns, an immortal truth from Shakespeare, a bit of philosophy from the ancient classic are considered invaluable possessions by the scholar.

Clean wholesome thought from mind

WHAT ABOUT OUR ALMA MATER?

Do you know all of our college song, your Alma Mater? If you don't, you should; the Alma Mater is the most inspiring and up lifting, as well as the most beautiful song that could be sung in chapel exercises. But how many times a week do we sing it? How many students, attending their first year at the West Texas State Teachers College know and appreciate the message in our Alma Mater? Every stanza is a lesson of love, of friendship, of loyalty, of achievement,—a spiritual momentum in itself. The whole theme is one of beauty and the understanding of those finer, deeper ties that will bind us when our college years are far behind us. Does a graduate of this college ever hear the Alma Mater without recalling those wonderful days, when his personality was being formed, and not experience a great thrill? Why not impress the same subtle tones upon the first and second year students? No doubt, there are students in school who will leave this institution without having heard the Alma Mater a dozen times. What will it ever mean to them? Does someone venture to suggest that it would eventually grow tiresome by weekly repetition? Does the Bible or our hymns grow tiresome by constant repetition, or do we find some new quality on each reading, some quality that just fits our mood? Is it true that on reading Hamlet the sixth time, one finds less enjoyment, less meaning? Upper classmen, we will be learning our college days are long and will find few opportunities to sing Alma Mater. Don't we need to repeat those words of friendship just as much as the new students?

LET'S SING THE ALMA MATER MORE OFTEN.

Regular chapel programs of the past week were interspersed with many interesting features which displayed the habit of victory that representatives of our Alma Mater have formed, and are constantly living up to. Students in various activities were publicly applauded. Olin Hinkle, champion editorial writer, was commended by Pres. Hill for his skill and the honor that his work has brought the institution. Jack Bailey and Lee Gibbs, debaters, came in for their part of just such deserved praise. Othello Herm, Merle Jenkins, and Billie McClure were heralded as tennis stars that any college could be proud of. W. T. S. T. C. has been covered with glory by such a great number of worthy students that it is useless to try to enumerate them. Mention should be made, however, of one less successful enterprising young man who failed to emerge from a recent experience with the usual West Texas winning smile. The student body sincerely regrets Mr. Haley's ill fortune with East Texas girls who are not inclined to go canoeing. A general hope has been expressed that Evetts will not be too down hearted in his pursuit of the pleasurable things of life.

So much comment on the project of the Manual Training Department, as announced by The Prairie last week, suggests to us that Mr. Donald's endeavors should be duly reported to the Educational Journals as a project in Education.

ACTIONS LOUDER THAN WORDS IN COLLEGE DAILY PANTOMIME

Most everyone who is of even a moderately observant nature has probably seen things of a puzzling character about the college recently. Students have been seen walking about the corridors as if searching for a lost treasure; others are seen gesticulating madly; while others alternately register upon their faces the expression of one who has just had a bite of angel food cake, or of one who has just eaten a green persimmon; while still others may be serenely fishing in a flower bed. But there is one very commendable trait exemplified—they never talk too much—in fact they never say a word. Why all these peculiar demonstrations? Recent reportorial investigations on the part of a staff member has disclosed the fact that these characters are not suffering from epilepsy, or dementia praecox, or some more advanced stage of mental derangement. No, far from it. These students are "pantomimes."

Pantomime is no fad, but it is a form of drama with quite a significant historical background. Just what is pantomime? In England it has been called the "dumb show," an appellation that is self explanatory. Expressed in a more pleasing way it may be said to be "drama without words." And it is a significant fact that this study is unpopular with the ladies.

Pantomime was popular among the Romans. The actors were usually masked. In Italy the pantomime developed such characters as Harlequin, Pantaloon, Columbine, and Scaramouche, these being presented in a kind of popular burlesque.

This study is interesting because of the many practical applications to which a knowledge of it may be placed.

It is a form of self-expression. It gives greater poise and stage presence, a thing that any actor or married man needs. It helps to overcome physical disabilities such as trembling at the knees, and other forms of stage fright.

This study is especially recommended as a means of expression for those after dinner speakers and others who are always finding themselves "too full for words." The language of gesture is universal and should furnish an easy means of expression for those individuals who are too overcome to permit of oral elucidation. Pantomime is also a valuable thing in the mercantile world. Without a certain amount of it the travelling salesman would be greatly handicapped, and the merchant would have trouble in impressing upon the prospective buyer the merits of his goods. Pantomime has long been used by the lover. When this poor thing stands speechless before the object of his affection, what is there that helps to break the social ice and what is it that relieves his strained nervous condition and places him at his ease? Pantomime does the work, though you may have never realized it. Pantomime saves the day "when words fail you."

When you wander about the campus and see someone stealing jam from an imaginary cupboard, or someone fishing on the front steps, or acting the part of a tramp, or perhaps holding the hand of some pretty little damsel, yet never uttering a word, do not disturb them. Pass on, for they are indulging themselves in another form of self-expression, "drama without words"—pantomime. They, like Napoleon, "multiply themselves by their activity."

SH! SCANDAL!

Recently while Mr. Hill was in Austin, he had an occasion to dine with a young lady while fulfilling an engagement. This attracted no attention as people were accustomed to seeing such occurrences daily. The next day, however, Mr. Hill happened to be looking for a gentleman friend in the same place. Not finding him immediately, a look of disappointment crossed Mr. Hill's face. The waiter, not knowing Mr. Hill but being accustomed to helping people out came up and politely remarked:

Mr. Ford Fronabarger and Miss Lamb were seen out riding Sunday while the Dean of Women was busy with other duties. What is this modern world coming to, anyhow.

Miss Winnie Mae Crawford and Miss Katherine Clark gave an enjoyable lecture Monday afternoon on "The Theory of Recapitulation," and every one enjoyed a quiet nap during the hour.

It was reported that some sparking has been taking place in one of Mr. McCarter's Physics classes and that Mr. H. O. Smith and Miss Bessie Walker, dignified Juniors, were both shocked. The electrical apparatus has just been recently installed.

It takes a lot to stimulate some people, but Miss Louise Magee says that Coffee is all that is needed to stimulate her.

One wise philosopher instructed us concerning the evils of a Web; he emphasized the danger that comes from being entangled in one. Some one has advised that Miss Lois Cone should not disregard this wise man's philosophy.

A great quantity of valuable articles and otherwise were snatched from the fire that recently occurred at Randall Hall. Mr. D. A. Shirley was awarded the prize for having rescued the most valuable (?) (?).

Frances Hall was seen staring at a herd of cattle the morning before she was to feature in several dances.

"Why are you staring at those cows?" Inquired her roommate.

"Oh, I'm just trying to get accustomed to having something in front of me so I won't be disconcerted by the Senators."

It is thought best that the fire extinguishers at Cousins Hall be examined so that they should be ready in case of a fire. Miss Willie Hale and Miss Grace Ferguson took it upon themselves to test the one out on the second floor, and as a result the entire hall was flooded. Miss Graham and Mrs. Witt both commended the girls on the dexterity they showed by using the hose.

A conversation was overheard by someone, who told it to someone else and consequently the last named person reported it to the press. This is what was heard:

Aline Love: "I wish I could revise the alphabet."

Odus Mitchell: "Why?"

Aline: "I could get 'U' and 'I' closer together."

On account of illness Jeff Smith has been forced to be absent from several classes. He says the only way to make up lessons is just worry like a tomato till you Ketchup.

Mr. Harry Delaney and Miss Joe Wayland were seen together after the first night of the Music Festival. Announcements will be sent out later.

Found—In Tate Fry's car (after a sunrise breakfast) one pair of gold cuff buttons, 3 powder puffs and 6 empty bottles. The investigating committee has reported nothing further.

WILSON HARBER LEAVES FOR NAVAL ACADEMY

Wilson Harber, who received an appointment to the Naval Academy of Annapolis last fall, went to Abilene Friday, April 11, to take the required entrance examinations. The examinations were held Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of last week.

Mr. Harber has been doing preparatory work here the past term and has made many friends, who will be interested in his progress in his chosen field and always wish him the best of success. Before going to Annapolis, Mr. Harber will be at home in Monday for several days.

Mr. T. C. Delaney and Mrs. D. H. Arnold, Mrs. Delaney's mother, of Memphis visited the family during the week end and attended the Music Festival.

Mrs. Reeves has been appointed to act as parliamentarian for the convention.

CLUB

After the many interesting things said of the Home Economics Girls, what girl can resist coming to the club meetings—even though the hour be late? When I think of what the absent ones are missing I am reminded of this little joke: A clergyman from Cambridge, Massachusetts had occasion to preach to the inmate of an insane hospital. During his sermon he noticed that one of the patients was apparently paying the closest attention, for his eyes were riveted upon the preacher's face, and his body was bent forward. Such interest was most flattering. After the service the speaker noticed that the man spoke to the Superintendent, so as soon as possible the preacher inquired, "Didn't that man speak to you about my sermon?"

"Yes."
"Would you mind telling me what he said?" The Superintendent tried to side step, but the preacher insisted.
"Well," he said at last, "what the man said was—'just think, he's out, and I'm in.'"

Spring in her fresh, new party dress of soft green trimmed with pink blossoms, surely is the symbol of holiday and frolic—never any better season for a real picnic. No, never! and next Wednesday afternoon the Home Economics Club is to have one. Are you eligible? If so, come, and then if you like us, join our club.

ANTLER-ELAPHEIAN
BANQUET, MAY 8

The most sensational affair in the lives of the Antlers and Elapheians during the Spring quarter will be, of course, the annual banquet which occurs on the evening of May 8, at Cousins Hall. Plans are now on foot for a merry gathering. A number of ex-students are expected, and all who have ever worn the white and gold are requested to join in the jolly reunion. This affair is at once a first-meeting place of a great many and a parting to many others. Therefore all should put their hearts and souls into it and cooperate and help in every possible way.

These banquets are the one time in every year when all Antlers and all Elapheians should meet and shake hands. Perhaps it is to talk over past adventures, to recall by-gone love affairs or maybe it is to make new matches or to renew old and form new friendships. Here is the melting pot, wherein are poured troubles, sorrows, disappointments, joys, hopes, fears, ambitions, and ideals.

What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? What does it profit a man if he make an A record, and lose the opportunity of forming lasting friendships? The answer is obvious. People, it does not matter to what society you belong—Stand By It.—Reporter.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING HELD

The Y. W. C. A. met in Room 101 Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The leader, Lillian Atkins, read the devotional reading and gave an inspiring talk on the old subject, but one able of daily thought—The Good Samaritan.

All the girls enjoyed Mrs. Hill's splendid talk on her visit to Hull House, Chicago. We are all familiar with Jane Adams' book, "Twenty Years at Hull House," and Mrs. Hill's personal remarks made the community house much more vivid in our minds. She opened the talk with the following tribute to Jane Adams, which can apply to any girl with an ideal of service and determination to carry it out:

"Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever;
Do noble things, not dream them all day long;
And so make life, death, and that vast forever

One grand sweet song."

Lamorne Switzer sang an appropriate solo, after which the hour closed with a song and prayer.

DENTONITES HONORED WITH "AT HOME"

Immediately after the Denton-Canyon debate Monday night, the members of the Denton delegation, and a few "exes" from Denton were delightfully entertained with a get-together party by Misses Berta May and Kathleen Looney at their apartments on Third Avenue. A very enjoyable evening was spent, after which delicious refreshments were served to: Mr. and Mrs. Ferrol and Miss Inez Jones of Hereford; Mr. Vaughn and Miss Bryant of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lang, Miss Mattie Lee Boyd, Hattie H. Anderson and Alma Burks, and Messrs. Lewis and Sweetman of Canyon; Messrs. Looney, Newton, Davis, Floyd and Bentley of Denton.

—By Student No. 8742.

Misses Grace and Ada Clark and their mother were guests of Misses Euphemia and Lola McGuire at Cousins Hall Sunday. After lunch a "musical program" was in order. Miss Louise Magee gave a number of classical pieces after which Miss Ada sang a few of her beautiful and appropriate spring songs which all guests and friends enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford, Frank Stafford, Mrs. Spencer and little son, Robert, were guests of Miss Malone at Cousins Hall Sunday, April 13. Mrs. Spencer of Denver, Colorado, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stafford.

Mr. Foster Amburn of Floydada was a visitor at the College Saturday. Eura Horn and Bennie Sanders accompanied him to Amarillo where they visited friends Saturday evening and Sunday.

ENDEAVOR SOCIETY
FROLICS

The Endeavor Societies of the Christian and the Presbyterian Churches held a joint meeting at the Christian Church Sunday evening with prominent teachers and students of the College in charge. An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was an Easter Egg hunt immediately preceding the program. Tied to each egg was written instructions that the finder was to follow as his part on the program. Much interest was manifested both in the outdoor and the indoor exercises. These organizations hold a very important place in the social and religious lives of our young people.

Luncheon Served
Debating Teams

One of the most enjoyable features of the North Texas Teachers visit with us was a luncheon served in the Home Economics dining room at high noon, Monday. President Hill acted as host and Mr. Newton, coach of the debaters and head of the History department at Denton, occupied the place of honor, while hearty good fellowship of the greatest informality predominated for an hour of keen enjoyment. Such informal discussion included praise from the Eagles of the Buffaloes that represented W. T. at Denton during Basketball season. Other lines of conversation included relative importance of athletic and literary contests of colleges, and possibilities of Girls' Intercollegiate athletic activities.

The importance of such intimate association of representatives of colleges of mutual interests and problems was clearly shown, and those fortunate enough to partake of the bounties of this event have a keener appreciation of, and insight into—such school interests.

Fourteen men were present, including our president and Mr. Newton, before mentioned: Mr. B. E. Looney, coach of Denton Eagles and Professor of English at N. T. S. T. C.; Mr. Lang, coach of Buffaloes; Willis W. Floyd, Arthur L. Bentley, Thomas Davis Jr.; P. M. Bailey, Lee Gibbs, Mitchell Jones, Delmar Ashworth, A. D. Cummings, Bryant Baker, and Tate Fry. Nine of this crowd are champion Debaters with champion Texas appetites. Their participation at the luncheon did nothing to lower their recognized abilities and capacities.

Miss Burton and her charming assistants continually add great honors to their department, to their efficiency, and to their criterion tastes for planning and executing such affairs in their services. The Eagles and their coaches were impressed to the point of envy of our excellent eaters.

The menu as follows was served in Denton colors:

Cream of Celery Soup	Crackers
Swiss Steak	Scalloped Cabbage
Jelly Mashed Potatoes	Pickles
Graham Muffins	Butter
Waldorf Salad	Wafers
Snow Puffs and Whipped Cream

FLOWERS FOR MOTHER'S DAY

In accordance with the request of Mr. Hill the Y. W. C. A. will co-operate with him and the committee in making the Mother's Day program a success. They are planning to have cut flowers, especially red and white ones, at the College on Saturday before Mother's Day for the accommodation of the students, the faculty, and friends who desire flowers for that occasion. Orders will be filled for flowers to be sent to parents elsewhere. No prettier custom exists than the growing habit of remembering parents on some definite occasion which shall belong specifically to them, and there is no better way to do this than to "say it with flowers."

Y. W. HOLDS EASTER
SUNRISE SERVICE

Passengers on the 6:45 train Easter morning might have been deeply interested in the proceedings taking place near the old railroad grade midway between the Santa Fe track and Wragges Dam. If the noise had permitted, those same passengers might have heard the beautiful clear singing of the Y. W. C. A. Girls and their leaders in a sunrise prayer meeting.

The stillness of the morning, the radiance of the sunshine, the beauty of the unfolding spring, the exaltation and purity of the young women, created a suitable atmosphere for the sacred service. Surely the wonderful Easter story has rarely been set forth more impressively than was done by Miss Hudspeth in her characteristically reverent way. Surely the songs of hope and resurrection were never more touching.

ATKINS-STALLING.

T. B. Atkins and Miss Era Stalling were united in marriage April 12th at Chillicothe. They are both teachers in the public schools at that place.

The bride is from Denton and is known to many people in this city as a very charming young woman. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. R. Atkins. He has been a student in the College until the past two years when he started to teach.

News From The Faculty Abroad

Miss Pauline Brigham, who is studying Piano with Mr. Grabill of Los Angeles will spend the month of May with her parents in Northern California. She will come direct from there to W. T. S. T. C. to assume her duties as head of the Piano Department, June first.

Miss Adeline White, who is finishing her Ph. D. work in Columbia will return to her position in the Education Department for summer school. She reports to intimate friends among the faculty that her feminine vanity shall be satisfied by her arrival home in a stunning coat of New York creation. The garment has a white-fur collar but will be the satisfaction of the owner despite the soaring thermometer of June days.

Many reports of regret come home to us from other Faculty members who will not return for the summer school. Their disappointments, of course are relative to the enjoyment of our democratic environment, and incidentally the foregoing of the pleasure of Wragges Pleasure Park.

Mr. R. P. Jarrett, who is doing his Ph. D. work at Poughbody this year, is busy selecting the Faculty for the Panhandle-Plains Teachers Institute which convenes here from September 1st to 5th inclusive. Mr. Jarrett will return to Canyon June 1st to take his place on our faculty.

Miss Adeline White has been invited to finish her Ph. D. work in Psychology with the celebrated Psychologist of the western coast, Dr. Terman of Leland Stanford University. The invitation, it is understood, has a possible scholarship offered in recognition of the type of work that Miss White has done in her study at Columbia this year.

Miss Marion Witt, now attending the University of Wisconsin, has been granted another scholarship in that institution at double the salary she is now receiving. It is not known whether she has accepted the offer. Miss Witt will be in her regular place with the faculty of W. T. S. T. C. this summer.

Mrs. Randolph and Mrs. Lowndes of Amarillo were visitors at Cousins Hall as the guests of Velma Pendleton and Margaret Lowndes, Tuesday.

Sport Younger and Ferman Sawyer, Superintendent and Principal of the Tulla High School, were visiting in Canyon Saturday. Mr. Sawyer will probably attend summer school.

Dr. Pierle Still Investigating Tooth Stains

It is to be deeply regretted that lack of co-operation on the part of the student body prevented Dr. Pierle and the local Dental Association from making a thorough investigation of tooth stains.

Of the six hundred students who received blanks to fill out at the chapel exercise only three hundred and forty five were handed in. A few of these students were requested to appear for a free examination of their teeth but only fifty per cent responded.

The data thus far obtained, though incomplete, reveals some very important facts. The examinations show that tooth stains may be classified into three groups, brown, chalk white, and mottled; that forty five per cent of the students examined were affected; and that Floyd and Potter counties ranked highest in percentage of tooth stains.

As the information is incomplete Dr. Pierle is unable at present to arrive at definite conclusions concerning the cause and remedy of the disease, although he believes that shallow water in some localities is greatly responsible.

Perhaps the student body was not adequately impressed with the seriousness of the investigation, or perhaps shyness prevented their giving full information, anyhow, there are yet many hidden facts about tooth stains that are of vital importance to this section of the country. Reports from reliable sources point to the fact that many families have moved away from this country and others have refused to come here because of this menace. The seriousness of the problem cannot be over emphasized.

Dr. Pierle and his co-workers deserve hearty congratulations for what they have done in this matter, and should they at any time in the future call upon the student body for co-operation it is hoped that a more satisfactory response will be given.

Flee Hop Has Nothing on the "Old Black Nag"

Unusual attractions at chapel of last week came to a fitting climax in the Saturday morning's program, when Miss Dabbs presented her Physical Education classes in a very interesting program of Morris and Old English dances. Miss Dabbs gave an intensely interesting account of the origin and nature of the dances as a prelude to the program. She reminded the audience of the fact that dancing, as other arts, is a means of self-expression and should have the proper recognition and consideration in any educational program.

- (a) Bean Setting—Morris Dance
- (b) Rigs O'Marlow—Morris Dance
- Evelyn Carruth, Lula Belle Queen, Myrtle Hood, Mrs. Dewey Reed, Wilda Neely, Aubry Smith.
- Pasttime Polka—Arranged by S. H. Gilman.

Magazine Editor Tells of Bird-Life

No one is more thrilled than to hear the story of nature told, especially in evaluating bird-life to man. Such a story was given to the student body in chapel Thursday morning.

John W. Stayton, Editor of "Holland's" magazine, told in a very enthusiastic manner the richness he had found in bird-life. Mr. Stayton graduated from the University of Texas a few years ago and became engaged in the news business in Corpus Christi. Staying there for only a short time, he became editor of "Holland's" magazine. This magazine is now putting on a campaign for the conservation of bird life in Texas. Mr. Stayton's purpose is to organize an association to protect, preserve, and so far as possible to afford food for the feathered family. As an incentive for this, the company is offering several hundred dollars in prizes.

Mr. Stayton hardly touched his subject during so brief a period, and because of the intense interest and valuable information which he had, and because of the anxiety on the part of the students to hear him, he was given another hour in which he told of the fascinating charms and exquisite beauty of our birds. It is very unlikely that many have ever thought of the build of a bird. Mr. Stayton showed four distinct types of feet found among the birds. These particular forms of feet seem to have been developed because of the life in which the bird lives. Some of the interesting facts brought out by Mr. Stayton may be stated briefly. The average temperature of a bird is 112 degrees. Due to the fact that birds exercise themselves considerably, they have developed a large lung capacity, and their framework is made of hollow bones, which makes for unusual strength. Though some of the birds have not wings adapted for flight, there is found a wide variation in wings. The Albatross has a wing spread from 12 to 14 feet; while the Humming bird of South America has a wing spread of less than three inches. Through his entire lecture, Mr. Stayton emphasized the importance of birds to man. It is estimated that bird life in Texas saves the farmers several thousand dollars annually. Mr. Stayton's lecture was enjoyed by all the students and he should feel a welcome back to the college.

The Y. W. C. A. girls posted the Alma Mater in all the new song books this week—let's use them.

The Antlers and Elapheians will have their annual banquet May 8, at Cousins Hall. Buy your ticket at once.

Col. Goodnight Warns Students of the Buffaloes

In a recent letter from Mr. Goodnight, President Hill received valuable warning concerning the handling of the buffaloes which he passes on to the faculty and student body. Mr. Hill advises that everyone should give due consideration to this warning, and has expressed his personal gratitude to Mr. Goodnight for his kindness in this matter. The letter is as follows:

Goodnight, Texas, March 20, 1924.

Prof. J. A. Hill, Canyon, Texas.

My Dear Mr. Hill:

Your letter of the 18th and the accompanying photograph of the buffalo show that you have taken especially good care of them. They have made a fine growth. You must bear in mind that it is not always best to have them too gentle. There is a small percentage of them that, like jerseys, become very vicious when too gentle.

There is a case on record of a man by the name of Holt, living near Yellowstone Park, who had a pet buffalo that was very large and gentle. This man had a habit of riding the buffalo bareback. The account goes that the buffalo ran his horns through the man one day and that the body was not removed until the man's wife went several miles to get a neighbor to kill the animal.

So as the buffalo get older you had better have your people to be careful. I have had them here to become dangerous.

I remain Yours, C. GOODNIGHT.

Early Delivery of Le Mirage Expected

The College yearbook, the Le Mirage, is now on the press. The last of the copy was mailed to the printers over two weeks ago, and all proofs have been read and returned. This should insure an early delivery of the annual to the students than has been the case heretofore, according to Evetts Haley, editor-in-chief of the 1924 yearbook.

The printers should have the book off the press and ready to ship early in May, and it is thought that the delivery to the students may be effected by the 15 of May. This in itself will make the book of more interest to the students, for the enjoyment of looking over an annual is always greater when this can be done in company with all those who have contributed to the making of the book.

The Le Mirage for 1924 will be a larger book than has been published in the past. It will contain over 260 pages. There has been a great improvement on the athletic section. This section is greatly enlarged this year. The football and basketball sections are much more complete than they have been. Baseball pictures are included as is also track, which is represented for the first time in our annual. Another thing of interest in the athletic section is the representation for the first time, of girls athletics.

All the class sections have been improved. The view section should be one of the most attractive that our annual has ever featured. The book will be printed on the very best of paper, and the special sections, view and celebrity, together with the opening pages, will be pebble grained. Much more space is given to an improved section for organizations, and college life is vividly portrayed in pictures that give the atmosphere and spirit of the school. These should make for a better annual.

SIXTH GRADE REPORT

By Irma Hinkle

The main sport for the boys is baseball. Dean Lowes seems to be the outstanding player. Grady Burson and Frank Shotwell are the coaches. The girls' main amusement is "jacks." Doubtless all of you have seen it played.

Last Thursday afternoon, before the Interscholastic Meet on Friday and Saturday, the pupils of the sixth grade had a declamation contest. Of the girls, Irma Hinkle, who read, "The Quaker of The Olden Time," by Whittier, won first place; Zelena Bishop, who read, "America For Me," by Henry Van Dyke, won second place; and Frances Usery, who read "The Lights of London Town," by Simms, won third place. Of the boys, Ford Ward, who read "Crossing the Bar," by Tennyson, won first place; Earl Cobb, who read "The Children's Hour," by Longfellow won second place; and Edwin Reid, who spoke "The Flag Goes By" by Bennett, won third place. Misses Ethel Dartman, Allene Tate, and Besse Maddux were the judges.

The girls of the sixth and seventh have formed an organization of Girl Scouts with Mrs. Delaney as Scout Madam.

Misses Margaret Lowndes and Frances Hall spent Easter at their homes in Amarillo.

FROM THE CAMP

Are the Red Men still alive? Well, I'd say so. They have been meeting so often that we have absolutely lost count. This is what is being discussed at these meetings: First, in order that you may know each member of the tribe when you see him, each man will have a sweater bearing the emblem of the tribe. These will also serve for demonstration purposes. Then the coming baseball games. Of course every student is looking forward to them. Plans are being formulated for the games and every member of the tribe is trying to see a way in which he can help the maroon and white to emerge with another victory. Back the Buffaloes!

NEWS FROM SEVENTH GRADE

A party of seventh grade girls, last Monday, left town at 9:15 o'clock for a hike to Mr. Bailey's farm. They found the journey longer than they supposed and their weariness might have become serious, had it not been their luck to catch a ride. Those going on the hike were: Estilene Harris, Mary Chenoweth, Frances Usery, Evelyn Shanklin, Lorene Harris and Mildred Gregory.

The seventh grade pupils went on an Easter Egg Hunt Saturday at 2:30 o'clock. The boys went early to hide the eggs. A turkey egg, donated by Kay Smith, was the prize egg.

IF A HOSIERY CANVASSER SHOULD CALL ON YOU

Listen to his story of "bargain" hosiery and notice his product carefully. Then drop into our store and look at a pair of No. 590 Ladies silk Holeproof Hose that we sell for a lower price than the canvasser asks for his product and that is of better quality.

We ask you to do this for your own protection. We shall leave it to your judgment as to which hosiery you wish to buy after seeing our goods.
