

Teachers To Hold Professional Meet Friday, Saturday

Students Are Part Of Mother-in-law Fete Wednesday

West Texas State joined with the entire Panhandle area Wednesday in the celebration of Mothers-in-law day in Amarillo. Taking advantage of a holiday, virtually the entire student body attended the celebration.

Buffalo Band and a float represented West Texas State in the gigantic parade. Led by governors of five states, the moving spectacle of colorful bands and floats passed in rapid review before Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the nation's foremost mother-in-law. An immense float of boat-like construction, and said to be the largest ever built, carried 500 mothers-in-law in the parade.

W. T. Queen Presents Bouquet

Quixie Bea King, recently crowned personality queen of the College, presented Mrs. Roosevelt a bouquet of roses at an afternoon press conference in the Blue Room of the Amarillo Hotel. Other students who attended the conference were: Dids Meek, Gonda Biggers, Bill Cone, Billie Ruth King, Fred Hart, Sam D. Burton, Rubye Foster, Jacqueline Tabor, and Charles Hoover. Mrs. Roosevelt was introduced at the conference by John L. McCarty, editor and associate publisher of the Amarillo News, and former sports editor of The Prairie.

Alma Mater, represented by Mary Elizabeth Courage, was the center of W. T.'s float. Presidents of campus clubs were also represented on the float. Company F. Canyon National Guard unit which includes many students, also marched in the parade. Prof. W. E. Lockhart, head of the commercial department, is commander of the local company.

A luncheon, held at the Amarillo Country Club, honoring visiting governors was attended by Bill Cone and Gene Quest.

Wins Prize

Sam D. Burton, Le Mirage snapshot photographer, was awarded prizes by the Amarillo News for two pictures taken during the celebration. One of the photographs was taken during the press conference and the other was of a section of the parade.

Dinner Planned for Those Interested in Visual Education

An added feature of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education will be Friday evening at 6 o'clock at the First Christian Church for superintendents, principals, school board members, and others interested in audio-visual education.

J. B. Speer deputy state superintendent, is arranging the program. Reservations, at 75 cents a plate, may be made with Supt. I. B. Caruth of the Canyon Schools, who is in charge of local arrangements.

The College recently announced that a nationally known expert in audio-visual education would come to the campus to offer a special course in the methods and materials of the subject during the first six weeks of the summer session. He is Earl E. Sechriest of Birmingham, Ala. He will bring $4,000 worth of equipment for use in the course, which will be numbered 351 and will be open to both graduates and undergraduates.

FLOWERS to the First Lady of the United States from Miss Quixie Bea King, W. T.'s personality queen

Miss Quixie Bea King, recently crowned personality queen, is shown above as she presented a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at a press conference held in the Blue Room of the Amarillo Hotel. The conference was attended by several members of The Prairie staff.

I. R. C. Delegation To Regional Meet

A delegation of ten students and teachers will represent West Texas State at the International Relations Club regional convocation to be held at New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell Friday and Saturday. Colleges from New Mexico and west Texas will be represented at the meeting.

Jim Haynes will present a paper on "American Interests in the Far Eastern Crisis," and E. T. Evans, Jr., will read a paper on "Possible Procedures in the Solution of the Raw Material Problem." Prof. S. H. Condon, faculty adviser of the local club, will direct a round table discussion of "The Far Eastern Crisis," and Claude Farley, local president, will serve as chairman of a round-table discussion of "Economic Re-Adjustment for World Peace."

Delegation Listed

Attending the meeting from here will be Jim Haynes, E. T. Evans, Jr., Nancy Bridges, Betty Lou O'Brien, Prof. S. H. Condon, Paul Benbrook, assistant professor of economics; Prof. Mitchell Jones, Claude Farley, Brynild Vaughan, and Rubye Foster.

Among other colleges which have indicated that they would send delegations on the convocation are: New Mexico University, New Mexico Normal University, New Mexico State College, New Mexico Teachers College, Eastern New Mexico Junior College, Texas Technological College, and Wayland Baptist College.

Widely Known Speakers

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace will send two well known speakers to Roswell for the conference — Grover Clark, widely known authority on the Far East, and Dr. Jose Antonio Encinas, distinguished lawyer and professor of Peru. Dr. Encinas received his degree from the University at Lima, and has studied widely in Europe. He will likely speak on dictatorship.

Other features of the program will be a cadet corps review in honor of the visitors and a military ball. A luncheon and elections of officers will close the session.

National Dramatics Fraternity Chapter Founded in W. T.

West Texas State has become affiliated with Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics fraternity. The chapter, Eta Eta, will be installed soon.

Charter members of the fraternity will be: Frankie Dodson, Ola Mae Roberts, Kathleen Hodge, Lawrence McBee, Frances Armstrong, Lady Maurine Archer, Forest Fry, Lelia Cooper, Ione Potter, Dorothy Yearwood, and Mary Elizabeth Courage. To qualify as a member, an applicant must have played a major role in a full-length play, several leading parts in one-act plays, or have had directing experience. Most of the charter members of the W. T. chapter qualified on a combination of play-production and acting. None will be admitted who is classified under second-semester sophomore.

Ex-students and graduates who have met the requirements are eligible to graduate membership. Many exes are expected to request this membership.

ATTENDS EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Gertrude L. Barber, '34, was one of four teachers of the Coffeyville, Kan. public school system sent to the winter meeting of the National Educational Association at Atlantic City.

Miss Barber was graduated with a major in educational administration, and is principal of one of the Coffeyville schools.

MISS RICHARDSON PRESENTS BIBLE TO CACTUS LODGE

Miss M. Moss Richardson, at Vesper services last Tuesday night, beautifully bound Bible and a scrapbook, in which to put articles and poems. The book is the first volume of a series which will be contributed to each year by the succeeding "stickers."

Work On Student Constitution Is Delayed Again

With half the student members failing to attend, the first meeting of the joint Faculty and Student Committee to form a new constitution, adjourned yesterday without taking up the current business. Dr. Hill has called another meeting for Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in his office. All faculty members were present at the meeting yesterday.

Students attending were Brynild Vaughan and Margaret Garner, freshman delegates; Dids Meek, sophomore; and Dorothy Dickenson, junior representative. Clifford Whitehurst, sophomore; Lawrence McBee, junior; and Quixie Bea King, and J. B. Dotson, seniors, failed to attend.

The faculty committee is composed of Dr. R. P. Jarrett, dean of the College; Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women; Dr. Harris M. Cook, dean of men; Miss Ruth Cross, head of the department of physical education for women; and S. H. Condon, head of the government department.

Below is a copy of an open letter that has been sent to the presidents of all classes, clubs and halls: Canyon, Texas, Mch. 12, 1938. To Whom it May Concern:

Since there has been a recognized need of a student constitution in W. T. for some time, and since there is an obvious lack of initiative concerning the actual formulation of such a document into written form, an appeal for active support from the student body and student organizations is being made.

There will be a called meeting of constitutional committee representatives of the four classes in Room 211 at 11:00 a. m. Thursday, March 17th. The purpose of the meeting is to organize the committee, determine definite meeting hours, enlist aid of all interested students and faculty members, to accept petitions and resolutions, and to hear student opinion.

All organizations should present at this meeting their opinions (preferable in written tabular form) concerning time and mode of student elections, qualifications of voters and candidates and all other suggestions pertinent to a constitution worthy of the student body of W. T.

Signed:

J. B. DOTSON,
Senior Class Committeeman.

In the spring a young man's fancy may turn lightly to thoughts of love, but a woman's invariably centers around the new spring outfit.

After a score of years in the Panhandle we gained the impression that spring is supposed to blow in, but perhaps it has really found other means of conveyance this year.

In recent wrestling trips to Roswell, the married men have been the only grapplers to bring home victories. Experience is the best teacher we have been told.

The college golf course should be given an official title. It should not be hard to find a name for the course, for instance, I shot a 54 on nine holes last week.

FACULTY MEMBERS WILL SPEAK AT BANQUET

Several college speakers will participate in a banquet meeting called by the Division of Women's and Professional Projects in this Work's Progress Administration district Thursday.

Speakers will include Prof. C. Stuart Johnston, head of the department of archaeology and paleontology; Mrs. Johnston, superintendent of district-wide paleontological projects; and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the College.

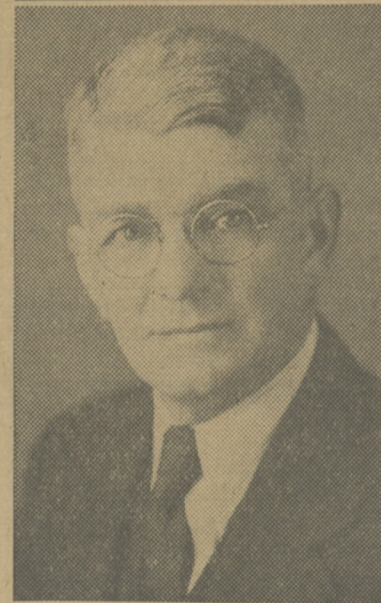

The meeting will be held in the Blackstone Hotel in Amarillo. Other speakers will include: Mr. and Mrs. E. Baker of Santa Fe, N. M., and Mrs. Charles Langston.

The excellent quality of the last two assembly programs has brought up the question of importance: What would the student body have for pet gripe Number 1, if all assembly programs were entertaining? A serious question, but probably not immediate.

Educators famed for their specialized knowledge in teacher-training will be brought to the campus of West Texas State College Friday and Saturday for the sessions of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education. Some of them are pictured above. Leaders in the profession will address both the general sessions and the sectional meetings of the annual conference, which will be attended by school officials, teachers, and school board members of the Panhandle.

70 W. T. Students Are First Voters

Seventy students indicated that they were eligible for membership in the First Voters League of Texas in response to a call made by Bill Cone, local chairman of the League, in Assembly Saturday morning.

Students reaching the age of twenty-one between January 1, 1937 and July 23, 1938 are entitled to poll tax exemption. Students who are eligible but did not attend assembly Saturday are asked to turn in their names at the office of publications.

Though the final date for paying poll taxes was January 31, persons entitled to exemption may secure slips at any time before election.

Members of the local committee are working on a special program for first voters which is to be held next week. Members of the committee are Joe McNeill, Claude Farley, O. J. Richardson, and the chairman.

Students who have lived in Canyon more than six months may secure exemption slips here and vote in their home towns.

If you cannot win, make the one ahead break the record.

Pampa A Capella Choir Sings Here

Pampa High School's A Capella Choir, directed by Miss Helen Martin, drew enthusiastic applause from students in assembly Tuesday.

The Pampa students presented a variety of selections including Negro spirituals, Russian hillbilly songs, Old English hunting songs, cowboy songs, and sacred numbers. Their shading, enunciation, and responsiveness to the director were especially commended by members of the College music faculty.

The singers were accompanied by Miss Mildred Martin, a student Helen Pools, violinist, accompanied by Gene Finkbeiner, played two solos which were equally well received. A student quartet was entered.

Elmer C. Watson, ex-student and present student by mail, is superintendent of the Mattson rural high school near Haskell.

College Classes To Be Dismissed For Conference

One of the largest professional gatherings held in the Southwest will come to the campus Friday and Saturday as educators from all over the Panhandle assemble for the fifth annual sessions of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education.

The College will dismiss classes for the two days and most of the schools on the plains will send their officials, teachers, and school board members to the Conference. This meeting succeeded the Panhandle-Plains Counties Institute which was held here for many years. The new body has been broadened in scope to include interests which appeal to the layman as well as the school man and woman. All citizens interested in the educational welfare of Texas are invited to attend.

Noted Speakers

The program this year includes speakers who are coming from several states. In addition, leading educators of the Panhandle and of Texas will be heard. There are sections for teachers interested primarily in their specialty. Broader problems will be discussed in the general sessions, where the theme will be "Adjusting the Teaching Personnel to the Changing Curriculum."

Much credit for arranging one of the strongest programs in the history of the Conference is being given Supt. Chas. M. Rogers of Amarillo, who is the president this year. His aides were chosen from all parts of the Panhandle. Supt. W. C. Perkins of Shamrock is vice-president and Prof. F. E. Savage, director of the College Demonstration high school is secretary-treasurer.

Held Preliminary Meeting

The district House of Delegates affiliated with the Texas State Teachers association will hold a preliminary meeting at 1:30 p. m. Friday in Room 211 of the administration building.

The first general session will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday with President Rogers introducing the Borger high school band directed by Richard Walker. Dr. Hill will give the address of welcome, and J. L. Gilmore, superintendent at Wheeler, will respond. L. A. Woods, state superintendent, will make the opening address, after which the Men's Chorus of West Texas State College, directed by Prof. Wallace R. Clark, will be heard. The second address will be by Dr. B. F. Pittinger, dean of the school of education at the University of Texas, who will discuss "The Teacher as a Factor in Modern Society." He will be followed by Dr. A. J. Stoddard, superintendent of Denver schools, whose subject will be "The Individualization of Instruction."

Second Session

In the second general session at 1:30 p. m. Friday, a mixed chorus from Amarillo high school, directed by Miss Mabel Rowan, will open the program. H. P. Clemons, superintendent at Dimmitt, will preside.

Le Mirage Copy Is Ready for Engravers

Last copy for the 1938 edition of Le Mirage will be sent to the engravers this week with the exception of a few pages which will be held open for spring activities, members of the yearbook staff have announced.

J. P. Crowe, art director of the Stafford Engraving Company at Fort Worth, will arrive here tomorrow with proofs of finished Le-Mirage illustrations. He will assist Virginia Hohaus, editor, in making final page lay-outs and will return to Fort Worth with several pages of Copy.

A padded green cover with the title in gold embossed letters was selected last week by members of the staff. David J. Malloy of Chicago will supply them.

College organizations which have submitted pictures for the annual are urged to turn in descriptive material at the earliest time possible. Glyndon Riley, business manager, said Friday. Seniors who have not yet filled out the Le-Mirage information slips are urged to do so at once by the annual staff.

Students who did not enter school until the opening of the current semester may still make reservations for yearbooks, Riley said. They will likely be ready for distribution early in May.

No. 2—College Golf Course

Newly reconditioned to meet the urgent demands of an increased number of golf enthusiasts, the West Texas State Golf Course was officially opened to playing Mar. 1.

This recreational improvement is another of the expansive measures taken by the athletic department. During the winter months, the course was changed, new tee boxes were constructed, new green and fairway signs were made, and greens were reconditioned. Despite the change of the course, the par of 36 was not altered.

The course is open to all regularly enrolled students—the matter of expense being included in the student activity fee. Outside membership is limited to fifty persons who pay one dollar monthly for use of the course.

Work on the course has been supervised by Prof. W. E. Lockhart, golf coach. It is mainly through his efforts that the appropriation was secured and the plans for rebuilding were made. Clyde Posey and Frank Kelley, who are also available for golf lessons, are the student employees who act as operators and caretakers.

The course was constructed in 1928. Professor J. L. Duflo secured the appropriation for it, and surveyed the links. The land was leased from Mrs. L. G. Conner, Canyon landowner. Mr. Duflo actively managed the course during the ten year period. Mr. W. E. Lockhart was awarded the position of supervisor in September, 1937. The recent innovations cost approximately as much as the original investment.

The course consists of a 60-acre tract and is situated just east of the city limits on the south side of the Palo Duro State Park highway. The total yardage is 3230, and thus its distance is one of its greatest hazards.

Hole No. 9, is the longest of the course, and has a par five. Here the fairway heads west, but has a dog-leg to the right at the 275 yard marker. The shortest is No. 8, which is only 160 yards long with a par three. Holes 1, 6, and 9 have hazardous ditches. The flat approaches on some holes give even good golfers much trouble.

In view of the remodeled links, Professor Lockhart saw his opportunity to build an intercollegiate golf team. Saturday, the golfers opened their season at Sul Ross thus including golf for the first time as one of the minor athletics.

SPRING UPHOLSTERY AT W. &amp; M.

The startlings are flocking over the grain elevators of South Seventh Street with, as Margaret Leonard notes, method in the seeming madness of their flying, and students at the College of William and Mary are ganging up on Delegate Franklin Daniel of Lynchburg, with the demand that more money be appropriated for benches for the campus. Spring cannot be far behind!

We wonder what the romantic figures of old years on the campus of the old college would think of the current request for cushions. "A detail which we would appreciate immensely, would be cushions on all these benches," said the white paper from William and Mary. Has our age become so effete that young romance needs shock absorbers even amid the soft light and shadows of the old elms?

Not quite yet, anyway. Down at West Texas State College, which is considered one of the biggest matrimonial agencies of the Lone Star State the professor of English has provided a "courting fence" for her freshmen. "Courting is natural," says Miss M. Moss Richardson, the understanding professor. "It is shameful that in the educational world generally, teachers regard campus courtships lightly, or even flippantly."

No one could accuse old W. T. S. C. of doing that, for the courting fence is of stone. "The Fence," we read, "is just the height of a chair seat and is wide enough for comfortable sitting." Will students of the College of William and Mary please note the kind of upholstery that is called into service when spring peeps over the campus at West Texas State?—Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch.

Those who noticed the "Book mark" exhibit in the library have come to the conclusion that they could locate some of their missing "things" if they could examine all the books they have used recently.

(BY HOPE BUSSEY)

SONNET

I see blue shadows on the gleaming snow,
And weeping willows lately hung with lace;
A frozen stream that winds and ties a bow
About the meadow's melancholy face.
Above me, clouds—a mass of fluffy wool
Move on in haste across the skies
To join up with a lovely cloudlet full
Of grief. But now I turn my eyes
To watch, on fields of white, black cattle roam;
On fields of white—with glittering white rope fence.
A yellow glow appears above the chrome
That crowns the distant hills' magnificence.
I hear the song Panhandle farmers hear
And feel the hand of Prosperina near!
(Mrs.) Lois Parker.

SONNET: CRUSHED VIOLETS

Strange, how these violets, crushed within my hand,
Give back to me this sweet and rare perfume
That fills the empty midnight of my room,
As though the breath of angels had been fanned
Into the darkened windows from a land

Upon whose threshold, where rare
violets bloom,
That grim spectre of oppressive gloom
Has not, and shall never, never stand.
And so it is when hearts are smashed and torn,
And lie aghast upon the blood-
drenched ground,
For soon they rise again, though bruised and crushed,
And lo, in them, as in a soul reborn,
A sympathetic love for man is found,
Not present ere that heart's own pain was hushed.
Houston Bright.

DENIAL

You wonder why
I, a woman,
Do not want sons?
It's just this—
Man-made guns
Will someday Roar louder than
All the ocean's waters
When gravity ceases!
And as for that,
I want no daughters
Of mine
Ever to know
The shock of such A monstrous show
As war.
And so,
You see,
I want no sons.
—B. R. K.

CARRIAGE FREE

A man with a few cases called a taxi cab. "How much do you charge to the station?"
"Three shillings," the driver answered,
"but I don't charge for the luggage."

"Well, take the luggage then," the man said, "and I'll walk."—Providence Journal.

Graduation time must be nearer than we thought. Seniors are collecting in groups to talk about prospective positions.

A MOIST WELCOME

During the war American soldiers in England refused to have their spirits dampened by the dense fogs.
The colonel of a regiment, making a night tour of a certain camp, was challenged by a sentry who had been standing at his post for two hours in a driving rain.
"Who's there?" said the sentry.
"Friend," replied the colonel.
"Welcome to our mist!" said the sentry.

WHERE TO GO AND WHAT TO DO

By Jack Taylor

Everyone who attempts to see and go to all places which offer attractive entertainment, will be as busy as a bartender at a convention.

Comedy galore is featured in cinema entertainment Saturday night with little Jane Withers and Stuart Erwin and Una Merkel. The play is "Checkers," and Jane is a mischievous little girl who plays as a true horse-lover. M. C. just burst in, and I asked her about the show "Checkers." She said that it was just too, too cute for descriptive words, and interrogated she saw the world premier in Hollywood—I knew she was fabricating to no end—and that it was divinely touching. Incidentally M. C. "touched" me for ice cream money, saying she was of valuable service and should receive some kind of remuneration regularly. I was prone to disagree. Anyway "Checkers" is a swell show, and it swells Jane's popularity.

"Hollywood Hotel" has excited much favorable comment from those who have seen it. It is classed as a first class musical with first class trimmings. Boasting a cast of this kind, such comment is justified.
Dick Powell, Benny Goodman and Band, Lola and Rosemary Lane, Ted
Healy, in his last performance,
Glenda Farrell, Hugh Herbert,
Frances Langford, Edgar Kennedy and others. With a roster like that to work with, any producer could turn out creditable shows. Mr.
Powell plays an altogether different type of role. You'll like him much better than ever before. Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.
Make plans to see this one.

LOOKIE! Miracles do happen.
We have a fairly commendable movie slated for Friday and Saturday matinee. June Travis and Ronald Reagan are the stalwarts who are in the starring roles and do some creditable acting. "Love Is On the Air" is one of those pictures the directors spend large amounts of money on to produce those too expensive "colossal" shows which they think give them a precedence. For a good time see "Love Is On the Air," a swell show.

One of the most dramatic shows produced the past decade is "To-varich," starring Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer. With comedy interwoven in the plot the show is a tremendous hit with a double
"h." Both, in reality, are royalty but pose as ordinary working people. Boyer has access to a huge fortune but in the end sacrifices it for the love of his mother country, Russia. Wednesday and Thursday is the date, and make a date to see this marvelous production. One of the better, group of movies.

Mae West, and that delovable figure et al, etcetera, will be shown at the Olympic Theater for tonight only, two for a quarter night. Miss West turns in her most successful enactment in several performances, in "Every Day's a Holiday." Splendently supported by Charles Butterworth, the movie is of the best type.

RICHARDSON SPEAKS TO P.-T.

A GROUP THURSDAY
Miss Mary Moss Richardson of the English department discussed
"Teaching Our Children to Appreciate Literature" at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association Study Club at Canyon High School
Thursday afternoon.

Miss Richardson had a selection of books which she showed mothers and teachers as appropriate reading for their children. Miss Richardson teaches a course in English dealing with literature for children.

The student body as a whole is exhibiting conspicuous indifference to the question of a school constitution. However, if one is adopted they will no doubt exercise the good old American custom of bickering over it.

Some persons, student and faculty, evidently think that no government is the best government.
If these anarchist principles are carried out, we might have bombs on the next assembly program.

American crime begins in the home, says J. Edgar Hoover. That is if you can find anyone at home.

Howdy, you'll see Friday what you'll look like next year, when this campus AGAIN becomes infested with these things called teachers.
Looks like we, the innocent student body, will be forced to take a holi-

TRUTH

A paper is a wonderful invention.
The school gets all the fame,
The printer gets all the money.
The staff gets all the blame.
Too, too true and thanks to the Western Graphic for this bit of verse.

DEDICATED TO DR. PIERLE

Dr. Pierle is my teacher; I shall not pass.
He maketh me show my ignorance
before the whole class.
He giveth me more than I can learn; he lowereth my grades.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of knowledge, I learn not.
He fireth questions at me in the presence of my classmates.
He anointeth my head with slams;
my eye runneth over.
Surely molecules and atoms shall follow me all the days of my life.
And I shall dwell in the science
lab. forever.—Copied.

WEATHER:

Yesterday: snow; Today: snow;
Tomorrow: Damn that dandruff.

"I had," says the mythical reac-teur, "twelve bottles of whiskey in my cellar and my wife made me empty the contents of each and every one down the sink. So I proceeded to do as she desired, and withdrew the cork from the first bottle, and poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank."

"I then withdrew the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with the exception of one glass
which I drank."

"I extracted the cork from the third bottle and the good old booze down the sink, except the glass which I devoured."

"I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, then I threw the rest down the cork."

"I pulled the cork from my throat, and poured the sink down
the bottle, except for one cork,
which I drank."

"Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink, and drank the pour."

"Well, I had them all emptied, and I steadied the house with one hand, and counted the bottles, which were twenty-four except for one house, which I drank."

"So I counted them again when they came around, and I had seven-around again I counted them except for one house and one bottle, which I drank."

"I proceeded to wash the bot-the bottles, so I turned them inside out and washed and wished and wiped them all and went upstairs and told my wife, and I got the wifest little nice in the world."

TEST

He must review for tomorrow's test,
And the moon was shining full,
He'd skip the study if he could,
But he didn't have a pull.

He stayed at home to study well,
But the battle wasn't won—
First Jack came in, then John and Bill;
The struggle had begun.

They talked and argued lustily
Till ten o'clock came 'round,
Then they drifted out one by one—
In his room was not a sound.

The arms of Morpheus had beckoned
His fact riddled mind to hold,
Nothing loathe he'd acquiesced,
And lay on the bed, out cold.

Next morning found our hero
Up at the crack of dawn.
And at eight o'clock he was racing
Over the frosty lawn.

He arrived three minutes early
And eagerly scanned his notes—
Posted facts on a shakey mind
Which readily shed the notes.

He wondered what book professor used
To harry his troubled mind,
And why the answers weren't in his notes.
Well—they were a little behind.

Sid Braunig Talks On Style History To Girls' Club

Members of the Home Economics Club heard Sid Braunig, who broadcasts fashion flashes over Radio Station KGNC, discuss styles at the regular meeting of the club Thursday morning.

"Style is one of the most important words in the vocabulary of any woman and has been ever since the day of Eve. Woman strives to make herself more attractive than man," the speaker said.

Mr. Braunig, who is employed by Regent's clothing store in Amarillo, credits ready made clothes with having done more to quicken changes in style than any other one thing. With new styles and new fabrics, few dresses are made on the same pattern, he said. It is Mr. Braunig's opinion that Paris is becoming only an influence on American styles and not an exclusive example for American designers to follow as it was several years ago.

"Today American women are from 80 to 90 per cent smartly dressed," he said.

"Before the World War, dresses seemed to fashion after the hour-glass, but since that time the lines are fashioned after the natural lines of the figure, and conform more to simplicity. Prior to the War designers and fashion shops started featuring style shows to display their styles and to educate the American woman's taste for better fashions.

"Hollywood looks to the great out-of-doors for its styles and to Hawaii and Mexico, while eastern designers look to London, Paris, and the French Riviera.

"Originality is the keynote of the success of any style," he concluded.

Romance Steals Spotlight In High School Operetta

Romance finally stole the spotlight from a score of college presidents who gathered to decide upon the momentous problem of who was the real finder of these shores in a two-act comedy operetta, "Who Discovered America?" presented by music and speech students of W. T. High School Tuesday night.

The production was enthusiastically applauded by a packed auditorium which heard the selections offered by a cast of nearly one hundred students including five brilliantly costumed choruses in addition to the leading characters.

Directed by Mrs. Tommie Montfort and Miss Ada V. Clark of the high school faculty assisted by college practice teachers, the setting for the musical drama was the estate of Dr. Cerebellum, whose role was played by Duane Legge. Here a dozen college presidents gathered in their traditional mortar boards and gowns accompanied by a radio announcer, photographers, naval cadet chorus, military chorus, chorus of Spanish ladies, chorus of gum chewing champions, and a doll chorus.

The purpose of the gathering was forgotten when Congress demanded that a settlement be reached in the inevitable love triangle involving a military cadet, a naval cadet, and the daughter of Dr. Cerebellum. The public was kept informed of the activities of the meeting by a radio announcer, played by A. G. Thornton, high school student.

Solos in the production were sung by Cleo Bourland, Edward Line, Bessie Lane, Bernard Warren, Howard Bolling, Dick Smith, and Duane Legge.

IONE REED, Hollywood stunt girl, after a hazardous feat, asked for a Camel. And that led to the question: "Do you have definite reasons for preferring Camels to other cigarettes, Miss Reed?"

HERE'S MISS REED'S ANSWER: "Yes, I certainly have. Camels are different in so many ways. Going through my stunts over and over is a severe test of healthy nerves. I smoke Camels all through the day, and my nerves don't feel the least bit frayed. Being so mild, Camels are gentle to my throat too. After a meal, I enjoy Camels—for digestion's sake. You see—in so many ways, Camels agree with me."

DARING? Yes! Foolhardy? No! Ione Reed knows what she's doing. And she smokes Camels, because, as she says: "It means a lot to me to know that my cigarette agrees with me!"

Millions of other people find that Camels give them what they want in smoking! Men and women in all walks of life say: "Camels agree with me!" If you are not now enjoying Camels, perhaps you, too, will find as others have, that it means a lot to smoke Camels—the cigarette that is made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS, Turkish and Domestic.

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

FOR RECREATION Miss Reed likes cooking...dancing...out-door sports. And Camels! "Hollywood seems to prefer Camels," she says. "I notice so many of the stars smoking them."

"What cigarette do the tobacco growers smoke themselves?"

"Camels — by a large majority," say planters who know the kinds of tobacco bought by each popular cigarette

T. N. Williams, well-known grower of Winchester, Kentucky, says: "A planter knows tobacco. My last crop was the best I ever had and the Camel people bought my best leaf tobacco. There isn't any question where the more expensive tobaccos go. They're in Camel cigarettes."

"I'm a planter," says Vertner Hatton, who has grown tobacco for 25 years. "Camel bought the best leaf tobacco of my last crop. Paid a high price for my finest grades. I smoke Camels—because I know there isn't any substitute for more expensive tobaccos."

Top prices, that's what J. B. Jackson, successful planter, got from the Camel buyer last year. "Camel buyers don't buy just any tobacco — they pay more to get the best. That means finer tobaccos are used for Camels. I say quality has got to be grown in tobacco. That's why I smoke Camels."

Mules Bowl Over Polecats In Final Intramural Game

Jennings' Mules reign as college intramural basketball champions by merit of a 29-15 drubbing handed the Phillips' Polecats in the finals Thursday night in Burton Gymnasium.

Sparked by a tall duo, the Morris boys, with effective bracing from a small and speedy forward, Bradley, the Mules steadily drew away from the listless Polecats, and at the halftime whistle were leading 14-9. Holl Toles, Polecat forward, outstripped his indifferent mates and turned in a fine individual performance personally accounting for 11 of his team's total of 15 points.

The victory kept the record of the Mules unblemished. They started as one of the favorites of the tournament and ended by coping the title without dropping a single game. On the other hand, the Polecats started from rock-bottom taking an early beating. Adding a few newcomers to their roster, they waged an uphill fight that carried them into the finals.

Another team that dominated the tourney from the start was the T Club which was forced out of the tournament by successive defeats at the hands of the Mules and Polecats respectively. They, however, were playing without the services of their spark plug, Oscar Hinger.

Betas Fail to Click
Epsilon Beta, the ambitious gentlemen from the social whirl, failed to click in the closing seconds of an all too close game missing two successive crisp shots, either of which would have tied the game. They were edged out by the Polecats 39-37. G. (Roughhouse) Riley scored 7 field goals and five free tosses to take high scoring honors in this game with 19 points.

Roanoke Defeats Bufs In Second Round At Tourney

It was a case of David rocking Goliath in Kansas City Wednesday afternoon when the elongated West Texas State Buffaloes fell before a stumpy, fast-passing quintet from Roanoke College of Salem, Va., 38-34. The loss eliminated the Bufs from the National Intercollegiate Tournament.

Take Early Lead

The Texas-Virginia affair was a nip-and-tuck affair most of the way. The Roanoke cagers took an early lead, but by halftime the Bufs stood out in front 17-16. Eight minutes before game time, the Virginians led 28-27, but from that point they broke away and the Bufs were unable to muster the cage strength to stop them. Soon, they had stretched the margin to 37-29 and it was all that the Bufs could do to narrow the gap at game time.

The previous afternoon, the Bufs cagers had stepped into the second round by virtue of a close 35-34 win over the diminutive Westminster Blue Jays of Fulton, Mo. The height of the Bisons was too much for the Missourians who were virtually helpless under the baskets.

Bufs Lead at Half

The Bufs commanded a halftime advantage of 19-16 and increased it when they returned to the floor. When the end approached, the Blue Jays staged a sturdy rally, and with one minute remaining sacked two baskets to pull within one point of the leaders.

Captain Conway Butler of the Bufs led his mates' scoring with 12 tallies, but played second fiddle to Westminster Guard Shipton, who rang up 13 counters.

The box score of the second game follows:

West Texas (34)	fg	ft	tp	pf

Tennisters Win Over Sul Ross in Opener; Golfers are Defeated

In a match replete with early season defects, the West Texas State netters opened their spring season with a clean 2-1 win over the Sul Ross Lobos in Alpine, Saturday.

The golfers were not so successful and dropped to the Alpine linksmen in both team play and individual play. The match marked the first golf team that West Texas has placed on the field in intercollegiate competition for many years.

It was the pure stroking of Norton Curry, Buff ranking singles man, that saved the day for the locals. He walked over Jennings in singles at 6-0, 6-4, and team with his partner, Frank Kelly, to defeat Jennings and Weatherford, Sul Ross 6-2, 2-6, 6-0. Kelly had previously lost in singles to Roark, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5.

The team play in golf was exceptionally close as the West Texas golfers went into the eighteenth hole, one up. The Sul Ross men, Parker and Hoard, supplied last minute shots to pull ahead of the local representatives, Clyde Posey and Forrest Faulkner.

In the individual play, Parker and Hoard of Sul Ross shot a 75 each, one more than West Texas' Clyde Posey could manage for.

Miss Mate Graye Hunt, '12, is librarian of the Winnetka School at Dallas. She is chairman of the library section of the North Texas Division, Texas State Teachers Association, which held its annual meeting Saturday.
