DOUBLES TEAM
LOSES AGAIN

Hemphill and Boyd Conquer Doubles Men Again in Thrilling Games; Jenkins' Style of Play Proves Effective

West Texas State Teachers College net men added another victory to their list Saturday by defeating Texas Tech Matadors, five out of six matches.

Oscar Thomas, new man on the Buffalo squad, showed excellent quality in both doubles and singles. Thomas is making the old timers work for their places on the squad, and has Coach Lockhart guessing as to who will play the T. I. A. A. tournament.

Jenkins was still on the job with his consistent playing, and made his opponents wonder where he was going to place the "pill" with his short "chop" stroke. Jenkins and Thomas made their opponents look bad in both singles and doubles.

Lewis and McCarty showed the same reliable form of previous games by taking both their matches in singles; however they were not able to beat the champions of the Great Plains Meet, Hemphill and Boyd, in doubles.

Result of the tournament:
Doubles: Jenkins and Thomas, Canyon won from Don and Board, Tech, 6-3, 6-2.

Lewis and McCarty, Canyon, lost to Hemphill and Boyd, Tech, 9-7, 6-10.

Singles: Thomas, Canyon, won from Winston, Tech, 6-1, 6-0.

Lewis, Canyon, won from Vond, Tech, 6-0, 6-2.

Jenkins, Canyon, won from Lahm, Tech, 6-1, 6-1.

McCarty, Canyon, won from Hitt, Tech, 6-2, 6-1.

MANY STUDENT
RECITALS DUE

Work on Commencement Play is Well Under Way

The Public Speaking Department is utilizing every available moment of the remaining few weeks of this term in extensive preparation of an interesting and varied program, composed of a series of short plays and recitals and a commencement play.

Beginning Wednesday, May 5, the Dramatic Art Club presented two short plays, the first, a romantic comedy entitled "Knocking at the Door," written by L. A. Osgood of West Texas State Teachers College and was directed by Mrs. Jewel Rhodes, a member of the Senior class. The second play was entitled "Cash—Two Thousand Dollars" and was directed by Miss Dalma Fry. In connection with the Pageant, "Under the Greenwood Tree," given by the physical education department on Saturday evening, May 8, eleven members of the club presented an old English comedy entitled "The Right Word." These two features rendered in excellent style produced an atmosphere that was distinctly "Old English." On May 12 and 13 the club will present four scenes of "King Rene's Daughter." This is a poetic play, a lyrical drama translated from the Danish of Hendrick Hertz. The last meeting of the year will be held May 26. At that time the advanced drama interpretation class will give a satire by Maude Humphre, entitled, "Why Girls Stay at Home." The Junior Dramatic Club, Tuesday night, May 11 will give an arrangement of "Cinderella" by L. A. Osgood, and directed by Betty Smalley. Costumes are to be worked out by members of the advanced public speaking class, and music will be furnished by the Junior Orchestra under the direction of Herschel Coffee.

In addition to the numbers featured by the Dramatic Art Club,

Beautiful Program Dedicated To Mothers Attended by Large Crowds in Auditorium Sunday

A beautiful tribute to the sacred name of "Mother" was paid at the annual Mother's Day services held Sunday morning at the College. The Auditorium was crowded with students, towns people, and many visiting mothers and fathers who were the week end guests of their sons and daughters here.

In the absence of President Hill, Mr. Jarrett, head of the department of Education and associate dean, presided over the service, which opened with the singing of the "Doxology." Professor Gordon Lang pronounced the Invocation. The scripture lesson from Proverbs was read by Dr. D. H. Munson. Special music for the occasion was furnished by the College Choir, made up of thirty-five of the best voices in the student body. A truly wonderful Mother's Day sermon was preached by Rev. M. M. Beavers, pastor of the Methodist Church of Canyon. The sermon, thoroughly original in content, full of subtle humor, and permeated with a spirit of devotion and reverence for the highest ideals of Motherhood, left the congregation satisfied in spirit and filled with a renewed love and appreciation for those cornerstones of civilization, Home and Mother, whether they are present relatives or dim, hallowed memories seen through a mist of tears, as the presence of many white carnations indicated was true of many people.

"Long live Mother's Day! It is symbolic of the best that the human race idealizes and reverences. The ties of home are the world's life savers; he who reverences the name of Mother can never stray far away from the path of right."

Band Concert is Feature of Mother's Day

Another feature of the Mother's Day service was the Sacred Concert given by the College Band under the direction of C. E. Strain at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon.

The program opened with the playing of "America" which was followed by a Medley Overture of familiar church hymns. Ripley's beautiful arrangement of "Lead Kindly Light" was the next number. Miss Ada Clark, in her usual charming manner, sang "Mother and Home." A cornet duet, "The Palms," was played by C. E. Strain and his son, C. E. Jr. "Peace, Troubled Soul," by Maz-zinghi, and "The Heavens are Telling," a selection from Haydn's "The Creation" were rendered by the band. In order that the other half of the family might be remembered as of equal importance, the College quartet, consisting of Milton Beavers, Fremont Mead, Tate Fry and Ira Powell, sang "Dad," a tribute to Father. "That jolly good fellow, Whom age has made mellow." This number proved so popular that an encore was demanded, this being graciously responded to with a "Mother" song. This enjoyable program was closed with a band number, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again"—until another Mother's Day.

Miss Lizzie Ruse, who was a student here in the summer of 1924, is teaching music in Vernon. Miss Lois Johnston, now teaching at Kress, visited in Canyon Monday.

three open recitals will be held. May 13, a number of students will give a miscellaneous program. May 18, the department will present Miss Frances Croson and Mrs. Felicia Applewhite in a joint recital. May 21, Miss Betty Smalley will be presented, assisted by Miss Eula Smalley, soprano.

"Work on the commencement play has started," stated Miss Brown in an interview last Thursday. "The play selected is entitled 'The Goose Hangs High.' It is a comedy presenting problems that are facing the youth of today, and a practical solution of these problems. That is dependent for fulfillment upon the appropriateness and personality of the characters themselves in relation to each other and to the circumstances of the plot."

BUFFS HOPE TO COP T.I.A.A. MEET

Middle Distance Men are the Backbone of Team

With the T. I. A. A. Meet only a week off, Coach Burton is putting his men through steady work-outs. All season the team has been handicapped, but this week has been a good one for work outs, with the exception of one day, and all the men are in the best conditions they have been in during the season. The squad has dwindled to the nucleus of old timers, and Burton is placing his hopes with winning the meet in Hill, Bennett, Vaughn, Reagan, Tyler, and Turner on the track, and Loves and Sanders in the field events.

The strongest competition of the year will be met at the T. I. A. A. meet. Denton Eagles, who will be contesting on their home grounds, the first Teachers College to be the host of the T. I. A. A. teams, will put one of the strongest teams in the Association in the meet. First honors will probably go to one of the following teams: Canyon Buffaloes, San Marcos Bob Cats, or Denton Eagles.

Strangely enough, these teams are strong in different departments, Canyon's strength is in her distance and middle distance men; San Marcos place her hopes in Daitey and Wright in the field events, although Morton has been clocked at 2:6 in the half, and at 4:58 in the mile. Strahan also has a fair relay team, having been beaten only by the Haskell Indians at the Rice relay meets.

Denton Eagles place their hopes for winning in Noah on the far-long and quarter, Lewis and Miller in the half, and their fast relay teams, Noah, Miller, Lewis and Glibbreath.

There are two other men in the T. I. A. A. who have shown themselves to be exceptionally good, but have no strong support. They are Nelson of A. C. C. and Chandler of Commerce.

Sam Houston Teachers, Daniel Baker, and St. Edwards all have fair teams, but unless the Saints come from behind, these teams are not likely to be in the winning at the T. I. A. A. meet.

STUDENT RECITAL

Pupils of the Public Speaking Department were present in a recital Thursday afternoon. The following program was presented: "Gardeners Both," by Frances Croson; "Billy Brad and the Forbidden Fruit," by Ruth Patterson; "Calling on the Doctor," by Tip Carruth; "Mother's Day Poems," by Betty Rose Kerr.

Cadets Get Next To Elkins
for Eight Hits

The heavy hitters of the Cadets got next to the offerings of Elkins Monday in the first game of a two game series and the Cadets won the game 7 to 3. The defeat came as a surprise to every one for the Buffaloes won two games with ease from the Soldiers at Roswell last week. The second game of the series will be played this afternoon. Students are urged to attend this game as it is the last game of the season. The baseball team has won ten out of eighteen games and the weakness of the pitching staff has been the only reason for the loss of those games that have been lost.

Tech Boosters Visit College

Tech Boosters were given a hearty welcome Monday at noon when they invaded the West Texas State Teachers College. Their male quartet, Tech Torenors, and their "charlestonians" entertained the student body with several numbers. A wish of good will and friendliness sent Tech Boosters on their way to Amarillo. About thirty people are making the trip.

Saturday Afternoon 4-3 and 6-4

By Oscar Gamel

The Buffaloes played in good form Saturday afternoon in defeating the Abilene Christian College Wildcats in the first game of a double header 4 to 3. In the second game the Cats took an early lead that the Buffaloes were unable to overcome despite one of those famous last minute rallies. The second game went only seven innings according to previous agreement. Harrell worked the entire first game

CLUB WOMEN OF
AMARILLO MEET

University Women Are Guests at McCarter
Home

The Canyon members of the Amarillo branch of the American Association of the University Women's Club gave two teas Friday at the home of Mrs. T. B. McCarter. The home was beautifully decorated with pink geraniums and tulips.

The afternoon tea was given in honor of the senior girls of the Canyon High School, and the evening tea for the senior girls of the high school division of the West Texas State Teachers College. The University Women were assisted by several of the members of the Senior College Class.

The program for the teas were very appropriate. The theme being "love" was presented in Joachim Raff's "Cavatina," by Miss Mary Clark; and in "The Magic Loom" from Jonston's "The Little Colonel in the Boarding School." The remainder of the time was spent telling interesting college experiences.

The University Women intend to make this an annual custom. Every high school girl present plans to attend some college next year.

ECKHARDT MEETS
FOOTBALL MEN

Coach Tells Athletes Summer
Training Necessary for Prime Condition of Men on Teams

Coach Eckhardt met the football men Wednesday evening and discussed the problems for the following year. Most of the lettermen of last year's football squad and several new men were present at the meeting. The old football fighting spirit was dominant throughout the session. Eckhardt discussed the following points: (1) Lettermen should be the backbone of the following season. (2) Necessity of training throughout the summer in order to be in condition when football season opens. (3) Importance of men being loyal to the team by staying throughout the season. (4) Football letter-men deserved the right to have a definite and a regular kind of a "T" sweater that may be easily distinguished from the other athletic sweaters.

Eckhardt has received letters from many of the letter men out of school as well as a number of high school stars stating that they would be here to enter training camp starting September 10th. The prospects for a winning T. I. A. A. eleven looks bright to coach.

Eckhardt's plans for the summer are to put forth all his time and efforts in preparing for the 1926 football season.

Miss Jess Barber of Cone visited friends here Monday.

started the second but the Wildcats began getting to him and Johnson took his place. Johnson went in at an unfortunate time for the Christians went on a batting spree and when the smoke had cleared away three runners had crossed the plate. His good headwork helped him and Johnson settled down to steady hurling, allowing only a few scattered hits. The Bisons staged one of those noted rallies in the seventh, but it came too late to win and the Wildcats took the game, 6 to 4.

This gives the A. C. C. a lead over the Buffs this year, the Wildcats having won two games from the Buffaloes while on their first road trip. The games now stand 3 to 1 in A. C. C.'s favor.

PREVADES PLAY

Lines Written by Osgood; Brown and Shaw Direct May Program; "The Right Word," a Play, a Pretty Feature

Frances Croson, amid the cheers of her merry makers was the event which greeted the visitors of the College Saturday night. After the singing of the Foresters died away the Goddess of Spring, Marion Atkins, danced with her usual grace and charm; then the Queen was crowned and the merry makers proceeded to entertain her. Several typical old English dances followed. The Garland Dance, Moorish Dance, Gathering Peasecocks, and Boscawle were among them. Then followed the most favored of all, the May Pole Dance with many gay colors.

A group of Strolling Players approached, and "The Right Word" was presented. King Growfater, of Do-as-you-please-land, Princess Winsome, Witch Methuseba, and Prince Splindleshank made the comedy most enjoyable.

After the play visitors from foreign lands were announced. Egypt, Italy, Holland, Spain, Scotland, and Greece were represented by the Egyptian dance, Farentellat, Dutch Dance, Flowers of Spain, Chinese Dance, Highland Fling, and the Greek Sacrificial, all of which showed much skill and beauty.

All lines were written by Mr. Osgood. Mrs. Ethel Gray Shaw and Miss Mary Morgan Brown directed the May Day Festival.

Students' faculty, visiting parents, and friends of the College enjoyed a well planned program in chapel Saturday morning. The Men's Chorus, under the direction of Prof. Wallace R. Bryan made the program very pleasing by reading the address in Mr. Hill's absence.

Handles District One,
At Austin

On Tuesday, May 4, Mr. W. E. Lockhart, Head of the Commercial Department in this Institution and Director General of the Interscholastic League of district one, boarded the special train for League people bound for Austin. Mrs. Hill accompanied him as chaperone. This is Mr. Lockhart's third trip from this district to the State Track Meet.

Everyone who attended the District Meet held here April 27-28, knows that Lockhart is an A-1 Director General. But they are not the only ones who know it. Roy Bedichek, one of the managers of the State Meet, wrote Mr. Lockhart saying an important task awaited him in Austin. That important task is giving other Directors pointers on how to make a track meet a record-breaking success.

Mr. Lockhart will return on Sunday with new plans and ideas for the Track Meet of 1927.

Ray Daniel, president of the senior class, will give the commencement address at the Wildorado High School Friday, May 21. Mr. Earl L. Forbes of Carlsbad, New Mexico, is here visiting his cousin, Miss Ruth Forbes, and other friends at "The Pueblo."

Colonel House

One of the most popular pastimes of sophisticated editorial writers to-day is the condemnation of Colonel E. M. House from all angles made possible by his recently published papers. Even Bud Fisher, worn out veteran of the cartoon game, tried his hand at a gentle satire of the Colonel.

It is quite easy for a twenty-five dollar a week editorial writer to criticize any person in human form. Colonel House's method of keeping his diary facilitated this criticism. If Colonel House had worked over his notes and made his published work a secondary life of Wodorow Wilson it is feasible to presume that his critics would have been fewer. Colonel

House deserves credit for keeping his personality apart from that of his chief. He did not, at any time, cater to Wilson's ideas. House went at the job like the newspaper men who criticize him: got the facts, formed his opinion, and presented both to Wilson.

To Our Sponsor

The Sophomore Class is proud to have this opportunity of expressing our appreciation for our sponsor, Jim Webb. Jimmie, as everyone who knows him will admit, is an all round good fellow in time of fun and pleasure, and a sympathetic listener in time of trouble. At the Sophomore "Kid Party" Jimmie was the center of attraction, for you see we love

Jimmie as much when a "kid"

as when grown up. Then again all the "Soph" girls had to have Jimmie to roast weinies and marshmallows for them the day the "Sophs" made their stamping grounds at Wraggies Park, Jimmie did not forget the boys either, for he showed them how to gather wood, build fires, and—oh! Just wait on their little sisters in general.

When Editor Gerald came around and informed our president that we were supposed to edit an edition of The Prairie, Jimmie was the first person the poor boy went to. Our sponsor listened very attentively to Ward's pleadings, and at the end told him not to worry for all classes were to do that. He promised his help and advice at any time we should call upon him.

Now we are not ashamed to tell the "whole school" that we have a sponsor of whom we are all very proud. And we are quite sure that each and every one of us are glad to know that Mr. Webb will be in close touch with us next year, and that he is one man whom we shall never forget.

Examinations

As we draw near the end of a school year we are always confronted by this heart-breaking word, "EXAMINATIONS." There are always many disappointments and hard feelings as well as crammed heads and careworn faces when this ordeal comes to hand.

Of course we cannot prevent this phase of college life, for in some instances a test is the only means that the teacher has of estimating the capacity of a student. Then on the other hand a student is often misjudged by this process, because he may not have the same perception of the question at hand as the teacher, or the Prof. may try to cover something entirely foreign to the class. This can be illustrated, for example, by the teacher who was in the habit of making a 50 or 100 page advanced assignment then going away and leaving an examination over this advanced assignment.

We are not "kicking" or "crying" because we have to take a test, but there should be several things considered in giving them. Any boy who has ever played a hard game of football, basketball or baseball will freely admit that he cannot make a representative grade on a test just before a game. Neither can he give his best to a game after worrying "Napoleon being an English or French general," or whether "a noun is a word used to express action being or state of being." Now this is not fair to the student or any one concerned, for we always expect each person to do his best. When he does not, we draw our conclusions without a knowledge of the whys and wherefores of the thing. However, in a school where there are several different phases of major sports it will be hard to have complete co-operation between student activities and the administration.

EXAMINATIONS—This is a word which horrifies those students who spend their time at the soft drink and candy shops. It is a horror to them because they seldom have anything more than a general knowledge of their studies and often not that. They come to class with a blue book, sit and meditate upon the questions, hand in a few lines, and walk out saying, WELL I BUSTED THAT ONE.

EXAMINATIONS—Everyone is more or less excited at the end of a term and he has an idea that the teacher will give him some questions on the things he has passed over and forgotten. And too, he is excited over getting to go home in a day or two, and cannot concentrate upon dry facts.

There may be several ways to settle this question without taxing ones mind too much, but the best is for the student to keep a good record in the grade book and a genteel good co-operation on the part of the student, the faculty and the administration.

LE MIRAGE

Folks: It's about time we were getting our year books.

It is always a very busy time around here when Mr. McCarter and Amy inform us that we can have our annuals by coming to the office and leaving our other $2.50. The motto, to an outsider, would seem to be "I want you to write in my memory book." Of course we are all glad to have known each other, and we shall always remember each other among our many friends. Such lines as "You have always been a good sport," and "You have such a winning personality" can be seen many times in most any annual.

Now people you had better get you a new line this year, and have it handy in your notebook so that you won't lose so much time thinking up something to write. Also people whom you have never known before will want your message in their memory book.

Laying all foolishness aside, this is a good way to meet people whom you have never known before, and especially to learn to associate their names and faces. In the future years when you take this book down from its dusty shelf many of the names will have slipped your memory, then will be the time to look back and call them to mind. So let's all get our annuals and try to get as many memory lines in it as possible.

Custard's Last Stand

When the men were here looking over our plant, and seeing whether or not we wanted too much money to run the school with for the next two years, they suggested to President Hill that he make a requisition for a new grand stand for our athletic field. Guess whether or not we asked for it. We need one sure enough. The slightest sprinkle of rain ruins a ball game for the spectators, while if we had a grand stand, all would be well. Several of our very best girls have been hit by foul balls while watching the baseball games, too, and it is up to us to protect our women folk.

PRESS CONTESTS

Bice's Informal Essay Wins in State Contest of the T. I. P. A.

Under present conditions much interest is taken by students of Journalism in Type Hi Club work. Each year there is a contest held among students of W. T. S. T. C. for local winners for material to submit to the annual State contest of the T. I. P. A. Some of the winners of the local contest are:

Short Story: "Vive L' America," Miss Barrier.

One-Act Play: "The Blunder," Mrs. Corah Lee Braundt.

Formal Essay: "Lawlessness and its Cause," Louis Pinkerton.

Editorial: "Impatient Listeners," Fay Lockhart.

Feature Story: "Sheffy Finds Valuable Data," Fay Lockhart.

Informal Essay: "The Green Tram," Thomas Bice.

Mr. Bice had the honor of winning with this informal essay in the State contest of T. I. P. A. The department of Journalism is very anxious to see more people enter these contests each year, and they hope that the Freshmen of the institution who have literary traits will take advantage of the opportunity to develop their writing ability. Of all the people who won local honors in this contest, only one, Thomas Bice, a Freshman, won first place in the State contest.

Everyone was pleased to know that Mr. Gerald, Editor of The Prairie, was elected vice president of the 1927 T. I. P. A. The next convention will be held at Trinity University.

The art of conquering is that of despising death.—French proverb.

Senior's May WEREN'T MISSED Have Went

We were told that the Seniors were out of town Sunday and Monday. So far we have been unable to ascertain the truth about this report. We have asked members of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes whether or not the report is true, but they have invariably replied:

"Why, were they gone? I did not miss them."

But because of the numerous fish yarns that have been spinning about the campus, we yet believe that a few members of the student body might have wandered to foreign scenes. Whether or not the school really benefitted by their absence we can not say. We do know, however, that some members of the Senior class received the thrills of their life time. While teachers were wondering why their classes were behaving so well, the Seniors were catching fish and a lot of fresh air.

Since we felt that it was our duty to clear up all the doubt and skepticism concerning the absence of the seniors, we decided to ask them. After we had considered the great amount of information which they gave us we came to the conclusion that the Gordon-Cummings Country Club was a veritable fairland. The creeks contain fish a yard long; frogs and turtles do unheard of things; eggs mysteriously turn into ice-cream, but bread doesn't break at all; tin cans make music at midnight. All in all it is a land of enchantment and the Seniors delved into its deepest mysteries.

Conclusion: The Seniors must have gone.

LIFE WISDOM

Courage. Unless a man has that virtue he has no security for preserving any other.—Samuel Johnson.

Adversity is the trial of principle. Without it a man hardly knows whether he is honest or not.—Fielding.

The virtuous retain in their mind the good done to them, whereas the evil they experienced drops from their mind like water from a lotus petal.—Jatakamala.

Courage for the great sorrows of life and patience for the small ones.—Victor Hugo.

When our hopes break, let our patience hold.—Thomas Fuller.

The disclosure of excellence in any of its manifold guises affords convincing evidence that there are spiritual altitudes which no evil can reach, everlasting truths in which there is no alloy of error.

No man can be brave who thinks pain the greatest evil; nor temperate, who considers pleasure the highest good.—Cicero.

PURDY VISITS AT COUNTRY SCHOOLS

Miss Lucy Purdy, a senior of '26, is specializing in Rural school work. Miss Purdy has visited several small schools of late and finds them doing very interesting work. Especially is this true of the Hall County schools, for she has recently visited those schools. The County Superintendent, Mrs. Guthrie, an ex-student of W. T. S. T. C. has given Miss Purdy much aid in this work by accompanying her to the various places. Miss Purdy reports that a high grade of work is being done by ex-students, and especially by Ples Harper and Lawrence Terry. One of the drawbacks to rural school work is that we don't have enough men and women in these schools who have special training in rural school administration. Hall County schools have made a wonderful improvement since Mrs. Guethre has had this work under her supervision.

Miss Haynes Speaks on Pre-School age Child

Miss Edna Haynes, member of the faculty of the West Texas State Teachers College spoke to the members of the pre-school age group of the American Association of University Women Monday, May 3, at 3:00 o'clock in the assembly room of the Potter County Library. Mrs. William Burger, who is in charge of this group extended an invitation to all women in Amarillo who were interested in the pre-school child group.

Fear is cruel and mean.—Emerson.

A man of courage is also full of faith.—Yonge.

PRESIDENT HILL PRINCIPAL SPEAKER FATHER-SON DAY

Dr. J. A. Hill, of Canyon, president of the West Texas State Teachers College, was the principal speaker at the Fathers' and Sons' meeting at the first Methodist church last night in which all churches of the city joined as a part of the Boys' week program.

Dr. Hill acquainted himself with his audience by asking the boys numerous questions, to which they answered enthusiastically. The school man has devoted much time and thought to boys' work and that he knows and loves boys was seen in the ease with which he approached the most difficult phase of his lecture last night.

Dogs Favored

After he had asked each boy present who owned a dog to raise his hand and learned that many of them happily possessed with one of these splendid companions, Dr. Hill asked each boy who does not own a dog but wants to own one to raise his hand, and found that there were few boys in the crowd that did not want to own a dog.

He declared that to deprive a boy of the privilege of owning a dog robbed him of his natural right. Hearty laughter greeted the statement from the speaker that the only boy who can teach a dog anything is the boy that knows more than the dog.

Dr. Hill urged the fathers to become good fellows with their boys, pointing out that through close association with the boy the father can learn as much as can the boy, and that the good to be derived through a close fellowship will prove as ample for the father as for the son. He insisted that fathers should be fair with their sons in permitting them to earn their own spending money instead of contributing it to them, pointing out that there are no happier moments for a boy than those spent at productive labor for which he will receive that amount of money that is necessary for his recreation and even some of the necessities.

Education Important

Dr. Hill stated that a bank account is a fine thing for a boy, and while he expressed a desire to be taken not as one stressing the importance of material things—the saving of money and the personal responsibility involved in financing ones self is fine even from a moral standpoint, he said.

The matter of a boy selecting that vocation to which he is best adapted is one of great importance. Dr. Hill pointed out, assuring the boys that they will be happy only in that work out of which they got the most enjoyment.

He indicated that failure to like one's work will lead to ultimate failure in executing it, and pointed out the task of training the young man or young woman for particular work and directing them into their proper vocation involves a responsibility that rests upon the educational institutions of the country. "Vocational guidance is a modern responsibility resting on the educators of our country," Dr. Hill said.

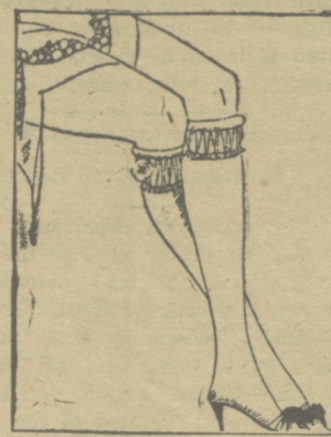

"Fight for Right"

Dr. Hill told the fathers that in his opinion a boy should not have the fighting spirit suppressed, but on the other hand should be encouraged to fight when a principle is involved. "Whenever and where-ever right and wrong are in conflict, the fighting spirit should prevail." Dr. Hill said, pointing out that one of the faults of Americans today is their unwillingness to attack that which is wrong. He assured the boys that it was his intention to encourage them to fight among themselves—that on the other hand he wanted them to be firm in their convictions and to learn to judge right from wrong and to always be for the right. If men fight only when they are in the right—and don't shirk an opportunity to stand for the right under all circumstances, the whole country will be made better, he indicated.

The meeting was appropriately closed when after all had joined in singing a hymn, Rev. E. E. White pronounced the benediction. —Lubbock Avalanche.
