

Amarillo C. of C. Honors Faculty At Banquet

Tribute to West Texas State was paid December 17 by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce when the entire faculty was entertained. Representative citizens were present from all over the Plains to join with Amarillo in discussing the future of the institution.

Former Senator R. A. Stuart of Ft. Worth, now chairman of the Board of Regents, was the principal speaker. An ex-student of W. T. Senator Stuart called attention to the partnership which existed between the college and citizens of this area.

Duty of College

Senator Stuart referred to the college's part in the contract.

"West Texas State College can have a faculty and courses equivalent, so far as the students are concerned, to the greater universities," he said and referred to the recent action of the regents in liberalizing courses at the institution.

The chairman of the board of regents declared the most economical school to operate is one having from 1,200 to 1,500 students on the campus at all times.

The speaker stressed importance of decentralization in educational as well as governmental affairs.

Building Program Told

The speaker outlined the board of regents' 10-year plan, designed to make each of the seven institutions under its jurisdiction serve its region more adequately.

"Construction is much needed at West Texas State College and first upon the 10-year program will be a new library to cost approximately $250,000," he said. "One of the immediate needs, too, is the clearing away of buildings between the school and the highway. A survey of the campus for the building program will be made. The plans call for at least three new buildings over the 10-year period.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State College, in an interesting talk, thanked the Chamber of Commerce for the hospitality of the occasion and "for the friendly interest which it expresses.

New Vision Cited

"Your Chamber of Commerce, your newspaper, and many public spirited private citizens deserve great praise for their work along this line. This occasion tonight is an example of the new vision which signifies so much for you and for all Northwest Texas.

Dr. Hill paid high tribute to the faculty. More than 70 members of the faculty were present.

West Texas State is to have a football team capable of competing on equal terms with some of the best teams in the state.

"Our program is set with that end in view," declared Dr. Hill, who added the college also would have a larger and more spectacular band.

John E. Hill of Amarillo, who is serving his fifth term on the board of regents, having been appointed by three different governors, spoke briefly and introduced two others members of the board, Dr. J. G. Ulmer of Tyler and A. H. Eubanks of McKinney.

There were songs by Houston Bright and O. T. Craig, both accompanied by Prof. Wallace R. Clark at the piano.

David Coats, a student, introduced by Leon Lassers, gave a clever talk, "It Must Be Sold."

Miss Jennie Mae Elliott, secretary to D. A. Shirlley, registrar, spent the holidays visiting in Austin and Belton.

Thinking up my new year's resolutions regarding study and work has consumed so much time that so far there has been no time left for study, but no one can say my intentions are not good.

More people were late yesterday morning than possibly any other time during the term. It seems that after such a long rest people would be able to get up earlier, but this to bed at 3 and breakfast at noon habit is a hard one to break suddenly.

For a better appreciation of fellow students, W. T. scholars should view the campus every day during the Christmas holidays. To say the place looks lonely is inadequate.

Dr. A. M. Meyer offers some real food for thought in the opening article of "Life In College," a new series of articles which opens on page two of this issue of The Prairie.

Joe Hill Presented Medal by Allred

Joe Hill, Jr., youngest member of the second Byrd expedition to the South Pole and a former student of the College, was awarded a Congressional Medal of Honor by Gov. James V. Allred Saturday night in the ballroom of the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas along with two other members of the Byrd expedition—Dr. Gil Morgan and Pete Dumas.

Gov. Allred also presented the Rice Owls the trophy for winning the annual Cotton Bowl grid classic.

Joe Hill is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon. He became interested in the plans for the expedition when it was first given to the press and wrote directly to Admiral Byrd. So impressed was the Admiral with young Hill that the young man was slated for an interview. Finally he was called to Boston for a personal interview, and there was accepted as a member of the party.

Joe was a member of the tractor party which did the advance work on the ice. While at the South Pole he celebrated his 21st birthday.

Returning to America Joe Boy engaged in lecturing upon his experiences and was very successful throughout the Southwest. He spent last year with the Byrd exhibit at the Texas Centennial. He is now a student in the University of Texas studying aeronautical engineering. A few weeks ago he was invited to deliver his lecture to the engineering faculty of the University.

Accompanied by his wife, Joe arrived here from Austin last Thursday to spend the holidays with his parents and with Mrs. Hill's mother at Hereford.

Joe's dog, Neeka, has been in Canyon the last year at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hill. The dog was given Joe by Admiral Byrd upon the return of the expedition and accompanied him upon his lecture tour.

February 1 Is Deadline for Club Pictures

Pictures for campus organizations must be handed into the Le Mirage office before February 1. Virginia Hohlauss, editor, suggests that every club elect an annual representative, and arrangements for the makeup of the page should be made with her.

Class pictures are due Saturday, Jan. 8, and will probably be shipped after the arrival of J. P. Crowe, engraving director.

Russell Printing Company of Amarillo was awarded the printing contract previous to the holidays. This company has printed and bound the annual for the past three years.

The selection of the cover is still pending. Those cover companies submitting bids for the contract are: Kingsport, S. K. Smith, American Beauty Book Cover, and Universal Book Bindery.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. HILL HAVE HOLIDAY GUESTS

President and Mrs. J. A. Hill had the following guests in their home during the Christmas holidays: J. Davis Hill and family of White Deer, Joe Hill, Jr. and wife of Austin, Marion Hill and husband of Borger, Mrs. Sidney Smith, nee Martha Nell Lang, and husband of Tyler, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shanklin of Channing.

Dean R. P. Jarrett, accompanied by Mrs. Jarrett and his children, Virginia, Robert, and Mamie, attended a family reunion in Granbury, December 26. He also visited in Dallas.

Madrigal Club Acclaimed As Best in Years

The Madrigal Club for this term is being acclaimed as one of the best groups in recent years following its fall program given December 15.

Under the direction of Prof. Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department and one of the leading authorities on madrigal singing, the club responded with a brilliance of interpretation which thrilled the audience. Its first group of favorite madrigals opened with the worshipful "O Vos Omnes," a 16th century composition by Morales, and continued through "Matona, Lovely Maiden," "O Mistress Mine," "April Is In My Mistress' Face," "In These Delightful Pleasant Groves," and "Maiden Fair O Deign to Tell," numbers which presented the 32 singers in a variety of tone shading, then closed with the short clever song by Arne, "Which Is the Properest Day to Sing?"

The second group, in a livelier mood, was perhaps best enjoyed by most of the audience. It included "When Icicles Hang by the Wall," and explosive little number called "The Bubble," the stately contrasting song "My Love Dwelt in a Northern Land," the sprightly "Kerry Dance," and the always popular "Hospodi Pomilui" before the final number, "Goin' Home," a negro spiritual arranged by Fisher.

The program was greatly enhanced in appeal by presentation of Handel's Sonata in E-Major (No. 6) for violin and piano, played by Prof. Herschell Coffee and Mae Coffee.

Cooperative Living Proves Distinct Success Here

That co-operative living is a distinct success here is shown by experience of residents of the two newly launched lodges, Cactus and Mesquite, and the somewhat older Pueblo cottages.

Prof. T. M. Moore, manager of El Pueblo, says two of these attractive stucco dwellings are currently vacant following the holidays. The cottages, with water, gas, and light furnished, rent for $270 for the 9-month long term and usually each is occupied by a married couple and four students, who share the expenses. Other arrangements, however, are made in some cases.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college, has stated that facilities for co-operative living would be greatly increased in the next few years.

Five W. T. Teachers Visit Cuba During Christmas Holidays

A trip to Florida and Cuba filled the Christmas holidays of five W. T. professors. Those in the party were Miss Florence McMurtry, Mrs. Laura V. Saunders, Miss Darthula Walker, Dr. Hattie M. Anderson, and Miss Edna Graham.

Leaving here Dec. 18, the party went to Shreveport, La., where they took the central road, going through the central part of the southern states. Crossing the Mississippi River at Vicksburg, they visited in Montgomery, Alabama. Of special interest was the spot where Jefferson Davis stood to take the oath of office as president of the Confederacy.

At Jefferson the group hired a bell boy to take them around the city. From Jacksonville the next stop was St. Augustine. Ponce de Leon's famous fountain of youth was the chief attraction. An alligator farm a few miles from town was visited where alligators from 900 years old to two months were observed.

A visit to Dayton and the famous Daytona beach came next. On the beach, the WPA is sponsoring the building of a huge auditorium with a capacity of 100,000. Miami and Miami Beach followed as next stops. Although Florida is supposed to be the haven of the northern wealthy in the winter months, the season does not start until about Jan. 15, so the party found the beaches virtually deserted.

After spending a day and night in Miami, the group left on a two and one-half hour plane trip to Cuba where they spent three days shopping, visiting, and inspecting the country. Returning to Florida, they motored down the Florida Keys to Key West and returned up the west coast of Florida, and around the coast drive to Houston and then to Canyon.

JARRETT TO ATTEND CONFERENCE OF DEANS

Dean R. P. Jarrett will leave tomorrow for Austin to attend a conference of deans called by the Board of Regents to work out a common calendar for state colleges.

He will also meet with a group called in conference by L. A. Woods, state superintendent of schools, on January 6 and 7.

Mother-in-law: Why don't you and Nellie stop scrapping? A man and his wife should be as one.

Hankins: But we really are 10.

Mother-in-law: How's that?

Hankins: Well, in Nellie's mind, she's the one and I'm the naught.

Victor Grabel To Head Band Clinic Here Feb. 18-19

Victor Grabel of Chicago, famous band maestro, composer, and teacher, will conduct the band clinic at the college here Feb. 18-19.

This announcement was made by C. E. Strain, College band director, who with Marshall Riemenschneider, director at Canyon high school, is arranging the program.

The event is for high school band directors and members in this district of the Texas Band Teachers association. It is expected that two 90-piece bands can be assembled for the event. These will be conducted by Mr. Grabel, who will demonstrate band methods and lecture during the two days. Band contest music will be played. It is hoped that every band in the district will be represented.

The band clinic, sponsored by the College, already has attracted wide favor. Selection of Mr. Grabel as the conductor and lecturer is expected to interest all band men of this section. The Chicago man, conservatory teacher and composer, attained international fame as the director of the Chicago concert band. This band has been heard by as many as 30,000 persons at one time. It was featured at the Chicago Music festivals and the Century of Progress. Millions have heard the radio broadcasts.

Mr. Grabel is a native Texan, born near Prairieville. He launched his musical career as a skilled performer on the cornet.

J. H. Wright, Jr. Is Ordained; Accepts Baptist Charge

J. H. Wright, Jr., a former student here and now a senior student in Baylor University, was received into the ministry of the Baptist Church Wednesday night in ceremonies at the First Baptist Church here.

The Rev. J. W. Partin of the Baptist Church of Happy questioned the candidate. The Rev. G. H. Stuart, retired minister of Canyon, gave the charge to the candidate, and the Rev. W. E. Barnes of Hereford gave the charge to the church. A. C. Huff, pastor of the Baptist Church of Tulsa, preached the sermon. The Rev. J. R. Hicks of the local church was moderator and W. H. Hardin acted as clerk.

Wright finished Canyon High School in 1933, and was a member of the freshman football squad here in 1934.

Condron Receives Membership Bid From Academy

S. H. Condron, head of the department of government at W. T., has received a bid from the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

The Academy, which is a highly selective body, publishes the Annals of the American Political Science Review. It meets twice a month in Philadelphia and the papers which are to appear in the next issue of the Magazine are discussed. Its membership is taken from government and sociology specialists.

Herbert Hoover is honorary president of the Academy, and Dr. Ernest M. Patterson of Philadelphia is director.

Although Mr. Condron will be unable to attend the meetings, he will receive proceedings and literature from the Academy.

Bufs Lose!

West Texas State's touring Buffaloes got off to another slow start last night, dropping the first game of a two-tit series to the East Texas State Lions of Commerce, 31 to 39.

According to a telegram received from Jack Jennings, student manager, the Lions were scared. They started a rushing game and led the Buffs 19 to 11 at half-time.

It was not until the last five minutes that the tall boys from the plains got organized and showed the sparkling offense seen at times here. They pulled up close to the leaders, but time was too short to overhaul them.

The same teams will play tonight, then the Buffs will go to Denton to play North Texas State.

Trouble with most of the old silent film stars hanging around the movie studios is that they won't talk.

Prompt Placement Enrollment Urged

Johnston Elected To National Science Organization

Prof. C. Stuart Johnston, head of the department of archaeology and paleontology, has been elected to membership in the American Society of Mammologists. Prof. Johnston was recommended for this honor by Prof. R. A. Stirling of the University of California.

Two articles written by Mr. Johnston have recently been accepted by scientific journals. The American Journal of Science of New Haven, Conn., will print one article entitled "A Preliminary Report on the Vertebrate Type Locality of Cita Canyon," which includes a description of an ancestral coyote.

The College and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society are said to have the best material of record on this subject.

The other article, "The Skull of Nannippus Gratus Leidy from the Lower Pliocene of Texas," will be used by the American Midland Naturalist, Notre Dame, Ind. This article deals with a three-toed horse found in Donley County. The museum has one of the best skulls in existence and numerous other specimens of this horse.

Mesquite Lodge Wins Girls' Volleyball Tourney

Mesquite Lodge forged ahead to win the all-college girls' volleyball tourney in the final games with an average of 80%.

Cousins Hall, Randall Hall, and the Out-in-town girls will play off a three-way tie for second place tonight at seven o'clock in the woman's gymnasium.

Miss Evans requests that all captains of volleyball teams entered in the recent tournament meet with her in the women's gymnasium at 4:45 tomorrow afternoon.

A. J. Stoddard To Speak on Education Conference Program

Dr. A. J. Stoddard, superintendent of schools at Denver, Colo., has been secured as one of the main speakers at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education to be held here March 18 and 19.

C. M. Rogers, president of the conference, is carrying on correspondence with other noted educators and Prof. F. E. Savage, secretary of the conference, is assisting.

Dr. Stoddard, who was formerly superintendent of schools at Providence, R. I., is scheduled to deliver several lectures while here.

The Conference will be as usual have the general and sectional meetings which have proved highly successful in the past. School board members and Parent-Teacher groups will be among those who will have separate meetings.

The Conference has become one of the outstanding organizations of the kind in this country. Both city and county schools of this area dismiss classes in order that teacher and school authorities may attend.

Charlotte Ingham Word Is Honored by Mozart Society

Faculty members and alumni who have watched the success of Charlotte Ingham Word of Clarendon were pleased recently when she was honored by the Mozart Society of Amarillo.

Mrs. Word, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Ingham of Canyon, is an alumna of the College. Guests of the occasion included Dr. and Mrs. Ingham, Mrs. Wallace R. Clark, Mrs. W. L. Smith, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, and Miss Marie Fronabarger of Canyon.

Songs written by the Clarendon woman were sung by Mrs. Otis Trulove of Amarillo, who was accompanied by the composer. Mrs. Word also played a number of her compositions for the piano. Included in the numbers were several which have been published by the Schir-

Seniors who wish employment for next year are urged to enroll with the Placement Committee during the month of January. Enrollment blanks may be secured from the Bureau of Public Service between the hours of two-thirty and four each day of the week except Saturday. Each senior is urged to have a conference with Mrs. Reeves either before enrolling or shortly thereafter. These conferences may be at any hour of the day that is convenient to the senior. If those seeking employment for next year will follow this procedure, getting all their enrollments made by February first, it will enable the committee to get its work under way immediately after the opening of the second semester.

Reference blanks will not be sent to members of the faculty until the close of the present semester, as it is important that seniors be judged on the basis of their most advanced work.

It was explained by Mrs. Reeves who is chairman of the Placement Committee, that students who will finish at the end of the summer will find it advisable to enroll with the committee now, so that they can be considered for positions that are reported during the spring months.

The Placement Committee will give assistance to those who are not planning to teach, as well as to those who seek employment in public and private schools. This committee also gives every possible help to ex-students who are out in the field and who wish to change positions. To this end information concerning their experience since leaving college is assembled in the Placement office.

During the last two years approximately 95 percent of the seniors of West Texas State have secured employment. During the worst of the depression years the percentage of those who secured employment was over twenty-five percent better than the average of college graduates throughout the United States. These favorable figures are due to the quality of work which W. T. exes do in the field, and to the fine co-operation which all members of the faculty give the Placement Committee, according to Mrs. Reeves. Heads of departments are especially diligent in behalf of their majors whose records are such that they can be recommended.

The Placement Committee is composed of S. H. Condron, H. M. Cook, Miss Anna I. Hibbets, C. A. Murray and Mrs. Reeves, with President J. A. Hill an ex-officio member.

Campus WPA Work To Be Completed This Week

All WPA work on the campus is expected to be finished today, according to a statement made by R. A. Terrill, professor of manual arts. The last portion of this work has included the completion of a walk around Buffalo Courts and the painting of Buffalo Stadium.

More than eighteen hundred feet of concrete sidewalks have been completed in the last few weeks.

Some difficulty may be experienced in completing work on Buffalo Courts because of the inadvisability of sanding the floors until they are completed and settled.

Miss Linnie Babston, assistant librarian, visited friends in Lubbock during the holidays.

Board of Regents Accepts Home Economics House

Members of the board of regents accepted the new $16,500 home economics practice house after a tour of inspection Dec. 17. The new building was given the College by a state appropriation and was named "The Phebe K. Warner Home Management House," in honor of the late well known and beloved club woman and author of Claude.

Dedication of the structure was deferred to allow for furnishing and landscaping. The architect was M. O. Carder of Amarillo, and P. M. Jesse of Amarillo was the contractor.

Members of the board of regents present were R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth, president; James G. Ulmer of Tyler, vice-president; John E. Hill of Amarillo, and A. H. Eubanks of McKinney.

Naming of the building for Mrs. Warner has been widely acclaimed because the Claude woman was for many years an effective champion of better homes and better schools. Dedication of the structure will be done at one of the major programs of the year on the campus. Residents of Claude, club leaders, prominent citizens and everyone who knew or appreciated Mrs. Warner will be invited to attend.

Painting Is Given Cousins Hall By Mrs. Hill Dec. 16

A beautiful oil painting was given to Cousins Hall Thursday evening by Mrs. J. A. Hill, wife of the college president.

Mrs. Hill painted the large picture from life, recalling that the first matron of the hall, Mrs. Marion Witt, was very fond of the flowers. Mrs. Witt now lives at McGregor.

Recalling a girlhood practice of pulling petals from flowers and saying "He loves me . . . he loves me not, etc.," Mrs. Hill said in her brief remarks at the unveiling that if the petals could be pulled from the pictured dahlias in this manner the final petal would always say, "He loves me." Mrs. Hill last year gave to Randall Hall a large painting of the Palo Duro canyon. An even larger painting of the canyon, done by Mrs. Hill, hangs in a hall at Amarillo high school.

Miss Tennessee Malone, college librarian, who has lived at Cousins Hall longer than any other person, accepted the painting. The occasion was in connection with the hall's Christmas tree. Carrying candles, the girls filed into the large reception hall, sang carols, and heard a program which included a Christmas story read by Mrs. Leon Lassers; a vocal solo, "The Rosary," by Miss Virginia Hohlauss of Lockney; a reading by Miss Dids Meek, Lamesa; a piano solo by Miss Ernestine Cundiff of Littlefield; piano and violin number by Robert and Hall Axtell of Amarillo. Miss Hope Bussey of Panhandle accompanied Miss Hohlauss.

Miss Quixie Bea King of Lamesa, president of the hall, welcomed the group. Refreshments of fruit cake and coffee were served.

Frances Alice Clark, daughter of Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department, who is furthering her music studies in the University of Southern California, visited her parents here during the holidays. Miss Clark is a graduate of West Texas State.

Olin E. Hinkle, professor of journalism, attended a family reunion in Abilene Christmas Day.

"Life In College" Series Opens Today

"Life In College," a series of articles written by members of the faculty offering suggestions for a richer and more beneficial life in school, opens on the editorial page of The Prairie today.

The first of the series, prepared by Dr. A. M. Meyer of the education department is "On Being Scholarly." The second article, which is written by Prof. John S. Humphreys of the English department, will appear next week. The series will continue indefinitely, and all members of the faculty will be given an opportunity to express their views regarding life in college.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

The period for New Year's resolutions is here again, and to resolve or not to resolve is again the question. So much fun has been poked at the old custom in recent years that the practice has almost died out in some quarters.

Of course, it is true that a good many resolutions are never kept, but after all, what is the harm in making them even if they are immediately forgotten? Resolutions are usually along the line of correcting bad habits, and what could be more beneficial than taking stock of one's faults and trying to correct them?

At the beginning of another year it is inspiring to think of a new chance to improve over previous years. Better health habits and better study practices should be the aim of every college student during the remainder of this year.

LIFE AS I SEE IT
It matters little what life gives,
For I can be content
To go through life with what I have;
And deem my life well spent.

My life is made of stars and sky,
All nature's wealth is mine;
And only for the asking of,
I have a life divine.

I have the boundless reach of sky,
Wherein lies wealth untold;
My diamonds are the twinkling stars;
The sunset is my gold.

So you may have your gold and jewels,
Where in lies grief and care;

Give me but Nature's wealth alone
And I'll have peace to spare.

—Lanny Line.

ON HEARING BEETHOVEN'S RONDO IN G

The organist played Rondo in G by Beethoven;
I sat listening—
Gradually, as from a dream, I felt myself awakening.

I was in a land where I had never been before.

All was quiet, peaceful, beautiful.
Was it Old England? No,
It was not her sunny, rolling hills
I saw

As the landscape grew clearer. It was
A great, pungent fir forest,
The Black Forest of Germany!
Little brooklets tinkled through the depths

Silvery chiming in the solitude.
Tiny points of sunlight pierced the gloom here and there
Making with the multicolored forest flowers,

Fragile and delicate,
A lacy pattern on the forest floor.
I followed one of the tiny brooks out into the sunlight

And saw it join a larger stream along whose banks
Were quaint thatched peasant cottages;

Peasant women were busy making cheese;
A bright-faced peasant girl
Sat on a door-step knitting rapidly.
Was she to be my great-great-grandmother?

There was the lowing of herds;
there was the sound of lullabys
As on and on I followed the murmuring stream,

Till I could hear the mighty river's roar
The Rhine!
The music surged, but it was the Rhine I heard

As it rushed over the rocks,
And swirled and eddied about the bases of the age-old cliffs.
I saw the frowning castles on the cliffs

Resisting the sunlight of their parapets.
I seemed to hear "The Loreley" and "The Watch on the Rhine"
As your mother sings them now in the native tongue.

I heard, I saw, I felt all this, the heritage
God wove into the pattern of my life,
On hearing Beethoven's Rondo in G.

AFTER AWHILE

Loved me?
Or love me not?
Forgot me?
Or forgot me not?

It matters not at all.
I have forgot.

THE RACE GOES FORWARD MADLY

The race goes forward madly
Toward the transient vision at the next horizon.
Sobbing, the aching arms reach

TO DO
BY GAD

After a hectic and hilarious holiday season, you students will settle down in the monotonous rut of school days and stay in your respective domiciles in order to catch up on some few hours sleep that was possibly missed while irrigating the new year to dock. But if you find time for a little cinema diversion—between naps—the Olympic offers an enticing list of entertaining movies for the current week.

One of the best comedies produced during the year just passed, was Eddie Cantor in "All Baba Goes to Town." Unless your reporter is lamentably mistaken this show will voluntarily draw usual approval from the college studies. Eddie plays his best, which is seldom surpassed by competitive comedians. The whole play is evolved around a dream of Eddie's. He suggests the Sultan of a certain province, declare it a republic and runs for president. Eddie however, wins the election, and the Sultan intends to boil him in hot oil. But he escapes on a magic carpet.

Those of you, who enjoyed The Jones Family in a show here a few weeks ago, may see them again Friday and Saturday matinee. But from the ones who saw that one, very few acclaim it. Their style should be typical of the American family, but I can see no aspects of it that is comparable to that. It is just another dime picture. Incidentally the admission is a tenth of a dollar.

Another gangster film is slated for this week-end. Saturday night

But ghastly tantalizing, like rainbows, the dreams pass on. Like the kiss of the sod and arc, Soaring desires of the soul are known, but never caught.

—L. N.

Locked are my doors with dull brass locks;

Barred are my Gothic windows; curtailed my heart.
Again in the silence of the chilly noon,

I roam the vast stone rooms and winding stairs;
Again my black eyes gaze from dust-hung mirrors

In a cold, damp corner; and again I listen
To the monotone of stately formal talk,

And I delve yet deeper in my musty tomes.
There is no End, no Love, no Light.

SOON, LOVE, WE'LL BE HOME
Years of toil have rolled over us, dear,

Yet many more shall come;
But still have courage—shed no tear,
For soon, love, we'll be home.

Yet just a while and you'll have me near,
And I will have you, too;
And the long weary miles of labor drear

Will seem but a breath to you.
Shoulders bow and our footsteps lag
With the heavy, tiresome load,
And our weary eyelids oftentimes sag

From the strain of the dim, blurry road.
Yet wake once more; the time, my sweet,
For dreaming is not come;
But still have courage—lift your feet,

For soon, love, we'll be home!
—Houston Bright.

Life In College

On Being Scholarly

By Dr. A. M. Meyer

On Being Scholarly.

When one reflects upon the great gap between what a college education actually means to many students and what it could mean to them, he is moved to make certain general observations on life in college. What is a college? Perhaps the oldest definition is that it is a community of scholars. This applies to instructors as well as to students. What is implied by the word "scholarly"? Does it consist merely with filling the mind with facts? Or does it mean the ability to think through facts to general principals, to see relationships among facts and thus to acquire wisdom and understanding?

Certainly the business and professional world expect the college graduate to know something; but more than that they expect him to know how to think effectively in any problem situation and to be able to use what he knows or discovers. It is results that count in life. To obtain results that count one usually has to be thoughtful, resourceful and industrious. Students of W. T. are your life here at college made up of these essentials for successful performance? Or are you playing a make-believe game of study and

Dear Martyrs:

The hens, cows, and dispensers of intoxicating liquors can settle down to slow and steady production, and we can settle down to fast and spasmodic production of term themes, etc. I swan—it does beat all how a little vacation can make you forget all about the stale jokes and pungent assignments this faculty of ours makes.

SOCIETY

Ray Cox had a date with Effie Whitsett in Amarillo. He bathed, shaved, shone his shoes, and sped to Ama. When he arrived, he discovered that he didn't know her address—so he had to come back to Canyon and delve into his correspondence to find the address. Needless to say—he went back to Amarillo.

Ruth Campbell and Jack Oldham spent a quiet evening discussing college and the other finer things of life.

"Partners in Crime" with Yynne Overman and Roscoe Kams will be presented at the local theatre. This gangsterette is unusual in one respect—it is a comedy, with a few good wisecracks. If you have some neglected studies that need to be attended to, I advise you to study, because the show would not justify your neglecting the books.

Tuesday only Marlene Dietrich rises to new heights as she plays in "Angel" along with Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas. Ernest Lubitsch is producer, and when he directs a production, you may wager that it will be a tremendous success. Miss Dietrich has not acted in pictures for a few months having returned from Germany to take the leading role in "Angel."

The most photographed girls in the world will be seen on the screen Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday. Warner Baxter will be the masculine interest in the film, playing opposite Joan Bennett. Put this on your must see list of better shows.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT!

It was his first night on guard, and, of course, Mike Flaherty was on the watch against officers and such-like questioning him about his duties. As it happened, he was at a station guarding a magazine of powder which had arrived during the day. Suddenly the O. D. came around and, after the usual formalities, began to question Mike.

"What would you do if the magazine were to blow up?" asked the officer.

"Go up with the report, sir," was Mike's ready response.

Noting this the next day, Lewellyn took the Chinaman to task. After the latter pleaded so earnestly to save the seedling the nurseryman finally said: "Well, keep it. If it is any good I will call it 'Bing.' Today it is one of the most popular varieties on the Pacific Coast.

The commanding officer of a certain regiment suddenly surprised his daughter and a young lieutenant trying to occupy the same chair. The lieutenant sprang to his feet and saluted.

"Well, dash it all!" barked the instructor, form "threes then."

HE SELLS 20 MILLION POUNDS OF TOBACCO A YEAR

Bob Cooper — tobacco auctioneer — tells why he, and other tobacco experts, prefer Luckies . . .

"I've been auctioneering for 20 years," says Mr. Cooper, "in Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee...and I've seen the tobacco Lucky Strike buys at auction after auction. It's the best in smoking quality."

"Luckies suit my throat, too, as well as my taste. Even after crying out bids 7 hours a day, Luckies never bother my throat in the least." (Reason: the exclusive "Toasting" process expels certain irritants found in all tobacco.)

"In every section of the Tobacco Belt where I auctioneer," Mr. Cooper adds, "I've noticed tobacco men smoking Luckies."

Are you benefiting by the experience of the tobacco experts? . . . Sworn records show that among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice, yes—twice, as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes combined.

Bufs Win 2 Games In Sooner Tourney

Slipping off to a fiery beginning in the Daily Oklahoman cage tourney at Oklahoma City, Dec. 27-30 with a 44-35 win over the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks, the West Texas Buffaloes rocked back on their heels, and dropped three of their last four clashes.

In pushing the Lone Star Conference champions out of the mix-up, the Buffaloes were branded as probable darkhorses. Shackelford of the Bufs and Myers of the losers tied for high honors with 14 points each.

What favorable impressions that the tall Texans had made was disposed of when the stubborn Mules of Warrensburg Teachers dropped them out of the running with a decisive 50-26 rout. Al Shrick, blond Mule sureshot, chalked up 18 points from the floor.

Northwestern's Rangers of Alva, Oklahoma skipped past the West Texans in a consolidation battle by a 43-40 count. The Rangers commanded a scant 15-14 lead at half-time. The Sooners stepped in front by a good majority at the outset of the second half, and with 59 seconds to play led 42-37. A free throw by Walling and a tip-in by Ray Shackelford set things ablaze but the final gun checked the last minute rally.

Panhandle A. & M. pulled the trick next by a 33-29 consolation win. The Aggies seemed intent on revenge, and outthrust, outscraped and outran their taller opponents. Tied 13-13 at the half, the methodical Aggies slowly pulled away in the last division, and at one time had a ten point lead.

Dick Dickerson, Aggie guard, made ten points for the scoring honors. Shackelford led the Buffaloes to cause with six counters.

In their last game of the tournament, the Buffaloes bowled over the Northeastern Oklahoma Teachers of Tahlequah by a 38-35 count. With the score tied at 34-34 in the final minutes, Joe Hayes, Bison forward, sank two free shots. The Indians retaliated with a gratis marker. Nearing the finish, Elton Amburn, took the nod from Hayes on a jump ball, and tapped the ball to his teammate down the court who dribbled and scored.

Bufs Trim Bulldogs 57-32 in Dedication Game at Shamrock

Pre-Christmas basketball games reached a peak when the towering West Texas State charges trimmed the Bulldogs of Weatherford, Oklahoma 57-32 in Shamrock.

The game was the feature event of the dedication of Shamrock's new $20,000 athletic plant. John Walker, Shamrock coach and a graduate of West Texas, invited the Buffaloes to play the game, and Coach Al Baggett readily responded.

Raymond Shackelford poured seven field goals and two gratis shots through the basket to lead the scoring. Wee Ernest Schur, Buff sharpshooting forward, pushed him for the laurels by chalking up 13 counters. Williams, substitute Bulldog forward, tabulated 10 points to pace the visitors' work.

The Buffaloes led 25-17 at mid-time.

Intramural Tourney Opens Wednesday In Burton Gym

Intramural Director Mitchell Jones announced yesterday that the annual basketball tournament will open its season Wednesday night in Burton Gymnasium. The teams that will participate will be posted on the bulletin board in the Gymnasium.

The complete schedule was not arranged during the holidays because two of the clubs that had reserved places failed to hand in their rosters. For a final checkup on the rules and regulations that shall govern tournament play, Director Jones has called a meeting at 4:30 o'clock in Room 104E this afternoon.

Jones indicates that thirteen teams will compete in the tourney. Each roster shall be limited to ten players. Play will be conducted on a round-robin basis. The four highest teams on a percentage basis at the end of the regular games will meet in a double elimination tourney to determine the champion.

The complete schedule will be announced at a later date.

While the rest of us were hanging up our holy (?) stockings in high hopes that a genial bewhiskered individual would react with his typical liberality, the Buffalo cagers never broke their training stride as they prepared for the Daily Oklahoman Tourney at Oklahoma City, Dec. 27-30.

The traditional foreign court complex, a bad case of 'loafitis' and bits of dissention collaborated to prove the Bisons' unraveling as they dropped three of their five games. That their performance was below par is evidenced by the 33-29 loss that they sustained at the hands of the Panhandle Aggies, a team that they had blasted in two games earlier in the season.

Despite their raggedness, the Herd disposed of the defending Lone Star Conference champions, Stephen F. Austin, 44-35 in their first tilt. Later in the tournament, the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks took the measure of Texas Tech, 48-36. That citation should give some insight as to the relative strength of Tech and West Texas.

The Tech men presented a one-man team in F. M. Sachse of Quitaque who worked out for Freshman football here in the season of 1935. His 27 points in one game set a record for the Daily Oklahoman tournament for individual scoring in a single game.

Elmer Shotwell, former W. T. backfield star, coached the Longview Lobo team that defeated the Wichita Falls Coyotes 19-12, Christmas day to take the state championship schoolboy classic in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

It's a good thing I didn't wager my thread-bare suit on the BOWL fracas on New Year's Day. I managed for only a single in five trips to bat. Fortunately, a grudge against a fellow townsman who attends Tech urged me to pick the Mountaineers from West, Virginia for a win at the Sun Bowl in El Paso. It looked like a sure cinch that Whizzer White and Company would whiz right on by Rice's Owls. 'Bama was the underdog against heavier California, but I had a hunch—which as usual went asunder. Louisiana State should have licked up Santa Clara in the Cotton Bowl, but it was just another one of those things.

Henry Fields and Foster Watkins reported to camp Sunday in Al condition following post-season operations. Both think that Spring Training can't come too soon.

STEVENSON STROKES WAY TO FINALS IN PING-PONG

T. S. Stevenson stroked his way into the finals of the college ping-pong tournament by defeating Lynam Riley 21-6, 21-19 in a semi-final bout.

Glyndon Riley plays the winner of the LaFon-Solomon match to determine who shall represent the top bracket in the finals against the clever Stevenson.

Tournament finals will be played Thursday afternoon.

Yearlings May Play Official Opener Next Monday

Bob Cox has announced that his Yearling cagers will probably play their official opener of the year Monday night after the Buffaloes play their first home game of the 1938 season against the Daniel Baker Hillbillies. Their opponents have not been decided on, as yet.

The Freshmen have come along in satisfactory fashion to date, having won practice tilts over two independent teams before the holidays. In Barron, Johnson and Nippert, Cox has a trio that is especially keen under both baskets. In addition they are fastly developing some snappy pass formations.

The transfer of Finley, sharpshooting forward from Meadow and last year an all-regional choice, should materially strengthen the front line. Finley is likely to step into either of the guard positions now held by Earl Stagner and Kenneth Houlette.

Tentative games with Portales Junior College Wayland Junior College, Texas Tech Picadors and Altus Junior College have been arranged.
