

Reunion Plans Near Completion

Gov. O'Daniel And Harry Hines Will Speak Here July 26

Plans for Pioneer Day here on July 26, celebrating Canyon's 50th anniversary, are nearing completion, it was learned this week.

In observance of the celebration, which will be one of the greatest in Canyon's history and which will bring the state governor and many other notables to the city, The Canyon News is going to print a 50-page special edition.

Members of all Pioneer Day committees are urged by Ray Campbell to meet at Thompson's Club Room Friday night at 8:00 o'clock for another check-up on the progress which is being made in the celebration plans.

A meeting was called for Monday night, but very few of the committee members could be present.

Will Have Broadcast

Officials from KGNC have asked a group of Canyon citizens to broadcast on the night of July 19, giving the details of the program to be put on for July 26. This broadcast will be for the weekly open forum program. KGNC will also arrange to broadcast the speech of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and the one of Highway Commissioner Harry Hines during the program on the afternoon of July 26.

The rodeo program for Buffalo Stadium in the afternoon and night promises to be one of the biggest events of its kind to be held in West Texas this year. In charge of Charles Franz, one of the best known rodeo operators in West Texas, the show will attract wide attention.

All citizens interested in the celebration for July 26 are cordially invited to attend the meeting Friday night and hear the developments which have taken place since the last meeting.

Mr. Campbell hopes that the finance committee will do some work before the meeting Friday night in order to see how the finances for the celebration are coming.

Thelma McClure Is To Direct Nursery School Here

Home economics and education students will again be able to observe practical demonstrations in child training in the nursery school during the first nine weeks.

The school this summer will be conducted by Miss Thelma McClure of Kansas State College and Merrill-Palmer, Detroit.

Miss McClure is an experienced instructor in child training. She comes to W. T. direct from El Paso where she has been teaching a nursery school.

This is the second summer for the nursery school to be featured. The course was conducted last summer by Miss Angie Nall, now teaching in Cape Girardeau. Sixteen children of ages ranging from two to five will attend the school.

Position as Head of Business Department

Virgil Henson will succeed Travis Shaw as secretary-business manager of the College, according to an announcement made Friday by President J. A. Hill. Mr. Shaw, who has been business manager for more than a quarter of a century, resigned to enter another field of work.

Mr. Henson, a graduate of East Texas State, has been assistant business manager for the last three years. Don Bowie, Jr., will assume the duties of the position formerly held by Mr. Henson.

Mr. Shaw said plans for his new endeavor were nearly complete, but not ready for announcement.

Dr. Howard E. Golden, professor of business administration during the last term, has announced that he will not return. No successor has been announced.

Buffy Registers For Summer

Buffy Westex was one of the last to register yesterday for the summer session. "I had not intended to go to school this summer but that dr dean jarrett dissolved all my hours because of certain activities which were represented in the 1939 le mirage," Buffy said. He was searching for Sam Burton and Jack Hamilton who conspired to publicise his attendance at W. T. last semester. "I have liked this school a lot this year I have been here because everyone has been o. k., but yesterday I am almost ready to go home when that new business manager, virgil henson tells me that I have not yet paid for tuition of the long term," he said.

Opportunities Revealed
By Newspapers
Shown by Dealey

In a program heaped with tradition, E. M. (Ted) Dealey, vice-president of the Dallas News, told the graduating seniors Thursday that a person ceases to be educated or even informed when his schooling ceases to be current. The address titled, "How to Read a Newspaper" was delivered at the final program of the 29th annual commencement.

"Opportunities arise out of current active trends reported daily by your newspaper, and to one who reads his newspaper intelligently, many avenues for a future career open up, if only a little imagination and foresight are used in the perusal of that paper," Mr. Dealey said in showing the service of the newspaper, declaring that the newspaper had virtually become a public utility.

The class marched from Randall Hall, led by the College faculty, to the auditorium of the Administration Building where one thousand friends and parents were assembled. Orchestra Plays "Aida"

The College orchestra conducted by Prof. Wallace R. Clark played the processional, "Aida," from G. Verdi's opera of the same name. The overture, "Poet and Peasant," by F. V. Suppe followed the address.

For many years, friends of the institution have insisted that the processional, recessional and overture not be changed. The march from Randall Hall before the exercises is a custom which dates back to the first graduating programs.

The Rev. J. R. Hicks, Baptist pastor, offered the invocation.

"Most people subscribe to and read a newspaper to get news. These same people always use newspapers as guides to shopping. But the newspaper is just as truly, although less obviously, a shopping list for the graduate who wants to sell his ability or buy an income," the Dallas publisher said.

Graduates Less Fortunate

The Dallas News Radio Corporation president frankly told the class that "college graduates today are not in nearly as fortunate position as those of 20 years ago. Then the grist from the college mill was rather meager, and it was not difficult for the average college graduate, once he stepped into the world to get a job within a short period." He explained that "there are infinitely more colleges today and infinitely more students in those colleges than there were two decades ago; and, unfortunately, infinitely fewer jobs available."

He said that a man without a newspaper is to be pitied.

President J. A. Hill emphasized that the College had graduated only three seniors in 1919 and 118 in 1939. He pointed out in clear statements that a deeper virtue and higher intelligence "is demanded for successful living in the modern world and that of the future than that of the past."

Type High entertained Mr. Dealey at a luncheon following the graduation program. Later he was taken to Palo Duro Park, the Panhandle Plains Historical Society Museum and Buffalo Lake.

Violin Lessons Will Be Given at College This Summer

Violin lessons for fourth grade students through high school will be given at the college this summer, beginning June 6 and ending August 4.

They will include one private lesson per week, one class lesson each week, and special work in ensemble playing at a nominal fee of six dollars, payable in advance for a nine weeks term. Students will be given an opportunity to appear in recitals and public performances.

Instructions will be given by a competent teacher employed by the college. Students may enroll any time next week by seeing Miss Ada V. Clark in the Education Building.

Twenty-Eight Get W.T.H.S Diplomas

Twenty-eight students were graduated from the West Texas High School Wednesday. Christine Jarrett and Bernard Warren were presented as the two best citizens of the class, and Miss Viola Archer was the high honor student.

Leon Smith, a junior, was judged the best citizen in the entire school and will have his name engraved on a plaque in the Education Building.

Special recognition was given Miss Mary Katherine Sharp, who was one of the seven national winners in the examination of the League of Nations. More than 1,000 schools entered this contest and each school was allowed two representatives.

National Honor Society members were presented by L. T. Barksdale.

"A Living Newspaper" was the skit written and carried out in five scenes by the members of the class. The purpose of the program was to bring newspapers to life by making written art live, walk, and talk and proving that education does prepare students to face life. The five scenes were based on the following themes: clubs and class room attitudes, vocational training, safety through science, world peace and co-operation, and pleasure derived from fine arts.

The processional march, "Two Preludes" by Chopin and "Dance of the Comedians" by Smetana were played by the string ensemble.

Graduates were Christine Jarrett, Eleanor Wingo, Merrie Lib Duflot, Harlie Gordon, Dorothy Jean Jennings, Shirley Donnell, Viola Archer, Bernard Warren, David Sharman, Mary Lou Burnett, Edna Graham, Nora Belle Fenton, Berry McCarter, Geraldine Fleming, Johnnie B. New Courses Are Summer Features

Second Session
Under Revised
Curriculum Opens

West Texas State as a general college entered its second year when enrolling for the second term started yesterday. Enrollment figures for the summer session were not available yesterday afternoon.

One year ago teacher-training courses were required for a standard academic degree. W. T. has grown during the long term and for the summer session is meeting the demand for several new courses.

Feature subjects added for the first time to the summer schedule are the courses in conservation and safety.

First Lecture Wednesday

Probably the greatest number of lecturers are being imported for this conservation course that have ever been used in a single class on this campus. The first scheduled class will hear a representative of the State Health Department on "The Conservation of Human Resources." The first and all subsequent meetings will be in the auditorium of the Education Building.

Eight colleges in Texas are co-operating to make available the best authorities on conservation for the classes. Special consideration will be given such topics as water and soil conservation, oil and gas, wild life, and human conservation.

The safety course is outlined to teach safety on the highways, in the home and industry, and other safety problems which confront schools.

Visual Education Continues

To continue the popular course in audio visual education introduced in W. T. last summer, Professor Don G. Williams, director of visual education, Great Falls, Montana, is here to direct the class during the first six weeks of the summer session.

Mr. Williams has done outstanding work in this field for the past ten years. He has recently worked in this field for the past ten years. He has recently completed a year's work beyond his Master's degree at Leland Stanford University.

Audio visual education was instigated here last summer with a course conducted by Prof. Earl Sechrist of Birmingham, Alabama. This class was the largest in the Advancement Cited In Archaeology By Santa Fe Scientist

Much advancement in southwestern archaeology is resulting from excavations and studies in WPA projects sponsored by West Texas State College, in the opinion of Dr. H. P. Mera, widely known scientist of Santa Fe, N. M.

Dr. Mera, who is staff archaeologist for the laboratory of anthropology, spent five days with Floyd V. Studer, curator of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum and head of its department of archaeology. He visited many sites in the Panhandle and, with Mr. Studer and Hermon Pipkin of Amarillo, examined at length the findings stored here.

"After having had the opportunity of studying the excavations which are being undertaken in the vicinity of Amarillo, I think it is obvious that a unique development in Southwestern archaeology is being uncovered," Dr. Mera said. "An examination of cultural material obtained, housed in the museum of West Texas State College at Canyon, provides further data."

"All evidence points to an occupation of the region adjacent to the western course of the Canadian river and its drainages by a sedentary population with agriculture as a major means of subsistence. Although artifact types resemble others associated with a widely spread and more primitive culture, the development in architecture alone points to a considerable degree of specialization and advance in the economy of existence. With the idea of leaving something to the advantage of present generations, it will be of utmost value to obtain more detailed information concerning a people who learned to till the soil and building flourishing villages at least six hundred years before the white man attempted similar activities."

BAND WILL MEET

The summer band will meet for organization on Thursday at 1:30 o'clock, according to an announcement by C. E. Strain, director.

The West Texas Summer Band School is scheduled to start August 7, with H. E. Nutt of the VanderCook School of Music in charge.

Campus Sites Have Changed-- Same Friendliness Remains

After the arrival of the 1939 summer school students, there are the usual expressions denoting pleasure and disappointment in the rapidly changing West Texas State campus.

More than one line of shrubs and trees has been removed with grass and walks and fences replacing the traditional markers. Perhaps some of the students now enrolled have never seen W. T.'s athletic plant; others have not seen the new N. Y. A. dormitory now under construction north of Buffalo Courts.

Regardless of the change of landscape or location of buildings on the campus, the College, in heart, is the same friendly family that it was upon the student's earlier visit. The same practice of speaking to everyone is recognized as part of an education here.

And so, a growing institution welcomes its students of the summer session to the coolest campus in the state (according to a government report).

MUSEUM IS POPULAR

One of the most popular and most frequently visited places on the campus—the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum—is crammed with collections so unusual that a shocking impression is certain for the first-time visitors.

That isn't a scoop or an early release, but it is a fact which some students have overlooked. Startling are the many complete collections which have been accumulated since the construction of the Museum building in 1932. During the last year, prominent additions which characterize two periods, pre-historic and life of the cowboy and Indian, have been made.

G. D. Sundstrom, chief preparator for the Museum, and C. Stuart Johnston, assistant professor of paleontology and archaeology, with others, in cooperation with the College and WPA, have made possible innumerable exhibits and displays. A pre-historic life-size elephant and several cases displaying mounted life in natural habitats are typical of the staffs' work. Harley Goettsche, W. T. student, has a display of his ability in the plaster of paris reproductions of the cowboy and the Indian now in Pioneer Hall.

Several pleasant hours in the Museum can be spent by the summer student whether it is the first or tenth visit.

Dr. Homer Price Rainey, president of the University of Texas, said recently that the success of our democratic experiment in education is going to be tested within the next ten years with the field of secondary education as the battleground.

There is a list of books for each reserve in the Kardex file on the desk in Reserve Book Room. When your teacher makes an assignment, for example in Education 101, look over this list to see what books she has put on reserve. This will help you locate your reading material. Later, if you wish additional material, use the Card Catalogue in the Hall.

Each student will be permitted to take only one book at a time and will sign for it at the desk as they pass out. Neither texts nor large notebooks are permitted in the reserve room.

Reserve books must be returned through the chute in the main hall and not on the shelves.

Each book may be kept out for only 1 hour from the time taken except when permission is granted for a longer time. If you have not had your book 1 hour when the bell rings, you may keep it until your hour has expired if you care to do so. This applies to all hours except from 3:30 to 4:25. ALL BOOKS TAKEN FROM THE RESERVE BOOK ROOM MUST BE RETURNED TO THE RESERVE BOOK ROOM AT 4:25 ON THAT DAY OR BE ASSESSED A FINE OF 25 CENTS. It is necessary that the books be in at this time in order that they may be rechecked for over-night use.

Books will be checked for over-night use at 4:30 p. m., and must be returned the following school day during the first half hour after classes begin. A restricted list of books may not be checked until 6:30. All over due books draw a fine of 15 cents for the first hour, and 5 cents for each succeeding hour. Students who owe fines will not be permitted to check out books until their record is clear.

Fines Must Be Paid
One week of grace is granted in which to pay fines without extra charge. This does not mean, however, that you can draw books during the week. AFTER ONE WEEK AN ADDITIONAL CHARGE OF TEN CENTS PER DAY IS ASSESSED UNTIL THE FINE IS PAID. A list of fines is posted on the bulletin board. The Library is not responsible for notifying students that they are on the Fine List.

LOAN LIBRARY
All books from the Loan Library, Room 210, may be kept for three days, and are due at 5:00 on the third day. Books may be rechecked after being left one hour. Books from the loan shelf due on Sunday or holidays must be returned during the first hour of the following school day. If books are not returned when due they draw a fine of 5 cents per day.

When drawing books from the Loan Library, a yellow slip must be correctly filled out; if you do not know the call number of a book, consult the Card Catalogue—call number will be found in RED in the upper left-hand corner of the catalogue card. Yellow slips may be obtained at the Loan Desk and at the Card Catalogue.

If the Library is open, return all books to the desk from which you checked them. If the Library is closed, return all books through the chute, Room 212, regardless of where they were checked.

Students are asked to refrain from talking in Reading Room and Hall.

MAIN READING ROOM
Room 217 is the Main Reading Room.

Bound magazines and reference books are located here. The current periodicals are found in an adjacent room. No material in these rooms is to be taken out, but all material is available to students at all times during the regular library hours.

RENTAL COLLECTION
For the pleasure of the students, the Library maintains a Rental Collection. This collection is in Room 214. The books may be checked for four cents per day, payable when the books are returned. Your record must be clear before you may use the collection. The rental fund is used for the purpose of placing more books on the shelf. We invite you to investigate this collection.

ALL THIS, AND HEAVEN TOO, by Rachel Field . . . New York, The Macmillan Company . . . 1938. Reviewed by Jewel Keenan.

In one hot week in August, 1847, all France was set in turmoil by the murder of a duchesse. It was a brutal crime and public sentiment raged against the lady's husband, the handsome and aristocratic Duc de Praslin, who was found in his adjoining apartment with blood-stained clothing. Rumor named the governess of the Praslin children as the cause of the crime. Duc de Praslin took poison and died without confessing. Then the public turned in fury upon the governess, Henriette Duluzy-Desportes. Some believed the murder was done by a peer, which involved the already unpopular Louis-Philippe. Thus a woman in her thirties, not a beautiful woman, found herself driven from the obscurity of an upper servant into the limelight, an object of curiosity, horror and shame, in a chane of events that upset a throne.

"All This, And Heaven Too" is a tale which started in Paris as told by Henriette's great-niece, Rachel Field, reveals what part in that mystery was played by the level-headed governess, who refusing to have a lawyer, quite ably pleaded her case before the Chancellor of France. The story ended far from France, and a grave stone in this country bears the inscription:

"Henriette Desportes
Beloved Wife of Henry M. Field
Died March 6, 1875."

It was upon this grave-stone that Miss Field, as a child, cracked butternuts and placed a four-leaf clover, one summer day in the early 20th century. She always wished that she might bring back to life this famous great-aunt, and with the aid of many articles which had come down to her as a child—family letters, old newspapers, yellowed documents on the case, and stories left by Henriette's contemporaries, such as Victor Hugo's description of Henriette as she paced, under guard, in the courtyard of Conclergerie—she has woven an amazing story. From the documents and treasured relics—the rosewood table, the pastel picture, the enameled pin in worn carnelian-studded box—there comes not only the history of a woman involved in a crime, but a warm and colorful drama of life.

Henriette, having finished her schooling at a convent, was forced to earn her own way; self-support was not easy for women in those days. First in England, then in France she lived in that lonely state of a governess who is more than a servant but less than a member of the nobility. As her niece has pictured her, she was a woman of grace and charm, wit an intelligence, though, as was said before, she held no claim to beauty. She had courage and a capacity for self-discipline.

Daily life in the house of the Duchess de Praslin required quick thinking and self-control, for the jealous mistress, half crazed with anger and fear at the waning affections of her husband, sought every opportunity to humiliate any woman to whom he might speak a pleasant word. Henriette knew that the servants were paid to spy upon her. Except for the children, of whom she was passionately fond, and a few old friends, she was alone.

The due respected the governess and enjoyed her company; it is even possible that he loved her. What she felt for him she told no one; it is probable that she herself did not know. Not until after the storm of those hectic events connected with the murder had passed, did she have the opportunity to meet such fine people as those who thronged her parlor at the parsonage in Gramercy Park. Life in those days when she was a governess was made bearable only by her devotion to the children of the great house in the rue du Faubourg-Saint-Hornore, and the acceptance of the fact that she had to earn her living.

Soon after the tragic scandal, when she hardly dared show her face in the streets, she met a young American minister who was making a tour of Europe. Henry Martyn Field, then twenty-five years of age, and unlike anyone she had ever met before. He believed in her innocence and goodness, and unknown to her was instrumental in getting her a position to teach in a school for girls in New York. Two years later they were married.

From there the story is of her life as the minister's wife in the parsonage at Springfield, where she excited both the apprehension and admiration of the parishioners. When her husband was away preaching in another town, she was invited to "A Little Season," thinking it a party, she wore an evening dress, only to find that it was a "Little Season of Prayer." Each of the others in turn prayed for the "poor heathen" in their midst, and when it came her turn, she prayed for the poor heathen too.

Henriette was a woman of vision and thrift, who made it possible for her husband to progress. In a few years he was an editor in New York,

W. T. Releases Will Attend Retreat

Nine students of the regular session will leave this week for the annual Southern Baptist Student Retreat at Ridgecrest, near Asheville, N. C.

These include Mattie Lee Clay and Ruth Clay, Pampa; June Cope, Follett; Anita Cleland, Loretta Cole, R. M. Francis, and Brynilde Vaughan, Canyon; Virginia Lee Hussey, Hereford; and George Stokes, Plainview.

At the retreat the students will attend classes in the morning, leaving the afternoons open for recreation in the Southern mountains near Asheville. Leavell, and Miss Mary Nance Daniels, of Nashville, Tenn., and Chester Swor of Mississippi.

Eight of the group will go in a special car loaned by Mr. Clay of Pampa, while Vaughan will leave from Lubbock on the bus chartered by the Texas delegation. The party will return some time after the middle of the month.

W. T. Lofland and family left recently for Austin where Mr. Lofland will assist in the office of L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Mr. Lofland will return in September to continue his work in this district.

while she helped to defray expenses by giving lessons in French and keeping a few girls who were attending the nearby boarding school in which she had taught. Through Henriette's eyes one sees many of the noble men and women of her time who were personal friends of hers: William Cullen Bryant, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Fanny Kemble, and Abraham Lincoln. It was Henry Field's brother, Cyrus, who gained lasting fame for the laying of the Atlantic cable. Life was full for the governess who had seen her future blasted.

Miss Field declares that she related in "All This, And Heaven Too" what might have happened; that it is a work based upon the lives of actual people and events. No novel of pure fiction could be more engrossing.

Ora Mae Harris Becomes Bride of Ross Wilson

By Nell Stevenson
Society Editor, The Prairie

Miss Ora Mae Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harris of Canyon, became the bride of Ross Wilson of Lark, in an impressive ring ceremony Thursday afternoon at the First Methodist church. The Rev. J. K. Moore, principal of the Paducah High School, officiated at the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Virginia Vaughan, organist, played "At the Bend of the River," and Schubert's "Serenade."

Following these musical numbers, the ushers—Bill Harris, brother of the bride, and Kenneth Walters—came forward and lighted the candles at the altar.

The bridal party entered to the strains of "At Dawning," by Cædman, sung by Houston Bright. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Bridal vows were spoken before an improvised altar of larkspur, orange blossoms, ferns, and palms, while Kenneth Hohlhaus played softly on the violin, "Salute d'Amour."

The bride looked lovely in a white net dress over satin, and a white net veil trimmed in pink roses, across the front. She carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

The bride was attended by Miss Reba Hill, who was attractive in pink net over satin. The groom was attended by Mr. B. C. Carter. Both attendants are ex-students of W. T.

Following the wedding, an informal reception was given at the Harris home. Punch and cake were served to friends. Misses Carolyn Dixon and Sybil McCall presided at the lace-covered table.

Mrs. Wilson was graduated from Groom High School in 1934, and West Texas State last year. In addition to being president of Alpha Chi, National Scholarship Society, she was a member of the Dramatics Club and Spanish Club. She was in the College Who's Who her senior year. For the last year she has been employed as English instructor in Hale Center High School.

Mr. Wilson was graduated from Groom High School in 1934, and from West Texas State in the class of '38. The last semester of the school year '38, he had a fellowship to the University of Tennessee, where he did work toward a master's degree in chemistry. While in school here, he was president of Alpha Chi in the fall of '37, president of Phi Beta Gamma, science club, and student assistant in the chemistry department.

The couple left Friday morning for Knoxville, Tennessee, where Mr. Wilson will complete work during the summer on his Master's degree.

Mrs. Condron, who was 81 years of age, had been a resident of Clarendon for 35 years, having moved there from Elgin, Texas. She has visited here at the home of her son often, and while here in October, 1937, she fell and broke her hip. Since that time her health had not been good. About six weeks ago she broke some ribs and had been suffering from them until the time of her death.

Surviving here are a son, S. H. Condron of Canyon, a daughter, Mrs. Frank Bourland, whom she had been living with in Clarendon, and two sisters, Miss Ann Bobo of Clarendon, and Mrs. W. H. McLean of San Antonio.

Popular Play-Night Opens Summer Athletic Program

Soft Ball, Ping-Pong
Will Be Featured
Friday Night

By Lynard Riley
Sports Editor, The Prairie
Play Night, popular summer athletic feature, will be inaugurated Friday night at 8:00 in Burton gymnasium, Buffalo stadium, and the outdoor swimming pool.

The lights of the entire athletic plant will be switched on, the doors thrown open at precisely this hour, according to Kenneth Kendrick, who assumes charge of the summer athletic program in the absence of Coaches Al Baggett and Jack Cur-tice.

"It is important that every one engage in some sport during the summer months, particularly the ones they like the best. If there is a question to be raised, or if we have left some sport off the program that you are especially interested in, be sure to see us about this," said the coaches when outlining the summer athletic plans.

The first Play Night will not be able to handle all the sports enumerated on the program as teams in softball, volleyball, and basketball have not been chosen. However balls will be issued to those who desire them on this night. The softball diamond is rapidly being put into playing shape and plans are now being formed for an intrasquad game Friday night at 8:00 in the stadium. Also the croquet, horseshoe, and shuffleboard courts will be ready to go. Ping-pong will be played in Burton gymnasium for the present, with a tournament for boys and girls and mixed doubles at some later date.

FATHER DILLARD OF PARIS VISITS NYA PROJECT

Father Victor Dillard of Paris, France visited the campus Tuesday, while on a tour studying American youth projects. He visited the NYA project.

H. B. Hamilton, NYA project superintendent of Amarillo, came here with Father Dillard, who is head of the Youth activities in France.

A total of 92.6 per cent of Rutgers University students use the college library during the year.

More than 10,000 individuals last year contributed to a special Harvard University fund.

Coach Al Baggett has outlined an ambitious recreational program for the summer school students that embraces nearly every form of warm weather sport. Practically every sport that paraded on the program last year gets an encore and one or two new ones have been added. Coach Baggett has said that he would like to see the students get behind the athletics as well as they did last year and make the old theme song, "Everybody doing something," again a popular ditty.

Headlining the activities will be the popular feature, Play Night. It is scheduled twice weekly, Wednesday and Friday nights. For the benefit of some who were not here last year, this is a general athletic night when the entire plant is thrown open to the public for sports and games. The outstanding attraction of the night is the softball game in Buffalo Field when top teams of the Amarillo softball league are invited for games with a select college ten. Also, the Buffalo natatorium is open to students and outside swimmers. Swimming under the stars seems to have a special significance as portrayed by the crowds that frolic in the waters on these days.

Burton gymnasium will have its quota of games, including basketball, handball and ping pong tournaments. Handball has proved to be one of the most consistent sports of them all, and was given a big boost the past year with the addition of two new courts, one in the north wing of the gymnasium and the other in the recreational hall at Buffalo Courts.

A league will be formed in softball, with the number of teams to be determined at a later date. Also another highlight will feature an all-college tennis tournament. Two of last spring's varsity netmen, Glen Milner and L. Riley, should not be hard put to hold their own against the bulging waistlines, that so very often typify the teaching profession, some of whom may attempt to strut their aging wares on the concrete courts. For the enthusiastic followers of the green, the college's new golf course has been put into the best shape of its short career, and there is a possibility of a flag tournament later in the summer.

Shuffleboard, which accumulated a popular following last spring,

Kendrick Announces Golf and Tennis Courts Are Ready

The college golf course is due for some rough treatment in the next few days as Buffalo Courts athletes attack the rapidly growing weeds that have sprung up due to the recent rains. The course when worked over will compare favorably with any in this part of the country.

The golf and tennis courts, which every summer monopolize a large share of the student's attention, will be a hum-bug of activity when the tournaments get under way in the next week or two.

Kenneth Kendrick, athletic supervisor, has announced a flag tourney in golf, and a tourney in tennis, with the possibility of some prizes being offered to the winning contestants.

evidenced by a uniform response to the baton.

The five soloists were always adequate and often outstanding in handling their roles. Miss Ada V. Clark, soprano, sang Gabriel smoothly and enchantingly. Robert McKenzie of Panhandle, tenor, received much applause for his moving performance of Uriel; Houston Bright of Canyon, baritone, put much depth and feeling into the role of Raphael. Important airs and recitatives were also sung by George Stokes of Plainview and Arvo Goddard of Pampa, basses. Probably the passages of the oratorio best performed and best received were the soprano-tenor-bass trio combinations, which produced an entirely beautiful effect. Miss Marjorie Wilkinson of Canyon was accompanist.

"The Creation" was generally considered to be an acceptable successor to last year's "Iolanthe."

Contract Is Let To Top Hiway Shoulders North

Lee Moor Construction Company of El Paso was awarded the contract Thursday in Austin for topping the highway shoulders between Canyon and Amarillo. The contract price was $12,888.

Caliche was laid on each side of the concrete slab three years ago with labor furnished under CWA and WPA. The highway department has been planning since that time to widen the top in order to make this a three-lane highway.

This highway has the heaviest traffic of any in Northwest Texas, according to count of the highway department. While few accidents have occurred, in spite of the heavy traffic, it is believed that the widening of this highway will materially reduce the number of accidents.

horseshoe pitching, and croquet will be played in the stone walled courts on the east side of Burton gym. Then for the thirsty a large "nickel" coca-cola machine, that keeps the drinks ice-cold, has been installed in the physical education office.

PERSONALITIES . . . AL DUNCAN, head coach at Turkey High School, whose team the Terrible Turks, came very near winning the district last year, has his full team back next year, with the exception of one man, and should stand a good chance to cop the title next year. . . . KENNETH KENDRICK, principal at Phillips High School, will be in charge of Buffalo Courts during his summer stay. Kenneth, who last year pitched for the All-star bunch, will probably be in there again chunking them over. . . . GLYNDON RILEY, varsity tennis ace for the Buffs three years, states that he will take the college tennis tourney easily, bulging waistline and all.

EX-STUDENT POSTOFFICE

Glyndon Riley, Postmaster

Those things which establish the record of any school better than any other factors are the reputations of the ex-students. This column, edited by an alumnus, is meant to post other exes on what finally happened to the tow-headed or bushy haired fellow that practically passed that chemistry course for you back in the dark ages. Since there are more than 20,000 exes from W. T. it will be virtually impossible to cite the official capacity of each one.

Heading this vast army of personalities, as the president, is CLAY THORNTON, now owner of the Panhandle Laundry in Amarillo. Thornton recently wrote in THE VETERAN, American Legion publication, "It is a remarkable fact, but true, that about the best job insurance there is to be found is a West Texas State diploma. Every graduate seeking employment has a job." That fact, in itself, is a keen indication of the service that our Alma Mater is rendering.

To begin with, let's take a glance at some of the former athletes of the college who withstood many a bruise and batter for the good of the maroon and white.

Just heard that OSCAR HINGER, chubby guard of '38, installed a successful physical education program at the Pampa Junior High School last year. School executives were so well pleased with it that they asked him to implant a similar program at the senior high school next year.

Down at Vernon High School with a two year contract is PAT GERARD, cage captain of '28. Judging from comparative figures, Gerald's grid product last year was one of the five strongest teams in the state.

ELVIS "HECK" WARD, '29, is instructor of manual training at Canadian High School where TOBY WAGGONER, '37, just completed two years of coaching.

OTIS BURK, '33, the ball-handler of Coach Sam Burton's greatest basketball team of '32, is athletic director of Perryton High School.

EMIL HUTTO, '36, stepped over to Clarendon High School from Canyon last year as head coach. His assistant for the coming year will be SI MARCHBANKS, '38, Vega's coach of last year.

ZELEL CHAMPION, '37, has directed physical education in the junior high school at Tyler for the last two years.

DARRELL HEMPHILL, netter of '37, has just finished two years of law training at the University of Texas.

MILTON MORRIS, another member of Burton's famed cage club of '32, has been retained as vocational agriculture teacher at the Canyon High School where his regional work in FFA has been popularly recognized.

AUDELL KIMMINS, cage magician of '35, has enrolled in summer school after two years as principal of the Perico school.

WILLIE BOEDEKER, basketball captain of '35, has been re-elected as principal of the Friona High School.

CONWAY BUTLER, '38, led the Pacific coast in scoring with the Bank of America basketball team. He has his residence in Hollywood, with hopes of stepping into Robert Taylor's shoes when the movie actor retires.

VERNON JOHNSON, '37, has been re-elected as assistant coach at Childress High School.

WAYLAN "RED" WEATHER-RED, is county school superintendent of Gray county schools.

TOM SLACK, '38, the unheard of boy who sped 90 yards with a kick-off in 1937 against St. Benedict's College, won district 4 in basketball as coach of the Medicine Mounds Owls. He has spurned other coaching offers to stay at the Mounds for next year.

GEORGE SMALLEY, former netman of '37, is employed by the John Deer Implement Co., of Amarillo.

MARVIN MYERS, '36, has been re-elected as agriculture instructor at Crowell High School.

LEO JACKSON, captain of the football team in 1937, will be coach at Tahoka High School next year after two years at Flomot. GEORGE CAVINESS, '37, was his assistant last term.

EDD McMINN, '36, is vocational agriculture instructor at Rule after two years of successful coaching at Kirkland.

CAGLE TEAGUE, '34, has been highly successful at vocational agriculture teaching at Childress High School.

STINA (SUGAR) CAIN, '37, will be principal of an elementary school next year at Wheeler after two years of coaching there.

RONALD DAVIS, '36, is agriculture teacher and coach at Happy High School.

BILL HARP, '38, has coached at Dodson for the last year where he was instrumental in organizing a district six-man football league.

CRAIG WALLING, '38, has coached at Knox City for the last year.

BLAKE BOLTON, '22, is the superintendent of schools at Dalhart.

GRADY BURSON, '25, is coach of athletics at Clayton, N. M.

J. DAVIS HILL, '26, is principal of the high school at White Deer. This summer, Hill will be an instructor at the University of Denver.

LEWIS HILL, '25, is the superintendent of schools at Follett.

MITCHELL JONES, doughty guard of '25, is the associate professor of education at his Alma Mater with summer plans to attend the University of Southern California.

(Ed. note: This column can be continued through the co-operation of the exes. Exes are requested to drop a line to Glyndon Riley about themselves or their W. T. associates. The Prairie expects exes to feel free to make suggestions on this column.)

HOPE BUSSEY HAS POETRY PUBLISHED RECENTLY

Hope Bussey, '38, is represented in the major anthologies which Henry Harrison, poetry publisher of New York, is issuing this summer.

Miss Bussey edited the poetry column, Literary Scripta Manet, in The Prairie when a senior here. She taught at Panhandle during the last year.

Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting fraternity, has donated a stone fireplace to the University of Wichita.

Southwest and was given credit for the most outstanding work in Texas in the field of audio visual education in an article in the Texas Outlook.

The course will be a general survey of the whole field of audio visual education, including the use of maps, charts, film strips, lantern slides, photographs, puppets, drama, and sound and silent motion picture films. For full credit students must enroll in the laboratory works where aids to teaching will be demonstrated and instruction will be given in the operation of slide and motion picture machines. The course is listed as education 351, and it will carry graduate credit.

Lyceum Numbers

A complete schedule of lyceum numbers for the summer session was not available yesterday, however, three previously announced programs which will be given include a lecture by the famous Wallace Bruce Amsbary, the Davies Light Opera Company, and Henry and Company.

The subject of Prof. Amsbary, lecturer in literature at Armour Institute, Chicago, Illinois, will be "The Saving Grace of Humor."

William Davies, Welch tenor, will direct the "Student Prince, Of Thee I Sing," "Vagabond King" and other numbers when the opera company comes here.

Sand painting, oriental mysteries and magic are on the program when Henry, world traveler, artist and magician, brings his company.

Appearance dates have not been announced.

Book Reviews

The popular book reviews of summer sessions will be continued this year. Eight W. T. professors are scheduled to give reports during the nine weeks term.
