

The Editor Speaking

Students on the campus of W. T. sympathized deeply with both Armor Lee Greenfield and Ira Hutchens last week. Miss Greenfield's mother and Mr. Hutchens' father died on the same day, Thursday of last week. All of us who know these two students were saddened to learn of their bereavement.

The intramural boxing and wrestling preliminaries have claimed the attention and intense interest of practically every student in school during the last few days. Preliminaries were held in these two sports from Wednesday to Saturday of last week. The finals will be held tonight and from all indications, Burton Gym will be well filled. Savagery still prevails to a great extent, say what you will about the advance of civilization. Human beings will do everything but go completely berserk while watching a close contest between boxers or wrestlers. Regardless of philosophizing, be on hand tonight if you want to see some good fights.

Congratulations to the Y. W. C. A. For one of the most unique and interesting programs of the year, that organization certainly deserves full credit. The numbers which proved to be the most popular hits with the audience were Ruth Stapleton's reading in Negro dialect concerning Moses and Pharaoh's daughter; Christine Warren and the T-Anchor Cowboys with their Epsom Salts program; and Craig as Walter Winchell. It is hard to pick out the best parts of the program as it was consistently good throughout.

Clyde W. Warwick, editor and publisher of The Canyon News, had practically all of the business men and professional men and women of Canyon in to breakfast with him Friday morning in observance of the fortieth anniversary of The News. Approximately one hundred and twenty-five persons visited the exceptionally well-equipped plant and learned things about printing that they had never dreamed of previously. It came as a complete surprise to most of the visitors to find the plant to be so complete in equipment.

Mr. Warwick assumed ownership of the plant and newspaper in 1910 and has since then given the people of Canyon and Randall county one of the best country newspapers published anywhere. Most people are inclined to overlook the opportunities which a country newspaper has for giving real honest-to-goodness service to the community in which it is situated. These people think that because the publication does not have a large circulation over a wide area that it cannot have a great deal of influence. In recent years, it has been demonstrated that the small community paper has more influence proportionately than does the large daily paper.

The brief glimpses which we have been getting of spring are coming to be more and more appreciated as the March winds tear around kicking up a lot of dust. This is undoubtedly the most eccentric country that ever existed. One day will be perfect from the standpoint of clear skies, abundant sunshine, and of being generally suggestive of spring; and then perhaps the very next day will be an ordeal to experience. The wind increases rapidly early in the morning, the sky takes on a coppery hue by 9 or 10 o'clock, and by noon the dust is sending visibility down to an ever-narrowing circle. And the tragedy is that there isn't a darned thing that we can do about it.

J. Frank Dobie To Be Speaker at P.-P.H.S. Banquet

Banquet tickets will be $1.00 per plate, and Professor L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Society, says that reservations should be made early of W. L. Vaughan, Canyon, Texas. The business session of the day will be held in the afternoon.

Clark Is Chosen To Captain Buff Cagers In 1937

Election Made Following Loss of Game at Denver

In a meeting of the members of the Buffalo basketball squad at Denver, Colo., following their loss to the Arkansas State Teachers, Lawrence "Butch" Clark was selected to captain the Buff cagers in the season of 1936-37. Clark is a junior and has one more year of eligibility.

Clark has lettered twice in both basketball and football and is the second of this lineage to secure the honor—his brother, Bob, having been the captain during the season of 1932. His work has been impressive all year, and his hustle and chatter has been an inspiration to his teammates. He is conceded to be one of the cleverest ball-handlers to represent the Maroon and White. His solemn manner and modest temperament have made him a favorite on the campus.

Clark graduated from Turkey High School in 1931, having lettered three years in both football and basketball. In 1932-33 he attended W. T. and was a member of the Yearling athletic teams. During 1933-34, he was employed in the Wolf Fleet schools where he acted in the role as coach of all athletics. He returned to school, and has firmly established his reputation as an athlete par excellence.

Smith Addresses W. T. Agriculture Classes Tuesday

R. D. Smith, Director of Personnel for the Federal Rehabilitation Program, visited the agriculture department Tuesday, March 17. In his lectures to two groups of agriculture students, he developed four major topics, namely: (1) occupations now open to students completing college, (2) personal qualities desired in employees, (3) what salary to expect, and (4) things which a personnel director considers in selecting an applicant for a job.

Mr. Smith had the privilege of participating in a recent survey of a large industrial company, concerning the college students who made good in that company. He says that college marks are indicative of capacity and efficient work. Several factors enter into the situation. A straight "A" grade, selected on marks alone is a 52% successful criterion.

Considering campus activities alone, the right person would be selected forty times in one hundred selections. If a combination of factors are considered, a personnel director should be able to select correctly 90% of the time.

OUR STATE ANTHEM

Though the story of the Alamo and the Battle of San Jacinto are common knowledge over the entire country, many native Texans are not familiar with the official state anthem, Texas, Our Texas. With the many Centennial activities of the coming months every Texan should at least know the words of the state song.

The popularity of The Eyes of Texas, school song of the University of Texas, has led many people to believe that it is the state song, but Texas, Our Texas proved almost unanimously the choice of the state.

Despite its comparative youth, the story of our state song is no less glamorous than many other state institutions. The words are a joint production of William J. Marsh of Fort Worth and Gladys Yoakum who now lives in St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Marsh composed the music.

Beginning with the adoption of the Bluebonnet as the official state flower in 1904, Texas Governors had constantly been besieged with a barrage of correspondence making suggestions for a state song. It was in 1924 that Governor Neff started competition for a state song. A committee of 25 persons—musicians, school teachers, lawyers, and others were called together to select a song to be recommended to the Legislature.

After humming and discussing the merits of some 450 melodies for three days the group unanimously chose Texas, Our Texas. Wide publicity was given the song throughout the state, but misfortune befell it. Before any action on the part of the Legislature could be taken, a new governor was inaugurated and interest in a state song waned.

It was later decided to hold a new hearing. This time Texas, Our Texas was among the first six, but interest again lagged, and no final choice was made.

At last in 1928, Senator Margie Neal proposed that a state song committee be appointed to select a state song. This time there were to be hearings in all senatorial districts, and the winner in each district was to be played at a final meeting in Dallas. At this meeting in October, 1928, Texas, Our Texas again proved the unanimous choice, winning over a thousand other melodies.

It was adopted by a joint committee of the House and Senate in May, 1929. It was formally accepted in March when it was presented by Mrs. Pearl Calhoun and a chorus from the Wednesday Musical Club of Austin.

World famous musical organizations have used the melody since its adoption as the state song. It was played by the noted Sousa's Band, and he said it was the finest state song he had heard. Not only has the song been played at inaugurations of Texas governors, but also for the inaugural ceremonies of two national presidents. It was played at the inauguration of former President Hoover and for President Roosevelt, and in each case it was played by the famous Marine Band. The tune has also been played by the United States Navy Band.

A true musician and Texan is the composer of the music and co-author of the words of the state anthem. He came to Ft. Worth from England in 1904. His father had lived in Texas at Dallas when there were only 3,000 inhabitants. Mr. Marsh is the chairman of the The Texas Composers Guild, and is listed in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in Music. He recently composed the official Centennial Mass which will be sung at the Centennial Exposition in Dallas next October. He is chairman of the Publishing Committee for the Official Song Book of the Centennial. In addition he is the composer of over 100 published musical compositions.

Our state anthem is a part of a Texan's heritage of which he can be justly proud. Not only are the words inspiring and descriptive of Texas' past, but the music rates as a masterpiece. The opening of the words below should bring every Texan to his feet with clicking heels and snouder blades touching behind.

Texas our Texas! all hail the mighty State!
Texas our Texas! So wonderful so great!
Largest and grandest, withstanding every test;
O Empire wide and glorious, you stand supremely blest.

God bless you Texas! And keep you brave and strong,
That you may grow in power and worth, throughout the ages long.

An interesting article in this week's exchanges comes from The East Texas State Teachers College. President Sam H. Whitley left yesterday on his first extended vacation in his seventeen years of service in the institution. He will probably go to the valley where he will spend two or three weeks. —The East Texan.

Concerning Books

Having surreptitiously read books on easy money; having listened earnestly to other people's get-rich-quick policies; having gone Higher with Hoover and Repented with Roosevelt; I now desire some authentic advice on how to invest my imaginary wealth.

Like a "blooming plutocrat" I boldly approach the rent collection of the library and order such information. The Librarian (easily detecting my inferiority complex) produces A. R. Horr's recent book "Embarrassing Dollars" with an introduction by Newton D. Baker.

This book aids giddy widows and wayward sons in investing their old man's hard earned money in some trust or stock market or some such financial term rather than spending it all on a new car. Having read "Embarrassing Dollars" one is more respectful to the poor capitalist who has more money than he can handle, suddenly thrust upon him. (A proletariat might deny my obviously kind remarks.)

Economists tell us that with our present system of government that we will always have "booms" and depressions and that we just as well prepare for the next depression! But as for me, I'm thinking of the next siege of prosperity.

Seemingly, Mr. Horr is a conservative financier. His ideas may not always apply. However, if you read the book for any reason, pleasure, or information, and if your head is cluttered with such magnificent phrases as "Steel Preferred," "Erie Common," "U. S. A. I. O. U.'s," "retirement annuity," and other such phrases designed to baffle the common man, still, you can very easily carry on brilliant conversations on finance.

State Teachers College, at Florence, Alabama is offering for the first time a course in "The Conservation of Natural Resources," according to an announcement from the office of President Willingham.—The Flor-Ala.

For Digestion's Sake—smoke Camels

Smoking Camels found to have a positive beneficial effect upon Digestion...

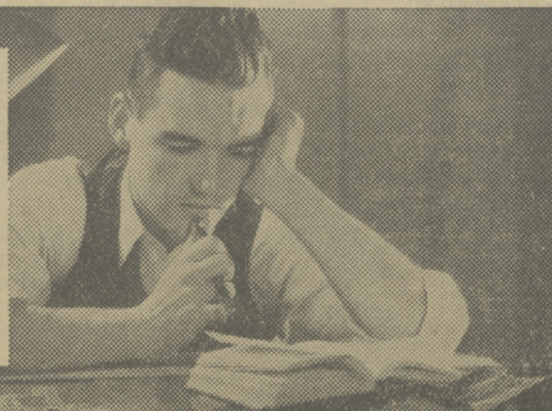

Our modern "eat-and-run" way of living is hard on digestion. Experiences with indigestion are all too common! Hence unusual interest attaches to the following fact: that smoking Camels has been found to have a marked beneficial effect in aiding digestive action. You'll find Camels milder too, more delicate in flavor, packed with the rich enjoyment of choice tobaccos.

Turn to Camels for your digestion's sake... for the greater pleasure to be found in smoking Camel's costlier tobaccos.

Camels set you right!

"BONING UP" puts extra strain on your digestion. Camels help you ease off, by stimulating and promoting digestion. Camels are mild, smooth. They set you right. And never get on your nerves.

"CAMELS ARE A FAVORITE with us here," says Mr. Joe Moss, who presides over New York's Hollywood Restaurant (above), where diners flock to enjoy fine food! "As I look over the crowd, I see Camels on lots of tables. We've found that success comes through giving people the best. The fact that Camel uses costlier tobaccos and people prefer Camels shows that they appreciate the best."

A SENSATION! Henry Taft Snowdon, '34, intercollegiate wrestling champion. Snowdon says: "Smoking Camels after meals and between meals aids digestion."

OTIS BARTON, scientist-inventor, who dives in the "bathysphere," says: "Camels make my food taste better and help it to digest."

thriller. Calloway will be a favorite to take George Schmitz's measure in the 125 lb. division. Ray Small does not have an opponent in the 118 lb. class.

No Tunneys Found

No embryo Dempseys or Tunneys were uncovered in the leather slinging division, but the aspirants divulged the benefit gained through the boxing instructions. Three knockouts pervaded the week's fighting. Cain registered a technical knockout in almost record breaking time over Sanderson. Jack Bartlett, 125 lb. duplicated Cain's example when he won by a similar process over Henry Young in the second round. Shackelford manufactured a long winding haymaker on Wood's chin for the third K. O. He was in turn a victim of a steady shower of timely blows from the mitts of Toby Waggoner. Waggoner fights Lloyd Miller in the heavyweight class tonight.

Cain will oppose Caviness in the 175 pound division.

Orville Cunningham will be only a slight favorite when he battles the sensational "Chick" Neilson in the 165 lb. class. Neilson barely reached the finals when he was surprised by "Rookie Red" Hayes who pluckily stayed in the thick of the fight for live breath-taking rounds.

Cox will fight Brooks in the 145 lb. class following a noisy contested tussle with McCoy in a preliminary bout.

Watkins and Hunt will fight for the initial time tonight in the 130 lb. division. They were alone in this weight. Snevmaker will fight Strode for the 130 lb. medal, owing to a broken hand that Knowles, conqueror of Strode, suffered in his preliminary bout.

Bailey-Bartlett Feature

The feature of the night's boxing is the 125 lb. class between Bailey, varsity representative, and Jack Bartlett, a new comer. Bartlett is given an equal advantage with the clever Bailey, subsequent to his lop-sided victory over Young. Wendell Cain will be a heavy favorite to defend his title against Horace Hickox in the 118 lb. class. Football sweaters will be awarded those players who lettered this year at the close of the fights tonight.

Wisecracks and . . . Otherwise

Edited by Marion Hill

Whatta break for the columnist! This week, instead of trying to fill this space ourselves, we present for your approval, Walter Winchell as he appeared Friday Night on the Professional Hour program over station BUZZ coming to you from the Hotel Ritz, Hollywood. Oh, yes, and the date is 1940 and you can give due credit to the Y. W. C. A. A swell evening of entertainment!

Walter Winchell: Good evening, Mr. and Mrs. America! Flash!—Amarillo—It is reported that Dr. Turner was not seen with Ruth Stapleton last night at the Nat. The campus is agog with curiosity as to who the woman might have been.

Flash! I have it from a reliable authority that Miss Graham and her escort crashed the Ruff-Nex formal ball last night and refused to leave at the request of E. G. Schuhart.

Flash! I reported last week that Travis Shaw detained Miss Brown forty minutes to tell her his latest joke about two Irishmen. Correction—the time was one hour.

Flash! Attention, Mrs. Stuart H. Condron. I have considered your request for help. You will probably find your husband in Section 4 of Article 1 of the Constitution of the State of Texas. If he is not there, look on the south bank of McSpadden's Lake.

Flash! Prof. Lassers has been elected president of a new national honor fraternity—V. M. G. A. A. (Visible Mustache Growers Association of America). A membership campaign will be launched soon by vice-president C. S. Johnston.

Flash! From the high seas. Germany. Riot on the Rhine. Hitler regime overthrown. Bill Hopkins now in control.

Flash! Panhandle-Plains Museum. Found in a dark corner of the museum: Dr. Pierle looking for new jokes for his classes.

Flash! Pier 64, Blank Street, New York City. Lord Joseph Blaine and his brother Sir William H. III have just returned from a year spent on their estate in Scotland. Note: They were found as stowaways aboard the steamship Queen Victoria.

Flash! Think what you may. This is not a lot of bull. Newman Carr, Wayne Jones, and Lowell Windsor were in the cow business for a brief time last week. It seems that the boys were trying to help the auctioneer boost up the price of beef when they were left with a big Hereford bull on their hands. (Ah, gentlemen, quite a handful, we would say).

Flash! I have it from Ray Cox that one of the songs sung recently by the Women's Chorus was, "My Lover was a Freshman." After all, Ray should know whether she's a freshman or a fisherman.

Flash! Suspended sentence announced! Coach Baggett has promised the jury that he will not forget and lock Mrs. Baggett in the car again. The judge has appointed the Missus as the Big Man's guardian from now on.

Flash! Things to remember when cooking: Take the cake out of the electromixer before going to a class lasting one hour. You are welcome, Mrs. Bob Cox.

Flash! The Buffalo Kid for this week: Miss Mary Moss Richardson.

Flash! From the high seas, France! Miltia Hill, art teacher, who has been touring Europe for the past four years is sailing next week for the States. She returns a platinum blonde with a count in tow.

Flash! Attention, radio audience, here comes the scoop of the evening! A serious thought attacked Leo Jackson last week. As a result of the shock, Mr. Jackson is confined to his bed and is running a high temperature. Dr. Vernon Johnson, attending physician, reports that though Jackson's condition is grave, he will likely recover. It is probable that no traces of the illness will be permanently visible in the patient.

Flash! We've counted the votes and find that John is Rankin man with Virginia again.

We learn from the Dean's office that they are offering a new course in Geography next year entitled "Conversation of Natural Resources." We are wondering where and what they find so much to talk about. Perhaps if we are interested in getting further information Miss Jester will be glad to enlighten us.

Correct this sentence: "The great power given to me", said the public official, "makes me feel very humble."

Going to town with Luckies A LIGHT SMOKE of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

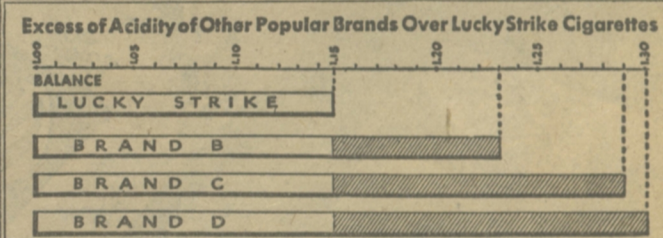

They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product.

All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

Buffaloes Lose Tournament Chances In First Game Played

Arkansas State Teachers Win Fray By 46-32 Decision

Coach Baggett returned with his Buffaloes Saturday night after a week of gazing at the best basketball that America has to offer. Their loss to the Conway Teachers was a result of crickets. When a team flashes an almost insoluble passing attack, and break through for a crisp after crisp only to see the ball roll out—then I would comment that they were just a victim of the "breaks."

The Buffs season now goes down on the books as the most successful season since the towering team. A resume finds 19 wins and 9 losses—a batting average of .679. They have battled and baffled some of the best in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, and have managed to maintain an untarnished stand in Burton Gym, a string of 12 victories.

Subsequent to their grand finale the boys convened and paid their respects to "Bitch" Clark and unanimously selected him to guide the hoopsters of 1936-37. Clark's faking, pivoting, shooting, ball-handling and cool thinking under fire make him worthy of the honor. Congrats, Clark.

Captain Willie Boedeker and Curtis Clement said "good-bye" amid cheers and praises intermingled with the sad thought that they have represented their Alma Mater for the last time. Two pals, and two great ball-hawks.

And I can't forget that the glamorous W. T. cage campaign of George Ray Colvin has ended. From a comment brought back by some of the squad that a few of the shrewd critics rate Colvin as the best in America. Some day, I expect to find George teaching

Without the services of their All-American guard, George Ray Colvin, the W. T. Buffaloes were ousted from the National A. A. U. Tournament by the Arkansas State Teachers of Conway, Ark., in the first round at Denver by a 46-32 decision.

Despite this casualty the Buffs put on a plucky exhibition against the winners of the Little Rock A. A. U. Tournament. Their inability to connect consistently with the hoop in the introductory canto proved their set-back. With three minutes to play in the first half, they were on the smaller end of an 18-3 count. At this point Walling and Butler reached into a large variety of tricky maneuvers to pull out nine points before the the "casaba" how to talk.

Butler, Davis, Walling, Dickerson and Hinger will return to fight for regular berths along with those up and coming Frosh.

The battle of the century is on. Tonight, fisticuffs forge to the sports front in the highlight of the year's boxing and wrestling meet, "Fite-Nite." Many can recall the fervent zeal created by this revised exhibition last year.

The prelims have been raging all week. An excess amount of pushing, shoving, grunting, stalling, interspersed with several apologies on the part of a few chicken-hearted aspirants produced numerous ludicrous sights. The participants are to be commended on the clean sportsmanship exhibited in the matches. Even roommates were deadly enemies on the mat, but left the ring with a smile regardless of the outcome. And this news cast concludes by reminding you to be on hand for the frills and spills in store for you tonight in Burton Gym.

The Buffs continued this punctuated comeback in the second period when Boedeker, Clement, Clark and Butler struck at random to pull up to a 35-30 count. Their single threat ceased when the opposing forwards, New and Walkold began to demonstrate their mettle. This duo of sharpshooters accounted for 27 of the Arkansasans aggregate. Butler was responsible for ten points before he was evicted from the game via the foul route.

Two Buffaloes sang their melody of farewell in this game—Captain Willie Boedeker and Curtis Clement. Both have been powerful units in the aggregation all season, and their loss will be felt. Excepting Colvin the remainder of the squad will return next year under the captainship of Lawrence Clark, two-year man from a guard position.

The annual concert of the W. T. Madrigal Club will be given Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Education Building at 8:15 o'clock. This is the most important musical event of the spring and people from all parts of the Panhandle come each year for the program to which all music lovers are invited.

The Madrigal Club has thirty-two members, all of them experienced singers. The work of the club, under the direction of Mr. Wallace R. Clark, has been highly commended by critics within the state and by D. A. Clippinger, of Chicago, America's foremost authority on Madrigal music. Mr. Clippinger was guest director of the concert given by the club three years ago.

The songs which will be sung this year include old and modern madrigals, chosen from the library of madrigal music which belongs to W. T. This library is probably the most extensive in the United States, giving the club an opportunity to give programs of great beauty and variety each year.

Did you ever notice the difference in the aroma of Chesterfield tobacco?

Every person who knows about tobacco will understand this... for to get a pleasing aroma is just like getting a pleasing taste from fruit.
