

First Enrollment Under New Plan Opens

125 Receive Degrees at Commencement Thursday

Many Expected To Register This Morning

The first enrollment under the new general college plan got underway yesterday as students stood in the customary long lines waiting to have programs checked and to pay fees. More than 300 had passed through the registrar's office at noon yesterday, and the crowd indicated that registration could not be completed before late today.

Classes were scheduled to meet for organization today, but no assembly will be held tonight, which is the regular scheduled period. The first assembly will be held this week, either Thursday night or Saturday night, Dean R. P. Jarrett said.

Most accommodations in private homes listed with the College were reported full Saturday. College owned living quarters are filling rapidly, though some vacancies still remain at Cousins, Randall, and Stafford halls.

Enrollment is still incomplete in the Demonstration School, though more than a hundred have already registered, according to Prof. F. E. Savage.

No enrollment figures at the Palo Duro School of Art were available yesterday, a count not having been made.

Playground Opens On W. T. Campus For Youngsters

An unusual feature of the college program this summer will be the daily supervised playground for Canyon children sponsored by the Department of Physical Education, according to Prof. Stuart H. Condon. The playground, located just west of Burton Gymnasium, will be open Saturday afternoon, June 11, at four o'clock, and daily thereafter from four until six o'clock.

For those who come regularly, Mr. Condon said, there will be two swims each week at ten-thirty o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday mornings in the Buffalo pool at considerably reduced rates.

Thorough instruction in swimming will be provided by lifeguards at the pool.

"Play Nite" will be held at Buffalo field every Friday night as a part of the program.

The Buffalo Swimming Pool will be open to town people from seven-thirty to nine-thirty on Wednesday and Friday nights. Regulations will be found in this issue of the Prairie, or in the Canyon News for June 9.

Ivey Howard Will Attend National Aquatic School

Ivey Howard, senior from Miami, will leave June 13 for Lake Taney Coma at Rockaway Beach, Mo., where she will attend the Red Cross National Aquatic School. Miss Howard attended the school last year when it was held in Arkansas.

She will return here early in July to teach a swimming course for children between the ages of 7 and 15. This swimming school is sponsored by the local chapter of the American Red Cross and will be free to children who were enrolled in school last term.

Pupils who wish to enroll must present a certificate from a physician and must have a written permission from their parents. Instruction will last two weeks with a class each day except Sunday. It will be held at Buffalo Pool, and pupils must comply with all regulations of the pool.

Miss Howard was instructor for a similar course last summer. Seventy-two children were enrolled, and thirty beginners learned to swim. Advanced diving and swimming strokes will be taught older boys this summer.

Dr. C. E. Evans Of San Marcos Gives Address

Undergraduate days closed for West Texas State regular session seniors at the twenty-eighth annual commencement Thursday morning when President J. A. Hill conferred degrees upon 125 members of the class. Dr. C. E. Evans, president of Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, gave the commencement address.

Travis B. Shaw, Jr., received an M. A. degree at the exercises.

Members of the class and faculty made the traditional march from Randall Hall to the Administration Building, and the college orchestra played the processional music as they entered the auditorium at the opening of the program.

Dr. Evans Speaks

Dr. Evans, who is the oldest of the Texas teachers college presidents in point of service, spoke on the "Triumphs and Tragedies of Life."

"Running through the years are the triumphs and tragedies of life, individual, social, national, and international," he said. In enumerating ways to limit the tragedies of life, Dr. Evans said: "We must build a broad foundation in serviceable knowledge. We don't know enough about our vocation before entering it to prevent misfits or enough after entering it to prevent failure. Better knowledge of vocations, better standards for entrance, and better qualifications for licensing would help."

Knowledge for Social Ends

"We must use our funded serviceable knowledge for social ends," he continued. "Such use will yield large dividends in triumphs. This calls for new social consciousness; this expects private persons acting in private capacities to think of social consequences. . . ."

"Neither individuals as individuals working for individual ends nor individuals equipped with serviceable facts working for social ends can properly protect us from tragedies in life. Government agencies should supplement, stimulate, and direct. Undue stress of individual liberty in economy, individual equality in democracy and individual equality in democracy and individual right against society means dispersion of energies and, of course, inefficiency and failure," he added.

Will Look to College Men

In concluding he said: "Changing men and the changing world will look to the college men and women of the day, with the graduates of 1938 as the best potential assistance through the diffusion of serviceable knowledge, through social engineering, through profound thinking, through scientific application, and through government supervision, to see to it that tragedies in life, fewer and fewer if possible, follow far in the rear of triumph's processions."

Following the address, Dr. Hill paid tribute to Clarence Russell Taylor, member of the graduating class who died shortly before the end of the term. His degree was given to his mother.

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cash, who have had children enrolled in the College for the last eighteen years, was read by President Hill.

Ardis Patman, graduate from Clarendon, was given special recognition for outstanding scholarship.

Coach Baggett Will Study at Columbia

Coach Al Baggett, college athletic director, will do work on a Ph. D. degree this summer at Columbia University. Coach Baggett will leave for New York during the early part of July and return after six weeks.

During Coach Baggett's absence, Coach Tony Dougal will have charge of the West Texas athletic program, which will be chiefly intramural sports. A freshman coach to succeed Coach Bob Cox will be added to the W. T. coaching staff before football training opens on Sept. 10.

L. G. Allen Is Given Degree at Commerce Where He Taught

L. G. Allen was honored in the commencement exercises of the East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce when he was given a degree in recognition of his long service as a teacher in the schools of Texas.

Mr. Allen was a graduate of the Mayo College at Cooper, and a member of the faculty of this institution which was moved to Commerce and later became state property. Mr. Allen was a graduate in 1894, the year the college was moved. He remained a member of the faculty until 1906, but spent some time teaching at other places when there were not enough students to provide a living for all members of the faculty. In those days the teacher received a salary only when the head of the school was able to secure sufficient funds to meet the pay roll.

Mr. Allen came to Anson in 1906, and was charged with the enthusiasm of West Texas. It was here that he first met R. B. Cousins who was later to become the first president of the new normal located in Canyon in 1909. Mr. Allen's work was so outstanding that Mr. Cousins invited him to come to Canyon to organize the new school in 1910, with which he was associated until a few years ago.

Mr. Allen was accompanied to Commerce by C. A. Murray and W. L. Vaughan, both of whom were former students at Commerce.

W. T. High School Graduates Have Socialized Program

Graduates of W. T. High School featured "Education on Trial" at their annual socialized commencement exercises Wednesday. Edward Line, president of the class, served as judge. Howard Boling, Fay Webb, Thalia Wright, and Dick Smith were witnesses for the defense.

The high school string ensemble played a special number and the class processional. The 90-voice chorus sang "The Gypsy Camp," Russian tune, and "Enchantment," by Gaius.

The initiates of the National Honor Societies were introduced to the assembly by their sponsor, Carl T. York. The new members of the senior society are Cleo Bourland, Elvia Speer, Coystal Tabor, Branch Archer, Edward Line, and Dick Smith.

Cleo Bourland was valedictorian and Elvia Speer was salutatorian of the class.

Jack Edmondson Is Operated on for Appendicitis

Jack Edmondson, a sophomore athlete from Memphis, underwent an appendicitis operation in the local hospital Sunday morning at three o'clock. Jack was reported resting well yesterday, and his condition is satisfactory.

Jack proved to be one of the most valuable Buff gridmen last fall when he filled the center post left vacant by Ed Williams, who was forced to leave the gridiron because of injuries.

Jack, 175 pound letterman, will likely be a standout on the '38 Buffalo grid team.

Charles W. Jennings, '34, is among the graduates of the Baylor University College of Dentistry at Dallas. Mr. Jennings is from Tulsa.

Six students were added last week to the group who are working on the campus. They are engaged in beautifying the campus.

New Publication Appointees Are Announced

Appointment of four students to positions on college publication staffs for next year were announced by President J. A. Hill at graduation exercises Thursday morning. They include: Editor of The Prairie, Bill Cone of Canyon; editor of Le Mirage, Sam D. Burton of Canyon; business manager of The Prairie, Billie Ruth King of Lamesa; and associate editor and business manager of Le Mirage, Margaret Esther Hill of Amarillo.

Bill Cone was also named editor of the summer Prairie, and Ben R. Ezzell of Silverton will serve as business manager.

The new Le Mirage editor was head photographer for this year's annual, and was editor of the W. T. High School yearbook in 1936. He will begin making preparations for next year's book early this summer.

Miss Hill has been a member of Le Mirage staff for the last two years, and served as art editor this year.

Miss King was assistant to Ben Ezzell, Prairie business manager, during the last term.

Retiring publication officers are Virginia Hohlaus, 1937-38 editor of Le Mirage, and Glyndon Riley, Le Mirage business manager for the last two years.

Other staff appointments will be made by editors and Prof. Olin E. Hinkle, director of journalism.

Students who are interested in working on the summer Prairie are asked to report in office of publications at any time this week.

Season's Hit Play Slated for Return Engagement

"Lady of Letters," the 1938 Senior Class play which scored an outstanding hit on the local stage two weeks ago, will play a return engagement by popular request for one night only early this term. Prof. Leon Lassers, acting head of the department of speech and director of the production, announced yesterday.

The play will be presented with the original cast, with Frankie Dodson and Joe McNeill returning to the campus to take the leading roles. Miss Dodson, in the title role at the opening engagements turned in a stellar performance, while the remainder of the cast, which includes Kathleen Hodge, Ola Mae Roberts, Tom Collins, Frances Armstrong, Ione Potter, Max Addison, Maurine Archer, Mary Elizabeth Courage, Alton Paul, and McNeill provided more than adequate support.

The play, a light comedy in three acts, under the experienced direction of Mr. Lassers won wide applause as the outstanding dramatic production of the season.

The drama is set in a small southern college town, and the familiar setting, combined with a slightly satirical touch, catches and holds the attention of the audience until the final curtain. It is well-cast and well-directed, and a clever and entertaining performance is in store for summer students.

The exact date of the production will be announced. Proceeds will go to Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity.

Don Savage Will Head Expedition

Don Savage, youngest son of Prof. and Mrs. F. E. Savage, will head a scientific expedition from the University of Oklahoma which will work in the Big Bend area of Texas this summer.

Don, who is working on his Masters Degree at Norman, was graduated at W. T. last year. He majored in archaeology and paleontology and was assistant to Prof. C. Stuart Johnston as a student.

For making an excellent record at O. U. he was made a member of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national honorary geologic fraternity. He was twenty-one years old last Saturday.

Receiver of Masters Degree Cried His First Day at W. T.

Travis B. Shaw, Jr., who received an M. A. Degree at graduation exercises Thursday morning, didn't like W. T. very well when he first enrolled here. In fact, he ran to his father's office crying shortly after reporting for his first class.

But this was a long time ago when he entered the kindergarten then under the instruction of Miss Anna I. Hibbetts. He soon became adjusted to the school, and did all of his grade school and high school work in the W. T. Training School. He has B. S., B. A., and M. A. degrees from the College.

He is the son of Travis B. Shaw, Sr., business manager of the College. Mr. Shaw is band director at Hobbs, N. M. He wrote his thesis on the organization and direction of public school bands.

Visual Education Group Has Meeting Here Saturday

A committee appointed by the Panhandle Superintendents and Principals Association met here Saturday to discuss the visual education program planned by the College.

Mrs. T. V. Reeves, director of the Bureau of Public Service, and Prof. Olin E. Hinkle, director of journalism, represented the College at the meeting. R. A. Selby of Pampa is chairman of the committee which was appointed to cooperate and advise with the college on the proposed program. Other members of the committee who were here Saturday are: Miss Anna Monahan of Borger, J. W. Reid of Dumas, and I. H. Mahuron and E. L. Hunter of Amarillo.

Committeemen expressed themselves as much interested in the program which calls for a film library here for the use of schools throughout the Panhandle. A list of films desired by the public schools in this area will be compiled by members of the group.

Mr. Reid, who is superintendent of the Dumas schools, will take the audio-visual education course which will be offered here this term.

Golf Course and Five Tennis Courts Open to Students

The college golf course and five concrete tennis courts will be open for use of students during the summer session, Prof. W. E. Lockhart said yesterday.

In making rules for use of tennis courts and golf course, Mr. Lockhart requested that students observe the rules of etiquette and courtesy. "Singles" in tennis should give way to doubles, that is when only two players are using a court and others are waiting, those waiting should be invited to play, Mr. Lockhart said. When players have completed one set they should vacate the courts if others are waiting.

Students who sign up for physical education courses have preference over non-credit students in using the tennis courts. College students have preference over high school students and non-students.

"Students who play on the golf course are requested to secure a score card at the first tee box and read the regulations printed on the back," he said.

All suggestions or complaints about the tennis courts or the golf course should be made to Mr. Lockhart.

CALL TO JOURNALISTS

All students now in W. T. who expect to take one or more courses in Journalism next fall are requested to call at the office of Olin E. Hinkle, director of journalism, this afternoon.

A course in reporting will be offered this summer if a few more students are interested, to clear the way for a new advertising course next fall.

Mr. Farmer will be satisfied during Junior's vacation if he can keep him pitching hay instead of "hey."

First Lyceum Is Scheduled for Friday Night

The first lyceum number of the summer series will be presented Friday night when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roucek entertain with a program dealing with Czechoslovakia in the college auditorium at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Roucek will lecture, and music characteristic of Czechoslovakia, will also be included. Students will be admitted on the activity ticket, and 50 cents is the admission price for others.

The opening book review of the summer will be given by Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women, following the first assembly program which will be announced early this week. She will review "Prodigal Parents" by Sinclair Lewis.

Reviews are planned weekly throughout the summer, and other books which will be reviewed are: "Madame Curie" by Eva Curie; "The Citadel" by A. J. Cronin; "Doctors on Horseback" by J. T. Flexner; "Parents Look at Modern Education" by Winifred E. Baine; "Man, the Unknown" by Alexis Carrel; "The Crisis of a Frontier Democracy" by Walter Prescott Webb; "Stories Behind the World's Great Music" by Sigmund Gottfried Spaeth; "First Person Plural" by Angna Enters; "Conversations at Midnight" by Edna St. Vincent Millay; "America's 60 Families" by Ferdinand Lundberg; "Modern Instance" by Margaret Ayers Barnes.

Modern Textiles On Exhibition at P-PHS Museum

Students arriving for the summer term are invited to view the exhibit of modern textiles from New York City now on display at the museum by the Art Department. This display is all handwork of original designs. It is an international collection from the most famous designers including Ruth Reeves and Tony Sarg, Americans, and Raoul Dufy, Donald Deskey, and Rodier, French. They are also some modern German and English designs.

In addition the exhibit includes one Batik from Java and one Tappa cloth from Samoa. The latter was made by the natives from the bark of trees and is made in the South Sea Islands only. This exhibit will be up possibly two weeks longer.

Additional exhibits for the summer include a sculpture and painting exhibit by Mr. Mack; an exhibit by Grant Reynard, who will teach at Palo Duro Art School; an exhibit of oil paintings by some of the most famous artists from all over the country (these are mostly landscapes of the West); and an exhibit of textile fine weaving by Rudolph Fuchs, a graduate of W. T., who is now connected with the Art Department of North Texas Teachers College at Denton, and Kenneth Hunt, who is also with the same department at Denton. Mr. Hunt formerly taught art at Amarillo.

Baptists Leave for Annual Retreat

Six Baptist students of the regular session left Saturday morning for the annual Baptist Student Union retreat at Ridgecrest, N. C.

They include George Stokes, song director of the First Baptist Church here; Olie Brown, Canyon B. S. U. president; Sybil Coker, Velma Dean White, Billy Norman, and Mattie Lee Clay.

They left by a special bus chartered for Texas delegations. Students at the retreat, which is situated in one of the most scenic spots in the nation, attend three classes each morning and have the afternoon open for recreation and conferences.

The Canyon delegation will return June 20.

Dr. R. P. Jarrett, dean of the college, made the address at the commencement exercises at the Patton Springs School at Afton, Friday night.

National Dramatic Fraternity Chapter Installed Here

LAWRENCE McBEE

A chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, designated as Eta Iota, was installed at West Texas State College Tuesday evening. It is a national honorary dramatic fraternity.

Lawrence McBee, speech major from Pampa, was installed as president. Other officers include Mrs. Linnie Harter of Canyon as vice-president, Frankie Dodson of Lockney as secretary-treasurer, Prof. Leon Lassers as honorary cast director, and Mrs. Tommie Montfort as honorary stage manager.

Other members include Mary Elizabeth Courage of Panhandle, Maurine Archer of Canyon, Eula Frazier of Gruver, Ola Mae Roberts of Perryton, Frances Armstrong of Tulsa, Forrest Fry of Lockney, and Lelia Cooper of Canyon.

The purpose of the group is to foster an interest in worthwhile dramatics, to develop the acting ability and directing talent of members, and to stage artistic plays for the enjoyment of the students.

Prof. and Mrs. Lassers entertained the fraternity at tea Wednesday afternoon.

Skull of Gigantic Pre-Historic Dog Is Unearthed

Among the most ferocious and terrible carnivorous animals of all time was the "bear dog" which lived in this section more than a million years ago.

The Great Dane and St. Bernard are huge, but they are puny creatures compared with the Amphicyon Gidleyi, or great bear dogs. One of the finest specimens of these dogs was found by a WPA party recently in Donley County, where Wayne Christian is supervising excavations. It consists of a complete skull with the lower jaws and all the teeth in place except a few incisors. According to Prof. C. Stuart Johnston, it is the best specimen of the kind in existence.

This valuable skull will be placed in an exhibit case in the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, where the collections obtained through the WPA paleontological excavations sponsored by the College during the last four years are housed.

The bear dogs, which are found in the Lower Pliocene stratas, were as large or larger than the Alaskan brown bear.

Students Attend National Meeting

Five members of the local chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi, national home economics organization, left Thursday to attend the national meeting at Santa Barbara, Calif. The meeting will open Friday and continue through June 12.

Those making the trip are Carolyn Dixon, Cleaveland Laman, Marijo Brown, Edith Berry, Ann Mohler and Miss Elizabeth Cox, assistant professor of home economics.

T. M. Clark Recovering From Illness Here

T. M. (Uncle Tommy) Clark, former W. T. professor, is recovering from an illness at the home of his son, Prof. Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department.

He was brought here to visit after he had received an honorary degree at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. He will return to his home in Corpus Christi when he has completely recovered.

Mr. Clark is one of the founders of T. C. U.

"With universal suffrage we must have universal intelligence, if we would perpetuate free government, and a system of public education will alone accomplish it. The public sentiment of the enlightened and civilized world has crystallized in favor of public education, and the people who fail to recognize the fact and act accordingly, will find themselves laggards in the general march of improvement. Every State in the Union is striving to perfect a system of public education, and Texas must not do less."—Governor Coke—His Message in 1876.

Summer Term Ushers in New Era For West Texas State

Opening of the summer term here this week marks a new era in the scope of service offered by the college. No longer is it necessary to take teacher-training courses in order to get a degree here.

Panhandle high school graduates who once found it necessary to attend school down state or in some other state are now able to take advantage of an institution of the first class in their own section. Provision is made for those students who expect to enter one of the professions. They are able to go to school in their own locality and at the same time have the advantage of a two million dollar plant and highly trained faculty at a surprisingly low cost.

What all this change will mean to the youth of the Panhandle and to the College itself is yet to be determined, but it is certain to mean that more Panhandle youngsters will be able to attend college, and likely increased enrollment will enable W. T. to broaden her curriculum still further.

Though courses in education are no longer a requirement for graduation, this phase of the school's service is by no means being neglected. The summer program includes the richest offerings for teachers in the history of the school.

Realizing the importance of visual aids in the classroom, the College is offering for the first time a course in audio-visual education. Prof. Earl E. Sechriest, a nationally known educator and sound engineer is teaching the course. Equipment valued at $4,000 is being used in connection with the work.

Instruction in safety is also among the special offerings for teachers who are here this summer. Another special course which should prove of interest and value to teachers is a special guidance course being offered by the education department.

A nursery school to aid in giving child care instruction is also being sponsored by the home economics department. Serving a double purpose this class gives valuable experience to students and worthwhile training for youngsters.

In addition to the special features, regular courses meeting the demands of all types of teachers are available.

ART AND DEMOCRACY

Somewhere in his book, "Men of Art," Thomas Craven remarks, in effect, that great forward movements in all forms of artistic endeavor occur in times of social and economic upheaval. As proof of his contention, Mr. Craven cites the amazing growth of church painting which began in the early Christian era and, refusing to be quelled by the Roman persecutions, played a major part in the ultimate Christianization of Europe. He further cites the growth of secular painting which got its impetus at the time of the Renaissance, when Shakespeare and Cervantes were re-making world literature, when old Spain and Portugal were yielding their commercial supremacy to the yeoman-like Tudors of England. Painters like Michelangelo, etchers like the satiric Goya, were not brought to light in times of smug and even-tenored peace and prosperity, but in times of doubt, of uncertainty, of changing social pattern.

No one can say that the present time is settled and supine. Is there, then, according to Mr. Craven's formula, a great artistic movement afoot? We believe there is, and we believe its significance is to be found not in the growth of any particular ism or painter or school of painters, but in the current mass interest in forms of self expression. True, this interest can hardly be called one of spontaneous generation, but does not the very fact that the federal government has begun to see the social values in art offer at least partial proof of the fact of its growing mass appeal?

This summer marks the third anniversary of the Palo Duro School of Art, sponsored by West Texas State College. That the curriculum offered by the school is designed for a wide range of art interest can be seen in an enumeration of the separate courses offered: elementary drawing and painting, life drawing, pottery, textile designing, wood-carving, printing and dyeing; two new courses will be offered in sculpture and art appreciation.

Proof that W. T. has been aware of this new democratic movement in art is best adduced by its three years' existence; that this movement is definitely established in the Texas Panhandle is certainly proved by the simple fact that its people have given the school the splendid support during its young life.

SWIMMING POOL DISASTERS GUARDED AGAINST

Every effort possible is being made by the College and the city of Canyon to guard against accidents in the water. Students can aid in preventing disaster by carefully following the regulations at Buffalo Pool.

Often as much danger lies in the possibility of contracting disease while in the water as in drowning. Care is taken at both of the college pools to guard against this. The water is constantly being purified when Buffalo Pool is in use, and the regulations require health certificates from physicians for all persons using it.

Later this summer a school for children between the ages of seven and fifteen will be made available by the local chapter of the American Red Cross and the College. Ivey Howard, senior physical education major, will attend the National Aquatic School this month, and will return to give instruction to children here. The school will be free to all children enrolled in school.

An inhalator, one of the latest devices for artificial respiration, has been purchased by the local civic clubs.

All of these steps should serve to prevent any fatal accidents on the campus if those using the swimming pool will cooperate by observing the regulations.

Abbreviated Interviews

Question: Why did you come to West Texas State to school this summer?

Craig Walling: Because I lack four hours. I thought I might see some good looking school teachers, but I'll try to forget the latter.

J. W. Dillard: A West Texas teacher should get an education in West Texas. I like it here.

John Plaster: To work on a Master's Degree. I've been here since I was seven—couldn't stop now.

Dolores Little: Because I had to finish next year. I have a job!

Lee Dodson: Just following the line of least resistance.

Marvin Calliham: For the simple reason that I could work for my room and board, and I couldn't transfer—D's.

Raymond Shackelford: I didn't have anything to do but court, and I got tired of courting.

Sarah Ellen Foster: I don't know.

Bob Dillard: For three reasons—my wife wants to get her Masters Degree from here, it costs less, and is worth as much, and I like it.

Ben R. Ezell: Papa made me.

Jack Pate: To graduate next year, the same reason I went last summer and the summer before.

Judson Forbes: Because I can make a living here and I can't at home.

Woodrow Howell: To try to get that English.

Katie Crump: I don't like Amarillo.

Virginia Murray: This is the most wonderful place in the world. Oh, no, I have to have some more hours.

Ruth Ellene Boyd: My superintendent recommended it. It's cooler, I hope.

Buffalo Pool Will Open for Summer Session Today

Buffalo Pool opens today on its summer schedule, announced Coach Al Baggett, head of the Physical Education Department, as he outlined the pool program yesterday. Jack Jennings and Jimmie Holston will be life guards for the summer, and Reese Nowlin will be in charge of the men's lockers, and Ivey Howard will be in charge of the women's lockers.

The schedule, as outlined by Coach Baggett, leaves the pool open to the entire public on the weekly Play Nite. The pool is also open to outsiders Wednesday nights. Every evening from 7:30 to 9:30 the pool will open for social swim; whereas, all classes will be held between 1:30 and 3:30. A complete schedule is on page 4.

The following explanations and regulations governing the use of Buffalo Pool have been issued by the physical education departments:

Purpose of Pool
1. The College Pool has been built mainly for use of the college students, for class work and recreation. However, under certain listed conditions the pool will be open to organized groups, children and citizens.

Purpose of Regulations

1. The swimming pool constitutes the most difficult unit of the whole physical education plant to administer for the following reasons: for sanitary reasons the pool must be kept absolutely free from pollution, difficulty of controlling the action of swimmers after they get into the water, difficulty of enforcing bathing rule, susceptibility of water to pollution, and the small body of water present a comparison with the number using it.

2. For the foregoing reasons general and specific regulations must be given for the use of Buffalo Pool, both by the bathers and operators, in order that the pool may be administered in a way that will be sound from a health and educational viewpoint.

General Regulations

1. Make application for a health certificate blank from the director of physical education (men or women). Children under twelve years are not required to have a health certificate.

2. Have a licensed medical doctor make this examination and return it to the director of physical education (men or women). This card will be filed and a swimming permit will be given.

3. Take this permit card to the college business office and get tickets. College and Demonstration School students use their activity tickets.

Outsiders may buy single tickets for 25 cents and season tickets of ten swims for $2. Season tickets for children under fifteen including twenty swims are $2.

4. Suits and towels will be furnished at the pool free of charge.

5. Personal suits may be worn

Prairie . . . Windies

By Gonda Biggers

Dear "Trying to graduate the same as I":

After one look down the hall, summer school isn't going to be so bad. Of course, there's LEE DODSON, and MARVIN CALLIHAM, but after the first three sessions at the Buffalo, and as soon as I get adjusted to the new chairs, sleep will go on the same as it has for the last six years. There are a lot of things that might irritate one of a weaker nature, but to a hardened college professional, the fact that the weather is 40 above boiling, the classes last 'til 12:30, ('way past any normal carnivorous animal's mealtime), the nights are short and pneumonia ridden, the profs. and at least 10% of the students are here for business makes little difference.

CRAIG WALLING and RAYMOND SHACKELFORD fall into the category of "flies in the mouse trap." They'll hang around, but their necks are too thick for the noose to do any real damage, darnit.

There's always FRANCES USERY with stars in her eyes to inspire followers of the only kind of notes which don't ruin your bank account.

This is a poor time for letting down one's hair and weeping about the whole sorry affair, but if anyone will kindly come to the rescue with six hours of organic chemistry 111, I'll gladly give in exchange half of the malts I get.

To those of the masculine gender who don't like antiquity mixed with moonlight, let me introduce SUE BRANNEN, Littlefield. A tall brunette with brown eyes that will put you in the role of the well-known bovine milk-wagon.

Life is a queer fellow and the people we meet have a lot to do with it. Take, for instance, college students—or maybe they've taken you. Anyway, when girls come to college for the first time, they "do" up their hair, let out the hems of their dresses, put on silk stockings, add a little eye shadow, and try to look sophisticated. While they're in college, they try to keep that "almost twenty" look. By the time provided the user complies with special regulations on suits.

6. Scheduled periods will be given for women's classes, men's classes, social swimming for men and women, one night and one afternoon each week for outsiders, plunges for college men and college women, and plunges for children.

Specific Regulations

1. In the Buffalo Pool, when used exclusively for men, nude bathing or undyed cloth swimming trunks will be required.

2. Bathing suits, when used, will be of cotton or wool of simple design and of undyed material or tested for fastness of color.

3. One may use his own suit (wool or cotton) provided it is marked and turned over to the attendant at the office so the suit may be sterilized properly. The attendant will not be responsible for fading or shrinking or loss of suit.

4. All suits will be full one piece or full two piece suits (trunks and jersey).

5. All women should wear rubber bathing caps.

6. Suits and towels will be supplied and laundered by the department of physical education. Personal suits will be sterilized by the attendant at the pool.

7. All bathing suits and towels will be washed with soap and boiling water, rinsed, and thoroughly dried each time they are used. Cold water washing and air drying are not recommended.

8. No person may enter the pool with any plaster, bandage, or other like material on any part of the person.

9. No spectators will be allowed on the pool floor level.

10. No spectators will be allowed on the upper deck without special permission or on "open" nights.

they finish, or get finished, they want to look like the polished, but not very old, business girl. Smooth hair-dresses, casual clothes, and that careless look of having dressed in a hurry (the one that takes hours to get). They go out into the business world, and like a flash—when they realize they're getting older than necessary—on with the hair ribbons, off with the long stockings, up with the hems, and believe me, they'd have you believe that Shirley Temple was a "centuplet"—made by the hundreds—so to speak. I ask you—why? If a girl can't acquire enough background, culture and knowledge to make her pleasant company after college, it's a pity that her body couldn't have stopped growing with her mind. Here I go philosophizing again. None the less, if you know the answer, just drop it in the slot.

It seems that friends and enemies alike follow one around even after college. DUSTY BROWN still wants the malt that AGNES COTTINGHAM lost on a bet three years ago. How about it, Roomie?

Let's join hands and circle to the left—VINCENT LOCKHART trucked to the altar. Congratulations! Also, that gives BILL CONE new hope.

If this roller-skating doesn't improve, a lot of people are going to get their Christmas flopping done early.

The men at Kent college have formed a protective association which blacklists girls who are guilty of gold digging, date breaking, and flirting with other men on dates. The men members who go out with girls on the blacklist have to pay a fine. It's a "fine" thing when the only field that girls aren't in competition against boys is brought out in the light.

LITERA SCRIPTA MANET

TO A CHILD'S FEET

Light are your feet, oh child, light as the summer breeze
That dances on the soft green leaves of stately trees.
And quick are your feet, oh little one, quick as the flight
Of the bright-breasted bird taking to wing in flight.

Your feet are free, child, free as the wind that goes
Unrestrained where it will and moves in realms man never knows.
Oh your feet are the emblems of beauty and grace,
And your steps are like patterns in antique lace.

FAILURE

Poor Clifford Grant!
They called it failure,
But this is what really happened:

He piled all of his dreams in a single place,
And then he used all of his strength
To build a castle out of those dreams.
And then he took out his heart
And hung it in the castle for a light. . . .
And just as he began to smile,
He heard the rumble of an earthquake;
And the ground opened
And swallowed castle and heart.

And now Clifford stands there
Bewildered
And wonders why he wasn't swallowed too.

THE LAST GRADE

When the last report card is graded,
And my name is called on that day,
And I see in the Permanent Record
Each mark I have made all the way,

I shall hope that I've passed every subject
(Though some have been bitter and hard)
For I could not endure a failure
To be marked on Eternity's card.

When the Great Dean looks at my record
I hope he will smile and say,
"Well done, faithful student, you learned
To study the diligent way."

When the grades on the last report card
Have been placed by the Great Teacher's hand,
And the honor-roll students are chosen
On the brink of Eternity's strand,

I hope I shall be in their number
When they leave with the Angel-band
To attend the brilliant reception
For them in that Perfect Land.

If I learn every lesson daily,
If I pass each test all the while,
Then I'll need not fear in that moment,
For the Great Dean will surely smile.

Ex-Student Marriages Take Society Spotlight as June Nuptial Season Opens

Miss Lilla Beth Burroughs Weds L. R. Armstrong

On the afternoon of May 29 at 2:30 o'clock, Miss Lilla Beth Burroughs, former student, became the bride of Mr. Lewis R. Armstrong of Gallup, N. M., at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. O. Huber, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Gallup. The vows of the beautiful double ring ceremony were spoken before an attractive improvised altar at one end of the living room, which was lighted with softly burning tapers. A beautiful arrangement of palms and pink fuchsias made up the room decorations.

Preceding the service Mrs. Huber sang Cadman's "At Dawning." Rev. Huber took his place at the altar to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and was joined by little Miss Kathleen Huber bearing the rings in the heart of a calla lily. The groom and best man, Mr. John P. Bewley, entered and took their places before the pastor, and at the same time from the opposite doorway came the Matron of Honor, Mrs. John P. Bewley, followed by the bride on the arm of her father, Mr. E. Burroughs. The recessional was to the lively air of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Huber at the piano.

The bride was beautiful in a full length princess gown of white organza over white satin. She carried a large bouquet of Talisman roses, baby's breath and ferns tied with white tulle. A simple bridal wreath was in her hair. She carried a handkerchief of point-lace, which her mother used at her wedding.

An informal reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morrow for the bridal party. Gracing the center of the lace-covered table was a three-tiered cake which was cut by the bride and served with punch to those present.

Those from out of town who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. E. Burroughs and E. Jr., of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Mr. Emery Wagner of Mancos, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin and Mrs. Betty Gilliam of Italy, Texas.

Bus Is Advantage to Amarillo Students

Bus Service for Summer Session Opens Monday

Mother's own home cooking. . . . One's own bed. . . . The advantages of both town and city. . . . substantial savings in living costs. . . . Standard college training. . . . and the privileges of living at home.

These are some of the factors which are weaving a close bond between young men and women of Amarillo and the West Texas State College.

The summer bus began operation yesterday with more than twenty passengers. Jack Pate, senior student, is serving as driver this summer.

Below are some of the comments made by regular session students who rode the bus:

"We who commute have the cultural and social values of our home city plus those that the college offers," said Robert Axtell, a junior who goes to Canyon daily on the college bus. The bus makes two round trips each day. Mr. Axtell, of 1609 Fillmore Street, is a teacher of instrumental music.

"Being with family and friends," was mentioned by Alice Vaughan of 817 Palo Duro Street as one of the major advantages. She also pointed out the privilege of being able to attend social and cultural events of both communities. She uses the college library and the Potter County Library.

Woodrow Gold, sophomore, of 729 North Buchanan finds commuting less expensive and says that the plan permits more freedom in the use of leisure time. He said it was a pleasure to go back to his home each afternoon. Commuting means to Roberta Cohea of 213 West Eleventh Street, a senior, the opportunity to belong to the Philharmonic Orchestra and other musical organizations of Amarillo.

"I can be with my family every night, and that means a lot to me," said Mrs. Affa N. Cory of 602 North Grant Street. In commending the bus service, Mrs. Cory said, "I can depend on getting it at a definite place at a definite time."

Can Hold Job

"I can go to college and hold my job," said Juanita Conger of 410-B East Seventeenth Street, a senior, who is employed by the H. C. Badger Company.

"It is cheaper, and I can keep up contacts in Amarillo while at the same time making new ones at Canyon," remarked Wilma Pirschell, a junior of 1819 South Taylor Street.

Ernestine Ballard of 1312 Pierce Street, a freshman, commutes to West Texas State but retains a part-time job in Amarillo. Referring to the liberalized curriculum, which hereafter will offer general college training, Miss Ballard said, "I am taking a business course, and I like it much better without the teacher training formerly required."

There is more economy, less nervous strain, more freedom, better conditions to study, and greater opportunities for carrying on normal activities when one lives at home while going to college, in the opinion of Alma Klink, senior of 918 Pierce Street.

"Many Amarillo students who formerly were obliged to go elsewhere to obtain proper courses can now go to West Texas State," Miss

Social Circle Broadened

"It is easier to work at home where one has more materials than can possibly be taken to a boarding place," emphasized Beth Miesse of 500 Cleveland. "Living in two towns also broadens one's social circle."

Miss Miesse added that she always enjoyed the beauty of nature as seen in early mornings and evenings while riding on the college bus.

It would have been impossible for me to leave my family in order to attend college," said Mrs. Lottie Bell Cosby of 85 Jordan Street. "The bus makes it possible for me to be at home part of the time."

W. T. Cooper of 2200 Lincoln Street, said the bus service added pleasure to going to college and permitted one to retain his personality in the sense of continuing habitual activities.

The enduring popularity of "good home cooking" was impressed upon the interviewer as nearly every Amarillo student stressed this advantage. Equally unanimous was the belief that the broadened scope of West Texas State College will result in a greatly increased attendance from Amarillo.

About 100 Amarilloans were enrolled at West Texas State, and of these 32 made daily trips by bus. Almost as many more drove their own cars or rode with other students. Most of these reached their homes or the downtown business section of Amarillo as quickly as the average student walks to his home in Canyon.

Those who ride the bus pay $6 per month for transportation. Some of them take their lunches, while others eat at cafes, dormitories, and boarding houses.

Campus activities cause some of the Amarillo students to return in the evenings, but few of them find it necessary because of class assignments. They use the library here in their off periods.

Eight Basketball Lettermen Are Officially Announced

Eight lettermen of the 1938 cage season were officially announced by Coach Al Baggett last week. Although recommendations for letters to members of the "Tallest Basketball Team in the World" were made at the close of the season, the selection was not official until this week when spring semester grades were recorded.

Only two lettermen, ex-captain Conway Butler and Craig Walling, will not report for next year's team. Other lettermen include: Raymond Shackelford of Tell, Joe Hayes of Allison, Lother Stephenson of Anton, Donald Kendrick of Groom, Ernest Schur of Vernon, and Melvyn Cullender of Hartley.

Lother Stephenson has been chosen captain of next year's squad.

Conway Butler will attend school here this summer. He then expects to join the semi-professional ranks in Hollywood. Walling expects to coach next year.

Wimpus: Ants are supposed to be the hardest working creatures in the world.

Zimper: Yep, but they still seem to have time to attend all picnics.

"Melvin! MelVIN!"

"What, ma?"

"Are you spitting in the fish bowl?"

"No, ma, but I'm comin' pretty close."

Bejsz: I hear that one-fourth of the United States is covered with forests.

Pryce: Yes, and I hear that the other three-fourths is covered with mortgages.
