AN ADEQUATE GYM LOOMS

BUFFALOES OVERWHELM LIGHT NORMAL UNIVERSITY TEAM, 77 TO 0

VISITORS FIGHT GAMELY TO END

NEW MEXICO QUARTERBACK PLAYED WELL.

THOUSAND SAW GAME

Substitutes Showed Ability Against Light Eleven From Las Vegas College.

One thousand people crowded into the Buffalo park last Friday afternoon to witness the first football game played on the home gridiron. No one knew much of the strength of the Normal University and the fans were taking no chances to be slipped up on, hence, they all came out to see a game that proved to be a very one-sided affair. The Buffaloes bucked over 77 points.

The Normal University was hopelessly outclassed and out weighed, and from the kick-off no one was in doubt of the inevitable outcome. After the first half was over and the Buffaloes were leading 51 to nothing, over half of the crowd dispersed.

The never-say-die spirit of the 17 year old quarterback, Bell of Las Vegas, was typical of the fighting spirit of the New Mexico team. The team stayed in and fought to the last notwithstanding the fact that it was playing against such a superior team that they were able to make only two first downs while the Buffaloes were making thirty three.

Coach Burton played his entire string of men during the game and every man on the squad had a chance to show his wares to the coaching staff. The substitutes all played well and all-in-all the game helped the coaches see what some of the rookies could do under fire.

First Quarter.

In the initial quarter the Buffaloes started scoring by taking the ball from Las Vegas, once on a fumble which Cowboy recovered, and made two touchdowns by straight football. Herm kicked one goal and missed one. Bivens scored by running from the 18 yd line for a touchdown. Herm kicked goal. The Buffaloes scored next when Scott, who had just replaced Burk, broke through and ran 25 yards to cross the goal line. Bivens failed to kick goal. Brown kicked to Las Vegas but the wind prevented the ball from going ten feet away and a general scramble resulted. Mitchell, old "52", fell on the ball. And on the first play Burson broke through and went 35 yards for a touchdown. Herm failed to kick goal. The quarter ended with the ball on Las Vegas 35 yd line with the Buffs in possession.

Second Quarter.

At the beginning of the second quarter many new faces were appearing in the Buffalo lineup. Burson and Bivens carried the ball down the field. Bivens took it across. Burson kicked goal. Gamble, a sub backfield man, ran 20 yards on the first play, he was aided greatly by splendid interference by Sadler, also a second string man. Scott, Burson, and Gamble carried the ball to the half yard line, Gamble carried it over. The extra point was made by a completed forward pass, Burson to Anderson. A series of line plays followed and then Gamble broke lose and went 45 yards for his second touchdown. Burson failed to kick goal.

Third Quarter.

Only two men started the second half who were regulars. They were Captain Burson and Brown, who would have been taken out in favor of Angel, had not the latter been ruled ineligible for registering too late. In this quarter, after Burson had punted, Las Vegas made a first down, and it instilled some fight into the boys, but they were dismayed a few minutes later when Burson intercepted a pass and went 45 yards for a touch down. Burson

National Dental Association Employs College Man To Experiment With Brown Tooth Stain Prevalent On The Plains

Following a period of research, actual laboratory experiments with the brown tooth stain have been started by Dr. C. A. Pierle, head of the College Chemistry department, who has been employed by the National Dental Association to continue his experiments in this region.

A shipment of guinea pigs and white mice to be used in attempting to develop the stain artificially was received yesterday. Various compounds will be introduced into the animals diet in order to test the formulas obtained by examination of the water supply, etc., in the communities which are showing much tooth discoloration.

Dr. Pierle began a casual study of the brown stain last spring and took a survey of the students. He has compiled statistics and made a map showing the occurrences of the stain. As a result of this study, he was called before the West Texas Dental Association at Lubbock last June, and there made director of research for the organization. At this meeting was Dr. Hetrick of Ottawa, Kansas, a member of the National Dental Association. Dr. Hetrick reported the meeting to the national convention in Chicago, with the result that Dr. Pierle was employed by that body to carry his work into the experimental stage. Enough financial aid to carry on the animal experiment and employ two young men to assist in the laboratory is being received. Before a remedy can be developed the cause of the formation must be discovered. Probably a survey of the present student body will be necessary during this term.

The cause of the brown stain is one of the most elusive known to dentists. Much experimenting in all parts of the country is being done in an attempt to solve the problem.

The stain has been discovered in three forms. The most common one is the definitely defined brown formation which is seen on the front teeth of many people. Another form is the chalky, or mottled, coating on the teeth. Less prevalent but equally detrimental is the pitting of the enamel of the teeth due to similar causes. Many people have the last forms but are not aware of the fact.

Appearance of the stain in native born children indicated that the discoloration is limited to certain conditions, since families whose children were in their teens when they came here do not show the stain in many cases. It is hoped to eliminate factors by the experiment with the animals until a working basis of treatment may be obtained.

SNARE DRUMMER WANTED.

A good snare drum man is needed by the College Band. Practically every other part is adequately taken care of, but there is a serious dearth of drummers. If there is an experienced drummer in school he should report to Prof. C. E. Strain, band director, at once. Other experienced musicians are also invited to present themselves for duty.

failed to kick goal. This quarter saw a series of plays that marched the Buffaloes down the field and Burson scored again running 45 yards. Burk kicked goal. The quarter ended with the ball on Las Vegas 9 yard line.

Fourth Quarter.

With 9 yards to go for a touchdown, a change was made in the backfield, a new man talked, and the Buffaloes were penalized 15 yards. A pass was incomplete. It was the fourth down. Las Vegas tried two line bucks, failed to gain, then passed gained 9 yards, but failed by line plunge to make other yard. Bivens soon made a touchdown. Burson failed to kick goal. Just as Burson went over for a touchdown the whistle blew to end the game. Final score 77 to 0.

Characteristics Of Educated Man Are Discussed In Chapel

That an education should include more than a knowledge of text books was the belief expressed by Pres. J. A. Hill at chapel Tuesday morning.

In discussing "What is an Education?" Pres. Hill gave four outstanding marks of an educated man.

"Constantly seeking knowledge" was the first mark discussed. "In fact," declared Pres. Hill, "an educated man realizes that he knows nothing, in comparison with what is to be known, and is constantly seeking knowledge that he may improve himself."

An educated man loves the truth, in general and in particular," Pres. Hill said, in discussing the second mark of an educated man. "To tell a falsehood in order to escape punishment indicates that something is lacking in the education of a boy or girl," he said.

The other marks of an educated man discussed by Pres. Hill were that an educated man respects himself and others, and that he has a desire to serve.

As a continuation of Tuesday's discussion three other marks of an educated man were given by Pres. Hill at chapel Thursday.

That an educated man respects public and private property was emphasized by the speaker. "It is an immoral act willfully to destroy property belonging to someone else," he said. Tolerance toward the opinions, creeds, and conduct of other people, is an essential mark of an educated man. When an individual thinks that his opinions are always right and that the opinions of others are wrong he has missed the goal of an education.

Also, an educated man is constructive in his attitude toward the institutions of society. Of the three attitudes, destructive, obstructive, and constructive, which people have toward the institutions of society, the latter should always prevail as a requirement of an education.

Sophomores Organize And Name McDonald President Of Class

Sophomore spirit took definite form Thursday, when officers for the year were elected. Clement McDonald was the choice of the Class of '27 for president. Other officers are: Clarence Hope, vice president; Louise Walker, secretary-treasurer; Frances Hall, annual representative; Ed Pierce, Student Council representative; Cecil Dowdy reporter.

That Sophomores will not be outdone by the other classes was the sentiment expressed at the meeting.

OFFICERS OF GREGG COUSINS MEMORIAL LOAN FUND ELECTED

At a recent faculty meeting the following officers and directors of the Gregg Cousins Memorial Loan Fund were elected: J. A. Hill, ex-officio president; D. A. Shirley, vice president; Margaret Boulware, secretary; W. E. Lockhart, treasurer; Wallace R. Clark, Mary E. Hudspeth, L. F. Sheffy, R. P. Jarrett, and Anna I. Hibbets, directors.

GROUND BROKEN BY LETTER MEN

SENATOR REID MAKES AN ADDRESS.

CAPTAINS RUN PLOW

Work Starts Tuesday But Official Breaking of Ground Is Done Friday

To three members of the T. I. A. A. Championship Basketball Team of last year was given the honor of breaking the ground for the new gymnasium Friday morning at the chapel period. These men were J. Davis Hill, present basketball captain, and Odus Mitchell and Nay Hale, former captains. It was a rather awkward and awe-struck trio which guided the plow, but the veterans of many athletic battles were game—and they broke the ground in good fashion. Hill led the team of horses, Hale took the lines, and Mitchell wrestled with the walking plow.

Led from the auditorium by the College Band and the letter men of last year's basketball five, the large body of students formed a circle around an improvised platform. On the platform were D. A. Shirley, S. D. Burton, T. B. McCarter, W. E. Lockhart, C. W. Warwick, C. R. Burrow, R. A. Terrill, President J. A. Hill, and Elizabeth Dabbs. Last year's basketball letter men who are in Canyon now were called to the stage, and these were Herm, Bivens, Law Sone, Hale, Mitchell, and Davis Hill. Two other men, Captain Joe Lancaster and Louis Hill, were absent. Both are teaching.

President Hill opened the ceremonies by citing some school history and telling about the growth of plans for the gymnasium. He thanked the business men for their interest in the project. He then introduced Senator J. W. Reid who formerly was head of the Chemistry department of the College.

Senator Reid stated that he appreciated the opportunity of again meeting with students. He characterized the Plains children as the best "white faces" in the land, and declared that they should have the best advantages possible. The gym, he said, is being built to enhance the physical being. Perhaps the most striking thing the speaker said was in regard to clean athletics. "Win fairly and lose gallantly," he urged. "I'd rather a boy of mine should stay at home than be taught unfair tactics in school. The coach (who teaches a boy to steal a football game is preparing another teapot dome. May this gymnasium never house a person of such ideals."

President Hill commended the loyalty and public spirit of C. R. Burrow and C. W. Warwick of Canyon, who are boosting the gym. They represented the business men of the city.

In the absence of the '24 basketball captain, Joe Lancaster, Mr. Hill asked Odus Mitchell to speak for the team. The famous center told of his affection for his former teammates. "I don't know how I can sit on the sidelines," he said, "but I hope this year's team will be as much bigger than our's as this gym is larger than the one we played in."

The response was made by the present basketball leader, J. Davis Hill. In a speech punctuated by eloquent pauses, the popular captain spoke of the loss of four letter men, but he expressed confidence in the quality of new men who are eligible to play this year. He stated that it is the ambition of this year's team to play winning basketball in the new gymnasium.

Led by the band, the students then sang the alma mater and gave a few short yells as the three captains took the team from the contractor and turned the sod for the excavation.

Many College Men Attracted To Male Choral Club Work

More than forty College men have reported to the Men's Choral Club work. Thirty nine men were present at the second meeting last Tuesday, and several more have since come out. On Thursday Prof. Wallace R. Clark began testing the voices in order definitely to classify the men as to range. This work will be continued at the regular noon period today. It is already evident that there is an abundance of inside voices. In fact most of the group are low tenors or first bases. Prof. Clark believes that he has also a sufficient number of first tenors.

The real problem now is to find some low bass voices of the "bull frog" variety. The men are listening carefully this week for evidences of this type of man. If a man is heard running the register of "There's a bullfrog on the bank" he will be dragged into the club at all costs.

Permanent organization of the club will take place within a short time. A corps of officers and an associate director from the group will be selected. An accompanist will be secured from beyond the membership. Forty copies of appropriate music have been ordered and the first practice will be held very soon.

Charles Bryan Is Greeted By College Band At His Train

Charles Bryan, Democratic vice presidential nominee, was greeted by the College Band as his train drew up at the local station at 6:45 a. m. Friday morning. About one hundred fifty students and citizens met the train. President J. A. Hill and local Democrats gave the official welcome.

Mr. Bryan spoke very briefly. His first words were spoken about the College; he said he wanted to encourage education in every possible way. Then he told the crowd that he expected Texas to pile up its usual large popular vote for the party. He was paying a tribute to his fellow nominee, John W. Davis, when the departure of the train brought the brief talk to a hurried conclusion. Mr. Bryan spoke in Amarillo at an early hour before starting his tour of New Mexico.

CLUB WOMEN TO COME HERE.

On one day of the convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which convened in Amarillo on November 11-14, the club women will be guests of the College. Officials of the Potter County Federation of Women's Clubs and of the College are now appointing committees to arrange for the day's program.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Walden, students in the college this summer, were in Canyon last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Walden are teaching in Amarillo this year.

up, the workmen took charge of the team and plow and continued the work. From now until completion, the construction work will be rushed.

BUILDING NOW WELL STARTED

ONE OF COLLEGE'S NEEDS IS SATISFIED.

IS FINANCED LOCALLY

Citizens of Canyon Assist With Gifts and Other Kind Of Support.

In less than a week's time the College's dream of possessing a new gymnasium has taken concrete form and construction has definitely begun. A modern building to cost $14,000 is being built south of the athletic park and directly opposite the drive way leading north from the west entrance of the administration building. Stakes were driven for the excavation work last Tuesday and the ground officially broken on Friday. Completion is expected by January first.

All the building material, sand, gravel, steel, cement, brick, tile, etc., has been contracted for except the roofing. The building is to be fire proof, of steel frame work, hollow tile, and pebble dash finish. The style of architecture used by the designer, Prof. R. A. Terrill, corresponds to that of the main building. The best ideas of modern gym construction are embodied in the plans. Very little wood is used in the building, only three double doors and the floor being made of this material. Bleachers from the athletic field probably will be moved into the gym during the basketball season. These seat fourteen hundred persons. However, concrete seats may be built instead. The basketball court will be standard size 52x96 and will be lowered in a three foot excavation in order to give spectators a clear view from every seat. The ceiling will be 28 feet above the playing floor. The ceiling over the seats will be lower on both sides of the court.

Professors Terrill, Burton, Donald and Golda Gruver are in actual control of building operations. Miss Gruver, president of the Ex-students Association, represents that organization. Prof. Terrill expects to use student volunteers on many of the rough jobs. Screening of sand by students will start probably sometime late this week. D. B. Holcomb is now working on the three foot excavation.

First announcement of the project was made by President J. A. Hill in chapel last Tuesday morning. Mr. Hill told of the crowded conditions in the present gymnasium, saying that the small room cannot accommodate the women's classes, much less those of the men. Head Coach S. D. Burton told how much difficulty he has experienced in scheduling representative T. I. A. teams to play on the undersize court. In reply to President Hill's remark that as yet the plan for the gym was "half baked," Prof. D. A. Shirley, who has been chairman of the Athletics Committee for the last eleven years, said that "half baked means 'rising fast'." He then recalled W. T. S. T. C. athletic progress and stressed the need for adequate room for the physical education department.

The chief problem in building the gymnasium has been according to Pres. Hill, that of financing the project. The need has been growing so rapidly however, that the situation approached a crisis in character. Last year less than half of the students could see the championship basketball team in action. Legislative assistance not being in immediate prospect, the Athletics Committee and a group of citizens of Canyon met Monday evening, October 6, and worked out a plan of local financing. According to this plan, the College will use $5,000 of available local funds. Some of the material will be furnished on long time payment by the Canyon Lumber Co. Arrangements has been made to borrow some money if necessary. Students, faculty members and members (Continued on last page)

BACK THAT GYM.

More usable things than words are needed to build our gymnasium. W. T. S. T. C.'s largest and most enthusiastic student body never will have a better opportunity to do something of real value for the school than now.

This is a time to show one's true colors. If the other colleges of Texas can put over such projects surely this one can do so. And the part that the students are asked to contribute is very reasonable indeed. The loyal support of local citizens should make the students strive hard to do their share in a big way.

Every student should find it possible to make at least a small cash contribution. In addition it would be very fine if every man should use a shovel or other tool for a few days. What greater joy could there be than that of remembering how one had a part in the actual construction of the gymnasium?

Few student bodies will have a chance to leave a permanent record of achievement such as this. Let's put the gym over RIGHT.

THE COLLEGE STUDENT.

This art of being a "college student" and meeting gracefully all the rebukes and accepting meekly all the compliments which inevitably come into the student's life requires considerable ability.

About the time a few condescending chapel visitors convince one that he is the royal know-it-all-hope-of-mankind-the-world-is-waiting-for-you-son type of genius along comes a high-powered magazine carrying a scare-head verdict, to-wit: that the college graduate is a cock-sure purveyor of impractical ideas and a harmless kind of stuck-up idealist. These business men and other experienced men-of-the-world have such a subtle and direct way of stating their logic that one unconsciously looks about for proof. The most disconcerting thing about it usually is that the average student is a fine example—from an industrial standpoint—of what the critics are talking about. We say industrially because the world judges all men by its own every-day life—that is, in terms of sales, of book entries, contracts, debts and credits. Ability in these things and the business world expects them, are tangible evidences of—what? As we see it, it is evidence of business experience. Since the graduate lacks this training, he waves his diploma—the most tangible thing he possesses—and the critics wave their red flags of ridicule.

Most of the friction, and the resultant discussion, arises in the period immediately following graduation of the student. In this period of adjustment the student is often less responsible than his employer or business associate. But this fact rarely occurs to the writers who fill the popular magazines with frenzied outcries. That college trained men are rising to commanding heights in industry is—we may infer—an accidental phenomena.

But on the other hand the critics are dropping hints here and there which should cause, not merely educators, but the students themselves, to think the matter through from all angles. What may logically be expected of college graduates? What may they be expected to possess which is not found in their friends who went into business instead of going to college? What limitations are placed upon them by four or more years of study in college? How long and in what manner may be their period of readjustment? What training and experience is now available to the working young man who cannot spare the time or money to take college work? The correct answers to these questions are not readily arrived at. There are no recognized impartial judges in this case. The student may answer them through by a self-examination at least partly.

So many people are going to college now that it really seems to be no mark of outstanding achievement, but rather a means of keeping pace with the young generation. Moreover, a great many of the advantages of college life are intangible. They are personal—the individual alone can value such things as broadened interests, a cleared horizon, a worthy ambition to know more of the real truths of life.

BILLY STIFF

NOT SO GOOD!

By Alexander

Measured in this fashion, the most capable critic of college life is the student himself. If every student were to measure himself in terms of tangible knowledge, usable data, and proven ability to use his training easily, the most scathing criticism of the college world would be pronounced. Instruction would be in greater demand and real intelligence would soon replace opinion. The greatest need of college students appears now to be a desire for real knowledge. Dynamic knowledge, enthusiasm for learning, the desire to discuss subjects—these characteristics are too lacking. Fellow student, what are you thinking about? Do you discard your five subjects from consideration the moment the necessity for study or recitation ceases. Why let someone who does not understand you pass all the judgements. For your own good, turn the searchlight upon your own personality.

BREVITIES.

Feed Simmons persimmons on Oct. 25 folks.

Judging from their chapel appearance, our seniors are an upward looking group.

One college paper in Texas has a managing editor named Delay. We wouldn't want him around about press time.

It's all right for a young man to be looking far ahead, but as a general thing he ought to keep the look out of his eyes.

Charley Bryan came through pretty early last week and some of us saw a Panhandle sunrise for the first time in months.

After reading some accounts of the prince's night life, we wonder how he manages even to mount a horse, much less fall off of one.

This new move should make us students loosen up, by gym-miny!

After all, Mister Fry didn't jump any higher than that headline 'The Prairie scraped up.'

Honest Injun folks, Null and Void and the editor of this column knew this big story was coming and we've spent all our spare time for two months just whittling out those big letters—sure.

If we get mixed up and use the wrong word in some of these things, just charge it up to the Hired Hand of WBAP—he's singing a joke and these head phones speak louder than our muse. Huh!

Old Man Texas certainly wants publicity. No matter what happens on November 4th, he's sure to get the big headlines for a good spell.

But we still think B. P. A. ought to have a reserve section in this new gym. We do.

We may not lay the first brick, but we expect to throw the first one at the slackers. Back that gym!

RABBIT HIND FOOT WANTED AT HILL HOUSE

Wanted: "the left hind foot of a rabbit caught in the grave-yard at midnight."

Something is needed to defeat the "jinx" that is passing over the Hill House boys this season. Five of the six boys who live there have received injuries of varying degrees during the last few weeks.

Clem McDonald was the first upon which the "wily rascal" played his trick. Clem skinned his heel in an early skirmish which has given him trouble ever since.

In the football game with Oklahoma, Odus Mitchell and Davis Hill each received minor injuries, and in the game last Friday with N. M. Normal University, Evetts Haley hurt his knee. The latest attack of the "jinx" was upon "Cowboy" Adams. While on a visit last Sunday "misfortune" pushed him off a horse he was riding and broke a bone in his instep.

Here's hoping that Tate Fry will escape.

There are those who seem to consider it a rare privilege to stop in front of the auditorium after chapel and block traffic. In cities where congestion of traffic takes place there are cops for the purpose of preventing too much disregard for the rights of others, by the unthinking and uncaring few. To congest the corridors and delay students from getting to their work does not constitute a crime or a misdemeanor in the eyes of the law. But it does not show the respect for the rights of our fellow students that should be evidenced in a college. The opportunity of carrying on a tete-a-tete immediately after chapel is an opportunity that many never let pass. But such opportunities will knock again, and often in more agreeable places for everyone concerned. But if you must talk or "get-together", why not step to the side of the corridor or better still, move on down the hall. "Respect for the rights of others" on the part of an individual "is one of the marks of an educated man." President Hill tells us. Let us try to remember this in our dealings and relations with one another. Why not make the corridor in front of the chapel a place of easy passage, rather than a practice ground in "bucking the line" for those who desire to get through.

It was a fitting honor to three veteran basketball captains that they were the ones to break the dirt for the new gymnasium. Three captains, two of teams of former years, had the honor of starting the work on the new building where in future years the honor and prestige of Buffalodom is to be upheld on the basketball court. Two of these men have played their last basketball for their school, but during the four years that they played they helped to build up the reputation that this school holds in basketball. While they were helping to build that reputation they were unconsciously building up the spirit and the sentiment among the citizens of this town, the faculty, and the student body that has brought about their support and is making possible the building of a gymnasium that will be commensurate to our needs. Two other players who fought on our championship team but who were absent at the ceremonies were equally influential in bringing this long cherished dream to reality.

Senator Reid spoke at the "ceremony of dirt breaking" for the new gym. In his speech he emphasized the desirability of fair play in athletic contests. There are few who are more ardent supporters of athletics in W. T. S. T. C. than Senator Reid. There are none more devoted to clean athletics than he.

There is always a distinct advantage in playing the game fair. A game won by unfair methods is really a game lost to the team employing those methods. No game is won in the ultimate sense of the term when it is won at the sacrifice of the self-respect, or through disregard of the sense of "fair play" on the part of that team which piles up the greatest score. When the moral standard of the players is lowered in order to win a victory, an injury is done to those players which no amount of physical training will ever rebuild. For:

"When the One Great Scorer comes, To Write against our name, He writes not whether we won or lost, But how we played the game."

A MOMENT O' PHUN

By Null & Void

The impossible has happened! Two very good issues of the Prairie have been printed without this column. We offer no excuses, yet we would like to say in self-defense that we were out of the city and consequently Null & Void was not printed.

Welcome! That means of course all the old students. The old ones who made several attempts to read this column last year do not need to be formally welcomed by Null & Void.

During the hectic days of registration many strange comments were heard, but the young fellow who said that it was a great life if it would only continue certainly is to be pitied, because it didn't continue (thank goodness).

"Who are you looking for" inquired the Fish.
"Nobody," replied the soph.
"How can you tell when you find nobody?" asked the same fish.
"By the questions he asks?" returned the same soph.

The sweet young thing, "Harold I'm shocked, is that gum or chewing tobacco you have in your mouth?"
The cruel brute, "Guess what it is and you can have it."

Not long ago an ardent fan of Null & Void asked us if we knew just how much radios. We might reply that when this fan owes as much as radios his will be a loud speaker also.

Miss Darthula Walker, head of the Geography department, gave a lecture, "Our National Parks," at the first meeting of the Women's Book Club of Canyon, on October 8th. Mrs. J. A. Hill is president of the organization.

METHODISTS GIVE "POLLYANNA PARTY"

More than 200 Methodist students responded to the invitation to play "the Glad Game" at the church Saturday night.

The guests were welcomed by the Governor of the State of Happiness and his six mayors, who represented Gladville, Happyville, Jollyville, Giggleville, Funville, and Pleasantville. After all the guests had arrived and had been assigned to the several towns the Governor announced that each town would be expected to plan a yell and a stunt and they were to be judged as to the group who would bring the greatest happiness. As judges of this tournament, students planned a "take-off" representing the Pastor, Sunday School Superintendent, teachers of the Sunday School and League supervisor, which added much to the merriment of the occasion.

After the several stunts and the awarding of the prizes, all were happy in getting acquainted with everybody and as a jolly ending were served with red lemonade, cookies, and stick candy.

M. MOSS RICHARDSON CLUB ANNOUNCES MEETINGS

"M. Moss Richardson", Christian Service Comrades is a part of the Christian training in the College and was organized in the fall of 1923. The organization is composed of Student Volunteers and Christian workers who are studying inspirational and helpful books on problems and issues confronting students in every-day life; also the greater issues of Christian activities in a world-wide movement.

The "Comrades" meet each Thursday in Room 315B at 4:30 and welcome all Students, Volunteers and Christian workers.

Marie Crone is president and Addie Rea Bryant is secretary.

Miss Darthula Walker of the Department of Geography lectured before the Canyon Book Club Wednesday.

Y. W. C. A. PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

"Christian Courtesies"—What are they, and how many can you name? Are students as courteous as they might be in the corridors or in the campus? These questions and others of a relative nature will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association Wednesday afternoon. Arless O'Keefe will lead the service. She has selected the scripture lesson for the afternoon from the eighth chapter of I Peter. The program in full is as follows:

Song: "My Soul Be on Thy Guard"

Scripture Lesson: I Peter 3:8-11.

Piano Solo: Frankie Kerr.

"Courtesies in the Life of Christ"—Marie Crone.

"Courtesies That Become College Students"—Esther Shoults.

"The Commonplace Element in Christian Courtesies—an Observation"—Louise Walker.

Closing Prayer—Miss M. Moss Richardson.

Every girl is cordially invited and urged to attend.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OFFICERS INSTALLED

Epworth League officers for the fall term were installed at the church service Sunday night, being presented to the pastor by Ruth Lowes, President of the Methodist Student Federation.

The officers are as follows: Edward Pierce, president; Earl Lewis, vice-president; Linnie Babston, corresponding secretary; Lavada Edwards, recording secretary; Ruby Robbins, treas.; Glen Davis, pianist; Everett Dison, era agent; and Marie Crone, Junior League Superintendent.

Superintendents of various departments are Lillian Ferguson, Addison Sharp, Winnie Mae Crawford, and Ha Mae Hastings.

MISS BURTON ENTERTAINS HOME ECONOMIC GIRLS

Thursday afternoon Miss Helen B. Burton of the Home Economics Department entertained her students at tea. After a get-acquainted meeting plans for the organization of the Home Economics Club were discussed. This club belongs to the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and every girl who is taking Home Economics is urged to join it.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Adaline Lamb, the Young Women's Christian Association held open house for the women students of the college. A large number were present to hear discussed the purpose and plans of the organization.

SESAME-COUSINS INITIATION POSTPONED

Initiation services of the Sesame and Cousins Literary Societies will take place Thursday, October 16. The postponement was made in order that apparatus for the elaborate ceremony may be arranged.

DANCE COMMITTEE IS CHOSEN THURSDAY

At a meeting of students Thursday the floor committee for college dances was appointed as follows: Otello Herm, chairman; Robert McGee, Felix Phillips, Katherine Smith, and Frances Hall.

Plans were made for the first dance of the year, which will probably be on October 25th.

EX-STUDENTS MARRY

On Sunday, September 28, at Farwell Texas, Miss Bessie Maddux and James Rankin Dow were married at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Dow attended the College last year. They will make their home at Lubbock, where Mr. Dow will be associated with his father in publishing The Lubbock Avalanche.

STEAGALL-GERMAN WEDDING

Miss Thelma Steagall, a student of the College, and Homer German were united in marriage by Rev. M. M. Beavers Tuesday, October 7. The young people will leave soon for Lansing, Michigan, where they expect to make their home.

SECOND YEAR CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

Loise Caldwell has been elected president of the Second Year Normal class. Associated with him are these officers: Reagan Sherman, vice president; Floyd McGrager, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Bagwell, representative to Student Council; Kathryn Smith, annual representative; Catherine Rockwell, reporter. Members of the social committee are Anna Moore, Mildred Root, and Travis Shaw, Jr. The class yell leaders are Almilda Nobles and Travis Shaw, Jr.

The class selected rose and white as its colors and the pink rose as its flower.

FACULTY GIVES A RECEPTION TO STUDENTS

As is the custom in the College, the members of the faculty gave a reception for the students Saturday evening, in the college building. This is the one occasion of the year when every man and woman of the faculty and every student is given opportunity to meet each other personally.

At eight o'clock the students assembled at the south entrance, where tags indicating name and home address were passed out. A few at a time entered and passed down the receiving line of faculty people.

The orchestra provided entertainment for the guests in the auditorium, and the music was thoroughly enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the Department of Home Economics.

ELAPHEANS HOLD TWO INTERESTING MEETINGS.

The Elapheian Literary Society met Tuesday noon and elected the following officers:

Nell Galloway, vice president. Louise Simpson, secretary. Annadel Guenther, treasurer.

Grace Ferguson, annual representative.

Arless O'Keefe, reporter. Fannie Cash, parliamentarian.

Vivian Coffman, Student Council representative.

Nita Jones, sergeant-at-arms.

The Elapheians also convened on Friday evening for their regular program. The interesting program follows:

Solo, Ada V. Clark.

Elapheian Ideals, Mrs. Tommie Montfort.

What Must I do to Be a Good Elapheian?—Vivian Coffman.

Reading, Dona Hardin.

After the program a short business session was held. Among the many girls present were four charter members. These were: Mrs. Teal of Lamesa, Dessie Mae Steele, Louise Simpson, and Vivian Coffman.

Frequent Pep Rallies Stimulate Enthusiasm As Hard Games Near

Frequent "pep meetings" have been held during the past ten days. Attendance has been increasing steadily. Speakers who addressed the gatherings are "Prexy" Hill, Mrs. Witt, matron of Cousins Hall, and many of the letter men of the football squad. Very distinct progress in the execution of yells was seen in the rooting last Friday. Material assistance is being rendered by the inimitable Red Men.

Yell Leaders for this year have been selected and are Tate Fry, Jerry Malin and Misses Hettler and Smalley. Fry and Malin are Big Chief and ex-chief respectively of the Royal Order of Red Men. Carola Hettler is an experienced cheer leader of Cousins Hall, and also has served her literary society in the same capacity. Miss Smalley comes from Clarendon College, where she led yells very efficiently for two years.

Among the special yells last week were some given especially for the conclave which was deliberating on the gym project at that time.

From this time forward the yell leaders want the hearty support of every student. The "home coming" day

Red Men Rekindle Fires and Re-elect Chief Sitting Bull

On Wednesday night, while the Indian moon darkened, the Loyal Order of Red Men touched the firebrand of loyalty to the waiting faggots and sang again the war song of the Indian. Sweet juices of autumn fruit replaced the smoke of the peace pipe, and the Red Men took again their vow of allegiance to the Buffalo.

The red skins then laid plans for the future. Chief Sitting Bull Tate Fry was re-elected and Jerry Malin named Little Chief Lone Wolf. Mans bucks surprised their fellows by words of cheer and eloquence. The Indian god, the Buffalo, was cheered time after time during the council as the Red Men started plans for the Simmons, game, when the Indians intend to make the best demonstration of the year.

The Red Men appeared briefly at the Las Vegas game. Their calls are echoing through the halls: "Get behind the Buffaloes," "Beat Simmons," "Lela Scheta Toe Oakshels La Sumpa Oata Enockanee wachessa Team!"

and game with Simmons on October 25 will be the climax of all the preparation made thus far.

Girls Athletic Club Elects Officers To Serve This Quarter

Johnetta Anderson is president of the newly re-organized Girls Athletic Association. The fall election was held Thursday. The meeting was a reunion of old members; hence the spirit which characterized the body last year was present.

New students are invited to attend the future meetings. A girls' pep squad will be fostered by the organization and probably some games scheduled.

Other officers elected at the meeting last week are: Cecile Dowdy, vice president; Mae Slack, secretary-treasurer; Velma Bourland, yell leader; Arless O'Keefe, reporter; Mary Verne Coleman, Le Mirage representative; Frankie Broyles, student council representative; Lorene Carter, sergeant-at-arms.

Announcements of activities will be posted soon on the bulletin board. The new girls are urged to join the Girls Athletic Association at once and back up its program.

Sport Talk

Hip, hip, hurrah! Fifteen rahs and a hundred and fifty silent prayers. At last, a gym large enough to accommodate the crowds, and large enough to have a full sized standard court for basketball. We've got the material, we've got the coaches, we've got (will have) the gym and equipment, so what to prevent the Buffaloes from winning the T. I. A. A. championship again this year?

In reviewing the various football games of the past two weeks, we find that according to the dope sheet three members of the T. I. A. A. have shown the Southwestern conference that football in the state association is of a higher calibre than ever. Strangely enough, all of these teams are on the Buffalo schedule.

Taking the Simmons team first because we are most interested in it, we discovered that the team is an erratic one. In the first game of the season against the Baylor Bears the Cowboys showed plenty of fight and much promise when they held the famous Southwestern team to a ten to six score. Critics said after that game that Simmons had the best team in years. Last week the Cowboys did not live up to their early start and received a 21 to 0 drubbing at the hands of Austin College. After this game critics said that the Cowboys "went to pieces" and played on the whole a rather ragged game. However, the Buffaloes are not going to let up in their determination to win from them on Home Coming day. In fact, the maroon-and-white coaches are expecting one of the hardest fights in the history of football at this college.

Then there is the Denton eleven which sprung a surprise and held the Mustangs, Southwestern champions last year, to an almost even score. When the S. M. U. warriors emerged victorious over the Eagles they realized that they had just barely escaped defeat. The final score was 6 to 3. When the Buffaloes beat Denton, it will put them in the same class as the CHAMPIONS OF THE SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE. Of course that is the proverbial "dope." Yet sometimes it has to be reckoned with.

Daniel-Baker did the unexpected and almost defeated the T. C. U. Frogs. When the battered and torn Frogs came up for air they held victory only by a one point margin, 12 to 13. The Buffaloes did not play Daniel-Baker last year and consequently did not know relatively their strength. However, Coach Burton's crew now know that Daniel-Baker has a hard fighting outfit and that the game will be one of hard fighting, one thing that the Buffaloes are noted for.

That's the dope and if the Buffaloes live up to the expectations of the student body and fans, W. T. S. T. C. will have one of the greatest football teams in the state of Texas.

Not long before the game last Friday a coach showed us a clipping from the Albuquerque Daily paper. The sports editor said in this clipping, "evidently the Canyon Buffaloes don't rate very high in the estimation of the Normal-University, for recently it cancelled a game with the Lobos and then engaged one with the Canyon squad." The sports editor ended by saying, "the Normal-University team is looking for experience, the Buffaloes can give it to them in gobs and gobs." I guess he was recalling last year when the Buffaloes beat the Lobos 22 to 8. Well, he was right, the Las Vegas team got some experience.

Work On Gym Is Now Well Started

of the Ex-students Association will contribute work and cash donations. Citizens of Canyon are also being solicited by Grady Oldham, Dan F. Sanders, and C. H. Jarrett.

Student pledges will be taken by committees appointed by the class presidents. Prof. D. A. Shirley and Miss Edna Graham will take faculty pledges. The Student Council and the Athletics Committee, assisted by the coaches and Secretary Travis Shaw, will direct the campaign. Pledges may be payable at any time during the year 1925. In addition days or hours of work may be pledged.

Due to the fact that no temporary buildings are permitted under the regulations of the Board of Regents, it was necessary to build a structure which will at least meet present needs and be the first unit of a permanent physical education plant. Hence the plan calls for every advantage that architectural skill can devise and still keep within the appropriation allowed.

It is hoped that the court will be ready by the time the basketball season arrives. Team work developed on a small court, Coach S. D. Burton states, is completely disrupted in transferring to a court of standard size.

Greater interest in basketball on the part of students and townspeople is expected to develop when all can be seated comfortably. The gate receipts will mount greatly when every visitor may see the games.

AMONG THE NEW PROFS.

CLEO M. HOLMES. "I noticed in particular that everybody was so friendly," was what Miss Holmes said when asked about her first impression on arrival at W. T. S. T. C.

Miss Holmes is a new faculty member of the Home Economics department. She received here B. A. degree from Morningside College, Iowa, and was a consistent worker in literary societies and other student activities. She has also attended summer sessions in the University of California and the Agricultural College of Colorado.

Miss Holmes' experience as a teacher is varied. "I have taught in Nebraska, Colorado, California, and Iowa," she said, and continued laughingly, "I am just one of those 'tramp' teachers."

Miss Holmes' extensive preparation and experience as a teacher enriches the already efficient teaching force. She expects to spend a pleasant year with us.

GIRLS ATHLETIC BODY TAKES IN NEW MEMBERS

Several new members were added to the membership of the Girls Athletic Association in a meeting last Wednesday. Unusual interest was shown in planning some definite work. A pep squad has been formed and this will be seen in action at the Simmons-Buffalo game on October 25. Miss Dabbs made a talk and made some valuable suggestions.

Britain Studio has a very fine line of frames suitable for Photographs.

RANDALL HALL NEWS.

Last Wednesday evening the Randall Hall girls elected house officers, who are:

Dessie Mae Steele, president. Mildred Ferguson, vice president. Arless O'Keefe, secretary. Annie Laurie Sawyer, treasurer. Jimmy Cobb, chairman of social committee.

Floyce Jordon, Nettie Bowan, yell leaders. Dorothy Ford, chairman of Pep committee.

Then, at the suggestion of Miss Anderson, a religious committee was formed. Marie Crone, Opal Walkup, and Addie Lee Smith were elected.

Misses Margaret Boulware and Pauline Brigham were in Amarillo last Saturday.

Prof. Wallace R. Clark of the Music Department made a talk at a meeting of the South Plains Music Teachers Association in Slaton Wednesday.
