Serenade, Cupid's Charms—Miller.

Bohemian Dance—H. Engleman.

Waltz, In a Rose Garden—Crosby.

Seven Sets Sisters Live at Cousins

Does your roommate bore you to tears by talking about "the family"? That situation is taken care of quite well in Cousins Hall. There are seven sets of sisters who can bestow their "back home" stories upon sympathetic ears.

There is one outstanding disadvantage about this fact for the other girls. One must exercise exceeding care in gossiping or the result may be that you have divulged your innermost feelings of wrath to the sister of the offender. Neither can discretion along this line be limited to roommates. For Nora and Dora, otherwise distant relatives of the traditional Siamese twins, choose to see how it feels to be like other girls and room with their separate chums.

Sisterly influence has been found to be unable to dwarf individual prejudices, too. If it functioned, surely Mabel could have persuaded Era to become a member of her chosen Literary Society.

Sometimes an attempt at differentiation carries the sisters even beyond the mode of dress. Irene declares that her life's ambition has been side-tracked because she refused to major in the same course that Gladys did.

While some of the sisters are striving to identify themselves from each other, with the Hopkins sisters this is not apparent. If they tried variance, one or the other would have to give up that smile with which they greet everyone, and that would never do.

Thus each of the seven sets of sisters in the hall admits that, though little matters of contention arise even in the best "regulated families," a sister is a pretty good sort of pal to have around.

Canyon Expects Big Grad Classes

Canyon expects to have the largest number of high school graduates in 1927 of any town of its size in Texas. One hundred twelve boys and girls, about the same number of each, will receive diplomas from the Canyon high school and from the high school department of the West Texas State Teachers College.

Canyon high school, of which Jim Webb is superintendent, will grant diplomas to 47, and the Teachers College high school, headed by Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, will graduate 65.

Canyon's population is less than three thousand.

No Shave Week Will Feel 'O Me Shave

Advertise Pep Spirit

The men of the College held a mass meeting last night and started plans for instilling additional pep into the student body to show in greater measure their loyalty to Eckhardt's men. One of the agreements reached at the meeting is that every man will lay his razor down on November 17th and go without a shave until the Tech game on Thanksgiving, is over. The men are determined to keep themselves reminded of their duty to the team, is the reason given for this move.

The men met last Thursday morning to work out these plans but because of lack of time the meeting was adjourned until last night when the plans were completed.

In addition to the no-shave week, the football team will select a co-ed from the student body to act as sponsor for the team at the Tech game. The co-ed will start the game with a kick off, and the attendant ceremony is planned to be as full of pep as is possible to make it.

Library Faculty Plans Child Book Week, Nov. 7-13

Plans have been made by the library faculty for an effective observance of Children's Book Week, Nov. 7-13. Book week is an educational movement, nation wide in scope, to encourage a love of good books among boys and girls.

The Children's Library has on its shelves more than 1300 choice books of history, geography, nature study, religion, science and fiction. Representative books of each type will be on display during the week from 1:30 to 3:30, and students and faculty members interested in any phase of children's literature are urged to visit the library at those hours. On Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock the following program will be given in the women's gymnasium: "My Favorite Book," Sixth and Seventh Grades; "Books for Boys and Girls," Miss M. Moss Richardson; "Book Friends We Like," Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Grades.

Elapheians Hold Annual Initiation

At a solemn and impressive ceremony the Elapheian pledges were initiated into the order at Cousins Hall on Friday night. The Hall was decorated in gold and white—the Elapheian colors, and candles placed in the windows furnished the only light as the ceremony was given. A soft glow was thrown over the room which enchanted the beauty and daintiness of the gowns of the girls. After a pleasing program a tea course was served by the youngest members of the society.

New Enterprise To Be Started in Y. W.

A brand new enterprise will be presented to the Y. W. girls at the regular Wednesday meeting this week. All girls who have attended any of these meetings will be particularly interested. Girls who have not attended will be surprised at the type of work which the girls are doing and will find it very interesting and worth-while. You are all cordially invited to come and share with us all that the Y. W. C. A. has to offer you and give us the pleasure of your association. Come to room 101, Wednesday, Nov. 10, 4:30 p. m. Bring a friend or a guest with you.

COLLEGE PREXYS SPEAK TO STUDENTS IN CHAPEL HERE

Presidents Whitley and Evans are Guests of Prexy Hill

COMMON SENSE IS A HELPFUL AUXILIARY

Evans Gives Four Points of Vantage of An Education

Presidents S. H. Whitley and C. E. Evans, of East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce and Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, respectively, spoke to the student body in Chapel last Tuesday morning. President J. A. Hill introduced the speakers, both of whom are his intimate friends and associates. They were well received by the student body.

Mr. Evans spoke first, taking as his subject, "Common Sense Plus." He made the point that common sense alone is not great, for it turns and feels before a danger. "To make progress," he said, "it is necessary for common sense to be accompanied by science, for then, the danger can be met and conquered."

But still another essential is lacking, and that is professional skill. Students attend teachers college to get science and professional skill in teaching. The teacher with common sense, plus science, plus professional skill, will live a life that is worth while to any community."

Following Mr. Evans' address, Mr. Whitley spoke, giving his ideas of what young people should get at college. "There are certain things," he said, "which, it appears to me, should be the possessions of every student leaving college. Among them are the following: (1) a better, stronger, more perfect physique, without which, there is little hope for the race, (2) a well rounded, well developed social character. The student should develop the disposition to be, not only a good conversationalist, but also a good listener. (3) "High standards of scholarship, not because of the desire for credits—a form of intellectual dishonesty, but because of a desire to know the truth. (4) "A higher and better developed spiritual life, which will make possible a richer, more complete life experience."

Wild Turkeys are Put on the New Wild Game Site

Dr. Earl C. Axtell, deputy game warden in this district, has turned loose 24 big bronze turkeys on the new game preserve in the Palo Duro Canyon. The turkeys were turned loose in two groups and were placed in widely separated places in the preserve. This wild game is the first to be turned loose on the Palo Duro preserve both other wild game, including deer, pheasant and quail, will be placed on the preserve in the near future.

The Palo Duro preserve now includes all of the Palo Duro Canyon in Randall and Armstrong Counties with the exception of the Arnold Ranch. When this ranch is added the preserve will contain 120,000 acres. It is one of the most beautiful in the entire state, and now contains more than 80,000 acres.

Dr. Axtell resigned as deputy warden last Monday but will be with the Federal forces in the near future. The new game preserve has been formed through his efforts and influence with the owners of the land. His successor as game warden has not been selected at this time.

Type High will not have a dinner tonight as first announced, but will have it Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 6:00 p. m. Those who want to attend may get their tickets from Nell Galloway at once.

Amarillo Open Cups Are Won By College Players

One singles match and two doubles matches in the Amarillo open tennis tourney were won by Canyon players at Amarillo last Sunday. Edmund Dyche and Roy Matnee won first and second places in the junior open singles and LeRoy Landers won second place in the senior singles, after being beaten by Jack Burch.

Both doubles teams from the College were victorious in the open play. Jenkins and Matnee and Lockhart and Lockhart won their divisions easily.

W. A. A. Hears Talk By Miss Hanna

Thursday afternoon the W. A. A. held their first regular business meeting. A chili supper at Hale's had been planned but owing to the weather the meeting was held in the gymnasium. The constitution and by-laws were read and adopted by the club.

Miss Hanna gave a short talk on T. O. C. and explained the purpose of the club. The number of points toward letters for the various activities were decided upon.

The next business meeting will be held on the first Thursday of December at 7:30. One meeting each quarter will be open to all of the college women.

Training School Profs. Entertained by Savage

A party was given for the Training School teachers last Saturday evening, by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Savage and Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, at the home of Miss Ritchie on Fourth Avenue. In addition to the faculty of the training school, there were several special guests present.

During the evening, while the guests were playing progressive 42, a quartette of girls from Randall Hall appeared on the scene and serenaded the party. Late in the evening refreshments consisting of orange ice and angel-food cake were served, after which a time was spent in social conversation. Guests declare it to have been a delightful entertainment.

Captain McVicker is Resting at His Home

Dock McVicker, captain of the Buffalo team, has been at his home in Plainview for the last week recuperating from injuries received in the Daniel Baker and Simmons games. McVicker's injury is one of long standing and the Simmons game brought on a recurrence of his trouble.

He is due to return to school next week and will be in shape for the Tech game, it is thought.

Mrs. Earl O'Keefe of Panhandle was in Canyon Friday attending the Canyon-Panhandle ball game. Mrs. O'Keefe will be remembered as Miss Saxche Simms.

SOPRANO TO APPEAR HERE ON LYCEUM NUMBER

Evelyn Finty Here As Second Number of Fall Lyceum

HAS STUDIED WITH FAMOUS TEACHERS

Enthusiastic Reception is Given Singer on All Appearances

Miss Evelyn Finty, concert soprano, will appear in the College auditorium, November 12, on the second number of the Lyceum course this term. Miss Finty has studied with Theodore Schroeder, of Boston, Yeatman Griffith, New York, Madame Hudson-Alexander, Celveland, and Sir George Henschel, London.

Miss Finty's appearances in Texas have met with enthusiastic response from her audiences. She has featured numerous programs over the state and has appeared in recital at many of the largest schools. She has a voice remarkable for its clearness and the perfection of enunciation and tonal qualities, combined with one of the most charming personalities on the concert stage.

Many New Members Attend Sesame Meet

Many of the newly initiated members of the Sesame Literary Society were in their places at the meeting held Friday night. The program was: Devotional, led by Lois Lyon; Society Activities, Sammie Jones; Reading of Constitution, Sadie Anderson.

A short business meeting was held in which plans for a sunrise breakfast on Armistice day were discussed. This idea met with hearty approval by all present. The society adjourned early in order that the members might attend the Y. W. benefit show.

Pi Omega Initiate Pledges on Monday

Many "oohs" and shudders were heard on Monday night in a dark basement as the Pi Omega pledges were led through various forms of misery constituting their initiation. Such well known tortures as the operating room and the tale of coconut-jello were among the lightest features on the program.

After the ceremony the pledges were entertained with a line party after which refreshments were served at the City Pharmacy.

Cousins to Work on Inter-Society Clash

A lively program was given by the Cousins society Friday night. The program was opened with a song by the society. The next number was a cornet solo played by Preston Wohlford. The feature of the program was a debate on the subject, Resolved, That the price of the College Annual should be added to the matriculation fee. As one of the debaters was absent, the question was discussed in a spirited open forum style. The debate was followed with a selection by the Cousins quartet.

In a business session, after some discussion, the Cousins decided to prepare for the inter-society debate to be held in the Fall quarter. They wished to say to the world in general and especially to the Antlers that when the debate comes off the Cousins will be very much present on the scene of action.

It was decided in this meeting that the Cousins would accompany the Sesames to Wragge's Park for a sunrise breakfast, Nov. 11.

Type High Dinner Is Postponed Week

Owing to conflicting dates, the Type High dinner, which was to have been given November 9, has been postponed until Tuesday, November 16. It will be served in the Home Economics Dining Room at 6 o'clock. A varied program has been arranged, which, it is hoped, will be of special interest to members of the press club. Several guests of the club will also attend the dinner.

EAGLES LUCK GOOD FOR WIN

Christian Offers the Only Offense But Eagles Are Lucky

Holding tight to their rabbits-foot, the Canyon High School Eagles won another game in Buffalo Park Friday from the Panhandle High School by the score of 14-12. The Eagle crew did all their scrapping in the second quarter and the goddess of luck permitted them to finish the game as victors although the Panhandle team played a nice brand of ball and offered an offense that kept the Canyon boys walking continually backward. A few details of the game:

Canyon kicks off to Panhandle's 30 yard line and they make the first down with a line buck, but fail to make the next down and they kick to Canyon's 15 yard line, where Christian punts back to the fifty yard line. On a fumble the Eagles recover and Christian makes 15 thru off tackle. The Eagles fail to make their downs and the ball goes over. Panhandle punts to Canyon's 20 yard line and they recover the ball on a fumble. A pass Brooks to Mitchell netted the Oilers the first touchdown of the game, but they failed to kick goal. On the kick off Beavers of Canyon returns the ball 20 yards, just as the quarter was up. Canyon 0; Panhandle 6.

On the next play Christian makes 30 yards on an off-tackle play. The Oilers intercepted a pass and were downed in their tracks. They failed to make their downs and punted to Canyon's 40 yard line. Christian after fooling around a while picked the ball up and ran 63 yards for the Eagles first counter. He also kicked goal.

Canyon kicks to Slahart who brings it up 6 yards. Watson goes behind the line and takes Davidson for a 7 yard loss. They fail to make the down and kick to Canyon's 40 yard line. Canyon also fails to make the down and they kick to Panhandle's 20 yard line. Redfearn of Canyon recovers a fumble and Campbell goes thru for 28 yards. Christian makes 10 yards for the second touchdown and kicks goal. Panhandle received the ball and were penalized 5 yards for two incomplete passes. A punt was blocked and Canyon recovers on the 50 yard line. End of half. Canyon 14; Panhandle 6.

In the next half the Panhandlers woke up and with long end runs came very near lucking out on the Eagles. By a series of punts the Oilers gain about 25 yards and gain possession of the ball, when Christian fumbles the punt. But they were unable to make the downs and were forced to kick. Christian makes 25 yards around end but could not make the down. They kicked to Panhandle's 30 yard line and recovered the ball on a fumble. Brooks intercepted a pass and made five yards. Chenoweth goes around end for 11. A pass was incomplete. But on the next play they make 14 thru off-tackle. End of quarter. Canyon 14; Panhandle 6.

Chenoweth makes 20 around end, and with a series of line bucks they put the ball up to within six inches of the goal but cannot put it over. Canyon punts 40 yards. Panhandle cannot make the next down and they kick 35 yards to Christian who brings the ball 12 yards. A long pass was intercepted by Orr of Panhandle, but he was downed in his tracks. A pass Slahart to Brooks gained the Oilers 10 yards. Canyon penalized 5 yards for off-side. Chenoweth

N M M I BRINGING BEST TEAM IN RECENT SEASONS

Buffaloes Expect Tough Game When Soldiers Play Thursday.

EARLY SEASON LOSS IS WIPED OUT

Dope Points To Evenly Matched Fight Between Crews

Roswell and her Cadets will storm the Buffalo corral Armistice Day with one of the best teams the Institute has had in the last three years. The New Mexico team appeared weak at the start of the season, due to a dearth of experienced material, but the season's progress has been featured by the improvement of the team and it will meet the Buffaloes Thursday stronger than they have been for the last few years.

Their early season defeat by the New Mexico School of Mines was wiped out in full last week when they defeated the Montezuma Baptist College by a large score. The Clarendon Bulldogs routed them early in the season 20-0, but two weeks ago the Cadets beat Wayland College 12-6, which is all the Buffaloes could do. The clash Armistice Day will be a thrilling one and it will be a real football game, for the Cadets and the Buffaloes are old rivals and their contests are always spirited in all phases.

The soldiers are coming with blood in their eyes, for they too, have a jinx to break, and the team that wins will be lucky.

Legion Program
The local post of the American Legion will participate in the Armistice Day celebration with a ceremony at the College Thursday morning, and they will also turn out in full force to the game Thursday afternoon.

Numbers of outings have been planned by student groups for the morning of Nov. 11, and it is expected that large numbers will be enjoying the holiday in some form of outing, providing the weather is suitable.

The following program has been announced by E. M. Potter, post commander of the Palo Duro Post: Invocation—Rev. W. C. Kunze. Music—College Band. Address—President J. A. Hill. Address—Senator J. W. Reid. Observation of the 11:00 o'clock hour with silent prayer.

Presidents Confer With A. B. Martin

After a three days visit at the West Texas State Teachers College, Presidents C. E. Evans and F. H. Whitley of San Marcos and Commerce, together with President J. A. Hill of Canyon, spent Wednesday in Conference with Hon. A. B. Martin of Plainview. Mr. Martin is a member of the Teachers College Board of Regents.

Male Quartet Has Been Organized

A male quartette for W. T. S. T. C. has been organized. Earl Sparks, Dennis and Smith and Harry Kelley are the members of the quartette. Their first public appearance was on the Home Coming program and another program is to be given soon.

Miss Virginia Hale, of Miami, is at home this week, recuperating from an operation on her throat.

makes 18 yards around end for first down, and on the next play he plunges thru the line for 8 yards, and their second touchdown of the game. But Mitchell fails to kick goal. Panhandle receives on their twenty yard line. Canyon was penalized 15 yards for ruffing. The Oilers fail to make the down and they kick to Canyon who brings the ball back to the 25 yard line, just as the whistle sounded to end the game.

Are You Collegiate?

It is easier to discuss what is not collegiate than what is collegiate. Happily the "nots" are in the minority. We always think of the attitude of friendliness and good sportsmanship toward our fellow students as being the first requisite of a collegian. Naturally the corridors, the auditorium, and the library suggest themselves as being the best places to observe the demeanor of students. It is pleasant to watch the groups of boys and girls talking together in friendly raillery or carrying on some discussion. Sometimes disillusionment comes when some misconception of collegiates is displayed. In trying to carry out the spirit of the all 'round good fellow of whom so much is heard as being an attribute of college life, some students go beyond the bounds of culture which is also a necessary attribute. Indeed, there is a proneness to doubt the correctness of aim when a line of would-be sheiks call in raucous and not altogether respectful tones to the girls who pass by. It does not alleviate our feeling of disgust if the girls fling some presumably cute remark and a rowdy scuffle ensues. The other day a group of well known college boys sauntered into the library and continued their conversation in clearly audible tones, to the intense embarrassment of the student-librarian. The equally complimentary questions arise as to whether they were ignorant or merely "trying" to be collegiate. Are You Collegiate?

"There was an old lady who lived in a shoe" and the rest of that makes a nursery rhyme. West Texas Teachers College isn't an old shoe—yet—but she has so many children she can't take in any more boarders for a few days yet, anyway. Only trouble is, these children don't hang together like they should—they pass the buck and absolve themselves of all concern in the matter, no matter what the matter is or what it matters to the school.

Prof. Grusendorf used to say he was lonesome for the piney woods the chirrup of the woodpeckers and the soft whine of breezes thru the trees—even if those trees down in East Texas are below the sea level. He cured himself of this form of nostalgia only to take another. You should have seen him rootin' for ole Baylor over the radio Saturday when the Bears beat Texas. Better keep him and Os Eckhardt apart!

The mild breeze of yesterday wasn't a sea breeze—at least it wasn't supposed to be, but after being out in it for thirty minutes yesterday one stude swore he had a mouthful of salt. Must have been sour.

Rumor is a nice thing—it gives you a ride on the wheels of fanatic fancy free of charge and when you find one of the tires is flat you can always press your lips together and remark, through your disappointment, that it is probably true, nevertheless, to the contrary notwithstanding. The Yearlings heard a rumor the other day that if they beat the Buffs in a certain little scrimmage party held by Os Eckhardt, that they were to get the privilege and the pleasure of starting the New Mexico game. The Yearlings were riding the pneumatic tires of fanatic fancy sure enough, but they put up a whale of a good game. If the Buffaloes hadn't made so many touchdowns it is probable that there would have been something to this rumor.

Have you heard about these mass meetings the men are holding, girls. It's all right if you have, providing you haven't heard too much. The boys are going to forget to shave for an entire week and although that is rough on the safety razor manufacturers, there don't seem to be any way around it. Wonder if the co-eds think enough of the Buffalo cause to go without cosmetics while the men are going without a shave? Think it over and then rub it off!

Out in Buffalo Park o' afternoons you'll find Os Eckhardt, the Buffalo Coach and the man every Buffalo loves better than his own self. Eckhardt has been fighting two battles of late—one to bring his team to the point where they can play above their own abilities and the other against the dissension and thrusts of people, who for varied reasons, are trying to throw a wrench into the machinery of the Buffalo team. Let's help Os to accomplish his purpose with his team and help these other fellows OUT by letting them know their opinion is of no value in the football market.

Miss Evleyn Finty is to be here November 12. Miss Finty is a young artist who has exceptional talent and exceptional ability. She has been a pupil of some of the most noted voice teachers in the country and lately of Sir George Henschel. If the audiences downstate are any indication of public

Welcome

You-all come up and see us. We'd love to have you and we have plenty of room. We have a bed-room and a guest room. We call it a guest room because the carpenter guessed at the measurements and missed all of 'em. It leaks air like a collender, but maybe we can make out. The wee-wife is plumb easy to get along with, in fact our chickens are gradually starving to death, 'cause we don't have any scraps. Come up, it ain't fur.

Twenty-One or Bust.

Ho hum, and another sigh rebounds against our chest; a chest that has withstood and spurned the blasts of twenty-one winters, and another day dawns, as it should. To-day we are twenty-one, and yet we isn't a man. God didn't intend for us to be angels, he means for us to be men. Meant for us to be wayward, and then truly repentant—to fall perhaps, and then to get up, by gum, and stan' up till Gabriel toots his little gob stick. 'Tis a jolly life, after all, even if you are one out of the four who have receding gums. Happiness and contentment and pleasure are all in the head, and the man who can't control his head is a gone gosling. Discontent comes from one source mainly, wanting something you can't have. The best method is just to make arrangements—with in your head—to do without it. There ain't any use splintering the top of your neck against the wall of insatiable desire; just go around the wall and take a look at the uglier side. The sun is setting, and another pearl has been cast, ho hum.

Animal Verses

The polecat breaks up the lawn party and then says what a whale of a difference a few scents make. Polecat is vulgar, we think skunk is a much prettier word, but speakin' of animals, you've all heard the little ditty which runs thusly—a flea and a fly flew up a flue; said the flea let us fly; said the fly, let us flee, so they flew through a flaw in the flue.

Nothin'

seems funny to us tonight, fer fellows ain't funny, they're pitiful. They play and fight and argue and die, and then they're dead. And some are toasted, and some of 'em fly. And even Robert Burns, Shakespeare, the Will Rogers of yestiddy, say when sick, the devil a saint would be. You have to keep a fire goin', to make some fellas be good, and lots of the real good ones is so good they ain't good for nothin'. 'Q. E. D., to say nothin' of E. Pluribus Unum. Have your outline for this ready Friday and hand in the completed theme the following Sunday. Your grades will be posted on the English bulletin board in shorthand. Has anyone saw Mr. Elkins today?

Randall Haul

Randall Haul now looks like somebody lives there. The livin' room makes the Ritz look like a hovel. We had supper there the other night and not a word was said about payment. Fine folks. Always did like a chef who taken it for granted you was hungry. Pretty black haired girl at our table, too. The wife was the most polite an' genteel of 'em all, though, for she never reached for food without beggin' somebody's pardon. Much better, much better. Congrats, Matron Smith, congrats.

Vegetables and Truck

Dr. Frank Crane says in so few words that meditation is the mother of wisdom. Meditation, the turning, weighing, and arranging of thoughts within our minds, is disappearing with prairie dogs and two-wheel brakes. The hurly-burly rush of the modern is poison to straight, conclusive thinking. While in college we amass a group of facts as a basis for meditative thinking. Don't get the idea that the grouping of these facts is an end in itself, for it is merely a means to an end, as Professor Dufflot wouldst remark. True, we don't use lots of stuff we learn, but it's something to start the wheels a-goin. And what's more, the pedagog who can't occasionally turn our gray matter to a lively pink doesn't know his vegetables.

Pardon our bad humor, folks, but we ate too much supper, our tooth aches, and we feel the need of a shave, shine, shampoo, a soda or somethin' similar, any of which would be highly impractical this time of night, but we feel recompensed by the one little joy that's left in our life, which is, our shoes are too tight. Truly folks, we thank you.

NAME IT AND TAKE IT

Dollars to doughnuts. Step right up, folks; Don't conserve space, reserve it! Plenty of room! Don't push. Plenty of dough for everyone, the baker included. All together now, three rousing cheers! Rambling wreck of an introduction but we geniuses must begin the wheels to running and pour on oil before we can do good work!

This column needs a maxim, or a slogan. Can't use "laugh and grow fat" for then even Editor Ed would shun my column. Then while the rest of the world rejoiced in their slender beauty I alone would become fat and jovial as a jolly miller (or, specifically, Archibald Lang). We all have a case of the dumps due to the rapid fire of mid terms an dthe influence of that terrible, life taking, horrible gas, term themes. It is slowly settling over us like a blanket. We are steadily becoming snowed under with work. The sun shines forth for a while only to become again overshadowed when the finals take place a few short weeks from now. Master your subject and if you can't master your subjects, master your profs. For instance, lads and lassies, such as this is constantly appearing in the class room:

Mr. Batchelder: I believe you missed my class yesterday.

Virg. Griggs: Why no, I didn't sir, not in the least.

Dr. Pierie: What is the best method to prevent the diseases caused by biting insects?

Grace Ferguson: Don't bite the insects.

Mrs. Lang: Give me a sentence with the word "devise."

Bob Foster: Its devise boid that gets up early to get de vorm.

Miss Walker: Oscar, what nationality would you rather be?

Os Gamel: Half negro and half jew.

Miss W.: Why, pray?

Os: I'd always be satisfied. A negor is always looking for a $, and a Jew always has one.

Miss Foote (in Home Ec): How do you crimp your ples so nicely, Hazle?

Hazle Barton: Oh, that's easy. I use my false teeth.

Frankly, folks, these studes are so dumb they abuse the privilege and they are likely to come up wanting when the end of the season is over. Beware! Their profs will like them so well they'll encore them!

All those present who know or have seen T. A. Worley and Lillie Clark please raise their right hands. The motion is carried. Well, the other night T. A. was over to see Lil, and she was playing on the harp for him. Lil said: "My harp sings of love for you," and T. A., the dumb brute, says, "Then it isn't a harp, it's a lyre." So much for that, but when a little later Lil said bashfully, "T. A. lets go get something to eat," T. A. answered, "Sure, show me the way to the kitchen." Lil sent him to mamma with an E in deportment. An' he jus' cried and cried, cause he knew all the time he loved that girl.

1. Which leads us 'on to a few glimpses of corridor life. The early bird catches the devil. Moral cut class. Here's a couple of birds chirpin': West: "I see where a Cousins girl ate 48 soft boiled eggs." Daddy Gee: "Boy, there's one girl who can take a yoke."

2. Frish, to Red Man chief: "Are you an indian?" Chief: "No, I'm a McCarty."

Poor Ben Guill says the old fashioned girl could make the $s go farther but the modern girl can make them go a lot faster. (How about it, Maurine?)

Mason Anderson was asking Nancy Teel what she went home so often for, and she says, says she: "You must not ask so many questions. Don't you know that curiosity once killed a cat?" Mason: "What did the cat want to know?"

Eula Pearl Simmons (quoting idan when he made his famous ate is one that can count up to 20 without taking off his shoes.

J. D. Gamble: "I got my education at W. T. S. T. C."

Travis Shaw, II: "Sue them, boy, sue them!"

Irene Seigler: "I'm all ready to marry Jack."

Polly Steele: "I hope you get it, my dear."

Only a few more questions this week. Don't be so bashful about sending in your troubles. They are strictly confidential.

Dear Heck: Can a man with cauliflower ears be a good musician?—D. Lowes.

Dear Delbert: Yes, he can play "The Flower Song" by ear.

Dear Heck: Where was Sheridan whne he made his famous 20 mile ride?—Ernie Williams.

Dear Miss Williams: He was on his horse.

Dear Heck: Who are the popular girls in school?—R. Fuchs.

Dear Rudolph: Those commonly called the "tonsil group." Everyone takes them out.

Dear Heck: How long have women been in politics?—Miss Ritchie.

Dear Miss Ritchie: It is stated that Salome's motion was received by the house with loud applause.

Don't forget to send in your pet problems. The proof of this column is in the waste basket—just remember that. Cheer up, now we have the end:

High School Y. W. C. A. Meets

The second meeting to the High School Y. W. C. A. was held on Thursday afternoon at 4:30. The old members were present and with them were many new ones. After a delightful program, a business meeting was held. Much interest is being taken in the new organization and the members are receiving the full co-operation of the college Y. W.

New Members are Initiated by Antlers

The Antler Literary Society met in the old gymnasium Friday evening for the purpose of initiating the new members into the society.

The Antler "Goat" was in fine spirits and was feeling rather frisky, and those who rode him said that it was the greatest thrill they had had since coming to W. T. S. T. C. Much more interest is expected in the society by the addition of the new members.

A short business session was held after the initiation ceremony and then delicious pumpkin pie and hot coffee was served.

All members are urged to be present at the meeting Friday, at 7:00 p. m. in Room 104.

With Apologies to Early American Ballad Makers

When a valiant son of "W. T." Is thinking of old days, sirs, He'll have some happy memories, And some not quite so gay, sirs.

He'll think of all the ball games, Class rushes, English, and Math, sirs; Perhaps he will remember, too, Chemistry's rugged path, sirs.

How can he e'er forget the progs Who bored him most to death, sirs, And he'll wonder, 'if, of the rules he broke, Any of them are left, sirs.

He'll see the campus through the mist, Of many weary years, sirs, And long to view it once again, As it was in times so dear, sirs.

Quick as a flash, a thought he'll have As in the the long ago, sirs: And to the bookcase in his den He'll fly as fast as snow, sirs.

Five minutes pass and he is found In his study, den or lodge, sirs, A turning o'er the pages there Of a '27 model Le Mirage, sirs.

Moral: Buy yours now.

Will Hogg Offers $500 to Loan Fund

Will Hogg, Houston capitalist, has offered to add $500 to the Ex-Students Loan Fund of the College provided $500 is raised among ex-students and others on or before the first of January.

Mr. Hogg started this loan fund two years ago and made a contribution of $500 to start the fund. Every cent of the fund has been at work since that time, assisting worthy students in their effort to make their way through the College. The fund is incorporated under the laws of the state, and is safe-guarded so that no loss has been sustained in making the loans.

Canyon people who are interested in assisting students may make contributions to the fund and be assured that the money will be helping someone at all times. Several local people have made contributions to Travis Shaw which will go to make up the $500 fund, and an effort will be made to raise the entire amount as quickly as possible in order that $1,000 more will be available for students who are needing loans.

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

GLIMPSES OF THE NEW PROFS

Mrs. Laura Saunders Is "Perfectly Satisfied With Canyon"

The first graders of W. T. Training School realize just what lucky kiddies they are in having Mrs. Laura Saunders for their teacher. Her observers, after several weeks of studying her methods, praise her work very highly.

This is Mrs. Saunders' first year here in the capacity of a teacher—but she is not altogether a stranger since she has been a student here in the Summers of '23 and '26.

Mrs. Saunders has attended Trinity University, San Marcos Teachers College and has spent one summer in the University of Chicago and one in Colorado besides her summers in W. T. S. T. C. "But I like this college best of all," says Mrs. Saunders. "I live in Smithville and am much nearer the University of Texas and the San Marcos Teachers College than I am to Canyon; but I prefer coming here and I'm going to take my degree from here next winter."

Mrs. Saunders has taught for several years in the public schools of Smithville and Dallas and though she has always worked with the first grade she states: "This is an entirely different system to the ones I have been accustomed to and I like it. I love my work and I like Canyon—in short I am a perfectly satisfied person."

The British mint has manufactured about $8,000,000 in coins for the Soviet government.

H. H. London Saws Wood But is Wide Awake all the Time

H. H. London is the new professor of Manual Training, and he is teaching the boys to drive nails without hitting finger nails as well as a few other things. Mr. London comes to the college from North Texas A. & M. at Arlington, where he had charge of the wood-working department.

Mr. London is highly pleased with his classes here and is intensely interested in his future work. He was reared in Fannin County with a family of eleven boys and learned in those days, he says, to do or not to do.

His preparatory training was received at the North Texas Teachers College, and he has done undergraduate work at S. M. U. and the University of Colorado, also. "I like the sincerity my boys show in their work," he said. He is endeavoring to get over to them through their work in the Manual Training department the principles of analytical training, systematic and logical action, and accomplishment of the task before them. He is interested in boys work, athletics and all other activities of the college and states that the hospitality shown by the Canyon people is truly heart-warming.

Not every boy can go through college and say that he has been expelled four times and not miss a single day because of it. Mr. London has had that experience—he worked on his college paper, and his pen was too politic. He's settled down now, though, to a job he likes much better than editorial writing—the teaching of boys so that they may be more useful men.

JARRETT DRUG CO.

She Loves Them And They Love Her That's Mrs. Jarrett

The 3:30 gong had just sounded, and from the third grade room rushed a crowd of happy children, all of them laughing and talking at once, for school was out for that day.

The last little straggler had passed out, clutching firmly his books and dinner pail, when the teacher stood in the doorway. She paused for a pleasant word to a child lingering near, and over her face broke a most radiant smile. We recognize her at once, for it is this characteristic which endears Mrs. R. P. Jarrett to everyone who meets her. Whatever the day's trials may have been, she always wears a cheerful face at its close. This is the more remarkable when we find that she fills a most difficult place, that of teaching History and Geography in the grades. It is impossible to get her to talk much about her work however, for she is not in the least egotistic. She was frankly amazed at the suggestion that anyone might be interested in her own experience as a teacher. "I am just a substitute, that's all," she said. "They had to have someone to fill this place."

But this does not tell the whole story. Mrs. Jarrett several times has helped out in an emergency when a teacher had to be found, and none else but she could fill the place so competently. She is the sort of person who can always be depended upon in this way, when she knows she is needed.

We realize this when we see her calm efficiency and poise in the classroom. Her quiet authority always holds her hearers to a respectful attention. She is very much interested in the pupils, and says her most amusing experiences with them is when they forget she is their teacher, and call her "mama."

Mrs. Jarrett is a native Texan, and she is quite proud of it. She attended school at N. T. S. T. C. and married soon after her graduation from there. Since then, she has taught one year at the Canyon High School.

Miss Fronabarger Has Two Loves—Music and Teaching

Miss Marie Fronabarger is one of the new members of the training school faculty this year, having charge of the second and third grades. Miss Fronabarger graduated from W. T. under the old diploma plan, in 1921 and has spent most of the intervening time teaching children in various places in Texas. She taught one summer in the training school of the Teachers College at San Marcos, and two years in New Mexico. Since that time she has been with the Canyon High School faculty until the beginning of the present term when she became a member of the training school faculty.

Miss Fronabarger is very quiet and unassuming, having two dear loves, she says—the children she teaches and the violin she plays. In both she shows the true talent and touch of genius.

Miss Carlisle's Name is Mary—But She Isn't Contrary

Miss Mary Carlisle is teaching arithmetic in intermediate grades of the training school. Miss Carlisle is a true Texan. She was born in Denton and received her education there and her home at present is in McKinney, Texas.

Miss Carlisle comes to the West Texas State Teachers College well prepared for her work; she has an A. B. degree from the North Texas Teachers College at Denton with Mathematics as a major. Miss Carlisle has had several years experience in teaching; she has taught in the North Texas Teachers College and she was in the Sul Ross Teachers College for two years just previous to her coming here.

In addition to her schooling and teaching experience, Miss Carlisle has two other valuable aids for a successful teacher—one is a heridity for she comes from a long line of school teachers, and the other is her charming personality. Miss Carlisle is interested in her work here—in her pupils, her co-workers and in Canyon and the Panhandle. As she said, "my interests are largely in my work and, too, in the oil well out here."

There really is not a great deal of history to tell for Miss Carlisle is young but there is a successful future to predict for one of high ideals, ambitions and interests.

Success Is The Greatest Ideal of R. E. McClendon

Mr. R. Earl McClendon is the new History and Political Science Prof. He comes to us from the University of Wisconsin. He takes the place of Hattie M. Anderson.

Mr. McClendon is a farm boy and received the greater part of his education in the Lone Star State. He received most of his grammar school education in the rural schools. He attended the Ben Arnold Prep School at Southwestern University. After staying at Southwestern University for three years, he entered the University of Texas where he took his B. A. and M. A. degrees. While at the University of Texas he was a member of the Texan staff and lived in "B" Hall. The University of Wisconsin was the next institution of higher learning that he attended. He was assistant instructor and was doing work toward his Doctors degree. He remained there one year before coming to this school.

When asked what he considered the greatest thing in life he said "Making a success in anything that you undertake, no matter what you undertake, but if you make it a success, you have accomplished the greatest thing in life."

When asked about his intentions of further education he said, "It is my intention to take my Ph. D. at the University of Wisconsin, and I have chosen for my thesis—'The Senate and treaties; the operation of the two-thirds rule.' The subject will be discussed from the historical standpoint. He is majoring in history and minoring in Political science.

Twenty million tons of iron go to waste annually because of rust, it is estimated.

Miss Hanna Is Experimenting With Spanish in 4th Grade

"Como esta usted?" is the pleasant greeting given the Fourth Grade children each afternoon when Miss Audrey Hanna enters their room. The people who seek for achievements other than those required are the ones we most appreciate. Such ability comes to us in the person of Miss Hanna, of Nacogdoches, who received her B. A. degree from Stephen F. Austin Teachers College.

After completing the courses for graduation, Miss Hanna spent much of her time on a project of teaching Spanish to fourth grade children. As a result of so much enthusiasm over the possibility of still greater success, the school here is now undertaking a project of including Spanish in the program of the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh grades. Since this is the first year of the experiment in W. T. the fourth grade is the fortunate class. The interest of the children may be shown by their enthusiastic expressions. After the first lesson was given one child rushed home to report the good news, "Well, mother," she said, "I've decided to major in Spanish." Coupled with Miss Hanna's winning personality, the members of other college departments may think the Spanish department is taking an unfair advantage.

Miss Hanna is assistant professor of Spanish and is taking the place formerly held by Miss Agnes Charlton, and is one of the "new profs" who have made a place for themselves in the West Texas circle in record time.
