

Fifty-nine To Receive Degrees Next Week

Teacher Demand Continues Unabated

With August at hand, there is no let up in the number of superintendents who come to the campus or write to West Texas State College seeking teachers for all sorts of positions in their schools.

Typical, is the request of O. T. Sears, Superintendent of Schools at Pineland, present address, 1802 Lavaca Street, Austin Texas, who writes that he is in need of a high school principal and basketball coach. The salary will be $2400.

G. C. Clapp, Principal of the Senior High School at Levelland, writes in search of a biology teacher, who will be paid $2000 for nine months.

B. F. Claunch, Superintendent of Schools at Logan, New Mexico, is still in the market for teachers, including an English teacher, and Superintendent R. K. Green of Crosbyton interviewed a number of prospects on the campus Thursday without success in connection with his vacancies in high school English and home economics.

James C. Alvis, Superintendent of Schools at Bandera, has high school openings in the field of English, math and commerce, social studies, homemaking and Spanish.

Barstow, Texas has openings for teachers in the 7th grade and for mathematics, commerce, English, Spanish, and science.

Eden Public Schools, where Howard J. Sanders is Superintendent, needs teachers, of English, social studies, natural sciences and homemaking. Salaries are maximum rural aid.

Superintendent J. L. Hill, who can use teachers who have had two years college work and some experience, has openings in grades three and four. The salaries are $1600.

Grand Prairie, where L. A. Roberts is Superintendent, needs a teacher of physical education for girls, an assistant coach who can teach science or mathematics, an English and Spanish combination and a science teacher. Salaries range from $1500 up.

At Hartley, where J. C. Brown is Secretary of the School Board, there are vacancies for three teachers in the grades.

A teacher qualified to do a combination of art and fifth grade work could probably find a desirable position at Midland, where Frank Monroe is Superintendent.

At Pampa where Knox Kinard is Superintendent primary teachers are needed.

The Plains School, of which Roy Elliott is Superintendent, has vacancies in English, mathematics, science, homemaking and 8th grade. Salaries range from $1920 to $2400.

Dr. Russell On Campus Thursday

Dr. J. L. Russell, who is to become a member of the Education Department here next semester, visited on the campus Thursday. Accompanied by his wife, Dr. Russell spent part of the day looking for a house in which to live.

The Russells come to Canyon from Rome, Georgia, where Dr. Russell has been on the staff of the Extension Division of the University of Georgia and where Mrs. Russell has been employed as a teacher in the public schools.

Kieselbach Chosen Succeed Swineford In Art Department

Alfred George Kieselbach has been chosen to succeed Derald Swineford in the Department of Art. His work is to begin September 17.

Mr. Kieselbach, a native of Ohio, was graduated from South High School, Cleveland, Ohio, from Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, and earned his Master's degree at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee. At present he is supervisor of art in the laboratory school of Alabama State College for Women, Montevallo, Alabama.

President J. A. Hill states that he is much pleased to have found a young man of such high ability and bringing such high recommendations as those of Mr. Kieselbach.

When Mr. Kieselbach, who is now vacationing in Ohio, arrives in Canyon, he will be seeking housing for himself, his wife, and their baby daughter.

George Graham of the Class of 1940, superintendent of schools at Dalhart, Texas, has been elected to the superintendency at Hereford. He succeeds Chester Strickland who resigned to become superintendent at Denton.

Previous to his going to Dalhart, Mr. Graham was superintendent of schools at Clemmons.

Carrie Jo Heare, home economics major of Miami, will teach home economics at Perryton the coming year.

Swineford Completes Service As Art Teacher

On August 13, Professor Derald Swineford will complete his service as a member of the faculty of West Texas State. He and Mrs. Swineford, Tommy, and Johnny are removing to Chickasha, Oklahoma where Mr. Swineford will become a member of the Art Department of Oklahoma College for Women.

During his stay in Canyon, Mr. Swineford has become a very popular instructor. Children in the Demonstration School were as delighted with him as senior college students. His ideas and methods were highly individual and his own interest in the work which he was doing stimulated interest on the part of his students, according to their reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Swineford have become well-known to the young men, who have lived during the last nine months at Stafford Hall, where they have been popular host and hostess. Tommy and Johnny, their two small sons, have been as popular as their parents.

Miss Loula Grace Erdman of the English Department is vacationing at Blackburn, Missouri. She expects to return to Canyon sometime before the opening of the fall session.

Mrs. Mary Lynch, who is attending summer school, will teach English in the Kelton School.

Education Teacher Is From Texas U.

Dr. Donald D. Gragg, Ph. D. from the University of Texas and late of the Adjutant General's Department of the United States Army where he served for three and one-half years, has accepted a position in the Department of Education of West Texas State College.

Dr. Gragg is a native of Abilene. He is married, his wife being a registered nurse, and they have two children. He has had teaching experience in the grades, the junior high school, senior high school, and in college. He has been on the faculty of the University of Texas for three and one-half years. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

President Hill announces that Dr. Gragg's major interests lie in the field of Education, psychology, tests, measurements, and guidance. While in the army, his work was that of a psychologist. His overseas experience includes six months teaching in one of the universities conducted in Italy for American soldiers.

Dr. and Mrs. Gragg expect to come to Canyon early in September.

Announces Changes In Administrative Set-Up of College

At a meeting of heads of departments and administrative staff of the college Wednesday afternoon, President J. A. Hill announced administrative changes which have been made and which will prevail throughout the 1946-47 regular session.

Registrar D. A. Shirley, Dean of the Upper Division of the college, will absorb the duties of the Dean of the College, this position having been left vacant by the death of Dr. R. P. Jarrett.

Dr. A. K. Knott will continue as Dean of the Lower Division.

Professor Mitchell Jones has been appointed to succeed Dr. Harris M. Cook as Dean of Men.

Under the new setup, there will be no Dean of the Graduate school. The president advised the Graduate Council to meet and elect its own chairman. The Council will direct and promote the work of the Graduate School during the coming year.

Professor F. E. Savage, superintendent of the Demonstration School, becomes head of the Education Department.

It was announced by President Hill that all but two or three vacancies on the faculty of West Texas State have been filled. He stated also that considering the shortage of teachers everywhere and comparing his own experience with that of other presidents of colleges, he felt that West Texas State had been extremely fortunate in the character and quality of preparation represented in the men and women who will be new on the college teaching staff this fall.

Thomson And Moffatt Will Address Graduating Seniors

Helen White Moore To Instruct College Classes This Fall

Miss Helen White Moore, who for several years has been teacher of English in the Demonstration School, will transfer her teaching duties this fall to college classes.

Miss Moore, who now is spending the summer on the West Coast, has done work beyond her Master's degree at both Cornell University and at the University of Michigan. The M. A. degree was conferred upon her by Cornell and her Bachelor's degree was earned at Judson College, Alabama.

Travel in Europe and a summer spent in Canada as well as much travel in the United States, have formed a part of the background which Miss Moore has for the teaching of English.

Bond To Teach Journalism Here

Miss Dorinda Bond, journalism instructor and sponsor of the newspaper and yearbook of the Amarillo Senior High School, has been selected by President J. A. Hill as successor to Olin E. Hinkle, Associate Professor of Journalism. Miss Bond is already well-known to many on the campus of W. T. and to high school students throughout Northwest Texas, because of her connection with the Panhandle High School Press Association and her work during the past five years in Amarillo High School and previous to that time in Canyon High School.

Miss Bond brings to her position an unusually rich background of academic experience as well as much practical experience in the field of journalism. Her Bachelor's degree was earned at Mary-Hardin Baylor College at Belton, Texas, with majors in Latin and Greek and a minor in Spanish. It was there also, that she later received the Bachelor of Journalism degree.

The Master's degree was granted Miss Bond by Southern Methodist University, and her study includes work in North Texas State Teachers College, four summers at the University of Southern California, research in the Huntington Library of California, and study at the University of Chicago.

In addition to her high school teaching experience, Miss Bond taught one year and three summers at the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston. She is a native Texan.

Miss Bond has been a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for teachers, for a number of years. She holds membership in the National Education Association, the Texas State Teachers Association, and the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. She is vice-president of the Conference for Education for District 9. She is affiliated with the Baptist Church.

Asked concerning her hobbies, Miss Bond laughed and said that her real hobby is photography. As a second hobby, she might name attending summer school; for she has always enjoyed getting acquainted with new college campuses and observing the ways that things are done in different localities. She admits also that she likes to cook.

Miss Bond will begin her work at West Texas State as soon as she is able to make living arrangements.

Mrs. Warden is already well-known on the campus of W. T., as an active member of the Graduate Club during the summers that she worked on her Master's degree. This summer, she has taught in the Demonstration School. Mrs. Warden has a special interest in teaching both children and adults to read.

Hubert O. Thomson, who has twice been a member of the senior class at West Texas State College, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the Class of 1946. Rev. Mr. Thomson is pastor of the Methodist Church of Canyon.

The commencement speaker is also well-known to the campus community as he has visited the college several times in connection with his work as a member of the Texas State Legislature. He is George Moffatt of Chillicothe.

In connection with the arrangement for the commencement occasion, Registrar D. A. Shirley has requested that all faculty members who will take part in the procession, report to Room 211 on Sunday, August 11, at 8:15 p. m., for the baccalaureate sermon and that they report in front of the Museum at 8:15 p. m. on August 13 for the regular summer convocation. Registrar Shirley has requested in this connection that faculty members who will not be in the procession report to his office by August 9.

In the summer graduating class there are sixteen candidates for the master's degree. They represent three states, Texas, New Mexico, and Kansas.

Cook, Swineford and Evans Take Firsts In "Varieties" Contests At Buff Stadium

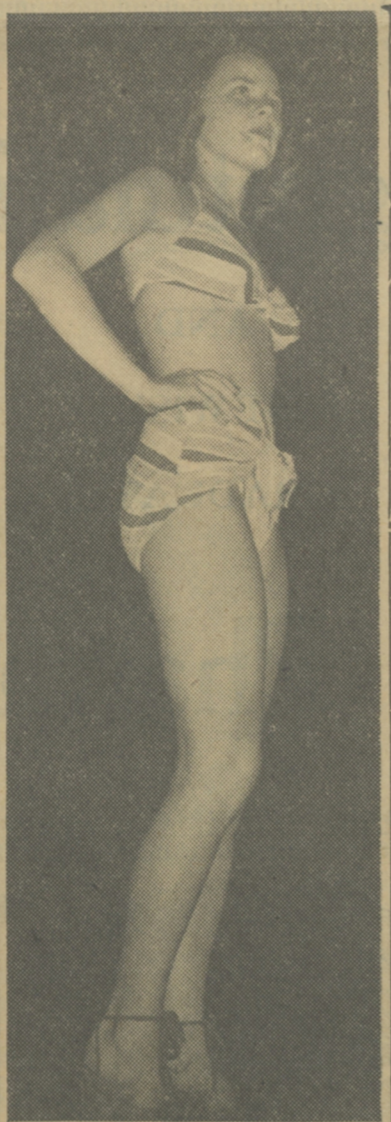

Before an audience of five hundred students and towns people, gathered at Buffalo Stadium Wednesday evening, "little vets" Bobby Dee Cook, and Johnny Swineford were declared "the winners" in baby contests held for their respective age groups, under one year, and between one and three years. Vet fathers of the youngsters are Huey Cook, former members of the U. S. Navy Air Corps, who lives at Hill Courts, and Professor Derald T. Swineford, ex army captain, now art instructor on the college faculty.

Second and third place winners in the first group were Robert Lynn Smith and Eldon K. Shipp, Jr.

Second, third and fourth place winners in group two were Bessie Jo Brown, Susan Potter and Tommy Watts.

Miss Dorothy Evans, president of Pi Omega Sorority and candidate for that group was chosen as "most beautiful" from the ten contestants participating in the bathing beauty contest. Candidates were sponsored by business houses, dormitories and college organizations. Second and third place winners were Miss Shirley Byars, sponsored by Warren's, and Miss Dorothy Rae Bivins, representing the Buffalo Beauty Shop.

The variety show, a skillful blending of popular music, both vocal and instrumental, dances, including a Spanish rhumba and skits, has been commented upon as being one of the best that Professor Glenn Truax and W. T. students have yet produced.

Miss Dorothy Evans, sponsored by Pi Omega Sorority, is W. T.'s "number one" girl. She was chosen by judges, Dr. Conrad Freed, Professor Derald T. Swineford, and Dr. A. K. Knott, from eleven contestants. Miss Evans is an 18-year-old senior from Panhandle.

Former Student On Leave From Bluebonnet Squadron

Lt. Ulane Zeck, USNR, one of the first Panhandle girls to enlist in the Bluebonnet Squadron of WAVES, is on terminal leave and will visit her home in Lamesa. She plans to return to Washington where she has been on duty after her two weeks' visit where she will be employed in the legislative reference section of the Library of Congress.

Before entering the WAVES, Miss Zeck taught in the Pampa and Tulla schools. She is a graduate of West Texas State.

Gwen Johnson, graduate student who taught last year at Estelline, will be a member of the Business Administration Department of the Pampa Public Schools during the coming year.

The younger set on the campus (ages one to three) are introduced to society and the cameraman. There were fourteen entrants in this group.

Donald Will Be College Dietitian

Mrs. Sue Donald, for several years a teacher of home economics in the Amarillo school system, has been employed as full-time dietitian for the college. As soon as the new cafeteria is ready, Mrs. Donald will have the full responsibility for its management. Until that time, she will oversee the meals, service, and food planning at all of the dormitories.

Mrs. Donald received her B. S. degree from West Texas State College with a major in home economics. Following this, she earned her Master's degree at Texas State College for Women. Immediately thereafter, she went into the Amarillo schools where her colleagues say that she has done a wonderful piece of work.

Mrs. Donald will move to Canyon soon and will live with Mrs. R. A. Terrill, 2102 Fourth Avenue.

All candidates for Master's and Bachelor's degrees are requested to be in the auditorium of the Administration Building, Thursday, August 8, at 4 p. m. for rehearsal for baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Office of the Registrar.

Reece and Hazel Atchley Stewart have accepted positions in the Groom School.

Vonclle George has accepted a position at Spearman for the coming year.

Despite his fierce bearing, Kid Stafford, otherwise known as Johnny Swineford, was backed into the corner and caught in this pose by photographer J. T. Harp. Top man in the baby contest for ages one to three, Johnny is seventeen months old and tips the scales at 32 pounds.

THERE WAS AN OLD WOMAN . . .

With war veterans jamming classrooms in quest of higher education, many American girls never will get to college, according to an article in the current (Aug. 3) Saturday Evening Post.

"Many state institutions are refusing admission to out-of-state women, and it seems inevitable that these schools will clamp down further," writes Milton MacKaye in an article "Crisis at the Colleges."

"Speaking off the record, and regretfully, a number of educators predict such a tightening of the situation that many American girls presently of college age will never be allowed to matriculate," the article continues.

With almost 400,000 veterans attending colleges or universities at the close of the school year and more than 1,000,000 more expected to seek admission by September, the American educational system is "in the middle of the gravest crisis in its history," the article reports. Colleges do not have the facilities, the housing, the instructors, even the classrooms, to handle the multitude.

The housing shortage particularly affects feminine students, it is pointed out, because "supervised" housing of college girls is an American tradition, while men—and this is traditional also—can be quartered any place where walls keep out the weather."

Knowing the facts behind this problem, which is looming large on campus here at W. T., it will be easier for students to be patient with crowded living conditions next fall. Many rooms, originally accommodating two persons will have three occupants, a situation which, though it is serious, is not catastrophic.

It would be well for all students to remember that a small sacrifice of personal comfort may make possible the chance for a college education for someone else.

EXIT—JOE COLLEGE

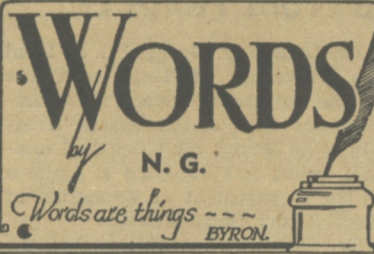

His name is Joe College.—When he first came here he was seventeen or eighteen—gawky and scared, but ready to take whatever came. And it came! He scrubbed the sidewalk with an old blue tooth brush. He salaamed, answered to "fish," and learned to short-sheet a bed in one minute flat. He became quite proficient at the art of "bull shooting," and incidentally developed a keen interest in engineering. He even learned to study.

But—somewhere about this time Joe disappeared from the campus. No longer were his moccasin feet seen sticking out of a booth at Bob's. No longer could he be seen fidgeting with his bow tie as he stood in the reception room in one of the girls' dormitories, waiting for his date to appear on the stairway.

Joe was gone to war. Sure, he came back later. He came back and spoke French and referred matter-of-factly to Dakar and Murmansk and picked up where he left off. Almost, that is. You see, Joe College had become a man. He had seen life without the glasses, and was pretty certain of what he wanted.

Joe came back for an education. He worked hard, and now—Next week Joe graduates. He will attend several ceremonies in his honor. He will hear such phrases as "new era," "duty to save humanity," "liberty," "equality," and "atomic energy." Joe will be a little amused at some of the things that are said. He really isn't a very sentimental sort of person. He knows that the Class of '46, West Texas State College, cannot adopt a slogan, get a drum, and set off to revolutionize the world, that likely it won't even make too much of a dent in it. He knows that the thin line separating a college graduating class from the "unlearned masses" lies on a curve. He knows that he and his classmates are capable of acting as the guardians of society only if they use college as a beginning for education. He knows that this is the beginning, but he is aware of the fact that there is no rule that forces him to complete the course.

Joe is not afraid. He knows that he has the makings of a good citizen, a good father, and a good learner. He knows that college has opened the way for him to become educated. And Joe knows that the educated man is for the future.

In "The Magazine World" for February, 1930, was printed an address given by Rudyard Kipling to the boys at the Junior King's School in Canterbury. In discussing the relation of school to life, Kipling says—

I shall not be telling you much that you do not know. Indeed, my only advantage over you is that you have not yet the words in which to express your knowledge, and—you are not allowed to contradict me.

I am sure you have been told many times that your school gives you in advance and in miniature almost every problem and situation that you may be called upon to meet later. Strange as it may seem, it is true, because (perhaps you have not been told this) very few men are more than sixteen years old when it comes to a pinch.

Here is another thing that you know. You may have noticed that there is not much justice in your present world. There is rather less outside. This will save you all the time and trouble of looking for it. Most injustice is not inflicted deliberately, but because people do not take the trouble to think things out.

But let me work out a simple equation for you. The next time that a personal injustice is done you, on account of your manners, habits, or appearance, try to recall the last time that you were—I won't say unjust—but unfair to someone else. If you have forgotten, ask a friend. He'll remember. Bracketing these two factors, you will see that they cancel out.

In the case of impersonal injustice—that is to say, when you have not had credit for something really decent which you have done—consider that you have had, or may hope to have, credit for all sorts of things you didn't do, or stumbled into by accident. Once more, bracketing these factors, they also cancel each other.

Too much fussing over abstract justice leads one to stand up for one's rights and to dwell on what one owes to oneself. That is a temptation of the Devil.

So you see all your experiences here are rehearsals for what you may expect on a large scale and on a stage where it is important that you should know your part. And here comes in the great value of what is wrongly called "secondary education."

All education is primary—not to say primitive. It is one's school that teaches one how to keep one's temper, and when to let it loose. If one is too clever and shows it, one's school helps one to suffer fools. If one is a fool oneself, one is told precisely what sort of a fool one is. Lots of men go through life without discovering that great fact. If one knows how everything ought to be done (some people seem to), one is recommended to go and do it instead of standing about talking. All of which means that one can pick up the rudiments of self-control, a sense of what really matters, and even the valuable gift of burning one's own smoke—keeping one's mouth shut.

Thirteen years ago, the magazine Ballyhoo's idea of humor was this hypothetical Speech given by Elmer Zilch, the Ballyhoo John Doe, to the Congress of the United States—

Mr. Zilch's Speech

(As taken down by the House stenographer)

Gentlemen, (cheers) when President Hoover invited me here to address this great and glorious body of men, statesmen and diplomats who have foregathered from the four corners of these United States, from the rock-bound coast of Maine to the sun kissed shores of California, (cheers) I was indeed deeply honored yet I must confess that I was nonplussed. I might even say that I was nonplussed ultra. (Cheers.)

What could I say to the magnificent body of law-makers? What could an humble citizen like Elmer Zilch have to say to the intellectual leaders of the greatest country in the world? What, I ask you, gentlemen?

My mind goes back to the pioneer days when my grandfather and grandmother Zilch turned their covered wagon toward the western sun, forced their way through trackless forests, fought the Indians, the plague, a fate worse than death! I was but a shaver then but in that historic pilgrimage I learned the lesson of every true and red blooded American! (Cheers.)

Gentlemen, I thought of that as the train bore me toward this great city of Washington. And I thought what shall I say to these men, my brother Americans who fought shoulder to shoulder at Appotomax, Valley Forge, and Belleau Wood?

As the President and I drove from the station to the White House, I broached the subject to him. "Mr. Hoover," I said, to say that I am touched by this honor is putting it mildly, but what shall I say to congress. What message can I give them?"

The President put his arm around my shoulders and patted me with a hearty laugh. "Elmer," he vouchsafed, "You remind me somewhat of Lincoln and you know Lincoln was a simple man. Keep that in mind when you address congress. Say just what is in your mind."

Gentlemen, (cheers) those words rang through my head as I left the White House. "Say just what is in your mind!" Then suddenly the inspiration came and I knew what I had to say. Gentlemen, I say to you now! "Nuts!"

Examination Hymn
Shall I be carried to the skies
On flowery beds of E's
While others fight to win the prize
And sail through bloody C's?

I wish that my room had a floor
I don't so much care for a door;
But this walking around
Without touching ground
Is getting to be quite a bore.
—Gelett Burgess.

Hickman Honored

A luncheon at Randall Hall July 28 with Mrs. Nancy McCaslin and Mrs. Mary Sligar as co-hostesses was the first of several courtesies given in honor of Miss Hellen Hickman.

Miss Mattie Swayne and Mrs. Kenneth Goodman entertained friends and Miss Hickman with a tea in the form of a garden party, August 2, and members of the Episcopal Church gave a buffet luncheon at the Little House of Fellowship (parish house) last week.

Miss Hickman states that she plans to leave sometime in August.

"The Exam"

Final exams, who made thee?
Doest thou know who made thee?
Filled your soul with all this bunk,
You're to blame if I did flunk.
Gave thee power to cause me fright;
Work the teachers late at night;
Shame within thee deep should burn,

For A's to D's so oft you turn.
Final exams, who made thee?
Doest thou know who made thee?
Final exams, I'll tell thee,
Final exams, I'll tell thee;
He who lives among the flames,
And he who makes us all bad names,
He is weak and thinks he's strong
Because he stands for all that's wrong.

If I were thee I'd be ashamed.
I'd quit my job and change my name,
Final exams, I'd do this;
Final exams, I'd do this.

Buffaloes Nose Out 7-6 Win Over Strong Friona Nine Sunday

Friona fans witnessed a real story book finish baseball game Sunday but saw their team go down in defeat 7 to 6 at the hands of the Buffalo nine.

The Buffs went into the ninth inning trailing 6 to 5 and pushed across two runs that proved the winning margin. It all happened after two were out in the ninth, and it looked as if the game was all over. Emmer reached first on an error and stole second. Trimble lined one down the third base line for a double scoring Emmer and tying the score six all. Box, next man up, sent one sizzling through the center of the diamond and Trimble scored the winning run.

The Friona nine were out to beat the Buffs all the way, and they proved to be the best team that the Buffs have played this season. Friona jumped into a lead in the second by scoring one run. In the Buff half of the fifth the score was tied as the Buffs pushed across one run. Friona came back in their half of the fifth with all the power they had, scoring five runs. The Buffs scored two in the sixth and two in the eighth. Brookfield started on the mound for the Buffs against his home town. La Follette took over in the fifth and gave up one hit. It was the ninth win for the Buffs in ten starts.

Graduates Urged To Attend Final Meet

Melvin James, president of the Graduate Club, urges that every graduate attend the final summer meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. near the Burton Gym.

Mr. James stated, "The club meetings have been very enjoyable this summer and this one will be no exception. A strong graduate division makes a degree more meaningful and each person can and should have a part in helping to bring this about. An hour thus spent with a fellow graduate will be a valuable one."

It wasn't so long ago that only a few farmers in the Panhandle-Plains area knew that the finest potatoes in the country could be grown in this area. It was a small crop then and didn't amount to much.

But look at the potato crop now! It's Important and becoming more so every year. Our potatoes are superior to those from the northern states. They taste better—bake better. Agriculture experts will tell you that! And our potatoes are easily marketed.

Yes—we have everything in the Panhandle-Plains—including an abundant supply of cheap, dependable electric power for irrigation and processing of agricultural products.

"Yes, dear," his mother replied. "Huh! no wonder they put him out," said Junior.

The campus softball loop wound up its schedule here this past week with the Buffalo Courts boys and the Town Team tying for top honors. The team from Buffalo Courts defeated the Town Team in a close game, 4 to 2. The Town Team won over Terrill Hall on Thursday, 7 to 5. Hill Courts edged out Stafford Hall, 31 to 11 in a contest that looked like Bay Meadows instead of a softball game. The game had to be called in the fourth inning on account of darkness. The Hill Courts had a hard time getting some of the boys to come out to participate in the games, but after they did get organized they proved to have a good team. The students who didn't attend any of the games this summer really missed some good softball as well as good recreation.

Even though Brookie got married off a few days ago, he still stands as one of the top men on the Buff baseball team. Brookie played third base most of the time this year and very well, too, but he also holds down first base and takes his turn at the mound.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox may be the leading hitter in the major leagues, but did you know that the Buffs have five sluggers that top his batting average? Buford Emmer leads the Buffs with a .487 average and Jacobs, La Follette, Brookfield and Box are close behind.

Travis Shaw Dies In Colorado

Mr. Travis Shaw, who for almost thirty years was business manager and secretary of the college, died in Colorado last Wednesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were spending the summer at their camp near Ward.

Mr. Shaw was forced to retire in 1939 because of ill health.

It is probable that he knew more ex-students by name than any person who has been associated with the college. It was recalled Friday that frequently he would meet ex-students whom he had not seen for years and instantly call their names, student numbers, and home addresses.

Amateur photography in Canyon owes much to Mr. Shaw, for this was a hobby which he rode enthusiastically. It is said that he was the first person to use color film here and his pictures of Palo Duro Canyon were among the best made.

While many couples danced to popular records in the ballroom, others ventured to the red room, where they had fortunes told, played card games, bought kiss chances, and ate snow cones and popcorn.
