

SECOND SEMESTER BEGINS HERE TOMORROW

EXPERIMENTS REVEAL THE BEST FUELS

COAL WILL YIELD THE MOST HEAT UNITS FOR MONEY HERE

The Physics Department of the West Texas State Teachers College is proving itself interested in the problems of this community thru its experiments. Just recently Professor Thomas B. McCarter directed an experiment as to how many heat units various kinds of fuel would produce and what kind would be cheapest for use in this region.

Says Professor McCarter, "A number of people here have been putting in gas thinking it would be cheaper than coal, and then they switch to coke, then to coal, to oil, and back to gas. Because of this difficulty, an experiment has been conducted in the laboratory to prove which of these will yield the greatest number of heat units for the amount of money involved."

The experiment is made by burning the coal, or other fuel under water. The amount of heat given off may then be tested exactly by measuring the temperature of the water. The experiment has revealed that from coal it is possible to get 7607 calories per gram or 13705 British Thermal Units per pound. Natural gas used here gives 1000 B. T. U.'s per cubic foot. It costs 67¢/c.

The results revealed that if one wishes to get the same heat units for his money, he can pay $18.50 per ton for coal.

DR. WILLIAM LOCKHART GOES TO MINNESOTA U.

Dr. William Lockhart will go to the University of Minnesota next year, according to information received here by his family. He is interne in a large hospital in Cincinnati this year.

Mayo Bros. are interested in the Minnesota institution, maintaining a clinic there. Faculty members of the Medical College at Galveston recommended the selection of Dr. Lockhart for this post.

Public Health Was Topic Of Primer Lecture

"Public health should be given more berth in educational systems," said Dr. B. M. Primer, Health Officer of Amarillo, in his lecture to the Science Club Wednesday evening. Dr. Primer further expounded the subject of "Public Health," by giving a history of its development and by describing health work as it is practiced today.

He told of tabulations from all countries to notify of the prevalence of diseases and described the public health situation in the United States. Dr. Primer also gave an interesting discussion on immunization.

Two people can live cheaper than one bachelor in love.

Boys From Here May Work On Erosion Project

The Agriculture Department of West Texas State Teachers College has been asked to submit the names of eight men to work on the Dalhart Soil Erosion Project. However, the names of these boys are not yet known.

The work would chiefly be field work whereby trainees would support themselves while on the project. The maximum amount of work permitted a week is forty hours, but H. H. Fennell who is regional director of the project feels that trainees will not likely be afforded this much work because of interfering weather conditions and limitations as to kind and amount of work available at different times of the year.

The purpose of this work is merely to afford an opportunity for agricultural graduates or majors in agriculture to familiarize themselves with erosion control methods applicable in wind erosion control science so that they will be better qualified to accept permanent appointment in the expanded erosion service program.

Mr. Fennell says, "It would appear that the government is seriously concerned about problems of conservation of natural resources, and I do know that erosion control occupies a prominent position in the development program, which is to be submitted to the present session of congress."

Arrangements for the beginning of the work will probably not begin until the first or fifteenth of February.

Dr. Meyer Was Guest Speaker In Amarillo

The Delta Kappa Gamma Guest Night Banquet in the Red Room of the Amarillo Hotel was attended by the following members from Canyon and their guests: Misses Mary E. Hudspeth, Anna I. Hibbets, Grace Clark, Ada V. Clark, Hattie M. Anderson, Edna Graham, and Mrs. Agnes Smith, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Meyer, Miss Agnes Charlton, Mrs. Geraldine Green, Mrs. Tommie Montfort, Miss Linnie Babston, and Miss Frances Usery.

Dr. A. M. Meyer addressed the group on "School Legislation in the United States from 1928 thru 1933." His study was a most enlightening and comprehensive one. Dr. Meyer has taught in Indiana, in Cornell University, New York, in Rollins College, Florida, in Tennessee and in Texas. His broad experience in these states and his wealth of knowledge of school legislation was evident throughout the address.

"Lure"—a Gripping Story of Love and Adventure in the Desert—begins in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Dean R. P. Jarrett Concludes His Extension Class

Dean R. P. Jarrett announced recently that his extension class in Pampa will close Monday night. This is the first one of the extension classes to draw to an end this year, but others will be closing within the near future.

Dr. Jarrett says that the class is an excellent one, and each member has shown keen interest in his work since the class was first organized. The course of study for the class was that of Curriculum Construction, which proved to be very interesting and beneficial from all accounts. The class also wants another course following this one, but at this time it is not known just what course they will be interested in taking.

The large enrollment of the class takes in eighteen members from Pampa, five from White Deer, four from LeFors, and three from Skellytown. Other members will probably be enrolled in the class if another course is started.

Wiley Resigned As Sponsor Of W. T. Scribblers

Miss Margaret Wiley resigned as sponsor of the Scribblers Club Tuesday evening, Jan. 22, when the club met in its regular meeting at 6:45 o'clock in the Randall Hall parlors. Miss Fanny Cherry, who is coming from the University of Texas to instruct in the English Department here the remainder of this year, was chosen by the club to succeed Miss Wiley, who is leaving shortly for Austin.

F. B. Mitchell, Jr., had charge of the program for the night and introduced the numbers on the program. Leona Lockhart read an essay, and Mary Kate Brotherton read a short story, which, because of the absence of Carrie Lee McIntosh and Hope Bussey, constituted the program.

Jack Sitton was appointed chairman of a committee to decide upon a stunt of some sort for the all-college "stunt night" program. At the conclusion of the social period, the group visited in the home of Miss Wiley and were served refreshments of macarons and punch.

Condon Makes Address Before Open Forum Club

Professor S. H. Condon, Head of the Government Department of West Texas State Teachers College, addressed those assembled in the Amarillo High School Auditorium last night, at 8 o'clock on the "New Voters" program. The subject of Mr. Condon's address was "The New Voter Takes Charge."

The program was sponsored by the Open Forum Club of Amarillo and supported by a number of other civic clubs and organizations and was given for those who are attaining their majority this year. "Honoring the New Voter" has been the slogan of the affair in its publicity campaign. The discussions are open to the general public, and a number of the county and city officials were expected to be present.

Mr. Condon is also scheduled to make an address before the Federated Clubs of Deaf Smith County in Hereford on February 5. "Adult Education" will be the text of Mr. Condon's speech. Mr. Condon will stress the value of education to those who have been "out in the walks of life" for the past few years.

The meeting in Hereford is being held for the purpose of creating interest in the county library there and arousing interest in adult education in that section, Mr. Condon said.

To see Walter Whiteside in his performance last week these people went to Amarillo: Misses Mary Morgan Brown, Hattie M. Anderson, Isabel Robinson, Ruth Cross, Florence McMurtry, Mary Moss Richardson, Edna Graham, Nell Green, Mrs. Geraldine Green, Mrs. Agnes Smith, Mrs. Laura Saunders.

George Gandy is practice teaching agriculture in the Canyon High School. He is in charge of all the agriculture classes there.

EXAMINATIONS CONCLUDED IN W. T. TODAY

Enrollment Prospects Are Indefinite Now

TEACHERS CHANGE

New Courses Are Being Offered In Depts.

Today and yesterday students here, needless to say, are and were busily engaged in taking examinations which close the first semester's work. Examinations will be completed today, and tomorrow registration for the new term begins.

Nothing definite about the number of students who will enroll can be ascertained at present. However, it is probable that the general trend will be about the same as it was at the beginning of the past semester with those dropping out of school and new ones entering causing very little fluctuation in the rolls for attendance at West Texas State Teachers College.

Enrollment figures will be given next week, in addition to a list of new students enrolling if the list is complete at that time.

A number of new courses are being offered by various departments this semester; and changes are to be made in the faculty personnel with two exchanges in the English Departments of W. T. S. T. C. and the University of Texas.

Date of Dorm Construction Yet Indefinite

Although the definite time of the beginning of construction of the new dormitory for boys is not known, Dr. J. A. Hill has stated that plans and specifications have been completed by architects Rittenberry and Carder of Amarillo and have been filed with the government.

Bonds will be printed within the next two weeks. Dr. Hill believes that soon after this it may be possible to begin the construction.

Don't worry over what life has in store for you. Just keep it stored and it won't bother you.

Students' Art Exhibit Is Placed In Corridor

Do you happen to have a corridor class over those glass cases in Art Hall? Then you have noticed the splendid art exhibit which was put upon the walls of the hall last week. It is composed of the best material gleaned from the various courses in art during the past year.

Variety in Display
On the north wall of the hall hang stained-glass window designs, the work of Hazel Jones, Marian O'Brian and Judge Williams, along with a still-life composition. The eastern portion of the south wall displays artwork designs by Kathleen Wade, Katherine Orr, and Athalia Wilder, while the western side displays growth designs by Anna Jewel Sawyer, Zua Warner, Marian O'Brian and Judge Williams, and college-life designs by Marian O'Brian and Judge Williams.

Of course you are interested in every phase of the work of this college; so don't fail to see the exhibit, and when near the art rooms, go in and see what the aspirants are doing. Miss Isabel Robinson, Head of the Art Department, is certainly doing splendid work in instilling in our young students the creative desire which is essential to every worth-while artist.

New Course Is Offered By The Extension Dept.

A new extension class in government, "Contemporary Political Problems," taught by Professor S. H. Condon and offered by the Extension Department of West Texas State Teachers College, was organized Wednesday night, January 23, in Amarillo.

The course is a continuation of the extension course that has been offered in Amarillo throughout this year, Mr. Condon said. Twenty-two students were enrolled in the class last semester, representing business men, office workers, club women, school teachers, and other lines of work. The course for the first semester dealt with "Contemporary Economic Problems. Several members of the extension class have presented their text books to the college library here to be used as a basis for the same course that is to be taught here next summer.

The new class will meet every Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Amarillo High School.

Flu Epidemic Is Much Like That Prevalent in 1918

"Doctors everywhere express themselves as of the opinion that the epidemic of influenza now prevalent is more like the first epidemic of flu in this country in 1918," stated Miss Helen Hickman, of the College Infirmary, in regard to the epidemic throughout the college. "However," she added, "there is not the slightest reason for alarm. That is, if proper precautionary measures are taken by the students at the appearance of the first symptoms of the disease. By all means, a student should see a physician at the outset of an attack of influenza in order to properly safeguard his health."

Miss Hickman particularly requests that all students needing treatment report at the infirmary so that they may be properly cared for.

A large percentage of her patients have been girls, the nurse says, with very few boys coming in for treatment. None of the students have had to be under treatment in the infirmary for more than three days thus far.

"Mr. Barnabas" Presented Here Thursday Night

The largest crowd that has ever attended a lyceum number this year was present in the Administration Auditorium last Thursday night when the Pollard Players presented "Mr. Barnabas."

At the time for the play to go on, Mr. Pollard explained that the sudden change of program was due to the fact that previous presentations of "The Intimate Stranger" had not "gone over" with the audiences. Although everyone had "gotten set" to see the Booth Tarkington production, the change proved satisfactory.

The four-act drama dealt with the domestic and financial troubles of Mrs. Montague, her daughter Pat, the scoundrel step-father, and Mr. White the young artist, who never paid his board bill. Then there was Mr. Barnabas.

Suspense was held throughout the play because of the impossibility of identifying Mr. Barnabas, the paying boarder, who came to the house, and was later thought to be the husband of Mrs. Montague.

After the family problems were worked out to a fair finish, a situation of suspense was renewed by the falling off the wall the picture of Mrs. Montague's husband, leaving the play with a wholly unsolvable "Lady-and-Tiger" finish.

Approximately 150 standard tests were given by Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, head of the English Department, to the freshman English classes last Saturday afternoon at 3:30 in the Education Building Auditorium.

Each year, a uniform test covering the principles of grammar, is administered to all the freshman students of English.

What we need is less reckless, and more reckless driving.

Senior Meeting Most Interesting Of Whole Year

One of the most interesting class meetings of the year was held Thursday morning at 9:30. After the reading of the minutes of the last class meeting, some important business was transacted. The committee for sponsoring a show, recommended "David Copperfield," to be shown at the Olympic Theatre the 7th and 8th of February. An interesting proposition was presented to the class members in the selling of tickets. Some members of the class are financially unable to meet their obligations to the class, and are glad of an opportunity to support the class in some other way. The Seniors who have been unable to pay $2.00 as dues for the last semester, can meet this obligation by selling 15 tickets to the sponsored show. Those who have been able to pay one dollar are allowed the privilege of cancelling the other dollar by selling 7 tickets. (A fair proposition, eh what?) All Seniors are urged to sell at least 2 tickets, regardless of the payment of the class dues. "David Copperfield" is a new picture—hasn't even been in Amarillo yet, so there is no plausible reason why the Seniors can't sell enough tickets for two full houses. Other students can help the Seniors by buying some tickets for the show. After all, the money comes back to the school in the form of a gift, so every one will be benefited, in the long run.

Tickets may be secured from J. C. Line, James Compton, Hosea Foster, Yvonne Thomas and, Bils Jameson.

Part-Time Aid For FERA Studes Was Considered

C. A. Murray, chairman of the FERA committee, called a meeting of the supervisors of student employees Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of deciding whether to give strictly ninety-one students employment as in the original quota, or to continue with the expanded quota of more part-time workers.

In the course of the meeting, it seemed to be the general sentiment that a more or less elastic program be maintained. A new roll, on which some of the present workers will be retained, is being worked out by the committee to be effective February 1.

The supervisors expressed themselves as being well pleased with the manner in which the committee has been managing the problem of needy students in the institution. The members of the committee state that the supervisors as a whole have been cooperating nicely with them in their efforts to relieve students who are worthy of assistance.

Leroy Roberts has recently been employed in a rural school near Stratford.

EDUCATIONAL TOURS TO BE THIS SUMMER

CREDIT ON COURSES SECURED THRU DEPARTMENT OF CORRESPONDENCE

An educational tour for this summer has been approved by the administrative officers of West Texas State Teachers College. The tour last summer proved so successful that there is a demand for a more extended one this summer. Therefore two tours have been planned, one embracing four weeks and the other six weeks.

Costs will be about $25 a week which will include all necessary expenses such as board, room, and transportation charges. The main difference between the tour last year and the one this year is that students wanting credit may secure such through the correspondence division of the college.

Another difference between the plans for this year's tour and that of last year is that girls will do the cooking instead of boys. Mrs. Frank R. Phillips will supervise the cafeteria.

The main trip this summer will be the same as the one last summer as far as Yellowstone, where those wishing the four-week trip may return home by the 1934 route. Those interested in the six-week's tour may continue Northwest to Spokane, Seattle, and Canada, down the west coast where points of interest as far south as Old Mexico will be visited. Then the members of the tour will return via the Grand Canyon of Arizona and either Santa Fe or Carlsbad.

Liberal stops will be made at Yellowstone, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and the San Diego Exposition. Two-day stops will be made at such places as Colorado Springs, Denver, Estes Park, Teton Park and Grand Canyon.

Members of the educational tour last year have made most favorable comments on the trip, among which was that not so many people were along but that everyone could receive personal supervision.

Dr. J. A. Hill and Supt. Carruth Were Speakers

Dr. J. A. Hill and Superintendent Irby Carruth, of the Public School, were guest speakers at the Chamber of Commerce annual meeting in Chillicothe Friday. Dr. Hill's topic of address was "Community Development and National Recovery."

He reports that many ex-students were seen at the meeting, among them were Mrs. C. L. Glazener, whose husband is president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. W. M. Gourley, whose husband is secretary of that organization. Mrs. Gourley furnished a part of the music for the program. Dr. Hill saw Jim Crowder, also an ex-student of this institution.

Archaeological and Paleontological Fields Near Here Are Attracting Much Attention to Work Done in W.T.

By Joe Smith

Discovering Indian villages, trailing ancient man from the days of Coronado back through 12,000 years of pre-historic past, discovering, unearthing, and restoring the bones of ancient monsters, some of which were gigantic in size, and who lived in this country long before the beautiful Palo Duro Canyons were made by the slow process of erosion, is only a part of the work being done by Professor Stuart Johnston, Floyd V. Studer, and the classes in Archaeology and Paleontology at West Texas State Teachers College.

This new department of study has attracted wide attention. Dr. Forest E. Clements, Professor of Anthropology in the University of Oklahoma, and Professor J. W. Stovall of the Paleontology Department in the same University have recently visited here, and they have expressed their belief that this part of the Texas Panhandle is one of the richest fields of Archaeology and Paleontology that they have ever visited. They both believe that much original work can be done here.

The main object of the Archaeology and Paleontology Department at W. T. S. T. C. is to prepare fossils for exhibits, to acquaint people better with the pre-historic past in the Panhandle, and to build up a field of work for students who are interested in this particular branch of natural science. Practical courses in museum work to acquaint students with restoration technique will be offered.

Collections of invertebrate fossils are being made from different parts of the country, and these

The W. T. Swimming Pool Will Soon Be Completed And Will Be Ready For Class Use During The Next Semester

All the hours of mental misery you have undergone during the past few weeks what with having the dreadful noise of electric drill bits biting out the bottom of the college swimming pool ringing continually in your ears will soon be over and you can resume your naturally quiet life.

The contractor of the rebuilding job, Mr. R. C. Tucker, says that the job will be finished by Saturday. The concrete should set from twenty-eight to thirty days; so that means that we will be able to use the pool at the beginning of the second half of the spring semester.

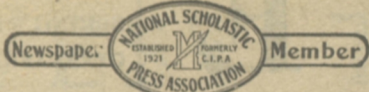

The shallow water section of the pool cracked last fall and approximately six inches of water went out during each twelve hours. That made a total of twelve thousand gallons during one day. A sand formation under the pool readily drank up the stream, and although the pool was worked on, it has not held water since. The men are now putting an eight inch layer of gray cement over the shallow water section and will finish with a white cement top layer, also of eight inches depth. After the original building was destroyed by fire, the pool was relined and left instead of being rebuilt. It is thought by authorities that the lack of ballast made by heat caused the pool to crack under the weight of the water.

Physical education directors have offered swimming courses for the last quarter of the spring session, and if every one is as enthusiastic then as they are now in regard to this sport, the pool will really be full.

THE GUIDANCE MOVEMENT

Guidance methods are a pressing necessity if we are to escape educational sterility. The aim of guidance is not new, but its methods represent the first substantial attempt to make modern practice really conform with theory. The fact is recognized that education must concern itself with the many as well as with the few, and that a practical education for social membership must complement a more academic education for leadership. At one time, academic instruction may have been the main function of the school. But in contrast to its former limited responsibilities, the school has now been called upon to fulfill of itself, almost unaided, the whole task of fitting for life. To do this, it must revise its curriculum on the principle that no subject or even part of a subject shall be valid for a pupil unless it promises a direct carry-over into the life activities, meeting some present need or anticipating an impending one. Furthermore, the school must bring within its province whatever of the normal life activities of children it can support within its limits, supplementing these with projects of its own conception. It must strive to make education a happy, even exciting, experience by providing the individual with wise counsel when maladjustment begins to appear, and by thawing out the frozen pipes of the old system that virile learning may circulate freely again. It must not only direct its efforts towards better living, but it must see clearly what constitutes the good life in a modern society in terms of definite things to do, exercising the pupil in their practice, and giving to these activities richness and value by revealing the beautiful that may be found around us and by suggesting to the pupil the depth and profundity of human experience. These things are admittedly not easy to accomplish, but if the wastefulness and inefficiency of the old methods teach us anything it should be our need for better ones. The hint of history is that in some form or other, guidance will become a permanent feature of our educational method. We cannot escape it.—Francis A. Young, Secondary Education.

W. T. SCIENCE CLUB GAVE DEMONSTRATION IN ASSEMBLY TUESDAY

A varied program based upon the practical applications of principles studied in the high school chemistry laboratory was given Tuesday morning at the college chapel period by the high school Science Club. In addition to being practical, some of the experiments proved rather sensational. Burke Inman's fire extinguisher caused considerable nervousness in the audience until he proved that the device would work by putting out a bonfire that was built on the platform. The spontaneous combustion demonstration conducted by Glenn Vetesk and James Hines, surprised the spectators. The fiery display created by Leo Duffot and Odell Reynolds in their welding experiment climaxed the sensational part of the program. Other experiments were marked by their beauty and unusualness. Mary Harmon and Helen Wilder made a colorful display by burning various metals and other substances in pure oxygen. Sam Burton's and Cato Merchant's ammonia fountain drew applause from the interested spectators. Kathleen King and Frances Armstrong concluded the program by showing the properties of carbon dioxide, using a specially designed apparatus.

W. T. HI-Y MEETS IN MR. GOODMAN'S OFFICE

Brynild Vaughn was in charge of the devotional program at the weekly meeting of the Hi-Y Club, Wednesday evening, in Mr. A. K. Goodman's office. The devotional included three religious songs and the discussion of a chapter in St. Mark. Following the devotional, a business session was held, in which Club sweaters and the ways of raising funds to buy them were discussed. After the business meeting, Mr. Goodman gave the boys an interesting lecture. Following the lecture the boys played games until 9:30, when the club adjourned.

CALVES VICTORIOUS OVER AMARILLO FIVE

The W. T. Calves won their first cage game of the season, Saturday night, January 19, at nine o'clock in the Burton Gymnasium. Their victims were the Yammigans from the Amarillo High School. The first quarter saw little scoring and ended 3 to 2 in favor of Canyon. Captain Brown's field goal and charity toss accounted for the Calves' three points. The game progressed slowly during the second quarter, and at the half way mark stood 9 to 5 in favor of the Calves. The Amarillo cagers made two field goals and a free toss, to two field goals for the Calves, thus making the score at the end of the third quarter stand 13 to 10 in the Calves' favor. Just as the final quarter opened, the Calves staged a rally, and very soon had a 19 to 10 lead on the Amarillo five. The Calves managed to hold and add to this lead, and at the close were head 25 to 15. Brown was the Calves' stellar player, while Rice did nice floor work for Amarillo.

DEAN OF WOMEN TALKED TO HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

"Poise must come from within, or it is like a brocade velvet patch on blue denim overalls," were the opening words of Mrs. Geraldine Green, in her talk to the "What I Should Like to Know" Club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Green then discussed the handling of delicate situations and explained the proper thing to do at a movie, in church, in the hall, and on the street.

Conning the Campi

By College News Service

People of high intelligence don't laugh at puns, according to Professor Richard N. Sears of Harvard. He based this conclusion on a bit of research involving the collection of a series of puns which were considered sure "laugh getters." These he sprung on a group of students from time to time. Those in the habit of getting "A" grades just sat back and greeted each sally with a mournful countenance, but those with low marks laughed uproariously, he reported. (P-s-s-t! Maybe the "A" students didn't get the gag.)

A writer for the undergrad daily at Oklahoma A. and M. College reached the acme of high society news reporting with this item:

"Art Matheny took Charlene Allen to the Kappa Sig dance, while Champ White, who is pining away for Charlene, had to go and struggle all evening with Marie Amis, while her flame, Bill Edmond, who didn't go to the dance at all, sat at home and told ghost stories to Winona Murray, while her boy friend, Gene Allen, was out of town seeing the girl in the home town while her folks were away seeing relatives who in turn were out of town and came back before the home-town girl of the boy who is the boy friend of the girl who was at the dance with the boy who was pining for his girl who was at the dance with a Kappa Sig pledge period." ## THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

Louisa Espinel Is Secured By The Spanish Studes

"Little Pictures From Spain and Other Hispanic Countries" will be brought to West Texas State Teachers College February 13, by Louisa Espinel under the auspices of the Spanish Club and the Spanish classes of this institution.

Her program consists of seven or eight groups of songs and dances from the different Hispanic countries. They will consist of folk songs and dances and incidences in the little scenes of pantomime and dialogue which she has created to give brief but authentic and colorful pictures of the folk-life of the Latin countries being represented.

Each group is beautifully costumed in regional costumes, some of which are almost museum pieces because they are so old and rare. A number of the costumes have never been seen outside of their native background. Miss Espinel has spent ten years collecting them and carries $5,000 insurance on them.

Her repertoire of songs and dances has also been collected over a period of years in the different countries among the peasants who have taught her their folk-lore first hand.

Louisa Espinel is described as being a creative dramatist, singer and dancer. Her program is built around seven groups of songs from ancient Spain: northern Spain, the Levant of Spain, the South of Spain, the Spanish Moors, the north of Mexico, and California. Senorita Espinel has received two of the highest artistic honors accorded a recitalist: special envoy of the famous Instituto de las Espanas, assisting artist at the Anniversary Festival of Chamber Music at Pittsfield, Mass., sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge and seven weeks' engagement in Los Angeles last year at the historic Olvera Street Theatre; she has two return engagements of one week each in Olvera Street Theatre this season.

O'Keefe Selects Women's Teams For Basketball

At a meeting of the women athletes of the college last week, Mrs. Rubie Barksdale O'Keefe selected the captains of the intramural basketball teams.

These captains and their teams are as follows: Eula Fillinghim, captain, and players, Vela Lowe, Marie McQueen, Ruth Crum, Elmo Rose, Ethel Rush, Embelle Knight, and Ruth Ferris.

Captain Ada Lee Singleton, Emma Plunk, Lauarra Sprague, Halloway, Brown, Agnes Alford, Joy Smith, Louise Blackwell, Effie Nell Farmer and Sue Knox.

Captain Ila Mae Donald, Cleo Worthington, Sarah Beth McGehee, Nina Green, Lonas Fortenberry and Leona Shelton.

Captain Athalie Overton, V. Green, Flora Morris, Frances Pippin, Brownie Mitchell, Armor Lee Greenfield.

Captain Shelton, Dorothy Neil Kinkead, Flora Mimms, Ruth Woodring, Opal Foster, Thelma Porter, Geneva Whitman, and Dot Anderson.

The four teams are practicing and working out positions in preparation to starting the tournament off with a bang. Fillinghim's team has some good material in guards Rush and Knight, while Singleton has selected a splendid forward, Sue Knox. The other teams are looking over their material in preparation to winning the tournament.

Ila Mae Donald's team played Athalie Overton's team Wednesday afternoon and lost 24-28. Eula Fillinghim's team won over Ada Lee Singleton's team Friday afternoon, 23-28.

MISS HELEN WHITTENBURG BIRTHDAY TUESDAY

Many little friends of Miss Helen Whittenburg gathered at the Whittenburg home Tuesday afternoon to help Miss Helen celebrate her thirteenth birthday.

The guests presented the honoree with many lovely gifts and various parlor games were entered into with enthusiasm.

At the refreshment hour the tables were laid with paper luncheon sets and tuna fish sandwiches, candies and nuts, fruit punch and birthday cake were served to the following guests: Christine Jarrett, Lenna Lee Lockhart, Adrie McNeill, Dora Dean Clark, Maxine Campbell, Virginia Vaughan, Mildred Merchant, Walter Richeson, Barry McCarter, Dick Smith, Bernard Warren, Thomas Tomlinson, Jack Sanders, Norman Jones, and Harley Gordon.

FRESHMAN GIRLS ENTERTAIN BOYS AT M. E. CHURCH

Last Friday night the Methodist Church was the scene of a banquet tendered by the Girls' Freshman Class for the Methodist Boys. Decorations were in the colors of green and white, with cyclamen flowers as decorations.

The program was in charge of Thelma Calliham, who acted as toastmaster. The program consisted of invocation by Mr. T. M. Moore, song of welcome by Robbie Foster, and response by Carl Spratt, group songs with Juanita Walker as leader, reading by Virginia Hammer, piano music by Houston Bright. Reverend Quatebaum gave the talk of the evening, and following that Armor Lee Greenfield gave the prophecy. The banquet was closed with music by Lee Christine Cousins.

WRANGLERS PLAN STUNTS AND HANDICRAFT

The regular meeting of the Wranglers was held in the Scout Room in the Education Building last Monday afternoon at 4:30. The girls sang a number of lively songs at the beginning of the hour's activity. A business meeting followed in which the prospective lodge and several stunts were discussed in considerable detail. Each captain discussed within her patrol its respective handicraft. Some handicrafts have been started and much progress was made.

On Wednesday, January 16, the Wranglers had a round-up. Due to the conditions of the weather, the round-up was held in the Scout Room. The entertainment for the evening took the form of games and songs.

A delicious supper consisting of stew and hot coffee was served to the club by Patrol No. 1. After the singing of Taps, the round-up was adjourned.

Summer School Bill Presented in Senate For This Year

Appropriation for the summer session of W. T. has been set by the Senate finance committee at $21,140, according to information from Austin. The appropriation is based upon a per capita of $17.50. This per capita method of calculation was adopted last session by the legislature in allowing the appropriations for all educational institutions.

The amount for the summer session is the same as requested by President J. A. Hill, and is more than allowed last summer.

It is indicated that the legislature will take up this bill in the near future in order that the colleges of the state may know the amount of money that will be available for the coming session.

SWISHER COUNTY STUDENTS GO BACKWARD

A backward party, made so by the guests who wore their clothing backward, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Jennings Tuesday evening. Games in reverse order were played throughout the evening.

Delicious refreshments were served to a large number of the members.

The club will meet for its next social with Miss Sarah Beth McGehee, Feb. 4. Every Swisher County student is invited.

TERRY DISCUSSES HAIR DRESSING

With several illustrations to make more vivid his discussion, Albert Terry of the Terry Studio and Beauty Salons discussed the "Dressing of One's Hair" at the regular meeting of the members of the Home Economics Club Friday morning. At the close of the discussion many questions were asked by the girls.

This program was one of the many interesting ones the club has had the past semester on "Personal Grooming."

His philosophy as told by Miss Anderson was this: A school teacher should train his pupils how to accept life, and his success is measured by how well he does it.

ART CLASS VISITS MUSEUM

A special exhibition of sketches by Jimmie Swann was seen by the art class of Canyon High School in the museum Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 22. There were twelve members in the visiting group, and they were accompanied by Mr. C. C. Jones, Professor of art.

The Beauty School

by Helena Rubinstein
International Beauty Authority

I like to think of these last few winter months as a special beauty period for the hands. Occasional experiments with them will show you unsuspected possibilities for developing their beauty—and you'll be surprised to find how quickly everyone notices the improvement.

You can really give your hands a "facial" every night when you apply face cream. If you use a pasteurized cream which has enough body to smother and protect the skin, just finish up your face treatment by rubbing the extra cream into your hands. At first your skin will absorb the rich oils so readily that the cream will disappear almost as soon as it goes on. There are, of course, hand creams and hand lotions that are especially made for the thin, dry skin on the backs of the hands.

But, remembering my own student days in Vienna, I know you are most apt to use what you have! Beautiful, graceful hands have usually been associated with leisure—and I think that is a great pity. But more and more women today are beginning to realize that the hands should be outstandingly lovely. One busy executive I know keeps a bottle of hand lotion in her desk drawer. When she is reading or thinking out some problem she takes out the lotion, pours a tiny bit of it into the palms of her hands, and "washes" them this summer.

It is expected that the legislature will start hearings in the near future upon the appropriation recommendations of the Board of Control which were submitted to the legislature last week. Bills have been introduced making the amount of the appropriations the same as allowed the institutions for the past two years.

Those attending were: J. B. Speer, of Morse, who is president of the Association; Miss Ruth Lowes; Irby Carruth, Superintendent of the Canyon High School; George Heath and Wayne Eubanks of Friona; Lee Johnson, secretary of the association; F. E. Savage, Superintendent of the Demonstration School; T. H. McDonald, of Amarillo; Miss Mattie Swayne, of the English Department; and President J. A. Hill.

with it. This has become so much a habit with her, that she is always startled when she finds the hand lotion all gone—and she can't remember using it. But her hands are as soft and white as those of a princess!

Caring for the hands is more a matter of habit than anything else. And it's such a good habit to develop! While you are studying, smooth a bit of cream into your hands, starting at the fingertips, and drawing the fingers down to the wrist as if you were putting on a pair of gloves. At night, hold your hands above your head for two or three minutes to prevent those ugly swollen veins. And during this cold weather, be sure to wear gloves, even if you are only crossing the campus.

Exes' Directors Held Meeting

A meeting of the directors of the West Texas Ex-students Association was held January 20th at 1:30 in President J. A. Hill's office.

The purpose of the meeting was to work out plans for more effective co-operation with the Federated Ex-Students Association of the teachers colleges of Texas. Another item discussed was keeping in contact with educational legislation.

Those attending were: J. B. Speer, of Morse, who is president of the Association; Miss Ruth Lowes; Irby Carruth, Superintendent of the Canyon High School; George Heath and Wayne Eubanks of Friona; Lee Johnson, secretary of the association; F. E. Savage, Superintendent of the Demonstration School; T. H. McDonald, of Amarillo; Miss Mattie Swayne, of the English Department; and President J. A. Hill.

"PARCHMENT" HAS PUBLISHED BREWER'S POEM

"THE BLIND PEDDLER" WAS COMPOSED WHILE SHE WAS HERE

In THE PARCHMENT, official publication of The American College Quill Club, Volume VI, Number 1, of November, 1934, Emil Brewer, last year's editor-in-chief of The Prairie, has a poem entitled "The Blind Peddler." Miss Brewer, who is a journalism student at the University of Missouri, visited at West Texas State Teachers College during the Christmas holidays, and during her visit, she addressed the Press Club members.

Her poem follows:

He came to our house
Once when we were very young
And stayed the whole
Of one bright August afternoon.

Dark, awe-inspiring goggles
Hid his sightless eyes; two massive Suitcases held his stock in trade.

Opening them wide upon the parlor
carpet
He showed us silks from Japan, and linen
From some island whose name's forgot—sweet
Smelling perfumes that sent us into ecstasy.

To our endless wonderment,
He never confused his wares,
Knowing, as if by magic, the color of each piece,
Where it came from, what the price,

Sensing by touch the things we recognize by sight,
Entertaining, with his sensitive fingers,
By calling Myria very pretty after he had
Touched her face.

We stood in transfixed awe of him,
Daring to laugh only once—a childish treble—
When he lost his shining scissors
And searched with flying fingers
Among the silks and linens
While they lay before him on the carpet
All the time.

Buffaloes Vary In The Games With Matadors and Bronchos

Lose In Total Of Tech Game

Last Monday night the West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes, led by Captain McMinn, showed a wonderful improvement trampled the haughty Texas Tech Matadors 36 to 27.

From the beginning it was a close struggle between two traditional rivals. Walker opened the game by sinking a free pitch on Wilkinson's foul.

After that each side took their turn ringing baskets to put first one side and then the other one point in the lead. The lead changed hands twelve times in the first half.

However just before the half the Buffs behind the accurate shooting of McMinn, Clement, and Walker, forged into the lead with the score at the half 24 to 17 in favor of the Buffs.

Kimmins, substitute guard, brought thrills to the fans with his sensational scrimmages for the ball, clever passing, and accurate shooting. The work of Kimmins was one thing that led to the showing of the Bison Herd.

McMinn was high point man with twelve points to show for his work of the evening. Clement, the other forward, followed his captain with ten points. Curley Wilkinson, elongated Tech Sophomore, was high point man for the Matadors with eight points.

Throughout the first night the defense of the Buffaloes worked to perfection with each man staying with his opponent and preventing the Red Raiders from getting an open shot.

However the men of Coach Ballard turned the tables the second night. They worked in under the defense of the Buffs, sunk shots from everywhere on the floor, long ones, short ones, and from any angle. It seemed that the Matadors could not miss one that night. All they had to do was to toss the ball in the general direction of the basket and it counted two points. The Buffaloes seemed off their form from the night before and scored only 7 points the first half.

When the melee was over and the scores added up it was found that the Matadors were victors by a 53 to 25 score. According to all available dope it was the worst defeat that the Buffaloes have ever suffered. However, although the Buffs failed to play basketball in one game, they did prove one night that they were capable of playing a high class basketball game. With an even break in the two game series, the Buffaloes are looking forward to February 25 and 26 when they will meet the Matadors in Burton Gymnasium.

Only Conference Game of Season This Week - End

Sul Ross State Teachers Of Alpine

Next Friday and Saturday the West Texas State Teachers College Varsity basketball team meet their only Lone Star Conference opponent of the year in the Sul Ross State Teachers College of Alpine.

This year the Buffaloes were accepted as an official member of the Lone Star Conference so as to protect their official amateur standing, but agreed not to ask for championship playoffs in football and basketball, since the distance between the schools were so great.

In the future other developments are expected but this year Sul Ross is the only conference opponent of the Buffaloes. In the Lobos, the Buffs are meeting a strong quintet, one that is expected to put up a stiff fight for conference honors.

Friday and Saturday will offer the first chance for fans to see how the Buffs of 1935 stack up against the members of their conference. In splitting the two series with Lubbock and Central the Buffaloes have shown that they are capable of playing on a par with two of the strongest college teams in this part of the country.

With five games behind them Captain McMinn made the statement that the Buffaloes were ready to play some consistently good basketball and are ready for the Lobos.

Coach Baggett offered to do his part in making the Buffs ready by seeing that they got some good hard work this week in order to improve some of the rough spots that showed up in the last two games. The games Friday and Saturday should be two of the most interesting of the season.

Frosh Continues Cage Victories

Coach Bob Cox and his freshman basketball team added three victims to their rapidly-growing list of defeated opponents this week. The Frosh, who appear to have one of the classiest freshman teams in the last several years, defeated Wayland Junior College Monday night by a 43 to 17 margin.

Friday night they swamped the Clarendon Junior College with Coach Cox playing all of his fourteen men, 69 to 27.

Saturday night the Yearlings had a narrow escape but came from behind in the second half to defeat Buff Morris' Friona team in a return engagement for the two teams, 15 to 11.

Win The Second Game With Bronchos

By losing the first game Friday night to the Central Teachers of Edmond, Okla., in a thriller 28 to 31, and defeating the same Bronchos Saturday night by a ten point margin, 36 to 26, the West Texas Buffaloes split the series and assured the fans that they have a quintet to be reckoned with.

Last year the Bronchos made a clean sweep of their games with the Buffaloes, and with five let-termen back, including three reguars, they expected to do the same this year.

Coach Pat Taylor has a fast, clever, experienced team, and thrilled the fans with their display of ability, but the Buffaloes remained not the least bit awed by the pace set by the Edmondites. In fact the Buffs did a little pace setting themselves.

Friday night was a close battle all the way through. Neither team was able to command a real margin throughout the entire first half. At the half-time the score was 15 to 16 in favor of the Bronchos.

In the second half the lead changed hands several times, and with but two minutes to go the Taylor men had a one point mar-

Trophy Selected For Boxing and Wrestling Award

Coach Baggett has arranged the first meet for the year for the West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes boxing and wrestling teams for February 16 with Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Both schools are arranging to purchase a "Little Brown Jug." That is a trophy for which just each school will compete each year. Neither will ever gain permanent possession of the trophy, but the competition between the two schools for the trophy will become an annual event.

This year there will be competition in eight divisions, beginning with 115 pounds and increasing ten pounds with each weight through the unlimited division, in both boxing and wrestling.

On March 8, Texas Tech will return the meet in Canyon. Present prospects are that Tech will win most of the boxing bouts, as they have been working for some time, while the sport has just been inaugurated in West Texas.

Gerald Brown, who won the feather weight title in the Southwestern Intercollegiate Tournament last year, and Clinton Meek, have the best chance of winning their bouts. However, both will have experienced men to face. Several beginners are progressing under the tutelage of Jennings, Cain, Meek, and Brown, and may provide some upsets for the Matador pugilists.

However, it is not too late for anyone who wishes to compete, to start out. Coach Jennings said that he would be glad to have any one interested report to him.

In the wrestling West Texas stands a much better chance. Coach Jennings has several boys who are looking better every day. Clarence Wooten, a member of last year's team, is the most experienced. Jack Jennings, Gardner Sanderson, George Caviness, Ray Small, John Rankin, and several others stand even chances of defeating their opponents on the mat.

Anyway it will be a start upon which West Texas can build in future years. Other meets are

THE BUFFALO DRUG

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago

—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

They came looking for gold
... but they found tobacco

...and tobacco has been like gold ever since!
The tobacco raised in Virginia and exchanged for goods helped the struggling colonists to get a foothold when they came to America.

Later on, it was tobacco that helped to clothe and feed Washington's brave army at Valley Forge.

Today it is tobacco that helps—more than any other commodity raised in this country—to pay the expense of running our Government.

In the fiscal year 1933-34 the Federal Government collected $425,000,000 from the tax on tobacco. Most of this came from cigarettes—six cents tax on every package of twenty.

Yes, the cigarette helps a lot—and it certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Smokers have several reasons for liking Chesterfields. For one thing, Chesterfields are milder. For another thing, they taste better. They Satisfy.

Early Colonial planters shipped hundreds of pounds of tobacco to England in return for goods and supplies.
