

Homecoming Plans Revealed

Fall To Mark
Gala Occasion,
Announces Hill

A great homecoming next fall to honor all ex-students who served in World War II has been proposed by President J. A. Hill in a letter to West Texas exes. The date of this event will be announced before the end of the spring semester.

Dr. Hill is requesting that former students write to him concerning the kind of program that they would like to recommend.

"We wish to make it a truly gala occasion and the greatest homecoming ever staged in West Texas," Dr. Hill wrote. "Make your plans to come and bring your neighbor exes."

Traditionally the homecoming of West Texas State has included a carnival in western style, sometimes housed in a big circus tent. It has been one of the most colorful events held on the campus. Reunions, a football game, dinners and luncheons and a program at the college auditorium have been other features. Whether the West Texas Exes wish to revive these customs or to suggest others is the question which Dr. Hill wishes to settle soon.

Miss Mickey to Be Presented in Piano Recital

Mary Helen Mickey of Canyon will be presented on Friday, March 1, by the piano section of the Music Department in the first of a series of six piano recitals. Miss Mickey, a junior, is a pupil of Miss Pauline Brigham.

She will be assisted by Miss Carolyn Wimberly, violinist, a pupil of Prof. Herschel Coffee. The recital will be given in the college auditorium at 4 p. m. Miss Mickey will feature piano compositions of the romantic and modern schools and will play in its entirety Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

College Press to Convene in Paris Junior College

The Texas Intercollegiate Press Association, which has been inactive since 1942, will hold its annual convention at Paris (Texas) Junior College on April 25 and 26.

According to Mildred Dougan, president of T. I. P. A., the convention program will be announced soon. The association also sponsors literary contests each year.

West Texas State has been a member of T. I. P. A. for many years.

Piano Students Present Program

A musical program of classical selections was presented in assembly Thursday morning by Miss Pauline Brigham's freshman and sophomore students.

The recital consisted of the following numbers: "Gavotte" from Bach's Third English Suite played by Carolyn Wimberly; Beethoven's "Sonata," Opus 14, No. 1, 1st and 2nd Movements, by Jane Campbell; "Lullaby" in D Major by Brahms, Nell Green; "Humoresque" by McDowell, Ellen Sanders; and "The Clown" by Chaminade played by June Wimberly.

A continuation of the recital will be presented this week at the regular assembly by the junior and senior music students.

New Tradition Builds Library at Home Management House Here

Gifts from friends and former residents of the Phebe K. Warner Home Management House are steadily increasing the size of the Home Economics unit's library, which now contains more than fifty books.

Development of the library started a year ago when girls living at the Home Management House wrote to all former residents and suggested the gift of books to the library. It has now become traditional for each girl living at the house to leave at least one book. Other friends, learning of the project, have made contributions.

Largest of the recent gifts is a collection of fifteen volumes donated by the Rev. Joe Findley, minister of the Canyon Christian Church. These included several books on religious subjects, the Reader's Digest's "Twentieth Anniversary Anthology" Walter Lippmann's "U. S. Foreign Policy," Van Loon's "Lives," and others.

"Lives" Is Popular

The girls have been especially interested in "Lives." The late Hendrick Willem Van Loon wrote on a great variety of subjects. Only such a person could have written "Lives." In this book, he serves as host in his Dutch home to a galaxy of the

Chapel Funds Reach Half-Way Place In Climb to $50,000 Objective

Means for completing the campaign to raise $50,000 for a non-sectarian chapel on the West Texas State campus are being suggested by President J. A. Hill.

With approximately half of the required sum in hand, Dr. Hill points out that one hundred gifts of $100 each and 100 of $50 each, together with some expected larger contributions, would bring the campaign near the objective and justify beginning of construction. Most of the furniture for the chapel has been pledged. Most of the art glass windows have been spoken for at $500 each. A few memorial pews are available at $110 each.

More than 300 persons have contributed a total of more than $20,000, ranging in amounts from $1 to $1,000. Pledges to be paid by May 1 amount to slightly more than $5,000.

The most successful county campaign for the chapel is that in Carson County, where more than $2500 has been raised out of a goal of $3500.

The chapel to be used for special religious services would not conflict with the programs of local churches. It will be used for lectures, concerts, and educational pictures of appropriate types, for weddings, and for private devotions and conferences between Panhandle-Plains pastors and students who are members of their congregations. The project has been widely endorsed by religious organizations, ministers, and civic organizations.

Command Announces Brummett's Promotion

With the XXIV Corps in Korea—Sgt. Molen B. Brummett, 19, of Claude, Tex., has been promoted from Corporal. It was announced here recently. Now on occupation duty here, he is serving with the G-4 Supply Section of Army Service Command 24.

Before Brummett joined the Army in June 1944, he was a rancher. He attended Texas Technological College in 1943-1944, and West Texas State College in January-May of last year.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Brummett, live at Claude.

W. T. Graduate Has Little Use For Money in Germany

Money is worth little in Germany today because one can neither eat it nor wear it, according to Capt. Fred Hart of Canyon, an Army personnel officer with a photographic unit in a zone of occupation.

There is a ready market—and a black market—for any kind of merchandise. For example, one German had cameras worth several hundred dollars which he would not sell for money, but which he offered in exchange for a saxophone. Capt. Hart had no such musical instrument.

The former W. T. Le Mirage editor says Americans should waste no sympathy on the Germans he has seen. They are better fed than the average Englishman, in the opinion of many authorities in the American zones. However, things are more difficult in the big and bomb-ravaged cities.

Life in the American zone is dull, Capt. Hart wrote. There is nothing to buy except what the Post Exchange carries. U. S. troops cannot sell or trade PX merchandise, and have little bargaining power.

Most U. S. garrisons in Capt. Hart's area were described as at about 50 per cent of normal strength, because of the heavy movement of men back to this country.

Ex-Student Plays For Chinese Cage Fans

Now playing on a U. S. Marine All-Star basketball team and touring Chinese cities as a guest of the Chinese government is Jack Maddox of Wichita Falls, former West Texas State cage star.

From Tientsin, Maddox has written local friends that the Marine Corps quintet played two games there and won both by large scores. His team was to fly to Peiping for a contest and back to Tientsin for another clash with U. S. service units. He and his team members were staying at the Chinese embassy and being "wonderfully treated."

Maddox wrote of the possibility of returning to the United States in time for his team to enter the Denver, Colo., basketball tournament.

While in China he met Ben Collins of Wichita Falls, a Marine and his chum of school and college days.

Maddox is rated as one of the greatest forwards on the pre-war "World's Tallest Basketball Team" here.

Maddox said economic conditions in China were deplorable, with starvation and begging rampant. But, because of the favorable rate of exchange, he was able to buy a steak dinner for about 40 cents and hire a rickshaw for two hours for 5 cents.

Thinclads Train for Cinder Meets As WT Re-organizes Track Program

The most extensive track and field schedule of recent years has been arranged by Coach Gus Miller of West Texas State College. It is the first track program since 1941.

The Buffalo squad, trained by W. W. Nicklaus, assistant coach, will enter the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show meet on March 15 and 16. Texas Tech will come here for a dual meet on March 29. April 6 is being held as an open date. On April 27, the West Texans will enter a triangular meet with Texas Tech and the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

These meets will be warm-ups for the Border Conference track and field meet at the University of Arizona, Tucson, on May 11.

Famed Toronto Quartet Performs For WT Audience

West Texas State had a rare treat when the celebrated members of the Hart House String Quartet performed Wednesday evening in the college auditorium.

The selections played by James Levey, Henry Milligan, Cyril Glyde, and Boris Hambouff were of such variety that all types of people in the audience appreciated their music. The musicians played "Quartet, E Minor, Opus 59, No. 2, Beethoven; "Quartet A Minor, Opus 15," John Hausermann; "Serenade," Haydn; and "Folk Song Phantasy," by Waldo Warner.

"Dhu Loch" and "Red Murdoch" by J. B. McEwen were played and the quartet presented two encores "Andante Cantabile" from "Opus 11 in B flat" by Tchaikowsky, and "Finale" from Beethoven.

Their tonal shadings and precision of attack and release were excellent. The quartet "A Minor, Opus 15" was enjoyed by those who prefer modern music.

Members of the Hart House String Quartet participated in the coronation ceremonies of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth in Westminster Abbey. These musicians were informed of their invitation to play in the orchestra, which consisted of the Empire's most famous musicians, by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

They were honored with an invitation to attend a reception in Lancaster House for the new Prime Minister, Neville Chamberlain.

Class of 1925 Letter Issued by W. T. Instructor

Miss Ruth Lowes of the Demonstration School faculty, permanent secretary of the West Texas class of 1925, recently issued class letter No. 33. Since her class was graduated, she has sent out to members thirty-three letters, totaling 135 pages.

Total income from the class since graduation is recorded by Miss Lowes as $805.04. Of this $213.04 has come in the form of annual dues of $1 per class member. The remaining $592 represents individual contributions for the Guenther memorial monument. Since 1930, the dues have been fifty cents a year.

The original class of 1925 enrollment carried fifty-eight names. Five of that number have been lost by death. They were: Vivian Coffman, Grace Clark, Mrs. Mattie Strain, Mrs. Helen Parsons Pierle, and L. W. Sloneker.

The class of 1925, which includes some of West Texas State's best known ex-students, is planning a reunion in connection with the 1946 homecoming next fall.

Before joining the Army sixteen months ago, he farmed in Spearman. Formerly he attended West Texas State Teachers College.

The sergeant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Reynolds, live in Spearman.

Mrs. Anadell Guenther Ward, former student, is carrying on her husband's accounting business in Santa Fe, N. M., while he is overseas.

History Doesn't Repeat, Say Profs; War Cuts Time Into Periods

Much has been said about the effect of the war on history. W. T. history professors declare that history does not repeat itself. Most history books were not re-written after World War I and will not be re-written after World War II, they assert.

War divides history into periods and marks the beginnings of new things. However, history at W. T. is affected only as all history is affected.

The history department of West Texas State is interested not only in putting emphasis on the essentials of the subject insofar as content is concerned, but also is interested in covering as many of the important population areas of the world as possible. The scope of history extends both in time and in space. Students are given an opportunity to become familiar with as many periods of history as possible, as well as with the various historical areas. Emphasis is placed on modern phases of history, but the life and culture of the ancients is not ignored.

Many courses are offered in the history department. World history is a popular course. Although sophomores and juniors take this course, it is primarily for freshmen. After a student has completed a course in world history and one in American history, he knows what phase is most interesting to him. If he desires to do further study in history he must be interested in the course called "American Leaders" which is offered in the spring semester.

It is the story of leaders in America from Ben Franklin to the present. However, if the student's interest should lean toward European history, there are two courses that should prove interesting. One is called "North Africa and the Near East." This course will present current problems of the area in their historical setting. Examples are the Jew-Arab struggle in Palestine, including problems both economic and racial, and Russia's demands on Turkey in regard to the straits. The areas covered in this course will be the Balkans, Turkey, Arabia, Palestine, and North Africa. During World War II, student interest in these countries was increased. Now they can delve into the history and background of each of these countries and the problems that develop within them.

During the spring semester, a course called "Russia and Western Powers in Asia" is offered. This class will study the Russian interest in Europe.

There are open reading shelves on world history and American history in the library. There are books from every phase of history. One does not have to be a student of history to enjoy them.

Working in the history department this year have been several graduate students. Some are working on theses and others on projects. As a tentative subject, Mr. Carpenter has chosen "Influence of Rail Roads in the Settlement of North West Texas." Mr. McCarty is writing on "Activities in the Oil Fields." C. R. Brown is doing a project on American Oil Interest in Mexico, and Mr. Boswell is doing a project on "The abandonment of Ft. Elliott at Mobetie."

The history department is urging everyone who is interested to join the contest sponsored by Texas University and by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

W. T. IMPROVES TRAILER CAMP

West Texas State College has done more for their veterans' trailer camp than any other school that the supervisor of installations, J. L. Harden, has seen.

The W. T. S. C. business office manager, Virgil Henson, acquired these trailer houses from Pantex Village and Borger. Altogether there are 50 trailer houses. Of these, 39 are north of the tennis courts and 11 are behind Terrill Hall. Two are utility trailers for bath and laundry. There are 15 expandable or extra large trailer houses and 14 families live in these with one or two children each. One of these expandable houses is in the group over behind Terrill Hall and four boys live in it. In each of the others behind Terrill two boys live; they all eat with the boys at Terrill Hall.

W. T. S. C. is finishing the installation of street lights, gas, a sewage system, water, house lights, and sidewalks, (one concrete walk is extended to the school walks and each house will have gravel walks.) The grounds around the trailer village are being cleared off; there are 12 men working to finish up the construction of conveniences for the camp.

Each trailer house is double walled and glass insulated. The expandables have two closets, two full length mirrors, a sink, ice box, a gas stove, plenty of cabinet space, and are fairly large. The smaller houses are equipped with closet space, cabinet space, a gas stove, electric lights, a sink, a small bedroom, a kitchen, a livingroom and dining room combined. All the houses are painted inside and will soon be painted gray on the outside.

The business office will arrange to bring the mail to the camp if the people will find some way to distribute it. The business office is also looking for someone to work two hours a day in maintenance of the utility houses.

ON MASCULINE FADS

Men speak of the inconsistency of women's styles.

They laugh at women's hats, they dislike levis, they consider slacks hilarious, they wonder at the various modes of women's coiffures.

But now—aha—the tables are turned. Aha. The time has come. West Texas State women today may scream merrily at the masculine fad of the passing season.

Dye and the barber's scissors have at last severed the remaining chains of women's bondage. Women may be assured, if they wish to so lower their mentality, that they are the mental equivalents of the male animal.

They might even say that they are on the same spiritual level. Somehow, though, it would be difficult to classify the spiritual quality of the meeker college men of this generation, for "spiritual" is not the adjective adequate to describe the force of life inspiring this sudden and recent acquisition of change in hair color.

To state the case simply, the girls rather enjoy viewing the black dye-jobs characterizing formerly blond males, the peroxidity of ex-brunettes. The red-hair, of course, they love instinctively.

In lending variety to the dull day-to-day routine of co-ed life, colorful new hair-do's add color to colorful personalities. Originality, too.

Besides, as we said, the girls like this woman-suffrage idea. And the current fad gives them opportunity to laugh awhile.

TURN OF THE WORLD DEPARTMENT: A letter from the manager of a Palm Beach premises who for the last three years has been busy as a radio chief in the Navy: "The Beach Club is open and going like gee-whiz. Most of the cabana boys are former ensigns and junior loueys and we have a louey-commander for head lifeguard. They're not exactly what we were used to in the old days, but all the enlisted men I know seem to be back at their desk as stock brokers, junior executives, and chairmen of boards, and we'll have to put up with what we can get for this year at least. Charles, the carriage starter, whom you will remember, is back. He was a commander, but I can't see the Navy did him any harm that a few weeks won't see corrected. Come on down. Everything is fine!"—Lucius Beebe in "Gourmet," February, 1946.

Sex Comes to Supper
"A woman is bewitchingly lovely in the act of eating."—A Guide for the Greedy, by Elizabeth R. Pennell.
How daintily she lifts her spoon
Up to her rosebud lips,
How charming is the gesture when
Her plate of soup she tips.
What joy there is in watching how
She gnaws a chicken bone,
How thrilling when she nibbles on
A tasty toasted scone.
To see her eat an artichoke
Is terribly exciting,
And when she's chewing mutton
chops
She's even more inviting.
A lovely woman knows the art
Of making male hearts quiver
And, lo, she even uses it
While toying with her liver!
—Gates Hebbard.

Frederick Packard writes in the "New Yorker" about a friend of his whose speech mannerism is "schizoverbia"—splitting a multiple word in two, and adding a word or two to make a descriptive phrase. In writing to the friend, Packard gives some examples of "schizoverbia":
"I first met Jimmy at a party some years ago on Thanksgiving afternoon. We left the party together, and as we were trying to get a taxi, a gang of street urchins clattered past us screaming and yelling. It was too much for Jimmy's nerves. 'Oh, shut up, you ragged little muggins!' he yelled. See? Later he referred to an elderly bank official he knew as 'that fussy old budget.' From then on I paid even closer attention to his conversation. 'Shortly before Jimmy went into the Army he achieved his masterpiece: one brief statement containing two examples of schizoverbia. He had spent Christmas in Connecticut with some people who had a lot of children, ranging in age from babies to kids home from boarding school. I asked him what sort of time he'd had. 'It was terrible,' he said. 'The most jammed-up bore I ever went to, and a houseful of chattering little boxes.'"

The Scavenger
"The parlour-maid and cook both gave notice."
"My stomach is not at all what it should be."
"Of course the telephone was out of order."
"The coal they sent was all stones and coal-dust."
"All the electric wiring has had to be renewed."
"I find it impossible to digest potatoes."
"My aunt has had to have eighteen of her teeth extracted."
Am I nothing but a dust-bin or kitchen sink for other people's troubles?
Have I no agonies, no indigestions, no Aunts of my own?

Baylor U. Captures Conference Title

Baylor University defeated Texas A&M College 44 to 41 last week to win the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

Out of 12 conference games this season, Baylor lost only one—to the University of Arkansas.

Jamie Dawson of A&M was high-point man for the night with 19 points and Jackie Robinson of Baylor scored 18.

Baylor won its only other championship in 1932. Last year its team did not win a single game.

Baylor's team, averaging 5 feet 11 inches, has taken the tree top boys to a cleaning this season. They have 23 victories against two defeats. The team has already received a feeler from the Metropolitan Invitation Tournament. It is pretty evident that the Baylor Bears will represent the southwest in the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional tournament at Kansas City.

The Bears left last Wednesday for an eastern tour during which they will play Canisus at Buffalo, New York, New York University at New York and Bainbridge Navy at Bainbridge, Maryland.

Wisconsin U. Sets Up 11-Point System

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 21 (I.P.).—

To help veterans make the difficult transition from the rigors of war to peace for which they fought, the University of Wisconsin has thoroughly oiled the gears of its educational machinery and added new parts to increase the efficiency of its services to the veterans. At the present time more than 1,200 veterans are enrolled in classes here.

Chosen as one of the first three vocational and educational centers to be established for veterans in the nation, the University has so far set up an 11-point program to assist veterans in their pursuit of an education. The University has:

1. Appointed some 40 faculty advisors thoroughly informed on veteran's agencies, federal and state legislation affecting the veteran, and the methods best suited to help him adjust to civil life, to give guidance and occupational diagnosis to veterans. The veteran is encouraged to take basic vocational and aptitude and intelligence tests to determine the course best suited to his talents and his ambitions.

2. Set up refresher courses for men who need re-training in the fundamentals of subjects they have studied but may have forgotten during their years of service. These include general refresher courses as well as specialized refresher courses in the Medical and Law schools.

3. Gave the veteran permission to take a light schedule until such a time as he feels capable of taking a full educational load.

4. Waived the required grade point average of 1.3 usually required of students entering the Law School without a bachelor's degree.

5. Established an eight-week term to run concurrently with the last half of this semester, to enable veterans returning to the campus to late to enroll in the regular classes to get started on their education.

6. Waived the customary fines for late registration in the case of veterans who are prevented from enrolling on regular registration dates by reason of late discharge from service.

7. Temporarily solved the housing problem.

ing shortage for the veteran by setting up a trailer village in Camp Randall, conveniently adjacent to the campus. In addition to the 91 trailers now set up more than 100 will soon be moved into the area to house additional veterans.

8. Extended University extension courses to hospitalized veterans throughout the country through the Armed Forces Institute.

9. Set up a separate fund for Wisconsin veterans in which is placed all fees collected in excess of the regular Wisconsin resident fee. Under the G.I. Bill of Rights, the federal government pays the full cost of veteran's tuition, which approximates the out-of-state tuition fee charged students. Should the cost of the veterans' tuition be deducted from any future bonuses declared by the federal government, the University thus stands ready to reimburse the Wisconsin veteran the amount in excess of the regular in-state fee.

10. Special efforts are made to insure disabled veterans a job after graduation.

11. Voted a credit bonus towards

Not All 4-F's Are To Be Called

Press reports from Washington this week indicated that young men of 4-F classification might be inducted into the armed forces under Selective Service. Official regulations do not make such a provision. As a matter of fact there are probably not more than two or three in Randall county who will come within the call.

Bufs Defeat Texas Tech in Thriller on Tuesday, 50-42

Locals Lead All the Way; Malone Impressive In Scoring 26 Points

The West Texas State Buffaloes did not produce a surprise last Tuesday night in defeating the Texas Tech Red Raiders, but they did make a capacity crowded gym rejoice when they ran over the Raiders, 50 to 42, in one of the most thrilling games to be played in Burton Gymnasium.

J. W. Malone went wild in his scoring and managed to sink 26 points of the 50 to claim overwhelmingly the scoring honors for both teams. Jay Kerr of Channing was close behind with 17 points for the losers.

The Raiders were able to tie the Bufs only once, at 3-3 shortly after the first tip-off, but this was the best they could do. The halftime score was 29 to 20. Twice West Texas State har a 14-point lead.

West Texas State seemed to wrap a tight defensive rope around Garland Head, who defeated the Bufs in a previous game. Head's mates were not screening for him as well as usual. Only twice was he able to hit that spectacular shot from mid-court.

Jay Kerr was the Red Raider greatest in defeat. He probably would have been the game's stand-out had Malone not been in such a rampaging mood. While Kerr was making 17 points he was also playing a grand floor game.

It was not a matter of Texas Tech being off form; they have played and were good enough to beat most teams. They lost because of Malone and because they were out-played under both backboards.

The Red Raiders made quite a battle of it, going on sudden scoring sprees and giving the Buffaloes an occasional scare. However, the closest they came after midway stage of the first period when they were within 8 points of the Buffaloes.

Kerr sparked most of these scoring sprees but was helped by Barton, Hardy, and Head.

Perhaps the greatest play of the day came when, after Tech had rolled up seven successive points, Hank Decker took a rebound and passed two-thirds of the way down court to Malone, who took the ball calmly in hand, dribbled down court by himself, and made an easy lay-in.

Ledru Jacobs and Frank Stockman played an especially good floor game and both managed to sink seven points. The spectacular ball handling of Jacobs and Stockman aided much in the defeat of Tech.

RIDING HERD

By Dale DeShazo

The West Texas State Buffaloes, sometimes advertised as "J. W. Malone and Company," really put on a show for a capacity crowd of people last Tuesday night in Burton Gym. The local quintet trampled over the Texas Tech Red Raiders 50 to 42 in an action-packed game. Bordon Price was doing an excellent job of guarding to help Hank Decker on the backboard and Stockman and Jacobs in their magnificent ball handling.

The Border Conference swings back into action next fall with all-member-schools rsuming football. It will be interesting to watch the play of teams composed of seasoned veterans of the recent war and the new players just out of high school. You can bet that there will not be a dull moment from the opening kick-off to the referee's final whistle.

In a recent issue of the Hardin-Simmons University Brand, an article states that Hardin-Simmons University, Texas Tech and the University of New Mexico have been picked as the likely contenders for the Border Conference football crown next season. Tech is not playing enough conference games to win the title so it looks as though the Cowboys versus the Lobos game will be the Highlight of the year.

West Texas State has a different opinion on the subject and will be turning out full force to take the conference crown.

With such players as Leroy Reeves, Larry Sanders, James Love and others already on the campus and players like Mack Winter, Willis Hedges, C. M. Teague and Buford Emler expected back, things look pretty cheerful for a successful season on the gridiron.

The 1946 gridiron schedule of West Texas State College is nearing its completion with only three open dates left. Only two home games appear on the schedule to date. A home game with a team such as Wichita University would certainly attract a lot of people.

Last week-end brought on the district 1-A basketball tournament at Canyon high school. The Dumas Demons coached by Ed Williams took the 1-A crown and the Dimmitt Bobcats coached by Velton Sogee were runners-up for the crown. Both Williams and Sogee are former athletic stars at West Texas State.

Track has begun at West Texas State. Coach Windy Nicklaus is in charge of these events and reports favorable prospects for the team. Already the team plans to enter the events at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show in March. Ather events will include a meet with Texas Tech, a meet at Albuquerque and then the Border Conference Tournament at Phoenix.

The hard of hearing are not so unfortunate as it might seem. They miss a lot of small talk.

Center

Glen Brotherton, understudy for center Hank Decker, has seen considerable action this season. Brotherton hails from Texhoma high school where he was captain and outstanding player on his team. He is a former navy man.

Bufs Wind Up Main Schedule

Defeat ENMC Five, 71 to 36; Leave For Albuquerque Thursday

The West Texas State Buffaloes wound up all the scheduled home games for the year Saturday night with a victory over the Eastern New Mexico State College Greyhounds 71 to 36.

Coach Miller-used 11 players in Saturday night's tangle but the usual starting five did most of the scoring, with Hank Decker, towering Buff center, counting 15 points to his Credit. Bill Stockman was close behind with 13 points, while J. W. Malone, the scoring ace of last week's Texas Tech game, was able to sink only 7 points. Hank Decker was only one point leader over Malone before the game began, but Decker's 15 points ran his total record to 283 for the season and Malone followed with 274.

The Buffaloes scored the same number of points against the Greyhounds in an earlier engagement this season when they downed them by a 71 to 42 count at Portales.

Saturday night's game was not very exciting compared to the Tech game of last Tuesday night. Everything happened that was expected to happen in the game; the scoring, the size of the crowd, and the way the teams would perform.

Coach Miller and team will leave Thursday morning for Albuquerque to play in the Border Conference tournament. The Buffs drew a first round bye and will not leave until Thursday morning. Arizona, New Mexico U., and West Texas State are said to be the strongest teams.

Sam Houston and East Texas Fight For Cage Title

Sam Houston State College basketball team for the first time this season, has taken an undisputed lead in the Lone Star Conference championship race. They defeated the North Texas State Eagles, 57 to 55 in one of the closest games in the Conference.

North Texas lost both of their games, the Eagles fell from a first place tie to fourth place after bowing to a strong Southwest Texas State five, 52 to 41.

The Huntsville College will probably meet the West Texas State Buffaloes sometime in March to decide the representatives of the National Intercollegiate Tournament at Kansas City.

Bufs May Bid For K. C. Meet

Play arranged between cage champions of the Texas Conference, the Lone Star Conference, and the best of the Texas teams in the Border Conference will determine the Texas entry in the Kansas City championship tournament, according to Coach Gus Miller of West Texas State College.

Miller is chairman of this district of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball.

It is Miller's suggestion that two of the three Texas teams play a two-game series, then the winner would meet the third to determine the Texas entry at Kansas City. In this way, the Texas quintets would avoid the gruelling play of an extended play-off tournament.

The play-offs planned by Miller would take place between March 4 and 8. The dates of the Kansas City tournament on March 11-16.

Willis Hedges, twin brother of Willard Hedges and former Buffalo pigskin star visited on the campus last week. Willis is a lieutenant in the Marines but plans to return to W. T. next fall.

CAPABLE

A girl entered the manager's office to apply for a job, and when asked if she had any particular qualifications or unusual talents, stated that she had won several prizes in crossword puzzle and slogan contests.

"That sounds good," the manager told her, "but we want somebody who will be smart during office hours."

"Oh," she explained brightly, "this was during office hours."

NEWS OF WEST TEXAS HIGH SCHOOL

Calves Defeat Memphis Five

On Friday night the Calves defeated that ex-Buffalo, Curtis Kelly's fighting five, 42-17.

Coach Morris' squad just couldn't get started in the first half and led by only 20 points at half time. This may sound bad, but the Calves were far from playing their regular game.

Hooper took scoring honors with 15 points. Russell followed with three field baskets and three free shots making a total of 9 points. Carter stepped out of line for a change and scored 7 points. Lambkins led the opponents with 7 points.

There are two more home games to be played this season. Phillips here this week and probably Amarillo in the middle of next week.

Calves Erased Dimmitt Bobcats

Tuesday afternoon the W. T. Calves opened the doors of Burton Gymnasium to the Dimmitt Bobcats to defeat them, the runners-up in District 1-A basketball competition 52-25.

This marked the twenty-fifth win, against four set-backs, for the Calves.

This was the second defeat the Bobcats have suffered this season by the Calves.

Russell and Hooper led the Calves' attack, hitting the basket for 15 and 13 points respectively. They were followed closely by Johnson, who poured four field goals and one free toss through the hoop to score a total of nine points. Rice, an outstanding guard for the opponents, was high man for his squad with eleven tallies.

Velton Sarge, an ex-Buffalo and coach of the Dimmitt squad, had three of the starting regulars in the game.

'La Vaquita' Begs For Snap Shots

The "La Vaquita" staff is literally begging for snapshots of typical W. T. life to be used in the annual which goes to press within the next month. The sixty-four pages, which is the maximum number possible, will be filled with students' pictures and W. T. activities. Since there is so little space for snapshots, only the best ones will be used.

Each one should tell a story within itself in order to bring, in later years, treasured memories of experiences with fellow students at W. T. If anyone has a picture which meets these requirements, he is urged to take it to the "La Vaquita" editor. These snapshots will be returned to the owner upon request if he places his name on the back of each picture.

A POEM

Ward,
A dusty old miner hidden in
The mountains.
Doing nothing but dreaming
Of days long passed when the Gold Rush was on.
When it was a boom town with
Much laughter, gaiety, and sorrow.
Now it is more or less a ghost
Town with only memories to Keep it flourishing.

JUNIORS IN GAME

The W. T. junior basketball team, consisting of seventh and eighth grade boys, played the junior Canyon high team last Friday afternoon. A pep squad organized by the girls indicated that there was real enthusiasm in the game from the sidelines.

If travel broadens one, than some of the femmes we've seen lately must have been around the world.

THE STUDENT UNION

The Student Council fought hard for the Student Union Room. They won the battle, though, and got it for the high school students every Tuesday night. You should take advantage of that offer to go there on Tuesdays and help the Council make a success of it. There are games including table tennis; and if you like, you can dance or read magazines.

Since the rules for the 8:30 period at school restrict talking, Tuesday night would be an excellent time for you to talk with your fellow-students and make friends with each other. So let's see everyone of you tonight and every Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Student Union room all ready for lots of fun.

KAMPUS KLATTER

Another week has rolled around, and so naturally more Kampus Klatter has been dug.

Oh! this red hair that floats around the campus is really quite the rage. But it is indeed blinding.

Leta McNutt, why don't you make up your mind between Bervin and Charles Wright.

Congratulations, Evelyn Berry, so you finally caught Dale. Here's hoping you can keep him.

Did anyone notice Billye Gill cheerfulness Friday? Was it because Lee was coming?

Virginia Hunter surprised the world by rolling up her hair and blooming out in a new hairo!

It is rumored that Virginia Reid is going steady with a boy from Canyon High. Could this be true, Malcolm Gunter?

A new development in the field of romance is Bette Brown and Tommy Hunter who have been seen around together lately.

What is this we hear about Dan Johnson and Beverly Beck?

Bill Knighton, you certainly do get around, well, with a certain college freshman anyway.

Just who is Sue White's new dream man? It couldn't be Mitchell Jones, could it?

Canyon High and W. T. High have mixed again, or so it seems with Johnnie Ford and Ken Stone.

Will anything come of Orzella Henson going with Nolan Jones? Could they be going steady?

Well, there is one thing Wayne Davis and Nila have in common, that's their names.

Happy days are here again for us that eat in the cafeteria. We're having ice cream for dinner, and we'd like to say "Thanks, and keep it coming good and regular."

What is this between Melvin Smith and Ann Crawford? Let's hope this romance will amount to something.

Who's Who

A student at W. T. whom everyone likes is Zane Axe. During his six years here, he has developed a knack for solving math problems without much difficulty. In fact he likes it so well he has taken all the math which is offered here, and likes Mr. Briggs especially.

Zane plays right guard on the football team and takes an interest in all the sport activities carried on in ole W. T.

Unless Uncle Sam offers his invitation to Zane to join the Marines before next fall, he plans to attend college and be a math major.

Steak is one of the most important factors in his life; he likes French-fried potatoes as a follow-up. Movie stars and girls are minor objectives of Zane. He definitely has one of those "under-cover" romances which seems to be something left over from his childhood days and could not be discussed in this column.

Our corridor co-ed this week is that vivacious Evelyn Berry. You'll know her by her individual cocky smile, the tilt of her head, and lilt of her walk.

In the form of real identification —her hair is light brown, her eyes are blue, and she is five feet five inches tall. When all this is summed up, she is just an average American girl.

Evelyn's hands are perhaps her most creative asset; because she not only has art for her favorite subject, but is a very outstanding student in the course. This is her first year to take art, but she plans to make use of her talent by making it her avocation and her vocation after she has finished college.

The male situation in Evelyn's life is quite unique. "Ha, ha" is all she says when men are mentioned.

She is more definite about her rood. She dotes on banana cream pie with more bananas than girl.

Library Club Has Skits on Etiquette

The Library Club had one of the yearly teas given for the parents and visitors on February 22. The Homemaking Clubs had charge of the program. The boys that prepared the food for the skit were Billy Moore and Glenn Bell.

Courtesy and mannerisms were the topics of the short skits.

Beverly Beck and Benny Bonington gave the incorrect way to call to make a date and the incorrect way to call for a girl. Mitchell Jones and Mary Wilborn presented the correct way. Mary and Mitchell also gave the correct way to walk down the street, enter a theater and how to leave. Also on the program, correct introductions and the use of good manners in a restaurant and at a party were given.

Carrie Marie Dawdy served as mistress of ceremonies.

After the program, heart shaped cookies and tea was served in the Library. The boys preparing the refreshments for the tea were: Ted Fain, Truman Price, Merle Ewton, Carter Gillespie, Franklin Bauer, Leroy Bauer, Benny Joe Cupell, Edward Lehnick, Ike Wilcock, and Pat Miller.

Those officiating at the tea were: Mildred Carter, Janice Cartwright, Charles Nunley, Max Downing, and Mitchell Jones.

Senior Play Is Chosen

"Spring Green" has been chosen as the play to be presented by the seniors this year. The play is a Samuel-French production. "Spring Green" will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Rex Lovelady and supervision of Miss Helen White Moore, senior sponsor.

Tryouts for the play await the arrival of the playbooks, but production will begin sometime in the early part of March. "Spring Green" is a three-act comedy which centers around the complexing problem of earthworms. The drama takes place in a modest home of a small town which faces a disastrous housing shortage. The events which ensue are the result of roomers, a certain Major Todd and his unpredictable son whose whole life centers around Jumbo and Salome, a lovely pair of earthworms.

Dr. Coers Speaks On Woldr Today

On February 18 the junior and senior students of W. T. High had the pleasure and privilege of hearing Dr. Morris H. Coers, a nationally known lecturer and speaker from Indianapolis, Ind. deliver an address at the Canyon High School auditorium. He related his experiences during his world-travel and gave his ideas and viewpoints on "Making International Organization Effective."

Dr. Coers was an excellent speaker. He held his audience in complete attention and interest through his entire address, which was filled with sparkling originality and thought giving expressions. He was a chaplain in the Army and in the Marines during the war, and as a chaplain, he said, "Don't let anyone fool you; when the extremities come, we all turn to God." He also said, regarding racial prejudice, that "it takes both the black notes and the white keys to play the 'Star Spangled Banner.'"

He said that he definitely approved of general military training, yet it was not the greatest army that made the greatest nation. It was strength from within. He stated, "Don't let anyone tell you that a great army makes a great nation. France had the greatest army the world had ever seen at the beginning of the war, and today she is in the scrap-heap."

"It was not that we out-fought the world in this war—it was that we out-thought the world."

After his address proper, Dr. Coers called for questions from his audience, and several interesting topics were discussed as a result.

Dr. Coers was the first of a series of four speakers being brought to Canyon by the Rotary Club. W. T. High extends its gratitude to the Rotary for this opportunity to hear some of the nation's most outstanding speakers.
