BAYLOR AND TEXAS BEATEN ON ROAD TRIP BY BUFFS

PREXY ATTENDS MEETING SCHOOL LAW COMMITTEE

Report of School Survey Commission is Given Attention

STUDY SCHOOL LAWS Needs of State Owned Schools Will Be Discussed

President J. A. Hill left Thursday for Fort Worth to attend the meeting of the Texas Education Commission, which was in session January 7 and 8. A number of men were present who are prominent in Texas education. The organization, which was formulated last year, represents varied interests of the State co-operating for better public school conditions in Texas.

The entire time of the commission at this meeting was devoted to the study of school law proposals made by a special committee of the recent Texas School Survey Commission. The committee, composed of Pat Neff and T. D. Brooks of Waco and Tom Finty Jr. of Dallas, recommended several constitutional amendments and some special bills aimed to clarify Texas school management and financial problems.

While absent from Canyon, President Hill will attend a meeting of the presidents and boards of regents of all the institutions of higher learning in Texas. These presidents and boards will attempt to agree upon recommendations to be presented to the legislature which is soon to meet. Their recommendations will have to do with the appropriations for the support of the eight state teachers colleges, the State University, A. & M., Texas Technological college and the College of Industrial Arts.

This is the first time that representatives of all these institutions have tried to get together and agree upon the support necessary for each of them.

Because of its astounding growth in attendance, the Teachers college at Canyon is now suffering the greatest handicap of any state college in Texas. The state board of control has recommended one large building and extensive remodeling and improvement of the building which now composes the college plant.

The college at Canyon has had no enlargement of its working space since 1916. Since that time its attendance has increased more than 250 per cent. President Hill believes that the legislature is aware of the great development which is taking place in this section of Texas and the consequent tax which is being put upon the institutions of this territory to take care of their increasing attendance, and that a new building or buildings are sure to be provided for this institution.

Jarrett Given Pipe By Members Senior Class

At the last class meeting before Christmas the Senior Class presented Mr. Jarrett, the sponsor of the class, with a merschaum pipe of which he says he's very proud. He told the class that he had resolved to quit smoking, but he later asked one of the members, "Just smell of that!" He said, "It's just right. I'm going to keep it and will it to my grandchildren."

Benefit Plays Being Rehearsed

Students of the department of public speaking are preparing a pre-act play under the direction of Miss Brown and Mr. Batchelder. Rehearsals are being held for the play, "The Irresistible Marmalade" will be presented within a few weeks under the auspices of the Ex-Students Association. A portion of the proceeds will go to the Mary E. Hudspeth Hall fund.

STUDE OPINION TO BE PRINTED

Column Opened For Appearance of All Current Comment

Following a request by the Students Council, The Prairie will open its columns for the appearance of comment on any phases of student and college activity, beginning with the issue of January 18. The request by the Council followed protests filed with that body by the students who contended that not enough of student opinion and student thought appeared in The Prairie.

The column will be run regularly by The Prairie as long as students maintain sufficient interest to justify it. Members of The Prairie Staff expressed themselves as favoring the move and expressed a desire to see the varied interests of the student body discussed in the column by the students themselves. Contributions intended for this column must be signed by the name and student number of the writer and filed in The Prairie office before Friday evening previous to the time of issue.

Seventy-Three On Honor Roll

Miss Edna Graham, chairman, Dean L. G. Allen, Dean Mary McLean, and Dean Albert Barnett, members of the committee on the student honor roll, announce that seventy-three people have records of sufficient excellence to merit them a place on the roll for the fall quarter. The roll is as follows:

Visiting Athlete Breaks Tradition

Members of the library staff had their customary composure visibly shaken Monday morning, when one of the men of the visiting basketball team of the Southwestern Teachers' of Oklahoma, entered the library, checked out a book, and calmly resumed the study which presumably, had been broken into when he started on the road trip. Open mouthed wonder greeted this action which is believed to be unique in the history of college athletics.

Upon being questioned as to the reason for this calm defiance of tradition, the young man, by name, Doc McGavock, said that a term theme is anxiously awaiting his return home. When he learned that such an action would inevitably be published in the college paper, he requested that a copy be sent him, as he wants to surprise the instructors at Southwestern who apparently doubt his knowledge of the function of libraries.

STAFF WRITERS ARE ASSIGNED NEW POSITIONS

Few Changes Made In Plan of News Staff Organization

MUSIC CRITIC ADDED Writers Will Be Given Press Club Award at End of Year

Final assignment of positions to staff members of The Prairie were announced Friday afternoon at the regular staff meeting. Few changes in the general plan of staff organization are seen from the announcement. In all cases assignments were made on the basis of the work done by the writers during the fall quarter and in respect to the needs of the paper. The major change noted is in the editorial department where there are only two issue editors rather than the usual four. The addition of a special music critic and the postponement of the selection of the managing editor until later in the year are the other differences from former staff plans.

The staff, as formulated, is composed of two issue editors, Miss Sammie Jones, and Delmer Ashworth, who will assume general responsibility for the gathering of news on alternate weeks, and the society, feature, sport, and ex-student departments with a department editor heading each division. Myrtle Hood is society editor and she will be aided by Mildred Huckleby, Dalma Fry, and Virginia Hale. Lucille Astracan and Opal Dutton are co-editors of the feature department and will draw on the editorial department for assistance when needed. H. D. Landis, who has been serving as sports editor during the fall quarter, was appointed to the place permanently. Walter Cowart, J. R. Wrinkle, and Hardin Boyles are sports writers who will assist Landis in the department. Miss Ruth Lowes, who has served as ex-student editor for the past year, will continue her work and will be aided by members of the editorial department. Miss Corinne Hamill will write all musical news appearing in the paper.

Violet West, Lorene Parker, Nell Galloway, W. G. Wallace, Gretchen Howell, Winnie Jones, staff writers with a year's experience with The Prairie, were assigned to the editorial department and will carry the burden of the reportorial work, considered of ranking importance in newspaper work. Doll Birdwell and Clara V. Forester, recent additions to the staff, will also work in the editorial department.

All of these people, with the exception of Miss Birdwell and Miss Forester, will be awarded the "T" and Quill pin at the end of the spring quarter if they meet the requirements of the award. The "T" and Quill pin is given by Type High, the local press club, for valuable services and consistent work, and is awarded only to people who have at least three quarters of work to their credit. All of them are eligible to compete for the Hinkle Award of $25 for the most valuable staff member of the newspaper which is to be given annually at the end of each spring quarter.

Prexy Hill Extends New Year Greetings to Students

The year 1926 is a memory. For most of those who will read these lines, the old year no doubt holds many valuable recollections. Many of the dreams of last New Year have been realized, and we find ourselves richer and better therefor—richer in ideals, richer in knowledge, and better prepared to do the work the world needs done. No doubt, too, there are things each of us would forget—things when we stooped beneath our best selves; occasion when we soiled our hands with unworthy deeds; incidents that bring the blush of shame to our cheeks; thoughts that pollute and obstruct the stream of noble living. The year 1927 is a hope. Each of us faces it with the fond expectation that somehow it holds for us a bag of gold; and so it does. It offers us more opportunities to learn, more things to do, more wholesome pleasures to enjoy, and more solid satisfactions of mind and heart than any year that has past; and yet these good things will not come to us unsought. Happiness and achievement are not accidental; the bag of gold which the year 1927 holds for us will not be self-revealed. Each of us must seek if we would find. Each of us must knock if we expect the door to be opened.

My fondest wish is that each of us may so think and feel and act in 1927 as to produce in us the greatest joy and render to our fellows the greatest possible service.

Cordially yours,
J. A. HILL.

J. J. BENNETT IS DEAD AT HOME; REGENT MEMBER

Gave Constant Interest to Needs of State Institutions

URGED RECREATION Thought Student Resorts of Major Import to the School

Saturday night members of the faculty received news of the death at San Antonio, Texas, of J. J. Bennett who has served on the Board of Regents of the State Teachers Colleges for a period of six years.

Those who have been closely associated with the West Texas State Teachers College during its years of growth and struggle feel that they, personally, and the institution have lost a staunch friend—one who gave constant and intelligent interest to the problems of this college and of the men and women who make up its faculty and student body.

J. J. Bennett, of Stephenville believed that the interests of West Texas and of this College in particular, were in a peculiar way his interests, for he had been identified with the development of the West for almost all of his life.

A. B. Martin, another member of the Board of Regents, recently said, "Few men can and do give as much attention to their duties as Regents as J. J. Bennett gives to his."

Mr. Bennett has repeatedly urged upon President Hill and his fellow-members of the Board, the importance of providing places of wholesome recreation for students and faculty of this college; it is due to his thoughtful interest that the purchase of the old T-Anchor Ranch headquarters is included in the budget at this meeting of the Legislature; he desired that this tract become an outing place for the Canyon student-teacher group.

Although Mr. Bennett had wide business interests and duties, he knew every member of this faculty by name and knew the problems and ambitions of many; he always wanted to make conditions under which they worked pleasanter; he frequently looked out from the windows of the college building and said "So much room in this great country; this college should have more of it to use."

The sorrow which his friends feel in the passing of Mr. Bennett is mingled with gratitude for the services which he has rendered to the state of Texas, through his efforts to help solve her educational problems.

At a short called meeting of the faculty Saturday night Professor R. P. Jarrett was selected to attend the funeral of Regent J. J. Bennett at Stephenville, Monday. President J. A. Hill met Mr. Jarrett there.

Buffalo Tailors Change Ownership

Allen King and Ben Beck have bought the Buffalo Tailor Shop from A. A. Malone and are now in charge of the business. Mr. King is an ex-student of the West Texas State Teachers College and formerly lived at Spearman. His partner, Ben Beck, is a student in the College here at the present time.

DAVIES ARTISTS GIVE "MASCOT" SATURDAY NIGHT

Unusually Fine Voices are Evident Throughout The Cast

MASCOT IS STRONG Lack of Orchestra Does Not Detract Greatly From Effectiveness

The Davies Opera Company presented the light opera, "The Mascot" in the auditorium Saturday night to a large and very appreciative audience. The entire cast possessed unusually fine voices and their acting was equally good. The part of Bettina, the Mascot, was especially well played and George Mulvaney, manager of the company made a very pleasing Pippo. The part of Lorenzo, Prince of Piombino, was cleverly done, presenting much of the comedy interest throughout the opera.

The Mascot has long been one of the more popular light operas; the lines are clever, the score is good and as presented here contained several interpolated solos. The opera was given with piano accompaniment, but neither the lack of an orchestra nor the lack of elaborate scenery detracted materially from the adequacy of the performance.

Societies Split Annual Debates

Literary society debates were staged before a background of pep demonstrations just before the close of the fall quarter. The subject discussed was: "Resolved, that a national department of Education with a secretary in the president's cabinet should be created." The affirmative side of the question was taken by the Antler and Elapheians and the negative by the Cousins and Sesames.

Lucille Astracan and Dolphia Carmack, representing the Elapheians, won their debate from the Sesames, represented by Violet West and Alva Beach. The Antlers, represented by Archibald Lang and Earl Sparks, lost to the Cousins, represented by Emmett Hazlewood and Carl Periman.

Light in Biology Lab is Improved

Professor L. S. Baker and the college electrician have just completed the installation of table lights for the use of students in the Biology laboratory. The wiring is in conduit tubes which run to each table position. Each student will have a high candle power shaded light which will aid in microscope work and general laboratory routine.

HALE AND FULLER ARE POISON TO BEARS AND STEERS; SCORE 28-15, 41-36

Baylor University and the University of Texas were trod beneath the Buffalo hoof last week in their gymnasiums in two of the most brilliant early season games on record. Baylor was beaten 28-15, and Texas, offering stiff battle throughout the game, was beaten 41-36 in an extra period game. Coach Burton's men played brilliant basketball in both of the games with the Southwest Conference teams, and proved beyond a doubt that "Burton has another team that will win."

Coach Burton is happy today and for good reason. His Buffaloes vindicated his faith in them in trouncing the strongest teams in the Southwest Conference. For five years Burton has endeavored without success to secure games with the Southwest Conference teams. This year he secured two games with the leading teams of the Conference, Baylor and Texas University. When the Buffaloes left Canyon Sunday night, January 2, for the South there was not one person in town who felt that the team had a chance to beat the Bears of Baylor and the Loughnons of Texas. When asked about the games Coach Burton had little to say, but went about his work in his quiet, unassuming manner.

Mr. Burton and his team arrived in Waco on the morning of the 3rd of January, took a light workout in the afternoon and that night went to see the game between the Bears and the Sul Ross Teachers which the Bears won easily by a score of 28 to 14. The Bears looked powerful in this game and nervousness became evident among the members of the Buffalo team and as the time of the game drew near, Coach Burton was the most nervous man in the whole bunch. When the Buffaloes came on the court the night of the game there was not the semblance of a cheer for them from the meager crowd of 200 students gathered in the Bear gym. The game began and the Buffaloes took the lead with seven points made in less than three minutes. The Bears appeared demoralized by this unexpected showing and were not able at any stage of the game to overcome the commanding lead the Buffaloes had taken. Captain Hale played his men entirely on the defense during the last half, making the Bears come down the floor after the ball. Fuller was the high point man of the game with 12 points, made with all manner of shots. It seemed that "Preach" could not miss. Hale and Lowes played the floor with great speed and brilliance. Pearson and Ward at guards were the bulwark of the Buffalo defense, their guarding was the main reason why the Baylor score was no greater. The game ended 28 to 15 and the Bear supporters had new respect for the Buffalo team and for the Buffalo Coach.

The team left Waco for Austin on the morning of the 5th of January and arrived in the capitol about noon. The Texas team were more respectful to the prowess of the Buffalo team and were afraid of the result of the game. This fear was real when the Buffaloes took the floor that night and scored four points in the first thirty seconds of play. The Texas team settled down to real guarding and passing and the score swayed from one side to the other with the Maroon and White leading at the end of the half 16 to 14. Five minutes before the end of the game the Steer team had a nine point lead on the Bisons and nothing but the most brilliant playing imaginable was capable of overcoming such a lead. Captain Hale ran wild this night scoring eighteen points while being guarded by the best guard in the Southwest, Oile, of Texas University football and basketball fame. It was the shooting of Hale that untied the score in the five minute playoff after the regular playing game had ended with the score tied at 36-all. It might be interesting to know that the Buffaloes scored fourteen points in the last ten minutes while the Steers scored none. Fuller, Ward, Lowes, Pearson and Keith were all brilliant and eclipsed only by the great playing of Captain Hale. The game ended 41 to 36.

In the most thrilling game ever seen on a local floor, the Buffs lost to the Bulldogs of Southwestern Teachers College of Weatherford, Oklahoma, by a score of 45 to 32. The 13 points difference in the score doesn't indicate anything like the nature of the contest.

At the end of the half, due to the superb work of Lowes, who scored 15 points in the period, the Buffs led by a score of 19 to 15. As the second half opened the Buffs immediately increased their lead to eight points, but at the middle of the half the visitors had headed the Maroon and White and were leading by 3 points.

With six minutes to play and three points behind, Alex Hale looped a pair to put the Buffs in the lead, 30 to 29. Thus stood the score with five minutes to go. Then the storm broke. From the middle of the floor the Bulldogs looped three in quick succession. From then on the Herd was unable to head them.

The teams meet again tonight at eight o'clock.

Granbury to Talk to Phi Alpha Tau

Prof. John C. Granbury, head of the department of Sociology and Philosophy at Texas Technological College, will be the guest of the local society, Phi Alpha Tau, tomorrow evening. Prof. Granbury will appear before the society Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. at their meeting in Room 211. At that time he will deliver an address on "Reflective Thinking in Social Science."

Prof. Granbury will apply his subject to several angles of the scientific methods now used, discussing reflective thinking as contrasted to "common sense" methods, and the extent to which the scientific method of to-day can be used in the field of Natural Sciences. He will review some of the major achievements of the method of reflective thinking, and will point out the obstacles met by scientific methods of study, due to complexes in the personality of the student.

A thirty minute social gathering will follow Prof. Granbury's lecture.

Club Reporters! Notice.

All club reporters elected to report the activities of their organizations to The Prairie are requested to meet in Room 212 on Friday, January 14, at 3:30 o'clock. This meeting is of considerable importance and any club reporter failing to attend without reasonable cause will not be permitted to make further reports of his club's activity, subject to the approval of his organization.

All clubs are requested to retain last quarter's reporters where these officers have given satisfaction or have regularly submitted their reports to The Prairie. Both of these requests are made in an attempt to improve the type of news stories coming from the student organizations.

Student Opinion

Announcement is made on page one of the opening of a column in The Prairie for the appearance of student comment of various topics which interest the student body in general. The Prairie is glad to open this column and its sincere hope is that the students will show enough interest in the trend of affairs to keep this column filled with new and pertinent comment each week.

No rules or restrictions as to material which will be printed in this column have been made. Rules are oppressive things, at best, and The Prairie wants the students to feel free to express themselves as they see fit. It is probable that occasionally articles and letters will be submitted which will not appear in the student newspaper, but any article that keeps within the realm of decency and intelligence will gladly be printed.

The students are welcome to discuss their newspaper with its editors at any and all times. The editors have never felt that they were criterion in the way of journalistic excellence and are not likely to assume that attitude in the future. Any suggestions that will lead to improvement of The Prairie will be received with gratitude and appreciation. Letters and comment pertaining to The Prairie will not, then, be barred from the new column and the students are welcome to discuss the newspaper as they see fit.

The new column has possibilities for good which can be realized only if the students in general take an interest in what it contains.

Walter Camp Memorial

Bronze tablets, attached to the bulky but beautiful Walter Camp memorial to be erected on the campus at Yale, will bear the names of several hundred colleges and schools over the length and breadth of America. The name of the West Texas State Teachers College will appear with the others, by virtue of last night's and tonight's basketball games.

It isn't so much because Walter Camp is the father of the modern game of football that the nation reveres his memory. Camp was a man four-square, who believed in the golden rules of fair play and clean fight, in the game for the game's sake, and for the health of the youth of America. Camp saw more than gigantic crowds and staggering gate receipts in the game of football. He saw more than the crazed crowds filled with partisan enthusiasm, and the pages and pages of football publicity which we devour during the season.
He saw the game he loved and believed in, penetrating to the most remote rural districts of his country, building health and endurance in the fibre of the men of America.
He saw the grim specter of ill health and disease fade and pass away and, taking its place the staccato thud of toe on pigskin, and the swirling rush of runner and tackler under the cool blue sky of America.

But Camp did not stop there.
The "setting-up" exercises that come to you over the radio each morning were started and conceived on a wide scale by this man whose ideal was health for the millions. His influence, more than that of any other single individual, is responsible for the healthful vigor of American people.

For this reason, as well as for his work in behalf of football, is America grateful for memory of Walter Camp.

Libraries and the Movies

Libraries in America have become property assets for the movies, according to a news story emanating from the University of Chicago. The library has just as many bizarre requests as the harassed back stage official who must produce a nut sundae or a copy of the Declaration of Independence at the most unexpected times.

The Los Angeles public library, naturally, does most of such research work. "The most popular subjects are historical, costumes of European countries, and data on western and frontier life in this country. The library has a vast collection of pictures, which have a 60,000 yearly circulation.

"One day's requests to the reference room included a query for the death warrant for Mary Queen of Scots, for a policeman's club used on the island of Haiti, and for proof that lamb chops were eaten in Chaldea in the year

Home Ec Club
Chooses Officers

At the last meeting of the Home Economics Club plans for the winter quarter were discussed. Miss Foote, the sponsor, gave an outline of the duties of the various officers and each girl elected expressed a desire to do her part toward making the club grow.

The officers of the club are:
Viola Jones, President; Thelma Dumas, Vice President; Jennie Osburn, Secretary; Ruth Bloodworth, Treasurer; Elva Lemons, Student Council Representative; Elizabeth Hayes, Parliamentarian; Veda Swafford, Prairie Reporter.

Christmas Spirit at Last Y. W. Session

Christmas spirit invaded the Y.
W. C. A. meeting on the last Wednesday before Christmas, and filled the hearts of those present with joy. A Christmas tree beautifully decorated occupied the center of the room in which the meeting was held. The devotional exercises were opened by Christmas Carols and Lois Lyons read the Christmas story from the scriptures.

Miss Ada V. Clark outlined a definite plan for organizing and presenting music in the rural schools. She discussed rural school glee clubs, classification voices and mentioned songs and phonograph records suitable for the different grades and seasons. In conclusion, Miss Clark said, "I hope that every Y. W. girl will make a resolution in her heart not to let any child die with his music in him."

Following Miss Clark's lecture, the Y. W. girls received the greatest treat of the year. Miss Mary McLean, dean of women, told the beautiful story of "The Other Wise Man." The lovely story and Miss McLean's personality gave each girl a lasting impression of the spirit of Christmas.

Sesames Pep Evident
at Last Meeting

On December 17 the Sesame Literary Society held its last meeting of the fall quarter. A joint pep meeting with the Cousins Literary Society opened the program.
After a few snappy yells and songs, in preparation for the debate between the Antlers and Coun-sins, the meeting was turned over to a business session. The following officers were elected for the winter quarter: Gretchen Howell, president; Nellie Jo Baucum, vice president; Lois Lyon Bennett, secretary; Mary Estes, treasurer; Price Moorman, Prairie reporter; Mary Cowart, sergeant-at-arms; Louise Walker, yell leader.

Bridge Enjoyed at Foote Home

One of the most charming affairs of the Christmas season was the bridge and forty-two party given by Miss Falba Foote at her home on Tuesday, December 28.
The decorations were in keeping with Christmas as was the spirit of the affair. After an enjoyable time had been spent in playing bridge and forty-two, dainty refreshments were served to the following guests: Misses Grace and Ada Clark, Hazel Allen, Florence

McMurtry, Jessie DeGraftenreid, Ruth Lowes, and Oliver, of Amarillo.

Elapheians Give Pre-
Holiday Program

At the last regular meeting of the Elapheians, December 17, an interesting pre-Christmas program was enjoyed by the society. The program consisted of a vocal solo by Eula Smalley; selections, composed and read by Thelma Duke;
violin solo, Bill Beavers; reading, Dalma Fry; piano solo, Imogene McIntire; reading, Bess Cobb, and a monologue by Opal Dutton.

Following the program a business meeting was held and officers were elected for the first quarter of 1927. Lucille Astracan was chosen president of the society;
Alice Dawes, vice president; Grace
Ferguson, secretary; Lily Clark, treasurer; Dolphia Carmack, council representative; Marie Miles, yell leader; Bill Beavers, sergeant at arms; Thelma Duke, Prairie reporter.

The executive committee of the society is to meet the first and third Friday nights; the regular meetings will be the second and fourth Friday nights.

First regular meeting of the society January 14, in room 101.

Elapheians Entertained
at Astracan Home

Miss Lucille Astracan, the new president of the Elapheian Literary Society, entertained the executive council of the organization with a dinner party at her home on Friday evening of last week. The following officers were present:
Alice Dawes, vice president; Grace
Ferguson, Secretary; Lillie Clark,
Treasurer, and Dolphia Carmack, student council representative.

WHAT IS THE T. I. P. A.

Now, at the beginning of this school year the officials of the student publications are already concerning themselves with plans for the meeting of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association, which is to be held at Trinity university next April. The fine details of the program being worked out by the officers with the purpose of bringing together the leading colleges and university writers of Texas and one or more outstanding American journalists should command the attention of all.
Through their news and editorial columns the editors and managers annual event of the association, however, the local executive board has planned an extension and intensification program which will probably increase the organization to much greater size and utility.

The division of the member colleges into junior and senior college groups is expected to attract additional members into each group.
A campaign for an increase in the awards offered in contests is expected to stimulate activity among the present members and draw other colleges into the ranks of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association. Again, an official organ will assist in making the Association more vital in the work of the various press clubs of the member colleges.—Trintonian, Trinity University.

In some unimportant details the standards for membership in the press organization are raised each year. The criterion for advancement has, since the beginning of the Association, been grounded in the principles, ethics, and ideals of the best metropolitan newspapers of the nation. Today the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association is approaching, more rapidly than ever before, its ideal of becoming an active agent in the formation of college journalism in Texas.—

Elapheians Give Pre-
Holiday Program

At the last regular meeting of
the Elapheians, December 17, an interesting pre-Christmas program
program consisted of a vocal solo
by Eula Smalley; selections, composed and read by Thelma Duke;
violin solo, Bill Beavers; reading, Dalma Fry; piano solo, Imogene McIntire; reading, Bess Cobb, and
a monologue by Opal Dutton.

Following the program a business meeting was held and officers
were elected for the first quarter of 1927. Lucille Astracan was chosen president of the society;
Alice Dawes, vice president; Grace
Ferguson, secretary; Lily Clark,
treasurer; Dolphia Carmack, council representative; Marie Miles,

society is to meet the first and
third Friday nights; the regular
fourth Friday nights.

First regular meeting of the society January 14, in room 101.

Elapheians Entertained

Miss Lucille Astracan, the new president of the Elapheian Literary Society, entertained the executive

following officers were present:

Ferguson, Secretary; Lillie Clark,
Treasurer, and Dolphia Carmack,

WHAT IS THE T. I. P. A.

student publications are already
concerning themselves with plans
for the meeting of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association,
which is to be held at Trinity university next April. The fine details of the program being worked
out by the officers with the purpose of bringing together the leading colleges and university writers
of Texas and one or more outstand-
command the attention of all.
columns the editors and managers of the Trintonian are preparing the

SLAVES

In a quarter-century the General Electric Company has produced electric motors having a total of more than 350-000,000 man-power. Electric light, heat, and transportation have also contributed to the freeing of men. These are America's slaves. Through their service American workers do more, earn more, and produce quality goods at lower cost than anywhere else in the world.

The college-trained man is the first to grasp these facts which raise man from a mere source of physical power to be a director of power, thus realizing the true economic value of the human mind.

Lois Lyon Is Married Christmas

Dan Cupid still has a supply of arrows as is shown by the Christmas victims. One member of the senior class received the fatal thrust, but she is still here to receive her degree with the others of the class. Miss Lois Lyon became the bride of Mr. Davis S. Bennett on Christmas evening at the home of Rev. G. H. Morrison of Haskell. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Lyon of Stamford and is a very popular member of the student body of the College, having spent all of her college career here. The groom is the son of Mrs. J. M. Bennett of Stamford and is an employee of the Rule-Jayton Cotton Oil Company.

Club is Named After Sponsor

Personality is the keynote of the C. W. Batchelder Debating Club. All the work of the club is spiced with an individual flavor of pep, interest and fun. Mr. Batchelder, the sponsor of the club, is in this institution for the first time this year. He is responsible to a great extent for the unusual interest taken in the club. He has had much experience in debate work, and has many valuable suggestions to offer. His attitude towards the workers is pleasing and helpful. He gives valuable criticisms of each of the individual speakers in each debate in a witty, sympathetic way, that invites ease and induces the debaters to laugh away their embarrassment.

The club grew out of a need felt by all students interested in debate work for some organization to unify and promote attention and interest in the forensic field. Its purpose is to develop independent power of thinking. Its aim is to train students to do scientific thinking, and to express their thoughts adequately.

Most of the work of the club has been in formal debate, however some light programs including extemporaneous speeches on "My Greatest Thrill," and Friday afternoon programs were planned for the primary purpose of entertainment.

A great future is provided for this club, which is now only an infant of three months. Many of the intercollegiate debaters will probably be chosen out of the club this year, and it is hoped that in the future all debaters will take the advantages offered by the organization.

Miss Foote Honored by the Olivers

Miss Falba Foote, head of the department of home economics of West Texas State Teachers College, was the honoree at a lovely party given Monday evening, January 3, by Miss Maymie Oliver at the Oliver home, 1612 Polk street in Amarillo. Miss Foote was the guest of Miss Oliver during the holidays.

The rooms were made attractive by gay holiday decorations, creating an appropriate atmosphere for the games and contests which were features of the evening's entertainment. A plate luncheon was served to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Oliver, the parents of the hostess assisted in entertaining the guests.

Wrinkle Is New Cousins President

Cousins met for the first time this quarter Friday night. A good representative body was present and the election of officers for the new session was taken up.

The following men were chosen to lead the Society in the work of this term:

J. R. Wrinkle—President.
Dalton Ford—Vice President.
Odell Head—Secretary.
Frank Jones—Prairie Reporter.
Willie McCarty—Yell Leader.
Noel Lott—Sergeant-at-arms.

The peppy speeches that were made after the election indicate that the members really mean to support the officers and program committee in arranging and carrying out the work of the society.

An interesting program of work is being planned for this term and it begins with the very next meeting of the society which comes on Friday the 14th at 7:15 o'clock in room 205.

Here is the program that is to be given on that date:

Music—Orchestra.
Song—Cousins quartet.
Reading—Willie McCarty.
Experiences in Borger—Boone McClure.
Impersonations of Will Rogers—Allen King.

Christmas Vacation Enjoyed in Canyon

Final examinations over, a group of students hiked out to Hale's Park, Wednesday evening, Dec. 22. A very pleasant time was had around the camp fires while the crowd was entertained by a series of duets by Archie Lang and Preston Wohlford.

On Thursday following Christmas a group of about twenty-five made a trip to the Lighthouse canyons. Climbing was the major sport on this occasion until near 1:00 o'clock when eating surpassed everything else.

Several parties were planned for the Stay-at-Homers during the holidays. The old year was watched out and the year ushered in by a jovial crowd of night hawks that attended the midnight matinee at the Olympic on New Year's Eve.

Frat Council To Aid Life Workers

Fraternity Council work for the winter quarter was started last Friday at one o'clock. Few members of the Council were absent and aside from transacting the business, interesting plans for the work were discussed. One of the projects considered was that each church plan a get together meeting for its life service members at which these people might receive greater spiritual and personal ties. The second project discussed was the sponsoring of a young peoples' union meeting. In this way the Council hopes that the young people of the various churches may become better acquainted and render a larger volume of service to each other.

Louise Shanklin is Hostess to Friends

During the Christmas holidays Miss Louise Shanklin entertained a number of her friends with a bridge party at her home. Mrs. J. Davis Hill was the guest of honor. After several games of bridge, refreshments of hot chocolate and fruit cake were served. Out of town guests present included: Mrs. J. Davis Hill, Misses Mable McQueen and Wilma Neely.

Dorothy Blanton, a student of the college last year, is spending a few days in Canyon. She is teaching in Bushland this year.

The Type High Club will have a meeting this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Y.W.C.A. Meeting Is Well Attended

The Y. W. C. A. held its first regular meeting of the New Year Wednesday, Jan. 5, with twenty-eight girls present.

The devotional was lead by Louise Walker after which various girls commented upon the work being done by the Y. W. and discussed plans for this quarter. An encouraging number of girls agreed with Louise Walker that more social occasions would be profitable. Hazel Mathis, with others, expressed a desire that more girls take an active part in discussions. Jewell Foster believes that more singing will add enjoyment and richness to the experiences of the girls. The girls enjoyed an informal sing-song of Y. W. songs this week.

The meetings of the past term have been both profitable and interesting and promise to be even more so this quarter.

We urge all girls of the College to be present every Wednesday afternoon at 4:30, and especially do we welcome the new girls.

Fire consumed several hundred dollars worth of reserve stock in the storeroom of the Buffalo Grocery here last Thursday night. The blaze was discovered about 12 o'clock and the Canyon fire department had it under control in a few minutes. Approximately one hundred cases of canned goods, jellies, jams, preserves, and the stock of smoked meats were ruined in the fire. Practically everything in the ware room was burned. The stock is insured and an estimate of the loss will not be made until the arrival of the insurance inspector.

The fire Thursday was the seventh in the block upon which the store stands, during the past few years. The Buffalo, itself, has been destroyed once by fire, and damaged to a great extent on two occasions. The Buffalo Tailor shop and the Students Lunch Stand, formerly standing next to the grocery, were burned two years ago, and the Highway Rooming House, occupying the corner of the block, was consumed last year. A blaze three years ago at Randall Hall which was extinguished without any appreciable damage, completes the fire history of this block up to the present time.

Another campus shop, the East End Grocery, burned several years ago and was replaced by the new brick building now occupied by the grocery and the College Oasis. Only one shop that has ever existed close to the campus and catered to student trade, has escaped the fire scourge, and strangely enough, that shop is now closed. It is the Amend Corner, formerly a popular eating place of the students.

High Lights of Prexy Hill's Talk

More than two-thirds of faculty members and student body were born on farms.

Child in the modern small family misses an essential element of life present in the rearing of a child with a large number of brothers and sisters in the old type of family.

None of the present generation of children know the first lesson of sacrifice.

Prexy "grew-up" in cotton patch. Picked 227 pounds cotton when he was eight years old, and 400 pounds daily when he was fourteen.

Matron of Cousins Hall, Mrs. Marion Witt, was wife of first teacher under whom Prexy studied. Prexy stayed in the Witt home and did chores for his meals and room. His impression of Mrs. Witt formed there explains her present position on his faculty, he says.

Thinks Latin and Greek and the classical studies in general left a distinct impression upon the trend of his life.

"Peck's Bad Boy," first book he ever had. Traded a Barlow pocket knife for it.

"Hawthorne's Twice Told Tales" first classic he read through.

"Mill on Floss" came next, and "Architects of Fate" was next in order. Prexy stated that "Architects of Fate" was still in his library and was frequently read.
