Five students from West Texas State Teachers College were delegates to the district meeting of the International Relations Clubs of West Texas and New Mexico, held at Sul Ross College, Alpine, March 22-23. Those going from here were: Miss Barlow, sponsor, Frances Rogers, Mabel Hare, Virginia Roby, and Glen Reeve.

Program

The program this year was divided into three main topics: "Economic Nationalism vs. Internationalism," "Disarmament," and "The Present Situation in Mexico." Glen Reeve of this school presented one of the papers on "Disarmament."

Sir Ames Was Speaker

The main speaker of the meeting was Sir Herbert Ames, the first treasurer of the League of Nations, and, for many years, a member of the Canadian House of Parliament. The first of his talks dealt with some of his experiences during his first years as treasurer. Especially did he stress the financial problems

Seewald Exhibit In Hudspeth Room Of P.-P. Museum

Nineteen of the most beautiful etchings and dry-points that have ever been displayed in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum are now hanging on the walls of the Mary E. Hudspeth room.

The collection is the work of Miss Margaret Seewald, Amarillo artist, whose work is gaining renown and the attention of foremost art critics of the southwest. Many of the etchings are portrayals of western life; tumble-down homesteads, ranch houses, cowboy hatted westerners, and plains covered with yucca. Spanish portraits are numerous; and there is a scene showing the life of Mexicans on the border. There are numerous pictures of Indian life which are splendid.

Some of the work of Miss Seewald is in color, reds, vermillion, and grey; however, most of them are in black and white.

Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the art department, says, "The collection is the finest of its kind ever to be displayed in the museum. Miss Seewald certainly displays excellent workmanship. She has beautiful line quality, and each etching or dry-point is very rich in tone, especially the colored one. We are fortunate in acquiring this display."

Senate Finance Committee Favors Increase for W. T.

The Senate Finance Committee has approved the bill for educational institutions, recommending a partial restoration of salaries which were drastically cut two years ago.

For W. T. the recommendation is for $144,919 for the long term and $13,330 for the summer session, making a total of $158,249 for each of the coming two years. This is an increase of $11,422 which was appropriated for W. T. for the last two years.

All educational institutions were given slight increases by the Senate bill. The House appropriation committee has not reported the education bill.

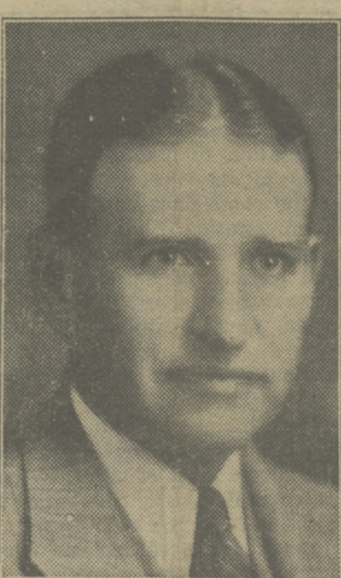

Both the Senate and House have considered the appropriation bill for this summer, but it has not been finally passed.

EDUCATORS WHO APPEARED ON TWO-DAY EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Prepare Children For Life Was Theme Of Second Session

In the second general session which was held Friday, 10:45 a. m. with Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, First Vice President of the Conference, Pampa, presiding, Dr. Albert Barnett of Texas Technological College was the first speaker. Dr. Barnett substituted for Dr. Bradford Knapp, President of Texas Tech, who was unable to attend the conference.

"Too much emphasis is placed on getting the high school student ready for college rather than on preparing him for the tasks of life itself," stated Dr. Barnett in the course of his speech. "Every high school should train its students in some vocational field in order that they may be prepared to make a living for themselves. Too many students prepare for white collar jobs."

"The high school students of today cannot be prepared for useful service in the working world unless the teachers of today get a thorough conception of the task before them and prepare themselves accordingly," stated the speaker in conclusion.

Dr. Harry A. Scott, Professor of Physical Education, Rice Institute, Houston, was the next speaker on the program.

"No school curriculum is complete without physical education," stated Dr. Scott in regard to the subject. "The Place of Health and Physical Education in the New Curriculum."

"The first law of life is activity. Competitive games teach emotional control and in this way help to prepare the child for the crises of real life. The mind is not, by any means, more important than the body. The individual reacts to every situation as a whole or an integrated part. Physical education emphasizes knowing and doing rather than merely knowing. Physical activity is creative as well as providing a wholesome outlet for pent-up energies."

With the conclusion of Dr. Scott's address, the meeting was adjourned during the noon hour.

Russell Pleased With Quarterly

Horace Russell of the Russell Stationery Company of Amarillo has written Mrs. T. V. Reeves, head of the Bureau of Public Service, commenting on the Summer Quarterly. Mr. Russell says, "You do list your general advantages so attractively, and I know the truth of your statements so well that I envy your prospective students some of their opportunities. But I do keep on sharing a good many of them."

Mr. Russell has been a member of the W. T. extension class in Amarillo all year.

Harmony of Quartet Appreciated by W. T. Concert Audience

Visiting Texas for the first time, the renowned Curtis String Quartet delivered an unusual program of the purest music in the Administration Auditorium Wednesday evening, March 20th.

"Although this is our first trip to Texas," replied Brodsky, viola player for the quartet, to the inquiry concerning their impression of Texas audiences, "we toured the South last year and enjoy very much playing to Southern audiences."

Softness of tone in the old instruments coupled with perfect harmony among the four artists served to hold the audience completely enthralled throughout the entire performance.

Wallace R. Clark, chairman of the lyceum committee at W. T., expressed himself as being highly gratified with the success of this latest lyceum performance.

Following is the program as given by the quartet:

Quartet in G major, op. 77.
No. 1. Joseph Haydn
La oracion del torero
Joaquin Turina
Scherzo op. 30. Tchaikowsky

SURVEY OF HORIZON OF EDUCATION

The Schools Must Be Agency For Social Improvement

Under the direction of Miss Lucille Pipkin, the choral club of Claude High School opened the fifth general session of the Conference at which Superintendent of Schools H. P. Webb of Olton, presided. After the invocation by the Rev. Chas. L. Dickey of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. Fred C. Ayer, Chairman of the Department of Educational Administration at the University of Texas, addressed the audience on "Major Purposes and Guiding Principles in the Texas State Curriculum Revision Program."

"What is the curriculum?" asked Dr. Ayer. "The curriculum includes the various studies, activities, and experiences which are programmed for or developed with pupils under the guidance of teachers."

Needs For Changes

"There is a fairly general agreement about the needs for more functional teaching, better integration of the outcomes of education, greater effectiveness in social training; and more attention to individual differences, creative teaching, and educational guidance; there is much less certainty about the most effective type of curriculum to accomplish these desirable purposes."

"We believe, therefore, that curriculum-makers are obligated to consider definitely the merits and deficiencies of American civilization. In so far as this consideration is in conformity with the dominant public opinion, little, if any, difficulty will be encountered in introducing materials into the

Shingles Presented Scholarship Students

Fourteen members of the Senior and Junior classes were presented with shingles from the Scholarship Society at a meeting Saturday, March 16th.

Seniors receiving shingles were Frances Alice Clark, La Trice Quattlebaum, Joyce Sheets, Ansel Leonard, and Gerald Brown.

Juniors were Charles A. Stratton, James Dyebliss, Woodrow Toone, Isabel Price, Thelma Calliham, Beatrice Cobb, Barbara Hawkins, Helen Edwards, and Mable Hare.

The group was addressed by Dr. Fronabarger and the presentation was made by Mr. Shirley.

Noted Educators Heard on Program 4th General Session

Opening the fourth general session, the Men's Chorus of W. T., directed by Wallace R. Clark, sang several numbers.

Dr. Fred C. Ayer, Chairman Department of Educational Administration, University of Texas, delivered the first address of the evening on the subject, "Facts and Fancies about Integration."

"It is in the field of education that the term integration takes on a special meaning," said Dr. Ayer. "Many people consider that integration is an educational movement. Those people are somewhat hazy in their conception of the true meaning of integration. Integration in education is the process of making every phase of the child's training interlock or overlap in such a way that he acquires a well-rounded preparation for the problems he is to meet with later in life."

Following Dr. Ayer, Dr. L. A. Woods addressed the assemblage on the subject, "Possess Your Possessions." The noted educator pointed out the problems that face the teacher in attempting to do constructive work in the community where he is employed.

Legislators Express Attitude Toward House Bill 627

Much appreciation of the interest shown by students of this college in the defeat of House Bill 627, designed to triple tuition rates of state schools is being shown by state authorities in letters received by President J. A. Hill.

Representative H. K. Stanfield states that his views harmonize with those held by Dr. Hill in regard to the defeat of the bill and that he will be governed accordingly.

A quotation from Representative A. B. Tarwater's letter reads as follows: "I am not only opposed, but I am bitterly opposed to it; and I assure you that I shall do everything in my power to prevent the passage of such a measure."

Bob Alexander of the House says, "I am unalterably opposed to the passage of this bill. . . . I do not believe there is much danger in Mr. Davidson's bill being seriously considered."

Eugene Worley, also of the House, in communication with Dr. Hill, writes: "I share your opposition to this bill and will certainly vote against it if, and when, it is presented on the floor of the House."

Representative L. B. Rogers of the House shares Dr. Hill's position in regard to House Bill 627 and says that he also will oppose it.

Senator C. C. Small's letter reads as follows: "I feel reasonably certain that House Bill 627 will not pass. The Legislature would like to lower this tuition rather than raise it. Of course, I think it would be impossible to lower it, but the net result will be that nothing will be done either way."

Floterial Representative Lonnie Smith from Tarrant and Denton Counties, in a letter to the press says:

"I shall appreciate very much if you will give some expressions as to my attitude and ideas on the Davidson Bill, which proposes to increase the tuition in all State bill would prove disastrous to

The first address was made by the Hon. Tom Garrard, member of the State Board of Education. From the layman viewpoint, Garrard pointed out the two problems which he feels to be the most crucial in the education world today: taxation and law enforcement.

He also pointed out that teachers must see that each $1.00 spent

County Superintendents and Trustees

County Superintendents and trustees met Friday at 2:45 in the Education Auditorium where Dr. L. A. Woods made an address; Carl G. Clift, County Superintendent of Potter County spoke upon the public school music program of that county; and Sloan Baker of Donley County had as his subject "A Rural School Texas Centennial Fagant." Claude W. Crosslin of Childress discussed "Teacher Growth Through a County-wide Curriculum Revision Program."

In the Cousins Hall dining room Saturday, a luncheon was held at which W. A. Stigler of the State Department of Education, Dr. Harris M. Cook of West Texas, and H. A. Finch of West Texas made addresses. Two minute talks were made by Supt. Bruce Shulkey, Borger; Supt. L. H. Rhodes, Dalhart; Supt. R. B. Fisher, Pampa; Supt. W. B. Irvin, Perryton; Supt. Ferman Sawyer, Canadian; Supt. A. W. Adams, Childress; Supt. Leo Forrest, Farwell; Supt. Amos M. Walker, Vega; Supt. H. T. Burton, Clarendon; and Supt. I. B. Carruth, Canyon.

Vocational Agriculture

With C. Luker, District Supervisor of vocational agriculture, presiding, the Vocational Agriculture sectional meeting began Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Dr. Albert Barnett, of Texas Technological College, made the first speech on the program on the subject, "Accomplishments in Curriculum Revision to Date."

The speaker briefly outlined the plans of the proposed curriculum in regard to the next few years. Then he proceeded to mention some of the things the new curriculum would be forced to include in order to be successful.

"The new curriculum must teach the boys and girls in such a manner that they will be qualified to take their place in the social order of today instead of teaching them entirely from textbooks."

"It seems to me," said Dr. Barnett, "that this so-called new curriculum is merely a repetition of the manner in which the vocational agriculture teachers have been teaching their students for a number of years. That is, it proposes to inaugurate teaching along the line of unit systems and activity movements instead of depending entirely on textbooks. The objectives of our education need a redefinition. Vocational education should, by all means, be included in the new curriculum."

Immediately following Dr. Barnett's address, Dr. L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, spoke to the assembled vocational agriculture teachers on the subject, "The Effect on the Vocational Program of Diverting Special Funds into the General Equalization Fund."

"This is not any time to sleep on your rights," stated Dr. Woods in regard to the bill now before the legislature which provides for a $5,000,000 appropriation to carry on vocational programs over the state.

"Your interests will not be injured by the special funds being included with the general Equalization Fund if you will get behind your senators and representatives and demand that they pass the bill in its entirety.

The remainder of the time allotted to the meeting was occupied in discussing various business and problems connected with the teaching of agriculture today.

Physical Education Section

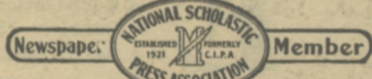

Dr. T. D. Brooks of A. and M. College, speaking on "Professional Attitudes," said: "We no longer evaluate high school students by their fitness for college work."

Dr. Brooks then elaborated on the theory of unity throughout high school and college curricula, and as a counter-statement said: "This institution as others, has a right to its own personal functions."

Dr. Brooks stressed poor preparation of high school graduates. He advocated selective college attendance

"We believe, therefore, that curriculum-makers are obligated to consider definitely the merits and deficiencies of American civilization. In so far as this consideration is in conformity with the dominant public opinion, little, if any, difficulty will be encountered in introducing materials into the curriculum for the purpose of using the school as a conscious agency for social improvement. But when controversial issues are raised in the school curriculum (as they must be raised), opposition may be encountered. At this point the curriculum-maker must take care that the material presented and the treatment given shall be fair to all sides. The chief aim will not be to reach final solutions for such problems—still less to establish any prior chosen position—but to build in the children methods of attacking controversial issues and increasingly to develop attitudes of open-mindedness and sympathetic tolerance. . . . Neither the general statement of the aims and purposes of education nor the task of discovering appropriate materials can safely be left to any organizations which represent minority interests. The propaganda and interference of these minority groups in school matters constitutes one of the greatest menaces in modern education."—Dr. Fred C. Ayer.

GLEANINGS

by
Lionel Childress

The following are significant excerpts from or keynotes of the main addresses made at the second Northwest Texas Educational Conference.

"Why not wake up to the fact that we are living upon finer standards? What are we going to do, then, with education?" Key to social problem: "What we can do: (1) Unify the social studies; (2) tie this study up to current living; (3) introduce new materials of instruction; (4) become awake to the fact that emotionalization is necessary."—Dr. Earle U. Rugg, Head of Department of Education, Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley, Colorado.

"Neither the general statement of the aims and purposes of education nor the task of discovering appropriate materials can safely be left to organizations which represent minority interests. The propaganda and interference of these minority groups in school matters constitutes one of the greatest menaces in modern education."—Dr. Fred C. Ayer of the Department of Education, University of Texas. The speech from which this excerpt was taken will appear in the next issue of the "Texas Outlook."

"We have got to begin with the improvement of the individual citizen and through that thereby improve the nation. We must develop for society a young man or a young woman capable of adding to or improving the social program of the world."—Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers College.

"The future of P. T. A. depends upon what we can do to maintain the standards of the schools of our nation."—Mrs. M. A. Taylor, State Director of Education, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"I believe that while we are talking all of our professional school matters that it is our duty as fathers and mothers and citizens to take stock of ourselves and to say wherein and whereby we are failing to take the responsibility that is placed upon our shoulders."—Tom Garrard, Member State Board of Education.

"Any teacher or administrator in Physical Education should attend to improving his own institution, but also he should spread the gospel of his field by creating a definite duty to join in all community activity.

"A swimming pool, a play-ground or a gymnasium that is used only for class recitations and does not serve as a place for physical activity as well as physical education, for without one you cannot have the other, is not serving its purpose. I can't get used to the idea of a public building being closed while students run wild over the city. Never close a building of this type as long as there are youngsters that wish to use it."—Dr. Harry A. Scott, Professor of Physical Education, Rice Institute, Houston, Texas.

"Real growth comes from making yourself the thing you do not want to do but that needs to be done. Survey your community; then do what it needs."—Dr. L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"The goal of education as freedom must not be abandoned. Develop awareness of forces which create and control mass thinking."—Dr. T. D. Brooks, Dean of School of Arts and Sciences, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College.

NOTED EDUCATORS
HEARD ON PROGRAM

"It takes a teacher that has plenty of grim determination to face the obstacles that exist in every community and to overcome them. A teacher must be physically strong, mentally alert, and morally clean in order that he may properly serve his community."

Dr. T. D. Brooks, Dean of School of Arts and Sciences, Texas A. and M., delivered the final address on this program. This subject was "Professional Attitudes in Changing Times."

"Generally speaking, this is an age where people are afraid of constructive thinking. They are content to take the ideas advanced by someone else without questioning, for a moment, the truth and soundness of such ideas. Critical intelligence, as such, is a decided rarity."

The program for the evening was concluded with an entertainment by the Physical Education for Women Department under the direction of Mrs. Wallace O'Keefe.

Sports Addicts
Prick Ears As
King Winter Exits

By George Brewer

King winter went week-end visiting and the students are contemplating a change of sports to combat the onrushing season of temptation to idleness. The more agile of us glance longingly out at the stone slabs northeast of the Administration Building, so many months winter's forbidden fruit, and consider the propriety of the net-swatting sport.

The aquatic-minded "W. Tite," even after the price our ears paid, anxiously awaits new swimming classes.

The hiking addicts resolve to bring out their seven league boots and a new gust of vigor, a jug of water and a heigh-ho, and they will be off to the Palo Duros.

Track sports enthusiasts develop some concern over a season's stiffness, but soon you'll see them gayly clipping off a neat pace on the cinder track.

Handball? Yes, even with its accompanist—a sun-burned nose or two. A familiar "Batter-Up" or "Play-Ball" will echo from the practice field when the weather's fine.

Cyclists and skaters will infest the campus walks and runways, much to the uneasiness of the casual student pedestrian.

The more conservative set are content to hope for a game or so of croquet and a spring evening's stroll about the campus. Even the latter has its good points.

All in all we are an energetic lot. There is no time or place for victims of lethargy in W. T. We don't accept spring fever here, we challenge it.

Final Action Taken
On Dorm Contract

Dr. J. A. Hill returned Thursday from Fort Worth where, during his meeting with the Board of Regents, the contract for the boys' dormitory was definitely and finally let to J. B. Maxey of Lubbock, the general contractor, and E. C. Vender of Clayton, N. M., who was recommended for the heating and plumbing. The date for the beginning of construction has not been set.

Later the Board and Dr. Hill drove to Denton where the State Teachers College was thoroughly inspected.

WRANGLERS PICNIC IN CANYONS THURSDAY

Good times galore spent in the faces of thirty Wranglers last Thursday afternoon at four o'clock as they assembled at the east entrance of the Administration building and prepared for an afternoon at the six-mile crossing.

After an afternoon spent in exploring the canyons, the girls prepared their evening's refreshments of campfire steak, cowboys' coffee, and all of the accessories of this menu. For the dessert, the girls were served delicious individual mock angelfood cake.

The remainder of the evening was spent in singing Wrangler's songs. After an enjoyable evening spent in the society of fellow Wranglers, and the sponsor, Mrs. Geraldine Green, the girls returned home at ten o'clock.

HOME ECONOMICS SENIORS HONORED WITH DINNER

Six senior home economics majors were honor guests at a dinner given by the Home Economics Club in the college dining room at 6:00 o'clock Tuesday evening, March 19. Nasturtiums formed an attractive centerpiece for the tables which were formed in the form of an "H," and the club colors of gold and purple were carried out in the six course dinner. The reception room was tastefully decorated with green potted plants and with candelabra which held white candles carrying out the green and white colors of the luncheon. At 12:30 the guests were escorted into the dining room by table hostesses.

White miniature school houses with green roofs and their campuses formed the centerpieces of the tables. Place cards further carried out the atmosphere of the occasion, the card of the hostess being a lovely girl representing the school teacher, and the card of the guests representing some boy or girl.

Music was furnished for the occasion by Misses Lilla Beth Burroughs, Virginia Hohlaus, and Mr. Oscar Croson.

SEATED TEA HONORED HALL COUNTY VISITORS

Pauline Thompson then played a piano solo followed by a talk by Fannie Mae Rees who told of the social purpose of the club. Nell McNeely executed a tap dance followed by a song by Edd Todd, who accompanied himself upon the guitar.

Approximately thirty-five guests called during the afternoon.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED BY STUDENT RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

Last Tuesday, March 19, students were entertained by the Student Religious Council. A very educational program which was rendered, proved to be as beautiful and interesting as it was educational.

Three famous portraits, Feeding Her Birds, Song of the Lark, and Angelus, were very beautifully presented by the members of the council, and at the same time soft music flavored the scenes with pure soft melancholy. After these portrayals, the Reverend Stuart Marsh, pastor of the First Christian Church of Canyon, gave a very inspirational talk, pointing out many more lessons and pretty thoughts than we could have received from looking at the portraits by ourselves. Then the chapel was very appropriately and touchingly concluded with a prayer.

DR. BLAU WAS GUEST OF T. B. McCARTERS

Dr. L. W. Blau, '25, was the week-end house guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McCarter. Shortly after leaving this college, Blau took his Ph. D. degree at the University of Texas where he majored in physics. He made an important discovery concerning the torsion balance which is a very important instrument for discovering oil structures. The work which he did in this connection caused him to be employed by the Humble Oil Company in the geo-physics research laboratories located in Houston. At present he is working in West Texas in the region of Lubbock endeavoring to locate the oil of this territory.

Commenting upon the curriculum meeting, Mr. Blau said that he does not feel that lowering standards is the proper thing for developing real leaders.

Number fourteen of the resolutions which were unanimously adopted by the Conference reads as follows: "That this conference re-affirm its belief in the value of the teaching profession as the most effective agency for the development of worthy citizenship, and that any unfair discrimination in the salaries of teachers in the public schools and teacher training institutions be looked upon as unjustifiable."

Other members of the resolutions committee were A. M. Meyer, Canyon; W. C. Parkins, Shamrock; L. H. Rhodes, Dalhart; and Mrs. Annie Daniel, Pampa.

WHEN YOU FEEL "FED UP"...

GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

"I'M AN ENGINEER"—working on the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge. Before that, six years in the army taught me the value of smoking a Camel when "below par." I smoke all the Camels I want, too, without getting jumpy nerves. And Camels are mild and gentle to the throat. (Signed) RALPH A. TUDOR

"I'M SPECIALIZING IN HISTORY"—French and English history," says Laurence Brewer. "In addition, I have a job in the library for four hours a day, and I also work up data and material for the debating team. I'll tell you—it keeps me going hard. I've got more work than time. When I'm hard pressed, smoking Camels is not only a pleasure—it's a help, too. For when I feel 'fed up'—and it seems as though my energy were all used up—I smoke a Camel and get a lift in energy. Camels have a swell, rich flavor; due, I presume, to the use of choicer tobaccos. I smoke as many as I want to—for Camels don't ruffle my nerves." (Signed) LAURENCE ALFRED BREWER, '37

"EVERY WOMAN prefers a milder cigarette. For years I've been smoking Camels because they are mild—and at the same time have a delightful rich flavor. I know these things don't just happen in a cigarette. There must be a reason, and I think it lies in the fact that Camels use finer tobaccos." (Signed) HELENE BRADSHAW

FITE NITE TO CONCLUDE MAT INTRAMURAL

Winners Will Receive Medals and Gloves As Awards

Tonight is the big night. The second intramural fight night will be held as the culmination of an intramural boxing and wrestling tournament. Last week all the preliminaries were run off in both boxing and wrestling.

There have been some exciting battles in the preliminaries and the finals promise some fast and furious action with the mitt-slingers and ear-twisters.

Medals will be awarded to the winning wrestlers, and gold gloves to the boxers. Last year the fight night was made a permanent thing at West Texas State Teachers College, and the inauguration proved to be a large success with everyone enjoying the contests.

SECTIONAL MEETINGS CONSIDER PROBLEMS

ance by testing, more survey courses in high schools, more intense emphasis on accuracy in reading, penmanship, and grammar.

In closing, Dr. Brooks, in speaking of the corrective work possible from the teaching angle, stressed the development of a more critical attitude toward curricula.

"The legislature of the State of Texas has passed laws to the effect that Physical Education must be in the curricula of all public schools. Evidently this part in the huge field of Education is very important," so stated Dr. Harry A. Scott, Professor of Physical Education, Rice Institute, Houston, in his address at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education, Saturday morning.

Dr. Scott explained the most intricate details of properly running a Physical Education Department in the school of today. He stressed the fact that such a department could not be successful without an intelligent and versatile administrator and administration.

"Each administrator, regardless of how intelligent he might be, should use a course of study made out by his staff which will follow it," he further stated.

Every department should have records of the students' grades, physical examination or a complete history as far as it is possible to obtain. This should be at the disposal of all who might be concerned with it.

Equipment should not be used simply as a class room, but should be accessible to the students for other activities outside of class work.

Dr. Scott commended Coach Al Baggett on the program of reconstruction of the curriculum of the College Physical Education Department. He stated that he was interested in the idea of Play Night that was held last year for the benefit of the people of Canyon, and expressed the hope that it would continue as an important part of the program the College has begun.

Elementary Education

The Elementary Education Section, over which Miss Annie McDonald of Amarillo presided, had as its speakers Dr. Rugg, whose subject was "Proposals for Revision of the Elementary Curriculum," and President Donald McKay, Eastern New Mexico Teachers College at Portales, whose subject was "A Consideration of the Integrated Program."

High School Teachers

The High School Section of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education with J. H. Loftin, Borger High School principal, presiding, had as guest speakers Dr. Fred C. Ayer, chairman of the Department of Educational Administration, University of Texas, and Dr. T. D. Brooks, Dean of School of Arts and Sciences, Texas A. and M.

Dr. Ayer stressed the two principal ways in which the teacher plays a part in revising the curriculum, in his address on the place of the classroom teacher in the curriculum revision program. "Administrative devices are not tied up with teaching principles, therefore, the changing of devices will not effect principles which have always been the foundation of teaching," said Dr. Ayer in closing his address.

Dr. Brooks stated that the high school of today is less satisfactory to a college dean than the high school of yesterday was, for the reason that high schools do not now prepare students for college. High schools should furnish educational guidance, correction of

Girls' Exhibition Basketball Well Attended Tuesday

The exhibition game of basketball which was played Tuesday night between the winning teams of the girls intramurals was well attended and really an enjoyable game.

The team under Captain Eula Lee Singleton as manager, won Fullingim, the Whites, with Ada over that of Isla Mae Donald's and Manager Flora Mimm's, the Blues, 24-27. The winning team out played the other and kept the score almost doubled during the first three quarters. At the beginning of the last quarter the Blues snapped out of it, and really played ball, but they had revived too late because the finish whistle cut short their splendid work.

The girls' tumbling class, under the direction of Miss Cross, displayed a number of acts during the half intermission. They showed excellent and accurate training in these acts which were applauded roundly by the appreciative crowd.

Purple Garrett gave a tap dance before the second game of the evening began, in which the girls' volley ball team under the management of Louise Blackwell played against the boys' volley ball team. The boys won the game, and why not, since they knocked the referee down and trampled her? These games were both a treat and the college students would appreciate more of such exhibition nights.

wrong attitudes toward college life, furnishing of deliberate students to colleges, and all subjects should be taught as intellectual subjects. Dr. Brooks stated that the ultimate goal of high school should be the development of a critical intellect.

Other speakers on the High School Teachers Section program which convened Saturday in the Education Auditorium were Dr. Earle U. Rugg, Head of Department of Education, Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley, who spoke on "The Articulation Problem in Secondary Education," and Dr. A. W. Evans of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, whose topic was "Recent and Needed Changes in the Curriculum of the Secondary Schools."

"Fifteen to twenty per cent of the children in the schools suffer from malnutrition," said Dr. Harry A. Scott of Rice Institute, Houston, and president-elect of the American Physical Education Association, and added, "Ten to twenty per cent of the children in our schools are weak structurally and fifty to seventy-five per cent have defective teeth."

Dr. Scott was speaking to teachers and students at the physical education section meeting of the Northwest Texas Conference for Education being held at the West Texas State Teachers College here.

School Administration
The sectional meeting of the School Administration section began at 2:45 Friday afternoon with W. A. McIntosh, Superintendent of Schools, Amarillo, presiding.

Speakers on the program were: Bruce Shulkey, Superintendent of Schools, Borger; R. B. Fisher, Superintendent of Schools, Pampa; Dr. Garner, College of Industrial Arts, Denton; and Dr. L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Austin.

Various phases and problems of the new curriculum were discussed at this meeting.

REORIENT THINKING FOR CIVIC EDUCATION

gets 100 cents worth in return. "You ought to talk long and loud about teacher insurance," and "school people of Texas are the most patriotic citizens of the state as shown in the last four years," were other significant statements made by Mr. Garrard.

Following the first speaker, Dr. Earle U. Rugg of Greeley, Colorado, made an address on the subject of "Needed Changes in Civic Education." "Teachers need to reorient thinking in respect to curriculum making and social living," said Dr. Rugg. Pointing out problems Dr. Rugg stated that the present curriculum lacks practicality or adaptability to laymen's problems and that the courses of study have assumed a status quo quality in comparison with economic changes. He suggested that the learning habits of children be utilized in enlarging the vocabularies and in making other needed changes in educating children for civic life and welfare.

Varsity Boxers And Wrestlers Victorious

Last Friday and Saturday the boxers and wrestlers competed in the Southwestern Intercollegiate tournament at Roswell, and the mat men of Coach Herschel Jennings brought the team championship back to West Texas with fourteen points to nine for the Military Institute, the next highest team.

This was quite an achievement for the wrestling team since it was the first time that they had competed for the honor. Last year a few wrestlers competed at the Lubbock meet, but there was not a full team, and only one of the wrestlers was back this year.

curriculum for the purpose of using the school as a conscious agency for social improvement."

Following Dr. Ayer, Dr. E. U. Rugg, the last speaker on the two-day program, brought to the assembled laity and teachers a ringing challenge in his address, "Education—1935—Which Way?" Dr. Rugg declared that the schools are not to blame for the crime wave. He said that it is a result of many things in our social set-up. Young criminals are seldom high school graduates—they are a homeless, churchless, workless set.

"If democracy is worth saving and is to be saved, it must be done through more adequate education. An adequate education is one which will enable people to live realistically. In addition to shelter, food and clothing, people must understand the forces that seek to control them and the society in which they live if life is to be worth living."

Bufs Lose Game To Reno Team In Denver Tourney

At Denver the West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes lost to the Hutchinson, Kansas Reno Creameries in the National A. A. U. basketball tournament 47 to 18, after advancing to the second round with a bye.

Forty-six teams were entered in the tournament. The Renos with several outstanding American players and a season record of continuous victories over the best ball clubs in the country were one of the seeded teams, and presented too much ability for the Bufs.

During the first ten minutes of the ball game, it seemed as if Captain McMinn and his teammates might repeat the surprise showing of the buffaloes of 1932 in the National Tournament. McMinn started off the affair with a field goal, while Walker, Britt, Boedeker and Clark were holding the Renos scoreless.

In the last half the Bufs worked hard to overcome a lead of the Renos. The play was fast and furious by both teams. Clark, Kimmins, or Boedeker worked the ball in to Britt, McMinn, Walker, Clement, or Davis at different times in the last period, and although they got a lot of shots, it seemed as if there was a cover on the basket. For some reason or other the Bufs were unable to make any small percentage of their shots, and the lead of the Renos grew larger and larger.

The Maroon and White were not alone on the sidelines. A college team usually does not stand much of a chance against the independent teams who have the cream of the college players to pick from, and who have no limit on their length of service.

A great deal of valuable experience was gained by all of the players, by their participation and by seeing the greatest teams in the country play. All of the players except Captain McMinn, Walker, and Britt will return next year and should form the basis for a better team than ever with their tournament experience.

Modern version: "Parents, dear parents, come home with me now!" There is no fool like an old fool, except a young one.

As a class, lawyers are not overly talkative—unless somebody pays the bill.

TENNIS PLAYERS! ATTENTION

The courts will be reserved for the squads from 3:30 to 5:30 each day. Students not on either squad are requested not to come out at those hours.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE 3,000 ATTEND

Parents and Teachers, who had as her topic, "The Place of the Parent Teacher Association in Present Day Education."

Mrs. Taylor pointed out how the Parent - Teacher Association has taken its place among the great educational forces of the nation. After giving the aims of the association, Mrs. Taylor stated that "closer and closer must come the ties which bind teachers and parents together. We realize that in order to work together that the parent must be trained for his task as well as the teacher." Mrs. Taylor pointed out that the home, the school, and the church are the chief influencing factors in the child's life. "The test of the civilization of a nation is the treatment it gives its youth. Unless parents and teachers can get together, we are not going to succeed in giving these young people the things that they ought to have." Mrs. Taylor's speech was the link that joined the programs of the P. T. A. and the N. T. C. E. which convened here during the week-end.

Following Mrs. Taylor, Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers College, addressed the first session on the topic of "A New Teacher for the New Curriculum."

Dr. Hill pointed out that a new teacher who has adapted or is capable of adapting herself or himself to the new social order is a necessity in today's educational program. "The world is calling to day a more magnified individual," said Dr. Hill. "Educators are telling us that the curriculum must be one that is highly socialized. Schools have been too much of a thing apart from the social, industrial, and political life about us. The school and the teacher must become integrated in that social life. The teacher must give leadership in every form of social program. The teacher for the new curriculum must be the teacher who is well informed in public affairs.

"We do not need a quantitative social system such as we now have.

that had to be dealt with during that time.

Reconciliation With Germany

The second of his talks was about the reconciliation of Germany and the Allies after the Treaties of Locarno were signed. The third and last of the series was "Why Germany Left the Disarmament Conference, and Will She Return?" Brought out in this were: the rise of Hitler to power, his aims and methods of achieving these aims, and the relations of the other countries to Germany at present. Dr. Castaneda, Superintendent of San Felipe School of Del Rio, was another leader on the program. Both he and Sir Herbert Ames stressed the importance of analytical thinking upon the part of the student of today in dealing with current problems.

Sul Ross College

Alpine lies in the foot hills of the Davis Mountains, in a typical ranch country. Sul Ross College lies about half way up the side of a hill, looking down over the town. The school plant consists of an Administration Building, Education Building, gymnasium, and lodge which is the center of all social activities. There are now under construction boys' and girls' dormitories, and several other projects to be made from the native stone of the Davis Mountains.

In connection with the Convention, the Sul Ross I. R. C. took the delegates to the McDonald Observatory, after a luncheon at Fort Davis. This observatory, which is being built upon Mt. Lock by the University of Texas and University of Chicago, is 6825 feet above the sea level. In a dome constructed of steel bolted and welded together will be located the second largest reflecting telescope in the world. The diameter of the mirror is 82 inches, and the weight will be 2½ tons. Dr. Roach is in charge of this observatory, which is nearly completed.
