AMARILLO ART EXHIBIT IS ON DISPLAY

Well Known Amarillo Artist Displays Work Here

IS OUTSTANDING

Mrs. Jackson Has Studied In Both Europe and America

Those who visited the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum Sunday, December 3, found a new and interesting art collection, that of Mrs. Amy Mears Jackson, of Amarillo, on exhibit. Mrs. Jackson has given several of her paintings and etchings to the Museum, where they are now on exhibition. The group is hung in the Mary E. Hudspeth Room and may be viewed any time this month.

Mrs. Jackson's line drawings are most interesting to the majority of people. There are several beautiful drawings of churches, spires, and buildings, many of which we recognize as those of Amarillo. One of the outstanding pieces is the Spirit of Amarillo, a modernistic and symbolic representation of the city.

Proportions Are Good
Other pictures in oils and water colors are amazing in their natural coloring, and in their exactness of proportion. Christmas designs, original and breathing messages of good cheer through their very color, are on display.

Mrs. Jackson, the artist, is well known. She has worked and studied in both Europe and America; has studied western and southern Texas and spent the past summer studying in Chicago. She was connected with the Amarillo College as instructor until this year.

Get New Regent On Teacher Board

Mrs. J. K. Beretta of San Antonio has just been appointed a member of the State Board of Teachers College Regents. She comes to the Board as the successor of Honorable T. C. Andrews of McKinney.

For many years Mrs. Beretta has been prominent in club work in San Antonio, where she is also known for her keen interest in all phases of public affairs.

Miss Helen White Moore and Miss Pauline Brigham spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Miss Brigham's nephew, Louis Minturn, in Denver.

Cator Family Led Exciting Life On Cattle Ranch

(By Mrs. T. V. Reeves)
"And the joy when that good man Arbuckle invented browned coffee in packages." These words written by Mrs. Clara McCrea, who came from England to the Panhandle in 1879 to join her brother J. H. Cator, call to mind the many difficulties which beset those who built the first permanent homes in the north Panhandle.

Clara, or "Dad" Cator, as she was called by her family, was an excellent horsewoman and possessed a superb physique. She was fifteen when her brothers, Jim and Bob sailed away from England with finally the Texas Panhandle as their destination. The voyage, the long journey overland, and the letters which the young men

Dean Jarrett To C. S. Convention

Association Sets Up Standards For College Work

Dr. R. P. Jarrett left Sunday for Nashville, Tennessee where he will attend the annual convention of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States.

Dr. Jarrett represents the college at this meeting each year. The Southern Association is one of several accrediting agencies to which W. T. belongs. It sets up the standards under which the work of this college is conducted. These standards include those pertaining to athletics, salaries, library facilities, training of faculty members, provision for health service, extension service, care of the college plant, and many others.

Member of A. T. C.
W. T. is also a member of the Association of Texas Colleges. Registrar D. A. Shirley regularly represents the college at its sessions.

The American Association of Teachers Colleges is another similar organization with which this college is affiliated. This organization meets with the National Education Association at its winter session and Dr. J. A. Hill usually attends.

One of the great problems of all colleges during a time of depression is how to maintain the standards which all colleges agree are necessary if work is to be as valuable to the student as he has a right to expect it to be.

Co-Eds Learn To Direct Scouts In Tenderfoot Tests

Lois McCaslin and Louise Jacobson are among the college students who are getting experience in working with children, and in community service while still on the campus. Both are interested in work with lower teen-age girls, so they have recently taken charge of a Girl Scout troop.

In the troop are twelve girls from the Demonstration School. Most of them are tenderfoot Scouts, but all of them are intensely interested in passing tests of all kinds, and in learning to enjoy out of door fun and indoor craft. They are looking forward to having a Court of Honor when they will invite their parents to see how much they have learned.

Miss McCaslin has charge of the general work of the group and Miss Jacobson gives them help in their music. Both girls find recreation and stimulation in their meetings with the scout troop, they say.

Virgil Gore is ill at his home in Canyon. He has a teaching position at Olton this year.

Polls To Be Open For One Entire Week

As a result of the vote taken in assembly last Wednesday morning, there are now six beauties in the pulchritude contest sponsored by Le Mirage. Voting begins Tuesday, Dec. 5, after chapel and continues through Wednesday, December 13. Those who were chosen from the thirteen girls entered were: Josephine Flanken, Sue Brown, Adella Beavers, Margaret Harvey, Nina Mae Drew, and Pauline Shelton.

The contest is now for queen of the college, which favorite is to be chosen from this group. Each of the above, however, will be represented by a page in the annual. Polls will be open in the Publications office each day from 9:30 to 3:30 o'clock, closing, Wednesday, at 4:30 o'clock.

Votes will be priced as follows: Tuesday and Wednesday, 100 votes for 1c.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 50 votes for 1c.

Monday and Tuesday, 25 votes for 1c.

Wednesday (last day), 10 votes for 1c.

Every student is at liberty to buy and buy, backing his candidate as long as he desires to do so.

Registrar Is Com. Chairman

Study Co-Ordination Of Work In School and College

Registrar D. A. Shirley was chairman of a meeting of the commission on Co-ordination of Colleges and Secondary Schools Wednesday in Austin. This is a commission of the Association of Texas Colleges.

The general topic for discussion was the co-ordination of work in high schools with college work and reconstruction of the college entrance requirements.

Nationally Known Speakers
J. B. Johnson, Dean of the University of Minnesota, was the forenoon speaker. The subject of his talk was Changing Trends of College Admission. Dr. Ben D. Wood of Columbia University in New York, was the afternoon speaker.

The following members of the commission were present: D. A. Shirley, chairman, W. T. S. T. C.; R. G. Roger, Weatherford College; W. P. Akin, Texarkana; T. D. Brooks, A. & M. College; Joseph U. Yarbrough, S. M. U.; H. T. Manuel, University of Texas; J. J. Delaney, Schreiner Institute, Kerrville; Colby D. Hall, T. C. U.; Hugh O'Donnell, St. Edward's University; E. E. Oberhalter, Houston.

The following visitors attended: H. T. Parlin, University of Texas; Noosson K. Dupre, Houston.

T-Anchor Cowboys Entertain C.C.C. Camp Recently

On Saturday night, November 25, the workers of the C. C. C. camp were entertained by a musical program furnished by some of the T-Anchor Cowboys.

Among those who participated in the program were Edd and Bill Todd who sang various numbers accompanied by violin and guitar music. A song entitled, "Song of the Golden West," which was composed by Edd Todd, was one of those played and sung by the brothers. Ted Clark featured on the violin, playing old-time melodies, popular music, and cowboy songs. He also played some special numbers on the mandolin. Rube Mills strummed a guitar, Hawaiian fashion, much to the delight of his listeners, while Curtis Clements accompanied on the mandolin. Howard Weatherby performed several fancy rope-spinning stunts.

The entire program was liberally interspersed with jokes, and a number of cowboy "yarns" were told. The boys felt that they really accomplished something by the rendition of their program, for at the conclusion of the affair, they received a bountiful supper, which according to the boys certainly did "hit the spot."

New Course In Art Department

Course Will Be Offered Beginning Next Semester

Although the last half of the college year is still eight weeks away, plans are already under way for a new course to be offered at that time by the Art department.

While this course will be open to others, it is being organized especially for women who are house keepers and mothers; however, since it is to deal with the minor arts, it will be an excellent course for any student who wants to learn something of the place of art in everyday life, and the contribution of art to finer living.

Five General Topics
Miss Isabel Robinson is organizing the course around five general topics. They are ceramics, including both ancient and modern pottery; fabrics, including tapestries, carpets, printed and dyed textiles; furniture, with emphasis upon period furniture and cabinet making; home decoration, with practical study of picture framing and hanging, wall coverings, window arrangement, floor finishes and coverings, furniture placement and color schemes; and finally a study of children's books.

As now planned this course will offer three semester hours credit for those who wish credit, and it will meet three times a week for eighteen weeks. It is expected that many students from both Amarillo and Canyon will avail themselves of this extremely practical course. It will be open to anyone who wishes to take it.

W. T. Breakfast Features Meet

Mody Boatright Delivers Main Address At Driskill

One of the outstanding functions of the State Teachers Meet at Austin the past week as far as the West Texas State Teachers College is concerned, was the Ex-Student Breakfast given Friday morning at the Driskill Hotel in Austin.

T. H. McDonald, president of the Exes, presided and Dr. J. A. Hill brought greetings from the faculty and students of the college. J. Everts Haley had charge of the arrangements.

Boatright Speaks
Principal speaker of the day was Mody Boatright, now professor of English in the University of Texas, and one of the best known of W. T. exes.

"Less than fourscore and seven years ago," said Mr. Boatright, "I left my native cowpastures and went to Canyon, itself little more than a cowpasture, to enroll in what was then known as the West Texas State Normal College."

"The school grew as I grew," he continued, "becoming in my sophomore year a first class senior college. In those days I felt a justifiable pride in the growth of my college—in its expansion from a normal school into a senior college. My pride was perhaps greater for my not realizing what is obvious now: that boys and girls all over the state were coming to college in ever increasing numbers, and that the state was expanding its facilities at a tremendous rate to take care of them."

Many Exes Present
Miss Edna Graham had charge of the registering of ex-students who were present. Following is a list of those participating in the breakfast, date they were in school at W. T., and their present address:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everts Haley, W. T. in '29, Austin.

Miss Helen Hickman, W. T. now, Miss Edna Graham, 1919-1933, Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Gilmore, W. T. in '32, Wheeler.

Walker Talks To Texas Society

Professor Has Made Numerous Trips Into Palo Duro

At the fourth free lecture of the fall by the Texas Geographic Society held on the Roof Garden of the Jefferson Hotel in Dallas Wednesday evening, Miss Darthula Walker, head of the geography department of the West Texas State Teachers College, delivered an illustrated address on "The Palo Duro Canyon and Its Geographic Significance."

Members of the geographic society honored Miss Walker with a dinner at the Jefferson at 6:30 o'clock preceding her lecture.

Familiar With Canyon
During the twelve years that Miss Walker has been associated with the college here she has repeatedly made excursions into the Palo Duro Canyon, one of the geographic wonders of Texas and the Southwest. She has taken colored motion pictures and slides of the outstanding scenic features of the canyon, which she showed in connection with her lecture last Wednesday night.

Miss Walker was a member of the floating university on an around-the-world cruise in 1930-31.

Queen Will Be Crowned Dec. 15

The formal coronation of the College Queen, which was initiated last year by the Pi Omega gas for the purpose of giving the students of W. T. an opportunity to dress in their most formal manner on one occasion, is scheduled for the evening of December 15. The institution of this program as an annual affair in student activities, has come as a result of numerous criticisms that little of the desirable element of formality is evident in the education of college students.

The Queen (to be elected this week from the six girls selected in chapel Saturday morning) will be attended by the remaining five girls and their escorts. Immediately following the coronation in the auditorium of the Administration Building the doors of Cousins Hall will swing open honoring Her Highness and her train with a reception and dance.

I. R. C. Shelf Gets Six New Books

Furnished By Carnegie To Promote Peace In World

One of the most extensive collections of authoritative books on present day problems is to be found in the International Relations Club Shelf in the main library.

This collection is furnished by the Carnegie Foundation, sponsors of the local branch of I. R. C. and is sent out with the purpose of promoting peace through a better understanding of world affairs.

A number of new books have recently been received by the shelf, including "Will They Pay," by Richardson, an enlightening discussion of the question of war debts told in a brief, clear and concise manner.

"The Great Illusion," by Norman Angell, treats on the fallacy of war as an instrument of national policy.

"Historical Evolution of Hispanic America," is written by Rippy, who is an authority on the problems of the Hispanic American countries. This book is especially timely as these countries are in the foreground at the present time.

"World Prosperity," by McClure, deals with the economic work of the League of Nations.

"Bank for International Settlements at Work" is written by Dulles, a Frenchman, and presents an interesting discussion.

"International Government," by Eagleton, gives a discussion of the problems of government.

Early in January the local International Relations Club plans to begin a series of book reviews on Modern Studies in the field of government and economics. All students are invited to attend.

Fish Reveal Early Life In English 101

State Pride Develops Early In Youth Of Texas

Some freshmen of W. T. believe that they have already lived the best part of their lives; they are sure there can be no more "happy days" equal to those they spent in high school.

Recalling the days of their childhood in themes submitted in English 101 classes, most of them mention a great interest in pets, including cats, dogs, squirrels and others. One declares that the most poignant grief of childhood was caused by the death of the dog which had afforded companionship and protection to a happy child.

One member of the class had an experience with a tornado, which left an indelible impression; another's earliest memory is of waving wheat fields; still another looks

Day Of Fun For Student Body

"Clothes Are Important," Says Student Council

(By The Snooper)
Whatta you gonna wear on Hobo Day?

That's the question confronting the comely co-ed and the erudite ed on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College since Tuesday, December 12, has been designated by the Student Council as Hobo Day and since clothes for such a fiesta are of no small consideration. That is, the "right" clothes.

Inaugurated This Year
Hobo Day is being inaugurated this year by the Student Council as a day of fun when every student may become better acquainted with his fellows. It will be an occasion for the fostering of college spirit, for breaking down the barriers between students and professors and between the students themselves. "Clothes," says the Council members, "are of prime consideration. No one will be accepted who is not a true hobo."

Clothes Are The Thing
The only requirement for the participant is that he or she be dressed in accordance with the day, become hobos in spirit and habitment and join the gay parade of other hobos. It is expected that among the men there will be appropriate hirsute adornment, colorful bandanas, ragged pantaloon (pawdon us!) and perhaps the knapsack frequently associated with the knights of the road.

And for his feminine counterpart—that looks as though it might be more difficult. Perhaps, seeing that beards are not the thing, they might substitute becoming hats or effect a gypsy regalia with large ear rings and furtive glances. (Watch your pocket-books, gentlemen!) However, that (Continued on last page)

Christmas Service To Be Presented On December 17

"The Light of Men," a Christmas service, will be given at the Methodist church Sunday evening, December 17, announces Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, Methodist student secretary.

The program will be composed of the Old Testament prophecy and reading, candle lighting, and dramatization of the Christmas service from the light in the cottage to the adoration scene. Appropriate music will be furnished by the Wesley Choir. Miss Ruth Lowes will be in charge of the dramatization and Jo Quattlebaum will act as reader. Miss Mary Gant will be organist for the service.

Some forty W. T. students in all will participate in the service. Choir rehearsal is called for Wednesday evening at 6:45 at the Methodist church, announces Miss Swisher.

upon a country school where there were many mean boys, where the playground was rough and comforts few, as the dearest spot on earth.

State pride evidently develops early in the Texas youth, even though he has spent most of his days in another state, for one freshman native son says, "I have always been glad that I was born in Texas"—this even though most of his father's ranch lies in another state.

Not all the green caps were born under the Lone Star though, and one saw the light in Indiana, received an appreciation of life among the mountains and mountaineers of Maryland, and is now happy to majoring in mathematics in W. T.

Proud of Honors
Many freshman came to college proud of the honors they have won in high school. It is said that there are more honor students on (Continued on last page)

PLEA FOR ACTIVITY

Initiative in political activity has been and is characteristic of college and university students in other countries, especially in Europe and the Latin-American nations. The spirit of social justice has pervaded the academic fields; and action, frequently in the form of revolution, has resulted. It was university students who motivated the revolutions throughout Europe in 1820 and 1848; it was they who frequently ferreted out political and social injustice in the Latin-American countries and recently in Cuba. To render his position of dictatorship tenable, President Machado realized that he must suppress the enlightened thought among college students, characterized as it was by a zeal for social justice.

Such has been the condition in other countries; woefully behind those enlightened "radicals" remain the students of American colleges and universities. Although not even the mercenary interests so prominent in the capitalistic doctrines of this nation have been able to suppress advanced thought on matters of social justice, they have succeeded in blighting any activity. This condition obtains not because of lack of ability on the part of professors and students, but because too many of our leading colleges have been submerged in capitalistic endowments; too many of the chairs have been creations of industrial barons and "utility" magnates. As long as public opinion has been shaped by those apathetic to social justice, it has been futile for the college students to act. They have settled into a state of physical lethargy and mental progress.

But now conditions are gradually weakening the former impregnable status of individualism; university products of the new thought have found place in the personnel of the government, and results have been effected. This step is but a mere beginning; college students can and will take up the fight, not to be stopped until social conditions are "radically" changed. Why shouldn't American college students assume leadership of public opinion? Who is better qualified to establish and guarantee social justice?

—J. S.

"Some things will worry a man bald-headed," observes The Houstonian, "provided, of course, he has any hair."

NO REWARD WITHOUT LABOR

The educational, moral and intellectual development of every individual must be chiefly, his own work. In morals and intellect he gives the final shape of his own character and thus becomes the architect of his own fortunes.

The best universities that open their doors to a student can but afford an opportunity for instruction. The extent to which he accepts it, and the extent to which he uses it, depends on the individual himself. He alone can make it into failure or success.

Some one has said that there is no excellence without great labor. It is the act of fate from which no genius can absolve any person. Since this is true let every man have a mind to work, whether he be a genius or of a mediocre type. The mediocre man can rise to eminence. He who can compute the possibilities of youth, can gain a sure footing as he climbs the hill of educational life and can reach eminence as the years go by.

Edison says genius is ninety-eight percent work and two percent talent. Many of the most prominent men of America have gained the heights of honor by their untiring perseverance. The lives of Lincoln, Jackson, Garfield and Clay best illustrate this. Great men are made, not born.

There may be among us, those who long to be great, those who long for the laurel crown of fame to rest upon their royal brows. Perhaps here are those who aspire to be statesmen and stand at the helm of state or national government; there may be some who long to be great preachers, whose messages stir the hearts of the multitude; there may be some who wish to be poets whose sublime verse will thrill the pulsing heart. Constant unremitting labor will enable these students to attain the heights to which they aspire.

The fact that we are given the capacity for knowledge and know its necessity, know what is constructive and know what is destructive, carries with it the implied command for us as students to exercise the talents and intellect with which we are endowed.—Simmons Brand.

Canyon C. of C. Shows Aid Given To College

President Hill States Projects Filled Under The PWA

At the annual banquet of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce last Monday night the West Texas State Teachers College was brought into the limelight by the city of Canyon, the town showing in a number of ways the many aids they have furnished the college during the past year.

Among the directors for the coming year are Dean Harris M. Cook and C. Wesley Batchelder, of the college. Other directors are: J. W. Kleinschmidt, Levi Cole, Dr. E. J. Cundiff, J. H. Cox, Jr., and J. Roy Moses.

Dr. Hill Speaks

Dr. J. A. Hill told of the projects which he had filed under the PWA, which he had been assured will be considered, and some of which would be accepted. He has asked for $150,000 for a complete overhauling of the College plant. He took an estimate to Austin Tuesday calling for $50,000 for new floors and repainting the administration building.

Mr. Hill called attention to the 25th anniversary of W. T. and submitted plans for a monster celebration next September or October. A faculty committee composed of L. P. Sheffy, D. A. Shirley, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Wallace R. Clark, Miss Ruth Lowes, C. A. Murray and Miss Mary E. Hudspeth will have charge of arrangements. The Chamber of Commerce was asked to appoint a committee to act with this one. Every citizen of Canyon was asked to assist in this program, dates for which will be announced soon after the first of the year.

S. H. Condron, member of the retiring board of directors, made the nomination for directors for the coming year, the report being accepted.

L. P. Sheffy called upon all of the people of the community to get behind the Silver Anniversary of W. T., and assist the committees in every possible way.

Spend For College

In the list of their expenditures, for the past year, the Chamber of Commerce has been especially generous where the College was concerned. In the struggle to keep the standard of the college up despite the unhappy economic conditions of the country the C. of C. has expended $897.12.

The Chamber has co-operated and assisted the College in a number of other projects such as financing a campaign of personal contacts by various faculty members making field trips seeking prospective students, and an advertising campaign for the College using newspapers in 26 counties of the Panhandle announcing the new split-semester plan inaugurated by the College administration this year.

Financial assistance to the amount of $100 was rendered the annual District Interscholastic League meet held at the College, co-operation was given to the W. T. Ex-Students on several projects. The sum of $82.00 was contributed to the Museum building fund and $64.32 was spent in College advertising.

Entertainment was furnished during the banquet by five Cow-boys from the T-Anchor Farm who gave a musical program.

LE MIRAGE
Previews

My dear ishy wishy:

Well ol' dear the worst is over, I hope anyway. As you know The LE MIRAGE has a contest every year for the most beautiful one of the weaker sex. This year it's all over but the shouting. The finals are going to be run off this week. Everyone is urged to support the one whom is uppermost in their ideals (or sumpin'). And say they sure have a good bunch of femmes to pick from. The order in which they went into the finals is as follows: that friend of each and everyone, JO FLANIKEN; a little fishman, SUE BROWN; that small but mighty, ADELLA BEAVERS; a little girl from a little town, MARGARET HARVEY; none other than our own art editor, NINA MAE DREW, and last but by far not least, POLLY SHELTON. Believe you me, this bunch of beauties sure was picked from a fair crew of the W. T. S. T. C. opposite sex. You can figure out for yourself which you think will be the queen. Which ever it is she can be proud of herself, and I don't mean perhaps, maybe, or therefore.

And say, you should have heard some of those campaign speeches. They were really good. These boys can be proud of themselves, although I don't know as it was so much their fault. JAMES COMPTON, DAN AYNESWORTH, MILES McGEHEE, J. C. LINE, SHORTY MILLS, and ALVIN MORGAN. I didn't know there were so many words in the English dictionary about beauty as some of them used. I think I'll have to try some of them myself.

But that isn't the only thing that has happened around here this fine day. The bulk of the copy for the ANNUAL was sent off to the printers. It was the most that has ever been sent off at one time. We can sure all be proud of our EDITOR, MARTHA. She has sure worked, sweated, bit finger nails, pulled hair, missed sleep, etc. for nights and days trying to get this lazy bunch of the annual staff to do a little work. It looks as if the book this year will be out real early.

Say, you must come over to the open house at COUSINS HALL some night. They sure have a grand and glorious time over there. Yours truly was there last time and enjoyed himself immensely with none other than ol' 1, 2, 3, 4, COOPER. You must meet her some time, if you don't already know her.

Well Ol' thing, seeing as how we are going to have a few days relapse in here, I hope you behave yourself in the proper way. But still have a large time. By the time you get this I suppose you will already have had it, but still feeling the effects of IT. Wishing the best of luck, if I never see you again, it will be too soon.

Love and lots of them,
Billy Willy.

I got a purpose which is high.
I shuns the flowing bowl.

Training School Clubs Are Busy

Every Student In One Of Ten Active Organizations

Organizations in the Training School have been especially active during the past nine weeks, promoting in their activities the spirit of the school and the loyalty of the students.

Among the musical organizations are the Training School band, directed by C. E. Strain, and the Girls' Chorus under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark.

The Spanish Club and the Latin clubs are sponsored by Mrs. Tommie Montfort, both of which have developed a number of projects the past split-semester.

Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, dean of the training school, is faculty representative to the Student Council which is composed of two representatives from each class.

The staff of the Tumbleweed, news column which appears in the Prairie is directed by Mrs. Montfort as is also the staff of Le Petit Mirage, training school division of the College annual.

The assembly programs are jointly sponsored by the departments of Music and Public Speaking, with Miss Ada V. Clark, C. E. Strain and Mrs. Montfort alternating in charge.

The boys' basketball squad is being coached this year by Milton Morris, senior in the College.

In addition to the special clubs there are the various class organizations for the four high school classes, each trying to surpass the other in work accomplished during the year.

In at least one of these ten organizations every one of the 106 students in high school are enrolled.

A New York "professional escort" advises men: "When you escort a girl home, don't make love to them. Then they will always call you again." He forgets, though to mention what they'll call you.

cannot imagine a season in which an imperfect skin is in fashion!

Correct beauty care for the college girl is not complicated. A granular wash, such as beauty grains, will cleanse the pores deeply, thus preventing or helping remove blackheads, blemishes and skin cells. The skin is left immaculately clean, the pores are reduced, and the whole skin tone is clarified.

In addition to a wash, every type of skin needs a cream that is enlivening to the tissues, and that will include softening the skin and erasing fatigue lines in its duties.

A pasteurized face cream does all this, and is also excellent for cleansing after you have been out of doors playing hockey—dashing across a wind swept campus or walking against a brisk autumn breeze. You will find that it serves as an excellent powder base, too, if your skin is very dry or sensitive, although of course you will find a foundation cream much more flattering for evening and other formal occasions.

A wedding of unusual interest to the students of W. T. is that of Miss Mary Jo Gates to Mr. C. W. Foote, Jr. which took place Sunday, November 5, at Clayton, New Mexico. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. M. Stradley of the First Methodist Church of that city.

Mrs. Foote is the daughter of Mrs. J. W. Gates of O'Donnell and during her college career in the West Texas State Teachers College has displayed unusual scholarship. She is active in the Y. W. C. A. and is senior girl representative to the Student Council, one of the most important campus organizations.

The groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Foote, who, until recently, resided in Canyon where Rev. Foote was pastor of the First Methodist church. C. W. Jr. is also a member of the senior class.

Over At MOORE'S CO-OP

(By Charles Townes)

Freshmen come and freshmen go, it has been said. At the present time five of them are about to go crazy. Only one freshman in the organization took English 101 last term. That explains why Alton Harrell is so happy (he passed it.) The rest of us cannot even gain on it and we have no hopes of ever passing it.

Can William D. Hawkins cook or can William D. Hawkins perform his culinary duties in a masterful way! Any occupant of the Co-op will reply in the affirmative, smack his lips and roll his eyes when Hawkins' name is mentioned in connection with cooking. Since Farley brought that quarter of beef from his home each member of the Co-op has gained at least ten pounds. Arlington Elms, however, by eating between meals, managed to gain fifteen pounds in one week and has been trying to surpass this mark during the last week.

When Todd, Jody Boston and Alton Harrell go "duck hunting" something is bound to happen. Anyway, if you hear of the Co-op boys going around the campus muttering "quack quack" know ye that Harrell was the cause of ten boys eating six ducks for Sunday dinner.

As for the two Boston boys—their chief recreation is that of sleeping late each morning. Hawkins, by means of yelling and other ingenious methods, sometimes is able to get them to rise in time to go to classes, to say nothing of their breakfast. The mutterings they utter in their partial slumber are quite educational.

Ask any of the boys where they were on the night of Nov. 28, 1933, then ask McMinn for information concerning a certain . . . English book he might have purchased.

We are expecting a new arrival at the Co-op—no, don't get excited. You see, Kneirim is expecting a new roommate soon.

If J. D. Smith doesn't get a shave soon the other participants in the Hobo Day contest will not stand a chance of even beginning to compete for the prize. Just watch us on Hobo Day for a sad sight for well eyes.

For Winter Bridge, Colors Are Trump

NECKLINES ARE ALL-IMPORTANT, LENDING INDIVIDUAL TOUCH; SILK AND WOOL ARE FAVORITE FABRICS

BY HARRIET

THE girl who goes to many winter bridge parties should try to look gay.

Whether your "game" is a cheerful one or not doesn't matter quite so much if you, yourself, look pretty and appropriately dressed for the occasion.

The neckline is the place to concentrate when you choose a bridge dress. Let the rest of your frock be plain and simple, but the neckline gives you your chance to be individual.

Silk is the favorite fabric for bridge dresses. But if you get cold easily, better choose a soft woolen frock.

Colors are all important. There are bright red bridge dresses which make the room more cheerful when you enter. Green is good, too, and rose is another favorite.

You can make one bridge dress serve for several parties if you show a little ingenuity in your choice of accessories. Change the ascot scarf occasionally. Vary your jewelry. Top the outfit with a different hat sometimes.

Sleeves should be comfortable. You can't reach out and gracefully take in your tricks if you have no extra room in your shoulder seams.

With raglan sleeves so popular this winter, it's a good idea to have them in bridge dresses.

BLACKBERRY crepe makes a beautiful two-piece dress that expresses exquisite originality in sleeves and neck.

The skirt is straight, with pleats in back and front to allow for comfort and grace when you're sitting with your legs under the bridge table.

The blouse reaches the hips and is belted at the normal waistline. Three large ball buttons, studded with rhinestones, decorate the front closing.

The elbow-length raglan sleeves are outlined with a two-inch band of fine pleating, which starts under the arms and goes around the back of the neckline.

A brown felt hat with circular veil, brown kidskin pumps, and brown suede bag and gloves do their part to make the blackberry shade of the frock outstanding.

Another bridge dress is cut to look like a two-piece model, though it really isn't. The peplum does the trick.

The skirt and the long, raglan sleeves are of deep brown, while bodice and ascot scarf are of Spanish tile.

The circular peplum falls in graceful folds over the hipline. The long ascot tie, with fringed ends, ties softly at the throat and reaches almost to the brown suede belt.

The bridge dress at left looks like a two-piece model, but it isn't. The skirt and sleeves are of deep brown; the bodice and ascot scarf of Spanish tile. Blackberry crepe fashions the dress shown below. A two-inch band of fine pleating which runs around the neckline and under the arms features this frock.

A brown, high-crowned hat, brown suede gloves, and kidskin dress oxfords are just the right accessories for an afternoon of bridge.

Slang Fads Reflect Attitudes Of Today

Phrases Are Short Lived In Modern Day World

Like the styles in music and fashions, it seems that in America we have had definite styles in the slang phrases which members of the younger set rid themselves of some of their abundance of bouyancy, pep, gay spirits or what have you. These slang fads, remarkable for the brevity of their lives since the World war, reflect, to a degree, the changing attitudes of the young people themselves.

For instance, it was considered quite in keeping with the times back in 1915 to say "Ish Kabibble" whenever the flippant co-ed was in a carefree mood. If something pressed her for time or worry she used the phrase which is a combination of Koshier words meaning, "I should worry."

"Hot Dog," it seems, also got an early start, being the expression de-luxe during and just after the war. Then everything began being "cute" or "cute as a little red wagon." Dazed with the speed of the times, youth became brave and met every threat with "you and who else." Later, they found that "hot" expressed the idea of pep.

As the result of a song, "Me too" became the rage. Soon the "cute" things began to have "it" as Clara Bow introduced in the old silents. Then, going French, all clerks thought it very smart to say that a garment had "chic." Back in 1928 the vivacious girl was a "dizzy dame," and do you remember "hula-hula?" Nor can Barney Google and "Youse is a viper" be overlooked.

Then America went on a rampage. The talkies and their exposures of gangland slang flooded the country with repartee in a variety of colors. There came forth the seemingly immortal "Oh yeah" (which still grates on our nerves from overuse), accompanied by its brother, "Sez you" who didn't remain with us very long. Everything was "in the bag" because it was "the berries."

Reverses met us. Things became "all wet" and "dippy" and people began to talk like "dope heads." It took Eddie Cantor to lift us out of our depression sayings. He introduced "nertz" which was sufficient to cure anything. From the talkies came "scram" and the radio "double check," and from everywhere "hot-cha."

The spirit of the Sunny South got into our skin in 1933 with "yowsah" and "ye' mam."

And here comes along Mae West who says, "C'mup and see me sometime."

So—"howma doin'?"

3 about Cigarettes

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand

Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

BY the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by ageing the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.

Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.

And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.

Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.

In a letter to us, an eminent scientist says:
"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink."

MARIAN O'BRIAN
Women's SportsLARGE NUMBER REPORT FOR
BASKET PRACTICE MONDAYFour Of Last Year's Squadmen Are Back
On Team

(By R. L. Burnam)

The 1933-34 basketball season for the Buffaloes opened Monday afternoon with a large number reporting for practice.

Four squadmen from last year's team are back this year. Of these four only two were rated as regulars last year. These two were Russell Stroud and Guy Richards. Stroud, a forward, is the tallest man on this year's squad.

Richards plays either forward or guard. John Walker and "Cow" Williams are also veterans. "Big John" was substitute center and "Cow" was guard last year.

Hope To Make Team

Several of last year's freshman squad hope to make the team. Of these, we have McMinn, McElroy, Boedeker, Reams and Phillips making the strongest bids for positions on the team.

No schedule has yet been made but Coach Baggett and Registrar Shirley will leave Friday for Dallas where they will attend a meeting of college coaches Saturday and outline the season's schedule.

Plans are in view, says Coach Baggett, for one of the stiffest schedules in the history of basketball at W. T.

Absent from the squad will be Fortenberry, Comer, Colvin, Monroe, Morris, Burk, and Fitzgerald, men whom it will be hard to replace, according to fans. However, from the present outlook it seems that the Buffaloes are in for an unusually promising season.

Old Letters—

a hardship to brown the green coffee."

There were new foods to grow accustomed to, for Mrs. McCrea writes, "And then bean soup! I had never seen or eaten dried beans. Indeed bean soup in those days was a nightmare. And my first doughnuts, made dear old Bill, the mule, sick! The horrid things were too short and sweet." Accustomed to the long, long twilights of England, it was hard for Clara to realize that when the sun was down, it was night, and that it was dangerous for her to ride late. She relates, too, that she received many soundings for racing her brother's cow horses, and that the cowboys told her wild tales, and that she could not tell which were true and which false.

Looking back across the fifty-four years that have gone since she arrived in what is now Hansford County, Mrs. McCrea says, "Yes, I had my troubles as well as pleasures! All this seems foolish now, but was in those days very serious. . . Few in these advanced times can understand or sympathize with those early trials."

In a few years after she took charge of the home of her brothers, Jim and Bob, Clara Cator became the wife of Clayton McCrea.

who had taught the first school at the old town of Tascosa. Her companion, Miss Ludlow had married Bob Cator within the year after coming to Texas, the two women apparently being the first white women to establish permanent homes in the Panhandle north of the Canadian river. With the other brother, J. H. Cator, who married his English sweetheart, Miss Edith Land, in 1887, their families began building the foundations for the agricultural and cultural growth which has since made Hansford county a leader in the extreme north section of Texas.

BISON BULL

by
The Trio

We certainly miss the other half of the Trio, but it (the other half) tells us that this B. B. stuff is on the up and up, so we're happy. It doesn't take much to make us happy, just a kind word and a pat on the head now and then.

Holiday Dope

Most of the out of town studees gave the homefolks a break this week end. I know a few persons whom I think never to see again would be a break, but isn't it queer that no matter how dumb, sappy, ugly or off a guy is, someone in the world thinks he's oke? Especially a guy's mother. The lowest down person in the world probably has a mother (maybe a daddy too) who has confidence, or if they have lost confidence in the person, they always have hope and love for him. Excuse the sentimentality, as we don't often get that way, but ain't it the truth?

Ah, You Beauty!

The Beauty Queen publicity managers surely did their duties by some women Wednesday at chapel. But it was sad that only a few intelligent Freshmen understood what it was that "Judy" Williams was scooping out. And wasn't Glenn Reeve bumfuzzled when he realized that he had compared Helen Lill with a nutshell? Of that bunch of queens, isn't Dorothy Clark positively a queen, not only on the outside, but clean to the core? Yeah bo!

Dorothy Dix Says

We're a believer of Dorothy Dix, but isn't she discouraging when she says that the male who doesn't drink, smoke, swear, or even think bad things, who says his prayers, leads the Epworth League, and to marry whom would be like putting your money in the savings bank, usually wears his bushy hair too long, his pants too short (sometimes too long too,) snuffles when he talks, and shuffles when he walks?

We have a bad habit of doing an Abe Martin stop on this column, so that's all.

Riding a balky pony, and jogging along in a black buggy have brought two to college entrance.

Parents are Exes

Among this year's freshmen are several whose parents have been students of W. T. One of these is Elizabeth Bryant of Kress whose mother is one of the most loyal exes.

Ina Rae Cummings, of Floydada, and Juanita Golden of Snyder are among the freshman whose older brothers have received degrees from West Texas. Ina Rae's brother is now superintendent of the Floydada schools, and Floyd Golden, Juanita's oldest brother, is the superintendent of the schools at Portales.

The freshman boys and girls, with their varied backgrounds, wide interests, and buoyant enthusiasm are a group to which the college looks for splendid accomplishment. The high schools from which they have come have given them excellent starts, and the college expects them to travel far on the road to well-balanced adulthood.

Program

The big community entertainment presented by Cal Farley and Dutch Mantell, with 25 performers from Amarillo, will be staged next Tuesday night, Dec. 5th at Burton Gymnasium, starting at 8 o'clock.

The entertainment is sponsored by the Palo Duro Post of the American Legion, and everything taken in will go toward the Christmas fund of the Post. The entire group of Amarillo entertainers will give their services to the local Post.

Tickets are being sold by the senior class of W. T. training school and by the Canyon high school basketball girls. 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under 12 years of age will be charged.

The show being brought here by Farley and Mantell is a high class, clean entertainment of song hits, jokes, magic, boxing and wrestling. Farley has become famous, not only as a wrestler, but also as a radio announcer of athletic events. Mantell is a whole show unto himself with his antics. All of the entertainers which will be brought here are well known in Amarillo, and Panhandle towns where this show has been put on.

The Christmas plans for the Palo Duro Post are going forward in splendid shape. A list is being made of all families who need help, and it is planned to see that every family is remembered on the Christmas tree. The funds received from the show next Tuesday will be used in restoring toys for distribution to the needy children and giving other Christmas gifts.

After an accident, a Montana man had 50 stitches taken in his face. At last reports, his condition was sew-sew.

A man may have a grip on his pocket book and yet have no intention of traveling.

Day of Fun—

is not for us to judge—and we will not, lest we be judged and that, with the frocks we have in mind, will not do.

Classes Will Meet
Classes are to meet as usual with no divergence from the path of duty. None of the stunts or frolics are to interfere with class work in any way. The Student Council is anxious that all regulations be observed and that everyone have a big time at little expense. Upon the success of this fete depends the success of the fetes to come.

A similar fun day is celebrated in many colleges and universities throughout the land. Such fiestas have become, in several eastern universities, a tradition of the school and are eagerly looked forward to by the students each year as a day of real frolic and one that will be remembered in the months to come.

Organ Recital Is Given Tuesday for the Rotary Club

Miss Lilla Beth Burroughs gave an organ recital Tuesday for the Rotary Club following the luncheon. Miss Burroughs is pianist for the club, and gave the program of organ numbers for the regular program period, which was in charge of President Sylvester Ingham.

Three new members were announced for the club, Rev. Charles L. Dickey, Forrest Farrell and Donald Trolinger.

Visitors present Tuesday were C. R. McAfee, Price Hooks, Dr. D. M. Puckett, J. D. Thompson, Jr., John C. Fain, all of Amarillo; Joe J. Mickle of Eastland; Dr. R. A. Neblett, L. B. Hammond, W. O. Turpin and R. B. Gist of Canyon.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TO BE THE CHAMPION
TRAP SHOOTER

SHOOTING FROM SCRATCH, 25 yards behind the traps, Walter Beaver pulled out of an exciting tie to win the 34th Grand American—the first time it has been won by a limit contestant! He has been a steady smoker of Camels for years, and says: "During all these years I've been smoking Camels because I like their taste and mildness...they never jangle my nerves."

HOW ARE YOUR NERVES? If you smoke a lot...inside...outdoors...wherever you are...join the swing to Camels. You'll find them milder, better tasting, and they never get on your nerves.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

WALTER BEAVER, holder of the coveted Grand American Handicap, says:

"Winning a trap-shooting championship is partly a matter of luck, partly the result of practice and partly healthy nerves. I'm a steady smoker. People kid me about it at the tournaments. They say I never have a cigarette out of my mouth. During all these years I've been smoking Camels, not only because I like their taste and their mildness, but also because they never jangle my nerves."

It's no fun to feel that your nerves are ragged—and to wonder why. Check up on your eating...your sleep...your cigarettes. Switch to Camels. Your nerves and your taste will tell you that Camels are a more likable cigarette—and that they don't upset your nerves.
