CLASS EDITIONS WILL DRAW MUCH INTEREST HERE

New Feature Added in Co-ed and Men's Editions of Paper

HUMOR IS EXPECTED Sophs and Fish Will Pub- lish Only Two Class Editions

Class editions to The Prairie this spring will be limited to a contest between the freshmen and the sophomore classes, according to the plans of the newspaper staff. The class editions are sponsored by The Prairie in order to encourage interest in journalism among the lower classmen, particularly. In the place of the junior and senior editions, a new feature is to be added that has proved successful in other schools. The co-eds of the entire school, and the men of the school, will edit one edition each, and prizes will be awarded the winning staff. After the news of the week has been covered in the co-ed and men's edition, humor is in order and feature material will take the limelight. These editions will go to extra pages if the material submitted warrant it, according to the staff.

The first class edition will be that of the sophomores, which is to be issued early in April. The freshmen will have the next special edition. A loving cup will be given by The Prairie to the class putting out the best editions. These papers will be of the conservative news type, and class material will be accepted only after the news field has been thoroughly covered. Dates for these editions will be announced next week.

The co-ed edition will come third among the specials and the girls will be given all the liberty necessary to make this edition a "howling success." The men will be given a like opportunity and the papers are expected to be one of the features of the term. Some suitable award will be made to the staffs of these editions, and will be announced with the definite dates of issue.

Classes are asked to elect their staffs at their next regular class meeting. The plan of picking the writers for these special issues should be based on ability rather than popularity or lack of it, and the entire class sponsoring the edition should assist the board of editors.

President Hill to Dallas
President Hill left Friday afternoon to attend a meeting of all the Presidents of the State Teachers Colleges of Texas. He returned Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Chapman and Mrs. C. W. Smith of Little Rock, Arkansas, are visiting their niece, Mildred Huckleby.

Opening Baseball Series is Split With Roswell Cadets Friday and Saturday; Eckhardt Has Good Bunch of Material

Anderson and Gerald Stand Out in Hitting Agate in Games With Institute; All New Men Show to Advantage in Series; Coach Hopes for Good Team.

Opening the season at Roswell last Friday and Saturday the Buffalo baseball team split the two game series with the Cadets by scores of 14 to 9 and 8 to 9 respectively. After winning the first and apparently having the second on ice the lads from Texas leaned back and started resting and when the soldiers had finished batting in the ninth inning of the final, the Herd was one run behind and the game was over.

Eckhardt's rookies showed well in both games and he figures that before the season is very old he will have a ball team as good or better than has worn the Buffalo uniform in several seasons. Mason Anderson looked especially good in his batting, while Pat Gerald also hammered the old horsehide something fierce. Newman, Ward, Thompson, and Boston were the other new men to come through in great fashion. Had the old men played as good ball as these rookies the story would have been different.

Home Ec Club Helps State Fund

Interest in furthering the research work in Home Economics was expressed by the local club this week when the club voted to contribute to the Ellen H. Richards Memorial Fund. The trustees of this fund are instituting a campaign for increasing this amount so as to utilize the income for research scholarships in the field of Home Economics. Under the present plan each state is to raise a certain amount and the part for Texas is $722. The membership of the student club is proud to do its bit toward increasing this fund.

New Death Ray Is Announced

BALTIMORE, Md., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—A new death dealing ray has been discovered by Prof. Robert W. Wood of Johns Hopkins university, who is perfecting an invention based on the property of a crystal to expand or contract when under an electric current. The crystal is made to vibrate at the rate of 350,000 vibrations per second, the resulting waves making the death ray. No living matter has been able to live when in the path of the ray.

Governor Loses Faith In Floating Colleges

NEW YORK, Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—Henry J. Allen, governor of Kansas, has lost faith in "floating universities," for the present at least. Steamships used as co-educational schools send young men and women to sea for further education, but "the presence of girls inevitably produces many courtships, diverting the attention of the students from their studies," Allen declared.

ORCHESTRA IS WELL RECEIVED

Contrasting Audience is Responsive to The Varied Program

The College Orchestra appeared on the program of the South Plains Music Festival in two concerts last Friday. In the afternoon they played to an enthusiastic audience of school children and at night to a most appreciative audience of adults.

The orchestra, under the direction of Wallace R. Clark, played perhaps the best program they have played this season. Herschel Coffee, soloist for the organization delighted his audiences with a group of three solos.

Mr. Clark, Miss Brigham, Miss Mary Clark and Mr. Coffee acted as judges for the contests which were held in connection with the festival. The South Plains Music Teachers' Association holds such a festival each year.

Aaron Boggs is Produced by B.S.U.

"Aaron Boggs, Freshman," under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waite was presented in the College Auditorium before a large crowd Tuesday evening. The program was well worked out and smoothly presented. It portrayed very desirable ability of the Baptist Students Union.

The play was sponsored by the Baptist Students Union and the proceeds will be used in various branches of Baptist work.

The cast: Lawton South, Eurith Compton, Bunyan Carnes, Gordon Beck, Jordan Miller, Darris Cheyne Byers Irwin, Edward Adams, Clyde Key, Emma Sue Buchanan, Eleanor Miller, Mrs. L. E. Waite, Mary Thomas, Stella Harden, Thelma Duke, Cora Lena Bowman, and Claud Ivey. Noel and Loel Gellion entertained between acts. The play presented very picturesquely some of the experiences of a college freshman and his response to them.

The source, value, and use of illustrative material for Home Economics was discussed by Veda Swafford. New officers elected for the spring quarter were: Marie Gardner, president; Gladys Swaeza, vice president; Bertie Foster, secretary.

Business Does Not Justify Downtown Telegraph Office

C. S. Cravens, assistant superintendent of the Santa Fe, visited Canyon last Tuesday in response to a petition from local interests regarding the establishment of a downtown office for the Western Union Telegraph Company. Mr. Cravens stated that the volume of business handled by Western Union in Canyon at the present time is not large enough to justify the establishment of the separate office. He stated that, for the present, the Santa Fe officials here will endeavor to improve the service where it is needed.

DEBATERS OPEN SEASON AGAINST ROSWELL CADETS

War Debt Subject Used in Open Forum Meet
Last Saturday

IS HOTLY CONTESTED

Periman, Parker and McCarty Take Affirmative Side National Topic

Carl Periman, Will McCarty, and Jessie Barker represented the West Texas State Teachers College in an Open Forum debate at Roswell on Saturday evening, Mar. 26th. The question discussed, "Resolved, that the Inter-Alled War Debts should be cancelled," was argued affirmatively by the West Texas team, while the N. M. M. I. Cadets defended the negative side.

McLary, Henderson, Miller and Manning were the New Mexico representatives in the discussion. Periman, first affirmative speaker, played a sentimental role in showing that the United States was morally bound to cancel the war debts, while Barker and McCarty came in strong on the rebuttal speeches.

The Cadet speakers, in debating the negative side, proved themselves to be real thinkers and speakers, and gave many good reasons why the allies should pay the money they owe to America.

Aside from the discussion, the social feature of the visit was most impressive on the visitors. The Cadets made a continual effort to see that their visitors were royally entertained, and they were highly successful in that attempt. The hospitality and sportsmanship of the Cadets, as displayed to our debaters, cannot be too highly praised, according to all local reports.

Prof. Batchelder, who accompanied the team to Roswell, seems highly pleased with the discussion from every standpoint, and highly endorses the Cadets in their work. On April 12, at Lubbock, Periman and McCarty will meet Tech in a formal debate on this same subject, and will debate the negative side of the question.

Self Government Is Being Tested

PRINCETON, N. J., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—The right of student self government is being tested at Princeton university, where the entire student council, Princeton's student governing body, resigned when the university administration ruled automobiles off the campus.

The 15 students making up the council declared that they were resigning for a "principle."

"We feel that the time has come for a definite understanding between the administration and the student body as to the actual power to be exercised by the student governing organization," a statement by the council declared.

The students in the council said that they did not object to the automobile ruling, but to the action of the administration making such a decision without regard for student opinion.

Decorative Exhortations

BISMARCK, N. D., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—School rooms in North Dakota will hereafter be decorated with a copy of the Ten Commandments if a bill introduced and passed by the lower house of the legislature here is not quashed.

Justice Holmes at 86

Twenty-five years ago President Roosevelt called Oliver Wendell Holmes, then 61, to the United States Supreme Court bench. Now at 86 he is still as active as any of the nine justices. "Work is the secret," he says, "and I will never retire."

HAZLEWOOD IS NEW SECRETARY

Commerce Body Boosts
Canyon and College in Plains Territory

Emmitt Hazlewood started last week on a tour of the Panhandle under the direction of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. Officials of the chamber state that the program with which Hazlewood is connected is the largest yet attempted. Hazlewood will be field secretary for the organization and for the next three months will make trips through the Panhandle territory advertising Canyon and the West Texas State Teachers College.

Mr. Hazlewood is captain-elect of the Buffalo football team, is a College debater, and one of the outstanding students in the College. He will spend his time in the schools of this section, as well as seeking out people interested in moving to a good residential town. It is believed that he will have sufficient time to visit practically all of the high schools of this section before the close of the school year.

A large amount of literature regarding Canyon and the College is being taken by Mr. Hazlewood on the trip, and he will tell the people interested in this city of the advantages of moving here for school purposes.

The campaign has been thoroughly planned by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and it is hoped that all citizens of Canyon will get behind the directors in an effort to bring more people to Canyon and more students to the College.

Freedom of Press Is Maintained

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—The age old question of the freedom of the press has been temporarily settled here following the impeachment of Judge Clarence Dearth of the circuit court.

The Indiana judge had suppressed an issue of the Muncie Post Democrat, which charged Dearth and Mayor John Hampton of Muncie with failure to enforce the law. The Indiana house of representatives impeached Dearth by a vote of 93 to 1. He must now face charges of a judiciary committee before the senate, although he is automatically removed from the bench until the proceedings are over.

President Emeritus of Chicago Univ. is Dead

CHICAGO, Mar. 28. (I. J. A.)—Harry Pratt Judson, president emeritus of Chicago university is dead here as the result of a short illness, which at first was not believed to be serious.

Judson, a graduate of Williams college, was dean at the University of Minnesota until 1907 when he was made president of Chicago university. He headed that institution until 1923, when he retired and was made president emeritus.

Many faculty members and students of W. T. are being used as judges in Interscholastic League Contests all over the Panhandle. Numerous calls are being made on the Bureau of Public Service maintained by the college for persons to help in these contests.

Miss M. Moss Richardson of the department of English spent Friday and Saturday of last week in Roby acting as judge in a story telling contest.

Professors McCarter, McClendon, and Murray spent Thursday and Friday at Follett, acting as judges. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Osgood will go to Amarillo in a like capacity April 8. Miss Graham, Miss Noyes, and Lem Sone will go to Clarendon the 15 and 16 of next month. Mr. and Mrs. Mead and Mrs. Irby Carruth will judge preliminaries at Panhandle April 18. Miss Hanna will go to McLean April 1. Mr. Savage, Mr. Goza, and Mrs. Montfort will judge the Carson county meet at White Deer April 8 and 9. Mr. Jarrett, Mr. Jones, and Miss Richardson will go to Floydada April 8 and 9.

Pierle to Talk on China Problem

Dr. Pierle will talk about China, its history, customs of its people, its industries, his experiences in it and everything, to the Out-of-State Club and every one who will come, tomorrow night at seven o'clock to room 205. He has lived a good many years in China and is the best informed man relative to that country which is now undergoing many changes, in Texas today. If you don't know all there is to know about it, come and hear Dr. Pierle talk, he does not lecture or preach. It is free.

Ruth Lowes is New Y. W. Sponsor

Miss Ruth Lowes, a member of the training school faculty, is the new sponsor of the Young Women's Christian Association, succeeding Miss Mary Adeline Lamb. The last meeting of the Y. W. was featured by a farewell program for Miss Lamb. Kindest appreciation for the work of Miss Lamb during the past few years with the Y. W. was expressed by the organization.

Miss M. Moss Richardson described her recent visit to Shreveport. Miss Richardson told of the ordination ceremony at which Marie Crone, a former student, was commissioned to do missionary service abroad. The beauty of early summer in the South as described by Miss Richardson, made the approach of spring in the Panhandle all the more to be desired.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. McBlain visited Mary McBlain, their daughter on Sunday.

WILL WATCHER REMARKS

TIJUANA, Old Mex., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—I came to town last week to hear Will Rogers, famous as my contemporary.

Mr. Rogers undoubtedly has a keen insight into national and international affairs; but when it comes to politics, any college sorority woman could out-talk him with one-half of her mouth shut.

Members of the finance committees of the Senate and the House are expected to visit the College sometime this week or the first week in April, according to administrative officials. The committee has been appointed to inspect the state institutions and investigate at first hands the needs of these institutions. Senators Fairchild, Wood, and Bledsoe, were appointed before the adjournment of the legislature, to make the trip to Canyon. The Canyon Chamber of Commerce and the College have invited the entire committee consisting of Senators Wood, Hall, Real, Wirtz, Russek, Bledsoe, Bowers, Fairchild, Witt, Lewis, Miller, Westbrook, and Bailey, to visit the school here after inspecting the Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

"The committee will meet at Marlin on April first to study the appropriations bill for the state institutions, and will come to the Panhandle immediately thereafter, it is thought."

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce will furnish transportation for the committee from Lubbock to Canyon, it is stated, if the committee accepts the invitation to visit the West Texas State Teachers College.

Batchelder Gets Ptomaine Poison

C. W. Batchelder, debate coach, was stricken with ptomaine poison while in Roswell, New Mexico, with the open forum team Saturday. Physicians attributed the poison to tainted meat.

A stick of highly flavored peppermint chewing gum prevented serious results, according to the physicians, by creating an emetic effect. Physicians attended him Saturday night and succeeded in pumping the rest of the opison out of his stomach. He is resting well at his home.

Historical Society Officers at Meet

Several members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society attended the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Convention held in El Paso recently. T. D. Hobart, President of the Historical Society, was elected first vice president of the Cattle Raisers Association. Judge O. H. Nelson of Romero, who was president of the Historical Society last year, was also there.

The principle work which the Historical Society representatives did was to make the acquaintance of many of the old-timers of West Texas from whom they can secure information concerning early history of Texas. Many of those pioneers will be visited in the near future.

Some material on the history of the cattle industry was obtained from some present at the Convention.

On his return trip Evetts Haley, Field Representative of the Historical Society, stopped at the White Mountains, west of Roswell, and gathered considerable data on the history of Lincoln County, and southern New Mexico in general, and particularly on the Lincoln County war in which the noted outlaw, Billy the Kid, played such an important part.

J. B. Fowler Breaks Arm in Freak Tumble

J. B. Fowler, junior student in the college, broke his right arm Saturday afternoon in a fall sustained while he was working out with a group of track aspirants. Fowler was running in a group and fell when he was accidentally tripped. His arm was fractured badly above the wrist.

Sentimentalists

In the comparatively simple annals of progress are found two opposing forces that have been at the throat of each other since the cave man opposed the abandonment of the conventional club for the iron-tipped staff. In recent centuries progress and truth have become almost synonymous. Practically all classes of individuals advocate truth, but the followers of this golden ideal are divided into warring camps of the tolerant and the intolerant.

According to the prevailing interpretation, the intolerant are those factions that set themselves up as Truth; the tolerant, those groups that do not set themselves up at all but who claim to be observers of Truth. This interpretation of the attitudes of the two factions will hold from the time of the ancients until the present day. The factions have concerned themselves with every prominent movement figuring in history. The mediaeval Inquisitors set themselves up as Truth; the opponents of the age of popular government took a pedestal of like height and exaltation; the opponents of the age of the machine based their opposition on the culture of an age of intolerance. Now, the circuit has been completed, and the two factions are again taking education as their immediate objective. If history is to be used as the basis upon which to pass judgment on the present controversy, the observers of Truth will again be victorious in the struggle—but that does not lessen the bitter intensity with which the antagonists support their ideals.

One group bows down in reverence to the ideals of the past. The other group bows equally low to the ideals of the future. The last is progress; the first is intolerance.

There is no such thing as unadulterated truth. The intolerant faction bases its entire argument on the premise that Truth, as such, will remain forever unchanged. The tolerant factions gain the admiration of the modern world because they consider truth a transient thing. The truth of today may be the error of tomorrow, and the tolerant factions, as observers of truth, concentrate their energies on the discovery of new facts that will enlarge a concept and make a comparatively true statement more complete, or make it obsolete.

While this argument obviously favors tolerance, recognition must be made of the stabilizing influence of a portion of the intolerant factions. Progress takes the middle road between the objectives of the two factions, in most instances, because it is proved territory. The tolerant group must prove its innovations practicable and the intolerant group must be found powerless to resist the argument before the outposts of Progress are extended. Thus, the possibility of costly error is minimized and almost completely eliminated.

The intolerant groups are, in turn, divided into two factions; the conservatives and the sentimentalists. The conservatives are the only worthwhile people in this faction. The world could well dispense with the lives and works of the sentimentalists. The sentimentalists are responsible for the open warfare between the two groups. The conservatives, due to the strength in numbers, could serve their purpose in the chain of progress simply by the inherent passive resistance to anything new. The sentimentalists, not content with passive resistance, force the issue by setting themselves up as Truth, and attempting to govern the world by their own interpretations of action and principle. The sentimentalists are a product of the school of Ignorance. Their attitudes are formed thru half-completed investigations. They take the half-way marker as the end of the line. A psychological analysis of the personnel of the sentimentalists reveals a strong superiority complex, or a shameful lack of information, or both. Having learned all they presume possible to know, the people who belong to this group not only consider their conception of Truth as unimpeachable; they place themselves in the same category. Their very attitude impeaches these witnesses before any tribunal where Truth is really being tested.

One of the important tasks of Education is to wipe out the sentimentalists altogether by teaching the principles of open-mindedness, intensive investigation, reason, and above all, objective study untainted with prejudice. If the people of the next generation follow through the formula of intensive investigation combined with open mindedness before making a decision, their minds will never be closed to new facts or to discoveries which modify a former "truth." The ideal of modern science, objective observation, is already an educational tool, and with this tool society will be enabled to wipe out that demonic clique that is incapable of error, incapable of misunderstanding, and incapable of anything except the creation of strife and the perpetuation of antiquity.

Moore Assists Potter County Aggie Agent

T. M. Moore, vocational instructor, helped County Agent Bennett of Amarillo with poultry schools last week. A series of these schools are being carried on in Potter County by Mr. Bennett. Mr. Moore is a member of the poultry committee of the Board of City Development, and is called on frequently for such work.

Model Greek Theatre Planned at Redlands

REDLANDS, Calif., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—Plans are being formulated at Redlands university here for the erection of a model Greek theater, to cost approximately $20,000, this to be borne by alumni of the institution. Construction work will start immediately, according to the plans.

J. D. Wilson, a student here in 1817 is county superintendent of the schools of Collingsworth County. He is also actively connected with the Boy Scout work of that county.

The LOADSTONE

Another absent minded professor is in the making—Rudolph Fuchs. The band was to give a concert. Rudolph discovered, just in time that he had only the mouthpiece of his instrument—the remainder was in the dressing room.

Here is a jolt for Bob's dignity. The other day Mr. Shaw was looking for June, Beefy, and that little Foster boy to get the paper-cutter that they had borrowed.

Ella Lee Robinson does well. Pat and Temp roomed together in Roswell.

Warning: Don't get the habit of calling everybody "honey." Vivian Boston tried to get Mr. McClendon's attention in class by calling him "honey"—not that Mr. McClendon minded.

Lucille: Miss Graham was afraid the Scholarship Society program would not go over. Roy Gladson: Well, it did go over the hour.

You can't mention baseball around Jerry Malin without his telling about February 22. On that day Jerry hit the ball.

Members of the band were supplying their cars with gasoline at a Miami filling station when President Hill was accosted thus, "Well, hello, Joe Hill." Mr. Hill responded, "Well, I'll declare, Jim Talley." It happened that Mr. Talley had gone to a country school in Bell County with Mr. Hill. The two had not met for about twenty-five years. During the course of the conversation Mr. Talley said, "Joe, remember the time we gave you and Henry each a nickel to kiss each other?"

With this ingenuity in finance it is a wonder that Mr. Hill did not go into Wall Street instead of a college presidency.

Concerned: Red, did you and Estelle go to church this morning? Red and Estelle: No, our stockings didn't get dry in time.

Dolphia, taking in fees on registration day: Where are you from? Hereford. What county is that in?

When Mr. Shaw looked over the books, he noticed that several people were from Hereford, Jeff Smith County. Mr. Shaw said that all Dolphia forgot was the D—Jeff D. Smith.

Ed Gerald's eloquence will get him somewhere yet. He's such a game youngster. He'll try anything once. He tried to tell Mr. Jarrett how giraffes got their long necks in Education class.

Faye Joyce: Gee, I wish I could find someone to proof read my themes.

Mary Frances: Aw, why worry? The teacher'll do that.

Travis Shaw: Whew! I had dates with two different girls last night.

Jed, reproachfully: But I thought you told me that you were going to work.

Trav: Gosh! Maybe you think I didn't.

"Spider" Phillips has a monopoly on the rocking chair at his boarding house. Daddy Gee was taking his ease in it the other day until "Spider" came along and put him out. Just for spite, Daddy put a pin in the chair. Spider sat on it—he knew something was wrong but he liked the chair so well that he kept sitting there.

J. D. Gamble, sophomore student whose home is in Canyon, is convalescing from a siege of scarlet fever, and is expected to return to school this week.

The liquor business is like a deadly serpent.

It is about as easy to regulate or to make legal as it is to tame a hyena.

It is essentially a wild beast. It is unfortunately aligned with conviviality. Many people seem to think that getting drunk is a joke and the consumption of alcohol is amusing. They speak condoningly of the use of whiskey by the youth.

Many people, and especially those engaged in wet propaganda, do not realize the deadly end of this peril. It is an own brother to murder, hold-ups, burglary, smuggling and thuggism.

A man engaged in the business of enforcing the law of prohibition takes his life in his hands, for those in the liquor business do not hesitate to kill when it is necessary. It embraces not only low brow thugs, but millionaires and social leaders.

While the common people have declared for the abolition of alcohol there are many who are determined to go on with their consumption of liquor.

The efforts of the convivially inclined and those who think that their personal liberty has been interfered with are influenced by one of the strongest passions in the human breast—greed.

It is difficult to enforce any law when the breaking of that law is backed up by human passions. The laws against arson, murder, adultery and theft are thousands of years old, yet they are constantly violated no matter what their evil effects.

The law against the use of liquor is aimed at the greatest curse and greatest cause of crime that humanity has ever known.

Those who see the villainess of its effects, the moral degradation of youth and the damage to business have lined up solidly for prohibition, while against the prohibitory law are those who are subtly influenced by the traditional tolerance of the human race to a habit that is supposed to be genial and pardonable.

The trouble with bootlegging is that it pays and pays big. Whoever will take the profit out of this unholy business will be doing a great service.

EVOLUTIONISTS TRY NEW LAWS

Anti-Darwin Bill Is Presented to California Legislature

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Mar. 28. (I. P. A.)—California is now faced with the possibility of an anti-evolution law similar to that passed by the Tennessee legislature.

Following the introduction of the new anti-Darwin bill in the California assembly by S. L. Heisinger, the state educational committee has decided that a public hearing will be held, where supporters and opponents of the bill will be given 90 minutes to present each side of the argument. National fundamentalist organizations are to have representatives at the hearing, according to Heisinger.

Meanwhile, a storm of protest has been voiced by zoological students and college professors thruout the state. According to the provisions in the new bill, it would prohibit the teaching of the theory "that man either descended or ascended from a lower order of animal" in public schools of California. Already opponents of the proposed measure are gloating over what they claim as their first victory, referring directly to the wording of the bill, which they declare admits that man is an "order of animal."

Owing to the fact that state universities and colleges in California would be affected by the law, Assemblyman H. C. Kitsey has assured the University of California that he will oppose the bill. Other legislators in the state are taking various stands in the controversy, while champions of both sides declare loudly that the bill will or will not pass.

A note of sarcasm has been added to the California controversy by Dr. W. B. Munro of the history

He cited the example of Texas where, as a professor in the state, he was forced to go through all of the plates of his school books to remove the word "evolution" and substitute the synonym "development." He also was forced to remove the word evolution from such sentences as, "The present American congress is the result of evolution from a simpler form of legislature."

Dr. Munro likens the busy-bodies of today, who get pleasure out of sticking their fingers into other people's business to those who consider the growth of natural science an evil.

COLLEGE BAND MAKES JOURNEY OVER THE PLAINS

Thirteen Towns on North Plains Hear Concerts Last Week

HILL MAKES TALKS Contact Established With Over 4,000 People During Tour

The Buffalo Band returned Thursday from a five-day tour of the North Plains, having visited 13 towns and played concerts for approximately four thousand people. Prof. C. E. Strain, director of the Band, and President J. A. Hill, were in charge of the trip.

The trip was made in the interest of the College, and advertising matter and short talks were made in each of the towns visited. The Band traveled in cars and played more than two concerts each day. President J. A. Hill gave short addresses at each of the towns, and filled the pulpit in a Dalhart church on Sunday evening after the band had played a sacred concert to a large crowd in the afternoon. The thirty members of the organization were royally received at each place, and special receptions were arranged for them by ex-students of the College. The itinerary of the organization led them through the heart of the West Texas State Teachers College territory.

BILL BOARDS

There are times when the United States can sincerely regret that she is a young nation. When one is young, one oftentimes does many things unthinkingly. So with the nation—and the day we permitted the start in besmearing our beautiful landscapes along our national highways, with huge, lurid billboards and signs, is one of those things like the follies of youth, which we wish we could undo.

An attempt to disfigure English landscapes with billboards and signs, a la American, is meeting with stiff opposition. Our sympathy is with the challengers and against this vandalism. It is our hope the protest will save the rural landscapes of England from such defacement.

A few successful protests by other nations may some day awaken America, and public sentiment force a removal of our wayside billboards which deface and destroy our nation's natural beauty.

NATURAL GAS BY EARLY FALL

City Gives Franchise to McMahan for Line Through Here

a very short time was assured when a franchise was granted Saturday by the City Commission to A. J. McMahan of Oklahoma City. Mr. McMahan completed the survey of the proposed South Plains gas line Friday, and the plans were approved by the bankers who are floating the bonds for the enterprise.

Under the terms of the franchise, work must be underway on the gas line by the first of June, or the franchise becomes void. There is no doubt about the immediate start on construction as McMahan has put up a forfeit of $5,000 with the city officials of Lubbock to have the line underway before that time. According to bankers in the party which visited Canyon last week, plans for the line have been definitely approved, and the money will be available at once.

John Dalrymple and Bob Moxley of Lubbock have the contract for the gas line on this end, and stated while here Saturday that as soon as material is secured work will be started.

Gas will come from wells about twenty miles north of Amarillo. A sixteen inch pipe will be used as far as Plainview. The exact route for the line has not been determined, but it will likely go about ten miles east of Canyon, and a six inch line will bring the gas into Canyon. The suggestion has been made that the gas line follow the highway, but owing to the high price of the large pipe, it is hardly likely that the line will come that way.

The rate agreed upon by the City Commission is the same as all towns to be served by this company, 67½ cents for the first 50,000 cubic feet. There is a minimum of $1.50 and a meter deposit of $10. The franchise is for twenty years.

Those who have used natural gas are of the opinion that gas at $1.00 is cheaper than coal, to say nothing of the convenience of gas over coal.

Exes Meet Band on North Plains

According to members of the band who made the good will tour of the North Plains last week, familiar faces of former W. T. students greeted them at every scheduled stopping place.

At Dumas Mrs. Maysel Geary Burnett, Pauline Simmons, and Lester Pool welcomed the students and faculty representatives; and the next day at Dalhart, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rhodes, Mrs. Fern Shackelford Wilmoth, and Lucille Kendall helped make them feel at home. Mrs. Wilmoth was one of the hostesses at a dinner given for the band.

The members of the band spent a part of Sunday at Stratford, and while there, Miss Mae Slack was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Dinwiddie. Mr. Dinwiddie, who is superintendent of the Stratford schools was a student here in the summer of 1913, and Mrs. Dinwiddie (Sue Stewart) was enrolled here in 1920-21. Miss Alma Hall, of our last year's student body, is a member of the Stratford faculty.

Spearman presented one of the largest ex-student delegations of anytown visited in the persons of Cedie Dowdy, Nellie Hunt, Marjorie Wyson, Vera Harris, B. A. '26, all members of the public school faculty, and Mr. and Mrs. Vester Hill (Mrs. Hill was formerly Ruth Jennings), Mrs. Ethel Crawhorn Canfield, and Mrs. Bob Morton. Mrs. Morton will be remembered as Miss Hazel Wright who was a student here in 1911-12.

At Perryton the music makers were greeted by Misses Emma Cearley, B. A. '22, Lorna Hutchinson, B. A. '25, Roy Carver, B. A. '25, and Dalma Rayzor.

At the Darrowzett school where a concert was given, Obed Baker is serving as superintendent. Miss Opal Turner is a member of the faculty. Miss Turner's sister, Miss Dulcie Turner, together with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Owens helped make the band feel at home in Lipscomb. Mr. Owens was a student here in 1915, '16, and '17. Mrs. Owens, also an ex-student, was formerly Miss Lula Bowman.

At Follette, the W. T. S. T. C. representatives heard favorable reports of the excellent record made by Lewis Hill as principal of the Follette school. Mr. Hill was recently elected superintendent for the coming year. Miss Gladys and Hazel Lowry also are members of the Follette school faculty.

Mrs. Dorothy Dohman Tubbs, Margaret Parcell, Eppie Irons, B. A. '25, Loraine Bruce, B. A. '26, O. E. Thomas, B. S. '26, and E. G. Sanders contributed to the pleasure of the band's visit to Canadian.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Golden, of the class of '25, Ruth Anderson, B. A. '26, Ethel Hartman, Evelyn Carrothers, and P. M. Bailey, B. A. '25, who are all members of the Miami public school faculty, were among the first to shake hands with the members of the W. T. delegation upon their arrival in Miami.

At Pampa Wednesday Mary Nail, B. A. '26, who is teaching the high first grade, Rena Belle Smith Anderson, third grade teacher, and Olin E. Hinkle, B. A. '25, editor of the Pampa News, greeted the travelers.

Among the Panhandle exes who put forth a special effort to make the visitors stay in the oil city a pleasant one, were Louise Orr, Margaret Purvins, Bess Owens, Wallace Buster, and Gary Simms. Martha Strain and Grace Eva Meyers, both members of the band were Miss Purvins' guests while in Panhandle.

Anne Price Sends Greetings to Friends

Miss Anne J. Price, who was a student here in 1914, sends greetings from Spokane, Washington, to her W. T. Friends. In her letter she says in part:

"Since coming to Spokane, almost seven years ago, I've been in Hawthorne School, and I have no desire to leave it. I am liking my work which is music and reading in the intermediate grades."

Reeder-Nugent

The marriage of Miss Rella Nugent and John W. Reeder, occurred at the home of the bride in Amarillo Saturday, March 19. Mrs. Reeder is the daughter of J. S. Nugent of Amarillo and was a popular student here in 1921-22. The groom is the son of Judge and Mrs. C. B. Reeder and is associated with his father in business. WORK OF L. G. A. CHAPTER TOLD IN CHAPEL AFFAIR

State Scholarship Society is Now One of Largest in the South

GRADUATES ACTIVE Thirty Five Resident Members of Chapter Prominent Studies

A varied and pleasing program was presented in chapel Saturday by members of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society, local chapter of the Scholarship Society of the Southern States. Miss Lucille Astracan gave a brief talk on what the society stands for and told something of its history and organization.

In 1923 the Lloyd Green Allen Chapter entered the Scholarship Societies of Texas as the sixth member of that organization. Later, as nearby states were admitted, the name of the society was changed to the present title. In 1926 there were twenty-six chapters in the organization.

Eligibility in this society is limited to students of good reputation and character; those who are in the top or ranking tenth of a class; students classified as juniors and seniors. The standing of each member is passed upon by the dean of the college faculty.

Following Miss Astracan's talk, a humorous reading was given by Miss Daphnia Carmack.

Miss Edna Graham, vice-president of the state society, then spoke on the varied accomplishments of the scholarship students. Her story, as well as the entire chapel program, showed how many other things the members of the society do besides merely making A's and B's. The local chapter of 91 students has 35 resident members who are well represented in the various activities of the College, such as debating, music, annual, The Prairie, Y. W. C. A., pep squads, dramatics, and other organizations. Of the 31 resident members, 17 have official positions. All are leaders and workers. In the chemistry department all of the student assistants are members of the society, and in the physics department over half of the assistants are members. Other responsible positions, such as student matrons in the dormitories, are filled by members of the society.

These are just some of the things the scholarship students doing here, the speaker explained. In an interesting make-believe trip, Miss Graham carried her hearers over the territory where graduate members of the scholarship society are doing good work in teaching and other professions. The spread of these members range from Kingsville, Texas, to New York.

After Miss Graham's talk, Miss Louise Walker played a piano solo. Mr. Sheffy gave a short account of his trip to the meeting of the state scholarship societies last month in Fort Worth. The concluding number was a vocal solo by Miss Hassie Davis.

Miss Bertie Foster was chosen for president of the Out-of-State Club in an election last week which preceded the discussion on China. The evening was spent in discussing many phases of the life of that nation.

Miss Foster dealt with the foreign concessions problem, raising the question, "How can we justify the present status of aliens in China?" "Foreigners go to China for two reasons," she said, "either for their own mercenary advantage, or to educate and convert the Chinese. These workers in the second field will, in time, eradicate the evils wrought by those of the former, for it is today the educated Chinese who are taking the lead in the revolts." A discussion of the amusing contrasts between American beliefs of the Chinese and Chinese beliefs of the Americans, both compiled by a Chinese student in America, provided entertainment for all. The striking contrast between the Chinese woman influenced by western civilization, to the point of co-education, and her sister in the interior who is truly a blossom off the old China tree, made the sociology majors in the club wonder.

Margaret Camp gave the group the benefit of recently acquired knowledge of the Chinese language. After she had written about thirty words those present proposed that she abandon English altogether.

Mrs. Mable White then told a charming story from the collection, "Kal Lung's Golden Hours," by Ernest Bramah.

The conclusion of the program was a discussion by Miss Debo, dealing with the influences in China, for the past thirty years which have lead to the present situation. She told of Sun Yat Sen and his life, and the respect which is paid now to his memory, also of his wife, called the Joan of Arc of China.

Briefly she talked of the four belligerent leaders, Teng, "the Christian General, who speaks of years, not days, and whose wife is a former Y. W. C. A. secretary. Chiang, the young man of the same type as Feng, leading the Cantonese army; Wu, the literary, wealthy representative of the upper classes, who opposes education of the masses; and finally Change, the strong man of China, who is powerful and is the tool of agents of the foreigners.

Dr. Pierle is to conclude the club's study of China at the next meeting.

Yearlings Beat Hereford Here in Good Ball Game

Friday afternoon on the home lot the Yearlings took on the Hereford High School nine and drubbed them to the tune of 18 to 8. Stringer, Wells and Malin, did the twirling for the Yearling crew while Landis performed behind the bat. This combination along with the hitting of Cleavenger and Ridgeway proved to be too much for the young invaders from the irrigated country, so they were forced to go home beaten. The Yearling appear to have a pretty good ball team. They play Amarillo High at this place this afternoon.

This nation is drifting toward a costly, hate-breeding coal strike, set for April in the central coal fields. The Yankee farmer "going to town to get drunk, and Lord how I dread it" was no more foolish than a country that forces industrial civil war, surely coming, and does nothing to prevent it.

The people own the coal fields—and everything else in the nation—under the right of eminent domain, they can do as they choose.

They suffer the loss and inconvenience of all strikes, pay the bills in the end, and still they "go to town and get drunk."

The United States Post Office definitely forbids sending the "Decameron," by Boccaccio, thru the mails. That is another wise decision which should not have been postponed so long. Mailing or selling that book should carry with it a sentence to prison.
