"Recognition Day" Is New College Feature

President Hopes To Hold Similar Day Each Spring

Inaugurating a Recognition Day honoring those members of the faculty and student body who have done outstanding work during the scholastic year, President J. A. Hill called a special assembly Friday morning for the purpose of introducing these persons to their fellow students and professors.

To Be Annual Affair
Dr. Hill announced that he plans to make this Recognition Day an annual affair, to be held each May, in an effort to honor all those who have achieved recognition for their alma mater.

Many Are Introduced
The following were called to the platform and were introduced:

Miss Pauline Brigham, director of the Sextette, introduced the members of the organization, Marion Hill, Zula Gae Warner, Lucy Jo Louder, Florine Bowman, Ruth Wells, Elizabeth Faulkner. Miss Brigham announced that the Sextette has filled more than fifteen engagements this spring.

Professor C. W. Batchelder, who has had charge of the semi-monthly college radio programs over Station WDAG in Amarillo, said that he wished to take this opportunity, in behalf of all those who had appeared on the program, "to thank our public."

Professors S. H. Condon and Herschel Coffee were recognized for the work they did during the regional conference of International Relations Clubs on the college campus early this spring.

Professor Wallace R. Clark, director of the Men's Chorus, Miss Frances Alice Clark, accompanist, and the members of the chorus were commended for their accomplishment in taking second place at the Southwest Conference contest held at Fort Worth early this month.

Professor L. F. Sheffy was recognized for his energy and untiring zeal in working for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum. Professor Sheffy will be on leave of absence this summer taking subscriptions to the society and collecting additional materials for the museum.

Emil Brewer, editor of the Prairie, and her staff, were congratulated for winning first place in the newspaper contest at the annual spring convention of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association in Abilene the latter part of April. Ashley Little, business manager, (Continued on last page)

To Aid In Concert

Three student organizations, the Orchestra, Men's Chorus, and Women's Chorus, are to participate in the annual Commencement Concert which is to be given Tuesday evening, May 29, in the administration building auditorium.

The concert is being presented under the direction of Professor Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department. It is the policy of the institution to use student organizations in all school activities where it is at all possible.

Mrs. McCarter Receives Honor

Is Recognized By Two National Organizations

Mrs. T. B. McCarter, club president and leader of civic affairs among women, has recently been signally honored in receiving an invitation to join a nationally known academy, and has been invited to place her name in the "Who's Who Among American Women," a volume of repute which is soon to be off the press.

Is Outstanding
Mrs. McCarter was invited to join the American Academy of Political and Social Science on the basis of her outstanding club work as president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women, as historian of the state organization, and as an advocate of education.

The Academy, organized forty years ago, has gained national reputation through the work accomplished under its objective, "To keep members in close touch with the great political, social, and industrial problems confronting both our country and the rest of the world."

Is Great Honor
It was a great honor to be invited to enter a short biography in the "Who's Who Among American Women," for this volume selects its membership from those who have made an outstanding record of accomplishment or of service to their home communities.

Mrs. McCarter has been president of the Canyon branch of A. A. U. W. for two terms of two years each.

Sheffy To Work On Membership During Summer

Prof. L. F. Sheffy has been designated by the directors of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society to spend the summer working on a membership drive for the Society.

Mr. Sheffy directed the campaign which raised $30,000 for the erection of the Museum building. He is now seeking 1,000 annual memberships at $3.00 each and 200 at $25.00 each.

Dr. James K. Greer of Howard College, Birmingham, Alabama, will teach in the history department while Mr. Sheffy is absent. Dr. Greer taught here four years ago while a faculty member of Howard Payne College of Brownwood.

HILL TO AUSTIN

President J. A. Hill left Friday for Austin where he attended a meeting of the College Board of Regents. This is the meeting at which college faculties are elected for the coming year.

Be Ye—

ANT OR GRASSHOPPER? ASKS "ENERGETIC FRESH-MAN"

(By Iris Gillis)

Some W. T. Students are like the merry grasshopper, who spent his happy youth in playing and singing and when winter came found he had forgotten the happy songs of his youth. In future years they will look back with regret upon a lost opportunity. They will try vainly to remember their playmates and the things they did in that past era of freedom. Alas for the poor little grasshopper!

Some W. T. Students are like the little ants, thrifty and diligent. Theirs be the fruit of wise and careful thought. By work and thrift they store two hundred eighty grains of wheat in the campus granary, and receive their rations of happiness for the winter to come. When snow falls like a dim mist through the sky of memory, they can turn the leaves of Le Mirage and from its pages bring back the events of Yesterday.

More power to the wise little ants!

W. T. HIGH TO HAVE UNIQUE GRADUATION

"Socialized Commencement" Chosen For Class of '34

ALL WILL TAKE PART

Diplomas To Be Presented By Superintendent F. E. Savage

W. T. High School is to have a Socialized Commencement this year.

Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, Dean of the high school, has long been weary of the common type of graduation exercises, in which a few members of the class carry off all the glory, and this year determined to remedy matters. With the aid of the National Educational Association, plans for the socialized program have been made.

Students In Charge

On Wednesday evening, May 30, the results of this plan may be viewed. There will be no long-winded speaker. There will be no one on the stage except the graduating class. Don Savage, president of the senior class, will preside. Each member of the class will be an important part of the program, which consists of three-minute speeches, and both individual and group singing. At the conclusion of the class program, Mr. F. E. Savage, superintendent, will present the diplomas.

Plans for the evening are in the hands of Miss Helen White Moore, sponsor of the class. Mrs. Tommie Montfort, teacher of public speaking, Miss Ada Clark, who has charge of the music, and Miss Jennie C. Ritchie.

Graham, Clark Attend Meeting

Professor Talks To Group On Two Special Occasions

Both women were delegates of Pi Chapter of Amarillo, of which Miss Graham is president and Miss Clark is treasurer.

Miss Graham spoke to the convention visitors on two occasions, the birthday luncheon Friday noon when she talked on the subject, "Pi Chapter—Its Plans and Progress," and the Founders' Day Dinner Saturday evening, when the subject of her address was "The Bow of Promise." In the latter talk she set forth the plans and purposes of the national organization.

OBSERVE MUSIC WEEK

In keeping with National Music Week, which was observed last week, Saturday afternoon the children of the primary grades of the training school gave a joint program in the second and third grade.

Aside from singing bird songs, fairy songs, and songs of spring, the children of each grade played several toy orchestra numbers. All the children of each grade took part in the 45-minute program which was enjoyed by several visitors.

Mickey Mouse

IN MODERN DRAMA, OR WHAT EVERY MODERN MOUSE SHOULD KNOW

(By Cathryn Peterson)

Sounds of creaking chairs, of co-eds hastily changing position, of spontaneous squeals welcomed one of the most widely known visitors of the campus to a course in modern drama recently. America's own popular screen star took his cue for a most effective entrance as the instructor dared to question the significance of "Truth."

Is Center of Attraction

As he frisked upon the platform (Room 116), he immediately became the center of attraction, the focal point of forty pairs of curious eyes. Everyone shifted, stretched, craned to ogle at that paragon of present-day ingenuity—Mickey Mouse in Person!

With never a thought of diverting attention from a lecture on the Americans in drama, Mickey would not be swerved from his intention of remaining in the background among the students. Very unobtrusively he moved down the aisle (Continued on last page)

Pi Omegas Give '34 Style Show

In "Instructions To Freshmen" Model Proper Apparel

On Tuesday morning, May 8, at the assembly the girls of the Pi Omega, assisted by some of the better known ladies and gentlemen of the college, gave a style show, "Instructions to the Freshman."

The program, under the direction of Polly Shelton, was a brief, but interesting, one.

The "Local Yokell-ess" (Lella Cooper), fresh from the green fields of the old homestead, was shown just what to wear when taking part in the social whirl of the campus.

Model Proper Attire

Edith Pierce and Thomas K. Newberry modeled what the student should wear when a-horse. Nina Mae Drew, accompanied by Charles Taylor, and attired in a charming sports costume, presented the ideal attire for the afternoon. Connie Wayland and Boyd Moore showed the well known Pi Omega and athletic award sweater. Norvin Ashby and Mattie Pearl Whittenburg exhibited the very thing for a companionable set or so of tennis. And, for the rainy days, the ideal raincoat was shown by Jo Flanklin and Joe Collins.

As to golf, Stina Cain and Lucile Persons presented an attractive outfit for complete enjoyment of the game. The correct attire for dinner was modeled by Martha Nell Lang and Felton King. And for festivities after six, Lucy Jo Louder and Don Fish presented an attractive couple, appropriately attired in a charming evening gown and the ever-appropriate tuxedo.

Those who were present at the "College Hotel" to have a close-up view of these lovely clothes were: Jo Helton, Lou Ella McDade, Ezell Champion, Whitman Fish, Wilma Jo Jones and Jimmy Holston. The hotel desk was appropriately presided over by Charles Donnell.

DO NOT EXPECT TOO MUCH

"If you get one thing and only one from my classes," said a professor recently, "I would that you would understand that you are not going to be able, in the first six months after your graduation, to change the world to suit your ideas."

He was not a pessimist, embittered by experience, for he added, with a wink that was at once mischievous and knowing, "You are going to have to adjust your ideas to fit the world, and it is going to be a humorous experience for some of the bystanders, I can vouch for that."

Nor was he an old man, yet he had witnessed many of these disillusionments, if we may call them that, of young men and women, newly hatched into the world.

He had watched, with a kindly eye, the young man and young woman going forth carrying a Message to the World. And he had watched many of them come back, a little weary, and more than a little hurt that this world would not swallow the medicine it most needed, that it refused them—the very ones who were ordained to save it, whose ideas had been so highly praised by professors, who were so brilliant in the young people's world while they are getting their education, who had felt themselves among the "chosen few."

The professor had seen the result of such disillusionment, and it had cut him deeply, for it was evident that students have faith in the doctrines in which they are being taught and little doubt that these magic formulas they are evolving would not save humanity. He wanted to save them some of the unhappiness that the adjusting process caused.

So he said: "You shall need your ideas, but do not expect too much at first. Now you are building the foundations for your castle, this is but the skeleton of your real self. Do not expect it to flesh itself too quickly."

He said these things, knowing, perhaps, that few would heed them, for they smacked of advice, and, he also knew that youth would still go forth to save the world, little daunted by what he or anyone else might say. He knew, too, that the rough edges of the skeleton would knock against those buildings more firmly constructed, and that the edges would get scarred, and broken here and there and that youth would bring up short, finally, a little weary, a little hurt, a little puzzled, and then, he would begin to build!

Illinois is now second in wealth and forty-third in education. Education being the greatest source of wealth, Chicago, the second city in the United States, has paid its public school teachers almost no pay for over a year. Thus does wealth spurn the means of its own growth and power.—S. R. N. B.

Just now there is much discussion of our system of money and in some quarters there is fear that the coinage will be depreciated and debased. There is another coinage far more precious, far more essential to human happiness and stability than the pieces of metal or the sheets of paper which we use in our daily financial transactions. This more fundamental coinage consists of the ideas, ideals, purposes, motives, manners, and morals which make up the culture of the people. To debase this culture is a much more far-reaching and serious matter than to debase the financial coinage of a nation.—Joy Elmer Morgan.

Fourth Grade Pupils Give Play

The fourth grade presented a three-act play in the college chapel Wednesday at 9:30. The play, "Mother Nature Wakes Her Followers," was written by the pupils of the fourth grade.

The characters were: Mother Nature, Wilma Wright; Rain, Stuart Condon; Sunshine, Dick Louder; Rose, Bettye Jane Phillips; Pansy, Brooks Wilson; Carnation, Eleanor Louder; Blue Bonnet, Maxine Shenefelt; Iris, Bernell Campbell; Sunflower, Wilma Cupp; Zinnia, Mary Wanda Johnson; Daffodil, Lois Marie Baker; Tulip, Mary Anna Thomas; Lilac, John Thomas Sharp; Daisy, Eric Blewett; and Buttercup, Roy Jo Stevens.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The Junior-Senior banquet held Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the basement of the Methodist church, proved to be one of the most colorful social events of the year.

A program in the form of a passport carried the guests within the borders of magical foreign lands.

The decorative motif featured the cosmopolitan idea, with each table decorated to represent a foreign country. Ireland's shamrock; Italy's gondola; Holland's windmill; Arabia's desert scene; Japan's umbrella; and Spain's dance, all were there to add color and gaiety to the scene.

The program was composed of numbers typical of each foreign country represented. Don Savage, president of the class of '34, acted as toastmaster. Neva Robbins and Bomar Brown sang "No, John, No."

The Junior Class prophecy, "After Twenty Years," was given as a dialogue by Annie Burns Wright and Jewell Alma Glass. Alta and Alpha Vaughn did a Spanish dance. Ethel Mae Ledrick read "Mia Carlotta." Virginia Murray and Ruth Baker sang "A Japanese Tea Party." Helen Oliver, as ex-student and editor of The Prairie of 1933, read the Senior class prophecy, "Tomorrow's News." Lucius Penick read "The Irish Schoolmaster." Agnes Smith, Elora Duncan, and Jake Witherspoon presented a song and dance number, "A Little Dutch Mill on a Little Dutch Hill." The menu included fruit cocktail, chicken, potatoes, beans, rolls, butterfly salad, ice-cream, angel food cake and mints.

Charles Jennings, the agriculture practice teacher, took a group of W. T. High boys to Gordon-Cumming's park Wednesday afternoon for a swim.

Miss Lois McCaslin, a senior in W. T. S. T. C., and a graduate of W. T. High, will teach next year in Oklahoma Lane. Miss McCaslin has been student assistant in hall duty at W. T. High this semester.

Student Council Elects New President

TELLS INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SCHOOL LIFE IN BRAZIL

(Editor's Note: Ruth Dewey Anderson, an ex-student of W. T., writes to friends in the United States about teaching conditions in the Methodist Missionary School at Port Alegre, Brazil, where she is now working.)

Colegio Americano, Port Alegre, Brazil. Woman's Missionary Conference, Lubbock, Texas.

Dear Friends:

Greetings from South Brazil! I wish you could walk in this morning and see our school at work. School has just re-opened with almost two hundred and fifty girls between the ages of seven and twenty-four. They come from all nationalities, for Brazil has had an open door for immigrants. Here in the South the German element is the strongest. There are also many fair-haired Italians, so that a glance at our students in chapel would give one more or less the same impression as in our own country. A closer look will reveal the beautiful Latin girl with dark wavy hair and large liquid brown or black eyes. Although one finds many nationalities represented, they are all Brazilians and proud of it.

Our students come from the poorest and humblest homes to the wealthiest and most influential in the state. They represent many different religious views also; Catholics, Jews, Spiritualists, Positivists, Evangelicals, and those of no religion.

We have a faculty consisting of twenty-two teachers; among these are two Portuguese, a German, a French woman, a Russian, five Americans, and the rest Brazilians. All languages are taught by those whose mother tongue it is.

Colegio Americano offers the equivalent of a high school education with a diploma recognized by the government. In addition to the course of study required, our school is distinguished for its departments of English, Physical Education, and Religious Education. The Bible is taught in all grades to and including the third year high school. We strive to give our students a wholesome, well rounded education in body, mind, and spirit, with due emphasis on each phase. Nor is the social nature of the child neglected. Through clubs and parties they are permitted and encouraged to use and develop their initiative in programs for the planning and execution of which they are solely responsible.

Our great need now is more room both for classes and in the dormitory. We have utilized every available space, organizing our work in such a manner that the same space is used for several purposes. Now we must expand to meet the needs of our ever increasing student body. As it is, we have one rented building, but, what we want to do is to put a third story on one of our own by paying an initial sum and then pay the rest as it were rent. We are waiting now for this initial sum.

(Signed)
Ruth Dewey Anderson.

(By Howard Weatherby)

Who says dear ole W. T. isn't peppy? Do you realize that last Friday the student body yelled for the Buffaloes almost 2 days and a ½ between the hours of 9 and 10? Well, we stayed 5 minutes overtime in chapel, didn't we? If there were 700 there, multiply that by 5 and get the total number of minutes spent, which would be 3500. Then divide that by 60 to get the hours and divide that by 24 which will give approximately 2 ½ days. Yea, that's what we did before the game started. Then during the game, my, my, my!

A great deal of emphasis was placed last week on a certain party that Blaine, Spough, Cummings, Young, McClure, and Clemment attended. Those guys were somewhat riled up about the occasion. Then there was some kind of a "ticket" to a meal where Tubby Cummings ate with his knife and walked his lady friend home thru an alley. Scared of her mother, Tubby?

There is a certain game that has been played in other sections of the country, but until recently has not been brought to this country. That game is motorcycle polo. Freshman has become interested in the game of late and has made some remarkable "maneuverations" on that rattler of his lately. He seems to be more interested in that field than in anything except—well—he likes the moon, we think—he sees it enough.

New 'Snapshot' Device

A tiny camera that can be attached to a rifle or pistol, and set to take either still or motion pictures when the gun is fired, has been invented by Francis X. Bushman, above, one-time movie actor. The camera is expected to aid in getting pictures of criminals who escape, or, if used by hunters, of "the big one that got away." The "works" of the camera are shown at bottom.

WIND

Wind—
O heartless wind!
Sweeping unmolested out of unseen caverns.

Mystifying,
Forceful, Dominating.
A monarch undaunted and unfraid of barriers,
A conqueror of kingdoms untouched by human hands.

Dynamic,
Strong,
Powerful.
Spreading ceaselessly over rolling lowlands,
Rushing like a wild animal out of rugged channels.
Heeding naught,
Unafraid of obstructions.
Wild,
Restless,
Cunning as a lion crouched high above his quarry;
Turbulent as the wind that has no rest.
Vigorous,
Terrific,
Masterful wind of the universe;
Supreme leader, conqueror of all,
Eminent king of all nature's children.
—Woodrow Toone.

SPRINGTIME

I
The dull bleak days of winter bare,
Have gone with all their hours of drear,
And in their place come Spring days fair,
The happiest days of all the year.

II
The little blades of greenest grass
Stick up their heads to look about;
They see the birds come flying past,
And hear the children laugh and shout.

III
The sun looks down from sky so blue,
And sees his children playing there
With mother nature kind and true,
So full of loveliness and care.

IV
He sees the fishes in the lake
And flowers blooming on the shore;
A jollier spirit then he takes,
For Spring has come to him once more.

EVENING MAKEUP

Evening makeup should be dramatic! That is the keynote of looking well during this social season. Evening fashions are so daring—streamline silhouettes; typhoon skirts and low-cut bodices; dramatic color combinations, or gay, bright plaids—every new note emphasizes the need of making our faces as worthy of attention as our frocks!

First of all, of course, the skin should look clear and absolutely flawless. Take a little nap if you can, before you go out. It really makes the skin look more radiant and refreshed. You will wash, of course. If you use a granular wash, such as beauty grains, you will find the skin tone clarified, and the texture improved. Follow this with an application of pasteurized face cream, and leave it on just as long as you can. It makes the skin smoother, and gives that lovely, fresh beauty.

When you are ready to make-up, remove the pasteurized cream with cleansing tissues, quite thoroughly. Watch especially the area around the eyes, and the indentations of nose and chin. Then, with the cream entirely removed, saturate a pad of absorbent cotton in skin toning lotion. Pat this all over your face, and then holding the pad by one corner, slap it briskly over the skin again. It makes your complexion fresh and glowing. Do not let the lotion dry on your skin; blot it off with cleansing tissues.

Next apply a lovely, smooth cream of lilies foundation. Use only a little at a time, and blend it in carefully and very smoothly. The success of one's appearance depends, to a large extent, on the correct application of the foundation cream. Incidentally, the lovely fragrance of this cream is subtly flattering, as well.

Rouge should be applied according to the shape of your face; the color should be chosen for artificial light. A red poppy or red geranium shade will show up best, for they both contain a yellow cast. Lip stick should harmonize. Powder, in a peachbloom shade or the exotic mauve, and one of the lovely iridescent eyeshadows will complete a cosmetic harmony that is dramatically becoming!

A little bird told someone that Mrs. Page, hostess of the Little House of Fellowship, was going to have a birthday this week, so a number of members of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Church, Amarillo, came over on Wednesday afternoon, and gave the House and its hostess a surprise shower.

Many lovely and useful gifts were presented, and an interesting program was given by little Miss Florence Miller, of Amarillo, reader, and by Miss Louise Jacobsen, pianist, and Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, vocalist. Mrs. Page gave some news of the work of Episcopal women, and Miss Mary Alice Scott of Amarillo led a devotional. Refreshments of strawberry punch, home-made cookies, nuts and mints were served. Here's Chic Cape for the Capable Miss

INEXPENSIVE AND EASY TO MAKE, THIS EYE-FILLING MODEL PERMITS YOU TO ADAPT YOUR OWN COLOR IDEAS

BY HARRIET

DRESSY capes and matching hats or turbans of sheer, transparent velvet are all the rage right now. If you want to be economical and, at the same time, have individual color schemes that harmonize with your own afternoon gown, why not make your own capelet?

You can buy the transparent velvet in any 5-and-10 cent store. Since it takes only 4½ yards of 2 inch velvet ribbon, 3 yards of 1½ inch velvet ribbon, and 1½ yards of maline for a foundation, you can see just how inexpensive the finished capelet will be. The directions are quite simple, too. Here they are:

Step 1. Cut each of the following widths of maline: 1 piece 1½ yards long, 12 inches wide; 1 piece 1½ yards long, 5 inches wide; 1 piece 1½ yards long, 4½ inches wide, and 1 piece 1½ yards long, 2½ inches wide.

Step 2. Sew piece of 1½ inch ribbon along the edge of the 2½ inch maline so that edge of maline is about in center of the ribbon. Sew piece of 1½ inch ribbon to 5 inch piece of maline. Sew piece of 2 inch ribbon to 4½ inch strip of maline.

Step 3. Sew two 2 inch pieces of ribbon to the 12 inch strip of maline, having the wrong side of one piece of ribbon on the same side as the right side of the other piece of ribbon.

Step 4. Sew the 2½ inch wide piece of maline and the 12 inch piece together ½ inch from the top of the wrong side piece which you sewed on in step 3.

Step 5. Turn the ½ inch of ribbon over at the top to make a fold at the neck and gather to measure 26 inches.

Step 6. Sew piece of maline 4½ inches wide to 12 inch piece of maline so that the top of the maline's edge comes under velvet ribbon on the 2½ inch piece. Sew the 5 inch strip of maline to the 12 inch piece under the velvet of the 4½ inch piece.

Step 7. Make bow out of 1½ yards of 2 inch ribbon, having long ends and loops about 3 inches long. Tack bow to one side of the center back of the cape. Fasten cape together with snapper hook or hook and eye.

If you wish to make the matching braided tiara, which is simply grand for evening, you'll need 1½ yards of inch velvet ribbon and one head band to fit your own head.

Cover head band with velvet ribbon by turning end of ribbon over end of band and then sewing selvages of ribbon together to make a seam on inside of head band. Turn up at other end of band and fasten to make a neat finish.

Step 2. Cut off piece of ribbon 4½ inches long for crescent back of head band. Then cut remaining piece of ribbon in three equal parts and sew to band about 2 inches from end of frame on the outer edge.

Step 3. Braid ribbon together and sew to other edge of band 2 inches from end. Tack braid at lower edge of head band together. Finish over ends of braid with a narrow band of ribbon.

Step 4. Make a small crescent-shaped piece of stiff paper or material about 4 inches long and ½ inch high at center and cover with ribbon. Sew to back and across top of head band to make braid stand up.

BAGGETT-MEN SPLASH WAY TO 19-6 VICTORY OVER AGGIESBufs Show Plenty Of What-it-Takes For Successful Season

(By R. L. Burnam)

A saturating rain washed the polish and smoothness off the spring football game last Friday night, but it didn't put out the fire of the Buffaloes' attack, and the West Texas State Teachers College eleven splashed out a 19 to 6 victory over the Panhandle A. & M. Aggies of Goodwell, Okla.

Show Power and Drive
The Buffs showed a lot of power and drive, a line that held the running attack of the Aggies to small yardage gains, and plenty of pep and ginger.

While the play was marred by many fumbles, due to the slippery pigskin, it disclosed the Buffaloes a team to be reckoned with next fall.

Score in Second Quarter
After muffing a couple of chances to score early in the game, the Buffs drove from their 49 yard line to score in the first five minutes of the second quarter, Holston making the score standing up after a beautiful run of 17 yards. Teague's place-kick was good.

The next counter came in the third period when the Herd blocked a punt after they had held the Aggies within the 10 yard line. The punt was blocked and the touch scored by Meek, giant Buff tackle. Holston's place-kick for extra point was wide.

Williamson Scores
On the kick-off following the Buffs' second touch, the Aggies fumbled the slippery sphere, West Texas recovering on the Aggies' 35. Williamson scored after a drive that battered the Aggie tackle to pieces. An attempt to place-kick for extra point was sunk in the mud.

The Aggies could not dent the big Buff line, but they did back the Buffs up against their goal line and block a punt to score their touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

The farmer boys completed three long-passes, the least one good for 15 yards, to reach the inside of the Buffaloes' five yard line where West Texas recovered a fumble and then tried, unsuccessfully, to punt out, resulting in the visitors' score. A pass was good in the try for extra point, but the Ags were offside and the next attempt was lost in a puddle of water.

Offense Is Good
On the offense, Holston and Teague were the most consistent ground gainers for the Buffs, while Weaver's and Sandefer's blocking was influential in the former couple's long gains. Leop and Louder were the main offensive cogs in the Aggie machine. Walker, Rankin, Meek and Cain were the defense strongholds of the W. T. eleven.

This game closed a nine weeks' period of spring training for the Buffs. Judging from the results of this training, the Baggettmens are going to be hard to beat next fall.

causing a great many hearts to flutter and a great many "oh's" and "ah's" to fall as he passed. Taking his place behind a text and notebook, he looked very much at home among students of the drama except, perhaps, for a few cats.

Likes Co-Eds
"The Witching Hour" failed to charm Mickey. He wriggled, squirmed, peeped mischievously around the corner of his notebook at the girls across the aisle. Coaxed or coached by Hosea Foster, Mickey finally made a pass at a sweet young thing just as the bell rang, and she ran shrieking down the hall advertising Mickey to the high heavens and all below.

So Mickey, the favorite star of old and young and even English professors, is not just a creature of Walt Disney's imagination. He is full of life and fun, an inimitable, ingenious entertainer off the screen as well as on, but preferred ON by femme fans.

BISON BULL

By Fizz n' Fuzz

Fuzz is down at Roswell playing a swell brand of tennis, we hope, but the old Prairie won't be the same without the line he spreads in it.

Football

Big John Walker and his men have started their season off with a bang. But why don't we hear more rejoicing? When a game is lost everyone yells about the boys' poor qualities, but when they win, this cock-eyed bunch just take it for granted and don't say a word pro or con. If we are to have a lot of pep and patriotism in W. T. we are going to have to show more interest. Why, the best sign of a knocker is his taking good luck without a sign of feeling and kicking long and loud when a package of bad is handed him.

Men's Chorus

Malcolm Carr has snapped out of it, got generous, and while down at Fort Worth he sent a yellow rose to a co-ed in Cousins Hall with a total cost of 10 cents expense, not counting the stationery. What is the significance of a yellow rose anyway? Horace Hickox and Holland McMurray, while sitting waiting for their lunch with the chorus at Vernon on the return trip, saw a swell (so they said) red-headed woman go tripping by the cafe, and they leaped up and followed her. They said they accompanied her, but we bet they followed at a safe distance. Anyway, when they returned the other males had eaten their orders and were ready to leave, so McMurray and Hickox had no food until they reached Canyon. Lex Alexander,

INTRAMURAL TRACK FINALS
TO BE HELD THURSDAY NITEWalker and Duncan Lead
Two Teams Entered
In Contests

Thursday night May 24 has been designated by Coach Al Baggett as the night for the intramural track finals. On the Buffalo track which not so long ago was the scene of a high school regional meet will be seen former high school stars struggling along with novices for the huge W. L. Buck trophy, donated by the W. L. Buck Sporting Goods Company of Amarillo. The cup stands twenty inches high, and will be awarded each year to the winning intramural track team.

Only Two Teams Enter

This year marks the inauguration of the intramural meet, and only two teams will be entered. One is composed of all of the spring football candidates, and the other includes all men who were not out for football this spring. John Walker is captain of the football men's track team which boasts of Costello Taylor in the dashes and broad jump, and Jim Williamson, holder of the State Junior College record in the 220 yard low hurdles, in the hurdles and 440 yard-dash.

Al Duncan is captain and tutor of the other team. His chief mainbroughton Hardin, and Charles Reeve had no trouble whatever finding dates among the T. C. U. co-eds and the Kress store women.

We see Tommie Service over at Randall Hall looking through the date register and muttering to himself, "She had a date last night, and so did she, etc., etc." Would anyone two-time Tommie?

stays are Brewer Neal, nationally famous distance man, in all the long races, Elwyn Garrett, sprint star of Amarillo High School last year in the dashes and low hurdles, Buster Leslie, flash from Memphis, also in the dashes, Lewis Shirley in the high hurdles, Leroy Roberts, still another sprinter from Wayside, and Calliham in the broad jump.

There are many other contestants on both teams who will be entered in all events. The first event will start at eight o'clock. No admission charge will be made.

Actors Who Had Never Faced a Camera Before

Actors who faced a camera before they ever saw a motion picture provide the strangest and most gripping roles the screen has ever seen in "Eskimo," Metro-Goldwin-Mayer's spectacular drama filmed in the Arctic regions.

These natives, mostly hunters and fishermen of the Arctic, were recruited by Col. W. S. Van Dyke and the members of his polar expedition which covered 13,000 miles in a year's trip into the Far North on the whaler, "Nanuk."

The leading man of "Eskimo," which will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Olympic theater, is Mala, a tall and handsome young Eskimo hunter who is hailed as one of the remarkable "discoveries" of the screen.

It is Mala who plays the role of the husband of two wives who thinks nothing of "lending" one of them to a brother Eskimo, in line with the extraordinary moral code of these people.
