

THINLY CLADS TO DENTON FOR
T. I. A. A. MEET

W. T. Track Men Have Excellent Chance of Copping Meet.

West Texas track men will leave Wednesday and Thursday for Denton to enter the T. I. A. A. track meet to be held in Denton on Friday and Saturday of this week. About thirteen or fourteen men with Mr. Burton and Mr. Jones will make the trip. It is recognized that the competition will be rather keen in the meet this year, but the Buffaloes, having come close to copping the meet each of the last three years, have great hopes of going over this time. With a group of versatile stars this possibility assumes the pleasing proportions of a probability.

Bud Bagwell, one of the greatest half-milers that has ever run under the colors of West Texas, put himself forward as one of the greatest half-milers in the South by running the gruelling race in 1:59.4 Saturday afternoon, May 5. This is the best time that has ever been made in that distance in West Texas and is one of the best runs that has been made by any man in Southern College circles this year. Bud is likely to face some keen opposition in Vaughn of Abilene Christian College, who has been stepping the 880 around 2 minutes.

Mr. Burton will have a fairly well-balanced team for the meet, although the team will be deplorably weak in some of the field events, especially the weights. Keith and Dixon will make points in the two dashes, 100 and 220 yards. Fowler appears to be on a par with the best in the high hurdles and he will be helped by the two Pearson brothers, Ira and Roger. Dixon should place either first or second in the low hurdles, but will find that Stevens of A. C. C. is going to be hard to beat. Dixon has stepped the low barriers in 25 seconds this year and is capable of cutting it down a few tenths. Keith, Guill, Gamel and Bagwell will run the quarter, with Red having the edge over the other boys. He may not be able to stand the grind of the three races and the broad jump but his physique is capable of great feats and he has an even chance to take high scoring honors. Gamel and Guill may find the going rather fast but each should win points. Guill has recovered from the injury of his foot and seems ready to put forth his best.

One "Taho" Lowes, a practically unknown athlete, puts himself up as a pole vaulter, and how! He will go twelve feet in the T. I. A. A. and if someone could get him mad he would emulate the example of one Lee Barnes of Sablin Carr—14 feet.

Schlenker, Fowler, and I. Pearson, will do the high jumping, Schlenker being perhaps the best of the three. He is capable of doing six feet and the other two can come near that mark. Sanders, Bandy, and Dixon will put the shot and throw the discus. Though their marks for the year are not as good as has been made by other members of the Association, each has a chance to place.

Dixon and Keith will broad jump and each man is sure to do better than twenty-one feet. Gamel is the best javelin thrower of the lot as yet, but Dixon, Bandy, and Keith are showing great improvement and may take points in that event. Gamel has been throwing the spear above 165 feet during the past week and may be able to cop first place.

Freshmen Round Out Year With
Picnic in Canyons

W. T. Freshmen of '27-'28 had their last social function of the year in the form of a hilarious picnic at the Methodist encampment, Sunday afternoon.

After having equipped themselves with a crate each of bananas and oranges, numberless boxes of cakes and countless numbers of "sack lunches" the group gathered at the east entrance of the College building and hid themselves to the canyons. The results might have been seen had one noticed the straggling bunch which returned to town Sunday night by the east road.

The presidents and members of the board of regents of the State Teachers Colleges of Texas will hold their annual meeting at Galveston, May 11. All of the presidents plan to take their wives to this meeting.

Crowded Conditions at W. T.
Make More Buildings Essential
To Its Growth and Development

Budget Up to '31 is Now Being Compiled By Board of Control.

If the future is to be judged by the past, the new Educational Building under construction at the West Texas State Teachers College will not relieve the crowded condition for more than a year or so. The figures below show the enrollment in the college proper, and the percent of growth each year over the previous year for the past few years.

Sch. Year	Col. Stu.	% Inc.
1921-1922	325
1922-1923	482	48.3
1923-1924	551	14.3
1924-1925	716	29.9
1925-1926	717	0.1
1926-1927	775	8.1
1927-1928	913	17.8

The Technological College at Lubbock opened in September 1925 and as a result the enrollment increased very little during the 1925-1926 session.

If the W. T. S. T. C. enrollment continues to grow for the next three years as it has for the past two, we may expect (based on the average, 12.95% for the past two years) enrollments as follows:

School Year	Probable Enrolmt
1928-1929	1031
1929-1930	1167
1930-1931	1308

The Budget being compiled by the Board of Control at present provides for the needs of the institution through August, 1931. Unless the budget provides for more buildings, conditions will be worse at the West Texas State Teachers College three years hence than they are at present.

The table below shows the growth of the Senior Class from the time the institution became a Senior College.

Sch. Year	Seniors	% Inc.
1918-1919	3
1919-1920	8	33.3
1920-1921	8	100.0
1921-1922	12	50.0
1922-1923	21	42.3
1923-1924	21	0.0
1924-1925	56	166.6
1925-1926	68	21.4
1926-1927	84	23.5
1927-1928	94	11.9

Twenty-five people attended the banquet. The guests of the club were: President and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Miss Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, Miss Noyes, and Winston Savage, and Ernest Cabe.

The menu was:
Fruit cocktail
Baked chicken
Green beans
Rolls
Gravy
Sweet potatoes
Butter
Olives
Combination salad
Orange and grape ice
Mints and Coffee
Salted almonds
Gold cake

The program consisted of the singing of modern songs translated into Latin, such as, "Always," "Moonlight and Roses," and "The Eyes of Texas." A Latin contest was held, with Frances Holman winning the prize. Each visitor made a short talk, and the program was concluded by the awarding of the prizes to the winners of the local Latin contest.

Student Judges Are Complimented

Recently three W. T. Students judged declamation contests in a District Texas Interscholastic League meet. The following is an extract from a letter received by the Bureau of Public Service from the director general of District Number Three.

"These young people made us the best of judges, acquitted themselves as ladies and gentlemen, and in every way acted to bring honor upon their institution. I certainly want to thank you for sending these judges and thus helping make the district meet the success that it was. This was real service rendered by the West Texas State Teachers College and we appreciate it."

SPEECH DEPT.
PRESENTS "ICE-BOUND" HERE

Drama of New England
Given May 1, by Well Trained Cast.

"Icebound," a drama by Owen Davis, was presented Tuesday evening, May 1, under the direction of Mr. C. W. Batchelder by a cast chosen from the department of public speaking. This production was one of the best that has been offered during the entire school year.

The drama, in itself, was very strong in both intellectual and emotional appeal. Although it was serious in the message it gave, touches of humor were prevalent in many of the scenes. The story was of the domestic life of a New England family. The condition suggested in the title was characteristic of the family relations. The people of the story were designing and outwardly uncouth but there was a finer thread of human sympathy and understanding, which finally softened their lives and supplied a recompense for the earlier years of their childhood.

J. D. Gamble, as the wayward son, deserves considerable comment for his splendid characterization. Harriet Gilbert, as the "poor relation" proved herself capable of handling the family fortunes and establishing a higher plane of living and thought, for those whom she had reasons for distrusting. Pauline Stevenson, as the son of Gladys Lowry did a strong piece of characterization.

The entire cast deserves praise for its work in technique and ability to adapt their speech, actions, and thoughts to scenes from sections of the country vastly different to the plains of West Texas.

The cast follows:
Henry Jordan _____ Leo Forrest
Emma, his wife _____ Marjorie Walters
Nettie, her daughter by a former marriage _____ Zella Mae Walser
Sadie Fellows, once Sadie Jordan, a widow _____ Gladys Lowry
Orion, her son _____ Pauline Stevenson
Ella Jordan, the unmarried sister _____ Ernestine Williams
Doctor Curtis _____ Darris Cheyne
Jane Crosby, a second cousin to the Jordans _____ Harriet Gilbert
Judge Bradford _____ Gordon Beck
Ben Jordan _____ J. D. Gamble
Hannah _____ Agnes Moore
Jim Jay _____ Eurith Compton

Art Club Elects
Officers for '29

On April 23, the Phidias Art Club had its regular weekly meeting. During the business session, three of the officers were elected for the coming year, and are to take office at the opening of the Fall term. The following were elected by the club:

Wayne Griffiths, president; Inez Allen, vice-president; and May Nettles, secretary-treasurer. The election of the Prairie reporter and annual representative was deferred until the opening of the Fall term.

The Art Club has had a very successful year, and plans for an even greater program for next year. The Club meets regularly on Wednesday evening, and after the business session, the members are allowed to work on any art project they choose. At present, many of the members are making hand-tooled leather articles, such as pillow tops, book covers, card cases, etc. One meeting night each week has been set aside for a social and program meeting.

Y. W. Has Regular Meeting Wednesday

The Y. W. C. A. held an excellent meeting Wednesday afternoon, May 2. The trend of discussion turned from world affairs and people of other nations to the homes.

Jessie Mae Scott gave an interesting discussion of "Practical Art in Home Building." Other features of the program which were in complete harmony with the subject under discussion were:

A group of Joyce Kilmer's poems, "The House With Nobody in It," and "Roofs," read by Montie Draper; and a vocal solo, "A Winter Lullaby," by Evelyn Shanklin, with Grace Aasen at the piano.

W. T. DEBATERS
WIN ONE, LOSE
ONE LAST WEEK

W. T. Teams Defeat Sam
Marcos and Lose to Sam Houston.

Willard Vinyard and Jesse Barker won a two to one decision in a debate with San Marcos State Teachers College at San Marcos last week, while Frank Barnes and Darris Cheyne lost to Sam Houston State Teachers College Monday night in a debate held in the College auditorium here.

The question was, Resolved: "That the United States should cease to protect by armed forces capital invested in foreign countries except after formal declaration of war." In these debates held between the Teachers Colleges of Texas the home team always upholds the affirmative side. It is interesting to note that in both debates the negative side of the question won.

TENNIS SQUAD TO ENTER MEET

Net Men Have Done Good
Work in Intercollegiate Meets.

A resume of the tennis season reveals that the West Texas Teachers have had a most successful season under the tutelage of Mr. Lockhart, well-known tennis mentor.

In the Roswell meet the Buffalo netmen won first and second singles and doubles, a rather unusual thing when playing the Cadets around that worthy school.

At Lubbock against the Matador netmen the Buffaloes defeated Tech's best to win first place in singles and doubles. Landers, ranking No. 1 of the local club, defeated McKirhan, Tech star, to cop single honors, and the Landers-Kent lefthand combination defeated McKirhan and McDonald, Tech No. 1 doubles to take the honors in doubles.

Tennis success did not continue so well through the Great Plains Meet, though Landers and Kent, the southpaw pair, won first place in the doubles.

Prospects are that the Buffalo net men will have a great chance of copping tennis honors in the coming T. I. A. A. meet, to be held in Denton May 11 and 12.

President Hill spoke to the citizens of Canadian Sunday evening, April 30. This address, which was given at the First Baptist Church, was the beginning of a "Boy Week" which was held there last week.

Enoch Dawson of the class of '26, who is now teaching manual training in the high school at Stamford, Texas, is planning definitely to attend the first reunion of his class which will be held here May 30.

SENIOR MUSIC MAJORS WILL GIVE RECITALS

Two Senior music students will present their recitals this week. Miss Eula Smalley, soprano, on this (Tuesday) evening at 8 p. m. and Miss Alice Dawes, pianist, Friday evening, 8 p. m.

BOXING BOUTS
BEING STAGED
NOW AT W. T.

Local Business Men Give Liberal Rewards to All Winners.

Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney staged a riotous bout in Chicago during the past year amid the excitement and clamor made by the greatest crowd that ever saw a boxing match, yet their fight created no more proportionate excitement than did the first bouts of the boxing tournament being staged at W. T. as a phase of intramural athletics. Friday afternoon, May 4, four bouts of the 135-to-147 pound class were fought and the 100 spectators were given plenty of thrills.

In the first bout Slugger Hill, erstwhile resident of the T-Anchor Ranch, outpointed Slippery Osborne in four fast rounds that witnessed plenty of action.

Lightning Gray faced Puncher McDaniels in the next bout, Gray winning a close decision on points.

A. Forrest outpointed McAfee in two fast, slugging rounds.

L. Forrest lost to Blair in a fast bout that saw each on the verge of a knockout.

To climax the afternoon bouts, Gerald and Smoot fought four fast bloody rounds, each getting several blows that hurt. Gerald won on points, having had Smoot down for the count of nine three times. Smoot appeared one of the best in the afternoon's fights and would have gone a great deal further in the tournament had he not been matched with Gerald who is considered one of the best in his class. Already some talk is going the rounds about a championship match between the winner of the 135-147 pound class and the winner of the 147-160 pound class.

Semi-finals in the four weights will be held Monday afternoon, May 14, and a large crowd is expected to attend. Some of the best fighting ever seen here is expected when these boys meet. A nominal admission charge of twenty-five cents will be made to cover the expenses of the tournament and to further the sport.

Local business men are co-operating heartily in the promotion of boxing and awards will be made by the following firms:

The Buffalo Tailors will give an award to the winner of the under 125 pound weight class; The Buffalo will make an award to the winner of the 125-135 pound class; Scotts Service Station to the winner of the 135-147 pound class; Olympic Theatre will make an award to the winner in the 147-160 pound class; and the Buffalo Barber Shop will make an award to the winner in the over 160 pound class.

Miss Lottie Hennigh, '28, will be principal of an excellent five-teacher school at Gray, Oklahoma.

C. R. E. Weaver, '28, is the newly elected superintendent at Silverton, and J. B. Speer, '29, has succeeded J. Lewis Hill as superintendent at Follett. Hill has entered the local political arena and hopes to be the next county clerk of Lipscomb county.

Lucy Purdy, a graduate of '26, will teach commercial work in the high school at Holly, Colorado, again next year.

W. T. Baseball Men
Return From Long
Trip Down State

The Buffalo baseball team returned this week from a long road trip down state during which they played six games, winning two and losing four. This trip closes the 1928 season and witnesses the passing of one of the best baseball teams that has ever represented the school.

On the trip the Buffaloes met Tech, McMurry College, and Daniel Baker, splitting the series with Tech and McMurry and losing both games to Daniel Baker.

W. T. TIES FOR THIRD PLACE IN CONTESTS

Representatives of W. T.
Take Two Prizes at Clothing Contest.

W. T. High School representatives tied with Belton for third place in the State Clothing Contest held in San Antonio April 26-29, and brought home two prizes, a cut glass bowl and a silver compote.

The local representatives were Zolena Bishop and Ora Anderson. They were accompanied by Miss Edith Leucke, instructor in textiles.

The W. T. girls won first place in the robes de nuit contest, this giving them fifteen points. They won fourth place in church and street costume, and fourth in traveling costume, making a total of 21 points.

The contestants were royally entertained during their stay in San Antonio. They were taken on a trip to see many places of interest including the Alamo and other old missions. They were also given a theater party, a banquet, and a tea at the country club. The contestants took a special train to Austin and were given a tea at the capital.

Sheffy is Speaker at Assembly Hour

Mr. L. F. Sheffy, of the history department, spoke in chapel Tuesday, giving an interesting discussion of the presidential campaign.

In this discussion Mr. Sheffy gave a brief history of the formation and development of the two-party governmental system, and showed the important function of this system in the government. He traced the election of the president by delegates through the local precincts to the National Convention.

Mr. Sheffy then gave a brief history of the lives of the Democratic and Republican presidential possibilities. He also discussed the possible issues of the 1928 political platform.

Owners of fashionable New York apartments have been much disturbed the last few weeks over the daring exploits of Dandy Dora.

This young person has the police puzzled. She goes into an apartment, but never comes out. Yet she is never found in the apartment; and at the same time the apartment has been looted. The police explain this strange procedure by saying that the clever crook changes from feminine to masculine attire while in the apartment. By going in as a woman and coming out as a man, they say, she succeeds in eluding the vigilant eye of the law.

Suspicion has fallen upon various persons. Some say that La Chiquita, famous Broadway show girl, is Dandy Dora. Others say that the criminal is none other than the suave little Marquis La Bon et L'Amour.

If you want to assist in running down this notorious criminal, come out and see the College senior play Thursday night. In the apartment of Mr. Algernon Chesterfield R. B. Rosenmender you will have an excitingly hilarious time with crooks, policemen, detectives, and a host of other interesting folk. Things happen, and you will speculate until the final curtain.

TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1928.

AN APPRENTICESHIP FOR PEDAGOGUES.

No one is entirely satisfied with the instructing force in this day of mass education and half-baked results. With as much demand for teachers as there is nowadays, all of the material called in to service can not be perfect. No little teaching is done by young folks interested in it only as a money-maker on their way to other vocations. Too much perhaps is done by those who follow it as a life work without either love or genius for it.

The complaint on instructing personnel is widespread in the colleges, in spite of the fact that the average higher salaries in this field can command the best available talent. That it is far wider spread in the schools, goes without saying.

Now comes an educational theorist of practical leanings to suggest a remedy that might prove a partial curative. Angelo Patri is the principal of a junior high school in New York City, and is so much the born school teacher that he regards instruction as the art which it is and the true teacher an artist, with a love for the profession. Mr. Patri goes further and insists that genius for teaching can be detected in embryo, just as musical and painting talent. His suggestion for improving the field is to take the youngster with the spark of teaching in him, and train him to the work as the cadet at West Point is trained for the army.

To be sure there are teachers' colleges. Mr. Patri says that in New York there are splendid training schools for instructors. That they do not serve the purpose he has in mind is evidenced by the failure to show a consistently high average among those entering the school forces from year to year.

Mr. Patri wants the pupils evidencing a desire to teach selected in junior high school and given an apprenticeship by working with the best teachers from kindergarten on. Principals, assistants and interested educators are to give helpful conferences to these young people. He points out that not willingness, but adaptability in teaching is wanted, and that over the actual high school career of these candidates the unfit could be eliminated and only the adaptable brought up to the training schools.

Mr. Patri's scheme has the appeal that it costs nothing. It has the advantage of developing in the young prospect the field of teaching to which he is best suited. He suggests scholarships for youngsters of proven adaptability who lack enough money to take the training.

In all probability there are not enough born teachers to fill the needs of modern schools. Mr. Patri's idea has the merit, however, of encouraging those with souls attuned to instructing the world. Anything that can help increase the number in service has the merit of being at least partially beneficial. Parents familiar with the effect on their own youngsters of the good inspiration of good instructors and the lack of it in the disinterested will not contest Mr. Patri's premise.—Dallas News.

Esther Shultz, a graduate of '26, and Lillian Ferguson, an ex-student of W. T., spent the week end in Canyon. Both are now teaching at Friona.

Miss Alma Pafford, a teacher in the Amarillo schools, visited her sister, Dalma, and friends here Sunday.

Carl Willingham, last at W. T. in 1924-25, will receive his degree from Tech this spring. He is president of the Math Club there.

Harmon Scales will teach at the River Road school in Potter county next year.

COLLEGE TRADITIONS

Tradition, in the true sense of the word, is a great thing to have in a college. The atmosphere of antiquity and tradition which a school possesses is an asset in creating a spell of loyalty and affection in its students. Tufts should have traditions, but we should not be caught confusing taboos with traditions. The customs and rules of a college should act as positive agents for developing the character of men, not as negative instruments for repressing individuality and setting up false values on unsupported foundations.

Tufts has traditions which are worth perpetuating, and which were not abolished by the Student Council, and it needs to recognize other traditions of a worthwhile sort. . . . traditions which are part of the history of the college and the ideals of its founders. . . .

These might be: the pursuance of the educational ideal in a broad way; the recognition of Tufts as a thoroughly democratic institution of Tufts as a thoroughly democratic institution, where free expression is to be courted and any repression is to be courted and any repression condemned as hypocrisy; the improvement of college personnel from year to year by improvement of the members already here; the tradition of leadership in recognized fields, such as music, the drama, etc. We think of a score of others, and any one of them superior to the whole category of paddle and repression flapdoodle.—The Tufts Weekly.

Snapshots of Sports

BY OSCAR GAMEL

Another bit o' gossip about Germany and her men-building program. Von Hindenburg, president of the rejuvenated Germany, says, "Germany is molding her swords, guns and other armament into dumb bells," this paraphernalia to be used in the national development of sport—4,000,000 men already enrolled in the gigantic undertaking. "The Germany of tomorrow will rival all nations in athletic prowess, and if the axiom, that a sound body insures a strong mind, be true, her activity will reach all lines of civilizational development."

Charles Paddock, who has been called a has-been runner by sport writers for several years, broke another world record the other day at the Penn Relays. He set a new record of 17.4 seconds in the 175 yard dash. Apparently he is sure of a berth on the liner that will bear America's Olympic team abroad.

"Big Bill" Tilden, another old timer who has been astounding the world of tennis for so long that they don't call him a has-been anymore—he is just America's greatest tennis player of all time, says the U. S. has a great chance of coping the Davis Cup in the coming matches. We hope so.

The fickleness of public interest is very plainly shown by the way Pyle's race is attracting attention. During the first few weeks of the race everyone was interested in the Bunion Derby—now we merely glance over the headlines, usually announcing, "Seattle negro leads Payne into—" Ho, hum.

West Texas as a whole ought to be proud of the feats performed in the Great Plains Intercollegiate meet. It is on a par with any college meet of like rank in the South and many of the records made would do credit to any conference.

Fisher of Tech is undoubtedly one of the most colorful athletes ever seen in action on the local field. He is likely to break many records over the state before he gets out of school three years hence.

You could hear a gasp of suspense from the crowd every time either Tadlock or Naylor took a jump at that bar Saturday. They set up a record that will be a hard one to beat.

A fellow suggested Sunday that McCoomis of N. M. M. I. he of the fleet feet, must have been raised on the sand hills of New Mexico, running long-eared rabbits for recreation. A rabbit would not have a chance against that boy.

Red Keith says he thinks that McCoomis can run.

Dee Hargrove '27, has been elected superintendent at the Y. L. school near Muleshoe, succeeding J. E. Adams '25, resigned.

Clinton De Armond, '27, has accepted a position as teacher of science and principal of the White Deer high school.

Dora Sams will teach next year at Roseland, Floyd County.

Everett Sherman has been elected superintendent of the Summerfield school.

CO-EDUCATION IS SUBJECT OF CHAPEL DEBATE

GAMBLE AND VINYARD ON THE NEGATIVE WIN WITH GOOD ARGUMENT AND POWERFUL ORATORY.

Co-Education will continue to predominate if the decision rendered by the student body and the faculty of W. T. at the debate in chapel Saturday will have a wielding influence.

The question which suffered much heated discussion was, Resolved: That co-education should be abolished in all four year colleges. The debate club was in charge of the program and had as its representatives, affirmative: Frank Barnes and Wayne Eubanks; negative: Willard Vinyard and J. D. Gamble.

The arguments, pro and con, presented by the speakers were highly amusing and perhaps thought provoking. Various and sundry poets and poems were held up as shining examples or ridiculed as the case necessitated. The rebuttals were sheer matching of wits. The speakers at the Democratic Convention, soon to be held, will not, perhaps, rise to such heights of oratory.

Carl Periman acted as chairman for the debate. An audience decision was rendered.

Buffalo Bull

William Patrick McWoozle for the Billy Goat vice-president. He was reared in the fifth ward. As soon as he gets in office the White House will be hooked up with swinging doors and free lunch counters. Senators may carry two "gate," congressmen only one. All lawyers will be allowed only a blackjack, and may slouch around without coats and ties only seven days a week and on holidays. Vote for McWoozle and then go home and shave with a blowtorch.

Following a lesson in sociology on "crime," we visited a night court and now we are in a position to reveal a picture of one. This is Pen photoplay with an all-star cast. Don't miss it—even if you have to move up closer.

"Hear ye! Hear ye!" piped Dugan, clerk of the court. The audience arose—"G' Morning, Judge!"

"What's the first case on docket?" bellowed Judge Gooch.

"Zeke Spivis," answered Dugan.

"He's charged with being drunk, Yer Honor."

W. A. A. Has Last Meeting of Year

The W. A. A. girls held their last social of the year Wednesday. All gathered at the regular meeting place, the girls' gym, for a business meeting. A new group of girls was selected to hold office the next term. The girls then were entertained with movies through the courtesy of Mr. Shaw. Pictures of tumbler and of a football game were seen.

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Rudolph Fuchs furnishing the music. The girls then adjourned to meet in the term of 1928-29. They have had some very good times this year as there is not a more jolly or congenial group in school.

up Zeke. "And I never intend to, 'cause it makes me feel so lousy in the morning."

"Ten years!" roared the judge.

"Next case."

"Pike Gulch, charged with stealing a pair of pants," read Dugan.

Pike's lawyer, a small, rat-faced man, bearing all the marks of a criminal, plead for Pike. "Judge, look at the prisoner. How could a guy wid a pan like dat steal anything?"

The prisoner slunk in his seat and cowed at every rap of the gavel. Judge Gooch mopped his brow. "Case dismissed."

The prisoner smiled weakly, but never moved. "Why don't you leave?" asked Gooch.

"I can't," croaked the acquitted one. "The guy wot owns de pants is outside and I've got on de pants."

The Episode

The term "episode" is usually given to the short descriptive narrative which has story-telling power. It may be only a scene that could be placed within a story, or it may be a short, concise plot in itself. Above all, it must be interesting and human. Perhaps at some time you have seen characters in situations around you that act in such ways as to make you want to imagin conversations for them. If you ever observed a group of thoroughly modern gypsies, hesitating beside their automobiles, and have heard one read in perfect English these words—"infantile paralysis" you may have wanted to jot down the incidents you think led to this, or perhaps tried to glimpse the future.

An episode demands imagination, especially in creating an emotion, because the latter must be present. It may be heroic, tragic or humorous, but not a "sentimental love story." The surest way to create this emotion is to follow life in its steps because in doing this one touches the realistic. Life itself is full of triumphs and tragedies that happen "unpicturesquely" and "unpoetically," which if put into unassuming words may produce a striking episode.

"Thicker Than Water," a prize story in "Life" is an admirable episode that will explain the use of the realistic. A girl who has been hurt is losing a great deal of blood, when her twenty-year old brother appears and is told that her life depends on a blood transfusion. The boy drew in his breath and paled visibly.

"You mean Nell'll die if someone doesn't swap his blood for hers?" "Unless the blood she has lost is replaced—"

"Well, quit beefin'," interrupted the other roughly. "I'm here, ain't I?"

When he entered the operating room the boy gave a low cry of pain, bent over the form on the table, and pressed his lips to the white forehead. When he looked up his eyes were filled with tears. He nodded to the surgeon.

Doggishly, almost defiantly, he submitted himself, but when the artery had been severed and blood was pulsing from his veins to the inanimate form beside him his expression changed to that of abject resignation. Several times he sighed audibly, but as if from mental rather than bodily anguish. The silence became oppressive. To Markham it seemed hours before the surgeon nodded to the nurse. Then:

"You're a brave lad," he said cheerfully to the boy. "Your sacrifice has won."

The boy, pale and weak, tried to smile. "Thank God!" he muttered. Then, with twitching mouth: "Say, Doc, how soon do I croak?"

"Why, not for a good many years, I hope." The surgeon turned frowningly to Markham. "Didn't you explain there was no danger to him?"

"God! I'm afraid I didn't," stammered Markham. "I was so keen to get his consent. Do you mean he thought—"

The surgeon nodded pityingly and turned to the lad. "You're not going to die," he said gently. "You'll be all right tomorrow. But I'm deeply sorry you've suffered as you must have suffered the past hour. You were braver than any of us suspected."

"Aw, that's all right," muttered the boy. "She's my sister, ain't she?"

Episode

Marguerite Dickenson

Early one evening I was sitting in the window of my dormitory room watching the day darken into night. The scene before me was a sombre one. The grayness of the sky was increased by a bank of dark clouds which had gathered in the south. The depression which the scene caused me to feel was suddenly broken by the sounds of a piano and dancing feet which came through an open window.

While my mood was swaying between depression and gaiety, I heard the slow, tired steps of someone coming along the sidewalk. I glanced down and saw a figure emerging from the dusk. The light from the windows showed me that it was one of the laundry women. She wore a long black coat and a close fitting cap. As the light fell now and then on her face, I saw there no signs of joy. Her expression was rather one of endurance and determination to carry on. When she was opposite the open window, she paused and looked in. Then there came to her face a look full of longing and desire.

She gazed intently for a little while, then carefully placed her right foot forward, then back. She practiced the step several times slowly, and her face became almost animated. The music stopped and she waited expectantly for it to start again. Everything was very still for a moment and I heard the town clock strike seven slow strokes. As if by magic the expectant look on her face fell away and the old expression of endurance and sorrow took its place again. Without glancing toward the gay scene inside, she resumed her slow, steady walk homeward.

Cousins-Sesame Banquet is Held at Cousins Hall

Eighty-seven Cousins, Sesames, and guests attended the annual banquet of the literary society which was held in the Cousins Hall dining room Thursday evening, May 3.

As Ruth Strain played a piano march, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McDonald led a promenade, composed of all the members and guests present, into the dining room where a delightful five course dinner was served. Evetts Haley acted as toastmaster and brought forth a program full of wit, wisdom, and song.

Mitchell Jones and Mrs. Emmett Hazelwood represented the Ex-Cousins and Sesames. The Cousins quartet, consisting of Gollehon, Compton, Norman, and Tabor delighted the crowd with some excellent vocal selections. Just before a salad course was served Leo Forrest and J. B. Fowler caused some hearty laughter with some negro jokes. Martina Anderson read "The Seven Stages of Man," and emphasized the fact that women are angels. Margaret Good and T. H. McDonald, presidents of the two societies, gave the present and future of the societies. Mrs. J. A. Hill was the last speaker of the evening and gave a very impressive talk explaining the value and place of society work in college life.

The tables were beautifully decorated in purple and white with a "Maypole" design on each table. Everyone present enjoyed the evening and helped every other one present to do likewise. The guests present were: Miss Hattie M. Anderson, Miss Anna I. Hibbets, Mr. and Mrs. Sheffy, and Mr. and Mrs. Hill.

Kappa Omicron Phi Studies Scandinavia

Kappa Omicron Phi members were addressed Monday evening, April 30, by Mrs. Julia Kelly on the subject of the peoples of the Scandinavian peninsula.

Special emphasis was put on the inhabitants of Norway. The program was concluded with a round table discussion on the social life and general characteristics of the Scandinavian races.

Colonial Concert Given at Church

Members of the choir and orchestra of the Methodist church gave a Colonial Concert at the church last evening at 8:00 p. m. All of the participants were dressed in colonial costumes and everything was carried out in true colonial form.

The concert, which was directed by Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, consisted of two parts. The first part was composed of a chorus and march, a quartet, "Maggie," and a vocal duet. The entire choir sang "The Church in the Wildwood."

The second part contained a dramatization of a colonial tea when the relations of Cousin Jeddiah visit him. Other features were: "Tunes on ye harpsicord, ye guitar, and ye chest of whistles." The concert was concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Creative Writing is Encouraged by New Publication

Baylor College, at Belton, has initiated a movement in collegiate publications work that bids fair to become of wide influence, by establishing a new magazine, "The Torchbearer," dedicated to the various forms of imaginative literature such as poetry, short stories, and plays.

The magazine was established by members of the faculty of Baylor College at the suggestion of Dean E. G. Townsend. Its aim is to encourage young writers and to furnish them a medium for publishing their works. Therefore the standards by which the contributions are judged are high, but the sponsors of the magazine do not propose to make them so difficult as to discourage inexperienced writers. Real merit rather than experience is the basis for judging.

The staff of the magazine is as follows: editor, William H. Vann; business manager, Miss Ailese Parten; associate editors, Misses Elnora Edgar, Marjorie Mullins, and Kathryn Bowen. The advisory board consists of three members, chosen so as to represent the schools, writers, and literary organizations of Texas.

The staff is attempting to make this magazine representative of all Texas, the relative merit of the publication resting entirely upon Texas talent.

Delegate Tells of District Meeting

Jennie Osborne, who represented the Home Economics club at the district meeting of Federated Women's Clubs at Dalhart, gave the club a vivid and entertaining report of her trip at the last meeting of the local club.

The speaker was most enthusiastic about the work that the club has accomplished this year. She impressed upon the club members the importance of sending delegates to these meetings for inspiration from and contact with other women's clubs.
