

Definite Cafeteria Policy Announced

Dr. James P. Cornette, executive vice-president of West Texas State, announced Monday that a definite policy concerning the central cafeteria has been worked out and approved by the Administration Council and the Student Senate.

Several misunderstandings concerning a dance held a few weeks ago in the cafeteria resulted in this set of recommendations set down by the Senate and Council:

During this year there has developed a need for a general policy concerning the use of the cafeteria. This is especially true with regard to all functions, such as dances, where the tables and chairs have to be removed from the main dining room. The students of West Texas State College want to utilize this building for dances which are considered all college functions, and the faculty wants it to be used wherever and whenever it is the only place that will accommodate the occasion. In the interest of complete understanding between faculty and students the Administrative Council decided it wise to make the following points of clarification and establishment of general policy to govern the use of the cafeteria for all college functions.

First, it should be pointed out that the cafeteria is a bonded building. This means the college had to issue bonds against the building in order to secure funds for its erection. The cafeteria cost 1-4 million dollars and the payments to retire it are $1800 per month for 30 years. There is no other way to retire these bonds except from the proceeds from the food served there and other commercial uses. We feel that the students will be interested in this information, and will want to cooperate wholeheartedly in using the building, and maintaining it in its present excellent condition.

Secondly, it is self-evident that the major and primary function of the cafeteria is a place for students to eat. Whenever there are other functions which the building can serve without interfering too greatly with this primary function, where the campus has no other adequate facility, it is felt that the building should be used.

In the third place, the Student Senate and Administrative Council have agreed that functions approved for such use of the cafeteria shall be governed by the following contractual agreements:

1. The sponsoring group shall be responsible for the care of the building and for the payment of $25.00 for its use.
2. The college shall pay $25.00 to the cafeteria as its contribution to the retirement of bonds, in consideration of the fact that the function has been officially classified as "all-institutional."
3. All affairs shall be scheduled with the Director of the cafeteria well in advance of the event.
4. A committee of the sponsoring group shall be responsible for moving the tables and chairs out of the main dining room before the dance and for returning them immediately afterward.

At the present time the only functions asking consideration and clearing their request through the Student Senate are:

1. Homecoming dance
2. Le Mirage Presentation
3. Joint Presentation of Social Clubs.

All of these requests have been recommended by the Student Senate and approved by the Administrative Council. All future requests must go through the same channels: namely, clear their requests through the student senate, then gain the approval of the administrative council. The functions approved in any one year shall not be considered an established precedent for years following.

George vs. Charles — Atomic Age!

"—But Prexy,—I just had to saw the lamp-post down," hacked Charles Bell, Plainview junior, when caught in the act of de-beautifying the campus. "You see, it is my patriotic duty because too many girls around here are beginning to see the light—and that's no good."

The above sequence has but one purpose and that is to show that not only George Washington with his immortal statement of "Father, I cannot tell a lie—I did chop down the cherry tree," but West Texas State students, also, are of the non-prevaricating type.

New Historical Review Now Out

Story Of Floyd County Reviewed In New Publication

Printing of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Review, Volume 20, has recently been completed, announced Boone McClure today. McClure, assistant curator of the museum said the volume has been mailed to subscribers.

The Review consists entirely of "The Early History of Floyd County," an article written by Dr. Claude V. Hall, Head of the Government Department at East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce. The major part of the article is taken from Dr. Hall's MA degree thesis submitted to the University of Texas. Dr. Hall, once a newspaper editor in Floyd County, obtained some of the interviews for the article as early as 1905.

This is the third volume of the Review devoted entirely to one article, McClure said.

The Review is distributed among members of the Society and exchanged with other historical societies throughout the country. About 25 newspapers in the Panhandle receive complimentary copies. A number of educational institutions subscribe for their libraries. One copy is sent to the Library of Congress.

Some of the educational institutions included on the circulation list are Harvard University and state universities of Arizona, California, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Texas colleges subscribing are Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Southern Methodist University and East Texas State Teachers College.

Also receiving copies are the state historical societies of Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, New Mexico and Wisconsin.

Nine hundred fifty cardboard bound copies of the Review were printed. Two hundred fifty special copies with board backs were also printed.

Complete sets of the Review are available for public schools and public libraries only, on approval of a committee of the society members. Volumes 1 and 5 through 20 are available to individuals at $3 a copy. Society members may now purchase their copies, McClure said.

Subscriptions should be addressed to the Panhandle-Plains Museum or to Dr. L. F. Sheffy, Head of the History Department, West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon.

WT Journalists Await TIPA Meet

Journalism students, staff members and sponsors of WT publications are making plans now to attend the annual contests and convention of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association to be held April 29-30 at McMurry College in Abilene.

Highlight of the convention will be the awarding of prizes for winning newspapers, magazines, yearbooks, feature stories, columns, news stories, sports stories, essays, and other material entered by the member colleges. Bob Stanley of North Texas State College is contest director of the statewide organization.

Information received from Bill Ward, TIPA president, indicates that progress is being made by the McMurry Press Club, official hosts, in working out a well-rounded program for the convention.

Colleges belonging to the TIPA other than West Texas include: North Texas State College, Southwest Texas State College, East Texas State College, Sul Ross State College, Sam Houston State College, Stephen F. Austin State College, Texas A. & L., Texas College of Mines, McMurry College, Hardin College, Howard Payne College, Amarillo College, Paris Junior College, John Tarleton Agricultural College, Corpus Christi Junior College, Abilene Christian College, and Texas Wesleyan College. The latter two, former active members, re-affiliated this year.

Several other Texas colleges have indicated a desire to become members, and will send representatives to the convention to be considered for admittance.

All sponsors of fraternities and sororities will meet with Dean Mitchell Jones this afternoon at 3:30, Miss Eleanor Boyd, dean of women announced last week.

Phyllis Perkins, senior from Pampa, has been chosen to play the title role of "Dear Ruth," to be presented by the Dramatics Department sometime during the first week in March. The cast was announced Saturday by W. A. Moore, dramatics instructor.

Filling the role of Lieutenant William Seawright, the male romance lead, will be Jack Worsham, sophomore from Adrian.

While attending West Texas, Phyllis has held leading roles in several Dramatic Department productions. She has held leads in "Spring Dance," "For Distinguished Service," "A Murder Has Been Arranged," and "Your Uncle Dudley." She served on the property committee for "Little Women," and was manager for the play when it was presented off-campus. Phyllis was mistress of ceremonies for the Variety Show last summer. She took part in the dramatic workshop plays last summer, and acted as sound-man for the summer radio workshop broadcast, "Jason and the Golden Fleece."

Worsham was originally cast in "Joan of Lorraine," presented last spring, but was undergoing an appendectomy when the final production was presented.

The comedy leads of "Dear Ruth" are those of Miriam Wilkins and Albert Kummer.

Charles Bruce, sophomore from Vega, will play the role of Albert Kummer, the "4F" seeking Ruth's hand in marriage. Bruce has previously played in "A Murder Has Been Arranged," and "Joan of Lorraine."

The character leads, Judge and Mrs. Wilkins, will be played by Lynn Harwell, freshman from Vega, and Jean Smith, junior from Canyon, respectively.

Jean's previous dramatic work includes "Jane Eyre," "A Murder Has Been Arranged," and "Joan of Lorraine." She played in several one-act plays presented by the dramatic workshop last summer. She filled the part of the speaking tree in the summer workshop's drama, "Jason and the Golden Fleece."

Harwell's first West Texas appearance was seen in "Joan of Lorraine."

Beth Kimbrough, sophomore from Canyon, will play the part of Martha Seawright. "Dear Ruth" is her first dramatic part at West Texas. She participated in dramatics while attending Baylor University last year.

The part of Sergeant Chuck Vincent will be played by James "Rosy" Bates. "Rosy" participated in the dramatic and radio workshop this summer. He was a member of the Variety Show last year and last summer.

James William Caldwell, sophomore from Miami, will play the part of Harold Klobbmer, the sailor. Caldwell was seen in workshop plays presented last spring.

The part of Dora, the colored maid, will be played by June Brown, senior from Farnsworth. Most of June's dramatic experience has been in the technical field. Productions in which she has taken part and the jobs filled are, "Jane Eyre," stage setting; "Dover Road," properties and tickets; "A Murder Has Been Arranged," properties; "Almost Summer," co-director; "A Date With Judy" (West Texas High School Senior Play), make-up; and "Your Uncle Dudley," make-up.

"Dear Ruth," written by Norman Krasna, opened at the Henry Miller Theatre in New York on December 31, 1944. With Virginia Gilmore in the title role, it played for over two years.

A film version was later made starring Joan Caulfield, Edward Arnold, Billy De Wolfe, William Holden and Mona Freeman.

Krasna's latest play, now running on Broadway, is "John Loves Mary." Like "Dear Ruth," it depicts the story of a returning soldier.

A Cappella Featured In Variety Shows

The A Cappella choir, under the direction of Glenn A. Truax, assistant professor of music, will be featured in Variety Show No. 2. In his announcement yesterday, Truax revealed the No. 2 Show is tentatively scheduled to travel through the South Plains sometime during the latter part of March and the first of April.

Thirty members of the choir will travel with the show, Truax said.

Comedy To Reign During Assembly

If nothing else in the world can get students out to assembly, surely the one Thursday should provide all the elements necessary to get them there.

Thursday morning at 11 o'clock Pi Omega Sorority and Alpha Sigma Xi Fraternity have charge of the weekly assembly program.

Each group has worked up a comic skit to be presented then.

Pi Omega will present their version of the famous poem, "The Shooting of Dangerous Dan McGrew" in pantomime.

The Sigs will present a women's bridge party with men taking the part of the women.

Trixie Travis Brown and Gargie Bauer are in charge of the Pi Omega portion of the program and Lin Welch is directing the Sigs' effort.

CAGE QUEEN

Betty Jean Sparks Is 1948 Cage Queen

Betty Jean Sparks, freshman from Spearman, was chosen Basketball Queen last week by the team. Boyce Box captain of the team announced.

No definite date has yet been announced for the coronation of the queen, but it is definite that the ceremony will not take place at the next basketball game.

Dr. Hill Leaves For Conventions

Atlantic City First Stop; To Report to UN Institute, New York

President J. A. Hill left last night for Atlantic City, New Jersey, where he will attend a convention of the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

Immediately after the AATC convention there will also be a meeting of the National Educator's Association, also in Atlantic City. Dr. James L. Russell, education professor, will leave later this week to attend the NEA meet.

Dr. Hill will then go to New York City where he will attend a United Nations Institute, sponsored by the NEA.

While at the Institute President Hill will make a report on "What Is Being Done in the Southwest to Advance the Cause of the United Nations." He said in an interview Saturday that this report would be to tell what is being done to acquaint the people of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma with the work of the United Nations and affiliated organizations.

While at the UN Institute Pres. Hill will have a chance to attend meetings of the UN Security Council, United Nations Economic, Social and Cultural Organizations, and other workings of the international group.

He said he will probably be back in Canyon on or around March 1. He will give a report of his trip at the next faculty meeting, scheduled for March 9.

Coach W. A. Miller, head basketball tutor, said the reason he did not want the queen crowned at a game was because the game is too important and every time the crowning takes place at or before a game the boys play a 'bad game or lose.'

Attendants to the queen, also chosen by the team are Nancy Bishop, Freshman from Floydada; Frances Blessen, freshman from Amarillo; Ann Blackwell, freshman from Cuero; and Katherine Hester, sophomore from Stratford.

Plans are still pending, but according to Boyce Box the T-Club is to sponsor a dance or party at which time the queen will be officially presented.

New Associate Editors Appointed

Vaughn Vandergriff and T. C. Brown, juniors, have been appointed associate editors for the Prairie, Frank Stallings, editor, announced last week.

Vaughn was sports editor last year and editor for the summer session of 1947. He is a government major from Canyon.

T. C. is from Amarillo and a major in speech. He was book editor of the Prairie last semester.

It would be well for all students who expect to graduate in the summer of 1948 to make applications for degrees and have all work checked before the beginning of the summer session. This will save time and a student will know definitely what courses will be taken this summer.

Make applications in room 107 or room 109 of the Administration Building.

First Texas Strike Ultimatum On Display in Plains Museum

By T. C. Brown

Strikes for higher wages are nothing new to our modern society, but it is hard to tell when the first was called in the United States. As proof of the first in Texas, Canyon has two reliable sources to hold up before the world for examination.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum contains the ultimatum; R. E. Baird, the oldest citizen of Canyon, is witness of the strike.

In 1883, cowboys of the LS Ranch near Amarillo, under the captainship of Tom Harris, compiled an ultimatum demanding cowboys and cooks be paid $50 a month instead of the regular $30. It demanded foremen be paid $75 a month. The ultimatum was distributed among managers of the various Texas ranches.

During this time, Mr. Baird, who is now 87, and two friends were visiting several ranches in search of cowboy jobs. They reached the T-Anchor ranch March 30, 1883, one day before the ultimatum expired. Since six men were already employed by the ranch, they began making preparations for moving to another ranch. One of the 'punchers' participating in the strike advised them to stay over until the next day. He told them the men taking part in the strike would probably be dismissed and there would be room for employment. "This surprised me," said Mr. Baird, "because most of the men participating were pretty bitter."

The striking men were dismissed the following day. Mr. Baird and his friends were employed with the understanding they would receive $50 the first month and $30 each of the following months if the strike was successful. The strike didn't materialize and Mr. Baird and his friends remained at the ranch. Four or the six striking 'punchers' later returned to work.

The ultimatum displayed in the museum is the original sent to George Wethers, foreman of the LIT Ranch at Tascosa. It reads: "Cowboy Association. We the undersigned cowboys of Canadian River do by these presents agree to bind ourselves into the following obligations vis., First that we farthermore agree that no one shall work for less than $50 per month after 31st of March. 2nd, good cooks shall also receive $50 a month. 3rd, any one violating the above obligation shall suffer the consequences. Those not having funds to pay board after March 31 will be provided for for 30 days at Tascosa."

To date, Mr. Baird, resident of Canyon for 64 years, has given the largest contribution received by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society for its museum. He has donated a total of $1,250 toward the completion of the museum in addition to a wealth of interest, time and valuable information.

In speaking of the museum, Mr. Baird said, "I'd love to see it continue, and I want to see it completed. He says it belongs to the people of the Panhandle, and he believes by their contributions it will be completed. Mr. Baird believes no one would be ashamed to donate small amounts if they realized how much small donations add up.

A New Plan . . .

The Prairie, as the official weekly publication of West Texas State, has tried a lot of methods to give complete coverage every week to the interesting events that happen or are scheduled to happen on the campus. What someone does may not be interesting to everyone on the campus, but some is certain to find it interesting.

It is an old journalists' adage which says, "people make news." Therefore the staff of The Prairie wishes to publicize everyone and everything which happens on the campus and is worth publicizing.

However, it is almost physically impossible for the small number of staff members to get around to all members of the faculty every week, asking if there is any news. The staff works hard to cover some of the departments thoroughly, such as dramatics and athletics, because so many varied activities are always going on in those particular branches of WT.

There are many faculty members here, however, who are invited to speak at club meetings, banquets, school programs, etc. Most of the time these talks or discussions are worth at least a small item in The Prairie, and sometimes could be developed into a good sized story.

A plan whereby all these deserving news items will get their rightful publicity has been devised. A box will be placed in either the Business Office, the President's Office or the Registrar's Office which will be available at all times for those stories.

It would be nice if every department in the school could be well-publicized in connection with the current enrollment campaign in progress. This is one way to make The Prairie a more representative publication in which all persons connected with West Texas State will be interested.

Further details will be worked out later and announcement made concerning the proposed 'dumb reporter'.

Quota Force Plan . . .

A week ago tonight a few of the students of West Texas State and some townspeople had the privilege of hearing one of the only men in the world today who offers a definite policy for a revision of the United Nations.

Ely Culbertson, who is chairman of the CCUNR, Citizens Committee for United Nations Reform, is so far the author of the only workable plan for world peace, the Quota Force Plan.

Every day people raise their voices about how the Russians are ruining the world and wanting war, but so far you hear no one with any workable remedy for this situation. But Mr. Culbertson offsets his criticisms of the world organization with a plan for revising the current charter and is working with the CCUNR for possible revision of the UN.

At the moment he is touring the nation, trying to help people understand his plan and get behind him in an effort to show them that his plan is workable and yet is simple in structure.

When a man has so much to say to so many in such a short time, it is a pity that more do not turn out to hear him.

The students at WT will probably go on griping about how the Russians are treating the rest of the world and how they are ruining all the efforts of the United Nations to get world peace, yet in all probability none will offer any practical suggestions for the improvement of the young and hopeful organization.

Patriots Take Note . . .

February has long been famous as a month of patriots. And again we come close to another day which bring out the Patriot in all of us—the birthday of the Father of the United States.

And indeed, George Washington was the Father of his Country. He was another in a long line of earnest fighters for liberty and the freedom for which we have been fighting nearly 200 years.

Sunday is the birthday of this great American. It is a birthday which has been celebrated every year since his death in 1799. Patriotism usually runs high on this day, with banquets, parties and dances along with parades, flag raisings and such patriotic celebrations.

But February twenty-third is a dull day, and all this high peak of patriotism runs out almost immediately.

In trying days such as these we are now experiencing, love of one's country should run high at all times. There should be no high peaks on Armistice Days or on the birthdays of some of the better known patriots, but instead at all times all people should know what is going on in the capitals and should at least make an effort to keep abreast of the times by reading papers and magazines.

Washington fought to make this country free from the control of a foreign country. Millions have fought since then to keep it free from other foreign nations who wish world domination. Other wars could and can be prevented by each person keeping up with the affairs and so stressing peace that wars are practically impossible.

About Our Streets . . .

Unfortunately, the streets here on the campus are hardly wide enough for two cars to pass. However, if they are kept clear, they would be sufficiently wide.

The street which runs north and south behind the Administration Building is in a bad place as far as parking space is concerned. No place within two blocks is accessible for parking the cars which belong to men in Terrill Hall and Buffalo Courts, so the street is the parking lot.

Also, during basketball and football seasons cars are parked just about anywhere a place can be found. This creates a traffic problem which is becoming more serious as more people come to WT.

Parking space is practically not to be found when a lot of cars crowd on the campus for a celebration of some kind. So where else can people park their cars except in the streets?

But on normal days something can be done to alleviate the situation. Since the streets are as narrow as they are, maybe they should be made into one-way streets, thus cutting off half the traffic and also having parked cars on only one side of the street.

On the other hand, if all drivers would park their cars on the same side of that street (and there is room) it would leave room for two cars to pass. Many crushed fenders and raised tempers can be avoided by doing something to relieve the situation.

First Birthday . . .

West Texas State's newest permanent dormitory, Conner Hall, is celebrating its first birthday this month. The proud new addition to the campus, which is situated at the far north end, was first occupied during February a year ago.

Then, the building wasn't completed, as no locks were on the doors and no screens on the windows. But it was a huge improvement over the dining halls and gymnasiums which many men inhabited for the fall semester of 1946.

Now Conner Hall, under the supervision of Milton Morris, is one of the most modern and comfortable living quarters on the campus. WT is proud of the addition Conner Hall made to the appearance of her campus.

'Round . . . and 'Round . . . with Stallings

A couple of weeks ago when the Collegians played a job in Canadian, a group of West Texas students went along to attend the dance. I guess the band is so good they just can't keep away from where they play. This group spent that week-end in Perryton as guests of the Chamber of Commerce Secretary-Treasurer, Lee Little.

Mr. Little, who seems to be somewhat of a practical joker, put a potato in the pocket of one of the students. Just carrying on with the joke, the store clerks called this to the attention of the local City Marshall, who also happened to be in the store at the time. I'll bet the girl who was the cause of the joke gave a lot of quick excuses before she found out it was a joke.

By this time it is more or less obvious that some of the men on the campus have had unusually curly hair in the last two or three weeks. Behind that madness there is a reason, however. These men with the newly begotten curls are forming a Toni Club. The members send in a picture of their hair, telling what date the home permanent was given and how long it lasted. The winner of a nationwide contest gets a free trip to Hollywood with a contract as a model. Some models.

What is the difference between a street car and a trolley? There was a big argument over this the other day. One member of the two in the discussing group contended there was a difference. Nothing was decided.

Three brave senators were the only ones at the meeting of the Student Senate last Wednesday. I felt like a million dollars in that new suit. And I guess it looked all right at the time, but events soon changed all that.

Wayland College at Plainview has changed the name of its athletic teams from Jackrabbits to Pioneers. The reason given for the change was that Wayland has applied for senior college rating and feels that the name Pioneers more closely reflects the spirit of the school. If the school keeps growing as it has in the past two or three years, it will soon offer a lot of competition to other junior college around here and if their application for senior college rating goes through the Buffs may find themselves right in the middle of some more competition.

In fact, Wayland's basketball team whipped the Freshman Buffs two games this year.

Noticed at the gym during the basketball games last week that birds are still living there. Not that birds should not have a place to live, but they give the already battered building an unsavory atmosphere.

Maybe this should be on the sports page but . . .

Coach Frank Kimbrough last week said that he was cordially inviting any men on the campus to go out for spring football later this year. The dates of the training period are not yet set, but will be announced later. All men on the campus who dream of becoming a star football player now have a chance to show their stuff to the person who knows a player when he sees one.

Noticed an article in a newspaper the other day that said over 129,600,000 matches burned at one time in a box car. Must have been some blaze especially when you think of how long it would take to strike that many one by one.

One member of the faculty last week lamented over the fact that the chalk rails on the blackboards in the Administration building were so narrow that it made them hard to sit on during a long lecture of maybe 35 or 40 minutes.

Something else new was added to the cafeteria last week. All the tables were turned to be parallel with the walls and some were pushed together to make room for six people.

Heretofore Mrs. Sue Donald, cafeteria dietician frowned upon those who needed tables pushed together for more than four people. Now you can have your little parties without disturbance and without breaking any rules.

Somebody the other day mentioned that 'y' is the most used letter in the alphabet in this section of the country. For instance words like 'here' are not pronounced as they look, but instead have a 'y' added like this:

Heyur for here; everyweyur for everywhere and so on ad infinitum.

Nothing much besides an abundance of weather happened on the campus last week, or at least little things. But the weather was an interesting topic for conversation. Also it gave many students an excuse, whether legitimate or not, to miss a class or two.

Just been going in all directions at once trying to find out things. Not very successful, was it?

Don't tell me you lovebirds are having another little - Oops! Sorry...

IT IS A HAZARD

To Stand or Sit Now

By I. M. Stukke

Yep, it's all true. I live up to my name now. But it wasn't until a couple of days ago that it came about.

I walked into a cafe nonchalant like, with my newest garb on. I felt like a million dollars in that new suit. And I guess it looked all right at the time, but events soon changed all that.

With a buddy of mine I sat in a booth and ordered my meal (that was before I was broke). Everything went smoothly then suddenly, when I started to get up, I couldn't move an inch. There was a terrific struggle. Maybe I had paralysis or something. But no, it wasn't that at all, for you see I'd sat on someone's old used case of chewing gum.

That might not have been so bad, but in the process of trying to get out of the booth I had inadvertently put my hand under the table for leverage, only to find that my hand was also stuck. I was beginning to feel like Bre'r Rabbit stuck to the Tar Baby.

Finally one hand came loose and allowed me to use a little more ingenuity. I raised up just enough to allow my buddy to get a knife and cut me off the seat.

Well, we were late for the show after that. After tramping up and down the aisles for about ten minutes we found seats. I think someone whispered something about gum as I sat down, but I felt on the seat only to find nothing there.

I suppose the show was good, what I saw of it, for about ten minutes after it started I had the idea that my legs should be crossed. But no, the gum under my feet wouldn't allow that. In fact, I couldn't move my feet at all. Someone must have had a mouth the size of the muzzle of a 16-inch gun to have chewed even half that much gum at once.

After sitting through about three shows, the feet began to loosen from the gum just a little, and with a lot more effort they came up with a bound. But when we walked up the aisle of the theatre it was a severe effort every time I had to lift a foot. About half that aisle rug came out of the theatre with me.

It took about two hours of labor and half a dozen bars of soap to get all the gum off my clothes, shoes and hands.

Ah, but what would this country do without its billions of sticks of gum every year. It is an American custom that had its beginning back about the first of the century. Someone had the bright idea that a certain Mexican stuff called chicle was nice to chew. Then someone added a flavor and the growth of the stuff was amazing. Now the habit

Dear Editor:

Canyon, Texas
Feb. 10, 1948

Dear Editor,

My daughter came in this morning very disgusted about selling her Government book back to the Book-store. It seems she paid three dollars and a half for it at the beginning of school and only got seventy-five cents back for it. And the book was a used one too, when she got it. I have asked several people about it, but they don't know much either. Could you tell me what happens to the two dollars and seventy-five cents gained? Will the book be sold at three dollars and a half again next year? How many years can this be done?

Thank you,
Yours sincerely,
(Signed) Mrs. Lula Hyatt,
Route No. 1.

(Ed Note: Mrs. Hyatt's questions are common here on the campus. It is suggested that she see Mr. Bennie Simons, who has charge of the Book-store. He can most likely give the answers to these questions.)

Band Sorority Plans Mardi Gras Dance

Theta Kappa Psi, honorary band sorority, has scheduled a Mardi Gras Dance for the night of February 27 in Randall Hall.

The theme of the dance will be carried out with costumes and further details will be given later.

This morning at 11 there will be a meeting of the Freshman committee to plan the next Freshman party. The meeting will take place in the west room of the Dean of Women's office.

of chewing gum has spread all over the world. Big executives sit in offices blowing bubbles while they worry about the stock market fall and on down to newsboys on the corners who yell "Extree" between chews.

But something should be done about the way people rid themselves of gum. Under tables, on the floor and under chairs is certainly the most handy place, but what a mess. Someone should invent something that repels gum from those places, or even better, acid on those places would soon convince chewers that gum belongs in the mouth and not on the bottoms of public tables and chairs.

Lecomte du Nouy, a French scientist, has offered in his recent book, "Human Destiny," an enlightenment on some of our ever-present doubts. Doubts concerning the immortality of the soul and the presence of a Supreme Being, or concerning even the possibility of any spiritual existence. These are doubts which have existed almost since the beginning of time and have increased through the years.

At perhaps greater length, arguments have been presented which try to disprove these doubts—arguments in agreement with "Human Destiny." Dr. du Nouy's book, however, deals with recent developments occurring especially since the beginning of the Machine Age. This age, he says, brought about the rise of the materialists, atheists, and so-called freethinkers. Now while they are at their heights, the minds of innocent people are invaded daily with thoughts arousing disbelief in a spiritual existence.

It is with such thoughts in mind that Dr. du Nouy has attempted to reveal the illogical reasoning and naivete involved.

As a whole, I would say he has achieved his purpose. To read this masterpiece, a reader truly must concentrate. Scientific words are used which, Dr. du Nouy says are impossible to avoid in such a discussion. As a result, it is especially necessary to dwell at length on the scientific chapters which are used as an introduction.

Once the introductory chapters have been read, the remaining chapters will come with more facility and understanding.

Under Book I, "The Methods," the world is viewed objectively instead of subjectively as we see it. Dr. du Nouy shows the reader that the world is not at all what we see, but something radically different. This section serves as an effective introduction for the succeeding chapters.

Books II and III concern "The Evolution of Life" and "The Evolution of Man," respectively.

Lecomte du Nouy, now living in California, is widely known and respected by scientists of every land. During his life, he studied as a young man with Sir William Ramsey, and with Pierre and Mme. Curie. He has published extensive works on scientific philosophy. For three of these publications, he was awarded the Arnold Reymond Prize by the University of Lausanne in Switzerland.

His "Human Destiny" is indeed an answer to many of our all-important questions.

Betty Starnes Is Elected Prexy of Home Ec Club

Last week I had the opportunity to take in the Texas Music Educators Convention in Waco. Three members of the West Texas Music Department took part in the affair. They were M. J. Newman, Miss Ada V. Clark, and Glenn A. Truax. Included in the program were two clinic bands with personnel from high school bands in every part of the state, an all-state orchestra, and an all-state chorus, all under the direction of well known directors and educators.

Baylor added to the entertainment by furnishing its symphony orchestra for an evening concert. Its program included such well known works as Brahms's 4th Symphony, Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter Overture," and "Festival de Deum" by Williams. The latter is the George VI Coronation music and was done in conjunction with the huge Baylor Chorus.

My over-all impression of the affair was favorable. The clinic bands were not as good as I expected, but the orchestra and chorus were fine. Baylor has an impressive campus, but everything at WT looks better to me.

The Buffalo Band is again hard at work. The concert last Tuesday was just the beginning of the spring band activities. Next week the band will play some out of town concerts and also will play one at the West Texas State Band Clinic. Later activities on the calendar include the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce trade trip in April or May and the many duties connected with the High School Music Contests which will be held on our campus in April.

Dr. Clark tells me that it won't be long before the parts of Shubert's "Rosamunde" for the Mixed Chorus and Orchestra get here. It seems that a mix-up with the music publishers delayed the delivery for months. I think everyone will be glad to get started on the work.

The Choir is getting started on exceptional work by the best choral arrangers in the business. A Variety Show will be built around the group and I know it will really be a swell one from all reports. Keep on the look-out for the Choir's Variety Show. Glenn Truax is the director.

Band Sorority Has Election; Plans Dance

Bufs Down Tempe and Flagstaff in Conference Play

For the first time in quite a while the Buffaloes have more Border Conference wins and losses in Conference play. This was gained by the Hustlin' Bufs downing two Arizona foes last week.

Both teams came to Canyon boasting a better conference record than of West Texas State, but left with bitter defeat as the Millermen just couldn't be stopped.

Last Wednesday night found the Buffaloes ready to revenge a loss they suffered at the hands of Tempe some weeks ago; and they did to the tune of 45-39. The Bufs grabbed a lead in the opening minutes of the game and were never behind. Arizona State of Tempe pushed the Millermen many times but just couldn't seem to pull in front of the Buffaloes.

The Sun Devils made 14 field goals to 13 for the Buffaloes, but the Bufs made 19 free shots to 11 or Tempe. The Millermen held a 22-15 lead at the halftime and were out in front 35-25 as the last quarter began. At this time the quintet from Arizona made a gallant but futile bid for victory, but the Bufs staved off this threat. In the last 10 minutes of play the Millermen were unable to hit a field goal but counted 10 points from the free throw line to win the game.

Although the weather was bad a crowd of 1,100 was on hand to see the affair. The most remarkable thing of the game was the way the Buffaloes bottled up Tempe's star player, Verl Heap. Up until this game he ranked 19th in the nation for scoring the most points, but he only made six points the whole game here at Canyon. Fouls were fast as there were 54 called during the game. 28 fouls were called against Tempe and 26 against West Texas State. Boyce Box was high point man for the night with 11 points, followed closely by Glenn Braden with 8 points.

The following night found Arizona State of Flagstaff playing here. The game was fast moving and provided some exciting moments for the crowd. Since it was so cold, many times the ball slipped through the hands of the players and was recovered by the opposing team. Once again the Buffaloes lead from the opening minutes of the game and were never overtaken by the Lumberjacks.

The first half of the game found the Bufs mugging the hotshot of the Flagstaff game. He was Vincent Cisterna and he did not make a field goal. In the second half of the game he still was unable to get to the basket but he did make three points from the charity line. About the same number of people as the night before watched Cloyce Box score 14 points to become high scorer for West Texas State that night and Glenn Braden was once again next high scorer with 12 points.

WT Awarded 1-A Regional Tourney

In an announcement made last week by the Class A district chairman, Burton Gymnasium of West Texas State College, has been selected for the Region I Tournament.

It was also announced that each district will send the two top teams to this tourney. There are four districts in this region, and the winner will then go to Austin to play in the Texas State Tournament.

The tournament will be held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27-28.

20 Given T-Club Informal Initiation

In a meeting, Friday, Jan. 30, the T. Club gave 20 members their informal vows. The T-Club is a club for men who have lettered in football, basketball or track.

Spring Training To Start Soon

Coach Frank Kimbrough announced last week that spring training for football is just around the corner. Coach Kimbrough stated that if there were any students in the student body would like to come and try out for the team he is more than welcome. The training is not just for Buffalo Courts boys, so if you would like to try out for the team get in touch with him.

In 1942 West Texas State College was admitted to the Border Conference and they won the basketball title. The same year, the Bufs entered and won the Oklahoma City All-College Invitation Basketball Tournament. They then entered the Metropolitan Basketball Tournament in Madison Square Garden, New York City where they lost to Long Island University.

The Basketball season of 1940-41 found the Hustlin' Bufs traveling 8,500 miles and winning 29 of the 35 games played for an average of 59½ points per game.

Bill Birdwell, sophomore from Dimmitt, drives under the basket to score for WT in the Flagstaff game.

'Mural Cagers Start This Week

"Nine teams have entered the annual Intramural Tournament and indications are that this will be the best tournament yet, as all the teams are loaded with talent and coaching," says Milton Morris, intramural director.

The first games will be played Monday night, February 16, in the West Texas High School gym. All games will be played in Burton Gym except those on Monday and Tuesday nights which will be played in the high school gym. Tickets, costing 10 cents are on sale at the Business Office.

Terrill Hall has won the championship for five years and everyone will be out to stop them this year. Terrill is coached by Charles Kitchens, who would have been on the Buffalo varsity this year if he had not been hurt in football. The manager is W. O. Long. Milton Deason, sparkplug of last year's champion team, has transferred to the University of Texas and his loss will hurt Terrill considerably.

Two teams of last year's tournament have joined forces for this year under the name of Epers. This team, which is composed of Canyon High Exes and Spearman High Exes, is coached by a Buff varsity man, Cloyce Box. Charles Head is the manager.

The Baptist Student Union is the only team sponsored by a church organization. They were coached last year by A. K. Goodman and were good sports even though they didn't win many games. Billy Pegram, a member of this team, was the high scorer in the tournament last year and he is back this year. George Blackwell is the coach and Billy Ray Boling is the manager.

Consolation winners in 1947, the Aggies are back this year with more hustle than ever. Luther Lawless, a member of last year's all-tournament team, will be back to help the Aggies. G. C. Franks is coach and L. N. Johnson is manager.

Tierra Blanca is probably the dark horse team of the tournament. It is a new team but has at least one veteran player in Thurston Richardson, who coached the champion Terrill Hall team last year. Kenneth Simpson, a former Buff varsity player, is coach and Charley Showers is manager.

The Pirates played last year under the name of Longhorns. They have several tall men and promise a good outfit this year. W. F. Howard, coach, and Hugh Davis of last year's team are back. Raymond Carrick is manager.

Mugs Johnson, former coach at Stratford, is coaching this year's edition of the Burton Bombers. The Bombers had a good team last year and have about the same team this year. U. F. Coker and Rufus Graves, both all-tournament last year, are back in addition to Dwayne Ford, forward from last year's Hill Courts team. The manager is Marion Howard.

Conner Hall is entering a new team coached by Archie Roberts. Roberts has been coaching at Higgins for the last two years. James Bradley is the manager.

Another new team, the West Texas Rangers, is coached by Bill Miller, Buff varsity player. Bill Phillips, who played on last year's great freshman team, is one of their best men. Most of these boys are from Hart with the addition of two Canyon boys. They are managed by Curtis Babcock.

The schedule for this week is: February 16 at 6:00, Tierra Blanca vs. W. T. Rangers; 7:00, Burton Bombers vs. Terrill Hall; 8:00, Pirates vs. B. S. U.; and 9:00 Aggies vs. Conner. February 17 at 6:00, Epers vs. Terrill Hall; 7:00, Aggies vs. Pirates; 8:00, W. T. Rangers vs. Conner; and 9:00 B. S. U. vs. Burton Bombers. February 19, at 6:00, Conner vs. Tehhill Hall; 7:00, Aggies vs. Epers; 8:00, W. T. Rangers vs. Pirates; and 9:00, Tierra Blanca vs. B. S. U.

"A lot of interest is shown in basketball intramurals in this school and I think most of the games will be good entertainment for the spectator," concluded Morris.

In 1940 West Texas State won the Alamo Conference football title for the first time. For the whole season they won seven games while losing three. The Bufs had one of the best "State" school teams in Texas that year.

Games This Week In New Mexico, Texas

Determined to stay in the upper bracket of the Border Conference, the Buffaloes leave on a road trip through New Mexico and Texas to defend their position of third place in the Conference.

Fish Down Hedley In AAU Tourney

The West Texas Frosh stayed on the winning side of the picture Friday night when they downed the Hedley Independents 54-34 in an AAU tournament game.

High scoring honors went to Charles Richardson, towering center, with four field goals and the same number of free flips for 12 points. Billy Cox was close behind with nine tallies followed by Roy Lee Dunn, Paul Thompson, and Homer Hill with eight each.

Borden Price's freshmen play their next game Monday night against Dimmitt's Black Widows.

The West Texas Pirates were eliminated from the tournament Friday night at Clarendon when Modern Market of Wellington beat them 57 to 42.

All girls interested in participating in girls' intramural basketball should turn in their names to the P. E. office or to Pat Hurdle, Cousins Hall.

Present plans are for the first games to be played Friday night, February 19.

I Remember ... When ...

Up to this year, West Texas State basketball teams have played a total of 616 games, winning 464 of them for a lifetime percentage of .750. In these games the Buffaloes have scored a total of 27,258 points, or an average of one point per minute for the twenty-six years of play.

Many years ago when Willie 'Hit 'em where they ain't' Keeler was a star in baseball, he went 700 consecutive times without being struck out.

In the 1940 World Series Hank Greenberg stepped out of the box because the opposing center fielder was not in his position. The player was in the center field bleachers!

In 1919 the Prayin' Colonels were trailing Indiana 3-0 in the mud when Bo McMillin put on his track uniform and dashed for a touchdown. McMillin is now the coach of Indiana University Hoosiers.

When Harry 'The Cat' Brecheen pitched the Cardinals to three vic-

The first stop is at Albuquerque, New Mexico where they play the University of New Mexico on Thursday, Feb. 19. The Lobos has a fast moving team very capable of giving the Bufs a rugged night of basketball. The Lobos played the Bufs here in December. The Millermen defeated them by a score of 69 to 54. The Lobos were led by a 6-foot-4 guard named Ed Tixler and a forward, E. C. Cozzens.

The following night, Friday, Feb. 20, finds the Buffaloes at Las Cruces where they tangle with New Mexico A. & M. The Aggies are an aggressive and thorough opponent for the Millermen. The Aggies play a fast and mean game of basketball. They delight in stealing the ball out of the hands of their opponent and making driving shots. The Bufs were very able to overcome and defeated them here in December to the tune of 59 to 49. The star of the Aggie team is a 5-foot-10 lad named David Sharp. Sharp made 14 points against the Bufs that night.

Saturday night, Feb. 21, finds the Millermen in El Paso where they meet the Miners from the Texas School of Mines. The Miners have a very short team compared with the heightiness of the Millermen. The School of Mines has one player that is over 6-foot; he is 6-foot-3. Their main stay is not the tall boy, but a small boy named Ohlmehr. The School of Mines journeyed here Feb. 4 and met their second conference defeat. The Buffaloes tamed them by a score of 65-52.

This completes the road trips for the Millermen except to Lubbock on the night of Feb. 24 where they play the Red Raiders from Texas Tech. March 1, Texas Tech comes here to wind up the Border Conference play for the Buffaloes from West Texas State.

tories over the Red Sox in the 1946 World Series he was the first to do that since 1920.

In the first National Amateur Golf Tournament one player used a billiard cue for putting. But the man miscued at a critical moment and lost the match.

Five times in the old rough and ready days of of basketball the famous Buffalo Germans went completely through the season without defeat.

As a toughener in Navy V-12 training at U. C. L. A., the instructor put boxing gloves on the boys to play 'anything goes' basketball.

Alcohol Problem Contest Subject

June 30 is the deadline for entries in the $500 prize editorial contest of the Intercollegiate Association for Study of the Alcohol Problem.

Entries submitted at once may qualify for extra awards in addition to the $200 grand prize and 12 other annual prizes, according to Edwin H. Maynard, contest secretary. A $10 award is made each month for the editorial selected for publication in the "International Student" magazine.

The prizes are offered for short editorials, limited to 800 words, on the subject, "Applying Preventative Medicine to Alcoholism." Any undergraduate college student may enter.

The subject of the 1947-48 contest, second in a series, reflects a growing interest in the development of medical, psychiatric and educational means to prevent alcoholism. The sponsoring agency has been doing educational work in its field since the first of the century and prominent educators are members of its council.

A bibliography on preventative medicine for alcoholism has been prepared by the Intercollegiate Association. It and other contest helps may be obtained by post card request to Edwin H. Maynard, contest secretary, 909 Webster Ave., Chicago 14, Ill.
